Of direct interest to those members of the industry who are primarily interested in the progress of the film code, visits of Deputy Rosenblatt in the last few days to the Department of Justice and to the White House indicate that the whole Roosevelt Administration is taking a deep interest in the effort to "harness" the picture business.

During his visit to the Justice Department, the deputy administrator conferred with officials of the anti-trust division, although he refused to make known the points that were covered. Going to the White House on Monday, he conferred at length with the President's three secretaries, but again maintained secrecy as to the subject of the conversation.

It was inferred that both visits were connected with the socalled salary penalty clause of the film code, although there are other phases of the agreement which might involve anti-trust angles and, therefore, are of interest to Justice Department officials.

Salary Situation Indefinite

The situation with respect to the salary clause continues to be rather indefinite, with Mr. Rosenblatt still denying that it covers salaries, although admitting that the effect naturally would be to instill fear among producers and influence them in their discussions of salaries with actors. On the other hand, Administrator Johnson continues steadfast in his stand that the recovery act does not empower the Government to place maxima on prices or salaries.

This clause, however, was again explained as being an unfair trade practice—that of attempting to induce employees of competitors to change employers by offering excessive salaries and not as designed to place any restriction upon an employer in fixing the compensation of a person already in his employ.

However, this explanation then brings up the question whether a code may set what might appear to be an unduly severe penalty in the face of the fact that the recovery act stipulates clearly just what penalties shall be meted out for violations of the code.

The Administration's desire to curb high salaries, while it obviously is not approved by actors and directors, who fear for their future, is meeting the approbation of a group to which apparently little attention has been paid in the past. A large volume of correspondence has been received at NRA headquarters from stockholders, giving unqualified approval to the move and even suggesting that it might go further.

Omission from the code of provisions cover-

(Continued on page 16)

ALLIED PUTS CODE UP TO ROOSEVELT; SCORES ROSENBLATT; SEEKS LEADER

Six Hundred Exhibitors Hear Deputy Administrator Accused of Reversing Himself on Protection of Independents

Al Smith, Senators Reed and Copeland Mentioned to Lead Fight; Steffes' Proposal for Theatre "Strike" Defeated

by EDWIN S. CLIFFORD
Chicago Correspondent

Rumblings of resentment which have been heard in Washington among independent exhibitor interests against Solomon A. Rosenblatt's version of a motion picture code, broke out on Tuesday like roaring thunder, when some 600 members of Allied States Association, reputedly representing 1,762 theatres, met in the large ballroom of the Congress Hotel, in Chicago, to discuss the code and code drafting tactics of the NRA deputy.

Highlights of the meeting were:

Six hundred exhibitors voted an appeal to President Roosevelt to take the code out of the hands of Solomon Rosenblatt, NRA deputy.

Al Smith, Senator Reed and Senator Copeland were mentioned as possible leaders in Allied's fight against the Rosenblatt code.

A motion to carry the code fight to the public failed to carry, despite Al Steffes' demand that they "turn the heat on and keep it on until Mr. Rosenblatt will be glad to resign."

Mr. Steffes' motion for a nation-wide independent theatre strike in December, if the code is not changed, was shouted down.

Colonel Cole told the exhibitor gathering that Gabriel L. Hess, of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America and not Deputy Rosenblatt had written the code.

Deputy Rosenblatt was charged with "suddenly reversing himself completely" in his supposedly avowed beliefs that independent interests needed protection in the code from so-called "malpractices."

It was only a one-day session—short, but very, very snappy. And, on Wednesday morning, when the smoke had cleared, the more conservative leaders of Allied looked ruefully back and speculated as to whether the heated affair had been a help or a hindrance to the organization's determined fight against the adoption of the code in its present form.

Anyway, the meeting appeared to be a tremendous success in at least one respect. The almost 600 theatre owners who appeared as delegates of the various Allied state associations, undoubtedly exceeded expectations, especially in face of the rather meager advance reservations at the Congress hotel.

NRA SILENT ON ALLIED ANALYSIS

Whether the final code draft will be influenced to any extent by Allied's 48-page analysis and compilation of "suggestions" was not made known at Washington this week. A summary of the analysis — the filing of which was followed on Tuesday by Allied's special code meeting at Chicago — appeared on page 33 of the October 21st issue of Motion Picture Herald.

Two principal pieces of business were disposed of—with much cheering. Both took the parliamentary form of resolutions. One was a direct vote of confidence in Allied's leaders and their code campaign, expressing unanimous faith in the controlling executives. The other was an appeal to the President of the United States to take the motion picture code out of the hands of Mr. Rosenblatt. With that resolution went various charges, hurled from all directions.

In the heat and the excitement of a severe verbal lambasting given Mr. Rosenblatt, the discussion leaped the ordinary confines when the extraordinary suggestion was made from the floor of hiring a "prominent Democrat" as the best means of reaching the ear of Franklin D. Roosevelt. The idea was debated, wrangled over and finally tossed out, but only insofar as its discussion from the floor was concerned. The matter was placed in the hands of a special committee.

Before cooler heads could take command of the situation, the names of Senator James Reed, Mo.; Senator Royal S. Copeland, N. Y., and Al Smith, were proposed as presenting possibilities for a general of the Allied forces in the code battle. The climax came when a telephone call or two were put through in an effort to reach one of these figures, but the calls were not completed.

Myers Quiets Delegates

At this point, Abram Fern Myers, general counsel, jumped to the floor and pointed out the "folly" of discussing the idea for a national leader at an open meeting, decrying the unfortunate publicity which would attend it. He suggested that the meeting confine itself to what it wanted done and to leave the decision of how it should be done to an executive committee. Immediately there was calm in the meeting chamber.

Later, a motion was carried to erase all reference to the three nationally known Democrats from the record. But the incident pyramided, starting with a general expression that distributors were represented by men more easily heard in high places than the Allied representatives. As the debate progressed, the need was expressed for the services of a man important enough to call the President "by his first name over the telephone or have breakfast with him."

The discussion reached its crescendo when Al Steffes broke out with the statement: "We have got to get the best Democratic lawyer available to assist Mr. Myers. I mean a man powerful and influential enough to get our protest direct to the President. For example, a man like Jim Reed."

There was no intimation made that this "powerful man" should or could get Allied any unmerited advantages.

Theatre "Strike" Proposed

Mr. Steffes then made the suggestion that a theatre strike be called for December, if the code were not changed to include Allied's much publicized demands for corrected trade practices.

"If you close your theatres, you will get the bankers behind you and then you'll get the kind of a code you want," said Mr. Steffes. His idea was placed in resolution form, but it failed to get sufficient support to justify a vote.

Col. H. A. Cole, fiery Texan, broke into the limelight with the charge that Mr. Rosenblatt did not write the code, as is generally understood. In his vigorous attack, which brought cheers from the delegates, Colonel Cole said: "If you ask me, Rosenblatt never wrote the code. I'll tell you who did. It was Gabe Hess, of the Hays office."

"If it is possible to deal with Administrator Johnson direct, or with any other accredited representative," said Mr. Cole, "I am willing to go on, but never with Rosenblatt. It is utterly useless, and I consider him unreliable. He has done an about-face and has gone back on his promises. He reversed himself, and, for one, I don't care to meet with him any more. Furthermore, I won't withdraw a single word of this accusation."

A move to take Allied's case against the code before the public, by means of trailers and newspaper advertisements, stirred wide debate when moved by Mr. Steffes, who said: "Let's use the means at our disposal to show the public what Rosenblatt is trying to do to their entertainment. Let's turn the heat on and keep it on until Mr. Rosenblatt will be glad to resign."

The motion was voted down with cheers after Mr. Myers, Joe Friedman, of St. Paul, and others spoke against it.

Mr. Steffes then declared he would never sign the code, but would close his houses first.

Attacks Grievance Board Clause

Mr. Myers attacked Mr. Rosenblatt's view that the grievance board clause gives exhibitors a source of relief on many points omitted in the code.

"There is propaganda underway," Mr. Myers said, "to make you believe that this clause takes care of such problems as the right to buy and other important Allied considerations and this reason is being advanced as to why you should sign the code. I can't see where our problems are covered by this clause or how relief can be enforced this way."

The code was characterized by H. M. Richey as an "insult to the independent."

Allied has placed all its code problems in the hands of Mr. Myers, Mr. Richey, James C. Ritter, Mr. Steffes, Sidney Samuelson, Col. Cole, M. B. Horwitz, Lester F. Martin, Aaron

(Continued on page 20)

THE CAMERA REPORTS

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN ANNOUNCED FOR SMPE. Members and guests of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at the fall convention banquet at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, at which Dr. A. N. Goldsmith, president, described a plan to seek a membership of 2,000 distributed through the key cities of America. This program, to be approved soon, calls for a reduction in membership dues, economies in operation, and the institution of five vice-presidents for supervision of various activities.

A STATE FAIR. Fox Movietone News in the garden of the Villa Torlonia, residence of Mussolini, where Romano, son of Italy's premier, took advantage of this occasion to find out from Senor Villani, of the Movietone organization, how to cinematograph his little sister, Anna Maria.

GUESTS OF FILM INDUSTRY. Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless telegraphy, forerunner of radio and sound, and his wife at a luncheon in New York given in their honor by the motion picture industry. At their left is B. B. Kahane, president of RKO Radio, who made the welcoming address.

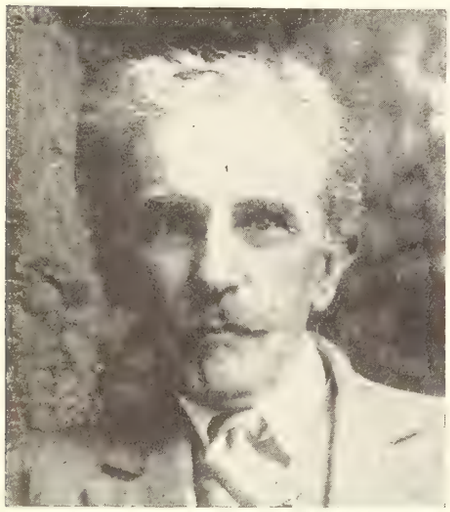
HONORED IN PARIS. Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, at a reception in his honor at the Cinema Caumartin, where Universal's "Back Street" has been playing since January 6. At right is shown Max Laemmle, nephew of the Universal chief and head of the company's organization in France.

NATURE STUDY. (Below) Human and otherwise, which is precisely the theme of "Malibu," MGM production, while on location for which Jean Parker thus stepped into a cool mountain stream.

AIDS DEBUT. Patricia Ellis, one of the screen's newer feminine personalities, who has been assigned an important role in "Convention City," which is Adolphe Menjou's first production as a Warner Brothers star.

SIGNED. Lenore Ulric, dynamic star of many a stage hit, who has been signed by RKO Radio, first story yet to be selected. She is starring currently in the Broadway stage play, "Her Man of Wax."

FETE NOTED WRITER. (Below) Samuel Goldwyn, United Artists producer, and his guests at a luncheon in honor of Emil Ludwig, German author, in Hollywood. Left to right: Darryl Zanuck, Herr Ludwig, Eddie Cantor, Mr. Goldwyn, Dr. A. H. Gianini and Joseph M. Schenck.



ELECTED. W. K. Laurie Dickson, who was named honorary member of the SMPE at the society's Chicago convention for his activities during development of the motion picture, and involving the Edison Kinetoscope.

Propose Plan to Help Musicians

Unemployed musicians may benefit by a system which would provide at least partial employment and which is now under discussion between circuit representatives and Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians. It is understood the plan was proposed in large measure by Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator for amusements under the National Recovery Act, when he recently asked circuit heads to cooperate with the musicians to the extent of working out some form of plan to alleviate the widespread unemployment among theatre musicians.

The present plan, according to Mr. Weber, provides for a 25 per cent replacement of new musicians at prevailing wage scales, and in some instances, entirely new orchestras may be engaged in those houses which still use them every fourth week. Under the plan substitutes might be put in on the basis of one week in every four, with the possible exception of key orchestra men.

The plan, it is indicated, would be beneficial to both exhibitor and musician alike, as in no instance would it cause any overhead increase to theatre operators and musicians would be given partial employment, with employed musicians accepting slightly reduced incomes to help their less fortunate fellow workers.

A second suggestion would provide for adjustment of prevailing scales to permit de luxe neighborhood theatres to augment their orchestras over weekends by one or more men. The third proposal under consideration also affects existing scales and directly concerns situations where theatre men incline toward the diversification of straight picture policies by injecting occasional stage units requiring orchestras. Exhibitors have expressed themselves on more than one occasion to the effect that their policies would be infinitely more flexible if unions would cease their efforts to capitalize on this occasional policy by seeking to force contracts over longer intervals of time. The American Federation probably will present these issues to its membership throughout the country before taking any direct action on them, according to Mr. Weber.

Schoen, Pioneer Exhibitor, Dead in New York at 62

Robert Schoen, pioneer motion picture theatre operator, died suddenly of a heart attack Monday at his home, 44 Central Park West, New York. He was 62 years old. Upon his arrival in New York, 29 years ago from Latvia, Mr. Schoen engaged in the retail trade and later went into theatre operation and building, in partnership with his nephew, Morris Kutinsky.

Mr. Schoen and Mr. Kutinsky built the Universal theatre on the Bowery and later leased the Plaza in Brooklyn, following which they leased the Academy of Music in Jersey City and the Eureka in Hackensack, N. J. They built nine houses in Jersey City, including the Capitol, Tivoli, Rialto, Fulton and Cameo, and the Pascack in Westwood, N. J. These and several houses on Long Island they operated for a time. Surviving Mr. Schoen are his widow, Mrs. Dora Schoen, a daughter and two sons.

RECAPTURE THE YOUNG, SAYS EMANUEL COHEN

Paramount Production Chief Declares Mae West Sells Only Comedy; Says Pictures Must Serve the Big Masses

by TERRY RAMSAYE

"The most serious problem of the motion picture industry is the recapture of the interest of youth."

Out of a long conversation with Emanuel Cohen, production chief of Paramount, that sentence is outstanding. He is the very aggressive and positive, and rather young man who is responsible currently for the output of the concern which founded the feature picture industry—the company of Lasky, Zukor and DeMille of yesteryear—and this season something over ten per cent of the screen entertainment of the world.

With a grin he commented on some of his views by saying: "I have had forty years of New York and one year of Hollywood—it may get me yet."

As for the Young Customer

It might just as well as not be set down here that for a considerable number of years Mr. Cohen, to you, "Manny" to me, and I were poisonous contemporaries and competitors on Broadway as opposed, oh so very opposed! makers of newsreels, in and for various corporations and causes; that eventually he went to Paramount because Sidney Kent wanted something like Pathe News; that he stayed because he could talk to Adolph Zukor eye to eye, that he was promoted to production leadership by Sam Katz, and that he has continued on his own.

"This problem of getting and holding the attention of the young people," observed Mr. Cohen, "is all tied up with difficulties that we got, along with the special opportunities, with sound. The silent picture let the spectator write his own dialogue, his own story, according to his own capacities. He could dream something to fit his mental state and fancy better than anybody can make it for him.

"Now, whatever else we do about it, I am sure that we shall have to pay special attention to seeing that pictures are motion pictures.

"On this problem of what you might call the-young-notion, I am just now especially anxious about our 'Alice'."—meaning of course "Alice in Wonderland."

Mae West Sells Laughs

Mr. Cohen ventured to remark that his angling for the young idea did not precisely square with some sex manifestations of Paramount product, now and then, admitting the while that he had been quoted as saying that sex just possibly might have been overworked, here and there. Naturally, very naturally, the name of Miss Mae West came into this sector of the conversation.

"Listen," said Mr. Cohen—and I was watching him out of the corner of a skeptical eye when he said it—"she is not selling sex at all. She sells laughs. Mae West is not sex, she's comedy. 'She Done Him Wrong,' and 'I'm No Angel' do not send anybody away from the theatre with anything but an impulse to laugh. And you can't laugh and—" We didn't go into that. "Anyway Mae West is comedy, pure comedy—Oh well, comedy anyway—just comedy."

"Do you suppose," I propounded, "that there will come a time when the motion picture industry will begin to make pictures for less than all the people all the time—that is, that there can be a classification of audiences and productions so you can escape the great common denominator?"

"Not now," he disagreed. "The pictures belong to the big masses. We cannot follow the theatre into the service of the minorities. We shall have to continue to try to make our pictures for all the people all the time—costs are like that."

"And then, considering the stage as a source of material for the screen, about how much do you think you can expect to get from it?"

Mr. Cohen did some counting on his fingers. "Ten per cent—and I do not see why that should not go on indefinitely."

Second Stringers and Values

The conversation turned around to production costs, and salaries, which at the moment seemed to be so much the concern of NRA.

"The salaries paid to real box office draws are not a problem," observed Mr. Cohen. "The salaries that run up the costs without relation to the box office are those that are paid to the people-that-come-along. The real problem that makes up the great figures of the costs is in the people who are worth about $50 to $150 a week and getting what they can get, under the system. Just for instance, a writer starts from New York at $50 a week. By the time he is in Chicago he's worth a hundred, and at Santa Fe two hundred and fifty and at Los Angeles a thousand.

"The difficulty is that in association with the stars the second string people get exaggerated values. One of the curses of the business is that they want to be dollar important."

Universal May Produce In England and France

Plans of Universal to produce abroad, both in England and France, while not yet completed, are expected to materialize in the near future, it was indicated by Carl Laemmle, Universal president, on his return from Europe last week. Mr. Laemmle reported a wide interest in Europe in the National Recovery effort of the government.

"Our industry, like every other one, needs a code and I am tremendously pleased at the way ours is shaping up," Mr. Laemmle said. "The code, as I see it, will be bad only for the unethical, the dishonest and the 'chiselers!'"

ALL INDUSTRIES FACE PAY INQUIRY

(Continued from page 11)

ing many of the trade practices which were sought to be included by various interests has received the approval of Professor H. H. Thurlby, of Harvard University, who served as adviser to the NRA research and planning division during the hearings on the pact.

Explicit Standards "Impractical"

In a letter to Mr. Rosenblatt, Professor Thurlby declared that while he was heartily in accord with the principle of self-government on the part of the industry "as expressed in the provisions for local boards and code authority review," he considered it impractical and unnecessary for the code to state explicitly such standards of competition as the "right to buy" and thereby "raise questions of a definite nature when the practical approach to the matter is an analysis of the policy or procedure in a specific situation which may be brought before a local board and reviewed by a national board."

"No code provision on such practices could be written, in my opinion," he asserted, "that would not result in a serious economic readjustment of contractual relations. A possible lack of uniformity in industrial regulation as a consequence of localized jurisdiction on problems of trade practice may be effectively guarded against, I believe, by a close supervision over local arbitration by the national authority.

"While I have mentioned only the socalled 'right to buy,' the principle would also be effective in deciding the vexatious problems of conflicting interests in double-featuring and other practices."

Of passing interest was the disclosure on Monday that some of the telegrams reaching Washington in the recent Allied "drive" to kill the code were signed with the names of people who had never seen the messages and whose first intimation of the unauthorized use of their names was the receipt of acknowledgments from Washington. Had it not been for the fact that it is the policy of the Recovery Administration to acknowledge the receipt of every communication, the imposition might never have been detected. As it is, if corroborative evidence is obtained, the matter may go to the Department of Justice, according to reports current on Capitol Hill.

—

The Code Signatories; Schenck, Goldwyn Quit MPPA

While the industry on both coasts was awaiting word from Washington that the code finally had gone to General Johnson, major companies indicated they would sign the document upon learning of the formal designation of the code authority personnel. Although Mr. Rosenblatt has reiterated throughout the three sessions that this personnel was set "in his mind" he has refused consistently to divulge these names. However, the final selections still are definitely regarded as:

SIDNEY R. KENT, president of Fox.

NICHOLAS M. SCHENCK, president of Loew's, Inc., and MGM.

HARRY M. WARNER, president of Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

ROBERT H. COCHRANE, vice-president of Universal.

GEORGE J. SCHAEFER, vice-president and general manager of Paramount.

AL LICHTMAN, vice-president and general sales manager of United Artists.

CHARLES L. O'REILLY, president of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, New York.

ED KUYKENDALL, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America.

M. E. COMERFORD, head of Comerford Theatres.

W. RAY JOHNSTON, president of Monogram Pictures Corp.

A possibility that signatures might be set to a special form prepared by the administration and held in bond with the understanding that the signatories are bound only by the code as they have scanned it, was seen this week. Changes made before the President signs the code would not necessarily void the signatures, but would carry the right to analyze such changes and withdraw if they deem it necessary.

Must Sign in 45 Days

The code contains a provision which bars anyone not signing it within 45 days after it is approved by the President from filing complaints with grievances or zoning boards and the code authority.

Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president, made a plea Monday for the industry to accept and observe the provisions of the code as it now stands.

Some state exhibitor associations already have signed the code, including the Tri-State MPTO. Also, announcement came Tuesday that the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees had signed the third draft. This binds all affiliated unions of the IATSE.

Meanwhile, the battle of Hollywood's creative talent against the administration's proposed salary investigation and regulation continued. This week's highlight came Monday when Joseph M. Schenck and Samuel Goldwyn resigned from the Motion Picture Producers' Association, Hollywood.

Said Mr. Schenck:

"You can't make a crime out of earning capacity."

Said Mr. Goldwyn:

"I'd rather pay an artist $250,000 if he earned it than $2,000 if he didn't. There is but one Charlie Chaplin, one Garbo, one Cantor, one Dressler. They have unique personalities. They are entitled to everything they can make."

Charges Partial Demoralization

In explaining his resignation, Mr. Schenck said: "I have resigned because I am opposed to the policy which permits the association to be run by distributors in New York who happen to be the bosses of producers belonging to it. Were the real producers, the men who make the pictures, asked their opinions of the code, they would be unanimously against it. Unfortunately, the rulers in New York, the proposers of the code, have not consulted them. These gentlemen's attempts to dictate production policy without knowing the temperament of actors, writers and directors with whom they are dealing have succeeded in bringing about partial demoralization of their studios."

Mr. Goldwyn's resignation was announced by Mr. Schenck in the same statement, asserting that he was in "full accord with Mr. Schenck's views."

Their resignations are as members of the west coast MPPA, and not of the MPPDA, of which Mr. Goldwyn is not a member.

In discussing the relation of his resignation from the coast producers' association to the MPPDA Mr. Schenck said Wednesday that if necessary he will resign from the New York organization also, although he indicated it was possible to belong to the MPPDA while not a member of the Hollywood MPPA.

Mr. Rosenblatt this week received a letter from Abraham C. Berman, New York attorney, declaring that any government attempt to regulate artists' salaries is replete with the gravest dangers and that hasty action would cause "the most dangerous and injurious repercussions the industry has known."

A group of independent exhibitors, producers and distributorrs, including W. Ray Johnston, Herman Rifkin, Harry Brandt, Charles L. O'Reilly, Leon Rosenblatt, Milton Weisman, Sam Sonin, Mitchell Klupt, Tom Murray and Leo Brecher, met with Mr. Rosenblatt late last week and presented further arguments against the code. Jacob Schechter, counsel for the Federation of the Motion Picture Industry, said Friday, on his return from Washington, that "we asked the administrator whether the jurisdictional phases of the code, as outlined by the code itself, covered all of our rights. If we can sue under the NRA, we asked that a clause specifically stating so be included."

A new committee of business leaders has been selected by Gerard Swope, chairman of the Business Advisory and Planning Council for the Department of Commerce, to focus their experience on the problems of unfair trade practices in general business and consequent waste.

Ask Technicians Be Protected

Following an indignation meeting in Hollywood of the technicians' branch of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, Lester Cowan, Academy secretary, sent a wire Wednesday to Mr. Rosenblatt requesting machinery be set up under the code to protect that class of studio technician drawing above the $75 weekly minimum, pointing out that they are not continuously working.

The board of governors of the Actors' Guild Tuesday night outlined a plan creating a junior branch for extras.

Fifteen well known Hollywood agents Tuesday night voted down a reorganization of the Artists-Managers Association and affiliation with the Actors' Guild.

Mr. Cowan declared only 50 out of 950 members of the actors' branch of the academy had resigned to join the Actors' Guild.

MGM PRODUCTION AT PEAK ACTIVITY

Production activity at Metro's Culver City studio has reached the heaviest peak since 1928, the company announced this week. At the present time 11 major productions are in work at the studios, in addition to two on location. As a result of this activity, the company has negotiated contracts for two new sound stages, new offices for the augmented staff of scenarists, writers and composers necessary to prepare material for the new productions.

Eastern Union Scale Fight Reaches Climax

The tense union situation in New York was to reach a climax on Thursday, when IATSE stagehands' Locals 1, 4, and 340, and projectionists' Locals 306 and 340, meet at IATSE headquarters on Broadway, to take action on scales being offered by the Independent Theatre Owners Association. The opinion of the labor leaders was that the workers would reject the exhibitors' scale, whereby salaries would be paid on the basis of capacities—$75 per week up to 600 seats; $105 for houses seating between 600 and 900, and from $115 to $190 for capacities above 900.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

THE studio situation on the west coast looks serious. Press dispatches indicate that the campaign for a living wage has finally spread to the skunks, wolves, gorillas and snakes in Hollywood.

Following the trend, we are told, a code for working peccaries, ichneumons and aardvarks, has been drawn up, under the California Recovery Act, by the Domestic Wild Animal Industry, which is said to represent five companies supplying animals to motion picture studios.

Waltzing mice want 50 cents a day. Guinea pigs are holding out for $1, but pythons and boas will work only by the foot (under 20 feet, $75 a day; between 20 and 23 feet, $100; over 23 feet, $125).

The higher-salaried brackets, equivalent as to stature and paycheck with supervisors, are occupied by the giraffe, $500 a day; gorillas, $200.

For $50 a day producers will get a barbarussa, a wart hog or two six-foot alligators.

The skunks, at $7.50, are guaranteed.

▽

To the board of governors of Fenimore Country Club in Westchester, who have been worrying a lot of late about misplaced divots and chopped up fairways, we send a word of encouragement: Mr. Al Lichtman's office library at United Artists has been enlarged with a copy of Alexander Morrison's "A New Way to Better Golf."

▽

She gets 'em dead or alive, coming or going, does Mrs. H. M. Booth, of Rich Hill, Mo. Mrs. Booth, on October 1, observed the span of 26 years during which she has continuously operated the Booth theatre. She is also the town's undertaker.

▽

Sir Arthur Eddington's astronomical estimate of the number of atoms which make up the universe, some 10,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000, looks like the public's conception of a Hollywood star's salary.

▽

Mr. Sidney Skolsky, of the New York Daily News, informs us that Harry Lillis Crosby got the name "Bing" when he was four years old, because he was fond of playing cowboys and Indians and would keep shouting, "Bing! Bing!" all day long.

▽

Although United Artists has deleted the word "nigger" from "Emperor Jones," in deference to the wishes of Negroes, the dialogue will remain in prints shown in white theatres. "Nigger" is voiced 34 times in the original, but it will not be heard in any colored theatre.

▽

RKO's home office organization has an intercompany bowling league with four teams, namely: Lugs, Mugs, Pugs and Tugs. There may not be any special significance to this, but the printed schedule of games bears the remark, "We take this opportunity to express our sincere appreciation to our executives for making this league possible."

▽

"Tintype" biographies of Fox stars, furnished to a grateful press by their press agents:

George O'Brien . . . has biggest chest expansion west of the Rockies . . . owns more junk iron than a professional yard.

Henrietta Crosman . . . can't tell a golf stick from a baseball bat, but was once known as America's most athletic heroine because of publicity. . . .

Janet Gaynor . . . knits anklets for an old aunt in Chicago. . . .

Clara Bow. . . . Hobby: collecting Chinese art; pastime: roller skating.

The walls of the city of Richmond, Virginia, rocked to their foundations last week from the reverberations which followed the discovery that someone had stolen the pants which the local censors had ordered placed on some lobby displays of girlish figures in front of Loew's theatre. The management was panic-stricken; the censors were shocked; the newspapers carried the following advertisement:

PINK PANTIES PILFERED
FROM PASTEBOARD GIRLIES

Some one pilfered the pink undergarments from the pasteboard girlies in front of Loew's. The girls must remain uncensored until the garments are returned!

WILL SOMEONE COME TO THEIR RESCUE? PLEASE BRING BACK THEIR ———

(Deleted by Censors)

CREDITORS in the motion picture business might take this leaf from the book on collections of a Wisconsin editor who was endeavoring to liquidate some unpaid subscriptions:

"It is reported that one of the fastidious newly-married ladies of this town kneads bread with her gloves on. This incident may be peculiar, but there are others. The editor of this paper needs bread with his shoes on, he needs bread with his pants on, and unless some of the delinquent subscribers to this 'Old Rag' pony up before long, he will need bread without a damn thing on, and Wisconsin is no Garden of Eden in the winter time."

▽

General Johnson shouldn't feel so discouraged. At least he's been able to keep Henry Ford silent.

But then maybe business men are just trying to get business in such a shape that the government will be only too glad to absolve that "partnership" with the NRA.

▽

There will be no golf tournament sponsored by Jay Emanuel's Philadelphia Exhibitor this year. Some of the reasons advanced by Jay are the code, the new buying season, the old buying season, Japanese beetles and the Tampico hurricane.

▽

When Ralph W. Crocker leased the Crocker theatre at Elgin, Ill., to B. & K., he thought he was out of the business, except as a landlord. Now his young son, Emerson, has entered Yale University Theatre and the Crocker probably will become a laboratory.

▽

Instead of signing letters "Very truly yours," Germans now sign "Mit Hitler, heil!" and get a lot of pleasure from it.

Why can't we Americans do something like that and have some fun? Ted Cook suggests we might sign our letters

"Hail! Mae West."
Or
"Mit Huey Long!"
Or
"David Hutton, heil!"

MAHATMA GANDHI has never seen a motion picture! Furthermore, he appears to have entirely overlooked the possibilities of the screen as a potent propaganda factor in his campaign against untouchability in his beloved India. His followers appear to be quite concerned over the Mahatma's lack of interest in things cinematic.

"Does he really regard the cinema as an evil, a mere luxury, or a waste?" asks Bellur Shivaram, writing in the Moving Picture Magazine, of Bombay. "So sorry if it is so," he opines. "The cinema is not a vice, neither women nor wine, tobacco, nor ganja, gambling, nor black magic; it is as good as goat's milk tinned."

M. Shivaram wishes Gandhi had seen a couple of really good films. "What would he say to the film 'Deva Dasi' (produced by his namesake, Naval Gandhi) about the evil of dancing girls; and to 'Gopal Krisna,' on the sacredness of cow-protection; and to 'Emma' (Marie Dressler-MGM), which would have left him speechless on the question of good household maids?"

Shivaram believes the Mahatma should not again think of hunger striking until he investigates the possibilities of the cinematic field. "Admittedly he is ignorant of at least this one side of the matter," observes Shivaram. And, in this connection, Shivaram requests that Walt Disney—"Mickey Mouse's father"—send an emissary to Gandhi, in the form of an autographed carricature of Mickey, which he believes might induce the Mahatma to take a peep at the screen.

▽

Without winking an eyelash, Paramount came forth this week with the announcement that Mae West composes her plays, books and articles while lying in bed.

▽

Someone at Warners' home office called their Hollywood theatre on Broadway to report that Sinclair Oil Company were supplying a Dinosaur for the lobby exhibit on "The World Changes," which opened Wednesday night.

"Gee, that's great," was the reply, "but what do we have to feed it?"

▽

Red Kann in Motion Picture Daily reports a conversation between an exhibitor and his banker, to whom he owed a lot of money. "Well," said the theatre owner to the banker, "what do you think of so-and-so's product?"

"What do we know about anybody's product? We're not in the theatre business."

"But you will be by Monday," replied the exhibitor.

▽

After having discussed the situation thoroughly with exhibitors in the field, our John Curtis Jenkins concludes that Mr. Rosenblatt's motion picture code begins with the Fall of Babylon and ends up with She Done Him Wrong.

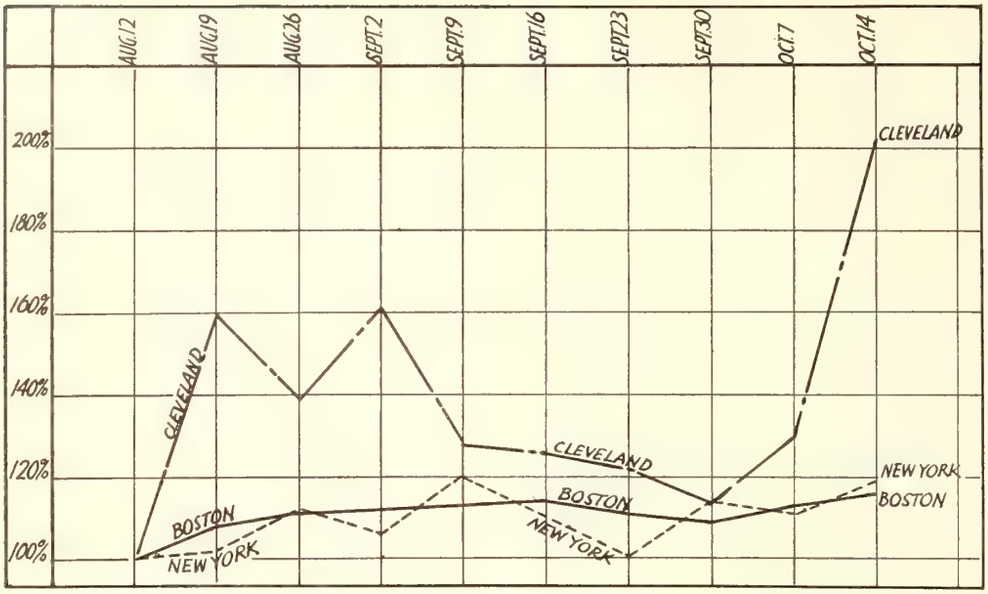
▽

Man bites dog item:

Loew's Burnside, in the heart of the Bronx, last week gave much out-front publicity to the fact: "We are NOT playing 'The Three Little Pigs!'"

▽

Those wild bulls which charged about the arena in Eddie Cantor's "Kid from Spain" were not so wild. Much of their ferociousness was prompted by their contact with electric wires, which were poked in various places to remind them they were acting a bull fight. Walt Disney used a pen point on the Big, Bad Wolf.



The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's weekly tabulation of box office grosses, indicates the relative changes in receipts from three eastern cities during the ten weeks period from August 12 to October 14, 1933. For each city, the gross for the week ending August 12, 1933, is taken as 100 per cent.

Gaumont-British Planning Release of 31 Films Here

Further indication of the intention of Gaumont-British Pictures Corporation of America to gain a solid foothold in the American market for the distribution of British films was the announcement this week that 31 new pictures are in various stages of production by Gaumont-British and Gainsborough for release in America. These will supplement the 20 films already received for release by the company, according to Arthur A. Lee, operating head of Gaumont in the United States.

All of the productions are understood to have been made under the star system, an innovation in British film making, adopted by Gaumont-British upon completion of its new $1,250,000 studio at Shepherd's Bush, London, a year ago. This innovation is said to be in line with the policy of Gaumont and other British companies to build star names which will be marketable in America, together with the engagement of well known American players. Gainsborough, associate company, has adopted a policy of providing for a minimum negative cost of $200,000 per picture.

Loew To Contest Receivership

Loew's intends to fight the receivership proceedings instituted in Kansas City last week by M. B. Shanberg, H. B. Woolf and F. H. Reid, according to Leopold Friedman, general counsel for the theatre circuit, who arrived in the Missouri city Tuesday. Mr. Friedman denied Loew's intends breaking the lease or relinquishing the properties, as was stated in the petition. A hearing on an application for a temporary receivership will come up early in November.

Gable in Columbia Film

Columbia's announcement that Clark Gable will play the lead in "Night Bus" (tentative title) was amplified this week by explanation that the arrangement has been made with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with whom Mr. Gable is under a long-term contract.

Sues MPPDA After Orders to Stop Hitler Film

In a $1,022,000 damage suit filed this week in Los Angeles superior court against the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Al Rosen, independent producer, claimed that Will H. Hays, Fred W. Beetson, executive vice president of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, and the MPPDA had ordered him to stop production on a picture based on the life of Adolph Hitler, entitled "The Mad Dog of Europe."

Mr. Rosen's petition charged that on October 5 he was informed he must cease immediately all production arrangements on the film, despite the fact that he already had spent over $7,000 in preparations for shooting. Mr. Rosen declared that Mr. Hays and Mr. Beetson warned him that if he did not cease they would see "that the production was never made and would do all in their power to obstruct it," according to press reports from the coast Tuesday. The offices of the MPPDA in New York said "the action will be defended."

Williams Again To Head Iowa-Nebraska MPTO

Charles E. Williams was re-elected to the presidency of the MPTO of Iowa and Nebraska at the association's annual meeting in Omaha Tuesday. It is his 14th term in the office. The meeting was attended by 50 exhibitors.

Five members of a board of 15 directors also were re-elected. A discussion of the industry's code had been scheduled for Tuesday, but was postponed until Wednesday, with a general meeting of all exhibitors in the territory.

Loew Dividend Voted

The regular quarterly dividend of $1.62½ a share on the outstanding $6.50 cumulative preferred stock of Loew's, Inc., has been declared payable November 15 to stockholders of record on October 26.

McDonough RKO Post Is Extended

J. R. McDonough, who last week assumed the posts vacated by Harold B. Franklin's resignation at RKO, and who has taken an increasingly dominant place in the corporation setup since his entrance last July, is said to have extended his influence into the affairs of Radio Pictures, though rather in an advisory than an operating capacity.

He is understood to be acting much as an arbiter on problems affecting the picture producing organization, where conflicting opinions arise among Radio officials. Mr. McDonough, it is believed, has no intention of interfering with the normal conduct of the affairs of the picture company.

RKO theatre operations may be split into two major divisions, with a guiding head for each, under a plan Mr. McDonough is understood considering. The names of Leslie Thompson in control of the East and Nate Blumberg in the West have been mentioned, as well as Joe Plunkett, former general manager of the circuit.

Arthur J. Benline has resigned as head of the RKO Theatres maintenance department, and has been succeeded by David Canavan, under the supervision of A. E. Reoch, in charge of the real estate department. Adolph Kerwin will assist Mr. Canavan.

Erpi-Vitaphone Suit Is Heard in Delaware

Charging that Electrical Research Products, Inc., violated its agreements by charging producers licensed by them to use sound equipment at $500 a reel royalty, instead of eight per cent of the gross profits derived from use of licenses, Vitaphone's suit against the Western Electric subsidiary was heard in Dover, Delaware, supreme court Tuesday. Vitaphone's suit is said to involve claims amounting to $50,000,000.

Attorneys for the electrical company took the case to the supreme court in an effort to upset a decree handed down two months ago by chancery court, and which would have required Erpi to file an answer to the Vitaphone charges.

Parks Joins Wilding In Production and Sales

Robert M. Parks, formerly director of advertising of Plymouth Motor Corporation and for the last three years on the staff of Columbia University, has joined Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., Detroit, producers of commercial talking pictures. He will be in both the creative and selling activities.

Mr. Parks previously served as publicity writer and house-organ editor for Chrysler Corporation, wrote copy for Brooke, Smith & French, Detroit agency, and sold for the Alexander Hamilton Institute, New York.

Goebel Withdraws Appeal

Otto E. Goebel and his sisters-in-law, Irene and Elizabeth Plaut, have withdrawn appeals from their recent convictions in the National Diversified Corporation mail fraud cases. Accused of fraud in the sale of $3,000,000 worth of securities to promote clean films, the three notified the assistant federal attorney they could not afford to have the case record printed.

BETWEEN NOW AND CHRISTMAS

Twelve men, fighting for life, thinking of women! Around them, night-piercing eyes lay in wait . . . by day blazing sun and searing sand took its toll as they lived again the loves that numbered their hours in a tumbling world a thousand miles away. Yet they fought and died dreaming of "yellow gals in Shanghai" and scarlet ones in Marseilles . . . of red lips at home that had whispered enduring passions and of soft white arms to cradle tired heads.

Hard men! Some laughed and some cried and some reached out for hands that were not there! When John Ford's Production of "THE LOST PATROL" reaches the screen next month critics and public alike will likely hail it as a daring new adventure in motion picture art. The thundering story is told by VICTOR McLAGLEN, BORIS KARLOFF, Wallace Ford, Reginald Denny, J. M. Kerrigan, Billy Bevan, Alan Hale, Brandon Hurst, Douglas Walton, Sammy Stein, Howard Wilson and Paul Hanson. Cliff Reid is the Associate Producer.

Like the book, which was a "born" best-seller, keeping printing presses going days and nights for months, "ANN VICKERS" has in its two weeks since release proved a phenomenal attraction. IRENE DUNNE as SINCLAIR LEWIS's heroine has won universal praise for her appealing and courageous interpretation of this much discussed woman. In the cast, Walter Huston, Conrad Nagel, Bruce Cabot, Edna May Oliver. The direction by John Cromwell.

There's an unusual woman angle in "THE RIGHT TO ROMANCE" which reverses the old adage about "hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." In this story ANN HARDING gives us a heroine lovable, alluring, passionate and compassionate who, finding the world tumbling about her, is brave enough to build it for another. In it the beautiful Ann is supported by ROBERT YOUNG, NILS ASTHER, and SARI MARITZA.

Soon, forgotten corners of the human heart will thrill to a new enchantment as "LITTLE WOMEN", America's best-loved love story, unfolds its glorious pages, bringing a new sensation of sheer loveliness to the screen.

Three generations have read and adored Louisa May Alcott's idyll of four girls in love and it is today the most anticipated of pictures, for here is Romance in all its Golden Beauty glorified by the magic art of KATHARINE HEPBURN as the beloved "Jo".

Under George Cukor's direction Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Frances Dee, Jean Parker, Edna May Oliver, Douglass Montgomery and Henry Stephenson bring to life the book's well-loved people.

Tell your house electrician to dust off a lot of letters for you'll need them when you play "CHANCE AT HEAVEN." First there's JOEL McCREA, as popular a young star as ever made feminine hearts palpitate, while GINGER ROGERS has several million boy friends ready to step up to the box-office window. Add MARIAN NIXON (lovelier than ever) and ANDY DEVINE and you get 'em from four directions, and in big bold display, tell the folks it's a VINA DELMAR STORY . . . That little author of "Bad Girl" has a lot of followers, for she never fails to put in a real heart punch that us ordinary folks can understand.

A Temple of Jewels! Strange monsters! Earthquakes, romance, adventure and thrills galore are coming when Carl Denham with his new-found sweetheart and a mutinous crew land again on Skull Island seeking hidden treasure and find a friend and defender in the "SON OF KONG."

Ernest B. Schoedsack and Merian C. Cooper, who gave theatres last season's biggest money maker, promise a new box-office sensation. Robert Armstrong, Frank Reicher, John Marston, Victor Wong, Lee Kohlmar and Ed Brady furnish the excitement with Helen Mack a nice armful of real love interest.

That glamorous lady, CONSTANCE BENNETT, in the arms of GILBERT ROLAND in "AFTER TONIGHT" will send tingling thrills up and down the spines of your feminine audience for we've never seen her more alluring . . . or love scenes more tantalizing . . . than in this stunning tale of a spy in love and a conqueror the captive of his prisoner. S. R. O. . . . bank on it!

"AGGIE APPLEBY—Maker of Men" . . . she took 'em apart and gave 'em the works . . . and the result—a romantic comedy that is one of the funniest pictures in months. WYNNE GIBSON is "Aggie", a blonde who knew all the answers . . . and most of the questions. CHARLES FARRELL is the poor little rich boy with no mother to guide him and WILLIAM GARGAN is "Red" Branahan, the most lovable mugg that ever cracked a cop's skull, while ZASU PITTS, as usual, adds to the hilarity. "Aggie's" a honey! . . .better get it!

The Sky Tiger tastes the blood of battle! One cross—an enemy ship. Then day by day the crosses mounted because a girl had called him "yellow". Now they called him "ACE OF ACES" and weighted his chest with medals while, beneath, his heart turned to stone and he wondered if ever again it could know the throbbing beat of love. JOHN MONK SAUNDERS, author of "Wings" and "The Dawn Patrol," has given RICHARD DIX a richly human and dramatic role which he essays with honors. ELIZABETH ALLAN, one of the screen's loveliest leading ladies, and RALPH BELLAMY support the star.

"IF I WERE FREE" the eternal "if" that stands between lovers while society commands 'thou shalt not love'. . . but in this fine play by John Van Druten IRENE DUNNE and CLIVE BROOK defy the conventions and say "We shall love, it is our right." A story that strikes a responsive chord in every human heart gives Miss Dunne her most appealing role since Back Street. The sterling cast includes NILS ASTHER, HENRY STEPHENSON and LAURA HOPE CREWS.

With a prodigal hand the studio has lavished beauty, richness, melody and novelty on "FLYING DOWN TO RIO," Lou Brock's spectacular musical extravaganza destined to make all show business believe in Santa Claus. Gorgeous and glittering scenes, mammoth ensembles, the pick of thousands of beautiful girls and spectacular dancing and singing numbers staged on the wings of giant planes are but a few of the wonders of this spectaclorama. The music is by VINCENT YOUMANS, America's foremost composer of lilting melody, and the cast reads like a Hollywood star directory. Included are DOLORES DEL RIO, FRED ASTAIRE, GINGER ROGERS, GENE RAYMOND, RAOUL ROULIEN.

RKO
Radio PICTURES PRODUCTIONS
. . NOT PREDICTIONS
MERIAN C. COOPER
Executive Producer
MADE IN THE U.S.A.

660,900 LOEW SHARES GO ON SALE, 26 WEEKS NET FOX FILM $330,777

Chemical Bank Decides to Sell Shares Through Which William Fox Got Virtual Control of Loew's in 1929

Two highly significant developments occurred during the week involving the motion picture industry's financial structure. They were:

1. The Chemical Bank and Trust Co. decided to sell on November 27 the 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., stock through which Wililam Fox obtained virtual control of Loew's on February 28, 1929.

2. Further indication of the progress being made by the management in rehabilitating the financial and operating structure of Fox Film Corporation was the announcement this week that the corporation earned for the 26 weeks ending September 30 the sum of $330,777, net.

Sale to the highest bidder of the 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., stock, acquired early in 1929 by William Fox, was announced this week by the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, which set the date of sale at November 27. When Mr. Fox bought this block of stock, which gave him virtual control of the theatre organization, it was estimated he paid in the neighborhood of $125 a share.

United States District Judge John C. Knox was notified of the proposed sale Tuesday by John R. Hazel and Thomas Nelson Perkins, trustees by appointment of the U. S. district court since 1931, when the Government won a decree, under the Clayton Act, against Fox Film and Fox Theatres Corporation.

The Loew stock was turned over to General Theatres Equipment Corporation late in 1929, after Harley L. Clarke went into Fox as representative of Chase National to control its destiny. Following the federal court decree ordering disposal of the stock it was transferred to Film Securities Corporation through stock transfers which protected the interests of all three—Chase, Fox and General Theatres.

Since April 1, of this year, $20,000,000 due under a two-year six per cent gold bond issue dated April 1, 1931, has been in default.

The trustees asked Tuesday that the court wind up the affairs of Film Securities Corporation, and that they be discharged provided there are no further duties to be performed.

Fox Film Gross, $15,449,322

Definitely indicative of the increasingly stronger financial condition of Fox Film Corporation was the announcement Tuesday that in the 26 weeks ended September 30, the company has earned a net of $330,777. Further than this, the company has accumulated a surplus of $662,582, since April 1, which was the effective date of Fox's reorganization.

Gross income for the 26-week period is stated at $15,449,322, out of which $14,678,330 was from sales and rentals of film and literature; $258,384 represented dividends from investments, with miscellaneous income totaling $512,607.

General expenses, including exchange and home office operation, amortization of film costs, and participation in film rentals, totaled $14,786,935.

Profit before interest and depreciation was $662,386, while interest, amortization of discount and expense on funded debt with depreciation of fixed assets amounted to $331,609.

$487,804 Foreign Profit

Foreign exchange showed a profit of $487,804, although settlement of contracts entered into in prior years reduced this by $156,000, leaving $331,804. Added to the net operating profit of $330,777, this was carried to surplus.

The report states that "interest on the debentures and bank loans, which was computed to Aug. 1, 1933, and formed part of the indebtedness retired and cancelled pursuant to the plan of reorganization effective as April 1, 1933, and amortization of discount applicable to the retired debentures, has been charged to paid-in surplus."

On Sept. 28, figures for the first three months of the current fiscal year showed a profit of $74,716, and a surplus of $203,045.

Chase Bank Film Security Operations Up for Hearing

Film security operations of the Chase National Bank are to be aired late this week by the senate banking and currency committee, now investigating Wall Street activities. The hearing last Friday was sidetracked by consideration of stock market operations and postponed until late this week.

Under the acrid questioning of Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the committee, it was disclosed last week that Chase Securities Corporation, a subsidiary of the bank, had carried $20,714,442 of Fox debentures and $10,700,000 of General Theatres securities, which were heavily written down. The exact amount written off was not disclosed. W. W. Aldrich, Chase president, said the securities were worth more today than the amount written off.

Joseph Schenck Leases United Artists Studio

Reports that 20th Century Pictures might take over ownership of the United Artists studio in Hollywood in a $750,000 deal received added impetus last week when Joseph M. Schenck, as head of the new producing corporation, took a lease on the plant from United Artists Studio Corporation, which includes Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, Samuel Goldwyn, Mr. Schenck and others.

Mr. Fairbanks and Miss Pickford own the property improvements and equipment of the United Artists studio and lease them to the studio company.

Warner Has Own Checking Service

Under an arrangement whereby a complete checking service will be set up under the supervision of permanent field supervisors, Warner Brothers is planning to maintain its own percentage checking organization, completely independent of either Ross Federal Service or the Burns Agency. Ralph W. Budd, Warner home office personnel manager, is handling the new development, and the setting up of the necessary machinery is well under way, he said this week. The move is considered a radical departure from the accepted order of this phase of theatre and distribution operation.

The Warner plan calls for permanent maintenance of supervisors stationed throughout the country. Checkers, it is understood, will be taken on as required in various towns, using either local bank representatives or men on the civil service lists on a daily basis.

It is understood that in Warner theatres the company's regular inspection service will be combined with the new phase of the company's distribution activities. "The chief reason Warner has decided on this move," explained Mr. Budd Tuesday, "was because we felt that we could do as good a job as anyone else. It should prove a much more economical method of operation, too."

Lawton Heads Drive On Theatre Vandalism

Stanley W. Lawton, managing director of the Broadway, George M. Cohan and Gaiety theatres in New York, has been appointed by a group of theatre owners to head a campaign against labor racketeering and vandalism. He declares 50 theatres had been subjected to vandals' operations, that methods of intimidation used include destroying costly lobby displays, throwing stench bombs, ripping out seats and smashing furniture in foyers and lounging rooms.

The first move in the campaign was the offering of $500 reward for information leading to arrest and conviction.

The Gaiety reopened Wednesday with a program of first-runs, revivals, newsreels and short subjects.

Hearings On Taxation Are Begun in Washington

Hearings on taxation were begun this week at Washington before a subcommittee of the House Ways and Means Committee, which listened to the recommendations of Treasury Department experts. With considerable revenue from liquor taxes expected after the first of next year, committee members are said to believe there is opportunity for revision of the Revenue Act looking to the elimination of socalled "nuisance taxes," with amusement interests expected to ask repeal of admission levies.

THEY VOTED TO APPEAL DIRECT TO ROOSEVELT AGAINST ROSENBLATT CODE

DEMAND FOR PUBLIC FIGHT DEFEATED

(Continued from page 12)

Saperstein, Charles R. Metzger and Nathan Yamins. This group has been empowered to decide on the advisability of obtaining the services of a national figure to aid in the code fight, and to handle negotiations.

The question of financing is also left with the committee, which was authorized to call on state units for necessary funds. The committee also will recommend candidates for the code authority.

A resolution also was presented by Thomas E. Purcell, president of the National Council of Catholic Men Meeting Congress.

Following Mr. Cole's blunt denunciations of Mr. Rosenblatt, Sidney Samuelson, of New Jersey, the meeting chairman, pictured Mr. Rosenblatt as a "250 per cent batter" who suddenly was put in the 1,000 per cent class because of his handling of a code in a minor industry. He declared Mr. Rosenblatt had bungled the supply dealers code and had the radio code in a mess. "With the film industry's code, he hasn't even got his 250 percentage left," Mr. Samuelson stated.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the Allied committee which has been conducting code negotiations was clothed with unlimited power and given a rousing vote of confidence.

Allied's directorate emerged from a private "follow-up" meeting Wednesday noon with the statement that a "larger and more effective association would result from the mass meeting." An official statement said that the definite stand taken against the code by the organization had strengthened the position of Allied as a spokesman for independent exhibitors.

The Second Resolution

The second resolution adopted summed up the entire situation. It follows:

"Whereas representatives of the independent theatre owners have been engaged for more than two-and-a-half months in negotiations looking to the formulation of a code of fair competition for the motion picture industry; and

"Whereas, before and during the course of such negotiations, held before Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt, NRA Deputy Administrator, the said deputy administrator repeatedly acknowledged the existence of trade practices most unfair to independent interests in the industry, tending to create monopoly and oppress small enterprise; and

"Whereas, the said deputy administrator, time after time, assured the independent exhibitor representatives that he recognized the dire need for correction of these industry malpractices in the code being formulated, and promised that such corrections would be specifically incorporated in the said code; and

"Whereas, the said deputy administrator went even further, advising the distributor representatives that certain monopolistic practices in the motion picture industry must cease, stating to them that these must be corrected in the code; and

"Whereas, in spite of such assurance and promises, the said deputy administrator suddenly reversed himself completely, presenting for consideration a draft of a code which not only contained none of the provisions promised to correct such evils, but on the other hand embodies a complete system that would perpetuate and extend the domination which the members of the Hays organization now exert over the industry, would sanction and legalize many of the monopolistic practices foisted on the industry by these interests; and would work to the detriment of the public; and

"Whereas, the said deputy administrator has since issued a second and a third revision of said code, the said revisions making only immaterial changes, and has expressed his determination to press for approval of the code in substantially its present form, making it obligatory on the exhibitors to sign the code within 45 days thereafter or lose all benefits of membership in the NRA; and

"Whereas, a copy of our analysis of this proposed code has been filed with Administrator Johnson, but no acknowledgment or reply to same has been received; and

"Whereas, the course of conduct followed by Mr. Rosenblatt in connection with the proposed code as well as some of the surrounding circumstances have raised a question which we reluctantly voice as to Mr. Rosenblatt's fairness in arbitrating between the conflicting interests and contentions of the major producers and the independent interests;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved by the independent theatre owners, assembled in Chicago at an open meeting called to consider the proposed code, the President of the United States be, and he is hereby requested, before approving the draft of the code prepared by Mr. Rosenblatt, to designate an impartial representative, or representatives, to inquire into and report upon all the facts and circumstances surrounding the negotiation and writing of the proposed code, as well as the provisions of said code, and the probable effects thereof on competitive conditions in the motion picture industry."

The resolution was signed by Allied leaders Cole, Harrington, Branch, Berger and Horwitz.

WHAT IS A TALKIE? IT'S COURT PROBLEM

What is a talking picture? This is the question the New York court of appeals in Albany must answer before it can hand down a decision in the suit of Kirke LaShelle Co. against Paul Armstrong Co. and Phelan Beale, all of New York, involving "Alias Jimmy Valentine," stage hit of two decades ago which recently was converted into a talking picture. The plaintiffs, who say they were assigned a half interest in the play in 1921, are laying claim to half the price brought by the sound screen rights, which were sold to MGM in 1928 for $15,000, on the argument that the film was similar to the stage work.

Promoted by United Artists

T. C. Montgomery has been promoted to the post of manager of the United Artists Chicago exchange. J. D. Goldhar, district manager in Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis and Cincinnati, will supervise Chicago and Milwaukee as well. S. Horowitz, district supervisor for Kansas City, Omaha, Denver and St. Louis will also handle Minneapolis.

Duals Continue In Cleveland

In spite of agitation in certain sections against the double feature policy, subsequent run exhibitors of Cleveland will continue to exercise their own judgment and continue to play duals wherever and whenever they consider such a policy necessary to successful operation.

Announcement of this wide open policy came as a surprise after a midnight meeting of the Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors Association last week to determine whether an agreement entered into last summer to limit double featuring to once a week should be enforced or disregarded.

Franklin, Dined by Friends, Uncertain of Future Plans

The future plans of Harold B. Franklin, who recently resigned the presidency of the RKO Theatres Corporation, are still undecided, he stated Tuesday, adding that he may go abroad in the near future "for a change of scene." Mr. Franklin said he is busy analyzing several propositions, but that he still is more interested in production than anything else.

On Wednesday night RKO executives tendered Mr. Franklin a farewell dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York. Phil Reisman, former assistant to Mr. Franklin, was chairman. Among those attending were: M. H. Aylesworth, J. R. McDonough, Charles Koerner, Robert F. Sisk, Ned. E. Depinet, Jules Levy, Nate Blumberg, A. P. Waxman, Sydney S. Cohen, Herbert J. Yates, Fred Meyers, Max Fellerman, Henry J. Walters, Arthur J. Benline, William Howard, Arthur Willi, Louis Cohen, Russell Emdy, Charles McDonald, James Brennan, Lou Goldberg, J. J. Franklin, W. G. Van Schmus, S. L. Rothafel, J. J. McCarthy, O. R. McMahon and Barret McCormick.

Stage Stars Appear At the "Bowery Ball"

An imposing array of stage, radio and screen talent donated their services to the United Artists "Bowery Ball," held Thursday at the Hotel Astor for the New York American and Journal Christmas Relief Fund.

Among those who volunteered their services are Marilyn Miller, Ogla Baclanova, Milton Berle, Irving Berlin, Roy Atwell, Nancy Carroll, Lillian Bond, Lillian Miles, Gertrude Niesen, Mickey Alpert, Ethel Norris, Joe Laurie, Jr., Buddy Wagner and his orchestra, Jerry Freedman's orchestra, Joe Penner, Ethel Merman, Jack Benny, Jean Sargent and the Three Ritz Brothers.

Hoblitzelle Gets Paschall Circuit

Karl Hoblitzelle, veteran theatre operator in the Southwest and head of Interstate Theatre Circuit, is now in charge of the Paschall circuit. Under Mr. Hoblitzelle's direction, the circuit will be operated separately from the other interests in which he and R. J. O'Donnell are associated.

CANADIAN EXPRESS CUTS RATE; SO DO U. S. TRUCKS

Theatre Owners in Dominion Will Save $40,000 by New Low Charges for Shipments, Already Effective

New low rates charged exhibitors on express shipments of motion picture film have been extended to Canada, where theatre owners will save some $40,000 during the new season. Annual savings to owners in the United States, as a result of a 25 per cent reduction in express charges made effective last June 15, will total about $450,000.

The new Canada rates, granted by the Express Traffic Association, which represents the four leading railway express services, affect films, records and printed matter, and are made applicable within six regions served by exchanges in six distributing centers.

Hundred-pound rates within three zones of eastern Canada, where most of the Dominion's film business is transacted, are lowered from $1.10 to 85 cents and from $1.35 to $1.05, effective both ways, on all shipments. In two districts in central Canada, hundred-pound rates are reduced from $1.15 to 90 cents and from $1.50 to $1.20, while reductions in British Columbia were ordered lowered from $1.20 to 95 cents and from $1.60 to $1.25 per hundred pounds. Reductions on shipments under 100 pounds are less in proportion, and the average reduction in virtually all cases represents about 20 per cent for both ways.

Representing the Canadian motion picture industry in negotiations with the express agencies were: J. P. O'Loghlin, chairman of the film section of the Toronto Film Board of Trade; R. W. Bolstead, of Famous Players Canadian; Oscar Hanson, Allied Exhibitors of Ontario; Haskell Masters, United Artists; John Cooper, Motion Picture Distributors and Exhibitors of Canada.

Film Shipments a Big Item

An item of marked importance to motion picture theatre owners in this country was Supplement 23 of the Official Express Classification, which announced last June a 25 per cent reduction in rates for exhibitors. Recently, the American Railway Express stated that film shipments are still a considerable item of its express traffic.

The company said that in some of the numerous exchange cities, express service receives the preference over other means of transportation, indicating this is particularly the case in Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Memphis, New Orleans and Salt Lake City. It was said that some 20,000 film shipments move weekly from exchanges to exhibitors by railway express, less than half as many by parcel post, but very considerably more by motor truck. Admittedly, the revised rate was, in part, to meet the competition of the motor truck deliveries, which get the majority of business in the large centers, such as New York and Los Angeles.

However, following the action of the American Railway Express, many of the motor deliveries made reductions in their rates. In the Northwest, the Northwest Film Service granted reductions of from 10 to 25 per cent, depending upon the length of the haul and the amount of business contracted.

Motor Services Cut Rates

Inland Film Co., Film Transportation Co. and Iowa Film Delivery combined their announcement that, with the reduction by the railway agency, they also were making a reduction of 25 per cent. These companies operate in and around the Des Moines territory.

Mistletoe Express Service, which covers Oklahoma, granted a half rate cut on films returned from any point, provided the film is shipped both ways by the auto service.

At Houston, delivery service for exhibitors was reduced one-half on return shipments. Also, McFarren Truck Co., which hauls films from the Dallas exchanges to the Houston territory, likewise granted a reduction of one-half on return lots.

Film Truck Service at Detroit made a 20 per cent reduction last January. Cuts were made also in other cities in the competition between trucks and express.

It was indicated that in most cities the rates charged exhibitors by motor truck haulers were considerably below those of the express company, and in many instances these rates were still lower than the express company's, even after American Railway's cut last June. This is particularly true of Portland, Ore.; Milwaukee; New Orleans; Richmond, Va.; Kansas City; San Francisco; Baltimore; Cleveland; Detroit, Philadelphia.

Loney Haskell, Theatre Veteran, Dies at Desk

"Loney" Haskell, secretary of the Jewish Theatrical Guild of America, died of cerebral hemorrhage at his desk last week in the Guild's headquarters, 1560 Broadway, New York. He was 63.

Mr. Haskell was born in Newark, N. J., with the surname Levy. He had been secretary of the Guild for 10 years. Starting in the mercantile business, he left in 1898 to join Hurtig & Seamon, burlesque producers. For some years he was librettist and chief comedian of their "Bowery Burlesquers" and later became a monologuist on the then "big-time" circuits. Mr. Haskell next developed into a modern master of ceremonies.

British Firm Refinancing

British and Dominions, London, major English company, will hold a meeting at the end of the month to rewrite its financial structure. The plan calls for a writeoff of approximately $900,000. For the first six months of the current fiscal year, to April 29, profit was approximately $80,000.

THE FILM'S OLD TIMER

Fred Cosman, the Electrician Who Started with Howe Back in 1896, Is Still Going Strong

One day in December, 1896, which is 37 years agone, there appeared a show herald advertising the "century's greatest marvel," Lyman H. Howe's Animatiscope. Quoting further, the Animatiscope "depicted Nature in all its activity; life, motion, realism, accompanied by realistic sounds and brilliant music."

Noted on the herald as electrician and operator of the Animatiscope in 1896 was one Fred Cosman. In the year 1933, in Drumright, Okla., operating the Strand theatre as manager, is that same Fred Cosman, who thereby lays claim to lengthiest service in the motion picture industry.

A "Blind Ad" of Lyman H. Howe

When Mr. Cosman, who was born in New York 55 years ago, dropped his tools in an electric arc light company, the third of three electrical jobs he had had, to answer a want-ad in the daily press, calling for someone who knew an arc light from a candle, he fell into the budding motion picture, not yet an industry. That advertisement happened to be a "blind" insertion by one Lyman H. Howe, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., then engaged in making capital of the phonograph. Having seen the moving picture of the day, the Lumiere Cinematographe, at Keith's Union Square theatre in New York, this Mr. Howe felt impelled to take a fling at showing moving pictures on the "road." The Cinematographe shared what little spotlight there was at the time with the Vitascope, holding forth at Koster and Bials in New York's Herald Square. In point of time, shortly thereafter, Mr. Thomas Edison of Orange, N. J., evolved a projector.

Mr. Cosman went to Wilkes-Barre, where a projector was assembled in the local Y. M. C. A. For two weeks the former New York electrician played with the machine, and an engagement was arranged by Mr. Howe to see what there was to this mechanism and what its result might be. The engagement, strangely enough, was at Deposit, N. Y., the birthplace of Mr. Cosman's mother. The performance consisted of six 30-foot pictures and 12 phonograph tubes. A 30-foot picture could be shown twice, then run through twice again, and possibly even a third time.

Phonograph to the Rescue

The pictures ran over the top of the arc lamp to a spool bank to the rear of the lamp, under a lamp house and back to the projector. Any single 30-foot film could be shown innumerable successive times. It generally required two phonograph records to occupy the time required to take the film off and adjust the new one on the projector. That night, in Deposit, everything moved swimmingly, barring the one inconsequential accident of one picture appearing on the screen upside down. However, two phonograph records—it was fixed, and the show went on.

At 25 and 50 cents admission, the engagement was characterized by the promoters thereof a great success. Mr. Howe and his electrician-operator returned to Wilkes-Barre, where Mr. Howe acquired the services of an advance-man to steer ahead, booking the show, while Mr. Cosman juggled his apparatus a bit more, with the net result of several new improvements.

Thus, we are told, developed one of the earliest public exhibitions of motion pictures outside of New York City in the United States. For two and one-half years Mr. Cosman remained with Mr. Howe. Then, forming Cosman and Barnes Moving Picture Company, he started on his own road of film exhibition. All this more than 35 years ago. Later Mr. Howe purchased the interest of Barnes in the enterprise, then bought out Mr. Cosman, after which Cosman returned to Mr. Howe's employ for two more years.

Followed successively for Mr. Cosman work with the F. F. Proctor Circuit in various cities, and St. Joseph, Mo., where he gave the city its first motion picture exhibition, Cosman's Moving Pictures, which operated for five years. In St. Joseph for 18 years, Mr. Cosman later opened a theatre supply business in Oklahoma City, which five years ago was taken over by National Theatre Supply Company.

Feeling, as he himself expresses it, that he was born for the motion picture business, Mr. Cosman still holds his cinematic way. Having spent his life therein, he is thoroughly convinced in his faith in the business. He voices warning against drastic cuts in admission prices, advising that it is "easy to drop prices, but mighty hard to raise them."

Great Lakes to Shea

The Great Lakes theatre in Buffalo, which some months ago was taken over by Loew's in a temporary arrangement, has been returned to the management of Shea. The house was one of the first in Buffalo to revive vaudeville.

Amity Adds Exchange

Amity Pictures Corporation, Ltd., with offices at 729 Seventh avenue, New York, has added another affiliated exchange to its list, bringing the total to 28 over the country. The company distributes the product of independent producers.

Expanding Exchange System

Associated Film Distributors of Kansas City, independent company, is completing an exchange expansion plan with three established in Des Moines, St. Louis and Memphis, and a fourth to be placed in the Southwest.

Extras to Get Help

Studio casting directors met last week in Hollywood to draft resolutions to submit to producers in an effort to better general casting conditions. Another proposal provides that all extra casting be done through the Central Casting Agency.

GOVERNOR CALLS FILM STABILIZER

The motion picture "has done more during the past few troublesome years to maintain the mental equilibrium of the people than any other agency," Governor George White of Ohio declared at the annual Pittsburg (Ohio) Variety Club banquet at the William Penn hotel Sunday night.

"The legislature saw fit to enact an admission tax in order to help finance unemployment relief," Governor White added. "The tax, I know, must be burdensome to the theatre owners of Ohio, but their sense of patriotism has induced them to accept this responsibility in a graceful manner."

M. R. ("Duke") Clark is president of the club.

Westinghouse Moves

Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., Westinghouse Electric International Co., Westinghouse Electric Elevator Co., and the Westinghouse Lamp Co., this week announced removal of their New York executive and sales offices to the RCA Building in Rockefeller Center, New York.

Shamrock Pictures Formed

Shamrock Pictures Corporation has been formed with offices in the Cadillac Square Building, Detroit. Officers of the corporation are: B. C. Fassio, president; Arthur V. Miller, vice-president; Robert H. Low, secretary; Fred Crebbin, Jr., treasurer; W. Walter Roff, director.

Mid-States Suit Postponed

Hearing on the suit filed in Detroit by Leon Krim and A. Ruttenberg against Mid-States Theatres Corporation, which was to have been held on Monday, has been postponed 30 days, a temporary injunction meanwhile continuing in force.

Opens Dallas Exchange

Ed Blumenthal has opened the Amity Film Exchange in Dallas. Mr. Blumenthal was formerly an RKO salesman and lately operated the Standard Attractions Exchange with L. C. Baxley. He will also manage the new Essaney Exchange for Paul Short and Howard Allen.

Einfeld Celebrates

S. Charles Einfeld, advertising and publicity director of Warner Brothers, celebrated his birthday Wednesday. Instead of presenting him with the usual gifts, his assistants gave him a seat at a New York premiere of "The World Changes," that evening. No announcement as to the executive's exact age was forthcoming but it is suspected he is somewhere in the neighborhood of 32.

New Associated Theatre

Associated Theatres, Cleveland organization, has added the Windameer theatre, from Sam Rosenthal and the Windameer Theatre Company. This is the eleventh house in the circuit. Heading Associated Theatres are Myer Fine, Abe Kramer, S. H. Stecker and John Urbansky.

"JAMMED WITH PICTURE MATERIAL"

So Says DeCasseres of "The Pursuit of Happiness"; Four Other Plays Viewed in Screen Light

by BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

AH, WILDERNESS!

Eugene O'Neill has done some fine work. And the screen has done itself double-proud in "Anna Christie," "Strange Interlude" and "The Emperor Jones."

But something happened to our famous Poet of Reality in "Ah, Wilderness!" (an ugly, meaningless title), which opened the Theatre Guild season. Either he is sliding into sentimental mush, or he did this boresome, vapid play of American domestic life in 1906 with malice aforethought in order to show the public that he could be down-to-earth, every day and that he, a dispiple of the Tragic Muse, could be "comic."

But he merely succeeded in putting me asleep, and I am one of O'Neill's original boosters.

This play is swung on the conflict between an adolescent who reads Swinburne and Shaw and yawps for Anarchy, and his father, an editor of a small-town newspaper. This father was played perfectly by George M. Cohan; but Elisha Cook, Jr., overdid the boy to the point of caricature.

The boy gets drunk with a girl in the town's only dive, and comes home, at midnight on the Fourth, plastered to the gills. His mother, father, brothers and sisters are there to receive him. And how!

The boy is in love with a sweet thing, and there is some mushy moonlight mooning. All ends in an un-O'Neill manner—sweetly.

There is, however, picture value in this play. The drama is fake and the love-making is childish. The scene in the dive is conventional. But O'Neill's name may pull b. o.

(Is O'Neill going "Old Homestead"?)

Picture value, 70 per cent.

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

Sex-wit must never be confounded with dirt and bathroom vulgarity.

I hope this distinction will be kept in view when the picture people sit in on Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Langner's ripping and biting satire on bundling in America during our Revolutionary War.

It is called, in honor of the then new Declaration of Independence and the Colonial chase for It, "The Pursuit of Happiness." It is another double-barreled hit.

It is just jammed full of possible picture material, but its presentation will be for adults only (nowadays, I note, an adult is anybody over 12 years old).

Scene: The Kirkland Farm, Westville, Conn., 1777.

The Kirkland household consists of Pa and Ma Kirkland and Prudence, the daughter, around whom revolves the grand hijinks.

A Hessian prisoner is brought in. Young, good-looking, anti-Puritan. He really wants to fight for America—and Prudence.

Clash and drama: The Revolutionary Sheriff of the county is in love with Prudence also. A light heavy part.

The big scene in "The Pursuit of Happiness" comes when the Hessian comes through the window at Prudence's invitation, and she, in all innocence, invites the disciple of Voltaire and Rousseau to "bundle" with her. This is, as all good Yanks know, the old New England custom of a sparking couple sitting in bed under the covers with their clothes on and a board between them. But—ah!—well!!!

Puritan pastor is snooping. He breaks in. Alarums and excursions in the night. Hessian hides in the barn.

There is a serio-comic row and it ends in a kind of military marriage.

The dialogue is laugh-provoking and the whole thing is colorful, romantic, historical (so to speak) and full of suggestions for swift-moving camera action.

But—bundling on the screen? Yes? No?

Picture value, 80 per cent.

AS THOUSANDS CHEER

Now that musical comedy mixed with satire has landed heads up on the screen, I'd like to see a producer try his hand at the Irving Berlin-Moss Hart entertainment, "As Thousands Cheer," which is a colossal hit. And deservedly so, for a more perfectly played, directed and danced satiric revue would be hard to recall. It is the last thing in good taste and dynamic incisive showmanship.

Marilyn Miller, Clifton Webb, Helen Broderick and Ethel Waters, with Charles Weidman, are the high spots, and they all hit the ceiling. They are the last word in the Modern Thing.

These satires on the Hoovers, the Rockefellers, the English royal family, Noel Coward, Joan Crawford, the Metropolitan Opera House and Ghandi may be too "high brow" for the screen; but that's what they told me when I said 10 years ago that the finest satires could be done with profit.

Courage, gentlemen, courage! Only pioneers find the yellow stuff.

"As Thousands Cheer," if it could be done for the pictures as it is done at the Music Box, stars and all, would, I believe, land big.

Picture value, unknown.

UNDESIRABLE LADY

Leon Gordon knows picture values. And he plussed it and cinched it with the handsome Nancy Carroll.

"Undesirable Lady" is no great shakes for the speaking stage. It as cut-and-dried as a Hitler birthday party in Berlin. But for screen entertainment it will go fast.

Sally Marsh (Miss Carroll) is about to go up for first-degree murder. Her elderly lawyer, Charles Fennick, is in love with her. She makes a get-away with him to Dorothy Dalton's pre-war Frozen North. It's her only way out.

Winds howl. Dogs moan. Ennui g-naws. Besides, Fennick is now ageing and snow-blind.

Out of the fog and icebergs and Aurora Borealis comes the fellow you expected: it's Lou Tellegen-Gable-Siegfried-Lohengrin. Well, naturally, there's goings on.

But Fennick regains the use of his peepers just in time to see. He catches 'em one night—and, here's the big picture angle—he tells Sally that her Sir Galyhad is a dick come to grab Sally for Justice's Hungry Maw.

Sally swallows pisin.

Picture value, 85 per cent.

HER MAN OF WAX

Lloyd Corrigan and Lenore Ulric had a grand time of it in a Hasenclever-Julian Thompson fantasy on Napoleon, "Her Man of Wax." And so had the audience.

I put the names of Corrigan and Ulric in the above order deliberately, for Corrigan walked off with the show. His Napoleon was a surprise—human, subdued, satiric and natural.

The show—a hit—contains great picture possibilities. Napoleon's return to Paris in 1933 for the sake of a woman who lured him out of his wax-life in the Grevin Museum, his high-jinks with her, his enforced command of the French Army and his sudden appearance at the Disarmament Conference (the members of which believe him to be a picture actor, for Josephine Delmar-Ulric is a celebrated screen star)—all this makes for great picture doings.

In the picture there will, no doubt, be some mob-scenes. The Whole Works stop! Napoleon back as dictator of the world—and for his Queen, Delmar of the Movies! (Hey, Groucho and Harpo!)

The weak spot in "Her Man of Wax" is the dialogue. It needs snapping.

The play is sheer entertainment, for it is all the revery of Josephine Delmar before the wax figure of Napoleon. But it fooled us all to the end.

Picture value, 75 per cent.

Weshner Named Warner Wisconsin Zone Manager

Dave (Skip) Weshner, Warner theatre executive formerly at the home office, has been assigned to active theatre operation, as Wisconsin zone manager with headquarters in Milwaukee. The appointment was made by Joseph Bernhard, general manager of theatres.

The Champions

¶ Motion Picture Herald's by the reports of the Gold Diggers of 1933: Warner

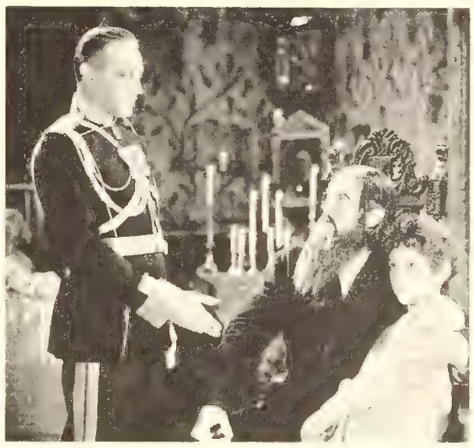
(1) GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Supervised by Ray Griffith. Dances by Busby Berkeley. Screen play by Erwin Gelsey and James Seymour. Music and lyrics by Harry Warren and Al Dubin. Dialogue by David Boehm and Ben Markson. Photographer: Sol Polito. Art director: Anton Grot. Cast: Warren William, Joan Blondell, Aline MacMahon, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Ginger Rogers.

Cavalcade: Fox

● (2) CAVALCADE: Directed by Frank Lloyd. From the play by Noel Coward. Screen play by Reginald Berkeley. Continuity by Sonya Levien. Assistant director: William Tummel. Director of dialogue: George Hadden. Art director: William Darling. Photographer: Ernest Palmer. Cast: Diana Wynyard, Clive Brook, Ursula Jeans, Herbert Mundin.

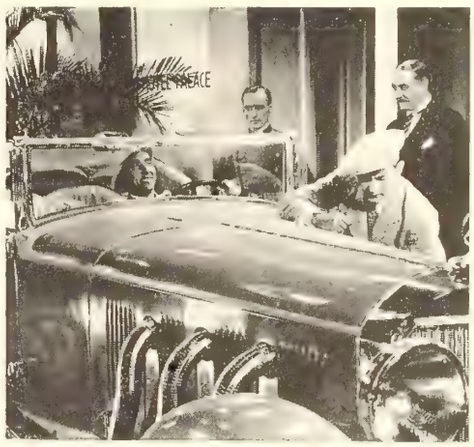


Rasputin and the Empress: MGM

Strange Interlude: MGM

● (3) 42ND STREET: Based on the novel by Bradford Ropes. Screen play by Rian James and James Seymour. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. Photographer: Sol Polito. Art director: Jack Okey. Songs by Al Dubin and Harry Warren. Cast: Warner Baxter, Bebe Daniels, George Brent, Ruby Keeler, Una Merkel, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks, Dick Powell, Ginger Rogers.

● (4) STATE FAIR: Directed by Henry King. From the novel by Phil Stong. Screen play by Paul Green and Sonya Levien. Photographed by Hal Mohr. Film editor: R. W. Bischoff. Sound recorder: A. L. Von Kirbach. Cast: Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Frank Craven, Victor Jory.



Be Mine Tonight: Universal

Tiger Shark: First National

● (4) RASPUTIN AND THE EMPRESS: Directed by Richard Boleslavsky. Author: Charles MacArthur. Photographer: William Daniels. Musical score by Herbert Stothart. Film editor: Tom Held. Cast: John Barrymore, Ethel Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Ralph Morgan, Diana Wynyard, Tad Alexander, C. Henry Gordon, Edward Arnold.

● (4) STRANGE INTERLUDE: From the stage play by Eugene O'Neill. Directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Dialogue and continuity by Bess Meredyth and C. Gardiner Sullivan. Photographed by Lee Garmes. Cast: Norma Shearer, Clark Gable, Alexander Kirkland, Ralph Morgan, Robert Young, May Robson, Maureen O'Sullivan, Henry B. Walthall and Mary Alden.

● (4) TUGBOAT ANNIE: Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Assistant director: Al Shenberg. Associate producer: Harry Rapf. Screen play by Zelda Sears and Eve Greene. Dialogue by Norman Reilly Raine. Art director: Merrill Pye. Cameraman: Gregg Toland. Cast: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan.

● (5) BIRD OF PARADISE: Based on the play by Richard Walton Tully. Screen play by Wells Root. Added dialogue by Leonard Praskins and Wanda Tuchock. Directed by King Vidor. Photographed by Clyde DeVinna. Cast: Dolores Del Rio, Joel McCrea, John Halliday, Skeets Gallagher, Creighton Chaney, Bert Roach.

70,000 Witnesses: Paramount

Box Office of 1932-33

annual selection determined nation's key city theatres

42nd Street: Warner

State Fair: Fox

Tugboat Annie: MGM

Smilin' Through: MGM

Bird of Paradise: RKO Radio

Grand Hotel: MGM

Horse Feathers: Paramount

Love Me Tonight: Paramount

● (5) BE MINE TONIGHT: Directed by Anatol Litwak. Story by I. V. Cube and A. Joseph. Adaptation and dialogue by John Orton. Music by Mischa Spoliansky. Lyrics by Frank Eyton. Cast: Jan Kiepura, Magda Schneider, Sonnie Hale.

● (5) SMILIN' THROUGH: Play by Jane Cowl and Jane Murfin. Directed by Sidney Franklin. Photographed by Lee Garmes. Cast: Norma Shearer, Fredric March, Leslie Howard, O. P. Heggie, Ralph Forbes.

● (6) HORSE FEATHERS: Original story and screen play by Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby and S. J. Perelman. Music and lyrics by Kalmar and Ruby. Directed by Norman McLeod. Photographed by Ray June. Cast: Four Marx Brothers, Thelma Todd.

● (6) 70,000 WITNESSES: From the novel by Cortland Fitzsimmons. Screen play by Garrett Fort. Directed by Ralph Murphy. A Charles R. Rogers production. Additional dialogue by P. J. Wolfson and Allen Rivkin. Photographed by Henry Sharp. Cast: Phillips Holmes, Dorothy Jordan, Charles Ruggles, Johnny Mack Brown, J. Farrell MacDonald, Lew Cody.

● (6) TIGER SHARK: Story by Houston Branch. Screen play by Wells Root. Directed by Howard Hawks. Photographed by Tony Gaudio. Cast: Edward G. Robinson, Richard Arlen, Zita Johann, Leila Bennett, J. Carroll Naish, William Riccardi, Sheila Manners.

● (6) GRAND HOTEL: Story by Vicki Baum. American play version by William A. Drake. Directed by Edmund Goulding. Photographed by William Daniels. Film editor: Blanche Sewell. Cast: Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallace Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, Jean Hersholt.

● (6) LOVE ME TONIGHT: Screen play by Samuel Hoffenstein, Waldemar Young and George Marion, Jr. Based on a stage play by Leopold Marchand and Paul Arment. Directed by Rouben Mamoulian. Music by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. Photographed by Victor Milner. Cast: Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette MacDonald, Charlie Ruggles, Charles E. Butterworth, Myrna Loy, C. Audrey Smith, Elizabeth Patterson, Ethel Griffies and Blanche Friderici.

ADVANCE INFORMATION ON 500 FEATURE RELEASES FOR 1933-34

Producers on both coasts have undertaken one of the busiest picture-making schedules in motion picture history, in order to feed the heavy sales guns of their distribution affiliates, which are now engaged in one of the most active competitive campaigns in years.

This unusual distributors' race to market is inspired by the creation of hundreds of additional independent sales possibilities, which previously were booked in circuit form at a single stroke of the pen on a theatre executive's desk on Broadway, and, equally important, by the delay of several weeks in launching sales activities, which was occasioned by numerous uncontrollable factors.

Held back some months ago by the uncertainties of theatre receiverships and the theatre decentralization movement, and by the general business situation of last fall—to say nothing of the perplexing effects of NRA code drafting activities in New York and at Washington—production generals of large and small studios in both Hollywood and New York have been working on a round-the-clock schedule to gather together the many loose ends of 1933-34 product catalogues, in order to place at the disposal of sales managers in the field not only completed negatives far in advance of ordinary seasons, but also definite information about forthcoming story properties and the creative talent who will make them and subsequently make the box-office entries in the nation's theatre ledgers.

As a result of this current spurt in merchandising activity, the production divisions of the industry have already made up their minds on more than 500 of the 600 or 700 features which will be needed by exhibitors this season. Yet the sales year is not half spent.

Scores of finished negatives have already been received at home offices and exchanges, and records are being broken daily in completing filming schedules. However, the producers are not necessarily curtailing the full and necessary time requirement for shooting. Hundreds of extra studio workers and artists have been added to the staffs and new production units created.

In the columns which follow there appears for the study of motion picture theatre owners a record of those 500 titles of features which have already been completed or definitely determined upon for 1933-34 release. In the compilation there also appears all additional advance information available to date, including release dates, stars, directors, authors. Hundreds of short subjects, too, are well on their way to the screens.

This record is not intended to represent the complete numerical total of releases on schedule for the season. Pictures are listed only where some definite information was obtainable on title, release date or credits. Because many independent companies do not set definite filming schedules far in advance, data pertaining to the product of some of these companies are not as complete as that of the large producers which have several units at work, or in preparation, at the same time.

ALCO

SHORT SUBJECTS: 6 one reel Secrets of the Hands; author, Dr. William G. Benham.

ALLIED (HOFFMAN)

ONE YEAR LATER (M. H. Hoffman), November 17 releases; with Mary Brian, Donald Dillway Pauline Garon, Marjorie Beebe, Pat O'Malley; director, M. H. Hoffman; authors, F. Hugh Herbert, Paul Perez.

PICTURE BRIDES, no release date; with Dorothy Mackail, Regis Toomey, Alan Hale; director, Phil Rosen; author, Adele Buffington.

THROUGH WITH LOVE, no release date.

LAST NIGHT'S SWEETHEART, no release date.

BUNGALOW COURT, no release date.

CHEATERS, no release date.

DAVY JONES' LOCKER, no release date.

MIDNIGHT ALARM, no release date.

OPEN FOR INSPECTION, no release date.

SILK TRIMMED, no release date.

SLIGHTLY USED, no release date.

WITHOUT CHILDREN no release date.

AMITY

John H. Crinnion, formerly of Tiffany, this week acquired Amity Pictures, which releases Tiffany and Quadruple product.

BRITISH INTERNATIONAL

HAWLEYS OF HIGH STREET, no release date; with Leslie Fuller.

I LIVED WITH YOU, no release date; with Ivor Novello, Ursula Jeans.

I SPY, no release date; with Ben Lyon, Sally Eilers.

MAID OF THE MOUNTAINS, no release date; with Harry Welchman, Nancy Brown.

RADIO PARADE, no release date.

THE SONG YOU GAVE ME, no release date; with Bebe Daniels, Victor Varconi.

YOU MADE ME LOVE YOU, no release date; with Thelma Todd, John Loder.

CHESTERFIELD

I HAVE LIVED, September 5 release; with Anita Page, Alan Dinehart; director, Richard Thorpe.

DANCE, GIRL, DANCE (Invincible) October 27 release; with Evalyn Knapp, Alan Dinehart, Ada May, Gloria Shea, Eddie Nugent, Mae Busch; director, Frank Strayer.

BY APPOINTMENT ONLY (Invincible), November 3 release; with Lew Cody, Aileen Pringle, Sally O'Neil, Marceline Day, Pauline Garon; director, Frank Strayer; author, Robert Ellis.

NOTORIOUS BUT NICE, November 17 release; with Marian Marsh, Betty Compson, Donald Dillaway, Rochelle Hudson; director, Richard Thorpe.

MAN OF SENTIMENT November 24 release; with Marian Marsh, Owen Moore, Billy Bakewell; director, Richard Thorpe.

THE NIGHT IS OURS (Invincible), no release date; director, Frank Strayer; author Barbara Baldwin.

MASTER OF MEN, no release date; author, Austin Kremens.

LOVELESS NIGHTS, no release date; author Adele Allison.

MATINEE WOMEN (Invincible), no release date; author, Hilda Varney.

TWISTED HUMANITY (Invincible), no release date; director, Frank Strayer; author, Emil Borst.

MOTHER OF THE WORLD (Invincible), no release date; director, Frank Strayer; author, Hayden Tuttle.

THE DIVORCE CURE, no release date; director, Richard Thorpe; author, Peggy Bruno.

ANGEL FACE, no release date; author, Floyd Carroll.

THE CRIMINAL WITHIN, no release date; director, Richard Thorpe; author, Rex Reynolds.

MEN IN HER LIFE (Invincible), no release date; author, Walter X. Evans.

HOTEL ROOM (Invincible), no release date; director, Frank Strayer; author, Philip Gary.

HELL'S BALLYHOO, no release date; director, Richard Thorpe.

COLUMBIA

LADY FOR A DAY, September 13 release; with Warren William, May Robson, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Ned Sparks; director, Frank Capra; author, Damon Runyon.

POLICE CAR 17, September 30 release; with Tim McCoy, Evalyn Knapp; director, Lambert Hillyer; author, Lambert Hillyer.

THE THRILL HUNTER, September 30 release; with Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier; director, George B. Seitz; author, Harry O. Hoyt.

ABOVE THE CLOUDS, October 24 release; with Richard Cromwell, Dorothy Wilson, Robert Armstrong; director, Roy William Neill; author, George B. Seitz.

HOLD THE PRESS, October 25 release; with Tim McCoy, Shirley Grey, Wheeler Oakman; director, Phil Rosen; author, Horace McCoy.

MAN'S CASTLE, November 10 release; with Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young, Glenda Farrell; director, Frank Borzage; author, Lawrence Hazard.

KING OF THE WILD HORSES, November 10 release; with William Janney, Dorothy Appleby, Wallace MacDonald; director, Earl Haley; author, Earl Haley.

HOUSE OF MURDER, no release date; with Ralph Bellamy, June Collyer; director, Lambert Hillyer; author, Robert Quigley.

FOG, no release date; with Mary Brian, Donald Cook, Reginald Denny; director Albert Rogell; authors, Valentine Williams, Dorothy Rice Simms.

NIGHT BUS, no release date; with Clark Gable; author, Samuel Hopkins Adams.

WORLD'S FAIR, no release date; director, Albert Rogell; author, Robert Riskin.

CRIMINAL WITHIN, no release date; with Bruce Cabot, Mary Brian; director, Phil Rosen; author, Albert DeMond.

THE PARTY'S OVER, no release date; author, Daniel Kusell.

MOST PRECIOUS THING IN LIFE, no release date; author, Travis Ingham.

THE LADY IS WILLING, no release date; with Leslie Howard; director, Gilbert Miller; author, Louis Verneuil.

THE NINTH GUEST, no release date; director, Albert Rogell; author, Owen Davis.

RED SQUARE, no release date; director, Lewis Milestone; author, Laurence Stallings.

SHADOWS OF SING SING, no release date.

WHOM THE GODS DESTROY, no release date; with Walter Connolly.

BLACK MOON, no release date; with Jack Holt; author, Clements Ripley.

THE HELL CAT, no release date.

TWENTIETH CENTURY, no release date; authors, Ben Hecht, Charles MacArthur.

MEN NEED WOMEN, no release date.

LET'S FALL IN LOVE, no release date; with Harriette Lake, Edmund Lowe, Gregory Ratoff, Wera Engels; director, David Burton; author, Herbert Fields.

TOO TOUGH TO KILL, no release date; with Jack Holt; author, J. D. Newsom.

ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN, no release date; director, Lambert Hillyer; author, A. J. Cronin.

THE LINE UP, no release date.

HELLO, BIG BOY! no release date.

PRODUCE THE BODY, no release date.

TAKE THE WITNESS, no release date; authors, Alfred Cohn, Joseph Chisholm.

SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN, no release date; author, Courtenay Savage.

AMONG THE MISSING, no release date.

THE FIGHTING CODE, no release date; with Buck Jones, Diane Sinclair; director, Lambert Hillyer; author, Lambert Hillyer.

THE FIGHTING RANGER, no release date; with Buck Jones, Dorothy Revier; director, George B. Seitz; author, Warren Battle.

THE MAN TRAILER, no release date; with Buck Jones, Cecilia Parker; director, Lambert Hillyer, author, Lambert Hillyer.

UNTITLED Tim McCoy series of six features.

UNTITLED Frank Borzage production, no release date.

UNTITLED Lewis Milestone production, no release date.

UNTITLED Frank Capra production, no release date.

UNTITLED Carole Lombard production, no release date.

A MONTH OF HOLIDAYS!

Follow the Leader

HUNDREDS OF SHORTS AVAILABLE

POLICE ADVENTURE series of three features, untitled.
SHORT SUBJECTS: Twenty-six one reel March of the Years novelties; 13 one-reel Minute Mysteries; 18 Krazy Kat cartoons, one reel; 13 one-reel Scrappy cartoon comedies; 13 one-reel World of Sports novelties; 8 one-reel Laughing with Medbury comedies; 6 two-reel Mickey McGuire comedies; 6 Smith and Dale comedies, two reelers; 6 two-reel Sidney and Murray comedies; 6 two-reel Musical comedies.

CRITERION

FACE ON THE BAR-ROOM FLOOR (Aubrey Kennedy), no release date; with Dulcie Cooper, Bramwell Fletcher, Walter Miller, Phillips Smalley; director, Bert Bracken, author, Aubrey Kennedy.

DOWLING

THE GREAT ADVENTURE (Eddie-Dowling-Arthur Hopkins), no release date; with Arnold Bennet, Lillian Gish, Roland Young.

EMBASSY

Twenty-one Harold Lloyd-Pathe comedies, all reissues.

EXPLOITATION

ENLIGHTEN THY DAUGHTER, now releasing; with Herbert Rawlinson, Miriam Battista, Wesley Barry; author, Arthur Hoerl; director, John Varley.

FEATURETTES, INC.

MYSTERIES OF THE MAGIC VAULT (with Commander Dyott), three and four-reel featurettes, adventure subjects.

FERRONE

DOUBLE CROSSER, no release date.
GHOST SHIP, no release date.
HELEN HUNTS A JOB, no release date.

FIRST DIVISION

First Division Pictures, Harry Thomas, president, holds certain distribution franchises for motion pictures of Chesterfield, Invincible, Allied, Monogram, Resolute, Brian Foy, Cherry Kearton, William Pizor, Criterion, Principal and Mayfair. Releases of these companies appear under each company's classification.

FOX

PILGRIMAGE, August 18 release; with Henrietta Crosman, Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Marion Nixon; director, John Ford; author, I. A. R. Wylie.
THE LAST TRAIL, August 25 release; with George O'Brien, Claire Trevor, El Brendel; director, James Tingling; author, Zane Grey.
PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING, September 1 release; with Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter, Walter Connolly; director, Harry Lachman; author, W. Gayer Ord.
THE GOOD COMPANIONS (Gaumont-British), September 8 release; with Jessie Matthews, Edmund Gwenn; director, Victor Saville; author, J. B. Priestley.
CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE, September 15 release; with Warner Oland, Heather Angel, John Warburton; director, Hamilton MacFadden; author, Earl Derr Biggers.
DOCTOR BULL, September 22 release; with Will Rogers, Louise Dresser, Marian Nixon; director, John Ford; author, James Gould Cozzens.
MY WEAKNESS (Buddy DeSylva), September 29 release; with Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres, Charles Butterworth, Sid Silvers, Harry Langdon; director, David Butler; author, Buddy DeSylva.
THE POWER AND THE GLORY (Jesse L. Lasky), October 6 release; with Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore, Ralph Morgan, Helen Vinson; director, William K. Howard; author, Preston Sturges.
WALLS OF GOLD, October 13 release; with Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Ralph Morgan; director, Kenneth MacKenna; author, Kathleen Norris.
THE WORST WOMAN IN PARIS? (Jesse L. Lasky), October 20 release; with Benita Hume, Adolphe Menjou, Harry Stephens, Helen Chandler; director, Monta Bell; author, Monta Bell.
THE MAD GAME, October 27 release; with Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor. Ralph Morgan, Kathleen Burke; director, Irving Cummings; author, William Conselman.
BERKELEY SQUARE (Jesse L. Lasky), November 3 release; with Leslie Howard, Heather Angel; director, Frank Lloyd; author, John L. Balderston.
MY LIPS BETRAY, November 10 release; with Lilian Harvey, John Boles, El Brendel, Irene Browne; director, John Blystone; author, Attila Orbok.
OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT, November 17 release; with El Brendel, Barbara Weeks, Walter Catlett; director, Malcolm St. Clair; author, George Marshall.
JIMMY AND SALLY, November 24 release; with James Dunn, Claire Trevor; director, James Tingling; author, William Conselman.
HOOPLA, November 30 release; with Clara Bow, Preston Foster, Richard Cromwell, James Gleason; director, Frank Lloyd; author, John Kenyon Nicholson.

MONOGRAM MEETS ON BUDGET RAISE

W. Ray Johnston, president of Monogram Pictures, called a special meeting of all Monogram franchise holders this week at the Hotel Statler, Cleveland, to propose an immediate 100 per cent increase in the company's production budget, with all special features to be budgeted at a minimum of $100,000. Mr. Johnston and Trem Carr, vice-president in charge of production, said they felt the increase was warranted to meet the unusual sales reaction accorded the first five features completed on the company's 1933-34 program.

SMOKY, December 8 release; with Victor Jory, Irene Bentley; director, Eugene Forde; author, Will James.
I WAS A SPY (Gaumont-British), December 15 release; with Herbert Marshall; director, Victor Saville; author, Mme. Marthe McKenna.
I AM SUZANNE (Jesse L. Lasky), December 22 release; with Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Georgia Caine; director, Rowland V. Lee; author, Edwin Justus Mayer.
MR. STITCH, December 29 release; with Will Rogers, Zasu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson; director, James Cruze; author, Anne Cameron.
AS HUSBANDS GO (Jesse L. Lasky), January 5 release; with Warner Baxter, Warner Oland; director, Hamilton MacFadden; author, Rachel Crothers.
SEVEN LIVES WERE CHANGED, January 12 release; with Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Herbert Mundin, Ralph Morgan, director, Paul Matin; author, Graham Green.
THE HOUSE OF CONNELLY, January 19 release; with Janet Gaynor, Lew Ayres, Lionel Barrymore, Henrietta Crosman; director, Henry King; author, Paul Green.
FRONTIER MARSHAL, January 26 release; with George O'Brien, Irene Bentley; director, Lew Seiler; author, Stuart N. Lake.
FOX MOVIETONE FOLLIES (Lew Brown), February 2 release; with Janet Gaynor, Lilian Harvey, James Dunn, Heather Angel, El Brendel; director, David Butler; author, Ralph Spence.
WOMAN AND THE LAW, February 9 release; with Victor Jory; director, Irving Cummings; authors. Judith Ravel, Lowell Brentano.
ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES (Al Rockett), February 16 release; director, George Fitzmaurice; author, Richard Aldington.
SHORT SUBJECTS: From Fox, 26 one-reel Magic Carpet travel reels; 13 one-reel Adventures of the Newsreel Cameraman; 13 one-reel Movie Tintype novelties.
From Educational: 6 two-reel Star Comedy Specials; 6 two-reel Musical comedies; 6 two-reel Tom Howard comedies; 8 two-reel Andy Clyde comedies; 6 two-reel Moran and Mack comedies; 8 two-reel Mermaid comedies; 6 two-reel Frolics of Youth comedies; 6 two-reel Coronet comedies; 26 one-reel Paul Terry-Toon comedies; 6 one-reel Song Hit Stories; 6 one-reel Baby Burlesks; 10 one-reel Treasure Chests; 6 one-reel Romantic Journeys; 6 one-reel As a Dog Thinks novelties; 6 one-reel Battle for Life comedies.

FOY

STRANGE CASE OF TOM MOONEY (Brian Foy), July 21 release two reels.
MY SIDE OF THE STORY (Brian Foy), September 22 release with Dave Hutton; one reel.

FREULER FILM

MARRIAGE ON APPROVAL, November 15 release; with Donald Dillaway, Barbara Kent, Philip Barry; director, Howard Higgin; author, Priscilla Wayne.

GAUMONT-BRITISH

WALTZ TIME, October 1 release; with Evelyn Laye; director, William Thiele.
BRITTANIA OF BILLSGATE, no release date; with Gordon Harker, Violet Loraine; director, Sinclair Hill.
CHANNEL CROSSING, no release date; with Matheson Lang, Constance Cummings; director, Milton Rosmer.
FALLING FOR YOU, no release date; with Jack Hulbert, Cicely Courtneidge; director, Jack Hulbert.
FIRE RAISERS, no release date; with Leslie Banks; director, Michael Powell.
GHOST TRAINS, no release date; with Jack Hulbert, Cicily Courtneidge; director, Walter Forde.
THE GHOUL, no release date; with Boris Karloff; director, T. Hayes Hunter.
IT'S A BOY, no release date; with Edward Everett Horton; director, Tim Whelan.
JUST SMITH, no release date; with Tom Walls; director, Tom Walls.
KING OF THE RITZ, no release date; with Rex Ingram; director, Rex Ingram.
LOVE ON WHEELS, no release date; with Jack Hulbert, Gordon Harker; director, Victor Saville.
LUCKY NUMBER, no release date; with Clifford Mollison, Joan Wyndham; director, Anthony Asquith.
MAN FROM TORONTO, no release date; with Jessie Matthews, Ian Hunter, Fred Kerr; director, Sinclair Hill.
MARRY ME, no release date; with Renate Miller, Harry Green.
NIGHT AND DAY, no release date; with Jack Hulbert, Winifred Shotter; director, Walter Forde.
ORDERS IS ORDERS, no release date; with James Gleason, Charlotte Greenwood; director, Walter Forde.
THE PRINCE OF WALES, no release date.
SLEEPING CAR, no release date; with Madeleine Carroll, Ivor Novello; director, Anatol Litwak.
THERE GOES THE BRIDE, no release date; with Jessie Matthews; director, Albert de Courville.
JACK AHOY, no release date; with Jack Hulbert; director, Walter Forde.
FRIDAY THE THIRTEENTH, no release date; with Jessie Matthews, Gordon Harker, Sonny Hale.
TURKEY TIME, no release date; with Tom Walls, Ralph Lynn; director, Tom Walls.
CHU CHIN CHOW, no release date; director, Walter Forde; with Anna May Wong.
RED ENSIGN, no release date; with Leslie Banks; director, Michael Powell.
MAN OF ARAN, no release date; with Tiger King, Maggie Dirrane, Michael Dillane; director, Robert J. Flaherty.
AUNT SALLY, no release date; with Cicely Courtneidge, Sam Hardy; director, Tim Whelan.
EVERGREEN, no release date; with Jessie Matthews; director, Victor Saville.
BROWN ON RESOLUTION, no release date.
ROAD HOUSE, no release date; with Gordon Harker, Violet Lorraine; director, Milton Rosmer.
BELLA DONNA, no release date; with Conrad Veidt; director, Maurice Elvey.
NORTHBOUND, no release date; director, Walter Forde.
MURDER PARTY, no release date; with Leslie Banks; director, Michael Powell.
WILD BOY, no release date; with Mick, the Miller; director, Albert de Courville.
ON THE DOLE, no release date; with Albert Burdon.
PRINCESS CHARMING, no release date; with Evelyn Laye; director, Maurice Elvey.
JEW SUSS, no release date; with Conrad Veidt; director, Lothar Mendes.
WALTZES FROM VIENNA, no release date; with Jessie Matthews, Sonny Hale, Fay Compton; director, Alfred Hitchcock.
MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS, no release date; with Madeline Carroll.
MAGNOLIA STREET, no release date; director, Victor Saville.
THE CLAIRVOYANT, no release date; with Evelyn Laye, Sonnie Hale; Jack Hulbert, Cicely Courtneidge, Leslie Henson.
PARIS IN SPRING, no release date; director, Albert de Courville.
OPEN ALL NIGHT, no release date.
MEN WITHOUT WORK, no release date.
COVENT GARDEN, no release date.
BRETHERTON, no release date.
A BIT OF A TEST, no release date.
CRAZY PEOPLE, no release date; director, Tim Whelan.
LITTLE FRIEND, no release date.
WINGS OVER EVEREST, no release date.

GOLMAN (PAUL)

SHORT SUBJECT: BELOW THE DEEP, two reels.

GOLDSMITH

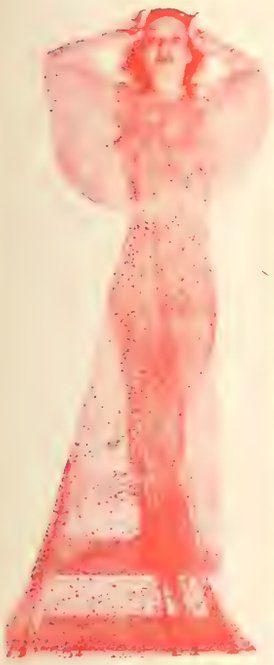
CARNIVAL KID, no release date.
WORKING WIVES, no release date.
BARGAIN DAY, no release date.
NOBODY'S CHILDREN, no release date.
TAXI DANCER, no release date.

HAL-LYONS

SHORT SUBJECTS: 12 two-reel novelties about presidents of the United States.

Dancing Lady

—the Joan Crawford of "Dancing Daughters" is back again!



the Joan Crawford who sings and dances and excites!

the exotic dancing beauty as they desire her!

—and guess who's co-starred with her!

SHE'S DANCING WITH JOY IN YOUR HEART!

in the Greatest Musical Romance of any year!

(More about "Dancing Lady" on next page)

STRONG MARKETING COMPETITION

INTERNATIONAL FILM

SHORT SUBJECT: 6 one-reel Memories of Yesterday; 6 one-reel Outdoor Adventures (both produced by John Conrad).

INTERNATIONAL STAGEPLAY

DRUMS O' VOODOO, no release date; with Laura Bowman, J. Augustus Smith; director, Arthur Hoerl.

INVINCIBLE

See Chesterfield.

JAFA

THE WANDERING JEW, no release date; with Jacob Ben-Ami; producer, Herman Ross; director, George Roland.

KEARTON

DASSAN (Cherry Kearton), no release date (four and five-reel versions).

KNOEDLER

THE AMERICAN, no release date; (Indian film).

MAJESTIC

SING, SINNER, SING, September 1 release; with Leila Hyams, Paul Lukas; director, Howard Christy; author, Wilson Collison.

CURTAIN AT EIGHT, October 1 release; with Dorothy Mackaill, C. Aubrey Smith; director, E. Mason Hopper; author, Octavus Roy Cohen.

SIN OF NORA MORAN, November 1 release; with Zita Johann, Alan Dinehart, John Miljan; director, Phil Goldstone; author, Willis Maxwell Goodhue.

THE ROSARY, no release date; author, Edwin Rose.

AN ENTIRELY DIFFERENT WOMAN, no release date; author, Georg Froschel.

THE DIARY OF A BAD WOMAN, no release date; author, Lawrence Hazard.

HUSBAND HUNTERS OF 1934, no release date; author, Edmund Lowe, Jr.

WILD GEESE, no release date; author, Martha Ostenso.

GAILY I SIN, no release date; author, anonymous.

MY LIFE, no release date; from the autobiography of Isadora Duncan.

LAUGHING WOMAN, no release date; author, Carlos Keith.

AGE OF INDISCRETION, no release date; author, Theodore D. Irwin.

MASCOT

LAUGHING AT LIFE, no release date; with Victor McLaglen, C. Montenegro.

SHORT SUBJECTS: Four serials, 20 episodes each, two reels.

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

SHORT SUBJECTS: Four series of one-reelers; Edwin C. Hill novelties; Organlogues; Melody Makers; Pet Superstitions novelties.

MAYFAIR

HER FORGOTTEN PAST, September 1 release; with Monte Blue, Barbara Kent, H. B. Walthall; director, Wesley Ford.

SECRET SINNERS, October 20 release; with Sue Carol, Nick Stuart, Jack Mulhall, Natalie Moorehead; director, Wesley Ford.

SHOULD A BRIDE WORK? no release date.

BADGE OF HONOR, no release date.

RESCUE SQUAD, no release date.

SHADY STREET, no release date.

ONE AGAINST ELEVEN, no release date.

VICIOUS CIRCLE, no release date.

WHAT'S YOUR RACKET? no release date.

IN THE DEAD OF NIGHT, no release date.

WANTED—DEAD OR ALIVE, no release date.

CALLING ALL CARS, no release date.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

BEAUTY FOR SALE, September 1 release; with Madge Evans, Otto Kruger, Alice Brady; director, Richard Boleslavsky; author, Faith Baldwin.

PENTHOUSE, September 8 release; with Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy; director, W. S. VanDyke; author, Arthur Somers Roche.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD, September 15 release; with Jackie Cooper, Alice Brady, Frank Morgan; director, Willard Mack; author, Willard Mack.

SOLITAIRE MAN, September 22 release; with Herbert Marshall, Elizabeth Allan; director, Jack Conway; authors, Bella and Samuel Spewack.

STAGE MOTHER, September 29; with Alice Brady, Phillips Holmes; director, Charles Brabin; author, Bradford Ropes.

NIGHT FLIGHT, October 6 release; with John and Lionel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy; director, Clarence Brown; author, Antoine de St. Exupery.

50 "UNKNOWNS" GET PLAYER CONTRACTS

The search for talent and the lining up of new faces has reached a new high mark in Hollywood with more than 50 players, heretofore unknown, placed under long-term contracts by major companies within the past three months. Paramount leads the field with 11 such players, in addition to 8 signed for leading parts in Charles R. Rogers' production, "Eight Girls in a Boat"; Fox is second with 11; Universal, 10; Warners and MGM, 7 each; RKO Radio, 4, and Columbia, 2.

BOMBSHELL, October 13 release; with Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy; director, Victor Fleming; authors, Mack Crane, Carolyn Franck.

MEET THE BARON, October 20 release; with Jack Pearl, Jimmy Durante; director, Walter Lang; authors, Norman Krasna, Herman Manckiewicz.

DAY OF RECKONING, October 27 release; with Richard Dix, Madge Evans, Conway Tearle; director, Charles Brabin; author, Morris Lavine.

THE CHIEF, November 3 release; with Ed Wynn, Dorothy Mackaill, Chic Sale; director, Charles F. Riesner; authors, Arthur Caesar, Robert Hopkins.

THE PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY, November 10 release; with Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Primo Carnera, Walter Huston, Jack Dempsey; director, W. S. VanDyke; authors, John Lee Mahin, John Meehan.

CHRISTOPHER BEAN, November 17 release; with Marie Dressler, Lionel Barrymore; director, Sam Wood; authors, Rene Fauchois, Sidney Howard.

DINNER AT EIGHT, no release date; with Marie Dressler, Barrymores, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke; director, George Cukor; authors, Edna Ferber, George S. Kaufman.

ESKIMO, no release date; native cast; director, W. S. VanDyke.

CAT AND THE FIDDLE, no release date; with Ramon Novarro, Jeannette MacDonald; director, William K. Howard; stars, Jerome Kern, Otto Harbach.

COMING ROUND THE MOUNTAIN, no release date; with May Robson, Polly Moran, Chic Sale; director, Charles F. Riesner.

DANCING LADY, no release date; with Joan Crawford, Clark Gable; director, Robert Z. Leonard; author, James Warner Bellah.

GOING HOLLYWOOD, no release date; with Marion Davies, Bing Crosby; director, Raoul Walsh; author, Donald Ogden Stewart.

HOLLYWOOD PARTY, no release date; with Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Polly Moran, Jack Pearl, Max Baer; director, Richard Boleslavsky; authors, Edmund Goulding, Howard Dietz.

MALIBU, no release date; with Jean Parker, David Landau, Russell Hardie; directors, Chester Franklin, Nick Grinde; author, Vance Hoyt.

QUEEN CHRISTINA, no release date; with Greta Garbo, John Gilbert; director, Rouben Mamoulian; author, Berthold Viertel.

SONS OF THE DESERT, no release date; with Laurel and Hardy, Dorothy Christie, Mae Busch; director, William Seiter; author, Frank Craven.

TARZAN AND HIS MATE, no release date; with Johnny Weismuller, Maureen O'Sullivan; director, Cedric Gibbons; author, Edgar Rice Burroughs.

VINEGAR TREE, no release date; with Alice Brady, Lionel Barrymore, Conway Tearle; director, Harry Beaumont; author, Paul Osburn.

VIVE VILLA, no release date; with Wallace Beery; director, Howard Hawks; author, anonymous.

WITCH OF WALL STREET, with May Robson; authors, Dudley Nichols, Lamar Trotti.

JUNGLE RED MAN, no release date; native cast; author, Harold Noice.

LIVING IN A BIG WAY, no release date; with Marie Dressler, Jean Harlow; director, George Cukor; author, Louis Bromfield.

MARIE ANTOINETTE, no release date; with Norma Shearer; director, Sidney Franklin; author, Stefan Zweig.

THE MERRY WIDOW, no release date; with Maurice Chevalier; author, Franz Lehar.

THE SHOW-OFF, no release date; with Lee Tracy; author, George Kelly.

THE VORTEX, no release date; author, Noel Coward.

PAYMENT IN FULL, no release date; with Otto Kruger, Ben Lyon; author, F. Hugh Herbert.

TRANSCONTINENTAL BUS, no release date; with Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans; director, Richard Boleslavsky; authors, Ferdinand Reyer, Frank Wead.

RIP TIDE, no release date; with Norma Shearer; author, Charles MacArthur.

THE PARADINE CASE, no release date; with John and Lionel Barrymore, Diana Wynyard; author, Robert Hichens.

OPERATOR THIRTEEN, no release date; with Marion Davies; author, Robert W. Chambers.

THE GOOD EARTH, no release date; director, George Hill; author, Pearl Buck.

LAUGHING BOY, no release date; with Ramon Novarro, Lupe Velez; director, W. S. VanDyke; author, Oliver La Farge.

MYSTERY OF THE DEAD POLICE, no release date; with Robert Montgomery, Elizabeth Allan; director, Edgar Selwyn; author, Phillip MacDonald.

SHORT SUBJECTS: 12 one-reel Oddities novelties; 12 one-reel Travel-Talks; 6 one-reel Goofy Movies comedies; 13 one-reel Willie Whopper comedies; 6 two-reel MGM Revues musicals; 8 two-reel Charley Chase comedies; 6 two-reel Our Gang comedies; 8 two-reel Todd-Kelly comedies; 8 two-reel All Star comedies; 6 two-reel Roach musical comedies; 6 two-reel Laurel and Hardy comedies.

MILLER-WOHL

SHORT SUBJECTS: 12 one-reel Comicruises novelties.

MONOGRAM

THE AVENGER, August 10 release; with Ralph Forbes, Adrienne Ames; director, Edwin Marin; author, John Goodwin.

SENSATION HUNTERS, August 30 release; with Arline Judge, Preston Foster, Kenneth McKenna; author, Whitman Chambers.

SWEETHEART OF SIGMA CHI, October 1 release.

RIDERS OF DESTINY, October 10 release; with John Wayne.

BROKEN DREAMS, October 20 release; director, Robert Vignola; author, Olga Printzlau.

MANHATTAN LOVE SONG, no release date.

KING KELLY OF THE USA, no release date; authors, George Betholon, Howard Higgin.

BEGGARS IN ERMINE, no release date; author, Esther Lynd Day.

JANE EYRE, no release date; author, Charlotte Bronte.

WOMAN'S MAN, no release date; director, Phil Rosen; author, Adela Rogers St. John.

MYSTERY LINER, no release date; author, Edgar Wallace.

NUMBERS OF MONTE CARLO, no release date; director, Phil Rosen; author, E. Phillips Oppenheim.

SIXTEEN FATHOMS DEEP, no release date; author, Eustace L. Adams.

LOUD SPEAKER, no release date; author, Ralph Spence.

MONEY MEANS NOTHING, no release date; author, William Anthony McGuire.

HE COULDN'T TAKE IT, no release date; author, Albert Payson Terhune.

HAPPY LANDING, no release date; director, Paul Malvern; author, Stuart Anthony.

THE MOONSTONE, no release date; author, Wilkie Collins.

THE WOMAN IN WHITE, no release date; author, Wilkie Collins.

CITY LIMITS, no release date; author, Jack Woodward.

DERBY DAY, no release date; director, Phil Rosen; author, Tristram Tupper.

THE STAR PACKER, no release date; with John Wayne.

SAGE BRUSH TRAIL, no release date; with John Wayne.

THE MAN FROM UTAH, no release date; with John Wayne.

RANDY RIDES ALONE, no release date; with John Wayne.

BLUE STEEL, no release date; with John Wayne.

THE LUCKY TEXAN, no release date; with John Wayne.

WEST OF THE DIVIDE, no release date; with John Wayne.

SHORT SUBJECTS: 13 one-reel Port O' Call Novelties.

PARAMOUNT

PARDNERS, September 15 release; with Jackie Cooper, Addison Richards, John Wray, Lila Lee; director, Paul Sloane; authors, Agnes Brand Leahy, Bobby Vernon.

GOLDEN HARVEST (Charles Rogers), September 22 release; with Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin, Roscoe Ates; director, Ralph Murphy; author Nina Wilcox Putnam.

I'M NO ANGEL, October 6 release; with Mae West, Cary Grant; director, Wesley Ruggles; author, Mae West.

TILLIE AND GUS, October 13 release; with W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, Baby Le Roy; director, Francis Martin; authors, Walter DeLeon, Francis Martin.

Joan CRAWFORD and Clark GABLE

(not since "Possessed" has their kiss electrified motion picture fans!)

DANCING LADY

from M-G-M in November—
a month of Holidays!

(More about M-G-M's joy picture, next page)

50 COMPANIES BID FOR PLAYDATES

THE WAY TO LOVE, October 20 release; with Maurice Chevalier, Ann Dvorak, Edward Everett Horton; director, Norman Taurog; authors, Gene Fowler, Benjamin Glazer.
TAKE A CHANCE (Schwab and Brice), October 27 release; with James Dunn, Cliff Edwards, June Knight, Lillian Roth, Buddy Rogers; director, Laurence Schwab; authors, Laurence Schwab, Buddy DeSylva, Monte Brice.
HELL AND HIGH WATER, October 27 release; with Richard Arlen, Judith Allen; directors, Grover Jones, William Slavens McNutt; author, Max Miller.
DUCK SOUP, November 3 release; with the Four Marx Brothers, Raquel Torres; director, Leo McCarey; authors, Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby.
CRADLE SONG, November 10 release; with Dorothea Wieck, Evelyn Venable, Sir Guy Standing, Louise Dresser; director, Mitchell Leisen; authors, Marc Connolly, Frank Partos.
WHITE WOMAN, November 10 release; with Carole Lombard, Charles Laughton, Charles Bickford; director, Stuart Walker; authors, Samuel Hoffenstein, Gladys Lehman.
DESIGN FOR LIVING, November 17 release; with Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins, Edward Everett Horton; director, Ernst Lubitsch; author, Ben Hecht.
WE'RE SITTING PRETTY (Charles Rogers), November 24 release; with Jack Oakie, Jack Haley, Ginger Rogers, Thelma Todd; director, Harry Joe Brown; author, Nina Wilcox Putnam.
EIGHT GIRLS IN A BOAT (Charles Rogers), November 24 release; with Ann Sothern, Kay Johnson, Douglas Montgomery; director, Richard Wallace; author, Helmut Brandis.
THE THUNDERING HERD, November 24 release; with Randolph Scott, Judith Allen, Noah Beery, Raymond Hatton; director, Neil Wheeler; author, Zane Grey.
ALICE IN WONDERLAND, no release date; with Charlotte Henry, Charlie Ruggles, Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Jack Oakie, Roscoe Karns; director, Norman McLeod; author, Lewis Carroll.
FOUR FRIGHTENED PEOPLE, no release date; with Claudette Colbert, Herbert Marshall, Mary Boland, William Gargan, Leo Carillo; director, Cecil B. DeMille; author, E. Arnot-Robertson.
MISS FANE'S BABY IS STOLEN, no release date; director, Alexander Hall; author, Rupert Hughes.
CHRYSALIS, no release date; with Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft, Helen Mack; director, James Flood; author, Rose Albert Porter.
FUNNY PAGE, no release date; director, Edward Sutherland; authors, Harlan Thompson, Lewis Gensler.
LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER, no release date; with Gary Cooper, Richard Arlen, Cary Grant, Sir Guy Standing; director, Stephen Roberts; author, Frances Yeates-Brown.
HER REGIMENT OF LOVERS, no release date; with Marlene Dietrich; director, Josef von Sternberg; author, Manuel Komroff.
DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY, no release date; with Fredric March, Evelyn Venable, Sir Guy Standing; director, Stuart Walker, author, Alberto Casella.
SEARCH FOR BEAUTY, no release date; with Buster Crabbe, William Frawley, Toby Wing, Grace Bradley; author, Schuyler E. Grey.
THE HANDSOME BRUTE (Charles Rogers), no release date; with Marguerite Churchill; author, James M. Cain.
SIX OF A KIND, no release date; with Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland, W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth, George Burns, Gracie Allen; director, Leo McCarey; author, Anne Cameron.
COME ON MARINES, no release date; director, Erle Kenton; author, Philip Wylie.
IT AIN'T NO SIN, no release date; with Mae West; directors, Alexander Hall, George Somnes.
BOLERO, no release date; with George Raft, Carole Lombard; director, Wesley Ruggles; author, Ruth Ridenour.
FIFTY YEARS FROM NOW, no release date.
THE MAN WHO BROKE HIS HEART, no release date; with Miriam Hopkins; authors, Frederick Schlick, Samuel French.
WE'RE NOT DRESSING, no release date; with Bing Crosby, George Burns, Gracie Allen, W. C. Fields, Ethel Merman; author, Walton Hall Smith.
REUNION (B. P. Schulberg), no release date; with Sylvia Sidney; authors, Morton Borteaux, Alfred Davis.
SHORT SUBJECTS: Two-reel series, comedies, about 24; one-reel series, Betty Boop cartoons, Grantland Rice Sportlights, Paramount Headliners, Screen Songs, Hollywood on Parade, Paramount Pictorials, Screen Souvenirs, Popeye the Sailor comedies, 104 issues of Paramount News.

PHOTOCOLOR

SHORT SUBJECTS: 13 one-reel Vagabonds; 13 one-reel Musicals; 13 one-reel Songs; director, William Shilling.

PINNACLE

GREY RIDERS, no release date; director, John Henry McKee; author, Pat Powers.
RIVER TRAMPS, no release date; director, John Henry McKee; author, Jack Francis.
FOG BOUND, no release date; director, John Henry McKee; author, Samuel John Park.
CATASTROPHE, no release date; director, John Henry McKee; author, John Henry McKee.

PIZOR

THRONE OF THE GODS, no release date; with Lowell Thomas narrating for International Himalayan expedition. (four and six-reel versions).
CORRUPTION, no release date; with Evalyn Knapp, Preston Foster, Tully Marshall, Natalie Moorehead; made by William Berke; director, C. Edward Roberts; author, C. Edward Roberts.

POLLARD

THE HORROR, no release date.
DANCE HALL DAMES, no release date.
METROPOLITAN MURDERS, no release date.
FRAMED, no release date.
LUNATIC AT LARGE, no release date.
THE GREEN JADE, no release date.
STRANGE WOMEN OF THE WORLD, no release date.
KINGS OF LAUGHTER, no release date.

PRINCIPAL

BLARNEY KISS, August 18 release; with Tom Walls, Anne Grey.
TARZAN THE FEARLESS, August 11 release; with Buster Crabbe, Jacqueline Wells, Edward Woods, Matthew Betz; director, Robert F. Hill. (Also, eight two-reel episodes follow the feature version.)
THUNDER OVER MEXICO (Eisenstein-Sinclair), no release date; native cast; director, Serge Eisenstein.
SHORT SUBJECTS: In addition to the Tarzan two-reelers, Principal has 6 Kazan (dog) westerns, 13 one-reel Newslaughs, with Irvin S. Cobb.

RADIO

MORNING GLORY, August 18 release; with Katharine Hepburn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Adolphe Menjou; director, Lowell Sherman; author, Zoe Akins.
RAFTER ROMANCE, September 1 release; with Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster, George Sidney; director, William Seiter; author, John Wells.
ONE MAN'S JOURNEY, September 8 release; with Lionel Barrymore, May Robson, Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea, Frances Dee; director, John Robertson; author, Katharine Haviland Taylor.
MIDSHIPMAN JACK, September 22 release; with Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness; director, Christy Cabanne; authors, Frank Wead, McGrew Willis.
ANN VICKERS, October 13 release; with Irene Dunne, Walter Huston, Conrad Nagel, Bruce Cabot, Edna May Oliver; director, John Cromwell; author, Sinclair Lewis.
ACE OF ACES, October 20 release; with Richard Dix, Elizabeth Allan, Ralph Bellamy; director, J. Walter Ruben; author, John Monk Saunders.
SON OF KONG, October 27 release; with Robert Armstrong, Helen Mack, Frank Reicher; director, Ernest Schoedsack; author, Ruth Rose.
CHANCE AT HEAVEN, October 27 release; with Joel McCrea, Ginger Rogers; director, William Seiter; author, Vina Delmar.
AGGIE APPLEBY, MAKER OF MEN, November 10 release; with Charles Farrell, Wynne Gibson; director, Mark Sandrich; author, Joseph O. Kesselring.
LITTLE WOMEN, no release date; with Katharine Hepburn, Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Frances Dee; director, George Cukor; authors, Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman.
BEAUTIFUL, no release date; with Ann Harding, Nils Asther, Robert Young; director, Alfred Santell; authors, Humphrey Pearson, Myles Connolly.
FLYING DOWN TO RIO, no release date; with Dolores Del Rio, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Gene Raymond, Raoul Roulien; director, Thornton Freeland; author, Lou Brock, Ann Caldwell.
MAN OF TWO WORLDS, no release date; with Francis Lederer, Henry Stephenson, J. Farrel MacDonald; director, J. Walter Ruben; author, Ainsworth Morgan.
THE LOST PATROL, no release date; with Boris Karloff, Victor McLaglen, Reginald Denny, Wallace Ford; director, John Ford; author, John Phillip McDonald.
IF I WERE FREE, no release date; with Irene Dunne, Clive Brook, Nils Asther; director, Elliot Nugent; author, John Van Druten.
RODNEY, no release date; with Walter Huston, Frances Dee, Robert Shane; director, George Archainbaud; author, Leonard Nason.
LITTLE WILD BIRDS, no release date; with Dorothy Jordan, Tom Brown; director, Elliot Nugent; author, Dan Totheroh.
HIPS HIPS HOORAY, no release date; with Robert Woolsey, Bert Wheeler, Dorothy Lee, Thelma Todd; director, Mark Sandrich; authors, Ruby and Malmar, Edward Kaufman.
ONCE OVER LIGHTLY, no release date; with Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Adele Thomas, Skeets Gallagher; director, Russell Mack; authors, Richard Shayler, Robert Benchley.
GIRL MEETS BOY, no release date; with Dorothy Jordan, Joel McCrea; director, Elliot Nugent; author, Vina Delmar.
SWEET CHEAT, no release date; with Ginger Rogers, Zasu Pitts, Bill Cagney, Robert Benchley; director, William Seiter; authors, Earl Baldwin, Robert Benchley.
THE SEA GIRL, no release date; with Joel McCrea, Sari Maritza; director, Otto Brower; authors, George Dromgold, Helen Dromgold.
ROMANCE IN MANHATTAN, no release date; with Francis Lederer; director, Sidney Lanfield.
SUCCESS STORY, no release date; with William Gargan, Colleen Moore, Wynne Gibson; author, John Howard Lawton.
LONG LOST FATHER, no release date; with John Barrymore; author, G. B. Stern.
BREAK OF HEARTS, no release date; with John Barrymore, Katharine Hepburn; director, John Cromwell; author, Lester Cohen.
STINGAREE, no release date; with Irene Dunne, Leslie Banks; director, Ernest Schoedsack; author, E. W. Hornung.
FAMILY MAN, no release date; with Clive Brook; author, Salisbury Field.
DANCE OF DESIRE, no release date; with Dolores Del Rio, Joel McCrea; author, Donald Henderson Clarke.
ESCAPE TO PARADISE, no release date; with Joel McCrea, Frances Dee; director, Irving Pichel; authors, John Farrow, Felix Rosenberg.
BLONDE POISON, no release date; with Thelma White, Adele Thomas; author, Donald Henderson Clarke.
THE BALLOON BUSTER, no release date; with Bruce Cabot; director, John Monk Saunders; author, Norman Hall.
THREE STAND ALONE, no release date; author, E. Arnot Robertson.
CHILDLESS, no release date; with Dorothy Jordan; director, J. Walter Ruben.
MUSIC MAN, no release date.
JUST OFF FIFTH AVENUE, no release date; with Frances Dee; Helen Mack, Betty Furness, Bill Cagney; author, Katharine Clugston.
GREEN MANSIONS, no release date; with Dolores Del Rio, Joel McCrea; author, William H. Hudson.
HIDE IN THE DARK, no release date; with Bruce Cabot, Frances Dee; director, J. Walter Ruben; author, Frances Noyes Hart.
OF HUMAN BONDAGE, no release date; with Leslie Howard; director, John Cromwell; author, W. Somerset Maugham.
DECLASSEE, no release date; with Diana Wynyard.
SPEED KING, no release date; with William Gargan, Frances Dee.
OUR DAILY BREAD, no release date; director, King Vidor.
HEARTS AND FLOWERS, no release date; with Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton.
TRIGGER, no release date; with Katharine Hepburn.
THE WORLD OUTSIDE, no release date; with Ann Harding.
SHORT SUBJECTS: Six two-reel Charlie Chaplin comedy reissues; 6 two-reel Ely Culbertson bridge novelties; 8 two-reel Clark and McCullough comedies; 6 two-reel Gribbon-Kennedy comedies; 6 two-reel Edgar Kennedy comedies; 6 two-reel Blondes and Redheads comedies; 4 two-reel Ruth Etting Musicomedies; 6 two-reel All Star comedies; 13 one-reel Amos 'n' Andy cartoon comedies; 13 one-reel Aesop Fable comedies; 13 one-reel Otto Soglow, the King cartoon comedies; 6 one-reel Vagabond Adventure novelties; 7 one-reel Pathe Review novelties; 104 Pathe News issues.

RESOLUTE

THE SUBSTITUTE PRISONER, no release date; author, Max Marcin.
BEAUTY CONTEST, no release date; author, Beauty Contest.
ADVENTUROUS SEX, no release date; author, Howard Estabrook.
ANGELS WITHOUT WINGS, no release date; author, Paul Terence.
THE EUGENIC BABY, no release date; author, Paul Bacon.
SORCERY, no release date; by Louis Joseph Vance.
THAT'S LIFE, no release date; author, Whitney Bolton.
THAT HOLLYWOOD REDHEAD, no release date; author, Tom Gibson.
MEET SUYDAM SMITH, no release date; author, Louis Joseph Vance.
SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL, no release date; author, Richard Brinsley Sheridan.
AUCTIONED OFF, no release date; author, Vivian Gray.

SHOWMEN'S (Mountan)

HIS PRIVATE SECRETARY, no release date; with Evalyn Knapp, John Wayne.
SHIP OF WANTED MEN, no release date; with Dorothy Sebastian, Leon Waycoff.
POLICE CALL, no release date; with Myrna Kennedy, Nick Stuart.
PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER, no release date.
GOLDEN HEAD, no release date.
ST. LOUIS WOMEN, no release date.
THE BIG RACE, no release date.
THE MOTH, no release date.
WITHIN THE ROCK, no release date.
UNLIMITED, no release date.
SOULS IN PAWN, no release date.
SPECIAL DUTY, no release date.

WHEN M-G-M MAKES A MUSICAL PICTURE!

—it's got the CLASS
—it's got the NAMES
—it's got the PEP
—it's got the LUXURY that M-G-M knows how to give!

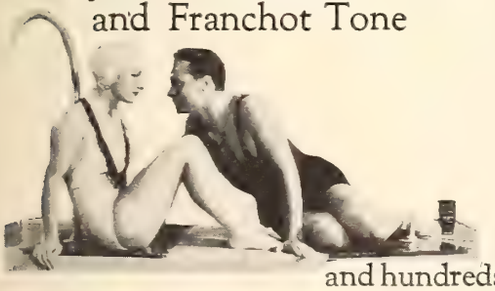
Just part of the wealth of scenic and musical glory!

Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone



THE CAST:
JOAN CRAWFORD
CLARK GABLE
MAY ROBSON
FRANCHOT TONE
WINNIE LIGHTNER
FRED ASTAIRE
ART JARRET
NELSON EDDY
and hundreds of gorgeous singing, dancing beauties

Plus
FRED ASTAIRE
greatest male dancer in the American Theatre

DANCING LADY

You'll hear plenty more about it!
And now follow the Leader!

—to the next page

PICTURE FOR EVERY TASTE PLANNED

STAGE AND SCREEN

BEFORE MORNING, November 1 release; with Leo Carrillo, Lora Baxter, Taylor Holmes; director, Arthur Hoerl; authors, Edna and Edward Riley.

SUN HAVEN PICTURES

CHLOE, no release date; director, Marshall Neilan.
A HIRED WIFE, no release date; with Greta Nissen; director, George Melford.
PLAYTHINGS OF DESIRE, no release date; director, George Melford.
HONORABLE WOMEN, no release date; director, Luther Reed.

SUPERB

HELL'S HOLIDAY (war film), no release date.

SUPERIOR

LIGHTNING RANGE, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
CIRCLE CANYON, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
BOSS COWBOY, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
ROMANCE RANGE, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
RIDING DOUBLE, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
HEAVY ODDS, no release date; with Buddy Roosevelt.
THE FIGHTING COWBOY, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.
RAWHIDE ROMANCE, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.
LIGHTNING BILL, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.
TEXAS MOON, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.
DOUBLE SIXES, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.
RIDING SPEED, no release date; with Buffalo Bill, Jr.

TOWER

DISCARDED LOVERS, no release date.
SHOP ANGEL, no release date.
DRIFTING SOULS, no release date.
THE EXPOSURE, no release date.
RED HAIRED ALIBI, no release date.
IMPORTANT WITNESS, no release date.
DARING DAUGHTERS, no release date.
REFORM GIRL, no release date.

UNITED ARTISTS

THE MASQUERADER (Samuel Goldwyn), September 1 release; with Ronald Colman, Elissa Landi, Juliette Compton; director, Richard Wallace; author, John Hunter Booth.
EMPEROR JONES (Krimsky-Cochrane), September 8 release; with Paul Robeson; director, Dudley Murphy; author, Eugene O'Neill.
BITTER SWEET (British and Dominion), September 22 release; with Anna Neagle, Fernand Graavey; director, Herbert Wilcox; author, Noel Coward.
THE BOWERY (20th Century), October 13 release; with Wallace Beery, George Raft, Jackie Cooper; director, Raoul Walsh; authors, Michael Simmons, Bessie Rogow Solomon.
BROADWAY THRU A KEYHOLE (20th Century), October 27 release; with Constance Cummings, Russ Colombo, Paul Kelly; director, Lowell Sherman; author, Walter Winchell.
BLOOD MONEY (20th Century), no release date; with George Bancroft, Judith Anderson; director, Sidney Lanfield; author Lajon de Bri.
TROUBLE SHOOTERS (20th Century), no release date; with Spencer Tracy, Jack Oakie, Constance Cummings; author, J. Robert Bren.
ADVICE TO LOVELORN (20th Century), no release date; with Lee Tracy, Paul Hervey, Sally Blane; author, Leonard Praskins.
THE HOUSE OF ROTHSCHILD (20th Century), no release date; with George Arliss.
SENTENCED (20th Century), no release date; with George Arliss.
GALLANT LADY (20th Century), no release date, with Ann Harding, Clive Brook, Janet Beecher; director, Gregory La Cava; authors, Gilbert Emery, Douglas Doty.
BORN TO BE BAD (20th Century), no release date; with Loretta Young, Cary Grant, Harry Green; author, Ralph Graves.
THE FAIR (20th Century), no release date; author, Ralph Graves.
GENTLEMEN, THE KING (20th Century), no release date; author, Damon Runyon.
I KNEW HER WHEN (20th Century), no release date; with Constance Cummings; director, Gregory La Cava; author, Willard Robertson.
ROMAN SCANDALS (Samuel Goldwyn), no release date; with Eddie Cantor, Ruth Etting, Edward Arnold; director, Frank Tuttle; authors, George S. Kaufman, Robert E. Sherwood.
NANA (Samuel Goldwyn), no release date; with Anna Sten, Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes; director, Dorothy Arzner; author, Emile Zola.
BARBARY COAST (Samuel Goldwyn), no release date; with Anna Sten; author, Herbert Asbury.
WIZARD OF OZ (Samuel Goldwyn), no release date.
JOE PALOOKA (Reliance), no release date; with Jimmy Durante, Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez; director, Alfred Werker; author, Ham Fischer's cartoons.
THE COUNT OF MONTE CRISTO (Reliance), no release date.
SHANGHAI GESTURE (Reliance), no release date.
STYLE (Reliance), no release date; author, Ralph Graves.
PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY THE EIGHTH (British and Dominions), no release date; with Charles Laughton; director, Alexander Korda.
THE QUEEN (Alexander Korda), no release date; with Anna Neagle; director, Herbert Wilcox.
SORREL AND SON (Alexander Korda), no release date; with H. B. Warner; author, Warwick Deeping.
UNTITLED Mary Pickford production; no release date.
UNTITLED Charles Chaplin production; no release date.
UNTITLED Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., production; no release date.
SHORT SUBJECTS: 13 Silly Symphony one-reel cartoons (Walt Disney); 13 Mickey Mouse one-reel cartoons (Walt Disney).

UNIVERSAL

LADIES MUST LOVE, September 25 release; with June Knight, Neil Hamilton.
SATURDAY'S MILLIONS, October 9 release; with Robert Young, Leila Hyams, Johnny Mack Brown; director, Edward Sedgwick; author, Dale Van Every.
LOVE, HONOR AND OH, BABY!, October 16 release; with Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts; director, Eddie Buzzell; authors, Howard Lindsay, Bertrand Robinson.
S.O.S. ICEBERG!, October 23 release; with Rod La Rocque, Leni Riefensthal, Gibson Rowland; director, Tay Garnett.
INVISIBLE MAN, October 30 release; with Claude Rains, Gloria Stuart.
ONLY YESTERDAY, November 6 release; with John Boles, Margaret Sullivan, Reginald Denny, Billy Burke; director, John Stahl; author, John Stahl.
DANGEROUS TO WOMEN, November 13 release; with Alice White, Chester Morris, Helen Twelvetrees; director, Kurt Neumann; author, William Anthony McGuire.
COUNSELLOR AT LAW, November 20 release; with John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels.
SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR, November 27 release; with Wynne Gibson, Onslow Stevens, William Collier, Sr.; director, Edward Marin; authors, Gordan Kahn, Warren Duff.
BY CANDLELIGHT, December 4 release; with Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas, Nils Asther; director, Robert Wyler; author, Siegfreid Geyer.
HORSEPLAY, December 11 release; with Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Leila Hyams.
POOR RICH, no release date; with Edna May Oliver, Edward Everett Horton.
MYRT AND MARGE, December 18 release; with Myrtle Vail, Donna Domeril, Eddie Foy, Jr.; director, Al Boasberg; author, Al Boasberg.
BOMBAY MAIL, December 30 release; with Edmund Lowe, Boris Karloff; director, Ed Marin; author, Lawrence Blochman.
UNTITLED, Edmund Lowe production, no release date.
IMITATION OF LIFE, no release date; author, Fannie Hurst.
THE GREAT ZIEGFELD, no release date; authors, William Anthony McGuire, Billie Burke.
ZEST, no release date; author, Charles G. Norris.
WHEN THE TIME COMES, no release date; author, William Anthony McGuire.
I GIVE MY LOVE, no release date; author, Vicki Baum.
MAN WHO RECLAIMED HIS HEAD, no release date; author, Jean Bart
NERVOUS LOVERS, no release date; with Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts.
HILL BILLIES, no release date; with Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts.
UNTITLED Summerville-Pitts production; no release date.
GOOD RED BRICKS, no release date; author, Mary Synon.
UNTITLED, 3 Lew Ayres films, no release date.
THE LEFT BANK, no release date; author Elmer Rice.
GLAMOUR, no release date; author, Edna Ferber.
ONE GLAMOROUS NIGHT, no release date; author, Ward Morehouse.
THE EXQUISITE THIEF, no release date; author, Tom Buckingham.
YOUNG HEARTS, no release date; with John Boles.
RIGADOON, no release date; author, Charles Knox Robinson.
SHORT SUBJECTS: 26 one-reel Oswald Cartoons; 13 one-reel Goofytone News comedies; 13 one-reel Strange As It Seems novelties; 7 one-reel Mark Hellingers; 26 two-reel Warren Doane comedies; 13 Mentone Musicals; special two-reelers, The World's Greatest Thrills; 5 two reel serials, 12 episodes each; 104 Talking Reporter newsreel issues.

WARNER-FIRST NATIONAL

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933, September 2 release; with Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Ginger Rogers; director, Mervyn Le Roy; author, Avery Hopwood.
GOODBYE AGAIN (First National; late 1932-33 release), September 9 release; with Joan Blondell, Warren William, Genevieve Tobin; director, Michael Curtiz; authors, George Haight, Allan Scott.
BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS (First National), September 16 release; with Bette Davis, Pat O'Brien, Lewis Stone; director, Roy Del Ruth; author, Robert Presnell.
I LOVED A WOMAN (First National: late 1932-33 release), September 23 release; with Edward Robinson, Kay Francis, Genevieve Tobin; director, Alfred E. Green; author, David Karsner.
WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD (First National), October 7 release; with Frankie Darro, Dorothy Coonan, Rochelle Hudson, Ann Hovey; director, William Wellman; author, Daniel Ahearn.
FOOTLIGHT PARADE, October 21 release; with James Cagney, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell; directors, Lloyd Bacon, Busby Berkeley; authors, Manuell Seff, James Seymour.
EVER IN MY HEART, October 28 release; with Barbara Stanwyck, Otto Kruger, Ralph Bellamy; director, Archie Mayo; authors, Bertram Millhauser, Buelah Marie Dix.
KENNEL MURDER CASE, October 28 release; with William Powell, Mary Astor, Helen Vinson, Ralph Morgan, Eugene Pallette; director, Michael Curtiz; author, S. S. VanDine.
FEMALE (First National; late 1932-33 release), November 4 release; with Ruth Chatterton, George Brent, Ruth Donnelly, Laura Hope Crews; director, William Dieterle; authors, Gene Markey, Kathryn Scola.
THE COLLEGE COACH, November 11 release; with Pat O'Brien, Ann Dvorak, Dick Powell, Lyle Talbot; director, William Wellman; authors, Manuel Seff, Niven Busch.
THE HOUSE ON FIFTY-SIXTH STREET, November 18 release; with Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, Gene Raymond, Margaret Lindsay, Frank McHugh; director, Robert Florey; author, Joseph Santley.
THE WORLD CHANGES (First National), November 25 release; with Paul Muni, Aline MacMahon, Mary Astor, Donald Cook, Margaret Lindsay, Guy Kibbee; director, Mervyn Le Roy; author, Edward Chodorov.
THE SHAKEDOWN, no release date; with Bette Davis, Ricardo Cortez, Glenda Farrell, Allen Jenkins; director, John Francis Dillon; author, Sam Engels.
KING OF FASHION, no release date; with William Powell, Bette Davis; director, William Dieterle; author, Warren Duff.
EASY TO LOVE, no release date; with Genevieve Tobin; director, Robert Florey; authors, Carl Erickson, David Boehm.
MANDALAY (First National), no release date; with Ruth Chatterton, Ricardo Cortez, Donald Woods, author, Paul Harvey Fox.
MASSACRE (First National), no release date; with Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak; director, Alan Crosland; authors, Robert Gessner, Ralph Block.
HAVANA WIDOWS (First National), no release date; with Joan Blondell, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, Glenda Farrell, Frank McHugh; director, Ray Enright.
SON OF THE GODS (First National), no release date; with Joe E. Brown, Jean Muir, Thelma Todd, Frank McHugh, John Mack Brown; director, Lloyd Bacon; authors, Al Cohn, Paul Gerrard Smith.
THE FINGER MAN, no release date; with James Cagney, Mae Clark, Leslie Fenton, Margaret Lindsay; director, Roy Del Ruth; author, Rosalind Schaffer.
CONVENTION CITY (First National), no release date; with Joan Blondell, Dick Powell, Adolphe Menjou, Mary Astor; director, Archie Mayo; author, Peter Milne.
DARK HAZARD (First National), no release date; with Edward Robinson, Genevieve Tobin, Glenda Farrell, Robert Barrat; director, Alfred Green; author, R. W. Burnett.
FROM HEADQUARTERS, no release date; with George Brent, Margaret Lindsay, Eugene Pallette, George E. Stone; director, William Dieterle; author, Robert Lee.
SHORT SUBJECTS: (Vitaphone), 52-two-reel Broadway Brevities; 20 two-reel Big V comedies; 13 two-reel Melody Masters; 13 one-reel Musical World Journeys; 13 one-reel Merrie Melodies; 26 one-reel Pepper Pot comedies; 13 one-reel Looney Tune cartoons.

WELDON

DAMAGED LIVES, now releasing.

ZENITH

Robert Charlton last week formed Zenith Productions to produce a series of Nick Carter features, with Herbert Ashton, Jr., adapting, directing, dialogue.
SHORT SUBJECTS: 13 two-reel comedies.

"SO-O-O-O-O-O-O!"

ED WYNN in "The Chief" is another November, Month of Holidays, release from M-G-M! The Biggest Exploitation Picture of Years! It's in the air and ON THE AIR! And Showmen are busy!

"The Leader always has more good news—next page!"

INDEPENDENTS, DESPITE UNCERTAINTY ON DOUBLE BILLS, MAKING 125 FILMS

(Continued from page 9)

Century Productions, the remaining two being Sam Goldwyn releases.

Universal numbered 50 pictures as its year's work, a figure that probably will be expanded. Yet 13 pictures are ready for the exhibitors and 26 per cent of the year's work is done. These 13 step up by four the last year total when only nine were ready.

Independents Uncertain

Turning to the straight independent field, the results of uncertain conditions are readily evident. Because of the elimination of some of the companies and the creation of new ones, accurate comparative figures are difficult to establish. However, a close study of all available independent announcements indicates 125 pictures to be expected from these ambitious producers. Their programs being subject to additions, with everything pointing to the fact that there will be more rather than fewer, the combined independents have completed a little more than one-sixth of their program. Monogram this year has completed five, against three last season during the three months shooting period. Majestic has turned out three, or one more than a year ago. Two apiece have been finished by Mayfair, Chesterfield, Mascot and Fanchon and Royer. Reliance, Goldsmith, Small, Ziedman and Foy productions complete the total.

Together the majors and independents are 33 pictures ahead of their 1932 record. The increase in the total number of pictures completed is material evidence that Hollywood has sensed a business revival and is doing its full share to meet the obligation and opportunity.

As the number of pictures is mathematically greater, so is the quality of the productions considerably better. Pictures programed on the 1933-34 calendar already released have amply proved that. Quantity means much, but from the standpoint of screen and audience value, the entire season's quota has for its objective the demonstration of that remark that "there's nothing the matter with this business that good pictures can't cure."

59 Before Cameras on One Day

The closing days of September and the early weeks of October saw an unprecedented concentration on picture making that reached its apex on September 29, when 59 features were actually before the cameras. Forty-seven were on major company stages; independents checked in the remainder. Short subjects, of which there was an average of six a week in work, further swell that amazing figure. And what is more, Hollywood is fired with a strong determination to continue the present pace for some months to come.

The past, with all its troubles, is out. The present and the future is its sole consideration and it has but one ambition—quality product and enough of it.

Fully aware of the surging new spirit and confidence that is sweeping the nation, Hollywood has looked ahead and is preparing. Recognizing the grandest opportunity of its hectic career, Hollywood has known for some time something that everybody else is just beginning to surmise and get excited about. That is that the coming winter and its new theatre-going season is destined to witness a phenomenal attendance revival. And Hollywood is going to be Johnny on the Spot.

Definite indications of renewed patron interest are already evident. Encouraging box-office returns on outstanding pictures coming in from every section graphically chart the trend. Hollywood is capitalizing on the demand. Thrilled by a new determination to recoup tarnished prestige, it is striving mightily and faithfully to have the entertainment merchandise which will accommodate this reborn patronage available in the exchanges and on the screens when this demand is greatest.

Hollywood is as keen to forget the past few tragic years as any one else, retaining only the lessons the crisis taught. It suffered every affliction that was the common lot and had a few private ones of its own. Not the least of these was the air of stark uncertainty that hung over the entire production colony. Rumors of bankruptcies, receiverships and mergers; actual realignments of executive leadership; the realization that the structure was tottering played havoc with executive, artistic and business plans. Morale sagged. It's a fact that on many occasions employees went to their studios uncertain as to whether the doors would be open. Labor under such conditions could not help but be adversely affected in effort; product suffered.

True, there were many good pictures, but now, with the pressure almost eliminated, Hollywood is throbbing with a new spirit. To know the new Hollywood all you have to do is know what it is doing.

Under the Blue Eagle thousands have been put back to work. From executive and star down to the most-grateful-for-a-job laborer there is a new enthusiasm. Already Southern California businesses have responded emphatically to the stimulation of expanding payrolls. And the next several months promise to be fully as busy.

Getting right down to cases, today's Hollywood production activity includes motion pictures that run the range of every entertainment, production and name value. Not promises of what will be done; rather, the real McCoy is being put into the cans. Musicals, romances, dramas, comedies, spectacles, mysteries, thrillers—new and different; original stories by proved authors, adaptations of successful stage plays; picturizations of best selling novels, all are in the lineup. Casts will feature every known current star name, and a host of new personalities will be introduced. The whole battery will be fired in one broadside.

Out of the MGM Plant

The Culver City plant is giving Leo the Lion something to roar about with "Dancing Lady," a James Warner Bellah novel, directed by Robert Z. Leonard. It's a backstage romance drama starring Joan Crawford and Clark Gable and a cast that numbers Franchot Tone, Ted Healy, Winnie Lightner, Muriel Evans and Fred Astaire. "Tarzan and His Mate" is bringing back the Weissmuller-Maureen O'Sullivan duo in a Tarzan sequel. "Queen Christina" will mark the return of glamorous Garbo, and John Gilbert is again with her. "Hollywood Party," an Edmund Goulding-Howard Dietz story, is nearing completion, with its cast of Dressler, Crawford, Harlow, Durante, George Givot, Tom Kennedy and Laurel and Hardy. So is "Sequoia," an outdoor California mountain picture. Taking a veer for diversification, one of the industry's grandest showmanship pictures, "The Prize Fighter and the Lady," has just been completed. Here's a W. S. Van Dyke sporting world yarn which has for its principals Max Baer, Myrna Loy, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston and Otto Kruger. Its unusual feature is the bringing of Baer and Carnera together in the ring.

In the Musical Field

Jumping into the smart musical field, there is the tuneful "The Cat and the Fiddle," offering all the Jerome Kern song numbers and a cast headed by Ramon Novarro, Jeannette MacDonald, Charles Butterworth, Vivienne Segal, Jean Hersholt and Frank Morgan. Another musical, this time light and comic, the Donald Ogden Stewart-Gardner Sullivan, Raoul Walsh directed "Going Hollywood," features Marion Davies and Bing Crosby with Fifi D'Orsay, Ned Sparks, Ted Healy, Patsy Kelly, Henry Armetta and Sterling Holloway together with the Radio Rogues. Turning to sophisticated drawing room entertainment, Paul Osborne's "Vinegar Tree," directed by Harry Beaumont with Lionel Barrymore, Alice Brady, William Janney, Conway Tearle and

(Continued on page 38)

SCHEDULES OF LARGE COMPANIES COMPARED

Feature and short subject release schedules of the nine large motion picture companies compare as follows:

	1932-33			1933-34
	Features	Two Reels	One Reel	Features	Two Reels	One Reel
Columbia	48	24	80	48	26	104
Fox & Educ.	48	46(a)	124(b)	54	52(a)	116(c)
MGM	48	46	43	48	56	55
Mono.	28	..	..	28	..	13
Para.	60	101	30	65	24	101
Radio	62	42	65	52	54	52
United	14	...	24	30(d)	..	26
Univ.	26	26	39	42	52	59
Warners	60	65	65	60	65	65
TOTALS	394	350	470	427	329	591

(a) All Educational releases.
(b) 88 Educationals, 36 Fox.
(c) 65 Educationals, 50 Fox.
(d) Possibly 5 to 10 others may be added later.

"WHAT BIG EYES YOU HAVE GRANDPA!"

Beautiful MYRNA LOY scores a technical knockout as the love interest in "PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY" an M-G-M November release.
Above also are PRIMO CARNERA and MAX BAER being directed by W. S. Van Dyke prior to their First Ring Battle
JACK DEMPSEY is the referee. (What a cast!)
This fistic event got reams of publicity during its filming. The ringside was packed with every star and celebrity in Hollywood. Now the picture is completed and it's a honey! THE REVIEWS TELL YOU THE FACTS!

—Read 'em and cheer! Next Page Please!

ABUNDANCE OF PRODUCT IS ASSURED

Mary Carlisle in the cast, completes the list actually shooting.

Seven are scheduled to go on the stages immediately. "The Paradine Case," D. O. Selznick's mystery drama production, has the two Barrymores and Diana Wynyard heading a star-studded cast. "Viva Villa," a biography of the Mexican bandit, is next for Wallace Beery. Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans and Nat Pendleton will be seen in "Overland Bus" and a travesty on Kentucky mountain feuds, "Comin' 'Round the Mountain" will feature May Robson, Polly Moran and Chic Sale. "The Miracle of the Mountain," a highly spiritual story centered in remote Hungary, will star Helen Hayes. "Living in a Big Way" will team Dressler and Harlow in the lead roles, while "It Happened One Day," starring Alice Brady, rounds out the list of pictures set for immediate shooting.

Others that will be under way at MGM ere the close of 1933 are Norma Shearer in "Mary Antoinnette," a Thalberg production, and "The Two Thieves," Komroff story of the two men who were crucified with Christ, in which Gable and Montgomery will be co-starred.

Paramount Humming

A widely diversified load of entertainment-making is keeping Paramount humming day and night. The Lubitsch-directed and sophisticated "Design for Living," authored by Noel Coward and teaming Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins and Edward Everett Horton at the head of the class cast, is being completed. A jungle thriller, "White Woman," by Norman Reilly Raine and directed by Frank Butler, stars Carole Lombard, Charles Laughton and Charles Bickford. Dorothea Wieck, sensation of "Maedchen in Uniform," is making her American debut in "Cradle Song." This and "Pardners," which stars Jackie Cooper in a western, are the center of intensive activity. The muchly ballyhooed Charles R. Rogers production, "Eight Girls in a Boat," featuring an octet of beauty contest winners and starring Ann Southern, Kay Johnson and Douglas Montgomery, is in work both on location and in the studio. Fantastic and beautiful "Alice in Wonderland," with a cast including practically every star on the studio roster, is well along and the C. B. DeMille contribution, "Four Frightened People," is keeping step. Another Rogers, "We're Sitting Pretty," from a Nina Wilcox Putnam story, includes Jack Oakie, Jack Haley, Ginger Rogers, Thelma Todd, Gregory Ratoff and Lew Cody. This is being followed by "Girl Without Room," teaming Charles Farrell with Marguerite Churchill. A remake of the famous old western money maker, Zane Grey's "Thundering Herd," with Randolph Scott, Judith Allen and Noah Beery in the leads winds up the active shooting list.

Pictures slated for production as quickly as the current batch come off the line include "Chrysalis," with March, Miriam Hopkins and Raft; "Funny Page," a burlesque satire of the colored comic supplements. The long deferred "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," in which Gary Cooper, Dick Arlen, Cary Grant and Sir Guy Standing are featured, is set to go. Also the important Dietrich picture, "Scarlet Parade," to be directed by von Sternberg, is ready for shooting. Likewise, "Search for Beauty," an international girl spectacle, and "Come on, Marines" are set for an early trip to the stages to be finished before 1934 arrives.

At United Artists and 20th Century

United Artists is a reborn center of activity where Sam Goldwyn has the girl-musical, Cantor-starred "Roman Scandals" in the final stages, and work is progressing on "Nana," a musical drama which presents Anna Sten for the first time and has Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes, Richard Bennett and Mae Clarke in supporting roles.

On the same lot, newly formed 20th Century is set to follow up its "The Bowery" success with four that are actively shooting. "Moulin Rouge," a musical, based on a noted French stage play, stars Constance Bennett with Franchot Tone. A customers' girl

ROBERT Z. LEONARD

THE WEST IS WILD about

"PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY!"

Another M-G-M 10th Championship year hit

Telegraph wires are sizzling with the Big News!

A SMASH HIT THAT WILL BE IN HEADLINES FOR MONTHS TO COME!

MOTION PICTURE DAILY'S HOLLYWOOD PREVIEW

"The Prizefighter and the Lady"

(M-G-M)

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—Just as Mae West flamed across the screen in one picture, so, potentially, looms the new personality attraction, Max Baer, as revealed in M-G-M's "The Prizefighter and the Lady," his first.

The mugg can act—even has pathos, even dances—handles himself with ease and poise, even charm, with the girls completely unanimous about that great Baer chassis. Of definite appeal to women, the production brims with heart-tugging romance, while a thrilling ring battle with Primo Carnera, refereed by Jack Dempsey, will have the men at fever pitch.

Cast names with Myrna Loy, Otto Kruger, Walter Huston and Vince Barnett are fine. Direction is swell.

The production is primed with speed, timed with laughter, and delivers two necessary haymakers. Entertainment sock and box-office K. O. Should Baer win over Carnera in a real world's championship battle, the production might easily be one of the season's big smashes.

READ THESE REVIEWS!

(Turn over for more!)

SPEED REFLECTS RETURN OF MORALE

cloak and suit trade racket yarn, "Born to Be Bad," directed by Lowell Sherman, presents Loretta Young and Cary Grant in the leads. More topical Zanuck headline stuff will come in "Advice to the Lovelorn," a comedy drama based on the newspaper agony columns, in which Lee Tracy and Sally Blaine have the principal parts. "Gallant Lady," a mother sacrifice yarn, directed by Gregory LaCava, has Ann Harding starred with Clive Brook and Otto Kruger featured.

Following these to the stages will come a tribute to the telephone linemen in "Trouble Shooter," teaming Spencer Tracy, Constance Cummings and Jack Oakie in the leads, and the first George Arliss, "The House of Rothschild," an historical romance of the famous European banking family.

Columbia Busy

Maintaining its even schedule, Columbia, with three just finished, has two going. First is "House of Murder," a mystery thriller, starring Ralph Bellamy and June Collyer. The other is "Fog," a Satevepost story, featuring Reginald Denny, Mary Brian and Donald Cook. Three more booked for early camera work are "Let's Fall in Love," a gay romance; "Paul Street Boys," a juvenile problem play to be directed by Frank Borzage, and a crook story, "The Criminal Within."

Radio, refusing to take any one's dust, has seven productions shooting to tax the lot's capacity, and has an ambitious program of 19 more to be in the work prior to December 31. Two big ones are now practically completed. Number one is Lou Brock's international girl-musical spectacle, "Flying Down to Rio," which features Dolores Del Rio, Raoul Roulien, Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire and Gene Raymond. Second is Francis Lederer's first picture, "Man of Two Worlds," in which the new star is supported by Henry Stephenson, Farrell MacDonald and Sarah Padden. The star-covered "Little Women," Louisa Alcott's famous story of eternal childhood; Ann Harding's "Beautiful," and the man without woman, "The Lost Patrol," all are just being completed. Just getting under way are "Rodney," with Walter Huston and Frances Dee; John Barrymore and Elizabeth Allen in "Long Lost Father," "Trigger," which features Katharine Hepburn, Joel McCrea and Bruce Cabot, and "Wild Birds," in which Dorothy Jordan and Zasu Pitts are teamed in the lead.

Before this is published two comedies, "Once Over Lightly," with Zasu Pitts, El Brendel, Pert Kelton, Skeets Gallagher and James Gleason, and the first Wheeler and Woolsey, "Hips, Hips Hooray," will have started. Outstanding in those to follow shortly are "The Sea Girl," McCrea and Sari Maritza; "Sweet Cheat," Ginger Rogers and Bill Cagney; "Romance in Manhattan," another for Lederer; "Stingaree," starring Irene Dunne, and "Dance of Desire," which teams the stars of "Bird of Paradise," Del Rio and McCrea in another exotic film.

Six in Work at Universal

There's plenty of excitement and work for hundreds at Universal where six pictures are shooting. Nearly finished are dramatic "Counsellor-at-Law," an Elmer Rice stage play directed by William Wyler, starring John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels and Doris Kenyon, with Thelma Todd and Onslow Stevens in important supporting roles. Also "By Candlelight," starring Elissa Landi, Paul Lukas, Nils Asther and Esther Ralston, which James Whale is directing. "Beloved," a B. F. Ziedmann production, directed by Victor Schertzinger, and a semi-musical, stars Gloria Stewart and John Boles. "Madame Spy," a story of romantic intrigue, co-stars Fay Wray and Asther. The adventure yarn, "Bombay Mail," stars Edmund Lowe and has a big cast that includes Shirley Grey, Georges Renavent, Hedda Hopper, Ralph Forbes and F. Gottschalk. The extravaganza, "Cross Country Cruise," starring Lew Ayers, Alice White, Alan Dinehart, June Knight, Minna Gombel and Robert Allen, just started.

Eighteen are scheduled for quick shooting. Prominent among the early ones are "The Poor Rich," with E. E. Horton and Edna Mae Oliver, and a Frankenstein sequel, "Return of Frankenstein," starring Karloff. Summerville and Pitts will have "Chicken Rancho," and the topically titled "Love Life of a Crooner" will feature Russ Columbo in the lead. Others of real importance are "The American Scotland Yard," "A Trip to Mars," Karloff, and a biography, "The Great Ziegfeld."

Warners' Six Originals

Warner Brothers is keeping the ball rolling merrily. Six now in work are all from original stories, and "Convention City," a topical political yarn, is at the head of the list. Blondell, Dick Powell, Menjou, Mary Astor, Ruth Donnelly, Kibbee, Hugh Herbert and Frank McHugh are in the cast. "Massacre," featuring Barthelmess and Ann Dvorak, and including Claire Dodd and Robert Barrat, is nearing completion. Tagging right along is "Bedside," its cast headed by Warren William and Jean Muir, and the color novelty, "Morocco Nights," in which Fuzzy Knight is the hero. James Cagney is almost finished with "The Fingerman," in which Mae Clarke, Leslie Fenton, Marjorie Gateson and Margaret Lindsay are the chief supports. Just starting is "Easy to Love," a peppy romance which brings to the screen Menjou, Mary Astor, Genevieve Tobin and Horton in the principal roles.

Pictures tabbed for follow-up production immediately are "King of Fashion," William Powell and Bette Davis; "Mandalay," Ricardo Cortez and Kay Francis; another for Paul Muni, "Hi, Nellie," wherein Glenda Farrell will have the feminine lead. During November and December stages will be oc-

MERVYN LE ROY

DIRECTOR OF

"THE WORLD CHANGES"

"I'M A FUGITIVE FROM A CHAIN GANG"

"TUGBOAT ANNIE"

"GOLDDIGGERS OF 1933"

"LITTLE CAESAR"

"FIVE STAR FINAL"

WARNER BROS. FIRST NATIONAL PICTURES

Oct. 20, 1933 THE Hollywood REPORTER

MGM'S 'PRIZEFIGHTER' IS IN HEAVY MONEY DIVISION

That Goes For Each Department of Film

"THE PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY"

MGM

Direction .....W. S. Van Dyke
Screen Play: John Lee Mahin Jr. and John Meehan.
Photography .....Lester White
Cast: Myrna Loy, Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston, Otto Kruger, Vince Barnett, Robert McWade, Muriel Evans, Jean Howard.

Here's a National Recovery Act in eight reels for any exhibitor's box-office, anywhere in the land. If the NRA can do for the country what "The Prizefighter and the Lady" will do for the showmen of America we'll be rolling in prosperity before Washington's Birthday.

This is a honey for anyone's money. There have been prize ring pictures before, and good ones, but this one outclasses and outpoints them all, on every count. Story, script, cast, direction, mounting and photography are all in the heavyweight division.

There's quality entertainment here for every type of motion picture fan that pushes his money across a box office counter. There's a sock in every foot of it for every woman in the audience as well as every man and boy. And, to top its abundant appeal, there are the heavyweight champion of the world, the former holder of the title and perhaps the likeliest contender to the throne as added attractions.

If the exhibitor had nothing to advertise but Baer, Carnera and Dempsey, he'd still do heavy business. With everything "The Prizefighter and the Lady" gives him to carry these names, he should be in line for a landslide at the gate.

The story is one of those classics that hits home with the crowd every time it's told. And it will never be better done than Mahin and Meehan have spun the yarn here. The story moves with the pace and tempo of a Young Corbett-McGovern boxing exhibition, and the authors deserve a medal for dialogue that is a model of freshness and crispness. There isn't a stale line in a reel and it's full of a sporty tang that every fight fan will relish.

Baer is a surprise as the successful drunk runner-up for champ honors who turns on both his wife and his manager before the big fight. He'll always be a better fighter than an actor, but he wins an easy decision on last night's showing, in a part that could easily have been just a tough, stupid, egotistical bruiser. Thanks to his personality and Van Dyke's skill, he remains likable and big-boyish even when he's cockiest. Better actors have done worse on a first showing.

The performances by the major artists in the cast are knockouts. Myrna Loy, as the night club racketeer's sweetheart who turns down her big Smith & Wesson man for an unknown palooka, sets a new record for herself. She's never done anything more genuine or sincere.

Otto Kruger's Willy Ryan, the suave, soft-spoken racketeer who lets another man take something that is his for the first time in his merciless life, comes under the wire as the performance of the evening. It's the one the crowd will exit talking about. The character itself smacks of inspiration, and Kruger plays it brilliantly, for everything there is in it. A few more like this, and he'll be a headliner and a box office magnet from the first-runs to the grinds.

Walter Huston delivers a sterling characterization as the Professor who had been waitining twenty years to prove that he could still pick 'em from the sticks. And even Bob McWade, in a tacitturn bit as Kruger's henchman, clicked.

Seymour Felix's musical act for Max Baer and a troupe of girls which is the only interlude of consequence in the story, is both novel and effective with its moving sets and its fast action. Miss Loy's song, "I'm a Downstream Drifter," won't go home with anybody, though it's well enough done.

The main bout between Baer and Carnera, which is the climax of the picture, is not only the best fight ever staged for the cameras, but ranks with the finest example of crowd handling that a director has ever turned out. It still runs a trifle long, and the equivalent of a round taken out of it will be to its advantage.

"The Prizefighter and the Lady" is a showman's bonanza. On the achievement side, the Academy will have to take more than one aspect of this picture into account when making its 1933 awards—if there's any Academy left by that time.

VARIETY

Preview

'Prizefighter and the Lady'

Metro production and release. Directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Screen play by John Lee Mahin Jr. and John Meehan. Photographed by Ted Tetzlaff. Cast: Myrna Loy, Max Baer, Primo Carnera, Jack Dempsey, Walter Huston, Otto Kruger, Vince Barnett, Robert McWade, Muriel Evans, Jean Howard. Previewed at the Alexander, Glendale Oct. 19. Running time 103 mins.

Sock entertainment for any man's theatre, 'Prizefighter' should prove a cleanup. There's enough selling angles in it to please the toughest exploitation man.

Max Baer is the picture's star. No doubt that the lad has a future in pictures. He has a natural ease and grace that will surprise the fans. Though nothing great to look at facially, he has a body that will set the femme fans on edge.

Story isn't new. Were it not for the treatment of the Mahin-Meehan combination, it would be just another tale of a fat-headed prize fighter who when about to be beaten for the championship realizes that his mental attitude is all wet and decides to go back to his wife and his old manager.

W. S Van Dyke's direction coupled with the authors' work takes the picture out of the ordinary, makes it almost great. Van Dyke hasn't muffed a single angle, has given the picture everything he's got. Championship fight between Baer and Carnera is the best of its kind to reach the screen.

Myrna Loy as the wife who takes the short end from the mugg, wraps up what's left of the picture when Baer gets through. She gives a fine interpretation of the gal who knows what's happening, keeps her mouth shut. Otto Kruger as a gangster, Walter Huston, the manager, Vince Barnett, Jack Dempsey, Robert McWade, Muriel Evans, Jean Howard and unprogrammed Leon See, Carnera's manager, Jess Willard, Jim Jeffries and other sport names all contribute to the picture's excellence. Photography is very good.

One dance number, staged by Seymour Felix, is a pip with Baer, no less, doing some good hoofing.

Baer Talks Turkey

Metro is talking contract with Max Baer.

WOW!

Are you ready?

And merrily we go on to the next page →

PRODUCTION FAR AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

cupied by "The Crowned Head," a Joe E. Brown; Leslie Howard in "British Agent;" another Cagney picture, "Sweethearts Forever," in which Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler will be co-starred, and two Edward G. Robinson biographical pictures, "The King Fish," topical of the illustrious Huey Long, and "Napoleon," based on the life of another great man.

Fox's Two Studios Busy

Keeping two studios busy is no easy job, but Fox is doing it at Westwood and the Western Avenue plant. Two Jesse Lasky productions are in the work, "As Husbands Go," a Rachel Crothers romance in which Warner Baxter, Warner Oland, Helen Vinson and Catharin Ducet head the cast, and "I Am Suzanne," a romance drama plus spectacle, with Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Leslie Banks, the Teatro di Piccoli players and the Yale Puppeteers. Sol Wurtzell matches Lasky's pair with "7 Lives Are Changed," based on the novel "Orient Express," a thrill drama in which seven lives are altered by strange happenings aboard a train during a 24-hour trip across Europe. The cast features Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Herbert Mundin and Ralph Morgan. Number two is the topical "Jimmy and Sally" with Jimmy Dunn, Clare Trevor and Hervey Stephens relating a story of modern youth. Clara Bow's "Hoopla," a flamboyant carnival show romance, based on "The Barker," is nearing completion. Frank Lloyd is directing and the supports are Preston Foster, Richard Cromwell, Mundin and Minna Gombell. Another in the works is "Mr. Skitch," starring Will Rogers and directed by James Cruze.

To follow these up, Fox will go to work shortly on the topical revusical, "Fox Movietone Follies," a parade of all its stars. Nine more pictures are now ready to go. Another for Rogers and it's "David Harum;" a special, "All Men Are Enemies," to be produced on the magnitude of "Cavalcade;" "Frontier Marshal," a George O'Brien western; "Odd Thursday," a romantic mystery with Baxter, Miriam Jordon and Rochelle Hudson; Janet Gaynor, Lew Ayers, Lionel Barrymore, Henrietta Crossman in "The House of Connelly," an epic of a gone-to-seed old Southern family; "Heir to Hoorah" with George O'Brien and Sally Eilers; Lasky's "Coming Out Party," an expose of the 400's sub-deb life, featuring Frances Dee, Gene Raymond and Nigel Bruce; the melodramatic "Sleepers East" with Wynne Gibson, and the cop crook yarn, "Woman and the Law," starring Preston Foster, Clare Trevor and Victor Jory.

Independents' Activities

Independent producers are going ahead. Monogram has two pictures going, as have Mascot, Chesterfield and Mayfair. Ken Goldsmith, Fanchon Royer and Patrician have one each and plans for several more. Stepping up to the specialists we find Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd feeling the urge to get going and every indication is that they will have productions at work before the first of the new year.

Short Subjects

In the short subject field, Educational is keeping up with its announced schedule of Andy Clydes, Baby Burlesque, Moran and Mack, Mermaid and Vanity series. Hal Roach has a Laurel and Hardy comedy shooting as well as one with Thelma Todd and Patsy Kelly, and the Laurel and Hardy feature set for early staging. The same activity applies to the Radio short subject department with its Clark and MacCulloughs and Edgar Kennedys, and to Columbia and Universal. The cartoon makers, particularly Walter Disney, are working on overtime schedules.

There's more than just a lot of work to Hollywood's terrific production activity. There's no looking for plaudits; just a sincere, honest and earnest effort to march in step and really do its part.

Heartened by the acclaim that has accrued to such pictures as "The Bowery," "Footlight Parade," "Bombshell" and "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," among others of the early new season releases, Hollywood is determined to maintain the standard. It is only necessary that the spirit inspiring Hollywood's production activity permeate the entire industry.

"Moonlight and Pretzels"

"I Like It That Way"

"Love's Interlude"

STANLEY BERGERMAN PRODUCTIONS

FOR UNIVERSAL

Kent Abroad To Study Production in Germany

Sidney R. Kent, president of Fox Film Corporation, is reported to be planning an exhaustive survey of production conditions in Germany during his trip abroad. Mr. Kent left this week for France and later will go to Berlin. Fox is producing in France, but while the company is understood to have entertained definite ideas regarding German production for some time past, no action has yet been taken.

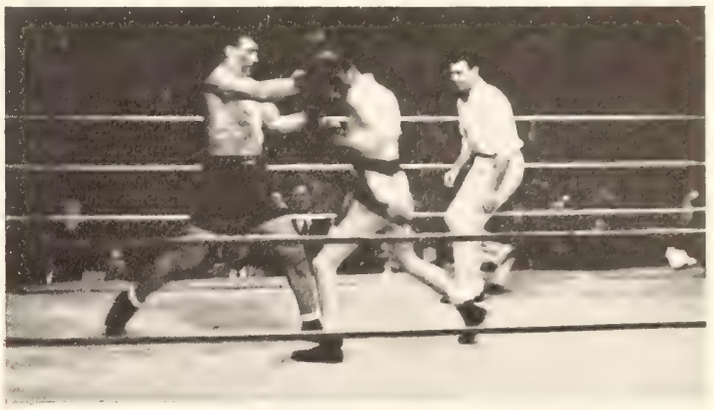
Mr. Kent's last trip abroad was made about a year and a half ago. He was scheduled to return to Europe six months ago, but the pressure of financial reorganization and the industry code resulted in delays.

South American Money Embargo Troubles Film Men

A serious, cumulative effect on the industry's foreign revenues is feared from the money embargo instituted recently by the Argentinian government. Several American distributors are known to have withdrawn funds from Argentina the past two or three months, according to Major Fred Herron, head of the foreign department of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America. Other distributors are known to have sizeable amounts on hand which now can not be remitted to them, Major Herron said.

IN ALL YOUR DAYS OF SHOWMANSHIP you've never had a picture like it! Exploit it NOW!

Is Max Baer to be the new screen idol?



Above is actual clip from M-G-M's "PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY", showing Carnera and Baer in their thrilling fight, Dempsey refereeing.

And he's a HEAVYWEIGHT LOVER, too!

RIGHT: Teaser Card

NOVEMBER!
A MONTH OF M-G-M HOLIDAYS!

"FLOWERS FOR MY BELOVED STAR—

Turn over please"

PRODUCTION IN THE EAST MAKES BIG GAINS; 20 COMPANIES IN LINE

Producers Point to Lower Overhead and Closer Proximity to Radio and Stage Talent as Well as to Authors

Motion picture production in the East has made such rapid strides during the past six months that this activity is almost equaling that of the eastern production of four years ago. Hollywood has been the scene of approximately 90 per cent of this country's film production since Paramount, in 1929, was the last to darken its eastern studios on Long Island, and concentrate all production on the West Coast, but in the past few months the move to return at least a part of this activity to the East has gained increasing momentum, until, at the present time, more than 20 companies are planning regular production of feature pictures and short subjects in studios around New York.

It has been said that such activity, if permanent, will of necessity create a more healthful state of competition with Hollywood than has existed at any time since the beginning of the business depression. At the same time, those interested in the production program in this sector have put themselves on record as being definitely opposed to any possible replacement of Hollywood in the East. This, they point out, is not feasible. The vast investments in real estate properties and studio equipment on the Coast are altogether too great, they say, to allow for such mass transposition.

Nevertheless, it is pointed out that, in addition to the availability of talent and material that the New York stage and radio have to offer, an even greater inducement, in the reduction of overhead costs, has been offered producers in the East through the use of studio facilities on a day-by-day basis and the engagement of talent at prices far below the scales current on the Coast. One drawback cited, however, is inadequacy of capital.

Considerable interest is being centered on the plans of Eddie Dowling and Arthur Hopkins, actor and Broadway stage producer, who are contemplating the transcription of theatrical successes to motion pictures, with the Eastern Service Studios, formerly the Paramount-Astoria plant, as the scene of their endeavors.

Sees Overhead Reduced

John Krimsky, of Krimsky and Cochran, believes that lowering of exorbitant star salaries and production overhead, plus the development of new talent and headline names, will help in a large measure to solve the problems of the eastern producer. Talent in this sector is not only less costly than in Hollywood, but much of it, under experienced direction, could be developed quickly into new star and drawing material for pictures, Mr. Krimsky said. He declared it is entirely possible to keep eastern production overhead charges in the neighborhood of 3 per cent, as against Hollywood's frequent 20 and 25 per cent, the bulk of the resultant saving to be expended on talent, director and author.

Further than this, the proximity to New York as a center for writers' and publishers' activities Mr. Krimsky sees as a distinct advantage.

"To see play material myself and to be able to personally contact authors and publishers is an advantage the eastern producer will always have over his fellow producer in Hollywood, who must rely on agents to do that work for him," Mr. Krimsky said.

Sam Sax, production head of the Brooklyn Vitaphone studios, said recently that short subjects depending upon stage and radio star names for drawing power can be produced profitably only in the East, the reason being that New York is the clearing house for talent.

Market for Names

"In the East," said Mr. Sax, "we can produce all manner of short subjects except out-and-out comedy shorts, which are best produced on the West Coast because the established and most popular screen comedians are those long associated with pictures. But Vitaphone shorts, being for the greater part miniature musical comedies, require ace performers of the musical comedy stage and broadcasting studios. It is obvious New York alone can best provide them. New York is the market for names. On the Coast you can't get the right kind of acts, the right kind of bands." He agreed that musical shorts can be made on the Coast, "but certainly not with big names—that is, big names not of the screen world, but of the realm of musical comedy."

"In New York we can get the services of a performer in no time," Mr. Sax said. "There are no heavy transportation costs to worry about and there is no fancy financial consideration such as you have to offer a stage star brought expressly to the Coast for picture work. Work in shorts made here would not interfere with the performer's stage appearances. The money made from picture sources under this arrangement is regarded by the performer simply as extra money augmenting the stage or radio earnings.

"If our shorts were made on the Coast, and we desired a certain performer tied with a stage engagement, we would be forced to wait perhaps for months until a show completed its run on Broadway. To do this would impell us to break our production schedule. And a program like ours, calling for 160 reels of shorts a year, cannot be got through on time or with profit showing unless it is carried out with system and dispatch."

Tonic for Broadway

Eddie Dowling is of the opinion that production on a large scale in the East would act as a tonic to Broadway, helping as it would to inject "new life" into the legitimate stage.

"If only 25 to 50 pictures were produced in the East in a year, it would be just enough to be a tonic on Broadway," Mr. Dowling said recently. "If the picture companies turned out but 5 to 10 per cent of their total output on pictures here, the effect would be to put Broadway back on Broadway.

"Working in the East will bring tremendous advantages to the film people no less. There can be no question that New York is the source of talent of the world."

Producers who have evidenced their faith in the future of eastern production, include major companies whose independent units are embarking upon regular feature production. Short subjects, too, in addition to Vitaphone, are being produced by Universal, Paramount and Educational, in and around New York.

Erpi Considers New Studio

Electrical Research Products, Inc., which now owns and operates the former Paramount-Astoria studios under the title of Eastern Service Studios, is said to be contemplating construction of an up-to-date studio on Long Island.

Actual production now under way, and future proposed activity, include the following companies and unit organizations.

At Educational, with Al Christie appointed production head of several units, and Jack White, formerly in charge of production at the Educational studios, signed as

EASTERN PRODUCING FAVORED BY LE BARON

Production costs in the East are below those of Hollywood, according to William LeBaron, associate producer on the Paramount lot. Owing to modern lighting improvements, Mr. LeBaron said this week, the generally given reason for production in California is eliminated, "and the only reason New York has not developed as a film center is because the business cannot be moved from the Coast."

"New York gave many advantages," the producer said in discussing the days when he had charge of the Paramount - Astoria studios on Long Island. "There was the proximity of plants manufacturing items needed in pictures. The majority of the most important writers lived there. New York also presented an opportunity to get away from shop talk and motion picture atmosphere. New York is the center of film distribution. If production could be centered there, efficiency naturally would be increased."

All Paramount Shorts Being Made in East; Educational and Universal Plan Half of Short Product in New York

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO YOU!"

MARIE DRESSLER
ADMIRERS
Kindly Sign Your Name in Autograph Album which will be sent to her on her birthday Nov. 9th Congratulating her on her many past hits and also for her work in CHRISTOPHER BEAN"

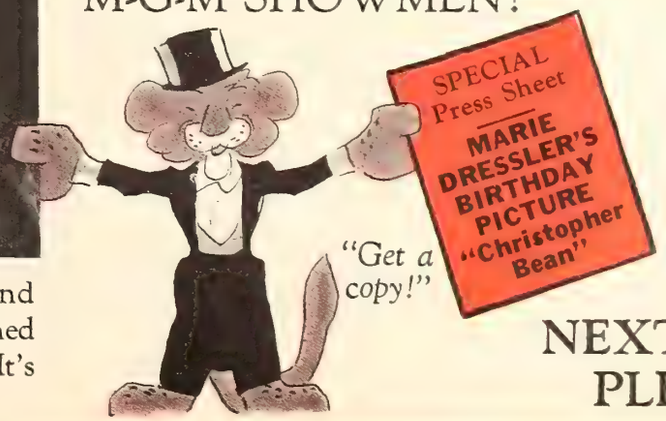
ABOVE: Photograph taken in lobby of Midland Theatre, Kansas. Thousands of patrons have signed this Birthday Book. Put one in your lobby today. It's a great stunt for "CHRISTOPHER BEAN."

And many more Happy Birthday pictures like "CHRISTOPHER BEAN" which co-stars those two beloved favorites MARIE DRESSLER and LIONEL BARRYMORE. Another M-G-M November release. A MONTH OF HOLIDAYS FOR M-G-M SHOWMEN!



NEXT PAGE PLEASE!

SHORT PRODUCT TURNS EASTWARD

producer-director, Earle W. Hammons is lining up a complete production staff for work in the Eastern Service Studios. As an initial step in its announced plans to produce half of its 1933-34 product in the East, the company is negotiating for "10 star names, a number of them appearing in the new season's Broadway musical comedy hits and on important radio programs." Billy Watson, well-known comedy writer and director, has arrived from Hollywood to work with Mr. Christie, and Sid Herzig, author of "Moonlight and Pretzels," will collaborate on stories with Mr. White. Chester Hale has been signed to arrange and direct dance numbers in the first Eastern production, and Benny Davis and James Hanley will do the music and lyrics. Six additional subjects have been set for immediate production, including the first in Educational's new Star comedy specials; a Coronet comedy; a Moran and Mack comedy, and the second in the Tom Howard series.

50 Per Cent of Universal Shorts

Fifty per cent of Universal's short subjects on its 1933-34 program are being made at the Eastern Service Studios by William Rowland and Monte Brice, who also produced the Universal feature, "Moonlight and Pretzels," at the same studios. Of the series of 16 radio shorts produced by them, 13 have been completed and delivered to Universal for early release. These include four starring Morton Downey, four Louis Sobols, three Nick Kenny and two Walter Winchells. Appearing in these one and two-reelers are such names as Buddy Rogers, Lew Brown, Ray Henderson, the Four Eton Boys, Stepin Fetchit, the Boswell Sisters, Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, Texas Guinan, Little Jack Little, Jack Fulton, Peggy Healy, Nick Stuart, Sally O'Neill and others. Two of the series of 13 musical two-reelers contracted for by Universal from E. M. Glucksman of Mentone Productions, have been completed. They are "On the Air and Off" and "All at Sea," presenting such names as Nick Lucas, Adelaide Hall, Eddie Garr, Vincent Lopez, Pat Rooney, Ethel Barrymore Colt, Hugh O'Connell and the Three X Sisters. The next on the Universal-Mentone line-up will be "The Big Benefit," followed by a musical satire on "Dinner at Eight," entitled "Supper at Six." Music for the series is being provided by Milton Schwarzwald, former music director for all RKO theatres. Ballard MacDonald is writing the stories, all of which are being produced by the RCA-owned West Coast Service Studios. Gem Productions are producing the series of 13 Goofytone Newsreels, three of which have been finished with the fourth well under way. These are a satire on newsreels in general and are written and directed by George Frame Brown. Columnist Mark Hellinger's series of one-reelers, entitled "Broadways of the World," are being edited in New York.

All Paramount Shorts

All Paramount shorts are being made in the East, some at the Eastern Service plant, and some at the company's newsreel headquarters. These include the 13 "Paramount Headliners," 12 Screen Souvenirs, 13 Paramount Pictorials, 13 Sportlights, 12 Betty Boops, 13 Popeyes and 12 Screen Songs.

Walter Futter will make a minimum of 26 shorts in the East this season, including a series of 13 Curiosities and another series of 13 John P. Medbury Travelaughs. One of the Curiosities and three of the Travelaughs have been completed. The Medbury series, for release by Columbia, is being recorded on Brunswick sound at the Vitaphone studios and the Curiosities are being handled at Mr. Futter's studio at 729 Seventh avenue.

Although distribution for the series has not yet been set, the first of 13 Irvin S. Cobb single reelers has been completed by Newslaughs, Inc., and the second is almost finished. Production of these is at the RCA Photophone studios, 411 Fifth avenue, New York. Harold B. Freedman is president of the company and is actively handling production. Associated with him is George

Photocolor Studio

ONE OF THE LARGEST AND FINEST EQUIPPED
SOUND STUDIOS EAST OF HOLLYWOOD

Scenery—14 sets, fully complete, for immediate use • Dressing Rooms to accommodate 200 people, with ample space for extras • Restaurant space for any number • Sleeping Quarters for 50 people • 8,000,000 feet of vault space • Carpenter Shop fully equipped to build anything

• Fully equipped Machine Shop • Extras available at reasonable prices • Sound Projection Rooms, Cutting Rooms and every other facility that could be desired • Negative and First Print Developing while you are shooting • Positive Prints in color or black and white

• Greatest Cooperation possible from Local Union • Rental at Depression Prices or Percentages

PHOTOCOLOR STUDIO

IRVINGTON-ON-HUDSON, New York Telephone: IRvington 1668-1599

in "Dancing Lady"

in "The Chief"

in "The Prizefighter and The Lady" in "Christopher Bean"

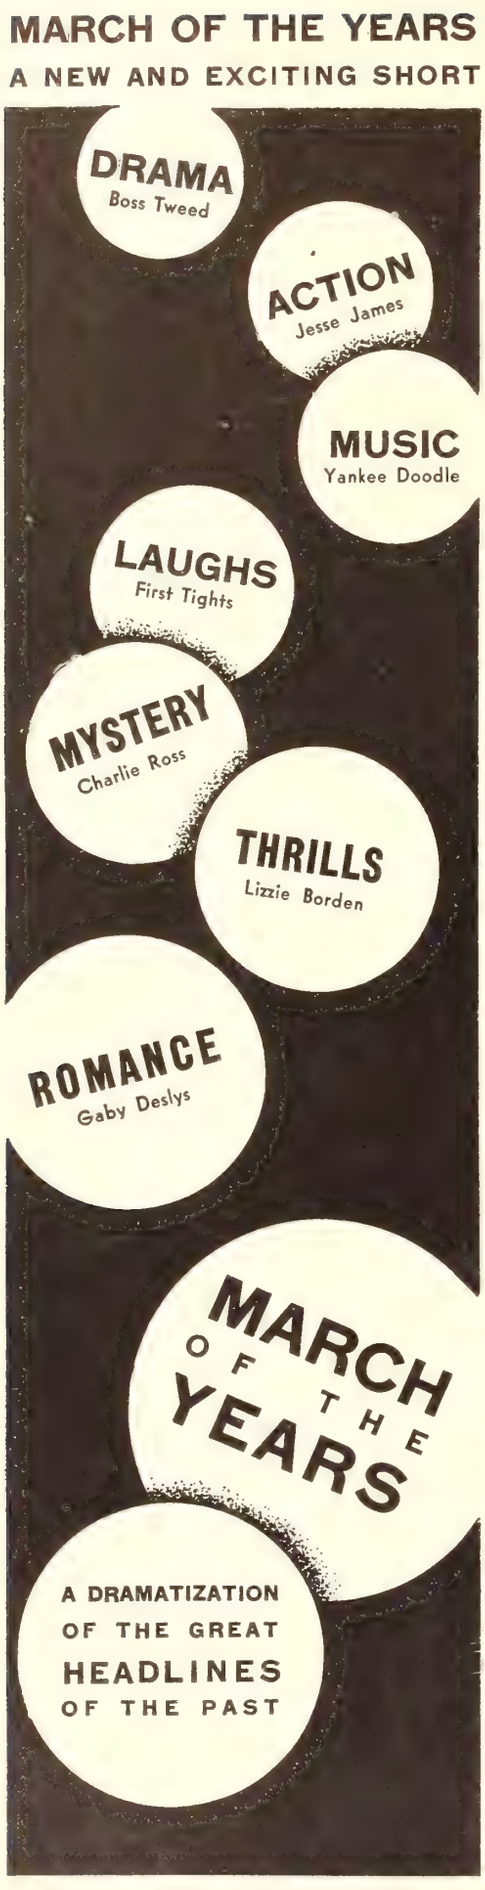
YOU'LL REMEMBER NOVEMBER

A Month of Holidays thanks to

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

(—and just one more page! Please turn over!)



FEATURES MADE IN EAST

Byrnes as vice-president and general manager.

Bray Productions is making two series of one-reelers at the Fox Movietone News studios, New York, for distribution by Columbia. One series is entitled "Minute Mysteries," two of which are finished and were directed by Lynn Shores. The stories are based on H. A. Ripley syndicated material. The second series is "World of Sports." RCA Photophone equipment is being used for both.

Charlton Forms Zenith

Robert T. Charlton has formed Zenith Productions to produce a series of Nick Carter stories, and expects to make 12 two-reelers for the 1933-34 cycle. Herbert Ashton, Jr., formerly with Columbia and Fox, will adapt the stories and direct the dialogue and Lem F. Kennedy will co-direct with Ashton. Herbert Rawlinson is being considered for the title role.

Prominent among the features scheduled for eastern production in the near future are "The Great Adventure," based on Arnold Bennett's play, and produced by Eddie Dowling at the Eastern Service plant. It has been completed and includes a cast comprised of Roland Young, Lilliam Gish and Montague Love.

William Rowland and Monte Brice have completed "Take a Chance," based on the successful Schwab and Mandel musical comedy of two seasons ago, with Jimmy Dunn, Cliff Edwards, June Knight, Lillian Bond, Lillian Roth and Buddy Rogers.

Chester Erskine recently completed "Midnight," a play which the Theatre Guild put on several seasons ago, at the Eastern Service Studios.

The first two features produced at this plant were "Moonlight and Pretzels" and "Emperor Jones."

Bud Pollard is planning 10 feature pictures for 1933-34 release at the Bud Pollard Studios, Grantwood, N. J., which is just a stone's throw from Times Square. A number of other independent producers are signing for space in Mr. Pollard's studio to produce for the state rights market. Having completed "The Horror," Mr. Pollard is now working on "Dance Hall Dames." Also lined up for early production are "Metropolitan Murders," "Framed," "Lunatic at Large," "The Green Jade," "Strange Women of the World," "Kings of Laughter" and four others, titles of which are not yet set. Mr. Pollard already has signed Betty Hamilton and Mary Nolan.

First Production Finished

Producing independently in the East, Louis Weiss plans to make a number of pictures under various corporate names, including Exploitation Pictures, Inc., Stage and Screen Productions, and International Stageplay Pictures, Inc. Already completed are "Enlighten Thy Daughter," produced at the Photocolor Studios at Irvington, N. Y.; "Drums o' Voodoo," with an all-colored cast, at the Atlas Studios in Long Island City; "Before Morning," with Leo Carillo, Herbert Rawlinson and others, at the same studio. Distribution will be through state rights exchanges.

Starmark Pictures, releasing through Regent, has completed its first production at the Fort Lee Studios, New Jersey. The completed production is entitled "Get That Venus," and its cast includes Ernest Truex, Jean Arthur, Molly O'Day, Herbert Rawlinson and Tom Howard. It was directed by Grover Lee.

Pinnacle Pictures, the latest of eastern producers, has been formed with a planned schedule for four features, the first being "Grey Riders."

Magna Pictures, headed by the orchestra leader, Meyer Davis, has completed one musical short, "That's the Captain," with Arthur Tracy, Baby Rose Marie, Ray Knight and Freddie Rich's orchestra.

On schedule as a series of 12 short subjects, Master Arts Products is contemplating making Edwin C. Hill's radio talks, "The Human Side of the News," into motion pictures. "Pet Superstitions," another Master Arts series, may be partially produced in the East as well.

Plans of Jewish American Film Arts call for four features in Yiddish and English. JAFA finished "The Wandering Jew," starring Jacob Ben-Ami, six weeks ago. It was produced at the Atlas Studio in Yiddish.

Argentina Honors Disney

Walt Disney, creator of Mickey Mouse and the Silly Symphonies color cartoons, has been awarded a diploma by the Academy of Fine Arts of Buenos Aires, Argentina, in recognition of the cartoons. The diploma probably will be formally presented by the Argentine consul general in Los Angeles.

Salient Signs Arthur Tracy

Salient Pictures, Coast company of which John A. Curtis is general manager, has signed Arthur Tracy, known as the "Street Singer" on the radio, for the lead in its forthcoming "Mating Time," which was written originally for the screen by Leo Birinsky, and will be directed by him. Jeanette Loff has the feminine lead.

Hurley Paramount Producer

Harold Hurley has been named an associate producer at Paramount, his first assignment being "Sailor, Beware," with Jack Oakie. Mr. Hurley, originally in the publicity department, was successively assistant to Emanuel Cohen and associate producer on westerns.

20 U. A. Exploiteers in Field

A staff of 20 United Artists exploitation men are engaged, in all key cities, under the supervision of Monroe Greenthal, in handling campaigns on the first Darryl Zanuck-Joseph Schenck 20th Century feature, "The Bowery" and other United Artists releases.

Reopens Doradele Theatre

Dorothy B. Strauss, owner and manager of the Doradele theatre at Cooperhill, Tenn., has reopened the theatre after a 14-months vacation.

"I'm so embarrassed!"
5 BOX-OFFICE CHAMPIONS OUT OF 15
Leo leads all companies again in M. P. Herald's Survey of 1932-1933
SEE THIS ISSUE OF M.P. HERALD
"Look Leo!"

"I HATE TO BRING THIS UP AGAIN—"

You'll think I haven't got a shred of modesty—

But, honestly, haven't I the right to be proud!

At the end of every year, when all the shouting is over, and the cold, hard facts are on the books—

Isn't it a thrill to find M-G-M on top YEAR AFTER YEAR AFTER YEAR!

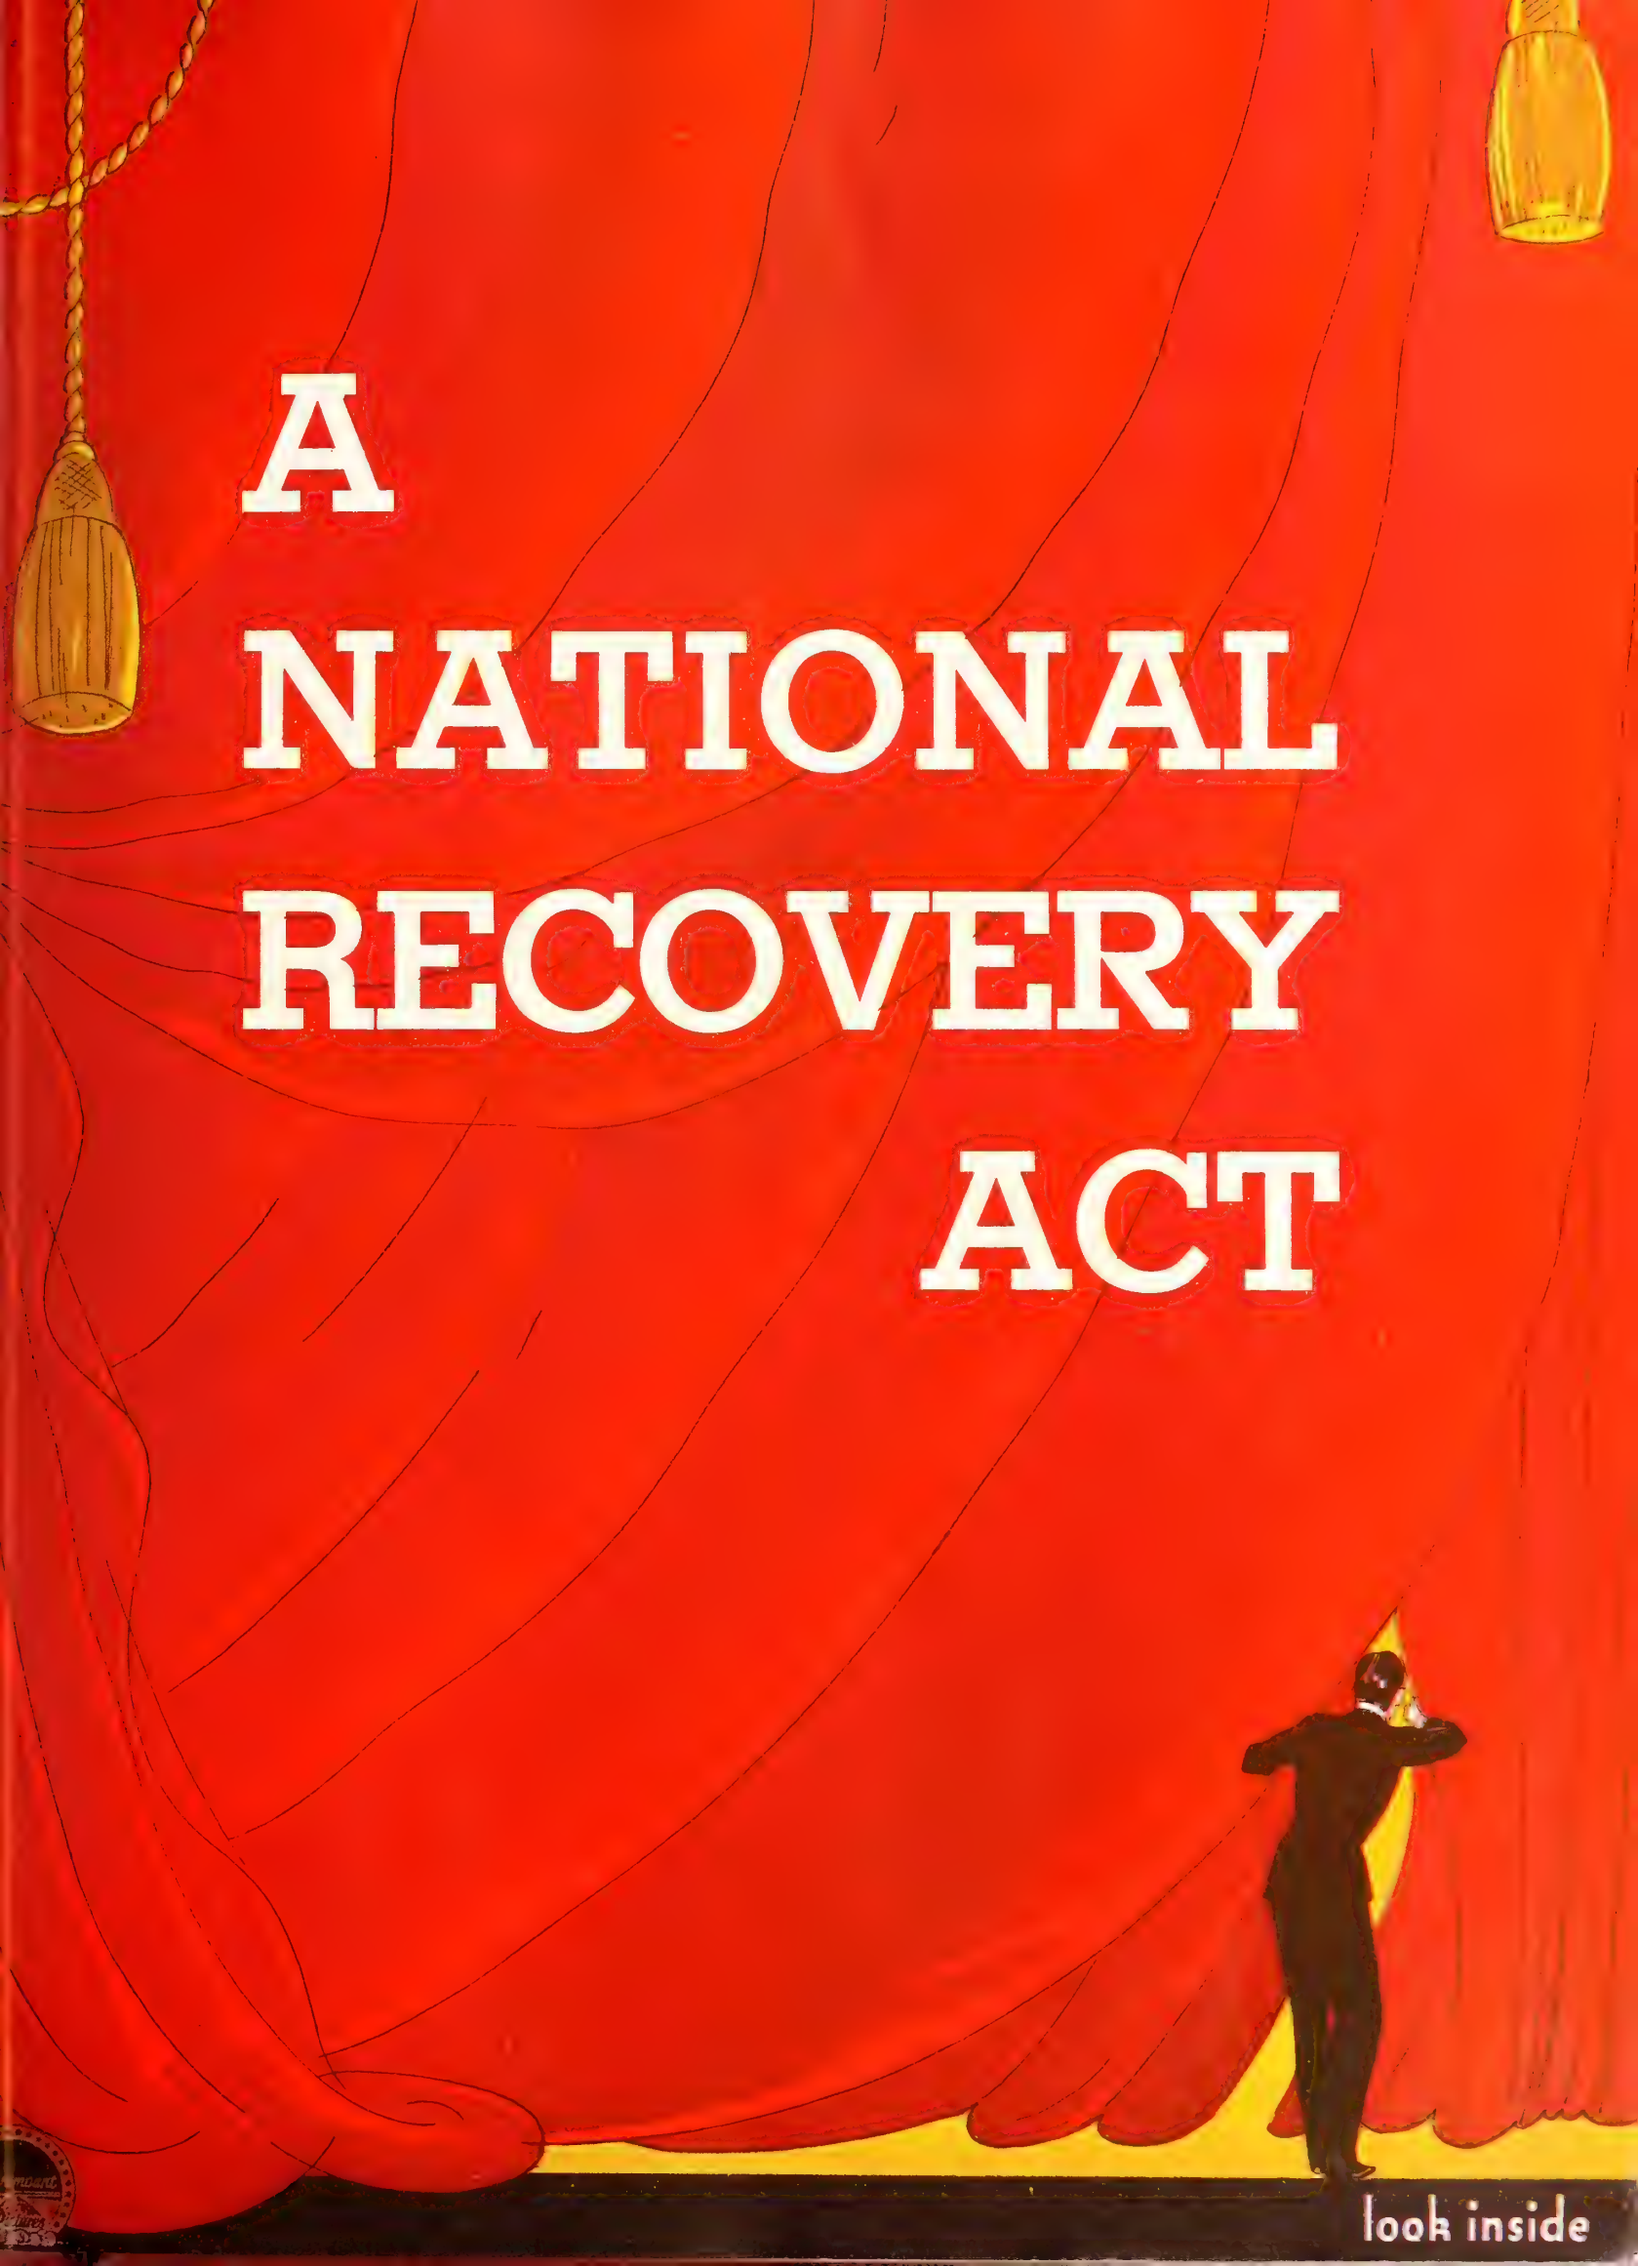
PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
COLUMBIA
"The Criminal Within"	Story by Doris Malloy and Kathryn Scola. Director: Phil Rosen.	Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot, Grant Mitchell.	Shooting
FOX
"I Am Suzanne"	Screen play by Edwin Mayer. Director: Rowland V. Lee.	Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Leslie Banks.	Shooting
"7 Lives Were Changed"	Story by Graham Greene. Director: Paul Martin.	Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Ralph Morgan, Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Irene Ware, Dorothy Burgess.	Shooting
"Jimmy and Sally"	Director: James Tinling.	James Dunn, Claire Trevor, Harvey Stephens.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"Tarzan and His Mate"	Story by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Director: Cedric Gibbons.	Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanaugh, Doris Lloyd, Frank Reicher.	Shooting
"Queen Christina"	Director: Rouben Mamoulian.	Greta Garbo, John Gilbert, Lewis Stone, C. Aubrey Smith, Elizabeth Young, Akim Tamiroff, Ian Keith.	Shooting
"The Hollywood Party"	Story by Edmund Goulding and Howard Dietz. Director: Richard Boleslavsky.	Marie Dressler, Joan Crawford, Jean Harlow, Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Jack Pearl, Charles Butterworth, Jean Hersholt, Albertina Rasch Ballet, Eddie Quillan, Polly Moran, Ben Bard, Richard Carle, George Givot.	Shooting
"Malibu"	Story by Joseph Vance Hoyt. Directors: Chester Franklin and Nick Grinde.	Jean Parker, David Landau, Russell Hardie.	Shooting
"Going Hollywood"	Story by Donald Ogden Stewart and C. Gardner Sullivan. Director: Raoul Walsh.	Marion Davies, Bing Crosby, Fifi D'Orsay, Ned Sparks, Ted Healy	Shooting
"The Cat and the Fiddle"	Play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Director: William K. Howard.	Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald, Charles Butterworth, Vivienne Segal, Frank Morgan, Jean Hersholt.	Shooting
"Sons of the Desert"	Original story by Frank Craven. Director: William Seiter.	Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Mae Busch, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Chase, Dorothy Christy.	Shooting
"Overland Bus"	Story by Ferdinand Reyer and Frank Wead. Director: Richard Boleslavsky.	Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans, Nat Pendleton, Gladys Hulette, Ted Healy.	Shooting
MONOGRAM
"Sagebrush Trail"	Story by Lindsley Parsons. Director: Armand Schaefer.	John Wayne, Nancy Shubert, Lane Chandler.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"Alice in Wonderland"	Original story by Lewis Carroll. Director: Norman McLeod.	Charlotte Henry, Richard Arlen, Polly Moran, Jack Oakie, Charlie Ruggles, Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling, Alison Skipworth, Leon Errol.	Shooting
"Eight Girls in a Boat"	Story by Helmuth Brandis. Director: Richard Wallace.	Dorothy Wilson, Kay Johnson, Mildred Hollis, Betty Grey, Douglas Montgomery, Peggy Montgomery, Ferike Boris, Barbara Barondess.	Shooting
"Girl Without a Room"	Story by Jack Lait. Director: Ralph Murphy.	Charles Farrell, Marguerite Churchill, Charlie Ruggles, Walter Woolf, Gregory Ratoff.	Shooting
"Sitting Pretty"	Story by Nina Wilcox Putnam. Director: Harry Joe Brown.	Jack Haley, Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, Thelma Todd, Gregory Ratoff.	Shooting
"The Thundering Herd"	Story by Zane Grey. Director: Henry Hathaway.	Randolph Scott, Judith Allen, Noah Beery, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton, Buster Crabbe.	Shooting
"Chrysalis"	Original story by Rose A. Porter.	Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft.	Shooting
RKO-RADIO
"Man of Two Worlds"	Novel by Ainsworth Morgan. Director: J. Walter Ruben.	Francis Lederer, Henry Stephenson, Sarah Padden, J. Farrell MacDonald, Steffi Duna.	Shooting
"Rodney"	Story by Leonard Mason. Director: George Archainbaud.	Walter Huston, Frances Dee, Robert Shane.	Shooting
"Long Lost Father"	Story by G. B. Stern. Director: Ernest B. Schoedsack.	John Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Helen Chandler, Donald Cook, Alan Mowbray, Doris Lloyd.	Shooting
"Wild Birds"	Story by Don Totheroh. Director: Elliott Nugent.	Dorothy Jordan, Tom Brown, Zasu Pitts.	Shooting
"Trigger"	Play by Lulu Vollmer. Director: John Cromwell.	Katharine Hepburn, Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy.	Shooting
"Once Over Lightly"	Story by A. T. Horman. Director: Russell Mack.	Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Skeets Gallagher, El Brendel, James Gleason, Bill Cagney.	Shooting
"Hips, Hips, Hooray!"	Original story and screen play by Harry Ruby and Bert Kalmar. Director: Mark Sandrich.	Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Dorothy Lee, Ruth Etting, Thelma Todd, George Meeker, Phyllis Barry.	Shooting
RELIANCE
"Joe Palooka"	Director: Ben Stoloff.	Jimmy Durante, Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez.	Shooting
SALIENT
"Mating Time"	Screen play and direction by Leo Birinski.	Ben Alexander, Jeanette Loff, Arthur Tracy.	Shooting
SAMUEL GOLDWYN
"Nana"	Story by Emile Zola. Director: Dorothy Arzner.	Anna Sten, Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes.	Shooting
TWENTIETH CENTURY
"Moulin Rouge"	Screen play by Nunnally Johnson. Director: Sidney Lanfield.	Constance Bennett, Franchot Tone, Tullio Carminati, Helen Westley, Fuzzy Knight, Andrew Tombs.	Shooting
"Born to Be Bad"	Story by Ralph Graves. Director: Lowell Sherman.	Loretta Young, Cary Grant, Harry Green, Marion Burns.	Shooting
"Advice to the Lovelorn"	Novel by Nathaniel West. Director: Alfred Werker.	Lee Tracy, Sally Blane, Paul Harvey, C. Henry Gordon, Judith Wood.	Shooting
"Gallant Lady"	Screen play by Sam Mintz. Director: Gregory La Cava.	Ann Harding, Clive Brook, Tullio Carminati, Janet Beecher, Otto Kruger, Veree Teasdale.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"By Candlelight"	Stage play by Siegfried Geyer. Director: James Whale.	Paul Lukas, Elissa Landi, Nils Asther, Esther Ralston.	Shooting
"Counsellor-at-Law"	Play by Elmer Rice. Director: William Wyler.	John Barrymore, Bebe Daniels, Doris Kenyon, Onslow Stevens, Thelma Todd, Isobel Jewel.	Shooting
"Beloved"	Story by Paul Gangelin. Director: Victor Schertzinger.	John Boles, Gloria Stuart, Dorothy Peterson, Mae Busch, Edmund Breese.	Shooting
"Bombay Mail"	Story by L. G. Blochman. Director: Edwin Marin.	Edmund Lowe, Onslow Stevens, Ralph Forbes, Shirley Grey, Tom Moore.	Shooting
"Cross Country Cruise"	Screen play by Stanley Rauh and Elmer Harris. Director: Edward Buzell.	Lew Ayres, Alice White.	Shooting
"Madame Spy"	Screen play by William Hurlbut. Director: Karl Freund.	Fay Wray, Nils Asther, Edward Arnold, Mabel Marden.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Massacre"	Story by Robert Gessner and Ralph Block. Director: Alan Crosland.	Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak, Henry O'Neill.	Shooting
"Easy to Love"	Screen play by Carl Erickson, David Boehm and Manny Seff. Director: William Keighley.	Adolphe Menjou, Mary Astor, Genevieve Tobin, Edward Everett Horton, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert.	Shooting
"King of Fashion"	Story by Warren Duff. Director: Wilhelm Dieterle.	William Powell, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh.	Shooting
"Hi, Nellie!"	Story by Roy Chanslor. Director: Mervyn LeRoy.	Paul Muni, Glenda Farrell, Ned Sparks.	Shooting
"Mandalay"	Story by Paul H. Fox. Director: Michael Curtiz.	Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, George Brent.	Shooting

A NATIONAL RECOVERY ACT



look inside

PARAMOUNT PUTS ON AN ACT THAT BE

1 MAE WEST in "I'm No Angel" with Cary Grant, Directed by Wesley Ruggles

2 "TILLIE AND GUS" with W. C. FIELDS, ALISON SKIPWORTH and BABY LE ROY, Directed by Francis Martin

3 MAURICE CHEVALIER in "The Way to Love" with Ann Dvorak and Edward Everett Horton, Directed by Norman Taurog

4 "TAKE A CHANCE" with James Dunn, June Knight, Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Lillian Roth, Cliff Edwards, Lillian Bond, Dorothy Lee, Produced by Laurence Schwab in association with William Rowland and Monte Brice

5 THE FOUR MARX BROTHERS in "Duck Soup", Directed by Leo McCarey

6 DOROTHEA WIECK in "Cradle Song", Directed by Mitchell Leisen

NGS BACK BUSINESS TO THE THEATRES

7 FREDRIC MARCH, GARY COOPER, MIRIAM HOPKINS, Edward Everett Horton in Noel Coward's "DESIGN FOR LIVING". An ERNST LUBITSCH Production

8 "SITTING PRETTY", Jack Oakie, Jack Haley, Ginger Rogers, Pickens Sisters. A Charles R. Rogers Production. Directed by Harry Joe Brown

9 "WHITE WOMAN" with Charles Laughton, Carole Lombard, Charles Bickford and Kent Taylor, Directed by Stuart Walker

10 "ALICE IN WONDERLAND" with Charlotte Henry as Alice, Richard Arlen, Rosco Ates, Gary Cooper, Leon Errol, Louise Fazenda, W. C. Fields, Skeets Gallagher, Raymond Hatton, Edward Everett Horton, Roscoe Karns, Polly Moran, Jack Oakie, Edna May Oliver, May Robson, Charlie Ruggles, Alison Skipworth, Ned Sparks, Ford Sterling, Directed by Norman McLeod

Paramount Pictures

it's the best show in town!

and speaking of putting on an ACT!

MAE WEST
in
"I'M NO ANGEL"

breaks all existing records for attendance in more cities than we have space for on this page.

. . . and that's what we call a NATIONAL RECOVERY ACT

. . . But as MAE says, "What's the use of talking . . . I'm a woman of ACTion."

SIGNED . . .

Columbia

June Collyer engaged for "House of Murder." . . .

▽

Educational

Lillian Roth, Lena Malena, and Stoopnagle and Budd given contracts. . . . Lena Malena assigned to "What a Wife." . . . Lillian Roth to appear in "Who Is It" and "A Million Dollars." . . .

▽

Fox

Claire Trevor, Spencer Tracy and Rosemary Ames awarded contracts. . . . "All Men Are Enemies" to be directed by George Fitzmaurice. . . . Nigel Bruce assigned to "Coming Out Party." . . Georgia Caine added to "I Am Suzanne" (Jesse L Lasky). . . .

▽

MGM

Contracts given to Una Merkel and Ted Healy, players; Charles Brabin, director; John Meehan and Leo Birinski, writers. . . . Irene Franklin added to "The Cat and the Fiddle." . . . Nat Pendleton joins "Overland Bus." . . . Nena Quartaro awarded contract by Hal Roach. . . . Joseph Schildkraut, Donald Reed, Katherine DeMille and George and Pedro Rigas additions to "Viva Villa." . . .

▽

Paramount

Carole Lombard, Dorothea Wieck and Dorothy Dell, players; William Slavens McNutt and Grover Jones, producing-writing-directing team, sign contracts. . . . Dorothy Wilson and "Shipwreck" Kelly engaged by Charles R. Rogers. . . . Raoul Walsh to direct "The Trumpet Blows." . . . Grace Bradley assigned to "Girl Without a Room" (Charles R. Rogers). . . . Edward Sutherland will direct "Funny Page." . . . Monte Blue and Judith Allen selected for "The Thundering Herd." . . . Carole Lombard and George Raft in "Bolero," Wesley Ruggles will direct. . . . Mae Marsh, Jack Duffy and Skeets Gallagher cast for "Alice in Wonderland." . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Nan Sunderland, Bruce Cabot, El Brendel, Jean Connors, players; John Ford and Mark Sandrich, directors, awarded contracts. . . . Tom Kennedy, Jack Rice and Loren Raker join cast for next Clark and McCullough comedy. . . . Sam White to direct Ruth Etting in "Harvest Moon Girl" (two reels). . . . Steffi Duna, European actress, engaged for "Man of Two Worlds" . . . John David Horsley, June Brewster, Carol Tevis and Grady Sutton in "On the Make" (short subject). . . . Pat Collins, Frank Conroy and Ralph Remley added to "Rodney." . . . Katharine Hepburn, Joel McCrea and George Brent in "Trigger." . . . Zasu Pitts, Charles Grapewin and David Landau sign for "Wild Birds" . . . John Barrymore, Elizabeth Allan, Phillis Barry and Natalie Moorehead assigned to "Long Lost Father." . . .

▽

United Artists

Otto Kruger, Ann Harding and Clive Brook assigned to "Gallant Lady" (20th Century) . . .

▽

Universal

Dorothy Revier joins "By Candlelight." . . . Cecilia Parker and Walter Miller signed for "Rider of Justice." . . . Leo McLaglen engaged for "Horse Play." . . . Tom Moore added to "Bombay Mail" . . . Fay Wray cast for "Madame Spy." . . . Andy Devine assigned to "The Poor Rich." . . . June Knight cast in "Cross Country Cruise" . . .

▽

Warner-First National

Edward Everett Horton signs for "Easy to Love." . . . Bull Montana added to "The Finger Man." . . . Kay Francis succeeds Ruth Chatterton in "Mandalay." . . .

Syndicate Takes Over Circuit for S. Z. Poli

Louis M. Sagal, managing director of the Poli circuit during the receivership of the company, then Fox-New England, declared in Hartford this week that since the purchase of bonds and houses of the New England circuit last week by a group headed by the former owner, S. Z. Poli, several national circuits have approached Mr. Poli on a deal to take over the 18 houses involved. It is understood Loew's is bidding. Mr. Sagal indicated Mr. Poli will operate his circuit unless an offer is made for outright purchase.

Last week Massachusetts houses of the Fox New England circuit were auctioned for $875,000. The purchasers were John A. McNaughton and W. B. F. Rogers, New York attorneys, who bought the Connecticut theatres involved for $2,226,000 the same day. The two were acting for an underwriters' syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Company. Mr. Poli will head a new company, Poli-New England, if the plan is approved by Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas on October 30.

From London . . .

W. H. ("Bill") Mooring, London representative of Quigley Publications, has undertaken his new duties as press representative and studio publicity manager of British International. He tootles daily between Elstree and his Edgware home.

▽

Price cutting has almost reached rock bottom in English provincial towns. Rates now at about 2 cents an hour in several centers.

▽

'Jever get a kick out of those folks who write letters to newspapers? One such, in the London Daily Telegraph, suggests that, instead of showing protracted kisses in close-up, film should black out and sound track announce: "He is now kissing her."

▽

CEA has under its hat plans for a fresh assault on the chancellor of the exchequer in respect of the entertainments tax. It doesn't know whether to press for total abolition or merely for restoration of the scale existing before the emergency budget of 1931.

▽

Universal announced a decision to produce in Britain. At least that's what S. F. Ditchman, London chief, said Carl Laemmle told him in Paris.

Universal tried it once before. Made one serial, "Detective Lloyd," and then broke up the unit.

▽

Visitors—Charles Bickford, Carlyle Blackwell, Cecil Mason (Greater Australasian Films chief—from Australia), Sam E. Morris, W. R. Wilkerson, and Carl Laemmle—almost.

Warner Club Plans Affair

The Warner Baseball Club of home office employees will hold its first "get-together" party November 25 at the Belvedere Tavern in Brooklyn. Sam Mareno, assistant cameraman at the Vitaphone studio, is in charge and has arranged for stage and screen stars to attend.

Balmer Joining Harris

James G. Balmer, Warner district manager in West Virginia, resigned last week to become general field supervisor for Harris Amusement Company of Pittsburgh.

TRAVELERS . . .

E. W. Hammons, president of Educational, has returned to New York from a two-week visit to Hollywood.

Herman Wobber, Fox executive, is in New York.

Victor Fleming, MGM director, is en route for the South Seas for a two months' vacation.

Fred Meyer, president of the MPTO of Wisconsin, returned to Milwaukee from Washington, where he has been "codifying" for some time.

Edwin Loeb, attorney for the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Hollywood, left New York for the Coast.

Nicholas M. Schenck and E. B. Hatrick, left New York for Hollywood. Mr. Hatrick is general manager of William Randolph Hearst's film interests.

Frances Williams, Broadway musical comedy star, who has just completed a part in Darryl Zanuck's "Broadway Thru a Keyhole," has arrived in New York from the Coast.

Jack L. Warner is in New York.

Lynn Farnol, Samuel Goldwyn's representative, will be in New York next week.

Larry Williams returned to New York from London, where he has been photographing street scenes in the British capital for Eddie Dowling's "Great Adventure," to be produced in New York.

Carl Laemmle returned from a month's business trip in Europe.

George Burns and Gracie Allen left New York for Hollywood, where they will start work on a Paramount picture. Sam Jaffe and Shipwreck Kelly accompanied them.

Paul Muni flew to New York from Hollywood to attend the premiere of Warner-First National's "World Changes," in which he is the star.

Jean Connors, winner of the national RKO Theatres beauty contest, left New York for Hollywood to start work under a term contract.

Ruby Keeler left New York for the Coast to appear in her next Warner picture, "Sweethearts Forever."

Marion Nixon returned from Europe and left New York for the Coast almost immediately.

Max J. Weisfeldt, Majestic sales manager, is in Chicago to open the new Majestic offices in that territory.

Charles Skouras arrived in Hollywood from New York.

Wid Gunning is in New York.

John Zanft arrived in Hollywood from New York.

Gradwell Sears left New York for a prolonged sales trip throughout the Warner southern exchanges.

Trem Carr and W. Ray Johnston arrived in Cleveland for a Monogram franchise holders' meeting.

Helen Turner, formerly with Paramount, is in New York, after editing three features made at the Sun Haven studios in Florida.

Archie Mayo, who has been spending a vacation in New York, returned to Hollywood to begin work on Warner's "Blood of China."

Earle Swigart, Paramount's Philadelphia exchange manager, was in New York last week.

Hal Horne leaves on his semi-annual trip to the United Artists studio.

Cyril Chadwick is in New York from Hollywood.

Columbia Branch in Tokio

Columbia last week opened a new distribution branch in Tokio, with plans announced as set for the opening in the near future of other Oriental branches.

112 STORIES AND PLAYS WIND UP PURCHASES FOR 1933–34 PRODUCT

Rights Acquired in July, August and September Only Half of Number in Previous Quarter; Many Notable Works Bought

Acquisition of 112 stories, books and plays by large motion picture companies during the third quarter of the year virtually completed the groundwork for 1933-34 production, portions of which had not been determined at the beginning of the season, when all companies outlined studio plans.

Production rights to literary works and to stage plays obtained in July, August and September totaled about half as many as acquired in the preceding quarter, when negotiations for 218 vehicles were consummated. In the first quarter of 1933, producing companies purchased 96 stories and plays. Month-by-month purchases since Jan. 1, 1933, follow:

JANUARY	41
FEBRUARY	28
MARCH	27
APRIL	54
MAY	66
JUNE	98
JULY	37
AUGUST	47
SEPTEMBER	28
TOTAL	426

The unusually heavy activity in the story field during May, June and July was attributable principally to a desire of companies to round out their schedules, insofar as practicable, before annual sales conventions and in order to present to the exhibitors some tangible evidence of the new season's product. The new purchases, then, give to theatre owners an idea of what to expect from the companies beyond the early announcements.

There were many notable books and plays among the third quarter purchases, principally Ehrenbourg's Russian novel, "Nikolai Kourbov," which went to Columbia; Richard Aldington's "All Men Are Enemies," bought by Fox, and some of Metro's acquisitions, including Pearl Buck's well-known "The Good Earth," Louis Bromfield's "Living in a Big Way," Ferenc Molnar's play, "Miracle in the Mountains," Robert Chambers' novel, "Operator Thirteen," and two other plays, "The Vortex," by Noel Coward, and Paul Osborn's "Vinegar Tree."

Paramount Gets Play, Several Novels

Other outstanding properties acquired during the third quarter were: Eustace L. Adams' magazine yarn, "Sixteen Fathoms Deep," which went to Ray Johnston's Monogram Pictures; Sidney Howard's play, "Alien Corn," a purchase by Paramount, which also obtained Cronin's novel, "Greenloaning," Komroff's original, "Her Regiment of Lovers," Tiffany Thayer's book, "If a Man Bites a Dog," Rupert Hughes' "Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen," and Clarence Budington Kelland's "Thirty-Day Princess."

Highlighting the Radio purchases were John Galsworth's "Apple Tree," Stefan Zweig's "Letters of an Unknown Woman," Floyd Gibbons' magazine article, "Red Knight of Germany," and Lulu Vollmer's play, "Trigger."

United Artists made several important purchases, among them Herbert Asbury's "Barbary Coast," "Gentlemen, the King!" by Damon Runyon, and Lajon de Bri's popular play, "Moulin Rouge."

To Universal went the talker rights to Geyer's play, "Candlelight," Hans Fallada's "Little Man, What Now?" and the magazine story, "Saturday's Millions," by Lucian Cary.

Warners announced that "Anthony Adverse," by Hervey Allen, was the biggest purchase at their office. The company also acquired, among others, "The Return of the Terror," by the late Edgar Wallace.

Metro Buys 90 in Nine Months

Mr. Nicholas Schenck's Metro company obviously is well stocked with books and plays, having purchased approximately 90 in the first nine months of 1933. Their portfolio contains approximately twice as many properties as will be needed at the Culver City studios to supply the promised total of features for 1933-34.

Nor was Radio inactive in the story field, buying 61 stories and plays. Fox was third, negotiating 52, followed closely by Paramount, with 51. In the nine months, Universal acquired 42 properties, Warners 32, and Columbia and United Artists, 24 each.

Originals Still Predominate

Despite talk heard on Broadway and Hollywood boulevard, studios continue to buy more original ideas than plays, published material also besting the stage as a source of material.

During July, August and September, when 112 properties were acquired, purchases included 60 originals, 39 published stories (books, novels, magazine stories—about 10 were in magazines), and 13 plays. In June, which hit a high mark with 98 story deals, 53 were published works, 34 were originals and 12 had been staged as plays. The month previous, May, witnessed 66 acquisitions, of which 31 were originals, 27 had been published and eight were plays.

On July 29, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, published the titles of 98 books, plays and original stories which had been bought by motion picture companies in June. May purchases were recorded in the issue of June 3. Properties acquired during July, August and September follow, together with the authors' names. It is to be noted that a

Nine Months in the Story Market Tracing Purchases by Companies

COMPANIES	JAN.	FEB.	MAR.	APR.	MAY	JUNE	JULY	AUG.	SEPT.	TOTAL
ALLIED	..	..	..	1	..	1	..	..	..	2
CHESTERFIELD	..	..	..	..	1	2	3	1	2	9
COLUMBIA	1	2	..	4	6	7	1	1	2	24
FINEMAN	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	..	1
FILM CHOICE	..	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
FOX	4	3	4	6	5	20	5	3	2	52
FREULER	..	..	1	..	1	..	..	..	..	2
KBS	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
LEFF	4	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	4
LESSER	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	1
MAJESTIC	..	..	..	..	..	1	2	1	..	4
METRO	12	9	5	10	14	15	10	10	5	90
MONOGRAM	7	1	..	1	3	..	..	1	3	16
PARAMOUNT	9	3	4	5	8	8	2	10	2	51
RADIO	..	3	5	18	13	7	8	4	3	61
SHOWMEN	..	..	..	..	..	1	..	..	..	1
UNITED ARTISTS	..	..	..	..	4	10	3	5	2	24
UNIVERSAL	..	3	3	5	6	11	3	6	5	42
WARNERS	2	3	4	4	4	14	..	5	2	38
WORLD WIDE	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
ZEIDMAN	..	..	1	..	..	..	..	..	..	1
GRAND TOTAL	41	28	27	54	66	98	37	47	28	426

ORIGINALS LEAD AS FILM MATERIAL

few properties already have been completed in Hollywood and are ready for release.

CHESTERFIELD

Birds of a Feather, original, by Keene Thompson.
Broadway After Dark, original, by Winifred Dunn.
In the Money, original, by Robert Ellis.
Man of Sentiment, magazine story, by Frederick Hazlitt Brenan.
Notorious But Nice, original, by Adeline Leitzbach.
Untitled, original, by Robert Ellis.

COLUMBIA

Brownstone Front, original, by Lew Levenson.
Hold the Press, original, by Horace McCoy.
Night Bus, magazine story, by Samuel Hopkins Adams.
Nikolai Kourbov, novel, by Llya Ehrenbourg.

FOX

All Men Are Enemies, novel, by Richard Aldington.
Coming-Out Party, original, by Becky Gardiner and Gladys Unger.
Doctor Bull, original, by Reginald Berkeley.
Flight of the Swan, novel, by Andre Dliveroff.
Hoopla, original, by Moncure March and Bradley King.
House Without a Key, original, by Earl Derr Biggers.
Lottery Lover, original, by Sid Herzig and Maurice Hanline.
Marionettes, original, anonymous.
Murder in Trinidad, novel, by John Vandercook.
Woman and the Law, novel, by Judith Revel.

MAJESTIC

An Entirely Different Woman (formerly Eine Ganz Andere Fra, purchased from Paramount), novel, anonymous.
Collusion, novel, by Theodore D. Irwin.
Laughing Woman, novel, by Carlos Keith.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Always Tomorrow, original, by Mildred Cram and Marcella Burke.
Forever Faithful, original, by Morris Lavine.
Going Hollywood, original musical, by Donold Ogden Stewart and C. Gardner Sullivan.
Good Earth, novel, by Pearl Burke.
Hall of Justice, original, by Morris Lavine.
Hill Billies, original, anonymous.
It Happened One Day, novel, by Marjorie Bartholomew Paradis.
Living in a Big Way, novel, by Louis Bromfield.
Miracle in the Mountains, play, by Ferenc Molnar.
Mystery of the Dead Police, novel, by Phillip MacDonald.
Operator Thirteen, novel, by Robert W. Chambers.
Paradine Case, novel, by Robert Hichens.
Prizefighter and the Lady, original, by Frances Marion.
Rip Tide, original, by Edmund Goulding and Charles MacArthur.
Saint Louie Woman, original, by Albert J. Cohen and William F. Kay.
Show Off, play, by George Kelly.
Solitaire Man, play, by Bella and Samuel Spewack.
Stamboul Quest, original, by Leo Birinski.
Three Indiscreet Ladies, novel, by Hawthorne Hurst.
Three Men, original, by Arthur Caesar.
Transcontinental Bus, original, by Ferdinand Reyer and Frank Wead.

RUSSIA MAY REQUIRE FOREIGN PICTURES

Changed conditions in Soviet Russia tend to develop a demand for foreign films in that country, according to a Polish press report. George R. Canty, U. S. trade commissioner, added that the report states the Soviet film policy is due for another change with a view to admitting the production and release of films with more of a romantic turn. Propaganda for furtherance of communistic ideals, until now emphasized in domestic productions, will be ordered stopped after 16 years' application, it is understood.

It was indicated that this possible change in Soviet film policy, coupled with the fact that the United States is contemplating recognition of the U. S. S. R., might widen that market for American product.

Vinegar Tree, play, by Paul Osborn.
Vortex, play, by Noel Coward.
Way to Treat a Lady, original, by John Farrow.

MONOGRAM

Broken Dreams, original, by Olga Printzlau.
Manhattan Love Song, novel, by Cornell Woolrich.
Sixteen Fathoms Under, magazine story, by Eustace L. Adams.
Woman's Man, original, by Adela Rogers St. John (formerly "Great God Fourflush").

PARAMOUNT

Alien Corn, play, by Sidney Howard.
Greenloaning, novel, by A. J. Cronin.
Her Regiment of Lovers, original, by Manuel Komroff.
If a Man Bites a Dog, novel, by Tiffany Thayer.
Man Who Broke His Heart, original, by Frederick Schlick.
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen, magazine story, by Rupert Hughes.
Mr. Dayton Darling, novel, by Lady Mary Cameron.
Pink Chemise, magazine story, by Philip Wylie.
Pioneer Woman, original, by Stan Dagvar.
Rumba, original, by Guy Endor.
Thirty-day Princess, magazine story, by Clarence Budington Kelland.
Whipping, play, by Eulalie Spence; novel by Roy Flanagan.
World's Greatest Spender, original, by Michael L. Simmons.
Yodelers, original, by Frank Craven.

RADIO

Age of Innocence, original, by Edith Wharton.
Apple Tree, novel, by John Galsworth.
Behold, We Live, play, by John Van Druten.
Blonde Poison, original, by Donald Henderson Clarke.
Break of Hearts, original, by Lester Cohen.
Dummy's Vote, original, by Arthur E. Horman.
Hermit of Times Square, original, by Alvin Smith.
Just Off Fifth Avenue, original, by Louis Weitzenkorn and David Hempstead.
Letters of An Unknown Woman, novel, by Stefan Zweig.
Man of Two Worlds, novel, by Ainsworth Morgan.
Red Knight of Germany, magazine story, by Floyd Gibbons.
Rodney, magazine story, by Leonard S. Nason.
Trigger, play, by Lulu Vollmer.
Without Glory, original, by Jane Murfin.
Without Sin, original, by Edith Wharton.

UNITED ARTISTS

Barbary Coast, novel, by Herbert Asbury.
Fair, The, original, by Ralph Graves.
Gentlemen, The King! magazine story, by Ramon Runyon.
Gallant Lady, original, anonymous.
I Knew Her When, novel, by Willard Robertson (formerly "The Unnamed Woman").
Moulin Rouge, play, by Lajon de Bri.
P. T. Barnum, original, by John Huston.
Red Tape, original, by Sam Mintz and Maude T. Howell.
Sentenced, play, by Harold Simpson.
Style, original, by Ralph Graves.

UNIVERSAL

Bombay Mail, novel, by L. G. Blochman.
Candlelight, play, by Siegfried Geyer.
Daughters of the Sea, original, by Howard Higgin.
Exquisite Thief, original, by Tom Buckingham.
Giant Plane, original, by Laird Doyle.
Golden Fleece, original, by Tom Reed and L. G. Blochman.
Little Man, What Now, novel, by Hans Fallada.
Madame Spy, play, by Max Kimmick (formerly "Under False Flags").
Poor Rich, original, by Dale Every and John Bright.
Saturday's Millions, magazine story, by Lucian Cary.
Secret Agent, original, by Courteney Terrett.
Sutter's Gold, novel, by Blaise Cerdraros.
Trip to Mars, novel, by R. C. Sheriff.

WARNERS

Anthony Adverse, novel, by Hervey Allen.
Bedside, original, by Manny Seff and Harvey Thew.
Diamond Joe, original, by Arthur Horman.
King of Fashion, original, by Warren Duff.
Return of the Terror, novel, by Edgar Wallace.
Shakedown, original, by Sam Engles.
Shoot to Kill, original, by Williams Rankin.

Bay, Stunt Man, Killed

Tom Bay, colorful film stunt man and double in western films, died last week in Hollywood as a result of bullet wounds said to have been inflicted by Mrs. Alta Lessert, who is in the prison ward of Los Angeles General Hospital recovering from self-inflicted wounds. Police reported the shooting followed a quarrel between the two, both of whom lived in the same house.

Films Cover New Fields

Films dealing with the agricultural crisis, the "A. B. C." of forestry and the control of mosquitoes are among recent releases announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The five films, comprising nine reels, may be borrowed by application to the Office of Motion Pictures, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

That path being worn over to the Federal building is the result of subpoenas by the government calling on exhibitors to testify in Washington's investigation of labor racketeering in connection with the conduct of the local moving picture operators' union. It's all very secret and witnesses are bound under oath not to reveal any of the proceedings.

▽

A number of folk from the Row, Barney Pearlman and Les Abbott of National Theatre Supply Company, Joe Goldberg, Guercio and Barthel and others were spotted hobnobbing with the engineers during the three-day convention of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers at the Edgewater Beach hotel last week. The meeting attracted more than 150 technicians from all parts of the country and the consensus was that a real contribution had been made to greater showmanship with wide range and high fidelity reproduction and recording.

▽

Many folk along the Row will remember Will Whitmore, formerly with this publication as local news reporter. Whitmore, now with Erpi, was at the convention not only as chairman of the publicity committee, but as a benedict of only a few weeks.

▽

Ted Morris of the Drexel theatre, was adjudged winner of first prize in the contest sponsored by the Ben Judell office for the best exploitation campaign on "Fighting With Kit Carson." Morris arranged an essay contest in cooperation with nearby schools and turned in a number of fine papers prepared by the pupils. Morris in turn awarded admissions for the best papers.

▽

Members of the Chicago Warner Club will stage a Halloween party Saturday in the finely appointed club rooms maintained by the company on the fourth floor of the local branch building.

▽

Max Sachs, manager of the Irving theatre, is flirting with a new love. Max was seen at the Opera last week and his friends have been looking at him quizically ever since.

▽

Kenneth Leach, well known as the manager of the Moviephone office here several years ago, is back in this neck of the woods following a stay on the west coast.

▽

Clyde Elliott is now covering the Indiana territory for Master Art Products.

▽

Essaness is planning extensive remodeling and improvement of the Irving theatre next month.

HOLQUIST

William Mayo Kills Self

William H. Mayo, 53, Boston theatrical figure, shot and killed himself last week at his summer home near Peterboro, N. H. Manager of a little theatre group there, Mr. Mayo was to have left for New York to prepare the production of "Under Glass," which featured the summer season in Peterboro. Ill health and financial reverses were believed the cause of suicide.

British Positive Exports Increase Greatly in Year

The export of British positive film during the first half of 1933 was 86 per cent greater than that of the corresponding period of 1932, according to statistics recently issued in London. The total footage shipped in the 1933 period was 13,676,179, which compares with 7,343,121 in 1932.

Imports of positive film into Great Britain have declined from approximately 12,000,000 linear feet in 1931 to 7,478,000 during the first half of 1933. Exports of blank film have increased steadily during the past three years, the report indicated.

ON BROADWAY

Week of October 21

CAPITOL
Scotland, Bonnie Lassie....MGM

HOLLYWOOD
Operator's Opera .....Vitaphone
I Got to Sing a Torch Song.Vitaphone
Exploring the Pacific.....Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Pin Feathers .....Universal
Port of Call—Delhi.....First Division
Mickey's Touchdown .....Columbia

PARAMOUNT
On Ice .....Paramount
I Yam What I Yam.....Paramount

RIALTO
Little Broadcast .....Paramount
Hollywood on Parade—
No. 3 .....Paramount
One Awful Night.....Paramount
March of the Champions..Paramount

RIVOLI
Steeplechase .....United Artists
Audition .....Vitaphone

RKO MUSIC HALL
Stung Again .....Universal
Movie Struck .....Columbia
Strange As It Seems—
No. 33 .....Universal
Murder At the Bridge Table.RKO Radio

ROXY
Three Little Pigs.....United Artists
Midnight Patrol .....MGM

STRAND
The Dish Ran Away With the Spoon .....Vitaphone

Radio Coast Studio Has NBC Station

A modern broadcasting station with latest equipment installed at a cost of $15,000, at Radio Studio in Hollywood, is being used as an accommodation studio for the NBC network and is releasing two weekly programs, "Hollywood on the Air," a sustaining program in which all studios are requested to provide talent, and the "Chase and Sanborn" hour. The new plant can accommodate 500 entertainers at one time, and can be transformed into a television studio.

Fairbanks To Portray Don Juan in Next Film

Douglas Fairbanks, in Madrid last week on his way to seek locations in southern Spain, indicated his next picture will be "Adios, Don Juan," with the actor depicting Don Juan at the age of 45.

NEWS PICTURES

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 9—Daredevil autoists perform at Deer Park, N. Y.—Roosevelt to aid closed banks' depositors—Society ladies turn jockeys at Roslyn, N. Y.—Uncle Sam creates a "Devil's Island"—Japan leaders send good-will message to United States—Wet and dry war continues with repeal near—Pittsburgh beats Navy eleven.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 10—Macon completes flight to California—Italy welcomes Carnera—Senate supports Roosevelt's European policy—German and French stunt fliers compete—England wipes out a war relic—Metropolitan races close—Japan swim stars show fine form—Huge crowds rush to World's Fair.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 208—Macon in California home—Mayoralty battle stirs New York—Snapshots from here and there—Mud race thrills turf fans in New York—World's Fair rush reaches climax—Nation hails Navy Day.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 209—President talks to nation—Big grid games thrill record crowds—Rome hails Pope in Holy Year fete—United States moves to recognize Russia—Metrotone snapshots.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 23—New British airplane carries pound-and-half shells—United States hits drug and cosmetic racketeers—Macon in new California home—Distilleries push production in Philadelphia—Air aces match skill in Villacoublay—Display old wedding rings at Widows and Widowers Club in Philadelphia.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 24—Tigers blank Lions in football—United States backs own liquor—United States beckons to Russia—Airplanes in maneuvers at San Diego, Cal.—President announces new gold policy.

PATHE NEWS—No. 24—German arms demand stirs nations—Farley anticipates legal liquor—Fifty year old vintage unearthed at Washingtonville, N. Y., for coming demand—Coyboys visit New York skyscraper—United States winning war on crime.

PATHE NEWS—No. 25—Macon flies to new home in California—Football plays explained—Katherine Kelly starts life term in Cincinnati jail—Work started on world's longest dam in Columbia River—Willis Sperry wins glider looping contest at Akron, Ohio—New flashes.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 190—Cameraman risks life to film submarine in Pacific—World's biggest book unveiled in New York—Women cultivate pearl crop in Japan—Latest hat styles shown in France—Macon arrives at New California base—Flames destroy homes at Dudley, England—Strikers ask NRA for help at Chester, Pa.—Garageman, at Holdenville, Okla., solves depression—Italian crowds hail Carnera.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 191—President outlines recovery progress—Russian recognition nears—Pope Pius blesses world—Michigan beats Ohio State—Torpedoes launched from air in maneuvers at San Diego, Cal.

Paramount French Plant Cited as Extremely Active

With four sound stages and all dubbing units occupied at the moment and booked in advance, officials of Paramount International Corporation have denied reports that the Paramount Joinville studios, in France, may change hands. The plant was acquired in 1930.

At the moment Louis Gasnier is producing in French for Paramount, Fred Bacos is doing three in French, and Eric Pommer is handling a like number for Fox release. Dubbing of "Cavalcade" in French, Spanish and Italian is in work.

Crinnion Takes Over Amity Pictures Corp.

John M. Crinnion, former secretary and treasurer of Tiffany Productions, Inc., has taken over control of Amity Pictures Corporation, Ltd., with executive offices at 729 Seventh avenue, New York.

Amity, which operates 28 exchanges throughout the United States, has been releasing both Tiffany and Quadruple product since Educational Pictures, former outlet, turned its distribution over to Fox. Mr. Crinnion plans to obtain new independent product for release.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

The Prize Fighter And the Lady

(MGM)

Romantic Drama

Here's a picture that you can stand up and yell about. It's a real show, not a freak, and introduces an already famous ring personality, Max Baer, who in the light of his initial efforts seems destined to go places on the screen. Showmanship possibilities abound. It's a woman's show, a pip of a love story for them, with pathos and human interest. And it's a man's show, because it is a sporting world story, climaxed by the bringing together of Primo Carnera and Max Baer in a thrilling ring battle for the world's heavyweight championship. On top of that, it's a show for every youngster in town.

There's the natural color yarn of a pug, the story of a girl who saw with her heart more than her eyes, and married him. Steve, a barroom bouncer, is picked up by the Professor, an oldtime fight manager, and is built up, by one blasting victory after another, into a spot as contender for Carnera's title. He's swept to fame and wealth, but dallies on the way to chisel on his faithful wife, a phase made realistic as Belle, heartbroken, sensibly pleads with her erstwhile racketeer lover to leave the cocky lug alone and as Steve promises to cut out his philandering.

The picture turns on an extra thrill with the signing of articles for the title go. Carnera and Dempsey come into the picture. Steve socks the Professor and goes on his own. There's a theatric atmosphere as the ballyhooed contender goes on a personal appearance stage tour. Belle catches her husband in a dressing room liaison with a chorus girl and leaves him to go back to Willie Ryan.

Then the Madison Square Garden Carnera fight. Flocks of old champs appear in the ring. Dempsey is talking to Willard about the Toledo debacle. Jeffries, Frank Moran, Billy Papke, Joe Rivers, Strangler Lewis take bows. Dempsey, the referee, in his instructions to the battlers, refers to the "14 count." Then the fight. Steve takes a terrific beating from Carnera, with quick flashes of six rounds of slaughter. Belle, at the ring-side, is glad he's getting a walloping, but every punch hurts her more than it does Steve. Bugsie brings the Professor into Steve's corner. He tell the boy that Belle still loves him. Inspired, he belts Carnera all over the ring in the last three rounds and it's a draw, but Primo is still the world's champ. Steve and Belle alone in his dressing room, Steve owns up and there comes an understanding that the days of frivolity are past.

There is everything essential in this picture. The never before attempted novelty of bringing the real ring champ and his actual chief contender together in a ring brawl should reap reams of publicity in news, theatrical and sporting pages, for the men folk. But don't be content with that. You've got the stuff that legitimately permits you to ballyhoo this picture in every way as just as much a woman's show. It won't be necessary to salve 'em with poppycockery lines about a swell looking he-man and his beautiful body. There's real love interest. Where there is so much entertainment, with so many smash exploitation angles with which to sell it, every exhibitor should welcome this production with open arms.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. A W. S. Van Dyke production. Associate producer, Hunt Stromberg. Screen play by John Lee Martin, Jr., and John Meehan. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, Nov. 10, 1933.

CAST

Belle	Myrna Loy
Steve	Max Baer
Carnera	Primo Carnera
Promoter	Jack Dempsey
Professor	Walter Huston
Willie Ryan	Otto Kruger
Bugsie	Vince Barnett
Adopted Son	Robert McWade
Linda	Muriel Evans
Cabaret Girl	Jean Howard

The Mad Game

(Fox)

Drama

A sensibly treated expose of the kidnaping snatch-racket, "The Mad Game," easily may develop into a sensational box office attraction. Both timely and topical, it is entertainment and propaganda. It includes drama, romance, comedy, menace, thrill and excitement and, not least, novelty.

Because of the way in which the basic story material is handled in action, dialogue and acting, there seems hardly a chance that this pioneer kidnaping picture will encounter the objections with which the initial gangster films met. Rather, being always on the side of law and order, it is a definite adjunct to any public safety campaign; thus it has exploitation and interest-creating assets which justify a wide variety of interest-stimulating contacts.

Gangsters are the medium through which the story is told. One is heroized; another is portrayed as the ruthless, repugnant character with which the public identifies the current crop of kidnapers. Both parts are convincingly acted. A logical get-under-the-skin romance supports the main theme, making it possible readily to interest women in the show. No kidnaping methods are illustrated; results and effects, however, are emphasized. In every phase the picture comes within the provisions whereby the production of kidnaping stories is permitted.

Wide open for smash exploitation and unusual effective contacts, the story has Carson, a pseudo Capone, quitting the beer racket as beer comes in and state after state vetoes the Eighteenth Amendment. Before he can split his gang, and as the audience is learning that Jane, a reporter, is falling in love with him, he is jailed for chiseling on his income taxes. Typical gangdom double crossing tactics and results ensue as the now Chopper-headed mob turns to kidnaping for its lucrative income. Penfield, the judge who sentenced Carson, is appointed head of the Crime Prevention Commission, while the ex-mobster is a model prisoner. A wave of kidnaping terrorizes the nation and Carson is interviewed as to how the epidemic can be stamped out.

Effecting a proposition with the warden, Carson undergoes a facial operation that completely changes his appearance. Freed, he invades Chopper's haunts. Desire for personal revenge supplements his ambition to balance his account with the Government, just at the time when the Penfield son and daughter-in-law are snatched. Stark drama precipitates tense excitement that is compensated by love interest that sees with the heart rather than the eyes.

Learning where Chopper has his prey hidden by choking the information out of a couple of mugs, Carson liberates the youngsters as Chopper's mob enters. Chopper and Carson shoot it out alone, and the police, summoned by Jane, arrive to find the kidnap king dead and the regenerated Carson dying. Law and order has triumphed. Even though there is sympathy for the martyred Carson, who broke up the ring, the producers made the most of realism by having him killed.

This picture is not ordinary; neither is it a freak. In many ways it is deserving of the patron support that was given "The Secret Six." Names are adequate, with Spencer Tracy and the comparitively new but surprising Claire Trevor heading the cast. The title suggests endless opportunities for punchy exploitation. The picture should be showmanshiped to the limit. Contacts with police department, with newspapers for editorial support, with government officials and civic leaders, should be sought and utilized. The more advantage taken of the timely possibilities in this show the better will be the box office reactions. You can well afford to spend extra money. Treat it as an unusual picture, both as entertainment and as timely propaganda.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Fox. A Sol Wurtzel production. Story by William Conselman. Director, Irving Cummings. Photography by Arthur Miller. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Oct. 27, 1933.

CAST

Edward Carson	Spencer Tracy
Jane Lee	Claire Trevor
Judge Penfield	Ralph Morgan
Chopper Allen	J. Carrol Naish
William Bennett	John Miljan
Butts McGee	Frank McHugh
Marilyn Kirk	Kathleen Burke
Thomas Penfield	Howard Lally
Lila Penfield	Mary Mason
Doctor	John Davidson
Warden	Willard Robertson
Lou	Paul Fix
Mike	Jerry Devine

After Tonight

(Radio)

Drama with Romance

A story of a woman spy given a dramatic romantic twist. The locale is the Austrian-Russian frontier, the time coinciding with the outbreak of the World War. The dialogue is counterbalanced by adequate action and unusual suspense maintains interest. Actual combat atmosphere is confined to a few suggestions of air raids, shots of marching troops and hospital scenes. The story is built about the mysteriously clever activities of the woman spy and the efforts of the Austrian Intelligence Corps to trap her. Rudi, chief of the spy-catching forces, is in love with Carla.

Constance Bennett is starred, but glamour, commonly associated with that personality, appears in only one romantic scene. Appeal, therefore, is to the Bennett fans, plus those who appreciate a straight dramatic story. Other than the romantic situation, which can easily be developed in a way to interest women patrons, there is little spectacular or exciting. Juveniles will find their curiosity stirred only by the methods of the spy in transmitting information.

The beginning of hostilities finds Rudi infatuated with Carla, whom he helps from Berlin to the Austrian Russian frontier. As she dis-

CLARA BOW in HOOPLA. With Preston Foster, Richard Cromwell, Herbert Mundin, James Gleason, Minna Gombell. Al Rockett Production. Directed by Frank Lloyd.
Released November 30th

SMOKY. WILL JAMES' novel read by a million. With Victor Jory, Irene Bentley, Will James. Released December 8th

I WAS A SPY. With Madeleine Carroll, Herbert Marshall, Conrad Veidt. Released December 15th

I AM SUZANNE! Starring LILIAN HARVEY with Gene Raymond, Leslie Banks, The Teatro dei Piccoli and The Yale Puppeteers. Jesse L. Lasky production. Directed by Roland V. Lee. Released December 22nd

WILL ROGERS as MR. SKITCH. With Zasu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson, Florence Desmond, Harry Green. Directed by James Cruze. Released December 29th

AS HUSBANDS GO. With WARNER BAXTER, Helen Vinson, Warner Oland, Catharine Doucet. From Rachel Crothers' stage smash. Jesse L. Lasky production.
Released January 5th

7 LIVES WERE CHANGED. With Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Herbert Mundin, Ralph Morgan.
Released January 12th

JANET GAYNOR, LEW AYRES, LIONEL BARRYMORE, HENRIETTA CROSMAN in THE HOUSE OF CONNELLY with Stepin Fetchit. From Paul Green's tremendous stage success. A Henry King production. Released January 19th

FRONTIER MARSHAL. With George O'Brien, Irene Bentley. From incidents in Stuart N. Lake's novel.
Released January 26th

FOX MOVIETONE FOLLIES. Janet Gaynor, Lilian Harvey, Warner Baxter, Lew Ayres, Spencer Tracy, James Dunn, Sally Eilers, Heather Angel, John Boles, Norman Foster, Victor Jory, Herbert Mundin, Preston Foster, Florence Desmond, Rochelle Hudson, Harvey Stephens, Sid Silvers, Mona Barrie, Miriam Jordan, Dixie Frances, Claire Trevor, Wini Shaw, Stepin Fetchit. Lew Brown production. Released February 2nd

WOMAN AND THE LAW. With Victor Jory, Claire Trevor, Howard Lally. Directed by Irving Cummings.
Released February 9th

ALL MEN ARE ENEMIES. Here, unquestionably is one of the year's great pictures. Richard Aldington's novel... best-seller on two continents. Imbued with every quality that makes for mighty box office. Al Rockett production.
Released February 16th

STRANGER IN THE NIGHT.* Victor Jory, Heather Angel, Miriam Jordan. Directed by Irving Cummings.
Released February 23rd

FOX* Tentative title

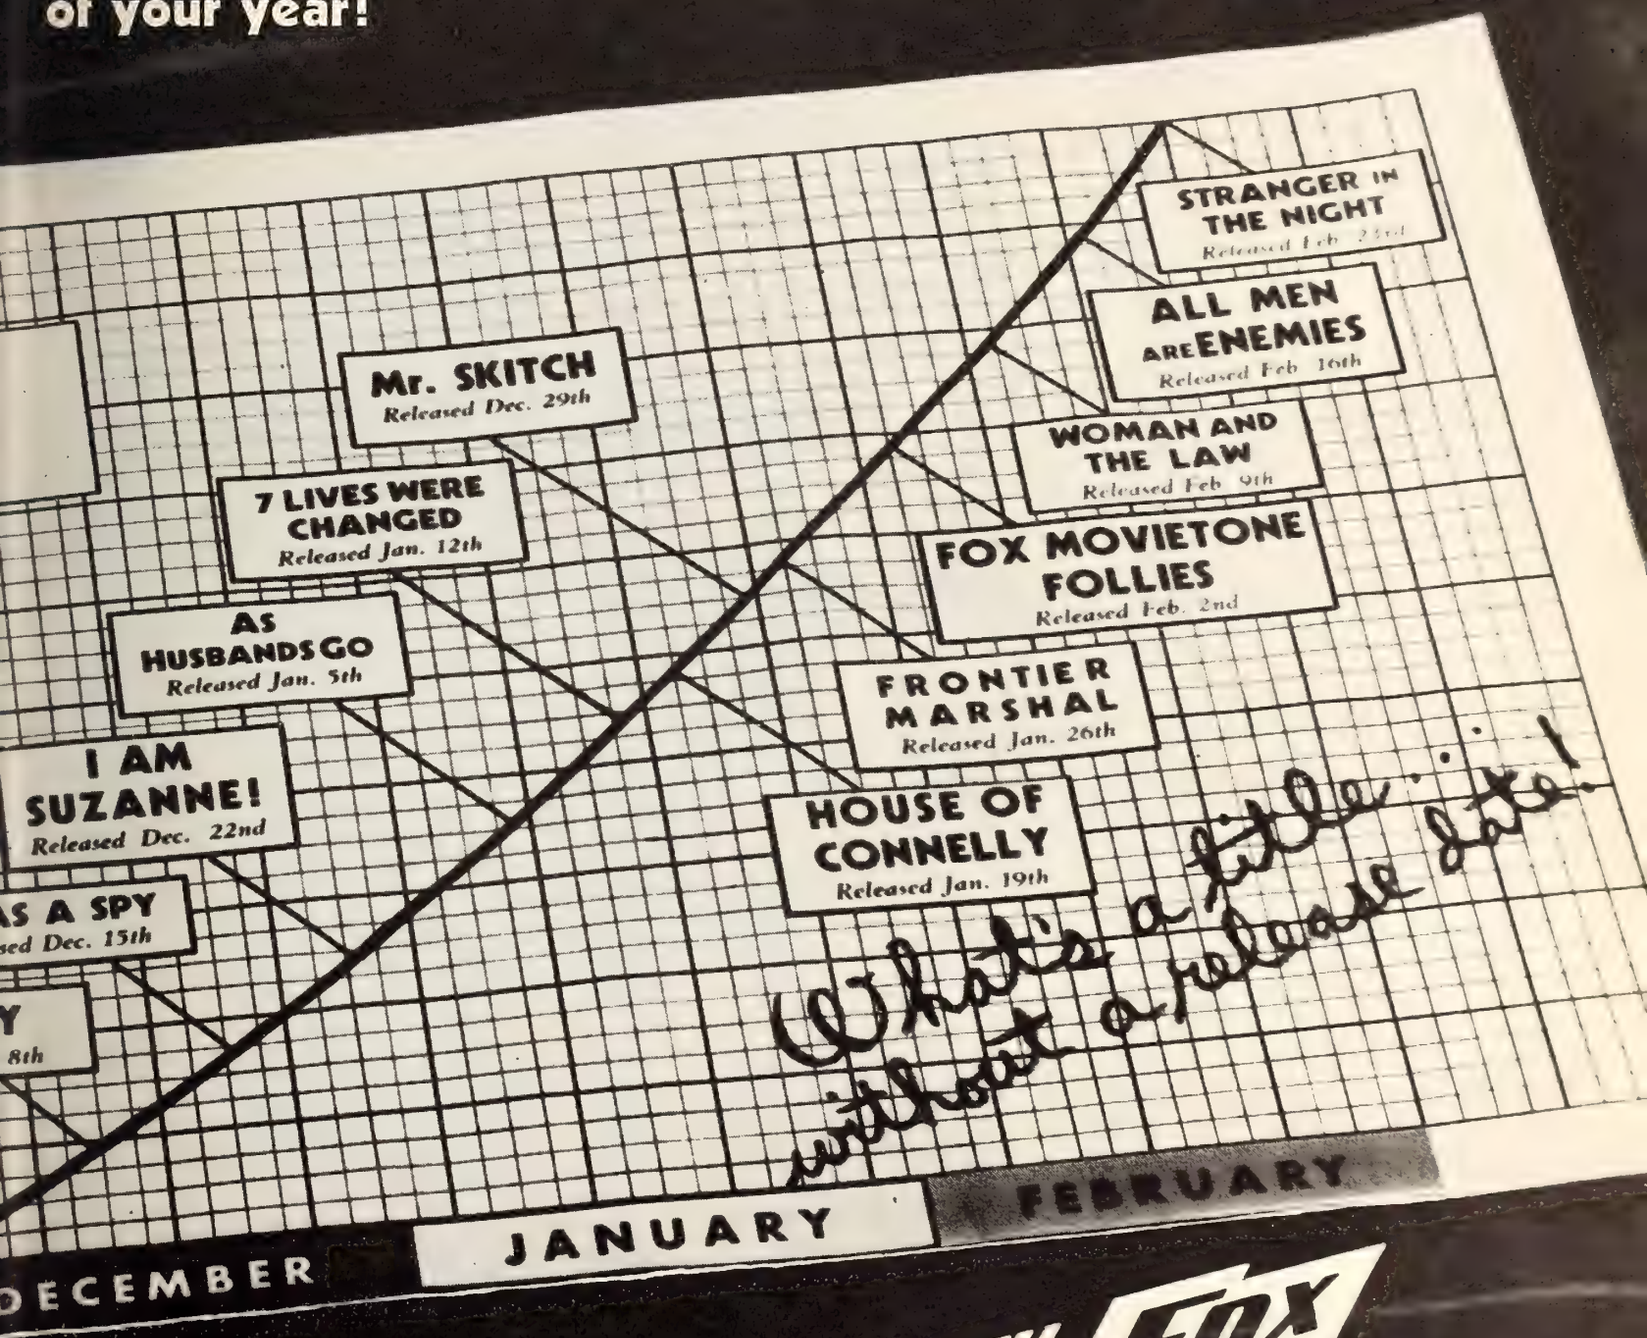
manpower presents...

Thirteen box office pictures . . . specially produced and dated for the three biggest months of your year!



JOIN THE UPSWING WITH FOX

appears from him, the picture goes into an exposition of how the girl, serving as a nurse in a hospital, procures and sends information to Russian headquarters. Too clever to be caught, her work devastating the Austrian efforts, Rudi is sent into the town which seems to be the center of spy activities, to break up the ring.

Again meeting the girl, romance grows again, with drama and suspense added as she gets her tips through, while encouraging Rudi to make love to her. Finally trapped, Rudi is unwilling to believe the girl has anything to do with aiding the enemy until a ruse tricks her into meeting him face to face as she turns information over to a plant. A shot that wounds Rudi permits Carla to escape and the picture jumps to after the Armistice, when the lovers meet again with no war to bar their way.

Obviously Miss Bennett is the outstanding showmanship asset. The title being irrelevant of story theme, publicity that features her and concentrates on accentuating the dramatic and romantic content looks to be the easiest way of selling the show. Much can be done to stimulate interest with the spy methods—secret codes ad hieroglyphics, invisible inks, lockets, etc.—which make possible the development of a teaser campaign.

Capitalize on the Bennett draw by anouncing her in a different role, one that gives her opportunity to prove her versatility. And it is almost mandatory to use the star name together with the romantic dramatic theme motif and suspense to the farthest extent possible.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Associate producer, H. N. Swanson. Directed by George Archainbaud. Screen play by Jane Murfin, Albert Shelby LeVine and Worthington Miner. From the story by Jane Murfin. Photographer, Charles Rosher. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase and Al Herman. Sound recorder, John L. Cass. Film editor, William Hamilton. Musical director, Max Steiner. Running time, 71 minutes. Release date, Nov. 17, 1933.

CAST

Carla ..... Constance Bennett
Rudi ..... Gilbert Roland
Colonel Lieber ..... Edward Ellis
Franz ..... Sam Godfrey
Lt. Erlich ..... Lucien Prival
Adjutant Lehar ..... Mischa Auer
Porbert ..... Ben Hendricks, Jr.
Private Muller ..... Leonid Snegoff
Frau Stengel ..... Evelyn Carter Carrington

Olsen's Big Moment

(Fox)

Farce Comedy

A surprise package, this farce comedy has plenty of laughs in action, dialogue and situations. It's a carnival of hectic mirth for the small town audience. Foolish gag and specialty funmaking with Brendel and Catlett hit the high spots. In many ways it's a throwback to the slam-bang entertainment of the early days. They take a gag and play it to the limit, getting every possible laugh before moving on to the next situation. Still there's a definite vein of continuity that holds the whole thing together. As family entertainment, it should more than fill the bill.

Olsen is the harassed janitor of an apartment hotel. His gag line is milked dry before the picture moves on to the next situation which introduces Brewster. A tipsy playboy, he calls on his bride and mother-in-law to be. What follows is ultra-screwy hilarity. Olsen and Brewster get together to visit a speakeasy. Brewster is talking with Virginia when her hoodlum brother, Monk, enters and decides that the playboy must marry his sister. But it develops that it must be a couple of other guys, for Danny, another thug, is the guy who is hot for Virgie. A pseudo-gangster atmosphere develops, complicated by the nutty gyrations of Harry, who really is in love with Jane, Brewster's intended. Then the story moves back to the hotel. Monk and Danny now are working together, planning to loot the Brewster wedding presents. More nonsensical gags follow: Brewster balances on a roof-edge, Olsen races up and down endless flights of stairs, finally winding up in a grand brawl wherein the crooks are captured; Jane and Harry are brought together, making love despite the terrific turmoil, and Olsen is promoted to the managership of the hostelry. Nobody seems to know what happens to Brewster.

Always the show is unadulterated harumscarum comedy. It makes no pretense at being anything else. The producers were smart enough to take advantage of the obvious situations that would generate laughter in both the handling of the players and technical treatment of the material. They've built a show for the masses; at the same time they've packed in showmanship which smart and alert showmen can capitalize upon to insure satisfied audiences. Handled in the spirit in which it was made, "Olsen's Big Moment" can stand on its own.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Directed by Malcolm St. Clair. Story by George Marshall. Screen play by Henry Johnson and James Tynan. Photography, L. S. O'Connell. Sound by Pat Costello. Settings by Lewis Creber. Gowns by Royer. Musical director, Samuel Kaylin.

CAST

Knute Olsen ..... El Brendel
Robert Brewster III ..... Walter Catlett
Jane Van Allen ..... Barbara Weeks
Virginia West ..... Susan Fleming
Harry Smith ..... John Arledge
Mrs. Van Allen ..... Maidel Turner
Joe "Monk" West ..... Edward Pawley
Danny Reynolds ..... Joseph Sauers

White Woman

(Paramount)

Melodrama

A gruesome, starkly melodramatic jungle terror yarn, "White Woman" is a show that presents selling problems. Premised on a sadist motif, a definite note of cruel realism prevailing, it tells the tale of a vicious madman river king of the jungle. Laughton's character is an emphasized follow-up on that established for him in "Devil and the Deep," "Island of Lost Souls" and "Sign of the Cross." In his style, he plays it for all it's worth, but because of the many occasions upon which his lines become practically unintelligible, it will be difficult for audiences to appreciate fully the class of his performance. Next to Laughton, Bickford, a characteristic tough mug, contributes something upon which you can build. The show is essentially for adults. Youngsters will find little in it to entertain or amuse them.

Here's the gist of the plot: Prin, ruthless czar of a vast rubber domain, holds his native tribesmen and renegade white aids in abject subjugation. Bringing the white woman, Judith, into his realm, he kindles the spark that eventually dynamites the whole set-up. She quickly learns the character of the man whose shelter she accepted in preference to the Hell in which she was living, but finds solace in the affections of Von Eltz. This marks Von Eltz as the next objective of Prin's insidious villainy. As suspense tightens, Ballister enters to rag, kid and deride the jungle Nero. Von Eltz is sent up the river to the death that Prin has planned for him. But the tribesmen rebel. As many die, Von Eltz makes his way back and with the jungle in turmoil, Ballister helps the lovers to make their escape to the coast.

Sticking along with Prin, Ballister continues his ragging, sitting in on a poker game with the tyrant until he is killed by a blow-pipe dart and Prin is the victim of scores of native spears.

Strong melodrama is the predominant value of "White Woman," the contrasting Judith-Von Eltz romance and the comedy contributed by Vaegi, who alone is the recipient of audience sympathy, is of little significance or entertainment value. The two character roles are the outstanding showmanship assets. Production values, however, are impressive. The atmosphere of the forbidding jungle presented on the screen materially accentuates the tone of the show.

Pictures of this type, usually difficult for women to enthuse about, always offer a problem. In this case, it may be possible to stimulate feminine interest by building up the Carole Lombard name with catchlines suggesting the idea that she stepped from one bitter life into another to find a terror that regenerated her soul and romance that brought her real love. Supporting this, use the names of Bickford and Laughton for all they mean. Don't duck the issue that the show is cruel melodrama. Get that knowledge over to your patrons in straightforward fashion.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Stuart Walker. Original story by Norman Reilly Raine and Frank Butler. Screen play by Samuel Hoffenstein and Gladys Lehman. Art director, Hans Dreier and Harry Oliver. Sound, Joseph Foohey. Photographed by Harry Fischbeck. Running time, 73 minutes. Release date, Nov. 10, 1933.

CAST

Judith Denning ..... Carole Lombard
Horace Prin ..... Charles Laughton
Ballister ..... Charles Bickford
David Von Eltz ..... Kent Taylor
Jakey ..... Percy Kilbride
Hambly ..... James Bell
Fenton ..... Charles B. Middleton
Chisholm ..... Claude King
Mrs. Chisholm ..... Ethel Griffies
Vaegi ..... Jimmie Dime
Connors ..... Marc Lawrence
Native Chief No. 1 ..... Noble Johnson
Native Chief No. 2 ..... Gregg Whitespear

Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men

(RKO Radio)

Comedy-Drama

A light touch of comedy, making for rather pleasant though unpretentious entertainment, is the best selling bet in Radio's "Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men," with the blondely attractive Wynne Gibson handling the title role of Aggie with smoothness and humor. It is nothing to be taken too seriously. The title offers opportunity for some lively copy along the lines, perhaps, of: "Aggie Makes Men, Then Makes Them Behave," and the like.

There is good marquee material in the cast. Besides Miss Gibson are Charles Farrell, William Gargan, as an affable roughneck; Zasu Pitts to heighten the comedy, and Betty Furness and Blanche Friderici in minor roles, both familiar names, as well.

With Gargan and Miss Gibson, two very much of a kind in their "slanguage" and manners, everything runs smoothly until, in one of his periodical fistic outbursts in the direction of the police department, Gargan is arrested, sentenced to jail. Miss Gibson, put out of their room for non-payment of rent, is secreted in the suite of a young man during his absence in search of a job, by Miss Gibson's maidfriend, Miss Pitts. Farrell, as a scholarly, timid, shell-rim-bespectacled type from the country, walks in and finds her, and she, after a time falling in love with him, proceeds to "make him over" in amusing fashion, strictly according to her own ideas of what a "man" should be like, which means a counterpart of Gargan. She even gives Farrell Gargan's name, Red Branahan, and finds him a job as laboring foreman. Farrell does his share by falling in love with his tutor in the fine art of hard language and harder fists, and forgets—almost—about the girl back home.

Everything comes to a sudden, punchy conclusion when Farrell's straight-laced aunt, Miss Friderici, and his fiancee, Miss Furness, who is a good sport, walk in, and Gargan walks out—of jail. Miss Gibson leaves, returns to Gargan, Farrell follows her, the two men mix it in a speakeasy, and Miss Gibson smothers her love, sends Farrell back to Miss Furness and continues where she left off with Gargan. The end, therefore, is just a little unexpected, and consequently better audience material than if it had been otherwise.

The exhibitor probably will get his best results by hitting the picture from the comedy angle, making the most of the roughneck, Gargan, dreaded by the cops, of Miss Gibson, who molds her men as she sees fit, to their own surprise, and of the consternation of Zasu Pitts. Farrell, in a different sort of role, is worth playing up. The youngsters may see it, but it won't mean much to them, outside of Gargan's fist-swinging. Somewhere in the midweek is as good a playing spot as any.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. A Pandro S. Berman production. Directed by Mark Sandrich. Adapted from a play by Joseph O. Kesselring. Adaptation by Humphrey Pearson and Edward Kaufman. Photographed by Roy Hunt. Film editor, Basil Wrangell. Recording engineer, Bert S. Hodges. Release date, November 10, 1933. Running time, 73 minutes.

CAST

Aggie Appleby ..... Wynne Gibson
Adoniram Schlump ..... Charles Farrell
Red Branahan ..... William Gargan
Sybby ..... Zasu Pitts
Evangeline ..... Betty Furness
Aunt Katharine ..... Blanche Friderici

I Spy

(British International)

Eilers-Lyons British Comedy

Here's a neatly turned comedy with snappy dialogue and natty situations. American audiences cannot complain that the talk is too durned English, for the stars are Sally Eilers and Ben Lyon, and between them they carry the bulk of the action.

The yarn is that Wally (Ben Lyon) gets into the wrong apartment following a heavy night and there, almost before his hangover has gone, he is picked up by a gang in mistake for Intelligence Agent N. B. G. Before he knows where he is, he is dispatched to Paris on a mission to contact Olga (Sally Eilers), a countess in the employ of a rival spy organization, and plant some phoney information upon her.

He figures he might as well plant a ring on her as well. The two are ready to quit spying for honest matrimony, when they are arrested and sentenced to face the firing squad. Their rescue brings to an end a delightfully funny comedy situation, and that's just how the London preview went along all through.

Supporting players include Henry Victor, H. F. Maltby, Harold Warrender and Andrews Englemann, who turn in good performances. Sally and Ben prove a likeable romantic team, and they both play in top form.—Charman London.

Produced by British International. Directed by Allan Dwan. Story by Fred Thompson. Scenario by Arthur Woods. Photography by James Wilson. Editor, Leslie Norman. Songs by Sidney Baynes and Joseph Gilbert. Length, 6,190 feet.

CAST

Wally ..... Ben Lyon
Olga ..... Sally Eilers
Taxi-driver ..... Harry Tate
Herr Doktor ..... H. F. Maltby
Agent N. B. G. ..... Harold Warrender
Agent M. N. T. ..... Dennis Hoey
Agent K. P. O. ..... Henry Victor
Commanding officer ..... Andrews Englemann

The Wandering Jew

(JAFA)

Drama

Definitely and almost exclusively for Jewish audiences, despite superimposed subtitles in English which make for ready understanding on the part of anyone unfamiliar with the Jewish dialogue, this film is definitely of the nature of propaganda aimed intensely at the current anti-Semitic activity carried on by the Hitler government in Germany.

As such, in theatres which may count upon a reasonably large Jewish attendance, the exhibitor has something to sell here. The newspaper headlines of the day are the picture's selling asset. Woven through the story, thrown against a background of the German situation, is recounted, in a series of sharp pictures, the fate of the Jews in history, from a distant yesterday told in legend and the Bible, to a poignant today.

The exhibitor, insofar as cast is concerned, has the predominant name of famed Jacob Ben-Ami to sell to his Jewish patronage. Ben-Ami is generally considered one of the most capable Jewish players of the day, and his name is well known. In support are Ben Adler as the German, Natalie Browning, and Jacob Mestel, who wrote and adapted the film's story, and plays Ben-Ami's servant.

As the Jewish artist of Berlin, Ben-Ami offers a feeling, strong portrayal. His fiancee, Miss Browning, is of Aryan blood. He has painted his masterpiece, the figure of a wandering Jew, symbolizing the tribulations of his people. When the Hitlerian edicts come into force, his painting is refused at the Academy, his professorship of art there taken from him. These scenes are interspersed with stock newsreel shots of war, storm troops parading, the burning of Jewish books in Berlin bonfires. As he is about to destroy his work, the figure on the canvas takes form, and recounts the story of persecutions in Biblical times, during the Spanish Inquisition, in Russia, a story which is pictured on the screen as he speaks. Ben-Ami loses his fiancee, his post, virtually everything he treasured, but the figure, and his elderly servant, bid him have hope and faith, pointing to the previous persecutions, storms which his people weathered, from each of which they emerged with a promise of better things.

The picture, from the standpoint of photography and recording in general, does not offer all that it might, but its definite though necessarily circumscribed appeal is something on which the exhibitor may well capitalize. In those sections the exhibitor, through contact with various Jewish societies and organizations, should find the playing of this film worthwhile.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Jewish-American Film Art, Inc. Directed by George Roland. Story, adaptation and dialogue by Jacob Mestel. Photographed by Frank Zukor and Bergi Contner. Musical director, I. J. Hochman. Release date, October 20, 1933. Running time, 90 minutes.

CAST

Arthur Levi ..... Jacob Ben-Ami
Gertrude ..... Natalie Browning
The Wanderer ..... M. B. Samuylow
Paul Von Eisenon ..... Ben Adler
The Servant ..... Jacob Mestel
The Reporter ..... Abraham Teitel baum

This Week of Grace

(Radio)

England's Heroine Again

In cold figures Gracie Fields, England's warbling mimic, has proved the safest box office bet in every theatre irrespective of clientele. This is her third film and must follow and live down a singularly disappointing second. Nothing can stop them packing in. As a stage personality in U. S. A. this matchless entertainer suffered the effects of an unfortunate build up. As screen material she seems to offer a good deal of opportunity for enterprising showmen.

This picture is easily the best she has done, and provides the perfect vehicle for the style of comedy which she has patented. It's a funny story of a working girl who, through the eccentricity of an aged duchess, is placed in sole charge of a large country mansion and estate. To this place she takes her lowly friends, there to mix with the high hatters. From this place she goes later, taking the young scion of the house as her husband. But she refuses to live with him until he recognizes the dignity of labor. The unaffected charm of this mill girl wins over the stiff necked nobility; her songs and sallies force them to swallow their dignity; her hard work retrieves their decaying estates and fortunes.

All the way through there are grand logical opportunities for introduction of Gracie Fields' songs. Some of the best and cheeriest numbers are included and there's plenty to please the small town fans.

Julius Hagen of Twickenham Films produced this picture for Radio and, apparently with an eye on U. S. A., he minimized the dialectic and idiomatic features which usually characterize this artist's work. In the process he has lost nothing and the scope of appeal is definitely widened to embrace American audiences.

There is some fine comedy team work from Frank Pettingell and Douglas Wakefield (the latter now in Hollywood for Roach comedies). John Stuart and Henry Kendall as male leads put over good performances.—CHARMAN, London.

Produced by Julius Hagen. Distributed by Radio Pictures. Directed by Maurice Elvey. Running time, 92 minutes. Story by Nell Emerald and Maurice Braddell. Scenario by H. Fowler Mear. Songs written by Harry Parr Davies. Musical direction by Percival Mackay.

CAST:

Gracie Milroy ..... Gracie Field
Lord Swinford ..... Henry Kendall
Henry Baring ..... John Stuart
Lady Warmington ..... Helen Haye
Mr. Milroy ..... Frank Pettingell
Mrs. Milroy ..... Minnie Raynor
Joe Milroy ..... Douglas Wakefield

Prince of Arcadia

(Nettlefold-Fogwell)

Romance

The Prince of Arcadia was a lady killer. Carl Brisson, Danish star of several British films (silent and sound), is a lady killer: the fairer fans will not let him sleep o' nights. Perhaps this explains why the women at the London perview went crazy about this picture. True, the Prince lost his throne, but he found love in the end, even though he had to steal the latchkey thrown from the upstairs flat for someone else. He got there first and, because it rained, he stayed there. Distinctly naughty conduct, but that's no drawback, and there are naughty Princes as history, ancient and modern, can teach us.

This Prince did an awful lot of parading: he liked the looks of Mr. Carl Brisson, and the two got so close together all through the picture that the Prince was Carl, and Carl was the Prince.

Photography and settings are tip top, and for all its saccahrine, it has enough likeable development and enough jolly song to put it right over with the romantic crowd. It is the first output of a new collaboration between two British film veterans, Archibald Nettlefold and Reginald Fogwell, and it promises a lot.—Charman, London.

Produced by Nettlefold-Fogwell, distributed by Gaumont-British. (Not fixed in U. S. A.). From musical comedy of Walter Reisch. Adaptation by Reginald Fogwell. Directed by Hans Schwartz. Photoplay by Geoffrey Faithfull. Recorded on R. C. A. by Michael Rose. Running time, 80 minutes.

CAST:

Prince of Arcadia ..... Carl Brisson
Mirana ..... Margot Grahame
Princess ..... Ida Lupino
Queen ..... Annie Esmond
Equerry ..... Peter Gawthorne

The Ghoul

(Gaumont-British)

Karloff's British Shocker

Boris (Frankenstein) Karloff, in this his first English-made shocker, establishes his claim to the discarded laurels of Chaney, for if Hollywood cannot show us a greater master of grotesque makeup, assuredly England cannot.

"The Ghoul" reminds one a little of his "Frankie" and again a little of his "Mummy." It is a pretty gruesome business which should hit the spots where his previous thrillers made good.

Karloff shows us something as a mad Egyptologist who on his death bed forces his servant to tie in his hand the priceless gem which will buy him eternal life. Later he rises and walks from the tomb, aroused from his peace because the gem has been stolen. There are some blood curdling moments as he silently stalks the various member of his family and still more when, following him back to the tomb, some of the party get themselves buried alive! The entire story is worked out on fantastic lines, although a logical explanation of resurrection is supplied by a doctor's diagnosis of catalepsy. There is very little apparent attempt to convince, however, insistence being laid upon shock values. Measured by this standard one accepts it as a good effort.

There are technical points worthy of study: a realistic London fog has been produced for

UNIVERSAL'S

The Lineup That Has The

ONLY YESTERDAY
A JOHN M. STAHL PRODUCTION

•

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS

•

CHARLES G. NORRIS'
ZEST
DIRECTED BY LOWELL SHERMAN

•

THE MAN WHO RECLAIMED HIS HEAD

•

FANNIE HURST'S
IMITATION OF LIFE

•

MYRT & MARGE
Featuring Radio's Riotous Funsters

BY CANDLELIGHT
PAUL LUKAS ELISSA LANDI
NILS ASTHER

•

THE GREAT ZIEGFELD

•

THE GOOD RED BRICKS
DIRECTED BY HARRY POLLARD

•

VICKI BAUM'S
I GIVE MY LOVE

•

BOMBAY MAIL
Featuring Edmund Lowe
(also one other Lowe Production)

•

EDNA FERBER'S
GLAMOUR

NEW DEAL!

Whole Industry Talking!

4 SLIM SUMMERVILLE — ZASU PITTS PRODUCTIONS

•

CHESTER MORRIS — HELEN TWELVETREES

KING FOR A NIGHT

•

WILLIAM ANTHONY McGUIRE'S

WHEN THE TIME COMES

•

LEW AYRES in

CROSS-COUNTRY CRUISE

(also another AYRES Production)

•

ONE GLAMOROUS NIGHT

S. O. S. ICEBERG

•

THE POOR RICH

EDNA MAY OLIVER — EDWARD EVERETT HORTON — ANDY DEVINE

•

MADAME SPY

FAY WRAY — NILS ASTHER

•

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR

•

ELMER RICE'S

THE LEFT BANK

•

SLIM SUMMERVILLE — ANDY DEVINE

HORSE PLAY

•

RIGADOON

•

BELOVED

GLORIA STUART — JOHN BOLES

•

Watch Universal Weekly For Further Pictures on the 1933-34 Lineup.

the first time on the screen, and Hollywood may like to "file it." Capital photography and sets augment lavish dressing; there is money in the picture and money should come out of its showing.

Supplementing Karloff's fine characterization, some first rate acting comes from Cedric Hardwicke as a rapacious lawyer; Ernest Thesiger as an economical-minded servant who really stole the jewel, and by Anthony Bushell as the young heir and hero. Get out the old skulls and cross bones when you play this one. It is that kind of thing.—Charman, London.

Produced and distributed by Gaumont-British. Directed by T. Hayes Hunter. Play by Dr. Frank King and Leonard Hines. Adaptation by Roland Pertwee and John Hastings Turner. Photoplay by Gunter Krampf. Running time, 85 minutes. Recorded by British Acoustic system, R. Birch recording.

CAST:

Professor Morlant ..... Boris Karloff
Broughton ..... Cedric Hardwicke
Laing, the servant ..... Ernest Thesiger
Betty Harlow ..... Dorothy Hyson
Ralph Morlant ..... Anthony Bushell
Kaney ..... Kathleen Harrison
Aga Ben Dragore ..... Harold Huth
Mahmoud ..... D. A. Clarke Smith

Russia Today

(Carveth Wells)

Pictorial Record

Mr. Carveth Wells, explorer and lecturer, with Mrs. Wells, spent months in Russia, camera-laden, following not the beaten path of the tourist and political visitor, but his own way, striking through the heart of Russia, from Leningrad in the north to the Turkish border and Mount Ararat in the south and Armenia. Many thousands of feet of film were taken, but the vast majority was destroyed by the Russian Soviet powers that be, Mr. Wells indicated. What is left forms a short subject of considerable footage, replete with unpleasant but interesting pictures of the commonalty of the Soviet "experiment." Mr. Wells renders personally, after a brief introductory word from the screen, a biting, heavily sarcastic word picture in accompaniment, often sparkling with a keen humor and for the most part including vocal description which the government of Russia could not censor, as it did the pictorial. The material is fairly well put together, not necessarily entertainment in the accepted sense, but of definite interest. Mr. Wells plans to sell the picture himself, directly to theatres. With the current approach of resumed diplomatic relations between the United States and Soviet governments, and the consequent widespread newspaper headlines, the subject becomes worthwhile selling material for the theatre.—Running time, 42 minutes.—Aaronson, New York.

Strange As It Seems

(Universal)

Novel

While there might be grounds for debate as to whether shots of the duck-billed platypus, the three-eyed lizard, flying dogs, cobras and tarantulas constitute entertainment in a literal sense, the ayes should have it, from the manner in which John Hix presents this No. 33 of the series. Nor is it entirely of creeping subjects—there's also the armless chap who flings knives with his toes at a young lady who doesn't seem to relish her job 100 per cent.—Running time, 9 minutes.

Murder at the Bridge Table

(RKO Radio)

For Bridge Fans

An initial thought on this, the first of the KO Radio series of bridge shorts featuring the expert, Ely Culbertson, would indicate that there is rather too much story and not enough Culbertson. Only after a foursome of bridge results in a violent quarrel and the murder of the husband by the browbeaten wife, followed by the trial in court does Mr. Culbertson put in an appearance. It is to be assumed that this series is designed for the country's "bridgers," of which there are undoubtedly millions, and that they are interested primarily in Culbertson. In court he gives a clear explanation of the game which resulted in the murder. It is interesting material, should be very much worth selling to bridge players everywhere, but could do with more of the expert.—Running time, 21 minutes.

Admission 5c

(Vitaphone)

Fair

A conglomeration of old stock film shots, this subject slightly misses fire. It opens with pictures of a circus of an earlier day, with its one ring and heavily dressed chorus girls, the bareback rider who is swathed in clothes. Then into one of the melodramas of yesterday's immature cinema. The whole subject has the usual accompaniment of off-stage monologue, meant to be humorous, and occasionally succeeding in a fair measure. On the whole, only a fair subject.—Running time, 18 minutes.

Screen Souvenirs

(Paramount)

Amusing

The average audience of today does not fail to find a few laughs in these conglomerations of motion pictures of an earlier day. This, Number 3 of the series, is no exception, with its shots from an ancient serial, taken from the classic "Perils of Pauline" series, in which Pearl White starred for so long. In addition, an example of the chorus boys and girls of yesterday's matinee show how it was done when the "rat" was popular with the women and dresses cleaned the streets. The accompanying monologue is occasionally amusing.—Running time, 10 minutes.

How D'Ya Like That?

(Vitaphone)

Fair

Charles Judels and George Givot, who has made reasonably popular, via the air, the expression which is the title of this comedy, contrive to inject a certain amount of humor, of a not too subtle sort, into this subject. The two, as sailors, attempt to smuggle a valise full of liquor ashore, and finally succeed, only to become involved with a vaudeville performer and her partner. They go into the act, ludicrously. There are a few laughs, and the radio popularity of Givot may be salable.—Running time, 18 minutes.

Open Sesame

(Universal)

Starts Splendidly

Henry Armetta and Franklyn Pangborn get a wealth of fun into the first half of this Warren Doane comedy, but the story runs into the stonewall of the familiar escaped lunatics theme and the two can't do much more. Pangborn is trying to sell Dorothy Christy a country estate for her husband, Armetta. Fred Kelsey, private detective, thinks Pangborn is picking out a love nest for her. When Pangborn decides Armetta is insane and Armetta decides Pangborn intends to murder him, there's some good comedy for a time. Two rampant lunatics in the house precipitate the usual chases and collisions.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Flirting in the Park

(RKO Radio)

Fair Comedy

Not unusual, there is nevertheless a fairly amusing situation in this number. The red-headed telephone girl gives her blonde friend a few pointers in the art of "It," and the blonde tries it, without much success. A blind date which the red-head makes turns out to be rather unfortunate, with the result almost of the slapstick variety in the park, its lake and very much in the water. June Brewster and Eddie Nugent have much to do with it. Only fair as comedies go today.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Steeplechase

(United Artists)

Amusing

Amusing and lively is this latest of the Mickey Mouse antics, as devised by Walt Disney and staff. Herein Mickey, the jockey, is all set to win the big race and save the colonel's money, when he discovers the horse to have achieved a jag—and what a jag. With the two stable boys for a horse, he goes out to win, in entertaining animated fashion.—Running time, 7 minutes.

The Audition

(Vitaphone)

Fair

Supposed to be a radio audition, this number of the musical series from Warner does not match the standards of many which have gone before. The highlight is the rendition of a popular number by the lively and gesticulating Hannah Williams, who does an appealing job of her song, especially for those who like her, or her type of singing. Phil Emerton's band does the music, and in a pseudo levee setting two tapping steppers make the dust fly. A fair subject only, with not too much entertainment.—Running time, 20 minutes.

She Done Him Right

(Universal)

Fair Cartoon

The Mintz drawing board goes into action with Pooch plastering posters about animal town announcing Poodles as the beer garden star entertainer. Through various convolutions and revolutions that call out of the penpoint many and divers characters, Pooch finally has an opportunity to rescue Poodles from the villain, after a collision with a train in a tunnel. The interest possibilities lie chiefly in the variety of cartoon characters.—Running time, 7 minutes.

The Kick-Off

(Principal)

Football Fan Interest

The audience for this short subject is obviously to be made up of the fans of football, and this is the season. Boys and most of the masculine variety of the populace should find it of interest. With Howard Jones, noted coach of the University of Southern California, describing what goes on and introducing various of the better known coaches of the country, plays are run through, in regular and slow motion, indicating various offensive and defensive maneuvers. Some of the popular training methods of the day are pictured, with appropriate explanation, and several shots hold a thrill as the camera is trained on a few big games. Interesting of its type, and should have appeal in this particular season.—Running time, 27 minutes.

On the Air and Off

(Universal)

Diverting

Farce comedy is welded neatly with entertainment from leading radio talent in this Mentone production. When the sales manager of the soap manufacturer decides upon a microphone campaign, a member of the board tunes in upon various programs, and hears Nick Lucas, Hizi Koyke, Leon Belasco, Adelaide Hall, Eddie Garr, Bovord Sisters and Murray, Sam Liebert, Lord Oliver Wakefield, and Kelvin Keech.—Running time, 19 minutes.

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

AN OPEN LETTER TO EXHIBITORS—HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE

Dear Boys:

How would you like to wake up some morning and find that you were totally blind in one eye? Well, that's what happened to us down at Salina, Kansas, recently, when we were on our way to Oklahoma and Texas. We couldn't see an electric light six inches from our face. A doctor told us that we had had a hemorrhage and that we had a blood pressure of 220 and that the thing for us to do was to head for home and go to bed and call a doctor and get our blood pressure reduced. So that's that and here we are.

Our eye has improved so we can see a little out of it but we are trying to write this colyum against the doctor's orders, for he says our place is in bed. He also says that we will not be able to go back on the road for at least two months and probably longer. That's comforting, isn't it?

Did you ever lie on your back for a week and count the flowers in the wallpaper? Interesting occupation, isn't it? That's what we have been doing; and now listen here, you guys, we have been writing to and for you in this colyum every week for ten years and it occurs to us that it's about your turn to do a little writing, and we have been wondering if we have any friends left in this business, and if we have, the best way for you to prove it is to drop us a line to take our mind off the flowers in this wallpaper.

We know of nothing that would cheer us up like a letter from you guys and the more we receive the better it will please us, even though you tell us to go jump in the lake, which we won't do.

We won't be able to answer your letters, because we will be lucky if we can sneak time off from the bed long enough to pound out a short colyum for the HERALD, but your letters will be none the less appreciated. Remember, our address is Neligh, Nebraska, U. S. A., but it won't be necessary to put the "U. S. A." on it, for everybody knows where Neligh is. Time will tell how many friends, if any, we have left.

▽

Starts with Fall of Babylon

Have you read the new code? We always supposed that the Uniform Contract was the longest document ever written, but this new code makes that instrument look like a piece of blotting paper. It starts with the fall of Babylon and winds up with "She Done Him Wrong." It covers everything in the motion picture business except the motion picture business. It provides a wage scale for the gate keeper, the wardrobe woman and the powder monkey, but it doesn't make any provisions for the guy who draws a salary of $125,000 and a bonus of $650,000. He is left out on a limb with no mother to guide him and it isn't fair. There should have been some provision made for him.

We'll betcha that the man who wrote that code was never far enough away from Broadway but what he could walk back, and that he doesn't know there are any theatres outside of Manhattan.

We are very fond of codes. What we need is more of 'em. There should be a blacksmiths' code, a dog fancier's code and a gumchewer's code. Where would Will Rogers be without a gum-chewer's code? Jevver think of that?

There used to be a code that was supposed to cover all lines of business and it read something like this: "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you," but that code became obsolete. Give us plenty of codes and the country is safe. Maybe it's our high blood pressure that makes us rave this way.

▽

One Colonel to Another

James Cunningham says in the HERALD that the Governor-General of Puerto Rico has commissioned Colvin Brown a Colonel on his staff.

If this thing keeps up the whole HERALD staff will be Colonels and then there won't be any buck privates to do the chores, and then what will become of us. Well, anyhow, Colonel Jenkins sends his compliments to Colonel Brown and trusts that he will never be A.W.O.L.

▽

Our daughter has a dog that is chock full of barks and she has to let him out every few minutes so he can get the barks all out of him.

▽

The doctor will be here pretty soon and we better be in bed or he will make a fuss about it, so Ernie you can go ahead and fill this colyum with whatever you please, for you can't make it any worse.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

WORST SEASON FOR LEGITIMATE

The legitimate theatre in this country, as exemplified by stage activities in the New York area, concluded one of the worst seasons of all time a few weeks ago. Eighty-two per cent of the total number of new productions were failures.

Facts about the New York theatrical season of 1932-33 have been compiled for the Billboard "Index of the New York Legitimate Stage," as follows:

Number of theatres used—57, as against 63 in 1931-32.
Total seating capacity—59,930, or 4,000 less than 1931-32.
Total number of productions—212, or 13 less than 1931-32.
Type of plays presented—dramatic, 180; repertory or stock revivals, 63; musical repertory productions, 6; musicals, 26.
Estimated percentage of failures—82%.
Average length of run—59 to 60 engagements (computed exclusive of repertory and limited engagements); average length run of dramatic shows, about 50; average length run of musicals, 107.
Number of hits—30, of which 22 were dramatic, 8 were musical.
Number of people involved—4,110 chorus people, 3,462 players.
Number of production offices involved—147, or 6 less than 1931-32.
Busiest producers — The Irish Repertory group, with 18 plays; Shakesperian company had 15, and Lee and Leventhal, 11 revivals.
Most prolific playwright—Shakespeare had 15 plays produced.
Most prolific librettist—the late W. S. Gilbert had 5 shows presented.
Most prolific composer—Harold Arlen wrote music for five shows.
Most prolific lyric writer—E. Y. Harburg did lyrics for 4 shows.
Most prolific sketch writer—Jack McGowan had sketches in 2 shows.
Busiest stage director—Percival Vivian, of the Shakesperian company, took top honors with 15 shows.
Busiest dance director — Albertina Rasch, with dances in 4 shows.
Busiest scenic executer—Cleon Throckmorton, Inc., with 19 shows.
Theatre with most shows—Bijou, on 45th Street, with 9 shows.

Television Pencil and "Sky-Train" Boost Film

A "sky-train," Sinclair Oil Company concoction consisting of a new transport plane, or "locomotive," and three gliders, or "passenger cars," was a ballyhoo Wednesday night for the opening of "The World Changes," Warner-First National picture, at the Hollywood theatre on Broadway.

Another turn of exploitation had Paul Muni, star, seated in a radio studio on the Coast with a "television pencil" and sending a message to J. L. Warner, vice-president in charge of production, who was in New York for the premiere. A screen was installed in the theatre lobby to "receive" the message, written on an electric pad with the "television pencil" or electric steplas of the cathodaugraph, an apparatus which converts light waves to electric impulses, as the publicity office described it.

New Riverside Theatre Opened at Jacksonville

The Riverside theatre, seating 1,000 and equipped with a legitimate stage and Motiograph DeLuxe sound apparatus, has been opened at Jacksonville, Fla., with M. C. Moore as general manager of the theatre corporation. N. G. Wade Investment Company is the owner of the property and controls the theatre company. Mr. Moore, an exhibitor for years, has owned and operated numerous theatres in the state, several of which are still in operation, among them the Arcade at Kissimmee.

The Most Glorious Love

"Man's Castle"

A FRANK BORZAGE Production

with

SPENCER TRACY
LORETTA YOUNG

Glenda Farrell • Arthur Hohl • Walter Connolly
Marjorie Rambeau • Dickie Moore

From the play by Lawrence Hazard
Screen play by Jo Swerling

A Columbia PICTURE

ANOTHER SCREEN CLASSIC

Story Since "7th Heaven"!

"'MAN'S CASTLE' IS GREAT"

"A gorgeously told, poignantly human Borzage romance, 'Man's Castle' is closer to 'Seventh Heaven' than anything the director has done since. Loretta Young's Trina stands alone above anything she has ever done. Tracy, Loretta Young and Borzage ought to spell busy box-offices for any showman. Plus a picture that can play on the public's heartstrings as the public likes to have its heartstrings touched, in any age."

Hollywood Reporter

"Deft direction . . . . delightful humor . . . . stirring pathos."

Photoplay Magazine

"A tender beautiful film in the 'Seventh Heaven' mood. Spencer Tracy projects a great heart-warming portrait. Loretta Young gives her best performance to date. Frank Borzage's direction hits the heart. It is a fine production and fine entertainment."

Motion Picture Daily

COLUMBIA PICTURES

FOLLOWS "LADY FOR A DAY"

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me
MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Allied

DUDE BANDIT, THE: Hoot Gibson—A very good western. Lots of action. Pleased a Saturday crowd. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

Columbia

BITTER TEA OF GENERAL YEN: Barbara Stanwyck, Nils Asther—Poor recording in spots but it will get by. Good story and is certainly different. We had a poor print on this.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard, Gene Raymond—Don't let anyone fool you on this one. We managed to sit through the show but had we paid to see the show someone would have had to give our money back. Nothing to it. No good excuse for producing it. Why do they release such "rubbish." If you know your Bermudas, say no thank you or don't care for some.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

CHILD OF MANHATTAN: Nancy Carroll, John Boles—Good picture and will pass O. K. regardless of what they say it is. Fair and should be played.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

COCKTAIL HOUR: Bebe Daniels, Randolph Scott, Sidney Blackmer—A splendid program picture. This star always good in any picture. Story entertaining. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

DANGEROUS CROSSROADS: Chic Sale, Diane Sinclair—Just the type of a picture for Friday and Saturday. They all liked it and it did quite well at the box office. Running time, 62 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

PAROLE GIRL: Mae Clarke, Ralph Bellamy—Very good picture. Much to hold interest. Will please all classes of the trade. Just enough of everything to make it a corking good picture.—Ned Pedigo, De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

SOLDIERS OF THE STORM: Regis Toomey, Anita Page—Good Saturday or family night picture. Plenty of action. A little comedy and romance. Played October 3-4.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WHIRLWIND, THE: Tim McCoy—A good outdoor picture that is different. Western atmosphere and players. Played October 7.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt, Genevieve Tobin—Good picture with a good story suited for Holt. Running time, 73 minutes..—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

First National

GOODBYE AGAIN: Warren William, Joan Blondell—Not for Sunday or family nights, rather suggestive. Some good comedy, not much draw, poor gross here.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

HEROES FOR SALE: Richard Barthelmess, Loretta Young—A mighty good program picture. Good story and well acted. Gave good satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

HEROES FOR SALE: Richard Barthelmess, Loretta Young—This is a wonderful production that would be a wow with a happy ending but after hearing nothing but depression for three years not many want to see it on the screen. Barthelmess gives his usual excellent performance, while Aline MacMahon and Loretta Young are always good but the story is too sad to go over as it should. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 7-8.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

LILLY TURNER: Ruth Chatterton—A splendid picture and pleased all we got to see it. The best pictures are not the ones that draw any more. Hokum and lots of it is what they will come to see.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—This one is simply as fine a picture as can be expected, and this star Robinson—I do not think there is a star playing in pictures today that will class up with him. Running time, 75 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

SHE HAD TO SAY YES: Loretta Young, Lyle Talbot—It is a big hit for all the folks you can get in to see it, especially the female class.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

Fox

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Garat—Personally I thought the picture exceptional, but I believe it will get over in the cities better than in the sticks. Some went out of their way to say it was fine, while others did not like it and said so. Pleased 80 per cent. Played October 6-7.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Garat—A beautiful picture and the best music we have had in any picture to date. Story nothing to it, but they made a good entertainment out of it with the stars. Good acting and a good cast, fine settings and lighting. Did not draw as it should, but none of them do. Played October 8-9.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Garat—Gave the usual satisfaction to the Gaynor fans. Not so much could be said in praise of the leading man. Played September 27-28.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon, Buddy Rogers—While this does not come under the head of big specials, it has more real entertainment than most specials have. It is a story that has been done before—parents who are at odds, whose children fall in love. Joseph Cawthorne's spluttering and exploding the English language is better than ever before. Lots of laughs and a catchy tune or two and good all around entertainment. Business above average.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

CALL HER SAVAGE: Clara Bow—If I had written this report immediately after the preview I would have given this production a very different report. I did not like this show but 99 per cent of my patrons did and the box office is what talks. Clara gives a very good performance and I will join my patrons in rating this an excellent show. Running time, 84 minutes. Played October 4-5.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

CAVALCADE: Diana Wynyard—Another one of those pictures that is no good for a small town. The recording was poor. Why do the producers and distributors force us small town exhibitors to play pictures of this type. Running time, 100 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

CHANDU THE MAGICIAN: Edmund Lowe—Good picture of its kind. Played this on Friday-Saturday and it went over good. Running time, 80 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers, Marian Nixon—More power to Fox manpower. A superb production with the one and only Will Rogers. This type of picture with the cast will bring them anywhere. Grossed an average of $10.00 per day more than "State Fair." Close booking made advance exploitation impossible, so you can bet that it is a natural B. O. and I am still looking for one customer that wasn't pleased. Played September 24-26.—R. P. Seidl, Pierce Theatre, Pierce, Neb. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—At last Fox has come through with an audience picture. This is clever and different. Some good music, three good songs and Lilian Harvey. This gal has everything. She is versatile and has a flair for comedy, cute as a button and she is going to make some of these other stars step, if she gets the breaks. Did the audience go for her; I'll say they did. The girl is clever and she had to be to carry this story. It would be well when advertising this picture to stress that she is a new star and her first picture and they will not be disappointed.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Well, it's about all you need to make money and please. Business good.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

SAILOR'S LUCK: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—A good picture. Recording O. K. It was liked and fair business.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

TOO BUSY TO WORK: Will Rogers—An old one, but Rogers will draw. Good business. Recording very poor, especially the voice of Rogers. Should not be passed up. Will get you business.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

MGM

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—They call this another language but I call it another mother-in-law picture which did not draw the second night at all. It's all wet. No good, and no mother-in-law was ever like this one. Running time, 79 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery—This one was liked. It is smart and clever, with Helen Hayes again scoring as the great actress that she is. The title did not mean much and it needs explaining that the family that Helen Hayes married into did not speak her language and that is what the picture is built around. This one had in it the late Louise Closser Hale, and what a trouper she proved to be in her short career.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage

BARBARIAN, THE: Ramon Novarro, Myrna Loy —This picture gave about a 50-50 satisfaction. Both stars have done better things. The rough stuff just a little too rough to give general satisfaction. They have gotten sick of this real rough hokum and our patrons don't like it and won't come to see it, and that is what is the matter with the business. Clean pictures will still draw.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Madge Evans, Otto Kruger, Una Merkel, Phillips Holmes—Three gold diggers on the make, beauty their profession, men at night. Well directed, with Evans and Merkel standing out, fine in their roles, but the picture did not hold up over the run. There was too much dialogue, and really a high brow picture if there is such a thing. They will like it but the masses will figure it as just another picture. Flopped the second night bad.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

DEVIL'S BROTHER, THE: Laurel and Hardy, Dennis King—A good picture. Good recording and will be liked. By all means play it. I cannot see how any one can say, after seeing this, that it is not a good show. You had better put this in where you are doubtful about one of the new ones. It will please.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

EMMA: Marie Dressler—Very good picture but lost money for us. I realize it is old, but there is no reason why it should not have grossed expenses. Running time, 72 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery, Jimmy Durante, Robert Young, Walter Huston, Madge Evans —A splendid production that pleased 95 per cent. Plenty of action in this one, with Robert Montgomery at his best. Huston and Madge Evans are fine in their parts while Jimmy Durante furnishes plenty of laughs. This has entertainment plus, while the submarine views are very interesting to Middle West audiences, many of whom never saw a big ship. Running time, 105 minutes. Played September 30-October 1.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery, Jimmy Durante, Robert Young, Walter Huston, Madge Evans—Fine. It is a money maker and do you need that, brothers, now. Play "Hell Below." It gets the money. Good recording. A he man's picture. Never mind the age.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—A very good picture. Both stars fine. Entertaining story. Gave good satisfaction. Played October 1-2. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez—I called this a pretty good program picture. Held up better than a good many so-called specials. Lively and interesting all the way through and no adverse criticisms heard. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 3.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez—Just another underworld story, but a little better than average. Business only fair. Played one day. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 13.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

NUISANCE, THE: Lee Tracy, Madge Evans—Fast, fine and highly entertaining to all classes. Far above the average program picture. Poor title but you won't go wrong stepping on the picture. They will like it anywhere. Better business second night. —W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

PEG O' M YHEART: Marion Davies—A very good picture of the program variety. Star and cast fine. Good old story. Gave satisfaction. Played September 28-29.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

PEG O' MY HEART: Marion Davies—Here's a picture to play and watch the quarters come in. It was liked by everybody. Recording good. In spite of Irish you can understand it and it will make you money. By all means play it. It will make money for you.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

SOLITAIRE MAN: Herbert Marshall, Elizabeth Allan, Mary Boland, May Robson, Lionel Atwill—Very ordinary program picture. English speaking people spoil it in part. Mary Boland gave life to it. Without her, would have been a grand flop. Played October 8-9.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Nils Asther, Kay Francis—Ran this one on my serial night; this crowd is not hard to please. They seemed pleased—no doubt with the serial. No increase in patronage. Running time, 82 minutes. Played September 29.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins—A well connected story, fine recording. But it is a slow and draggy picture. It is only a one night draw. Running time, 85 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

TARZAN THE APE MAN: Johnny Weissmuller—Return date on this one and it brought them in and it pleased.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

TODAY WE LIVE: Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper—Old. No draw. Poor picture. Pass it up.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Ann Harding, Alice Brady, Robert Montgomery—A good picture that drew above average. Some of the oldtimers were curious to hear Alice Brady talk. Ann Harding is quite an actress. They can't push any kind of a story on her, thereby ruining her career. Atta boy, Ann! Running time, 85 minutes. Played September 26.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

Monogram

BLACK BEAUTY: Esther Ralston, Alexander Kirkland—A dandy, clean picture that deserves a hand. You fellows that yell for clean pictures, here is your chance to encourage this type. This is adult entertainment as well as for youth. Play it and help to stem the tide of adverse criticism which is rising so rapidly against the movies. My patrons were well pleased. Esther Ralston can take her place aside of any of the luminaries, and that's not maybe. Played October 13.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

Paramount

BIG BROADCAST: Bing Crosby, Stuart Erwin, Leila Hyams—If you can get this, play it, boy. It's the answer to your prayer. If it's three years old play it to the best business you have had in a long time. Perfect recording, the best recorded picture we have ever played. Good print and it is really worth playing. We had many who have seen it three and four times. They will fill your house on this one. Excellent. Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. Small town patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—Gave general satisfaction with a larger draw than usual from the young people. Played October 4-5.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle and Burns and Allen—It is our opinion after running this one that it suffered from the title and the fact that they expected more singing and dancing than it contained. Too highly advertised and it disappointed the patrons that came.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Burns and Allen, Mary Carlisle—The best business in several weeks on this. This picture seems to strike the popular fancy and, of course, there is a reason, as it has all the ingredients that good entertainment should have. Music, fun, romance, pretty girls, all hung together with enough plot to keep things going. —J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE: Fredric March, Jack Oakie—This gave us surprisingly good business. Excellent work on the part of Fredric March brought favorable comment. Played September 30.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK, THE: Fredric March, Cary Grant, Jack Oakie—This picture pleased. Many comments. My opinion is people want a little action and a little fun. All fed up on the musicals and society drama.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Wynne Gibson, Edmund Lowe—Just an all-talking picture that did not draw for me. Running time, 70 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE: Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields—I was rather surprised at the drawing power of this. I attribute part of the drawing power to a herald, miniature newspaper style, that comes with this picture that I passed out to my patrons. The picture is pure nonsense, but very clever nonsense that our patrons seemed to enjoy.—J. E. Stocker, Myrtle Theatre, Detroit, Mich. Neighborhood patronage.

JENNIE GERHARDT: Sylvia Sidney, Donald Cook—Extra good picture but the ending was extra bad.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN: Jack Oakie—A picture that will please both young and old. Plenty of action and perfectly clean. Capable cast. Running time, 74 minutes. Played October 9.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY ATFERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—A fair program picture more suitable for elders. Did above average business but younger people did not like it.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez—Here's a picture for your best nights. Chock full of entertainment, especially for the ladies. A tear jerker. Miss Colbert does her best work to date; in fact, she carries her part to perfection. There is just one criticism: she has an illegitimate child; she could just as well have been married at the beginning and her husband deserted her. I don't like these illegitimate child pictures. And I don't believe many people do. Played October 5-6.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston—Above the average western. Some fine scenery. Good action and the thrilling finish makes it very good western. Gross little above average.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM: Stuart Erwin—A Zane Grey western that develops into a first class comedy. Will please even those who do not care for westerns if you can get them in. Running time, 59 minutes. Played October 13-14.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

RKO

ANN VICKERS: Irene Dunne, Walter Huston—I was fortunate in seeing this at possibly the first showing in Indiana, at Circle Theatre, Indianapolis. Dropped in at morning showing, only few in house and I was able to note reaction of paid customers. They dropped many a tear throughout the showing and were unashamed. Some blew their noses right out loud. Personally, I say it is so good that you actually forget that it is being done on the screen. There is little doubt in my mind but that Irene Dunne will be selected for having done the outstanding characterization in this of the year and while she is the best of them all, please remember that all others connected with the picture are also 100 per cent.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

BED OF ROSES: Constance Bennett, Joel McCrea—This is a highly improbable and impossible story. If your audience falls asleep, you are safe; if not, all the intelligent ones will feel nauseated and you never can tell what may happen. Constance Bennett is only to be blamed for one thing, and that is for accepting a part in such a story. Three stories as were given to Bennett in succession will kill any star, even good old Marie Dressler. Swat the producer! Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 10.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

BIG BRAIN, THE: George E. Stone, Fay Wray—I would not like to commit myself by giving my personal opinion on this picture. I do know that it gave me the poorest Saturday night receipts that I have had for many weeks, and that's what the picture did for me. Running time, 70 minutes. Played October 14.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: Ann Harding, William Powell—I guess we must call this a rather unusual production. Although Powell is not popular, yet his voice records exceptionally well and his acting is superb in this picture. Ann Harding again does herself proud and is an actress of the highest standard. Did about average business, pleasing the classes rather than the rank and file. Running time, 74 minutes. Played October 7.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

FLYING DEVILS: Arline Judge, Bruce Cabot—This picture did big business for me. It is not drawn out in any way; each foot of film means something. Had I known it to be as great as it is I could have increased my business 50 per cent. Go after this one in a big way and then stand in the light as the pleased patrons pass out. Running time, 62 minutes. Played October 6.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

INDIA SPEAKS: Richard Halliburton—Was compelled to show this lemon on Saturday and was compelled to buy it in order to get "Diplomaniacs." Played on percentage and guarantee but the average was as far away as the moon. People see this kind of travelogue in churches free of charge, except for a free-will offering. This picture will ruin your Saturdays for weeks after. Don't play it, regardless of law suits or what-no. Shame on RKO for forcing Saturday date. Running time, 75 minutes. Played September 30.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Phil Harris, Charles Ruggles—Just as fine a picture as you care to see. All the cast in this one are full of good looks and smiles. Running time, 85 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Charlie Ruggles, Phil Harris—I consider this picture a little above average. The ice ballet is very pretty. Did not think much of Phil Harris' singing. Charlie Ruggles good as usual. Helen Mack and all other girls very pretty. Running time, 9 reels. Played October 9-10.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

OUR BETTERS: Constance Bennett—Very, very, very good. Turned them away on the last day.—Foster McSwain, Rio Theatre, Albuquerque, New Mexico. General patronage.

PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEART: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—It surely will take the joy from the exhibitor when he sees them all come out disappointed. Running time, 70 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

PROFESSIONAL SWEETHEART: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—Not a bad picture, and drew about average business. Running time, 73 minutes. Played September 16.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

SILVER CORD, THE: Irene Dunne, Joel McCrea—A well acted picture but did not receive any favorable comments on it. No draw at the box office. Running time, 74 minutes. Played September 19.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

TOMORROW AT SEVEN: Chester Morris, Vivienne Osborne—Vivienne Osborne is pleasing to look at and this is half the battle in any picture. A good program picture but no drawing power whatsoever. Running time, 74 minutes. Played September 23.—A. H. Edwards, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

United Artists

PERFECT UNDERSTANDING: Gloria Swanson—A beautifully made picture about two reels too long. The star was fine. Story too highbrow for small towns and over their heads, and after the first show did not draw. Lots like that nowadays.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

Universal

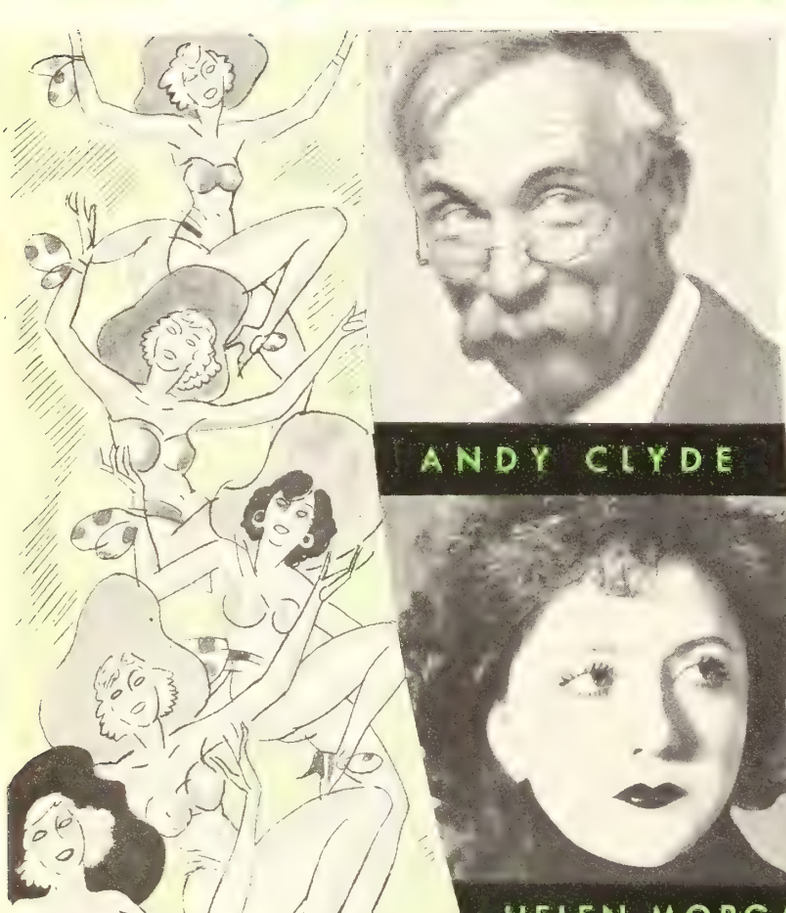
DON'T BET ON LOVE: Lew Ayres, Ginger Rogers—Nice little program picture, better than many specials. Running time, 71 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

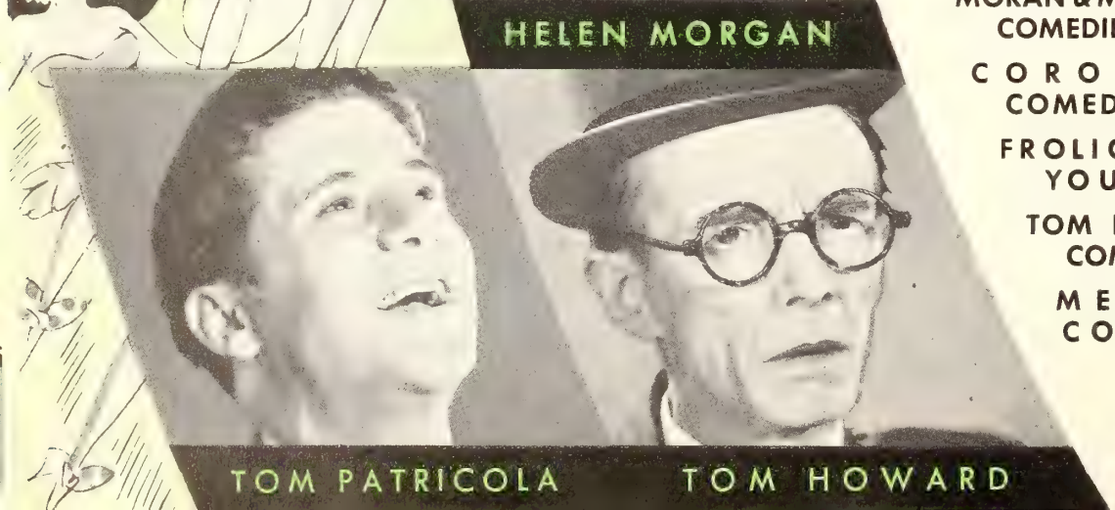
ROME EXPRESS: Esther Ralston, Conrad Veidt—Picture too long and draggy and hard to understand. Our patrons did not know what it was all about. Acting was good, I guess.—Bert Silver, Silver

NAMES

in Short

NO COMPANY EVER
IN ONE SEASON'S





Two Reels

STAR COMEDY SPECIALS

MUSICAL COMEDIES

ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES

MORAN & MACK COMEDIES

CORONET COMEDIES

FROLICS OF YOUTH

TOM HOWARD COMEDIES

MERMAID COMEDIES

Educat
Pictu

Distributed in U. S. A. by FOX

Picked from the top ranks of the big hit names of radio, stage and screen... for your box-office... a brilliant array of names, never equalled in a program of comedy short features... splendid fulfillment of E. W. Hammons' promise of a line of comedies you can exploit with pride and profit.

features!

OFFERED YOU MORE COMEDIES • • • •

STOOPNAGLE AND BUDD MORAN AND MACK

MILTON BERLE LILLIAN ROTH

OLIVE BORDEN BOB HOPE

HARRY LANGDON CHARLES JUDELS

TAYLOR HOLMES JUNIOR COGHLAN

One Reel

TERRY-TOONS

BABY BURLESKS

SONG HIT STORIES

THE TREASURE CHEST

AS A DOG THINKS

ROMANTIC JOURNEYS

BATTLE FOR LIFE

...nal
...res

FILM CORPORATION

Educational Pictures
THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM

Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

RUSTLER'S ROUNDUP: Tom Mix—I consider this a very good western. Rodeo very good. Drew average business. Will please your western fans. Running time, 6 reels. Played October 14.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM: Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart—While this did not draw quite as well as we expected, the performance was flawless with recording above the average. Played October 7.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM: Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart—Played this one Friday and Saturday and it pleased the customers. Photography and recording extra good.—Ned Pedigo, De Luxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

Warner

BABY FACE: Barbara Stanwyck—A mighty good picture. A rotten story put over in a clean way by a great actress. Gave good satisfaction. Played October 12-13.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

BABY FACE: Barbara Stanwyck—Not much to this picture. Did not draw. Played to almost an empty house second night. For a small town play it one day and let it go. Played October 11-12.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

CAPTURED!: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—A great war picture. Have seen none better. Story great, acting fine. Did not draw, as people are sour on war pictures and won't turn out to see them. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—It's a shame what they do to the exhibitor from a selling angle on this picture. But if you want to pay off the mortgage at this time, wade in. It tops anything we ever ran and was going strong in the rain after four days in a small town. Don't let anyone kid you. It is better than anything since "Whoopee." Played August 27-28-29-30-31.—W. E. O'Brien, Ritz Theatre, Montgomery City, Mo. Small town patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Well, it's full of stars, all of them with a diamond sparkle. I cannot say how big this picture was, but boy, it's big, and how it draws first, second and third nights. Play it and see. Running time, 100 minutes.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

LIFE OF JIMMY DOLAN: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Loretta Young—Good picture that pleased the young folks. Fairbanks not very popular here. Loretta Young is very popular, but I do not consider this picture up to her usual standing. Business poor. Running time, 70 minutes. Played September 27-28.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

MARY STEVENS, M.D.: Kay Francis, Glenda Farrell—This is one of the best program pictures we ever played. Story interesting, star fine and wisecracks by Glenda Farrell funny, and was the making of entertainment of the picture.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

WORKING MAN, THE: George Arliss—This is a fine picture but it did not draw the first night and we know we had a good picture, and this George Arliss is great and we know that also, so we put on a special drive to get them in to see it. Our circulars read "Pal Night," one ticket good for two, and we got them and the picture and the star both made a big hit. If people only knew George Arliss as the man he really is they would always give him a big hand when he comes to their town.—Walter Odom & Sons, Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BEER PARADE, THE: Scrappy Cartoon—Extra good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, General patronage.

Educational

HITCH HIKER, THE: Harry Langdon—A very funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

ROBIN HOOD: Terry-Toon—Good.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MGM

BULLONEY: Flip the Frog—Just animated drawings that tire everyone excepting the infants and ignorant. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. H Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

IT'S REAL SERVICE, SAYS RUSSELL DEY

They're all champions of "What the Picture Did for Me," those many exhibitors who send in their reports to this department, but generally they say it with the reports themselves. Occasionally, however, an exhibitor's enthusiasm breaks out in other ways; for example, the following from Russell C. Dey, manager of the Reedville Motion Picture Company at Reedville, Va.:

"If you will look in your files a few years back, you will find that I was one who called your attention to the fact that the 'What the Picture Did for Me' department was worth more than all of the HERALD together to the little exhibitor, and I protested to you for cutting this department out. It did no good; you did cut it out, and I think that you found out that my judgment was right.

"Why, pray tell me, should not the exhibitors tell each other what the picture did for them? Of all the things to be had, this is real service and I am going to use it. I do play pictures governed, nearly entirely, by these reports and I find them the most accurate of all reports. Of course, I do not go exactly by any one report, but, brother, when enough of the boys say lay off then one had better lay off, indeed. It is fair to everyone. Why should exhibitors play and pay for junk that the producers make—and God knows they have had a fling with junk? Yes, publish even the rankest ones reporting a rotten show and also all the good ones, too. That is the way for one to tell how to spend their money. Thank you for the kindness and I will report truthfully exactly what happens when I play a picture. That is all I want—a true report. I have sense enough not to bother with anyone's opinion of a whole company. I do not care what they say about the company. It's the one picture that they play; and the question is What Did the Picture Do for Me?"

INFLATION: Very interesting and educational. Running time, one reel.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

INFLATION: I consider this a fair educational subject.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

MIDNIGHT PATROL: Laurel and Hardy—A poor attempt at being funny. They are slipping fast. Why not give them material with which to do something? Running time, 20 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MUSH AND MILK: Our Gang—Sort of mush all the way through. Kids and grownups don't want their fare too babyish. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

NERTSERY RHYMES: Colortone Musical Revues —Here is a comedy with music and color that stands out like a wart on the nose. The highlight is the singing, which will haunt you for weeks. Worth repeating. A distinct addition to any program. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

ONE TRACK MINDS: Zasu Pitts, Thelma Todd—This is a real good comedy. Todd has the looks and Pitts also has the looks, so there you are. My patrons like them. Running time, 20 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

PALEFACE: Flip the Frog—Very good. Running time, one reeler.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

PALEFACE: Flip the Frog—Fair cartoon. Better than the last two or three. Running time, 7 minutes. —J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

THROTTLE PUSHERS: Sport Champions—This single reel is filled with thrills and spills. Good on any program. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

THUNDERING TAXIS: Taxi Boys—A good slapstick comedy that got the laughs.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BOO BOO THEME SONG: Screen Song—Excellent on any program. Running time, one reel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Lanny Ross —Excellent with any feature.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

MARRIAGE HUMOR: Harry Langdon—Not a laugh in a carload like this. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

MORNING, NOON AND NIGHT: Rubinoff—This is a very good short. Running time, 7 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

SCREEN SOUVENIR: No. 10—This is a fairly interesting and entertaining one-reler showing some shots from old newsreels and old features of many years ago. This type of entertainment does not appeal to our patrons and many walk out on every one of this series. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SNOW-WHITE: Betty Boop—good filler on any program. Running time, one reel.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WALKING THE BABY: Burns and Allen—This is fair entertainment and contains some wisecracks and a few laughs. The stars in this comedy seem to be much more popular over the radio than on the screen. However, many were well pleased. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WHEN YUBA PLAYS THE RHUMBA ON THE TUBA: Screen Song—Excellent. Screen song with Mills Brothers. Running time, 7 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

RKO

DRUGGIST'S DILEMMA, THE: Clark and McCullough—A real funny comedy. Personally, I prefer this pair to the Laurel-Hardy team; they have more wit and spontaneity. Running time, 19 minutes. —A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

GAY NIGHTIES, THE: Clark and McCullough—A very funny two reel comedy by two great comedians.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

ROUGH ON RATS: Fable—This is the best fable we have played lately. The last few have been very poor. Running time, 7 minutes.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

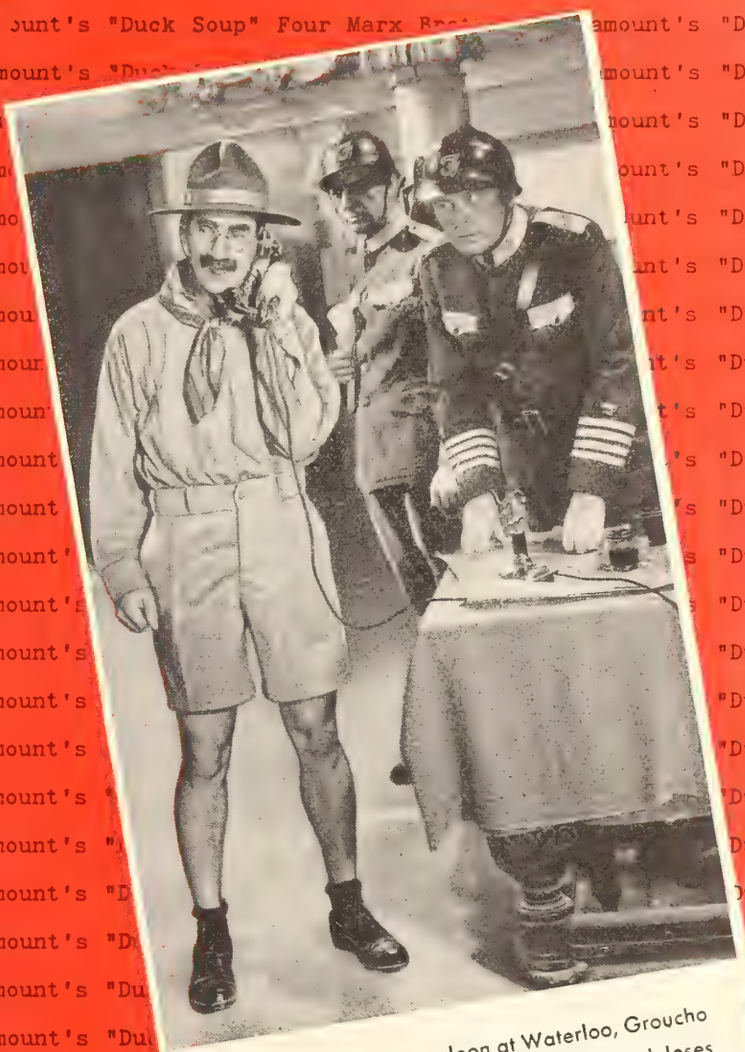
SHAKESPEARE WITH TIN EARS: Funny.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

SO THIS IS HARRIS: Phil Harris—This is a crazy three reeler, but good entertainment. Good music, singing and comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

United Artists

BIRDS IN THE SPRING: Silly Symphony—This is by far the best cartoon I have played for many a week. There is something to it. A pretty story, yes, and the story has a moral. It is worth repeating—and that is unusual. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

FATHER NOAH'S ARK: Silly Symphony—Another good colored short subject that is a "wow." Appeals to both young and old alike. Running time, 7 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.



CAUGHT WITH HIS PANTS SHORT! Like Napoleon at Waterloo, Groucho fails to protect his rear, and loses his seat as Dictator of Fredonia, in Paramount's battle of "Duck Soup."

MARX BROTHERS

in Paramount's

"DUCK SOUP"

Directed by

LEO McCAREY

JUST DOGS: Silly Symphony—This is a fairly good cartoon comedy but still no better than some of the others. United Artists should produce better cartoons or cut the price of these cartoons. Here's hoping to get better cartoons in the future from United Artists. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MAIL PILOT, THE: Mickey Mouse—An outstanding cartoon. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

MELLERDRAMMER, THE: Mickey Mouse—Terrible. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

OLD KING COLE: Silly Symphony—Fine! These Silly Symphonies are going forward. They are more than a jumbling up of animated drawings. Running time, 10 minutes.—A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

PIED PIPER: Silly Symphony—Another excellent colored cartoon. Good enough for anybody's program any time.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP: Silly Symphony—An excellent all color short you will do well to book. They just rave over it. Running time, 7 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

SANTA'S WORKSHOP: Silly Symphony—Excellent and drew considerable business.—B. R. Johnson, Orpheum Theatre, Kerrobert, Canada. Rural patronage.

WHOOPEE PARTY, THE: Mickey Mouse—This is the best comedy we have played from United Artists. If the rest of their one reels are as good as this one, then we will be glad to get them. Will make a good filler on any picture. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Universal

WARREN DOANE BREVITY: Positively the best two reel subject we have ever played and, folks, we have shown quite a few.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

AUDITION, THE: Hannah Williams, Phil Emerton's Band—A great single reel that pleased everyone. These band shorts sure click here.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

AUDITION, THE: Melody Master—About average. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

AUDITION, THE: Melody Master Series—A good band act.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

BOSKO IN PERSON: Looney Tune—Better than the average. Running time, 8 minutes.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

BOSKO'S MECHANICAL MAN: Looney Tune—About average. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

BOSKO THE SHEEP-HERDER: Looney Tune—Better than usual. Running time, 9 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

BUZZIN' AROUND: Fatty Arbuckle—One of the best comedies I have played lately. Book it if you have not played it. It will make them laugh. Running time, two reels.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

BYGONES: Ruth Etting—The best Ruth Etting we have played for a long while. A dandy two reeler. Recording excellent. Running time, 19 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

DISH RAN AWAY WITH THE SPOON, THE: Merry Melody—A out-of-the-ordinary cartoon that pleased all.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

I LIKE MOUNTAIN MUSIC: Merry Melody—Very good cartoon. Running time, 8 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

NOTHING EVER HAPPENS: Broadway Brevity—A take-off on "Grand Hotel." To those who saw "Grand Hotel" it was very funny; others didn't know what it was all about. Running time, two reels.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

PICKING A WINNER: Broadway Brevity—Absolutely nothing to it except a little color and one short race course shot that was mildly interesting.—B. R. Johnson, Orpheum Theatre, Kerrobert, Canada. Rural patronage.

WELCOME THESE NEW CONTRIBUTORS

Out of the bundle of letters bringing this week's reports from exhibitors on how motion pictures have fared in their theatres, come comments from five more theatre men who volunteer to contribute their bit to this mutual benefit box-office insurance society.

Read the reports in this issue from Russell C. Dey of Reedville Movies, at Reedville, Virginia; Foster McSwain of the Rio at Albuquerque, New Mexico; W. E. O'Brien, Ritz theatre, Montgomery City, Missouri; R. P. Seidl, Pierce theatre at Pierce, Nebraska; and J. A. Verchot of the Opera House, Abbeville, South Carolina.

PIE A LA MODE: Broadway Brevity—One clever bit of tumbling in this, the rest is just so-so.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mich. Small town patronage.

PIE A LA MODE: Broadway Brevity—Nothing to this. So much wasted film. Running time, 21 minutes.—J. E. Tunstall, Nottawa Theatre, Blackstone, Va. Small town patronage.

RED SHADOW, THE: Broadway Brevity—Excellent condensed version of the Desert Song which in my opinion drew as many as did the feature. One of the best shorts I ever ran.—B. R. Johnson, Orpheum Theatre, Kerrobert, Canada. Rural patronage.

SHANTY WHERE SANTA CLAUS LIVES: Merry Melody—Good. Running time, 9 minutes.—F. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melody—This is one of the cleverest and funniest cartoons we have ever played. Don't fail to play it. Running time, 7 minutes.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

SKY SYMPHONY: Stoopnagle & Budd—A two reel musical that has a lot of entertainment but is not quite up to the standard. Some good dancing while the sun and moon act is clever and pleased the kiddies especially. Running time, 18 minutes.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kansas. Small town patronage.

THAT GOES DOUBLE: Russ Columbo—Just fair. Not as good as we expected. Running time, two reels.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

WAY OF ALL FRESHMEN, THE: Hal LeRoy, Mitzi Mayfair—This is certainly a great two reel subject. Fine dancing and good comedy. Very entertaining.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

What the Picture Did in San Salvador

In his newest reports on the motion pictures that come to his attention as manager of the Meardi-Hermanos circuit in San Salvador, El Salvador, Central America, Mr. O. Beer discusses the following productions:

DESTINATION UNKNOWN: Universal, with Betty Compson, Pat O'Brien, Ralph Bellamy—They wanted to make a miracle picture but failed. Picture made less than average. However, it was favorably commented by a few and we got less kicks than expected and had no walkouts. Running time, 65 minutes. Played August 3.

KISS BEFORE THE MIRROR, THE: Universal, with Nancy Carroll, Paul Lukas—A picture which pleased and of which they talk. Several came to see it a second time. Running time, 65 minutes. Played July 30.

SCANDAL FOR SALE: Universal, with Charles Bickford, Rose Hobart—A good picture, but title didn't draw. Bad business, as we were drowned with similar type of story of other firms, so they were tired to see again the inside story of a big newspaper. Running time, 75 minutes. Played July 23.

OKAY AMERICA: Universal, with Lew Ayres, Maureen O'Sullivan—More exciting than "Scandal for Sale." Cast a draw. This is an outstanding picture, which will please everyone, even in villages. Running time, 80 minutes. Played July 27.

SKYSCRAPER SOULS: MGM, with Maureen O'Sullivan, Warren William—I thought it a fine picture, but didn't draw, as this high finance stuff does not interest our patrons. Running time, 90 minutes. Played June 11.

MUMMY, THE: Universal, with Boris Karloff, Zita Johann—One of the hits of the year, pleased everyone. Running time, 70 minutes. Played June 16.

TAILOR MADE MAN, A: MGM, with William Haines, Dorothy Jordan—Good business, as William Haines draws here. Running time, 85 minutes. Played June 18.

SIN OF MADELON CLAUDET, THE: MGM with Helen Hayes, Lewis Stone—A fine picture; a good draw; will please everyone. Even people who don't like to shed tears liked it. Patrons who want to cry get a bargain for their money. Running time, 75 minutes. Played July 2.

THIS MODERN AGE: MGM, with Joan Crawford—Crawford is always a good draw at this end. Good business. Running time, 75 minutes. Played June 25.

POLITICS: MGM, with Marie Dressler, Polly Moran—A good picture; pleased everyone. Marie always fills our theatres. Running time, 75 minutes. Played July 6.

DELICIOUS: Fox, with Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell—A fine musical; did please, although musicals generally are failures here; therefore, only average business. Running time, 105 minutes. Played July 16.

SECRET SIX, THE: MGM, with Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow—Did considerable business with this. Did please. Running time, 90 minutes.

FLESH: MGM, with Wallace Beery, Ricardo Cortez, Karen Morley—Business somewhat above average. Did please. The wrestling scenes with Zbyszko very interesting. Running time, 95 minutes. Played July 9.

FAST LIFE: MGM, with William Haines, Madge Evans, Cliff Edwards—Cast a big draw. A swell picture. They came to see it twice. The motorboat racing scenes are exciting. Running time, 85 minutes. Played July 20.

CLANCY OF THE MOUNTED: Universal Serial, with Tom Tyler—Did good business in the bigger places; in the villages it was a failure. This was the first talking serial which was exhibited in this country; in spite of this, no extra draw.

Donahue & Coe Take Over 21st Floor of Paramount

Donahue & Coe, Inc., advertising agency, have leased for a term of years the entire 21st floor of the Paramount Building. They will take occupancy early in November after extensive alterations have been completed. Their new quarters contain more than 10,000 square feet of floor space—more than double that which they have occupied during the past year.

It is understood they are also considerably increasing their present personnel.

Forms Employee Association

Dick Kennedy, district manager of the Wilby circuit in Birmingham, Ala., is forming an organization for the improvement of cooperation between employer and employee, known as the Birmingham Theatre Employees Association, to consist of Wilby employees other than theatre managers.

Al Selig in Warner Post

Al Selig has been named as special exploitation man on the Warner advertising staff to handle "Footlight Parade" in Detroit, and "The World Changes." The appointment was made by S. Charles Einfeld, advertising and publicity director.

Completes NRA Picture

John Henry McKee, formerly with William A. Brady, Charles Frohman, the Shuberts and other stage producers, has just completed the direction of an NRA production, "The New Deal in Living."

GLAMOUR

that indescribable . . . intangible . . . incandescent glow without which no personality can capture popular imagination . . .

Katharine Hepburn has it in magnificent degree . . . It is the life-blood of the box-office . . . food for showmen . . .

And National Scene Trailers give it to you in every talking trailer because National Scene Trailers are made with actual scenes and actual dialogue from the picture itself . . .

Samplevues of the glamorous . . . shining box-office personalities that make the picture what it is . . .

That's how

★★★★★ NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE ★★★★★

sells the show with showmanship!

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 196.—(A) Of what does R.C. (rubber covered) insulation consist? (B) Were you to receive some R.C. wire and find upon starting to strip it to make a connection, the wire itself was just plain uncoated copper, what would you do andwhy? (C) When you see power line wires supported by two insulators in "series," what would you conclude? If there were four of them, what would you conclude? If six, what? If upon preparing to run some wires into conduit you found only weatherproof insulation wires available—no other could be had for days—you must use thecircuit within a few hours—what would you do? Explain. (D) Under what conditions is it not permissible to use R.C. wire? (E) In what classes of work is it necessary to use R.C. wire?

Answer to Question No. 189

Bluebook School Question No. 189 was: (A) Why is the neutral of an Edison three-wire system grounded? (B) With a grounded three-wire system, will test lamp light when connected neutral-to-ground? (C) Would it be possible to remove the neutral fuse of a three-wire circuit without interrupting or affecting the service of the circuit? (D) What various devices may be used in testing for grounds? (E) What is the really best testing tool and why? (F) What is the most practical testing tool for projectionists?

The following have made acceptable answers: D. Danielson; S. Evans and C. Rau; G. E. Doe; K Dowling; W. Ostrum; B. Doe; L. Van Buskirk and E. Kroll; J. Wentworth; W. Ostrum; T. Van Vaulkenburg; H. H. Menefee; H. Polies; H. Edwards; B. Diglah and P. Jackson; C. D. Carmody; D. L. Howard; G. H. Blaum; L. F. Evans; G. Thompson; L. M. Oglesby and Son; G. Tinlin; D. M. Banks and L. Summers; G. Garrison and E. Harlor; E. Rymer and B. L. Tanner; J. N. and T. H. Williams; R. Suler and R. Wheeler; P. N. Thomas; H. D. Schofield; D. L. Sinklow; W. and S. F. Love; D. R. Peters and D. Holler; E. and L. H. Munroe; O. L. Evans; A. L. Berry; H. C. Lake; T. N. Williams and R. S. Allen; H. Schontz and T. R. Richards; G. Farmann; A. Miranda; L. H. Danville and R. S. Patterson; L. Jones and B. L. and R. D. Banning; L. Hendershot and R. Rubin; L. D. Harper; R. D. Lynn and L. G. Lamb; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; J. T. Ballinger and D. L. Mason; D. U. Granger; L. R. Davis; H. Cohen and G. C. Cottrel; B. Ilers; R. MacDonald; P. L. Wheeler and P. L. Scully; D. Goldberg and L. Hutch; T. Kelley and C. Cummings; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; T. S. Raymond; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; L. C. Abrams and E. F. Griffin; H. R. Baldwin and W T. Soare; E. V. Samuels; L. D. Stellegos and G. Wayne; P. R. Duel; P. L. Garrison and G. H. Henderson; R. L. Walker, M. Levy, T. Torre and H. Berman; C. F. Davis and C. L. Fausto; T. Bollen and H. May; G. L. Conrad and H. Bannagan; L. Altman.

(A) In all the years this school has run—and it is no infant—this is I believe the first time every one has answered any one question 100 per cent correct. Considerably in excess of 1,000 have said, "The Edison three-wire neutral is grounded to prevent the possibility of charging the conduit at true-positive, true-negative voltage, usually 220." Of course, the answers varied considerably as to wording, but they all said really the same thing.

(B) G. Thompson says, "Naturally if the neutral is well grounded no current would flow through the test lamp, which has high resistance. If the neutral were poorly grounded the test lamp might, under some conditions, light, but the neutral is always presumed to be well grounded. The answer to the question, as asked, then, is no."

(C) K. Dowling answers, "The neutral fuse of a three-wire system may be removed, but result will depend entirely on how well the circuit is balanced. If perfectly balanced, no difference will be noted in the brilliancy of the lamps, but if not balanced, one set of lamps on one wire will be over-brilliant, while the other set will be correspondingly under-brilliant.

"It would make no difference in any 220-volt circuit that might be connected to the circuit."

(D) D. Danielson says, "Any device which will indicate current flow, if present, may be used to detect a ground—properly connected incandescent lamp, a voltmeter, a wattmeter, a bell and battery, a magneto operating a bell, a battery and wire to form spark gap, various test sets, a high-voltage transformer operating a bell or lamp, and so on through a fairly long list. Each must of course be used in accordance with the needs of the individual case."

Brother Menefee puts up a proposition that, with a little alteration, seems to me to have merit. What do you think about it? After naming a number of testing devices, he says, "I use a wire connected to the ground just as one would connect a testing lamp, except that it connects through a five-ampere fuse located in a cut-out box. If the fuse melts, there is of course a ground. I find it to be an excellent test."

This seems to have possibilities in certain directions, though the spark at make-and-break is the real ground indicator, rather than the fuse. Brother Menefee, I think, does not really decide there is no ground unless the fuse melts. Many grounds have sufficient resistance to pass much less than even one ampere of current.

It strikes, me, though, that one might test with the spark and have the wire pass to ground through several fuses, say, a half-ampere, a one, two, three and five-ampere fuse mounted in boxes side by side, with S-P knife switches enabling one to use either one of them at will. Make test by spark through the five-ampere fuse, then cut down one by one until a fuse lets go. One would thus be able to ascertain almost the exact strength of the ground, which might be useful at times, though of course, no matter how weak it might be, any ground should be cleared up just as soon as possible. Probably few would care to go to all this trouble—installing all those fuses—but, anyhow, the possibility is interesting, though, after all, probably the average man would prefer to wheedle the boss out of a small ammeter and connect the ground wire through it.

(E) S. Evans and C. Rau answer, "The magneto is really the best testing tool by reason of the high voltage it generates. It not only will show up ordinary grounds, but also those of high resistance."

(F) G. E. Doe answers, "It would be possible, I believe, to answer this one more than one way. However, while the test lamp is not the most effective testing tool, it probably is the most practical for the projectionist, for the reason that all its parts are available to any projectionist, therefore he need never be without a testing tool that is at least fairly efficient. My objection to the lamp is that it will not locate high resistance and therefore very small current flow leaks. The answer might hinge to a considerable extent upon just what you might mean when you say 'practical.' The thoroughly grounded wire (soldered to a gas or water pipe—it can be done) and spark test is more effective in a dark room than is a lamp, in that it will show up lower amperage leaks. The magneto is most 'practical' in that it will show up almost any leak, regardless how small. It would even show up a ground of such high resistance that 110 or even 220 volts would force no current through at all. The trouble with that, however, is that it might fool a good many men, since none but an expert would be able to locate such a ground, and the non-expert would be fooled into believing current leakage existed, where there really was none."

Every few days I receive a letter asking how to join the Bluebook School. Again therefore I say all you have to do to "join" is to answer the questions, place your name and the number of the question you are answering at the top of the first page, and send it to F. H. Richardson, No. 3 Tudor Lane, Scarsdale, N. Y. There is nothing to pay and no conditions to be complied with, except that you either typewrite your answers or else write plainly. With such a mass of answers to read each week I cannot spend time deciphering scrawls.

SHE'LL DICTATE A BOX-OFFICE CLEAN-UP!

SHOWMENS PICTURES, INC.
D. J. MOUNTAN, PRES.

presents

"PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER"

with

LOLA LANE • • WM. COLLIER, JR.

ESTHER MUIR-DUNCAN RENALDO-RICHARD TUCKER
BRYANT WASHBURN

DIRECTED BY LEW COLLINS • SUPERVISED BY AL ALT

11 More to Come

•

"THE BIG RACE"

A mile-a-minute action story of the sport of kings with
"BOOTS" MALLORY — JOHN DARROW
—PAUL HURST—FRANKIE DARRO
Directed by FRED NEWMEYER
From the story by Hugh Cummings

•

"GOLDEN HEAD"

She was a blonde goddess with the heart of a devil—malevolent spirit of a gang of Parisian Apaches.

•

"ST. LOUIS WOMAN"

Rapid-fire drama of a chiselling charmer and a daredevil polo player.
By ELWOOD ULLMAN

•

"THE MOTH"

Hair-raising adventure and thrills against the background of the gay Mardi Gras celebration.
By RICHARD WILLIAMS

•

"WITHIN THE ROCK"

A strange marriage between a cultured society girl and a crude mountaineer, and its gripping aftermath.
By MARIE BUXTON MARTIN

•

"UNLIMITED"

An ace detective and his female assistant play a daring game against the organized forces of the underworld.
By HERBERT PETERS

•

"SOULS IN PAWN"

A stark drama of a boy and girl cheated of the right to love by a sinister shadow from the past.
By BRUCE A. TRUMAN

•

"SPECIAL DUTY"

A poignant drama of filial love, a man's honor and a woman who went the limit in fulfilling her desires.

•

3 TO BE ANNOUNCED

"PUBLIC STENOGRAPHER" NOW READY

For Immediate Release

A SCREENCRAFT PRODUCTION

SHOWMENS PICTURES, Inc.

723 SEVENTH AVENUE
NEW YORK CITY

Play Showmen's Pictures for a Showman's Profit!

THEATRE RECEIPTS

Theatre receipts for the calendar week ended October 21, 1933, from 118 houses in 19 major cities of the country, aggregated $1,431,308, an increase of $5,970 over the total for the previous calendar week, ended October 14, when 121 theatres in 19 cities reported a total gross of $1,425,338.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	20,000	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	19,500	High 1-21 "The Death Kiss"	21,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) and "Flaming Gold" (Radio)	9,500	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) and "Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	9,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	20,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	20,000	High 1-7 "No Other Woman"	21,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	19,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	18,500	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	32,000	"Paddy, the Next Best Thing" (Fox)	32,000	High 6-24 "College Humor"	41,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) and "Flaming Gold" (Radio)	10,000	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) and "Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	9,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"My Weakness" (Fox)	14,100	"Penthouse" (MGM)	24,400	High 2-25 "State Fair"	24,800
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Captured" (W. B.)	5,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	5,100	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 5-13 "Grand Slam" and "Past of Mary Holmes"	4,200
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	9,300	"Mary Stevens, M.D." (W. B.)	22,300	High 10-14 "Mary Stevens, M.D."	22,300
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	13,100	"One Man's Journey" (Radio)	5,500	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"India Speaks" (Radio) (2nd week)	700	"India Speaks" (Radio) (1st week-10 days)	900	High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 9-20 "The Outsider"	500
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	6,700	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	5,000	High 9-23 "Lady for a Day"	10,000
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions"	5,000
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	52,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)	60,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (2nd week)	12,500	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (1st week)	20,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	40,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	50,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 10-7 "The Power and the Glory"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"My Woman" (Col.)	25,500	"Brief Moment" (Col.)	23,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	9,500	"Penthouse" (MGM)	16,000	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	26,500	"Voltaire" (W. B.) (2nd week)	9,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) and "Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (2nd week) (25c-40c)	3,000	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (1st week)	3,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "West of Singapore"	7,500
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	35c-60c	"East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.) (Sat. midnite show $1.20 top)	30,000	"Obey the Law" (Col.)	16,500	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"My Woman" (Col.)	18,400	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	18,500	High 10-14 "Ann Vickers"	18,500
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	24,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	18,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	20c-40c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.) and "Discarded Lovers" (Tower) (25c-40c)	4,100	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM) and "Important Witness" (Tower)	3,800	High 8-26 "Tugboat Annie"	8,900
							Low 5-27 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,000
Warner's Lake	800	30c-44c	"India Speaks" (RKO and "Headline Shooter" (Radio) (6 days)	2,500	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F.N.)	3,300	High 6-17 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	8,500
							Low 8-5 "Heroes for Sale"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U.A.)	6,500	"My Weakness" (Fox)	2,800	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (2nd week-3 days)	5,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (1st week)	9,000	High 9-30 "Three Cornered Moon"	10,500
			"To the Last Man" (Para.) (4 days)	4,000			Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	9,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) (25c-40c)	8,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	14,600
							Low 9-30 "Beauty for Sale"	3,500
Orpheum	2,600	35c-55c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (25c-40c)	14,000	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (25c-55c)	7,500	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Stage Mother" (MGM)	3,500	"Deluge" (Radio)	3,200	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
							Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	25c-50c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	11,300	"No Marriage Ties" (Radio)	16,500	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.) (15c-50c)	10,100	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	5,200	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"My Weakness" (Fox)	15,400	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	15,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	13,200	"Stage Mother" (MGM)	14,300	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	13,500	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week-5 days)	24,100	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,300	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week)	12,300	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	30,800	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (6th week)	17,237	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	11,000	"Gold Diggers of 1933" (W.B.) (2nd week)	9,500	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	3,000	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	2,500	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 10-7 "My Weakness"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	10,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	6,500	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,300	25c-40c	"One Man's Journey" (Radio) (25c-55c)	7,000	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	10,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 6-10 "Below the Sea"	3,500
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	5,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)	6,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 7-22 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"The Mayor of Hell" (W. B.)	5,800	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	7,500	High 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	20,800
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	20,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,700	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	2,000	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	17,500	"Golden Harvest" (Para.) (3 days)	2,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	17,500
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	2,250	"My Weakness" (Fox)	3,500	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-55c	"The Masquerader" (U. A.) (8th week)	1,950	"The Masquerader" (U. A.) (7th week)	2,100	High 8-19 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,800
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	850	40c-50c	"Red Head" (H. Bregstein) (5th week)	2,250	"Red Head" (H. Bregstein) (4th week)	2,000	High 9-23 "Red Head"	3,500
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Loew's State	2,416	25c-55c	"My Weakness" (Fox) (25c-40c)	13,900	"Night Flight" (MGM)	19,300	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"This Thing Called Love" (Radio) and "Jack-O-Lantern" (S. R.)	3,800	"Curtain at Eight" (Majestic) and "The Film Parade" (Blackton)	3,500	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Orpheum	2,220	25c-35c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	4,800	"Flaming Gold" (Radio) and "The Good Companions" (Fox)	3,500	High 9-23 (since Sept.) "The Devil's in Love" and "Before Dawn"	4,850
							Low 10-7 "India Speaks" and "Ladies Must Love"	3,350
Paramount	3,596	25c-55c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.) (25c-40c)	15,500	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	17,250	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (3rd week)	5,200	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (2nd week)	6,300	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	21,000			High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	12,000	"Gold Diggers of 1933" (W. B.) (2nd week)	11,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	9,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,640	25c-40c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	3,500	"The Masquerader" (U. A.)	3,900	High 4-22 "Secrets"	5,500
							Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"This Day and Age" (Para.)	1,500	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 10-7 "Turn Back the Clock"	1,300
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"My Woman" (Col.) and "Savage Gold" (S. R.)	5,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	6,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	6,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)	6,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"Fantegutten" "Norwegian) (2nd week)	1,200	"Fantegutten" (Norwegian) (1st week)	1,200	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 10-14 "Fantegutten"	1,200
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Her First Mate" (U.) and "Heroes for Sale" (F. N.)	9,000	"Torch Singer" (Para.) and "Tomorrow at Seven" (Radio)	10,000	High 1-21 "Rockabye" and "Trailing the Killer"	12,500
							Low 7-15 "The Silver Cord" and "Professional Sweetheart"	7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-60c	"Nu Comme Un Ver" (French) (2nd week)	2,000	"Nu Comme Un Ver" (French) (1st week)	2,400	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox)	13,000	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM)	12,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-85c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	9,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	9,500	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 10-21 "Berkeley Square"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-60c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Devil's Mate" (Monogram) (25c-75c)	6,500	"Brief Moment" (Col.) and "The Narrow Corner" (W. B.)	7,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 8-12 "Whoopee" and "Virtue"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (8th week)	11,500	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (7th week)	16,344	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	3,924	"My Weakness" (Fox)	1,636	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Night Flight" (MGM) (2nd week)	28,500	"Night Flight" (MGM) (1st week)	52,506	High 8-12 "Another Language"	64,000
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Gaiety	808	55c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (5th week-11 days)	10,100	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (4th week)	8,000	High 4-1 "Cavalcade"	13,500
							Low 7-22 "Pilgrimage"	10,000
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	8,296	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	7,939	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Before Dawn" (Radio)	7,700	"The Good Companions" (Fox)	7,500	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	12,091	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	10,265	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	83,450	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	52,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"My Woman" (Col.)	8,500	"Deluge" (Radio)	8,500	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	40c-85c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	26,695	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	39,000	High 10-7 "The Bowery"	45,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	103,000	"Dr. Bull" (Fox)	65,014	High 4-15 "Cavalcade"	107,761
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
RKO Roxy	3,700	25c-55c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (4 days) "Big Executive" (Para.) (3 days)	11,000	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (4 days) "My Weakness" (Fox) (3 days)	10,732	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week Picture	Current Week Gross	Previous Week Picture	Previous Week Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
New York (Continued)
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	21,500	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	26,500	High 1-7 "No More Orchids"	39,487
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	35c-$1.25	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week)	36,902	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (1st week)	55,190	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 8-5 "She Had to Say Yes"	10,590
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	3,000	"Private Detective 62" (W. B.)	3,500	High 9-9 "Three Cornered Moon"	3,700
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	5,200	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	6,500	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	9,500
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal) (3 days)	1,800	"Pilgrimage" (Fox) (3 days)	1,300	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Brief Moment" (Col.) (4 days)	1,600	"Ann Carver's Profession" (Col.) (4 days)	1,700	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	20c-35c	"Bed of Roses" (Radio) (25c-50c)	5,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) and "Melody Cruise" (Radio)	6,000	.....
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"My Weakness" (Fox) and "Heroes for Sale" (F. N.)	7,250	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (25c-50c)	12,000	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	12,500	"Night Flight" (MGM)	7,775	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) and "Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	5,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.) and "Ladies Must Love" (U.)	4,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions" and "Ladies Must Love	4,750
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (6 days)	12,000	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	5,000	High 2-4 "Rasputin and the Empress"	11,500
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Horse Feathers" (Para.) (2 days)	600	"Three Cornered Moon" (Para.) (6 days)	2,200	High 1-14 "Red Dust"	4,000
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
			"This Day and Age" (Para.) (3 days)	850
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (6 days)	10,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (2nd week-4 days)	7,000	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie"	21,000
							Low 8-5 "Mary Stevens, M.D."	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.) (6 days)	15,000	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (6 days)	11,500	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "She Had to Say Yes"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox) (6 days)	14,500	"Walls of Gold" (Fox) (6 days)	15,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (6 days)	3,500	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (6 days)	4,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) (5 days)	3,000	"Dr. Bull" (Fox) (6 days)	5,500	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 10-7 "Tarzan the Fearless"	4,500
Locust	1,300	55c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (2nd week-6 days)	7,000	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (1st week-6 days)	9,000	High 2-11 "Cavalcade"	13,000
							Low 5-6 "The Phantom Broadcast"	4,000
Stanley	3,700	40c-75c	"Night Flight" (MGM) (6 days)	18,000	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.) (6 days)	18,000	High 6-17 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	27,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Stage Mother" (MGM) (6 days)	6,700	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.) (6 days)	7,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM)	5,500	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	6,500	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	2,500	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	4,500	High 10-14 "Torch Singer"	4,500
							Low 2-11 "Central Park"	1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	3,800	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	2,800	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	12,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	2,500	"Rafter Romance" (Radio) (25c-55c)	14,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 8-12 "Double Harness"	1,800
Playhouse	1,600	55c-$1.65	"Silk Express" (W. B.) (25c-40c)	3,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	5,000	.....
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Night Flight" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) (1st week)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
San Francisco
El Capitan	2,900	10c-40c	"Paddy, the Next Best Thing" (Fox)	9,000	"Midnight Mary" (MGM)	8,500	High 7-1 "Out All Night"	13,000
							Low 10-14 "Midnight Mary"	8,500
Embassy	1,380	30c-50c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	3,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	4,000	High 9-9 "Voltaire"	9,000
							Low 3-18 "Hound of the Baskervilles"	2,000
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Curtain at Eight" (Majestic)	8,000	"Brief Moment" (Col.)	10,500	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-65c	"My Woman" (Col.)	8,000	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	10,300	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman"	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	10,700	"Ladies Must Love" (U.)	15,000	.....
Paramount	2,670	25c-75c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	15,000	"My Weakness" (Fox)	15,000	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	28,000
							Low 9-30 "I Loved a Woman"	9,000
St. Francis	1,435	25c-50c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox) and "Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	5,000	"Captured" (W. B.) and "Golden Harvest" (Para.)	5,000	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-15 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Girl Missing"	4,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-90c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	11,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week)	15,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain"	16,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	18,000	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	18,000	High 2-25 "Hard to Handle"	24,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake"	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	3,500	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	5,250	High 2-4 "The Kid From Spain"	6,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Penthouse" (MGM)	5,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	7,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Curtain at Eight" (Majestic)	4,250	"Below the Sea" (Col.) and "World Gone Mad" (Majestic)	3,500	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
							Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Metropolitan	1,800	75c-$1.65	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	5,000	.....		.....
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	6,000	"Goodbye Again" (F. N.)	3,750	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	7,500
							Low 4-1 "Perfect Understanding"	3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-55c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	.....		.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-55c	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (4 days)	2,500	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.)	5,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
			"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3 days)	2,750
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.) (8 days)	6,000	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (2nd week)	4,500	High 4-22 "Kiss Before the Mirror"	11,500
							Low 8-26 "The Devil's in Love"	4,000

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

WORDS TO HEED

What with repeal around the corner and Uncle Sam putting a lot of bad boys into federal jails, it looks like slim pickin' for the professional reformer who, for the past decade, has waxed fat and saucy on the profits obtained from regimenting the country's morals. Now accustomed to this good living, the "career" bluenose will not give up without a struggle, and casts about for something into which to sink hungry teeth.

Always temptingly conspicuous, the motion picture industry has for the most part withstood the battering of reform broadsides, but eternal vigilance must be observed to guard against further invasion. Therefore Martin Quigley's words of warning on questionable advertising, uttered at a recent meeting of the AMPA, can not be disregarded. Obvious is the danger of leaving any openings through which the bluenose gentry may wiggle into the green grass of the industry's pastures.

The responsibility of adequate defense, however, does not rest upon any single shoulder. Everyone concerned with the making and placing of picture advertising, including the manager in the field, must join in presenting the strongest front to discourage attacks of this persistent foe.

More now than ever, the keenest of judgment must be exercised in turning out art and copy that will leave no rough edges upon which can be sharpened the ever ready bayonets of predatory reformers.

▽ ▽ ▽

IN WASHINGTON

Following our procedure of making trips into the field whenever time allows, your chairman spent a highly enjoyable weekend with a flock of the enthusiastic Round Tablers in and about the Capital City who, as busy as they were, let nothing stand in their way to make us at home. And what further impressed us was the note of sincere welcome in the reception accorded patrons at all theatres we visited.

Of course, one might say that with the class of residents there, and the certainty of government payrolls, Washington theatremen can well afford to play the smiling host. From personal observation, however, we feel that the same courtesy and consideration would be extended irrespective of business conditions, with which thought satisfied groups of theatregoing Capital-ites evidently concur. Smart showmen have long since discovered there is no box-office substitute for good manners, and Washington is a spot where this is being proven daily.

We are glad we went; we were sorry to leave. More about the journey is chronicled otherwise in this section; and to those who helped make our stay so pleasant, our deep-felt thanks—and see you soon again.

▽ ▽ ▽

A CHALLENGE

Announcement of the various new products in the preceding pages of this issue is at once a challenge to superior showmanship as well as a harbinger of new hope. No new season in the past few years has given theatremen so much cause for optimism, so much reason to expect greater days. Already, the box offices of the land are responding joyously to the first of the new season's releases, but note that these attractions have provided plenty of money exploitation angles which have aided immeasurably in piling up unprecedented grosses.

Many of the coming productions will do well, but they will do much better if advantage is taken of their many exploitation possibilities. Producers who have answered the nationwide cry for pictures with strong box-office angles have every right to expect the highest endorsement in the form of better grosses from showmen who are to benefit from the new deal.

▽ ▽ ▽

THAT DAY OFF

Whether or not Washington has indicated the way, we are pleased to note a slight bull market on managers' days off, reports coming to our eager ears of the adoption of this sensible procedure by certain circuit heads previously agin' it. Of all the astonishing phenomena which set showbusiness apart, nothing is more fantastic than the infantile conviction that a manager continuously in harness will turn out more work.

It is hard to believe that shrewd, practical exhibitors can fail to observe the financial weaknesses of the seven-day working week, purely from a box-office angle if disregarding all else. A rested, healthy manager means more profit to his employer. That's a cinch, and those who figure differently are untutored in the fundamentals of human endeavor.

Unequivocally we stand firmly for a day off a week for every manager, and we intend to keep firing both barrels at every legitimate target until the goal is reached.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

I THOUGHT IT WAS "MOONSHINE and PRETZELS," SO I PUT A STILL IN THE LOBBY AND GAVE OUT THE MOONSHINE FOR A THROW-A-WAY
MILTON BOSENFELD

Some "throwaway," Milt. 'Sfunny we don't have any samples sent in to Headquarters!

Grid Stuff Big In Buffalo Campaign

Inaugurating the pigskin season appropriately enough with Universal's "Saturday's Millions," Manager A. G. Hyman and Publicity Director Dick Walsh, New LaFayette Theatre, Buffalo, N. Y., put over a football campaign that must have made everyone in town box office, as well as gridiron conscious. As the picture was made from a Saturday Evening Post story, all newsdealers and local junior Post salesmen were contacted. Every dealer displayed a special one sheet card with copy that read—"You've read the story in the Saturday Evening Post. Now see it on the screen, etc.," and half sheet cards with the copy were attached to the boys' magazine carriers (see photo), who also distributed theatre inserts plugging the picture.

Kids Advertising Pix

As the picture was run during the World Series, a clever rain check was distributed to the crowds witnessing the games on a newspaper "playograph" board, which stated that in event of rain between the hours of two and four in Buffalo during the series, the check and 15 cents would admit holder to the picture. Also simulated was a football ticket in which the names of the teams in the picture, title, cast and theatre were mentioned, with copy on the perforated ticket stub stating that the conveniences of a 50-yard line field box could be obtained at regular theatre prices, this set up of course so that "field box" and "$50" stood out most prominently.

Another gag that brought attention was a telegram signed by Ernie Nevers, the famous football star, and sent to every football coach and physical training teacher, plugging the picture and requesting that the receiver advise students of the date, in return for this courtesy, the wire when presented at the box office would be good for two admissions on the opening day. Also different, was the printing of the usual courtesy pass, three times the usual size, and this because it was unusual caused a lot of favorable buzzing.

The above were the outstanding slants of what appears to be a very effective campaign. From the number of stunts and their magniture, Hyman and Walsh are awarded one extra bow for their splendid efforts.

On another page of this section will be found a football article in which is incorporated some of the above gags, as well as others that have helped to bring in extra admissions. Further gridiron tie-up ideas will be published as received.

15,000 Kids Attend McGee's Free Show

A free show, consisting of cartoon shorts, held at the City Coliseum and attended by over 15,000 children, marked the high light of the drive put on by Pat McGee of Regal Theatres, Oklahoma City (Okla.), to call attention to his coming attractions, as reported to the Managers' Round Table by Manager Frank McCabe of the Criterion Theatre.

Realizing the good will possibilities of this showing, the two leading newspapers cooperated enthusiastically, so much so, that Frank reports more consecutive front page stories than have ever been given any theatre in that city. For a week in advance the theatre obtained two column, page one breaks on the big party besides additional publicity on the coming new releases. A number of five and six column cuts were also run, and on the day of the show the morning paper ran a streamer box above the masthead.

But this wasn't all, for the evening paper illustrated its account of the big party with a front page six column photo of the children at the Coliseum, and on the following day the morning paper came across with another three column crowd shot, besides a lengthy story.

There is no estimating the good will value of McGee's party, for not only were these thousands of children sent away singing the praises of the theatre, but through this volume of publicity, every potential theatre patron got a grand earful about the coming attractions. This is an instance of absolute 100 per cent newspaper cooperation, which of course reacted as favorably to the paper.

It should go over as successfully in almost any other location, and Pat McGee or Frank McCabe, no doubt, will be willing to forward further details on the "how" of putting this over to those interested in doing likewise.

SELLING THE SHORT

Manager Harry Sugarman, Egyptian Theatre, Hollywood, Cal., planted an antique organ and wax costumed player in the outer lobby of the theatre to advertise his Master Art "Organlogues," card on music rack carrying copy. The debonair gent on the extreme left, is Harry in person.

First came "SORRELL & SON" Then "THE CHAMP"

and

NOW

"BROKEN DREAMS" WITH RANDOLPH SCOTT MARTHA SLEEPER BERYL MERCER & BUSTER PHELPS

1. He found happiness with this adoring girl after years of suffering.

2. They were going to take her baby—the son he had abandoned in his sorrow.

3. The boy had come between them and their love.

4. He lived for this youngster and the rift widened.

5. He is criticized from an unexpected quarter.

6. Another man comes into their lives — — — Then climax.

"WORTHY OF THE LABEL OF ANY MAJOR PRODUCER"

Associated-Publications

PICTURES TELL THE STORY . . .

MONOGRAM PICTURES

COMING!

"16 FATHOMS DEEP"
with CREIGHTON CHANEY & SALLY O'NEIL

•

"BORN TOUGH"
starring RAY WALKER
with Virginia Cherrill & Geo. E. Stone

•

"WOMAN'S MAN"
by ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHN

•

"JANE EYRE"
by CHARLOTTE BRONTE

•

"MANHATTAN LOVE SONG"
based on CORNELL WOOLRICH'S novel

Presented by

MONOGRAM PICTURES

From the story by OLGA PRINTZLAU

Directed by ROBERT VIGNOLA

Supervised by BEN VERSCHLEISER

37 MONOGRAM EXCHANGES TO SERVE YOU

Advance Giant Sign Advertises "Parade"

Believing in seizing time by the forelock, as the old saying goes, Manager Howard Waugh, Warner Theatre, Memphis, Tenn., started his plugging on "Footlight Parade" sufficiently in advance to create plenty of extra interest in the date, his outstanding "builder-upper" being a giant sign on the theatre building, the letters seven feet high. The accompanying photo gives you an idea of the flash which aroused sufficient curiosity to bring forth comment in local papers.

Building Front Flash

Another slightly different advance idea took the form of a bookmark recommending certain books on various phases of screen history, art and personalities. Attached was a photo of Dick Powell and a plug for the showing, the marker being placed in every outgoing book for weeks ahead at the library with whom Howard made the tieup. These ideas no doubt contributed in corraling the expected grosses on the recent run.

On his "Captured" campaign, Waugh effected hook-ins with his two leading papers, one carrying the press book illustrated six-day fictionization, and the other going for the jumbled star picture contest, in which hundreds of answers were received. Incidentally, the winning entry was in the form of an overlapping NRA banner, in three colors, with each contest picture on a differently colored sheet.

Howard also used half-sheets in his street cars with "ride street car to Warners'" copy, sniped a lot of catchy type one-sheets, planted ads in hotel menus, and, in addition, utilized his regular advertising channels to round out this effective campaign.

Bliss Builds Kid Business With Club

Exploiting neighborhood theatres in thickly congested and highly competitive sections of the big cities requires a lot of ingenuity, especially where the advertising budget is strictly limited. Such an instance is the Boston Road Theatre in the Bronx section of New York, where Manager Maurice Bliss has just successfully completed an introductory campaign for his serial showings of "Tarzan, the Fearless."

Maurice wisely aimed his ammunition at the kids whose patronage he had lost some time previous to another house offering better price inducements. He formed a Tarzan club, issuing the usual membership card and offered a coloring book or picture puzzle set free to those who attended each Saturday when a new chapter was shown, attendance being proven by cards punched at the door.

Besides Tarzan cut-outs and banners, lobby cards were used to ballyhoo the club with samples of the coloring book and puzzle set attached. Bliss reports a very encouraging initial attendance of over 2,000 youngsters with a further prospect of at least 75 per cent of this attendance on succeeding Saturdays.

Newspapers being unavailable, Maurice gets out a nice four-page coated stock, program, five by eight inches. On stage attractions, he puts out varicolored heralds which are distributed from house to house. The problems that beset these neighborhood house managers and the manner in which they are solved, should make interesting reading. In the near future, we hope to have an article from Bliss on this subject.

Goldstein's Hollywood Opening for "Henry VIII"

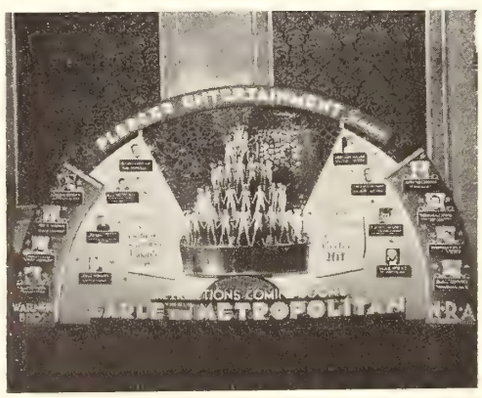
Boston went Hollywood for the premier of "The Private Life of Henry VIII" at the RKO Keith, the campaign being whammed over by publicity head Jack Goldstein, who dug up all the necessary props, such as giant lights across the street on bannered trucks, wires from the stars in lobby displays, formal turnout of many of the city's big shots, and other necessary gags.

Jack put on a special preview for the society, drama, sport and picture editors of all papers the night before, and reaped a nice harvest of cuts and stories the day before his date. One paper went for the press book beard contest, passes given for the names of six bearded persons, and in another daily Goldstein planted a full page in colors on the world's most notorious lovers, with Henry, of course, and the theatre getting a sweet break.

Plugs "Footlight" With Pledged Hits

Below is an illustration of Frank La Falce's certified hit idea we spoke of in a recent issue, the displays being planted in the lobbies of Warner's Earle and Metropolitan Theatres, Washington, D. C. The center of the flash is a cutout of a "Footlight Parade" six sheet, placed against a mirrored background, around which are stills of stars of coming attractions. Frank's work brought plenty of nice comment from the throngs of patrons who stopped to take a peek.

And speaking of lobby-stoppers, we want to say a word for the animated displays at the Metropolitan, where La Falce and Manager Walter Morris are doing some fancy work. They have a honey on "Footlight Parade" which we will have them describe in an early issue.



Washington Lobby Display

Woodin Organizes 120 Piece Boy Band

There is plenty of good publicity to be obtained by the formation and sponsorship of a children's band, and this is amply proven by the organization fostered by Larry Woodin, head man of the Arcadia Theatre, Wellsboro, Pa., who is responsible for one of the finest musical ensembles of its kind, and is now forming another like group.

His last band comprises 120 boy musicians who were taught to play together in the comparatively short period of 12 weeks, many of whom could not play a note before. One hour practice periods were held after school each day, and each player was supplied with the necessary musical instrument through arrangements made with Larry.

In return for his labors, Woodin has the consent of his young bandsmen to play for him whenever required, such as stage concerts, street parades, etc. And of course when the boys play away from the theatre, all accompanying publicity includes mention of their source.

That the publicity results are worthwhile is indicated by a five-column newspaper cut and story which details the story of the band formation and the work Larry did to develop its present perfection. Woodin, of course, has a musical background and has had years of experience in military band work, thus being able to do his own teaching.

Certainly sounds like a honey for a permanent good will and box office stunt which other members might consider, and although few managers may be qualified as Woodin to give the actual instruction, there should be some way of tying up with local music teachers. No doubt, Larry will be glad to furnish further details to those interested.

Ties In Picture To Football Games

From Cleveland, Ohio, where lots of that zippy exploitation originates, we hear from Round Tabler Jack Lykes, skipper of Loew's Stillman, who seized upon the opening of the football season to publicize "This Day and Age" at six high school games taking place on the opening day of the picture.

Jack's idea was a small four-page inexpensive folder, tying in the games to the date, the inside of the folder given over to copy stressing that over 500 Los Angeles high school and junior college students took part in the picture, the plug going on to tie in the theatre and youthful stars, mentioning the fact that the leading female role was played by a recent high school graduate. On the back page the title was hooked in to high school clothings styles to advertise the store which came in on the stunt by paying for half the cost.

On a recent showing of the Paramount short "Captain Henry's Radio Show," Lykes made a hook up with Maxwell House Coffee by which coffee and cake were served free to all patrons, all expenses, including the serving, being paid for by the radio sponsors.

A lobby guessing contest on how many beans in a bowl ran for a week and Jack reports over 2,000 answers for the prizes, which included fur coats, fur coat remodeling and cleaning, the furrier who undertook all the expenses being satisfied with the names and addresses of those who entered the contest.

ABOUT THEATRE POSTER ART

Well Known Wisconsin Artist Gives Suggestions on Proper Mediums to Create Atmosphere

by DONALD EDWIN ANDORFER
Strand Theatre, Whitewater, Wis.

I believe a theatre poster artist should endeavor to inject variety into his work. Many artists develop a certain degree of efficiency in water color or tempera work and are content to paint all their posters in this medium with about the same style of lettering on each. Personally, I like to see each poster a creation with some particular appeal expressive of the character or story in the picture advertised.

We are all familiar with the general practice of portraying the character of a mystery play in green colors. As well as using green colors the artist should be able to draw the head in any light, i.e.: instead of merely copying the star's head from a photograph and reproducing it in the same identical lights and shadows he should be able to change the lighting in the poster to suggest a sinister and creepy atmosphere. One method which is excellent is to have the light reflect on the face from below; this gives a weird appearance which is very desirable.

In addition to using suggestive colors and lighting the lettering must be considered. This ought to be of an odd proportion, preferably high and narrow and sans serif. The lettering may be painted green also or in some complement in a very high tint. The entire poster should be done in a smooth poster technique.

In a poster with feminine appeal there is nothing quite as attractive as pastels. The head should be done in natural colors with few shadows and soft highlights. The lettering should be in a graceful Roman or Italics and all colors should be light in tone. Pastels have an unusual softness which is impossible to attain with any other medium.

In designing a poster advertising a modern sophisticated drama the colors to suggest such an atmosphere are black, white and gray or silver. In drawing the heads an excellent medium to use is charcoal or pencil, also a modernistic layout is preferred, something different, such as laying out the entire poster at a slight angle rather than perpendicular. Lettering should be modernistic.

For musical pictures we may use metallics freely. In a poster of this type it is not necessary to portray any one star; in fact, any design that has color, gaiety and snap to it is preferable. Dancing girls, balloons, metallic notes in an all over pattern, all these tend to create an atmosphere of pleasure and gaiety. The lettering should be of a frivolous but legible design.

In designing a poster on a humorous picture I like to follow the technique of a cartoonist. The whole design should be drawn in pen and ink in an odd layout. Lettering in this case should be of an elliptical shape, much like that used by cartoonists in headings and should be jumbled, one letter overlapping the next, and so on.

On a spectacular picture I suggest the use of oils. There is no medium that so much suggests quality as oil colors with the lettering in a classical Roman or an Old English text.

To create each poster with a particular appeal makes for variety in theatre art which keeps the patron watching for each new poster which packs a sales punch all its own. There is nothing attractive in monotony and a poster soon loses its sales appeal if surrounded by other posters in exactly the same technique and layout. The theatre artist of today should be versatile and do his utmost to create posters with sales appeal that is "different."

Following are a few economy hints: To create each poster different from the other does not necessarily incur great expense. For instance, I find that for posters in oil colors oil wallboard coated with a thin size serves excellently in place of canvas or academy board. For charcoal posters wallboard coated with alabastine will serve the purpose, as this can be washed and reused several times. For pencil portraits I use ordinary inexpensive kid bristol board. The slight grain of the kid finish takes pencil wonderfully.

Blumberg Clicks With "Missing" Lobby

In our story in this issue on Joe Feldman's "Missing Persons" campaign at the Stanley, Pittsburg, Pa., we mentioned that the gagged girl lobby stunt was worthy of duplication and expected that it would be put over in other spots. And sure enough, in comes a swell shot of the gag from Irving Blumberg, skipper of the Philadelphia Stanton, as can be noted from the accompanying photo.

This was one of the gags that stood up alongside of the other effective ideas Irv had working, one especially that had the folks talking being a direct tie-up with the police department, in which Blumberg obtained the pictures and names of local missing persons and flashed these on the screen, tying them in with the picture.

Irv's Live Girl Lobby

Another crowd-stopper was the placing of a finger printing outfit in the lobby with copy inviting mothers to avail themselves of free finger and foot prints of their children. The apparatus was borrowed from the police, with one of the experts from the department on hand to supervise the actual printing. One of the papers ran a shot of the stunt, while the others came in with news stories, all crediting the theatre.

Special four page tabloids, containing pictures of the local missing, the special press book feature story and theatre ads were distributed, "missing" window cards containing pictures of Bette Davis and tie up copy were planted in windows, as were the half sheet pictorial news flashes with scenes from the picture.

Blumberg also used some of the successful lobby gags from the New York Strand engagement which, with the rest of his campaign, brought in a highly deserved and satisfactory gross.

Free Beer Protest Tilts Box Office Take

A friendly objection from his local ministerial union to the serving of free beer in the lobby on the showing of "Moonlight and Pretzels" at the Fox-Sequoia Theatre, Redwood City, Cal., brought forth a flock of newspaper publicity that did plenty to help Manager Thomas J. Kane jam his house.

Kane Emcee's Brew Party

In a telegram to Tom from the ministers, carried in full in the papers, reference was made to the growing place the Sequoia has in the entertainment life of the city, stressing the fact that the no-beer suggestion was made in the spirit of friendship. Kane's answer, in a published interview, was very diplomatic, at the same time bringing in the picture and theatre for a strong plug.

Naturally, this all smoked up a lot of business besides customers for the free brew, as can be observed in the shot above, in which the genial Tom can be distinguished in the left foreground, being the gent with the mustache, and from his expression, not displeased with the reception has idea received from the celebrating customers.

Incidentally, to show his sportsmanship, Kane loaned a piano and a lot of spots to one of the protesting ministers who was putting on a free show against the theatre.

WE DO OUR PART in helping you to prosperity by offering this proven money-maker

A GAUMONT-BRITISH PRODUCTION
EVELYN LAYE
in "WALTZ TIME"
ADAPTED FROM Johann Strauss' IMMORTAL VIENNESE OPERETTA "Die Fledermaus"

Encouraged by the tremendous success of our production, "Be Mine Tonight," Gaumont-British Picture Corporation of America has selected "Waltz Time" as the initial production the company will distribute direct to theatres, marking the debut of the company as a national distributor. We feel the picture is a worthy one to launch the company on this new departure.

Just completed three big weeks at the Little Carnegie Playhouse, N. Y.

Book direct from

NRA U.S. WE DO OUR PART

Gaumont British
Picture Corporation of America

226 W. 42nd St., New York
Telephone WIsconsin 7-1756

WEDDIN' BELLS

A card from Asheville gives us the glad news that Round Tabler Sonny Shepherd, skipper of the Mayfair Theatre, Miami, Fla., and his fair bride, the former Rosalie Carrington, are now honeymooning. Sonny is to be congratulated on his good fortune, and Rosalie also rates a bow for having the courage to marry into showbusiness. They're both aces, and we all wish them the very best of the very best.

Boston Also Goes For "Bowery" Party

The old fashioned costume party angle continues to remain one of the high lights of "The Bowery" campaigns, being also used by Manager Joe DiPesa in advance of the date at Loew's State, Boston, Mass., where it took the form of a Bowery waltz contest, staged at one of the leading ballrooms. Entrants were requested of course to come in costume, where cash prizes as well as theatre admissions were awarded the winners. The event was publicized by the dance operators and the ballroom generously decorated in advance with one sheets, stilled stills and other theatre advertising.

Newspaper cooperation included the story's serialization in one paper and the special display of old fashioned photos in the picture section of another daily, which in addition hooked in on a special newsboy party. A radio tie in was also made for a Bowery program consisting of the songs of that period, the theatre and attraction being mentioned often during the broadcast.

Displays were set in all windows of a number of chain men's hat stores, with the latest styles in derbies contrasting those worn during the days of the picture, and further attention was called to the idea with window strips at each location.

A street bally consisted of Bowery-costumed boy and girl in an old fashioned cab which paraded the principal streets of the city, and to further carry out the atmosphere, the simulated pink Police Gazette tabloids were distributed from all barber shops, the entire campaign effectually selling the colorful background of the picture as well as the intriguing title and the well known stars.

AMERICAN PREMIERE

Manager Milton H. Chamberlain, of Leo Brecher's New York "Little Carnegie" Theatre, is responsible for this snappy front on the first American showing of the Gaumont-British production of "Waltz Time." Milt's display is quite colorful, at the same time conveying the class atmosphere of the theatre.

Davis Turns Out Effective Front

Probably and rightly so, C. W. Davis, one of the Club's oldest members, sends us a shot of the front of his new theatre, "The Rockingham," in which you will notice none other than "C. W." himself, that he manages in addition to the Broadway Theatre, Reidsville. N. C. The new house has a capacity of 620 seats, and to judge from the appearance of the general exterior, the inside must be as comfortable and well-appointed.

On "Gold Diggers," Davis built two three-panel hinged boards which were decorated with the girl posters, the box office panels and lobby board with stills, all of which were personally painted by this practical manager. Lighting included a flood light on top of the marquee in addition to 100 watt blues on each end of with reds in the center, the lights under the marquee being killed to heighten the general effect of the posters, al of which attracted attention.

Davis' "Digger" Front

Dooley Devises Unique Presentation Stunt

Showmanship applied to presentation of the Master Art, popular "Organlogues," as devised by Chas. Dooley, of Warner Bros. Theatre zone chief in Patterson and Passaic, N. J., has brought favorable audience reaction and is worthy of duplication in other houses.

Desiring to bring these shorts into more intimate touch with his audience, Dooley arranged to have his organist accompany at his console the organ rendition from the screen. This gave the effect of a dual organ performance, and when the music on the screen faded to permit the rendition of the "Organlogue" songs, the house organ faded with it; when the music swelled forth again the house organist turned on his power, too, in his part.

Dooley's experiment has been so successful that he has succeeded in creating a new interest among his patrons for "Organlogue." Not only have there been continuous comments and requests for information as to when these shorts would appear, but the added intimacy produced by the use of the "flesh" organist in addition to the screen performance was evidenced by unusually strong response from the patrons whenever opportunity permitted audience participation.

Washington Round Tablers Fine Hosts

We packed us a bag, and hiked us over to the "code country" last weekend to visit with the Club members in the Capitol City.

The first of the "welcoming committees" was that fine showman Frank LaFalce, Warner zone ad chief, who took us to the Warner offices, where we met genial General Manager John J. Payette, George Crouch, chief booker, and Round Tablers W. C. Ewing, Earle Theatre ad chief; Maurice Blouin, Metropolitan Theatre ad chief, and Roy C. Schatt, art head. Then a tour of the finely equipped Warner Club headquarters with its game music and private managers' rooms, all very swanky and comfortable.

The next stop was at Loew's Fox to see that swell person, Round Tabler Carter Barron, ad head Lew Brown, and we also met Carter's charming wife. Barron and your chairman both served an apprenticeship at the Grand, in Atlanta, so we had quite a bit to talk about. Also present were Clubites Bill Fisher, Loew's Columbia manager, and Angie Ratto, Loew's Palace skipper, not forgetting another old friend, Norman Pyle, MGM'ing "Dinner at Eight."

Then over to say hello to Hardie Meakin, boss at the RKO Keith's, where we also saw Assistant Manager S. L. Sorkin. Hardie was up to his ears on a lot of hot stuff, but had time to tell us a bit of some of his campaigns. After a pleasant visit there, we picked up Frank LaFalce, and after dinner went over to the Metropolitan to meet Manager Walter Morris, and to study some of the animated lobby displays which were attracting crowds. Incidentally, Frank and Walter are going to tell us how they do it for the information of the membership. A stop at the Rialto to meet Manager Rodney Collier and Assistant Rheingold Wallach, then back to the Earle to see Manager Harry Lohmeyer and Production Manager Guy Wonders, another old friend.

Sunday was just as busy. Frank Boucher came up from Hagerstown and showed us the town while we were stopping off at the Avalon to see Manager Walter Cressley, and at the Ambassador for a visit with Bob Etris and Alan Bachrach. We missed Dan Reynolds at the Avenue Grand, and Jim Root, at the Savoy, and as time was growing short, had to pass up a few other of our members, whom we expect to meet at the Round Table "Get-Together" those Washingtonians expect to put on next month.

Then another merry dinner party, among those present including old friends Harry Hunter, Paramount branch manager, and Mrs. Hunter. We still had some time before our train left, and got a closeup of the Washington theatre situation from Frank Boucher, who toted us all over town, explaining each local operation. Smart showman, that lad. Next the sleeper, and back to New York, to sit down and tell you folks about this informative and enjoyable occasion.

Particularly were we impressed with the spirit of hospitality that evidenced itself at the theatres. Much midnight oil is spent in doping out just what to do to bring 'em in, and the results are evidently worth while. It's a great treat to visit in Washington and we hope to find occasion to make another soon as well as journeys to other nearby cities.—MIKE.

KING FOOTBALL PRESENTS MANY SLANTS FOR INCREASED BUSINESS

Opportunities for Exploitation of Fall Season Sport Open to Smart Theatremen Hunting for Ideas to Bring Added Grosses

Now that the football season is in full swing with the preliminary setups out of the way, managers are planning tieups of various sorts with local and nearby schools and college major games. Already, we have reports on some snappy gridiron campaigns put over by live showmen, and the following outlines some of the pigskin ideas that have and are helping grosses. Though not of necessity original, they have proven practical where used, and are recommended for consideration and review by the membership.

Football Rally

This, of course, is one of the most effective stunts, and where managers have not as yet put it on, the details of one we put over in New York might prove interesting. It titled our day's gross $400 at a cost of just three bucks. At that time, we were running the Park Plaza, just a step from New York University, and the "U" sports committee wanted to put on a rally on the eve of their most important game with Fordham.

We arranged to sell student tickets at a discount with a minimum guarantee of 500 admissions, these tickets handled exclusively by the committee at the college, and were not sold at the theatre box office. We rearranged our schedule to permit a college stage program, decorated the houses inside and out front with college flags and banners borrowed from the students, and reserved a section for them, to be occupied at an exact designated hour.

A college torchlight parade from the college grounds to the theatre, in which students, team, coaches participated, led by the "U" band, and the musicians gave a concert in the outer lobby as the boys marched in to their seats. The stage program included pep talks by coaches and players, as well as band concert, cheering and community singing, for which we supplied slides, the melodies played by the house organist.

Of course, we had some extra police and ushers on hand to keep some of the peppier students in line, but previous traffic rehearsals with the house staff enabled us to run the affair smoothly and enjoyably.

Visiting Teams

The rally idea can be adapted for more than "once" stunt at home games where local and visiting coaches are agreeable. The visitors should be invited to take part in the program, and the house be decorated with their flags and banners as well. Having a different football night as often as the occasion permits should pep up your regular program and should be enjoyed by your patrons.

Lobby Ideas

If for some reason you can't put on the rally, at least you can consider decorating the lobby and theatre with pennants and flags of the home, and possibly, visiting teams in advance and on days of the games. This can also be carried out when the home team plays away from town, with the addition of scores posted in the outside lobby and on the screen as they come in on the wire.

Where photos of individual players, teams, coaches, etc., can be obtained, these might be planted in lobby, with appropriate copy for lobby. Also you might be able to obtain from your newspaper photographers, copies of action shots showing certain spectacular and scoring plays. This can also be done by managers or local photogs. with quick action cameras.

Sport Page Tieups

Last year, many papers ran score contests on sport pages, by printing a list of local and outside games, and awarding prizes for those guessing the greatest number of winners and the nearest to the actual scores. Morris Kinzler, ad chief, New York Roxy, adapted this to his "Saturday's Millions" date, by distributing contest blanks at the theatre and local games giving passes for the best guesses. So you see, it can be put on with or without newspaper co-operation, the former, of course, preferred.

Recently, two coaches invited all football fans in their cities to attend a demonstration game, during which the new rulings and plays were explained through loudspeakers. This could be adapted by tieing in with local sport editors and coaches in two ways. First, stage the demonstration on your stage, the players merely "walking" through the plays as explained, and secondly, by a blackboard talk from your stage by the coach, possibly the day before the games.

Outside Exploitation

Programs, of course, are great stuff for reminder advertising at games, and the one Jack Lykes put over in Cleveland just recently is very good and detailed in this issue. Hi Shulgold used to put out some excellent four-page programs in McKees Rocks, Pa., also by tieing in with local merchants for back-page store ad, which paid for printing.

Hi would devote the two inside pages to home and visiting team lineups and score card, at the bottom of which he plugged his attraction. Front page merely announced the names of teams and field, and these were distributed at local stadium. Shulgold "keyed" the idea by using a lucky number stunt, and found that the program was bringing in excellent returns.

Imprinted cardboard megaphones were distributed at local games by Kinzler, and he also used the fake ticket gag, which we described in this issue's Buffalo "Millions" campaign, as put on by Hyman and Walsh at the New Lafayette.

Balloons of all sizes are effective for outside bally. Review the story we ran a few weeks ago on U. A.'s "Bowery" balloon gag at the World Series. Also consider small colored imprinted balloons for give-aways at games, either blown up with hydrogen or distributed flat. If you can get ballons in local college colors, you might work some kind of a mass pennant idea between halves, spelling out the school name, etc., your ad, of course, appearing on all balloons.

Floats with sound equipment at parks before and after games, also possibly on the field during halves, with sales talk via microphone, makes a good attractor. Herald, coin or circular distribution by boys or girls on float should, too, be considered. Arnold Stoltz used a circular, cut in shape of a pennant, which has its points, as no die is needed and it should not be any more expensive than flat cuts.

During the Show

Where games are broadcast, hook this in to your mezzanine or lounge radio. If not, you can report scores from stage between pictures. Of course, the football shorts attract many, and if you haven't booked these, consider their possibilities, as they are a mine for tieup exploitation.

And last, but far from least, is the showing of actual pictures taken at important games played by the home team. This is a guaranteed grosser, and if you can stand the expense, or work out a cooperative hookup with some live-wire merchants to split the nut, it is highly recommended.

The above stunts are suggested to be tied in with local teams. We have not touched upon tieups with feature football pictures, as these are covered in the various press books, and also in our back issues.

However, in passing we might repeat mention of the Buffalo "Millions" telegram stunt also described in this issue wherein every local football coach and physical training director was wired about the picture. Arnold Stoltz also had some success with telegraphed messages plugging his gridiron pictures which were sent to all local and nearby college fraternity presidents and sorority heads signed by the male stars of the pigskin features to the former, and by female leads to the latter.

Intelligent handling of football exploitation brings hefty returns, and we look forward to receiving in the next few weeks a raft of swell pigskin tieups from the field.

—MIKE.

On this page we have endeavored to set forth what has been and is being done by football-conscious showmen to promote business through hook-ins with the pigskin game, locally and otherwise. This is a big gridiron year, and smart managers are availing themselves of every opportunity to get in. For some of the ideas on this page we are indebted to: Jack Lykes, Loew's Stillman, Cleveland, Ohio; A. R. Hyman and Dick Walsh, New Lafayette, Buffalo, N. Y.; Morris Kinzler, Roxy, New York, and Hi Shulgold, formerly at the Roxian, McKees Rocks, Pa.

Some Proven Ideas That Should Work Profitably Inside and Out To Tie In Theatre With School and College Games

Click Gags on Various Anthony Campaigns

The snappy front that Manager Bob Anthony created for "Doctor Bull" at the Glove, Gloversville, N. Y., certainly should have been responsible for a flock of extra admissions, and although it is not unduly spectacular, it sure sells the picture, as can be judged from the accompanying photo. One of Bob's clever gags was a physician's prescription blank in which the doctor's name and office at the theatre were printed at the top, followed by "office hours"—the dates and times of showing, with "fees"—prices, and tie-up prescription copy under the signature of the "doctor" illustrated by a face cut of Will Rogers.

Bob's Selling Front

On "Moonlight and Pretzels," Bob got himself together an effective campaign which was put over inexpensively, the highlight of which was a ballyhoo truck that carried an amplifying system and was used within a 20-mile radius for four days in advance. A plane was also promoted, from which one of the house personnel dropped pretzels which were attached to balloons, some of the latter carrying passes to the showing. Through newspaper stories, readers were requested to watch for the guest tickets and crowds turned out in all the communities over which the pilot flew.

Anthony switched the tempo of his exploitation on his next attraction, "The Power and the Glory," by sending out under his own signature a very sincere endorsement of the picture in the form of a letter to his mailing list, and also to civic leaders, educators and other prominent locals.

The activities above described indicate that Brother Anthony is stepping along to keep his attractions in the public eye. Good enough, Bob, and hope to hear from you.

Feldman's Gagged Gal Stunt Jams Street

A sweet traffic-stopper, that no doubt will be repeated in many other spots is Joe Feldman's lobby plant on "Missing Persons" in which he gagged and tied a good looking gal to a post in front of the theatre, with strong copy from the ads blown up to frame her in. The copy was headed with "Lost" in three foot letters, following with, "What happens to thousands of girls who never come home again? You'll learn the heart-wringing truth in this breathless story of the men who know everything about 'lost' women, kidnapped beauties, runaway wives, disappointed brides in etc., etc."

In addition the theatre's public announcement system was used to make regular police calls stating that so and so had been kidnapped from her home and to report all clues to the Bureau of Missing Persons.

The pulling power of these stunts proved more than surprising as traffic was stopped time and again. As it should be, for the stunt is a honey and warrants duplication on many other engagements of this picture. There is nothing difficult about putting it over and it will prove to be an ace attraction wherever crowds pass.

Animated Lobby Flash Keeps Standees Interested

Sedge Coppock does not believe in passing up any opportunities to acquaint lobby standees with his coming productions, and as his waiting crowds at the Paramount, Stapleton (S. I.) have become an almost nightly occurrence, Sedge has worked out a clever little animated lobby device.

In the center of a large poster, headed "New Deal in Entertainment," a galvanized sheet metal drum is secured, upon which are mounted various pages from the Paramount's new season announcement book. To further ornament the device, heads of Paramount stars are placed on silvered backgrounds, these rimming the Paramount trade mark underneath and surrounding the drum, which is kept revolving.

Small bits of glass applied to the surface of the drum pick up rays of colored lights, from a battery of spot lights at the other end of the lobby, the resultant darting light rays attracting plenty of attraction. Coppock designed the display, which was constructed by Harold Nelson, house artist.

Incidentally, we are pleased to note the various ingenious uses the Round Tablers are making of the announcement book advertising possibilities and Sedge is the first one who has come across with a flash that moves as it sells.

Paramount Week Put Over In South American Countries

For some time past, Latin American theatre managers have availed themselves of the benefits of modern exploitation methods, as members have noted in the numerous foreign campaigns detailed in the Round Table section. Albert Deane of Paramount International, sends over a report from John B. Nathan, general manager in the Canal Zone, describing some of the ideas put over on Paramount week.

The cities of Colon and Panama in the Republic of Panama fell in line enthusiastically with all theatres decorated and exceptional advertising campaigns in all newspapers, the Sunday edition of the leading Panama daily devoting four complete pages to the big week, at a cost to the company of only $6.

Imprinted napkins were distributed in restaurants and cafes, store windows were decorated, tire covers and many other advertising aids were used to make the entire Republic Paramount conscious, the campaign winding up the night before the opening with a torch light parade, illuminated floats, bands, etc.

Nathan further reports that like campaigns were put over in Colombia, Venezula, and many of the Central American cities, the results proving that South American motion picture patrons respond as spontaneously to our exploitation methods as they do to our pictures.

"IT CAN BE HAD"

That Hollywood round trip prize offered by Paramount for the best campaign on "I'm No Angel" is causing a lot of buzzing among the membership. The contest is now open, closing on Jan. 1, and every theatre playing the picture within that time is eligible to enter advertising and exploitation campaigns.

A week at the studios including a visit with Mae West sounds very attractive, and we expect that many Round Tablers will go after the fancy award.

Hippodrome Ad Men Effect Good Hookups

From Cleveland (Ohio), hot-bed of hot stuff exploitation, comes a number of sock stunts conceived and executed by J. Knox Strachan, ad chief, and Lou Wasserman, publicity director, Hippodrome Theatre. Tying in one of the leading news companies on a plug for the personal appearance of Edmund Lowe, the boys sold the idea of bannering 100 delivery trucks (see photo), as a hook-in on a fan magazine.

Carrying out the flying angle on "F. P. 1," 200,000 colored heralds advertising the picture were tossed from a plane flying low over the city. Strachan's newspaper ads are to be commended, especially his one-column display into which he packs plenty of selling appeal, an example which we will endeavor to run shortly.

Hipp's Newspaper Truck Tieup

The signing of the Fox product for the coming season was signalized in a six-column art spread in the amusement section of one of the leading papers, accompanied by a two-column story. These are just a few of the stunts that have been worked by these keen showmen.

AN ACE THRILLER FRONT

The stand out stunt of the New York Mayfair Theatre front on Monogram's "Devil's Mate" was the exact replicas of electric chairs planted on each side of the box office. Note the hooded occupants strapped into the chairs. Ed Finney reports crowded lobbies as a result.

WE HAVE WITH US TODAY!

GUSTAV SCHUMANN
helps swell our list of German members who have recently joined the Club. Gus is the manager of the Hamburg, Gloria and City Theatres in Hamburg and, if that's as big a job as it sounds, he should have plenty to tell us about how he keeps his houses out of the red. Let's be a-hearin' from you.

A. K. VEACH
manages the Warner Harris Theatre in Findlay, Ohio and that little old state is of the most active in showman circles and we're sure Ken will help make it a little more so. We bid you welcome and await with interest your contributions to these pages.

C. RUSSELL MARSH
comes to us from Wheeling, West Va. where he manages the Rialto Theatre. Well, Russ, one of our most active members in your own city is Sig Solomon; suppose you remember us to him and try to follow his example of activity in the Club.

ALFRED GORTON
manages the Babylon Lichtspieltheater in Berlin, Germany and that's a mouth full for anyone to pronounce. Maybe you know the rest of the men who have joined from nearby cities, Al, and between the lot of you you ought to work up a little friendly competition.

B. CUNNINGHAM
is the owner manager of the Cuningham Theatre in Chicago, Ill. out in Fair Way and he must be putting on some excellent stunts to keep them coming to his house in the face of the Halls of Science, etc. that are the main attractions right now. If you ever get around to seeing our good friend Bunny Bryan at the Belmont, remember us to him, will you?

HARRY ROSENBAUM
joins us from the Mt. Vernon Theatre in Mt Vernon, N. Y. a Loew house and a darn good-looking one at that; we know, we used to live there and frequent the house on many occasions. Well, Harry, you're not so far from Broadway that you can't take a run in one of these days just to say hello and get a look at the Round Table.

FRED JAMES SMIDMORE
manages the Trocadero in Liverpool, England and is a young lad of twenty-seven summers and as many winters. The only Trocadero we can boast of over here is a night club, Fred, vastly different from your cinema, so let's hear about your activities.

C. H. O'RAE is the assistant manager of the Imperial Theatre in Sarnia, Ontario, Can. and makes sure that he's a full-fielged member by getting his emblem pin at the same time he joins. With the interest you display in your Club, O'Rae, we're hoping you'll develop into an old stand by in the pages.

BENJAMIN RESNICK
manages the Astoria Grand for Skouras in Astoria, L. I. where he has three changes a week, enough to keep any man busy particularly in as busy a town as Astoria. Ben, are you any relation to A. D. Resnick, another good Round Tabler?

NAT ALLENTUCK
is up in the Bronx where he manages the Belmont theatre and in as congested a neighborhood as you are spotted in Nat, they must keep you pretty busy. You know you're not so far from Club headquarters either that you couldn't stop in and wipe your feet on the little old welcome mat. Why not try it?

M. L. RHANN
comes from way down South Caroliney way where he managers the Strand in Edgefield. "M. L." is another one of our younger members to sign on the dotted line and unless we miss our guess we're going to hear lots more from him, don't fall down on us Rhann.

EARLE E. BELCIA
manages the Fulton Theatre in Jersey City, N. J., for Skouras and we've got a lot of staunch friends in your outfit over your way, Earle. so you'd better get busy and keep us posted or we'll get the gang to "give you the works." Men such as great big "he man" Al Unger, Hill, E. D. Ardvany, et al will get to work on you and I'm sure you wouldn't want that to happen, would you?

PERRY L. LESSY
is the assistant manager of the Diamond Theatre in Philadelphia, Pa. and it isn't often that an assistant comes to us as well recommended as Perry whose boss says "a chap whose ambition will make him manager of a large theatre very soon." That's pretty swell, Lessy, and the best way to start is thru these pages, what say?

RALPH C. FRETZ
holds down the reins at the Granda Theatre in Olyphant, Pa. and he's only twenty one. They sure make the showmen young these days as witness some of these who have joined us lately. Whatever happened to Dowling formerly at your house, Ralph? Keep in touch.

FRED D. ARNN
manages the Criterion Theatre in Poplar Bluff, Mo. and since we can't boast of another member in Popular Bluff, it's up to him to keep that town on the Club map. Fred was proposed for membership by our good friend W. M. Griffin and they don't come any better, so you're in with a vengance and we want to know what you intend doing about it.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

NAME

POSITION

THEATRE

ADDRESS

CITY STATE

DATE OF BIRTH

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

SAMUEL J. LONDON
is out in Detroit, Mich. at the Capitol Theatre. Some of our best friends are "Detroiters" Sam and it won't be long before you're included in the list. You're officially in now, but it's up to you to earn a reputation for yourself via these pages. Remember us to Freddie Schader over at the Detroit.

GEORGE J. NEALEANS is the assistant to Rolin Stonebrook at the Alabama Theatre in Birmingham, Ala. and he's another assistant by whom the boss swears (not at whom). Rolin says George is the best assistant manager the theatre has had and that's something coming from Stonebrook. Well with the Alabama sewn up 100% Round Table, we ought to be hearing from one of the two of you quite frequently.

SYDNEY J. POPPAY
manages the Virginia Theatre in Atlantic City, N. J. and with the winter season about to descend on Syd, we should be keeping Uncle Sam busy dragging letters back and forth. One of these days we might hop down to see you of a Sunday; so keep the old welcome mat out and ready for the greeting. In the meantime, if you get up here—be sure to come in and say Howdy.

SAM HANDLER
comes from the Rivera Theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y. and first met the Round Table Club at the "free-for-all" at the Brass Rail as he calls it. Hadn't joined us up to that time, though admits to following our pages. Well, Sam, start the ball a rolling and don't wait for the next get-together for us to hear from you.

GEORGE W. JINKS
manages the Endicott Theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y. maybe you know Sam Handler, George? If you don't there's no better way to get acquainted with him and our host of other members from your city of churches than thru these pages. We're willing to bet that almost any street you walk down in Brooklyn, you'll stumble over a brother member, and when you do I'll bet he'll be an active one.

MARION RHOADES
is the manager of Schine's Miami Theatre out in Piqua, Ohio, and he joins the way we'd like all of our new members to. He sends in a contribution which shows promise of his becoming an active member. Are we right, Marion? Keep the old mail humming; we like it, and Schine is certainly well represented in the Club's roster.

IVAN UTTER
is the assistant manager of the Hamilton Theatre in Lancaster, Pa., and comes well recommended by his boss, H. J. Thacher, also a member. Now that we have the Hamilton sewed up 100 per cent Round Tabley speaking, there's no reason why we shouldn't hear lots more from Lancaster.

ALAN RAPPEPORT
holds down the manager's job at Warner's Princess Theatre in Camden, N. J., and here we were so sure that there wasn't a Jersey Warner man not actually a member of the Club. Well, Alan, we're pretty sure you're about the last of those in the Warner outfit on the outside looking in. Don't you ever get over this way so that you can come in and say hello?

HERMAN EGNOLFF
manages the Westend Lichtspiele in Magdeburg, Germany, and apparently Herman can tell us plenty about showbusiness if he would because he's fifty-seven years old and has been at it for some time. How about it, can we count on you to sort of keep us posted on things theatrical in your part of Germany?

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dude Bandit, The	Hoot Gibson-Gloria Shea	May 1	67
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Shriek in the Night, A	Ginger Rogers-Lyle Talbot	Apr. 15	70	Mar. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Cheaters
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Picture Brides — Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey — 68 — Oct. 14
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used
Without Children

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5

Coming Feature Attractions

Broadway After Dark
In the Money — "Skeets" Gallagher-Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20
Ann Carver's Profession	Fay Wray-Gene Raymond	May 26	68	June 17
Below the Sea (Alternate title: "Hell's Cargo")	Ralph Bellamy-Fay Wray	Apr. 25	79	June 10
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
Circus Queen Murder, The	Adolphe Menjou-Greta Nissen-Donald Cook	Apr. 10	65	May 13
Cocktail Hour	Bebe Daniels-Sidney Blackmer-Randolph Scott	June 5	74	June 10
Dangerous Crossroads	Chic Sale-Diane Sinclair	June 15	62	July 1
East of Fifth Ave. (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20
Hell's Cargo (See "Below the Sea")
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Master of Men (See "Man of Steel," "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Night of Terror	Bela Lugosi-Sally Blane	Apr. 24	65	Aug. 5
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30
Rusty Rides Alone	Tim McCoy-Barbara Weeks	May 26	58
Soldiers of the Storm	Regis Toomey-Anita Page	Apr. 4	67	May 27
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30
Unknown Valley	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	May 5	69	Aug. 26
What Price Innocence?	Willard Mack-Jean Parker	June 29	64	July 1
Whirlwind, The	Tim McCoy-Alice Dahl	Apr. 14	68	Aug. 5
Woman I Stole, The	Jack Holt - Raquel Torres - Fay Wray	May 1	63	July 8
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Criminal Within, The — Bruce Cabot-Mary Brian
Fighting Code, The — Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair
Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Fog — Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny
House of Murder — June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy
King of the Wild Horses — Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Man's Castle, A — Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Night Bus
Ninth Guest
Once to Every Woman
World's Fair — Jack Holt

EQUITABLE PICTURES

[Distributed through Majestic]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cheating Blondes	Thelma Todd-Rolfe Haroldе	Apr. 1	66	Aug. 19
Gigolettes of Paris	Madge Bellamy-Gilbert Roland	Mar. 15	65
What Price Decency?	Dorothy Burgess - Alan Hale - Walter Byron	Mar. 1	60	Mar. 11

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Throne of God (Tent.)		Aug.	56 and 39

Coming Feature Attractions

Dassan — 51 and 38

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	78	Sept. 2
Central Airport	Richard Barthelmess	Apr. 15	75	Apr. 1
Elmer the Great	Joe E. Brown	Apr. 22	74	Apr. 1
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	65	June 17
Heroes for Sale	Richard Barthelmess - Loretta Young	June 17	76	May 27
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	80	Sept. 16
Lilly Turner	Ruth Chatterton-Geo. Brent	May 13	64	Apr. 29
Little Giant, The	Edward G. Robinson	May 20	74	Apr. 15
Mind Reader, The	Warren William	Apr. 1	68	Feb. 25
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young-Lyle Talbot	July 15	62	June 17
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	69	Sept. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside — Warren William
Convention City — Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor
Dark Hazard — Edward G. Robinson
Female — Ruth Chatterton — Nov. 4 — 60 — Oct. 21
Hi, Nellie! — Paul Muni
Mandalay — Kay Francis
Massacre — R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak
Son of a Sailor — Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown
World Changes, The — Paul Muni — Nov. 25

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adorable	Janet Gaynor-Henry Garat	May 19	83	May 20
Arizona to Broadway	James Dunn-Joan Bennett	June 30	67	July 29
Best of Enemies	Marian Nixon-"Buddy" Rogers	June 23	71	July 22
Cavalcade	Clive Brook-Diana Wynyard	Apr. 15	110	Jan. 14
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hello, Sister	James Dunn-Boots Mallory	Apr. 14	56	May 13
Hold Me Tight	James Dunn-Sally Eilers	May 26	71	May 27
I Loved You Wednesday	Warner Baxter - Elissa Landi - Miriam Jordan-Victor Jory	June 16	75	June 24
It's Great to Be Alive	Edna May Oliver-Raul Roulien	June 2	68	July 1
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25
Life In the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gayner-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman-Marian Nixon-Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Trick for Trick	Ralph Morgan-Victor Jory	Apr. 21	69	June 17
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Warrior's Husband, The	Elissa Landi - Ernest Truex - David Manners	May 12	68	May 6
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14
Zoo in Budapest	Gene Raymond-Loretta Young	Apr. 28	85	Apr. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

As Husbands Go — Warner Baxter-Eleanor Lynn — Jan. 5,'34
Berkeley Square — Leslie Howard-Heather Angel — Nov. 3 — 90 — July 22
Frontier Marshall — George O'Brien-Irene Bentley — Jan. 26,'34
Hoopla — Clara Bow-Preston Foster — Nov. 30
I Am Suzanne — Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond — Dec. 22
I Was a Spy — Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll-Conrad Veidt — Dec. 15 — 75 — Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Nov. 24
Mr. Skitch — Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts — Dec. 29
My Lips Betray — Lilian Harvey-John Boles — Nov. 10
Olsen's Big Moment — El Brendel — Dec. 8
7 Lives Were Changed — Heather Angel-Norman Foster — Jan. 12,'34
Smoky — Victor Jory-Irene Bentley — Nov. 17
Stranger in the Night — Victor Jory — Feb. 23,'34
Three Against Death — Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Deadwood Pass	Tom Tyler	May 5
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30
Kiss of Araby	Maria Alba-Walter Byron	Apr. 21
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	Jack Hulbert-Cecily Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert		68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo
Love in Morocco (Reviewed under the title "Baroud")	Rex Ingram		67	Oct. 15,'32
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Joan Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Man They Couldn't Arrest	Hugh Wakefield		70	Mar. 25
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	May 26	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
Soldiers of the King	Cecily Courtneidge - Anthony Bushell
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Mathews-Owen Nares		79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye-Fritz Schulz		90	Aug. 12

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanagh	Oct. 1	74
Gun Law	Jack Hoxie-Betty Boyd	Apr. 15	62	Aug. 26
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	73	Aug. 19
Trouble Busters	Jack Hoxie-Lane Chandler	May 15	55
World Gone Mad, The	Pat O'Brien-Evelyn Brent	Apr. 1	80	Apr. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Nov.	1

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alimony Madness	Helen Chandler-Leon Waycoff	Apr.. 1	65	May 13
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July 1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Her Resale Value	June Clyde-George Lewis	Apr. 15	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June 15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July 28	79	Aug. 5
Barbarian, The	Ramon Novarro-Myrna Loy	May 12	88	Apr. 15
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 9
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27
Devil's Brother, The	Laurel and Hardy-Dennis King-Thelma Todd	May 5	92	Apr. 8
Hell Below	Robt. Montgomery-Jimmy Durante - Robt. Young - Walter Huston-Madge Evans	June 9	105	Apr. 15
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July 7	89	July 8
Looking Forward	Lewis Stone-Benita Hume-Lionel Barrymore	Apr. 28	83	Apr. 1
(Reviewed under the title, "The New Deal")
Made on Broadway	R. Montgomery-Sally Eilers	May 19	69	Apr. 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20
Midnight Mary	Loretta Young-Ricardo Cortez	June 30	76	June 17
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Nuisance, The	Lee Tracy-Madge Evans	June 2	80	May 6
(Reviewed under the title, "Never Give a Sucker a Break")
Peg O' My Heart	Marion Davies-Onslow Stevens	May 26	85	May 20
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Reunion in Vienna	John Barrymore-Diana Wynyard-Frank Morgan	June 16	100	May 6
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July 14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July 21	89	July 15
Today We Live	Joan Crawford-Gary Cooper	Apr. 21	115	Apr. 22
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
When Ladies Meet	Ann Harding-Alice Brady-Robt. Montgomery-Myrna Loy	June 23	85	June 3
White Sister, The	Helen Hayes-Clark Gable	Apr. 14	101	Mar. 25

Coming Feature Attractions

Cat and the Fiddle, The	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	76
Comin' Round the Mountain	May Robson-Polly Moran
Dancing Lady	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable
(See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt		113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Late Christopher Bean, The	Marie Dressler-Lionel Barrymore
Malibu	Jean Parker-David Landau
Overland Bus	Rob't Montgomery-Madge Evans
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston		68
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Vinegar Tree, The	Lionel Barrymore-Alice Brady-Conway Tearle
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Black Beauty	Alex. Kirkland-Esther Ralston	May 10	70	Apr. 29
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68
Crashing Broadway	Rex Bell	June 1	55	July 15
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June 15	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July 15
Gallant Fool	Bob Steele	May 29
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July 25
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15
Return of Casey Jones	Charles Starrett-Ruth Hall	May 25
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	72
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15
Sphinx, The	Lionel Atwill-Sheila Terry	June 1	70	June 3
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Process Server, The	Ray Walker
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neill-Creighton Chaney

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
A Bedtime Story	Maurice Chevalier-Helen Twelvetrees	Apr. 21	87	Apr. 29
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug. 18	72	Aug. 5
College Humor	Crosby-Oakie-Arlen-Carlisle-Burns and Allen	June 23	80	June 17
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July 7	65	June 24
Eagle and the Hawk, The	F. March-C. Grant-J. Oakie	May 19	72	May 6
Gambling Ship	Cary Grant-Benita Hume	June 30	72	June 17
Girl in 419, The	James Dunn-Gloria Stuart	May 26	76	May 6
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July 21	70	July 8
I Love That Man	Nancy Carroll-Edmund Lowe	June 9	75	May 6
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
International House	All Star	June 2	65	May 20
Jennie Gerhardt	Sylvia Sidney-Donald Cook	June 16	76	June 10
M	Peter Lorre		66	Apr. 8
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July 14	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July 14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July 28	70	July 29
Murders in the Zoo	Charlie Ruggles-Lionel Atwill	Mar. 31	55	Mar. 11
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Song of the Eagle	Chas. Bickford - Mary Brian - Richard Arlen	Apr. 28	83	Apr. 29
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug. 11	92	July 1
Story of Temple Drake, The	Miriam Hopkins-Jack LaRue	May 12	72	May 13
Sunset Pass	Randolph Scott-Tom Keene	May 26	65	June 3
Supernatural	C. Lombard - Randolph Scott - V. Osborne	May 5	64½	Apr. 29
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct. 27
Terror Aboard	Neil Hamilton - Chas. Ruggles-John Halliday	Apr. 14	65½	May 6
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug. 25	82	July 29
Three Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug. 4	72	Aug. 12
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Under the Tonto Rim	Stuart Erwin - Verna Hillie	Apr. 7	59	July 22
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20		Sept. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles
Chrysalis	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper	Nov. 17
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 3
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Nov. 24
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles
Pardners	Jackie Cooper
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 10	73
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan-Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July 14	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug. 4	62	Oct. 21
Big Brain, The	Geo. E. Stone-Fay Wray-Phillips Holmes	June 16	70	June 3
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug. 18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Cross Fire	Tom Keene-Betty Furness	June 30	55	Apr. 8
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Diplomaniacs	Bert Wheeler-Robt. Woolsey	May 12	63	Apr. 15
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July 21	74	July 8
Emergency Call	Bill Boyd-Betty Furness	May 26	60	July 1
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd-Mae Clarke-Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy - Eric Linden	July 14	62	Sept. 2
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan-Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July 28	65	July 29
India Speaks	Richard Halliburton	Apr. 28	75	May 13
King Kong	Fay Wray-Bruce Cabot	Apr. 7	100	Feb. 25
Melody Cruise	Phil Harris-Charles Ruggles	June 23	75	June 3
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn - D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Professional Sweetheart	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	June 9	70	June 3
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Silver Cord, The	Irene Dunne-Joel McCrea	May 19	74	May 13
Son of the Border	Tom Keene-Julie Haydon	May 5	55	Aug. 5
Sweepings	Lionel Barrymore	Apr. 14	88	Mar. 18
Tomorrow at Seven	Chester Morris-Vivienne Osborne	June 2	64	May 13

Coming Feature Attractions

After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 17	71
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 10	73
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond-Raul Roullen

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey
If I Were Free	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Elizabeth Allan
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 27
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack
Trigger	Katharine Hepburn

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blarney Kiss, The	Tom Walls-Anne Grey	Principal	Aug. 18	71	Aug. 26
Contraband	Don Alvarado-Dorothy Sebastian	Hoffberg	Apr. 1
Corruption	Evalyn Knapp - Preston Foster	Imperial Distr.	June 19	63	July 1
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
High Gear	James Murray - Joan Marsh	Hollywood	Apr. 14	67	Apr. 22
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp - John Wayne	Showmen's Pics.	June 10	60	June 10
Isle of Doom, The	Peter Seboleviski	Amkino	June 5	65½	July 22
Laughing at Life	V. McLaglen - C. Montenegro	Mascot	June 26	70	June 3
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
November Night (Polish)	S. Jaracz-J. Wegrzyn-J. Smosarska	Capital	Apr. 27	97	May 6
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconneti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	Showmen's Pics.	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Red-Head, The	Robert Lynen	Harold Auten	May 25	88	June 17
Return of Nathan Becker	David Gutman	Worldkino	Apr. 13	71	Apr. 29
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian - Leon Waycoff	Showmen's Pics.		63	Sept. 16
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Sucker Money	Mischa Auer	Hollywood	Apr. 5	70	Apr. 15
Taming the Jungle		Invincible	June 3	59	June 10
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Principal	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
This Is America		Frederick Ullman, Jr.	July 19	70	July 29
Thunder Over Mexico		Principal		70	May 20
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Victims of Persecution	Betty Hamilton-Mitchell Harris	Bud Pollard	June 16	60	June 24
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90
Wives Beware!	Adolphe Menjou	Regent Picts.	June 1	63

TOWER PRODUCTIONS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Daring Daughters	Marian Marsh-Joan Marsh	Feb.	60	Apr. 15
Important Witness, The	Noel Francis-Donald Dilloway	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Dorothy Peterson-Skeets Gallagher	Mar.	70

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo-Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 8	80	Sept. 23
I Cover the Waterfront	Claudette Colbert - Ben Lyon - Ernest Torrence	May 17	75	Apr. 29
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Oct. 12	97	Sept. 23
Samarang	Native Cast	June 23	62	May 20
Secrets	Mary Pickford-Leslie Howard	Apr. 16	90	Feb. 18
Yes, Mr. Brown	Jack Buchanan	May	69	Mar. 18

Coming Feature Attractions

Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Joe Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone-T. Carminati
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner
Trouble Shooter	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Fighting President, The		Apr. 14	50	Apr. 15
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30
King of Jazz (Reissue)	Paul Whiteman - John Boles - Bing Crosby	June 1	63. Apr.	5,'30
King of the Arena	Ken Maynard	June 1	61
Kiss Before the Mirror	Nancy Carroll-Paul Lukas	May 4	67	Mar. 11
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Lucky Dog	Charles "Chic" Sale	Apr. 20	55	May 13
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Leo Carrillo	Aug. 3	84	Sept. 2
Out All Night	Summerville-Pitts	Apr. 13	72	Mar. 11
Rebel, The	Vilma Banky-Luis Trenker	June 15	75	July 1
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Roque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Ralph Graves-Shirley Grey	Dec. 25
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 4
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Nov. 27
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres-Alice White
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 20
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 1,'34
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 11
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton
Riders of Justice	Walter Miller-Cecelia Parker	Dec. 18
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Special Investigator	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr.-Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	102	Oct. 7
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	90	May 27
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28
Life of Jimmy Dolan, The	D. Fairbanks, Jr.-Loretta Young	June 3	70	June 24
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Mayor of Hell, The	James Cagney	June 24	80	May 20
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Picture Snatcher	James Cagney	Apr. 29	75	Apr. 1
Private Detective 62	William Powell	June 10	67	July 15
Silk Express	Neil Hamilton-Sheila Terry	June 10	63	June 10
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak	Nov. 11
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin
Finger Man	James Cagney
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay
Havana Widows	J. Blondell-G. Farrell
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Nov. 18
King of Fashion	William Powell-Bette Davis

WORLD WIDE

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Constant Woman, The	Conrad Nagel-Leila Hyams	Apr. 23	75	Mar. 3
(Reviewed under the title "Auction in Souls")
Lone Avenger, The	Ken Maynard	May 14	61	Aug. 19
Study in Scarlet, A	Reginald Owen-June Clyde	May 14	72	June 10

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Cadet, The	Frans Fiedler	Film Exchange		80	Apr. 8
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Dream of Schoenbrunn	Martha Eggerth	Europa Film	May 31	78	June 10
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
Heads We Go	C. Cummings - F. Lawton	British Int'l		87	Sept. 16
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
I Spy	Sally Eilers - Ben Lyon	British Int'l		63
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Kuhle Wampe: Whither Germany?	Hertha Thiele-Ernest Busch	Kinematrade	Apr. 22
M	Peter Lorre	Paramount		96	Apr. 8
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman-Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Mc-Laglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Morgenrot (Dawn)	Else Knott - Rudolf Forster	Protex	May 15	85	May 27
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Chas. Boyer	Gaumont-Ufa		95	Aug. 12
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
Victoria and Her Hussar	Michael Bohnen - Friedel Schuster	Kinematrade	Apr. 8	90	Apr. 22
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd - John Loder	British Int'l			Oct. 14

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Broadway Malady	Apr. 18	1 rl.
Bunnies and Bonnets	Mar. 29	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks		1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Russian Dressing	May 1
Stage Krazy		1 rl.
Whack's Museum		1 rl.
Wooden Shoes	Feb. 25	1 rl.
LAMBS GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
Poor Fish, The	Apr. 27	2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
I—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2	Sept. 30
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show		18
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
Gear Parade, The	Mar. 4	1 rl.
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes
Match Kid, The	May 9	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Technoracket	May 20	1 rl.
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 2		1 rl.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls
SMITH AND DALE
Hot Daze		2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Entertainer, The
Will Mahoney
Preferred List
Ken Murray
Say It Isn't So	June 29	19
Richey Craig, Jr.
The Strange Case of Poison Ivy	Mar. 23
WORLD OF SPORT
All's Wet That Ends Wet	May 5	1 rl.
Champions	May 5	1 rl.
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18
Neck and Line	July 28
In the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started
Who Said the Weaker Sex?		9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Feeling Rosy	Apr. 30	21
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kin 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Kid 'N Hollywood	May 14	11
Kid's Last Fight, The	Apr. 23	11
Polly Tix in Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
Sea, The	May 7	9
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7
Pirates of the Deep	May 7	9
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl.
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 4	Mar. 5	11
No. 5	Apr. 30	11
No. 6	June 18
CAMERA ADVENTURES
Cougar's Mistake, The	May 28	9
Two Hundred Fathoms Deep	Mar. 19	8
CORONET COMEDIES
What a Wife	Nov. 3
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Highlights of the Past	Apr. 9	8
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
Puffs and Bustles	Mar. 12	7
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
GREAT HOKUM MYSTERY
On the Brink of Disaster	Feb. 19
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
Out of the Ordinary	May 28
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10
Women of Many Lands	Mar. 12	9
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Knight Duty	May 7	22
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
A Pair of Socks	May 14	20
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Hot Hoofs	June 18
Two Black Crows in Africa	Mar. 5	20
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 13
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
SPIRIT OF THE CAMPUS (Reinald Werrenrath)
California	Mar. 5	10
Georgia Tech	May 7	9
McGill	May 28	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Mr. Adam	Nov. 10
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Cinderella	May 28	6
Down on the Levee	Mar. 5	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
King Zilch	June 11	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oh! Susanna	Apr. 2	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Pirate Ship	Apr. 30	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Romeo and Juliet	Apr. 16	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Tale of a Shirt, The	Feb. 19	6
Tropical Fish	May 14	6
Village Blacksmith, A	Nov. 3	6
Who Killed Cock Robin?	Mar. 19	6
THREE-REEL SPECIAL
Krakatoa	Apr. 23	23
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Torchy Turns Turtle	Apr. 23	21
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Your Life Is In Your Hands	Sept. 22
VANITY COMEDIES
Techno-crazy	Apr. 23	19
Monty Collins-Billy Bevan

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29
Conquest of the Air!
Scouring the Seven Seas!
Answering the Riot Call!
Filming the Fashions
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Rhapsody of the Rails	Feb. 19
Taking the Cure	Feb. 26
Down from Vesuvius	Apr. 15
Paris on Parade	Mar. 5
Isles of the East Indies	Mar. 12
The Iceberg Patrol	Mar. 19
A Gondola Journey	Mar. 26
Broadway by Day	Apr. 2
Sampans and Shadows	Apr. 9
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
The Island of Malta
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Oct. 6
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 27
The Great Train Robbery
A Moment of Madness
Helen of the Chorus
The Extravagant Wife
The Girl from the Country
Emma's Dilemma
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills		6
Radio Rubes
Sally		7
Singin' Sam-Don Wallace
Night of Romance		7
Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young
Tongue Twisters		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Ship of Dreams		7
Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Melody on Parade		7
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Home Again		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Tintypes		6
Irving Kaufman-Lew White
Oriental Phantasy		8
Charles Carlisle-Lew White-Kelvin Keech
Organ Festival		9
Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford
Melody Tour		8
Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young
Organlogue-ing the Hits		8
Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt		10
Phyllis Barry-George Lewis-J. Carrol Naish

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Yeast Is West
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20
His Silent Racket	Apr. 29	19
Midsummer Mush		21
Nature In the Wrong	Mar. 18	19
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
COLORTONE MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels		20
Hello, Pop!		17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26
Plane Nuts		20
Rhapsody in Brew		20
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Big Ditch of Panama, The	Mar. 18	9
Cuba, Land of the Rhumba	Feb. 25	9
Daughters of the Sea	Apr. 8	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka		10
Fiji and Samoa	May 20	8
New Zealand		9
Over the Seas to Borneo	Apr. 29	9
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9
FLIP, THE FROG
Bulloney		8
Chinaman's Chance		8
Coo-Coo the Magician	Feb. 18	8
Paleface		8
Soda Squirt		7
Techno-cracked		8
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies		20
Dirty Work		20
Me An' My Pal	Apr. 22	21
Twice Two	Feb. 25	21
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers		9
Handlebars
Happy Warriors		9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Forgotten Babies	Mar. 11	17
Kid from Borneo, The	Apr. 15	19
Mush and Milk	May 27	18
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Bargain of the Century	Apr. 8	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16
Maids a la Mode	Mar. 4	18
One Track Minds	May 20
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
Roosevelt, the Man of the Hour	Apr. 8	18
SPORT CHAMPIONS
Alley Oop	Mar. 11	10
Auto Racing	Apr. 1
Bone Crushers	Feb. 18	8
Throttle Pushers	Apr. 1	9
TAXI BOYS
Call Her Sausage	May 13	19
Rummy, The	June 10	18
Taxi Barons	Apr. 1	19
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16
Wreckety Wrecks	Feb. 18	19

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
Captain Henry's Radio Show—Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw - Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	1 rl.
A Bundle of Blues—Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	1 rl.
The Little Broadcast—Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	1 rl.
Rumba Rhythm—Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	1 rl.
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 8	Mar. 10	11
No. 9	Apr. 7	10
No. 10	May 5	10
No. 11	June 2	10
No. 12	June 30	10
No. 13	July 28	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	1 rl.
No. 3	Oct. 13
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad—Tom Howard	June 9	11
Jazz a La Cuba—Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
Let's Dance—Burns and Allen	Mar. 17	10
Moonlight Fantasy—Vincent Lopez	Apr. 14	8
Walking the Baby—Burns and Allen	May 12	11
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 9—A Drama of the Northland — Paramount Pictorial Presents Amelia Earhart	Mar. 17	10
No. 10—Birth of the Year — Laboratory Sleuth — Three X Sisters	Apr. 21	10
No. 11—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews - Ward Wilson - Danbury Fair	May 19	10
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax — Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1 — Just a Little Dressing — The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	1 rl.
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	1 rl.
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	1 rl.
POPEYE THE SAILOR
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 29	1 rl.
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
SCREEN SONGS
Aloha Oe—Royal Samoans	Mar. 17	7
"Boilesk"—Watson Sisters	June 9	7
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Down by the Old Mill Stream—Funny Boners	July 21	7
Peanut Vender, The—Armida	Apr. 28	7
Popular Melodies—Arthur Jarrett	Apr. 7	7
Sing, Sisters, Sing—Three X Sisters	June 3	7
Song Shopping—Ethel Merman	May 19	7
Stoopnocracy—Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba—Mills Bros.	Sept. 15	1 rl.
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 9	Mar. 17	10
No. 10	Apr. 14	10
No. 11	May 12	10
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25
No. 2	Sept. 22	1 rl.
No. 3	Oct. 20	1 rl.
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	10
Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	1 rl.
Water Lure	Sept. 22	1 rl.
The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Aggravatin' Bear, The	Apr. 28	18
Balance	June 23	10
Hot and Cold Thrills	Mar. 31	10
Jabs and Jolts	May 26	10
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
Wonder Girl, The—Babe Didrickson	Mar. 3	10
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7
Betty Boop's Birthday Party	Apr. 21	7
Betty Boop's May Party	May 12	7
Betty Boop's Penthouse	Mar. 10	7
I Heard—Don Redmond	Sept. 1	1 rl.
Morning, Noon and Night—Rubinoff	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Mother Goose Land	June 23	7
Old Man of the Mountains—Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
Snow-White	Mar. 31	7
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The—W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The—Sennett Star	July 14	20
Caliente Love—Sennett Star	Mar. 10	20
Daddy Knows Best—Walter Catlett	June 16	22
Dream Stuff—Sennett Star	May 12	20

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	2 rls.
Fatal Glass of Beer W. C. Fields	Mar. 3	19
Husband's Reunion Sennett Star	July 7	19
Knockout Kisses Sennett Star	June 23	19
Marriage Humor Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19
Meet the Champ Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	2 rls.
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	2 rls.
One Awful Night Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	2 rls.
Pharmacist, The Sennett Star	Apr. 21	20
Plumber and the Lady, The Sennett Star	Mar. 31	19
Roadhouse Queen Sennett Star	May 26	20
Sailors, Beware Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	2 rls.
See You Tonight Sennett Star	June 2	21
Sing, Bing, Sing Bing Crosby	Mar. 24	19
Sweet Cookie Sennett Star	Apr. 14	18
Uncle Jake Sennett Star	May 5	19

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEADS SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
The Pawnshop	Mar. 17	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Druggist's Dilemma, The	May 5	17
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Hocus Focus	Mar. 3	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
Heave Two	Mar. 10	20½
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Thrown Out of Joint	May 12	21
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 3—Hip, Zip, Hooray Nat Carr	Mar. 31	18½
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Lost in the Limehouse	Apr. 7	20½
Moonshiner's Daughter, The	May 19	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
Mickey's Race	Apr. 14	18
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Art in the Raw	Feb. 24	19
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Grin and Bear It	Nov. 3
Merchant of Menace, The	Apr. 21	19½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
The Fatal Note	Sept. 29	7
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Happy Hoboes	Mar. 31	7
Hook and Ladder Hokum	Apr. 28	7
In the Park	May 26	6
Panicky Pup	Feb. 24	7
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
AUDIO PRODUCTIONS
Butterfly		10
Seed Disnersal		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
CENTRAL FILM
A Pilgrimage Through Palestine		10
Boston Common—and Proper		10
Hula		3 rls.
F. M. S. CORP.
Newslaughs		7
FIRST DIVISION
My Side of the Story David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Ski-ing		1 rl.
PRINCIPAL
Beer Is Here
Cuba		20
Farmers' Friend, The		6
Get That Lion		29
High Spots of New York		11
Isle of Desire		3 rls.
Isle of Peril		32
Isles of Love		1 rl.
Killing the Killer		11
Matto Grosso		24
New Western Front		25
Primitive		1 rl.
Tiger Hunt, The		20
Voodoo		36
Walpi

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steepie Chase
18. The Pet Shop
(NEW SERIES)
1. Mickey and the Giant
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper		7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The China Shop
2. The Night Before Christmas

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Nov. 12	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Beau Best	May 22	1 rl.
Confidence	July 31	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Going to Blazes	Apr. 10	1 rl.
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Oct. 30	1 rl.
Marry Old Soul	Nov. 27	1 rl.
Ocean Hop (Reissue)	Apr. 24	1 rl.
Parking Space	Nov. 20	1 rl.
Shriek, The	Feb. 27	7
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	1 rl.
RADIO STAR REELS
Radio Murder Mystery Louis Sobel—No. 2	Mar. 6	20
Morton Downey—No. 4 My Pal the Prince	Apr. 17	2 rls.
Beauty on Broadway Walter Winchell—No. 2	May 15	2 rls.
The Old Timers Louis Sobol No. 3		21
Peeping Tom Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17
SPECIALS
Voice of the Vatican	Mar. 13	10
Your Technocracy and Mine	Apr. 15	1 rl.
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 27—Novelty	Mar. 20	8
No. 28—Novelty	Apr. 17	8½
No. 29—Novelty	May 29	8
No. 30—Novelty	May 29	1 rl.
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	1 rl.
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 13	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
A Quiet Night Bert Roach	May 31	21
Alias the Professor James Gleason	Mar. 6	21
All at Sea	Sept. 20	21
(Mentone No. 2)
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 11	21
Gleason's New Deal James Gleason	July 12	20
His First Case Vince Barnett	June 14	20
Mister Mugg James Gleason	May 10	21
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	2 rls.
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	2 rls.
Open Sesame Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	2 rls.
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	2 rls.
Pick Me Up Marie Prevost	Apr. 5	19
Room Mates Frank Albertson	Apr. 19	20
Should Crooners Marry? Frank Albertson	Feb. 22	2 rls.
Stung Again Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	2 rls.
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	2 rls.
Trial of Vince Barnett Vince Barnett	Mar. 22	20½
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 10—Wrongorilla Jack Haley	Mar. 4	20
No. 11—How've You Bean? Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Close Relations Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 2—Salt Water Daffy Jack Haley		21
No. 3—Gobs of Fun George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy		20
No. 5—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 7—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony Stoopnagle & Budd	June 3
No. 9—Poor Little Rich Boy Phil Baker	Dec. 24,'32	18
No. 10—Hey, Hey, Westerner Technicolor Musical	Dec. 31,'32	17
No. 11—That Goes Double Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 12—Bygones Ruth Etting	Jan. 14	18
No. 13—Pleasure Island Technicolor Musical	Feb. 25	18
No. 14—Yours Sincerely Lanny Ross	Mar. 11	19
No. 15—Speaking of Operations Pick & Pat	Jan. 28	18
No. 16—Northern Exposure Technicolor Musical	Apr. 8	18
No. 17—Nothing Ever Happens Musical	Mar. 25	18
No. 18—World's Champ Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 19—The Way of All Freshmen Hal Leroy-Mitzi Mayfair	Apr. 22
No. 20—Along Came Ruth Ruth Etting	May 6
No. 21—Fifi V. Segal-Chas. Judels	May 20	21
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Rufus Jones for President Ethel Waters		20
No. 2—Use Your Imagination Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair		18
No. 3—Paul Revere, Jr. Gus Shy-Janet Reade		21
No. 4—Operator's Opera Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys		21
No. 5—Seasoned Greetings Lita Grey Chaplin		20
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Ride Him, Bosko		7
No. 2—Bosko the Drawback		7
No. 3—Bosko's Dizzy Date		7
No. 4—Bosko's Woodland Daze		7
No. 5—Bosko in Dutch		7
No. 6—Bosko in Person		7
No. 7—Bosko the Speed King
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out
MELODY MASTERS
No. 1—Music to My Ears Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 2—Municipal Band Wagon		10
No. 3—Smash Your Baggage Small's Paradise Band		19
No. 4—The Lease Breakers Aunt Jemima		9
No. 5—The Yacht Party Roger Wolfe Kahn's Band		9
No. 6—Hot Competition The Continentals-Barris-Whiteman-Ted Husing		10
No. 7—Abe Lyman and Band		10
No. 8—"How's Tricks?" Jean Sargent-George Owen and Gang
No. 9—That's the Spirit Noble Sissie and Band		10
No. 10—The Alma Martyr		9
Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band
No. 13—A Castilian Garden Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Vincent Lopez and Orchestra
No. 2—Hot from Petrograd Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 3—Barber Shop Blues Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 4—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals
No. 5—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 6—Eddie Duchin and Band
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—Forch Song
PEPPER POT
No. 1—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 1
No. 2—Nickelette
No. 3—Contact
No. 4—If I'm Elected
No. 5—King Salmon
No. 6—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 2
No. 7—Babe O' Mine
No. 8—Dangerous Occupations
No. 9—Out of the Past
No. 10—Love Thy Neighbor
No. 11—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 3
No. 12—A Whale of a Yarn
No. 13—Africa Speaks—English
No. 14—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 4
No. 15—Sea Devils
No. 16—Parades of Yesterday
No. 17—Breakwater
No. 18—Little White Lies
No. 19—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 5
No. 20—You're Killing Me
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Little Miss Mischief
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell
No. 4—Notre Dame Glee Club
No. 5—Admission 5c
No. 6—Easy Aces
No. 7—Song Hits, with Roy Turk
No. 8—Harry Warren
No. 9—Laughs in the Law
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
TECHNICOLOR MUSICALS
No. 1—'Tis Spring		20
No. 2—Business Is a Pleasure
WORLD ADVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6	20 (each)
Three Musketeers, The John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Whispering Shadow Bela Lugosi-Karl Dane-Malcolm MacGregor	Jan. 10
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe		20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Clancy of the Mounted Tom Tyler-Jacqueline Wells	Feb. 27	20 (each)
Gordon of Ghost City Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6
Phantom of the Air Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

COMPLETE LINE OF REPAIRING AND REplacement parts for all leading types of sound equipment. Used projection equipment at bargain prices. JOE GOLDBERG, INC., 823 S. Wabash, Chicago.

BIG SELECTION IN USED VENEERED AND upholstered theatre chairs at bargain prices. Replacement parts for all makes of chairs. Write ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., 1024 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H, MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

HIGH GRADE LENSES ANY SIZE OVER 5"; very cheap. BOX 326, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

SOUND SACRIFICE SPECIAL: TWO HOLMES portable projectors with New sound heads, Webster portable amplifier and speaker. Complete details. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

LABORATORIES—EXCHANGES—NOTICE! FOR immediate disposal metal stools 19 inches, $1.45; metal chairs 19 inches, $1.95; double rewinding tables, wired, $9.90 F.O.B.; rewinders $4.60 per pair. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SHOW BUSINESS' LARGEST CLEARING HOUSE —reflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Trades taken. Tremendous sacrifice. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WANTED TO BUY

WILL PAY HIGHEST CASH VALUE FOR ALL makes of ticket registers. BOX 328, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRE EQUIPMENT FOR FIVE THEATRES. Projectors, motor generators, rectifiers, low intensity lamps and other moving picture theatre equipment including seats. OHIO MUSIC COMPANY, Lima, Ohio.

CHAIR COVERING

RE-UPHOLSTER YOUR SEATS NOW—SPANISH style leather goods. Finest possible quality, color, grain and finish—will match color, grade and design with what you now have—largest assortment in the country. Buy Direct and Save. BLAND BROS., 1018 S. Wabash, Chicago, Ill.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

LOW INTENSITY THIRTY AMPERE RECTIfier tubes, $10.00. Amplifier tubes discount one-third, unconditional guarantee. WESTERN MOTION PICTURE CO., Danville, Ill.

GENUINE RCA PHOTOPHONE SOUNDHEADS—brand new, entirely complete. Powers or Simplex, original cost $1200.00, our price $295.00. Trade your obsolete worn out soundheads now. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York

AMPLIFIERS—OPTICAL SYSTEMS—SPEAKERS for Wide Range and High Fidelity recordings—sound heads correctly designed for perfect film travel—projector drives mechanically correct—individual designs for Motiograph, Simplex and Powers—and complete—no extras to buy. SCOTT-BALLANTYNE CO., Redick Tower Bldg., Omaha, Nebr.

S. O. S. NO ICEBERG—OUR BARGAINS HOT news—sound screens, acoustical felt, lenses, exciter lamps, photocells, carbons, reels, tickets, rewinds, cabinets, unheard of prices. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

THEATRES WANTED

CAN SELL YOUR THEATRE QUICKLY. SEND particulars. ALBERT GOLDMAN, 5 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

WANTED AT ONCE TO RENT OR LEASE theatre in seven-day town—1,000 population or more. WARREN JANOUSEK, Browerville, Minn.

IN TOWN TWO THOUSAND POPULATION and upwards; Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Indiana. LESTER MEIDNER, 6274 Cates, University City, Mo.

WANTED—TO LEASE PAYING THEATRE IN town not less than four thousand. BOX 338, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROGRAM PRINTERS

THE "RITE" THEATRICAL PRINTERS. A. J. LIPP COMPANY, 307 West 38th St., New York City. Phone: BRyant 9-8681.

POSTER EXCHANGES

LARGEST STOCK OF USED ADVERTISING AT best prices. Cash for your used paper on current releases. Write for samples of programs and heralds. PREMIER ADVERTISING SERVICE, 1717 Wyandotte, Kansas City, Mo.

SALESMEN WANTED

AN ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION TO MEN who are acquainted with theatres and who can sell premiums that will stimulate business. Send full particulars and references. STREIMER AD-SERVICE, 352 W. 44th Street, New York City.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

POWERS, SIMPLEX, OLD TYPE VERTICAL arc lamp houses with lamps, $25 per pair; Powers mechanism rebuilt, $40; Simplex mechanism, $135; 30 ampere rectifiers with bulbs, $150 per pair; photo cells for Western Electric, $6.75, for RCA, $5.75 guaranteed; reflectors resilvered, $4.90, work guaranteed; mechanisms repaired at bargain prices. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 West 44th St., New York.

SCENERY BARGAINS. DRAPES, TRACKS AND paintings. KINGSLEY STUDIO, Alton, Ill.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE—SOLD ON trial. Wide fidelity sound $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; single dial control amplifiers, $50 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

"SPECIAL BARGAIN" — AMERAPHONE DISC sound equipment complete. Write TIVOLI THEATRE, Hawarden, Iowa.

FOR FRAGRANT ATMOSPHERE IN YOUR theatre use De Jee. No foul odors can prevail where De Jee is used. Fill three times first week for saturation and thereafter according to one's taste. Four-ounce bottle and evaporator will last about six weeks. Thereafter filling once in two weeks will be sufficient. Introductory price $1, mailed prepaid. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

FULLY EXPERIENCED, QUALIFIED VAUDEfilm manager, publicity man. Percentage or demonstrate diversified abilities own expense. BOX 335, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED OPERATOR MANAGER OPEN, go anywhere, salary no object. W. T. FAY, Metropolis, Ill.

FIRST CLASS SOUND OPERATOR OR MANager, married. H. SWATEK, 18—9th St., La Salle, Ill.

SCREEN SERVICE

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

GUARANTEED SCREEN REFINISHING PROcess improves projection. Write for details. RAYTEX SCREEN COMPANY, 14117 Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Ill.

THEATRES

PAYING THEATRES FOR SALE IN ILLINOIS, Iowa, Missouri, Oklahoma, Wisconsin. ALBERT GOLDMAN, 1402 Mallers Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

FOR RENT: MODERN BRICK BUILDING ON Main Street, not equipped. McCLINTIC BROTHERS, Midland, Texas.

FOR SALE: IN KENTUCKY, THEATRE LEASE, sound equipment, no opposition, population 3,000. T. H. JONES, 1112 Harrison Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio.

THOSE INTERESTING

COMPOSITE SHOTS

in the pictures you show have called for new ingenuity on the part of the producer. What is more, the photographing of the backgrounds has definitely demanded a special new type of raw film. Eastman Background Negative—recently announced and now widely used—is the answer. Possessing unique characteristics, it dovetails perfectly with this important technical advance. It greatly enhances the beauty, effectiveness, and value of projection background "shots." Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN

BACKGROUND NEGATIVE

FACE TO FACE WITH YOUR FUTURE!

Facing you on this page is your future star

DOROTHEA WIECK

in Paramount's

"CRADLE SONG"

From the screen play by Marc Connelly, author of "Green Pastures". . . . Directed by Mitchell Leisen

Paramount gave you two major stars during the past year, Mae West and Bing Crosby ..... That Paramount is again developing a real star is indicated by these letters from well-known showmen: *

* "We agree with you that Dorothea Wieck has tremendous possibilities." John J. Friedl

"Regarding Dorothea Wieck, I am very enthusiastic about the possibility of her becoming an outstanding personality in our business." Mike Marco

Paramount Pictures

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

WHAT ROSENBLATT SAYS ABOUT THE INDUSTRY CODE

See Page Nine

Vol. 113, No. 6 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 15 cents. November 4, 1933

MAX BAER

THE SCREEN'S NEW "IT" MAN!

BOX-OFFICE MEASUREMENTS!

"Max Baer destined to go places on the screen." —M. P. HERALD

"Just as Mae West flamed across the screen, so looms the new personality, Max Baer." —M. P. DAILY

"Baer a surprise. Wins an easy decision!" —HOLLYWOOD REPORTER

"A body that will set the femme fans on edge." —COAST VARIETY

SHOWMEN!

This is the age of flaming personalities! This is the picture that will make a NEW STAR for you! This is the show that got unanimous rave notices in its Coast preview. It's the Big Exploitation Picture of the year. Joyfully presented by

M-G-M

10th Championship Year Hit!

NOW it's A THRILL for the LADIES!

Okay, boys, you got an eyeful of MAE WEST—and now it's the ladies' turn to get excited

MEET MAX BAER!

The New "IT" MAN of the Screen!

Such a film treat comes once in a blue moon! Exciting from start to finish! Because it's got a love story that you'll love! Because it's got the first ring battle between Primo Carnera and Max Baer! Because it's so romantic!

WHEN HE CRUSHES HER IN HIS ARMS—

every soul in the audience will feel the thrill of it!

The Most Exciting Film of Today!

THE PRIZEFIGHTER AND THE LADY

with a Cast of World Famed Celebrities!

★ MYRNA LOY
★ MAX BAER
★ PRIMO CARNERA
★ JACK DEMPSEY

WALTER HUSTON—OTTO KRUGER

A W. S. VAN DYKE PRODUCTION

Associate Producer: Hunt Stromberg. Screen Play by John Lee Mahin and John Meehan. From the Story by Frances Marion

A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER HIT!

Size — 230 lines x 2 Columns

MUNI THE INVINCIBLE . . MUNI OF "SCARFA
"FUGITIVE" . . . . . NOW DELIVERS AN EVEN

Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

"FOOTLIGHT PARADE'S" SUCCESS DUP
IN DRAMA BY . . . . . WARNE

" AND REATER

Hit

CATED BROS.

Drawing 3 times the crowds of any previous show at N. Y. Hollywood! . . . "A picture to cheer about . . . easily one of the finest reflections of the American scene which the screen has yet achieved" (N. Y. World-Telegram) . . . "Unquestionably a success" (N. Y. Sun) . . . And watch the stupendous opening this Friday at Boston Met.!

PAUL MUNI
"THE WORLD CHANGES"

GENIUS LINKED AGAIN IN TRIUMPH STOPS THE NATION IN ITS TRACKS!
The storming passion of Paul Muni—the daring direction of MERVYN LEROY—combined again to insure an even greater picture than the hit of hits they made together one year ago today—"I Am A Fugitive From a Chain Gang"!
★ ★ A First National Picture with 26 Stars ★ ★

SHE HAS WHAT IT TAKES TO GET WHAT SHE WANTS

Clara BOW in HOOPLA

PRESTON FOSTER
RICHARD CROMWELL
HERBERT MUNDIN · JAMES GLEASON · MINNA GOMBELL

From the play "The Barker" by John Kenyon Nicholson
Stage play produced by Charles L. Wagner
Al Rockett Production
Directed by FRANK LLOYD

Join the upswing with FOX

NOV -3 1933

©CIB 206165

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 113, No. 6 November 4, 1933

NOW THE SUPER-CHAIN!

SITTING as we are under the drum of the wings of the Blue Eagle this lovely November morn, reflecting a bit on what comes by ether and wire from Washington, one observes that the Administration, abandoning the principle of individual freedom, has set about the regimenting of all life and business in these United States so that we are all to be operated from the "home office." There's a big boss, and a lot of bureaus, boards and departments, each with bosses—and some with very bossy secretaries to boss all and sundry. Everything we can do or think about is ordered by the home office rule book, sales manual and press sheets. What and how we advertise, prices, what we pay the hired hands, how many days off, what our dollar is worth, the birth rate for pigs, what kind of cars are approved for patriots—everything but how you get your hair cut—is ordered, in some fashion.

This impresses us this morning as really a very big idea, a broad view on the part of somebody who is willing to take quite a bit of responsibility.

It is just possible, too, that, like us, you are being reminded of something that happened a little like that in our adventuresome little world of the motion picture not so long ago—so recently in fact that we haven't really got over it yet.

You will be remembering with us that there arrived a great notion that the whole business of the motion picture, including delivery to all the box office customers, could be handled more effectively, efficiently and profitably from a home office in New York by big bosses and big bureaus. All the executive power was concentrated in the immediate vicinity of Times Square. All the rest of the country had to do was to receive shipments of film cans, matrices for the advertisements and fill out the report forms to be forwarded back to the home office along with the remittances. A lot of "codes" were issued from the home offices, dealing with everything from the lobby to the ushers' pants buttons.

That was just dandy. We all know how well it worked.

If showmanship could not do it from Broadway for the movies, what are we to expect that the falconry of the Blue Eagle will do for all the stockholders of the U. S. A. from Pennsylvania Avenue?

General Hugh Johnson ought to have a talk with Mr. Sam Katz.

△ △ △

ENTIRELY ABSENT

A WIRELESS to the New York Times says that delegates and newspapermen at the disarmament conference in Geneva are trying out a pocket radio receiving set to listen in on the proceedings "while walking or talking in the lobby, drinking at the bar or working in the press room. . . . " There is an immediate market for two such devices for covering the motion picture code affairs in Washington. The other one can be sold to Mr. Red Kann. Meanwhile, both with reference to disarmament in Geneva and the code in Washington, may we suggest that not only may the report be taken by radio in the bar, but also the remarks in conference may be made by telephone, so there need be nobody present anywhere.

△ △ △

ON "GOING WEST"

MR. TERRY RAMSAYE, our favorite reporter since the halcyon days of the Kansas City Star and the Chicago Tribune, last week quoted Mr. Emanuel Cohen, Paramount production chief, as follows:

"The most serious problem of the motion picture industry is the recapture of the interest of youth."

We were impressed with Mr. Cohen's statement as reported by Mr. Ramsaye, particularly because of our confidence in the scrupulous accuracy of the reporter. Otherwise we would have been stopped with wonderment in encountering this quotation just after having observed the effort to recapture the interest of youth which is now visible on the screens of the land under the title, "I'm No Angel."

No one was quite sure just what the quality was in "She Done Him Wrong" which gave the production such popularity with the general public. So in Hollywood they apparently decided it was something salacious. The next step, then, was to make sure that there would be sufficient salaciousness in the next West picture. There is; enough to cause a lot more people to wonder just how far pictures are going to go.

The problem of recapturing the interest of youth is given precise reverse treatment in the new West picture.

Miss West as a motion picture attraction skyrocketed into precipitous popularity with her first starring picture. The gross emphasis in her latest picture on those things in the West personality which need no emphasis suggests the possibility that "going West" may very soon have the same meaning for exhibitors which it had for the boys on the Western Front.

—M. Q.

△ △ △

FOR THE KIDDIES

SINCE so many more of Chicago's youngsters wanted to see "Three Little Pigs," Balaban & Katz thoughtfully brought it back for the current week at the Chicago theatre—on the same bill with a triumphant return engagement of Miss Sally Rand and her fan. What could be neater and sweeter for the happy little children of Chicago!

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago office, 407 South Dearborn street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Pacific States Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London office, 41 Redhill Drive, Edgware, London, England, W. H. Mooring, representative; Berlin office, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, J. K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Office, 19, Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autré, representative; Rome office, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassvti, representative; Sydney office, 102 Sussex street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City office, James Lockhart, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

PRACTICAL TEST

Closer and closer comes the day when the motion picture will play a major role in the curricular, extra-curricular activity of John and Jane Schoolchild. Practically testing a theory, the National Council of Teachers of English, under William Lewin, Newark teacher, chairman of the Council's Photoplay Appreciation group, has opened a contest for senior high school students nationally, the subject a criticism of the Krimsky-Cochran, United Artists cinematized "Emperor Jones," the result to indicate the feasibility of film's inclusion in English study. In Brooklyn, N. Y., and Massachusetts are campaigns going forward, aimed at selection of child-suitable films for Saturday showings. On parents rests the burden of success or failure. School may yet be considerable fun. . . .

CHEAP AGE

To the sharply-tongued charge of a cheap age, with the stage, screen, radio cheapened, the theatre where it is by reason of the cheap things presented in the name of drama, last week voiced by the elderly Ethel Barrymore, playing in Columbus, O., vaudeville, came quick refutation, editorially. Slapped back the Columbus Dispatch: "The theatre, movies . . . reflect the age in which they exist. They are concerned with vital subjects. . . . To say they have changed from a generation, or even a decade ago, is true. To say that the change is for the worse cannot be told until they have taken their places among other past happenings, and are seen in proper perspective." Miss Barrymore should have perspective. . . .

PLAY TOURNAMENT

At least novel is the plan devised by Herbert Igo of Yellow Springs, Springfield, Ohio, creator of the Ohio Town Players. Somewhere between the amateur and professional stage, linking both, with actors, engaged in business, receiving the benefit of professional direction, will stand the visionary Mr. Igo's development. From an affiliation of all Ohio's "little" theatres will be evolved a state repertory, with annual tournaments, the best to go on tour. To the ancient Greek playwrights, Sophocles, Euripides, and their dramatic contests, Mr. Igo likens his tournament, seeing the development, "in all probability," of screen material. The screen is not waiting with bated breath. . . .

BOMBS NEUTRALIZED

Great will be the sigh of relief heaved by labor trouble-beset exhibitors across the country at the news. The truth comes to light, the instrument RKO's Now, house organ. Ammonium valeriante, with butyric acid derivative is the chief ingredient of the average stench bomb. Suggested are various and sundry methods of relieving the atmosphere of the occasionally supercharged theatre. As a first step in the elimination of the odor, ventilation is prescribed as very important. Seemingly superfluous to the exhibitor is the remark: "Some stink bombs are difficult to quickly neutralize." . . .

COLONEL MINNIE

Sharp is the snortingly sarcastic laugh of derision with which famed illustrator James Montgomery Flagg greets the appointment of feminine screen stars as colonels on the staff of the perennially appointing Governor Ruby Lafoon of Kentucky, via the letters column of New York's Herald Tribune. Says Artist Flagg: ". . . It's so logical. It's so sweet . . . But! Why the class distinction? Why the snobbery? Where does Minnie Mouse come in? . . . I suggest to the Governor . . . do not overlook Minnie Mouse. Don't do it! Colonel Minnie Mouse, of the Hollywood Mouseleers. Think, Governor, think!" And so, with pen as sharp as paintbrush, Mr. Flagg draws a telling picture. . . .

In This Issue

Rosenblatt tells about the code	Page 9
"Merry-Go-Round"—by Martin Quigley	Page 11
Roosevelt is expected to drop salary clause	Page 12
Paramount trustees report $2,074,480 cash in bank; Zukor testifies on company difficulties of 1932	Page 15
DeCasseres sees stage comeback	Page 30

FEATURES

Editorial	Page 7
The Camera Reports	Page 13
J. C. Jenkins — His Colyum	Page 42
Asides and Interludes	Page 27
September Box Office Champions	Page 16

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me	Page 43
Showmen's Reviews	Page 37
Managers' Round Table	Page 53
Productions in Work	Page 41
Technological	Page 48
Short Feature News	Page 52
Chicago	Page 52
The Release Chart	Page 61
Box Office Receipts	Page 49
Classified Advertising	Page 66

CLAMPING CENSOR

Unrelenting, tight-laced Kansas' censor board would make yet more devastating its regulatory strangle-hold on the state's cinema exhibition. Proposed to the legislative council by Representative C. H. Palmer: classification of all films into five divisions, according to moral standards; barring of children under eight from Class D, E films (horror, "obnoxious" tragedy, bedrooms, questionable jokes). For violators: fines, jail sentences. Uncertain is the proposal of submission to a current special session of the legislature, Governor Landon's wish to be the criterion. Planned is an industry opposition fight. The corn belt has virtually become a corset. . . .

YESTERDAY'S STAR

Many and many an oldster of today, with a recollection of yesterday's "movies," will recall the name of a then star, Herbert Barrington. From long stage success with such as Richard Mansfield, Barrington went to the young motion picture, via Pilot Corporation in Yonkers, N. Y., the old Biograph Company, Tannhouser Moving Picture Company in New Rochelle, then later Metro-Goldwyn, Famous Players. Retired, gardening, coaching amateur theatricals at his Tarrytown home, Herbert Barrington Hollingsworth, at the age of 61, last week passed away, remembered more for screen than stage fame. . . .

DANISH BAN

Firm is Denmark, apparently, in its belief in its own ability to supply that nation's citizenry with cinematic entertainment. To Paramount, Fox, MGM, have now been added the names of Warner-First National, Columbia, as companies upon which have been served government writs, prohibiting importation of films into Denmark, says Nordisk Films. Reason: a dispute concerning the charge that films of these companies have violated Danish patents for noiseless recording. Alone among major companies stands United Artists, still able to sell to Denmark, no great market, at best. . . .

THINKING MACHINES

To the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio has come a new marvel of machinery, there to do its bit in motion picture's subjugation of the sciences. Robots, these machines, through an "electric eye," automatically gauge, adjust light passing through film negative to photograph on other film. To one-hundredth of a single candlepower will the machines adjust, performing mathematical calculation with hairbreadth precision. The picture's improvement is a result foreseen. . . .

ROSENBLATT PLEADS GOVERNMENT CASE ON CODE BEFORE EXHIBITORS

Deputy Administrator, at Atlanta, Charges "Unholy Money Collecting Parasites" Circulate Among Exhibitors

Sounding a warning to the "unholy money collecting parasites now circulating among our exhibitors," and challenging the "chiselers of this industry," Sol. A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator under the National Recovery Administration, presented the Government's case regarding the disputed code for the motion picture business, in an address Monday morning before a convention of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association, at Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Rosenblatt informed the exhibitors at the outset that the proposed code had been delivered to General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, and was to go from him to the White House for action by President Roosevelt.

Says 500 Houses Reopened

The deputy declared that "in recent weeks" 500 motion picture theatres had reopened.

First discussing the labor clauses, with the general stipulation of a forty hour week and fair minimum hourly rates of pay for unskilled labor, the deputy administrator said:

"The provisions relating to skilled labor regularly employed in theatres, such as billposters, carpenters, electrical workers, engineers, firemen, motion picture machine operators, oilers, painters, theatrical stage employees and theatrical wardrobe attendants, constitute one of the most constructive portions of this code."

Referring back to the "constant industrial strife," Mr. Rosenblatt pointed out that in all cases of dispute as to scales and labor, under the code the "unions will arbitrate and will not strike, and the employers have agreed that they will not lockout such employees."

"The National Recovery Administrator is given power to appoint the impartial additional person to finally determine the dispute where the parties themselves are unable to agree, and such action is finally subject to review by the Administrator," he explained.

Limitations on Distributors

"For actor employees in vaudeville and presentation theatres, this code, for the first time in the history of this industry, safeguards and protects such employees with respect to their rates of pay and working conditions."

To eliminate friction between exhibitors and distributors, he said, "definite limitations have been imposed upon distributors," adding:

" . . . The proposed code prohibits a distributor from threatening the exhibitor that the distributor will build a theatre in competition with the exhibitor's theatre in order to coerce the exhibitor to contract for the distributor's pictures or to pay higher rentals therefor. It further prohibits a distributor from exacting as a condition of the licensing of feature pictures that the exhibitor contract also for short subjects of the distributor in excess of the exact proportional ratio of the exhibitor's full program that is supplied by the distributor.

"The distributor may not in any contract where the license and rental fees paid for the exhibition are not based on a percentage of the receipts of the exhibitor's theatre, designate playdates. And even if the contract is upon a percentage basis, the exhibitor may nevertheless be released from the obligation to play the picture on the designated day if the Local Grievance Board determines that the picture is unsuitable for the exhibitor's theatre for that day.

"The distributor is deprived of the right to contract that he may substitute other pictures for certain types of pictures embraced in the license agreement, and in cases where the right of substitution is permitted, the distributor must give notice of such substitution within the time and according to the manner prescribed in the proposed code.

"Where the distributor gives the privilege of selection to an exhibitor who contracts for less than 85 per cent of the motion pictures distributed by the distributor such distributor is prohibited from contracting to permit the exhibitor to take more than twenty-one days in which to exercise his right of selection.

"The proposed code makes uniform and certain the contractual relationship between the exhibitor and distributor. The contract must be on the form of the Optional Standard License Agreement 1933, unless the parties otherwise agree. . . .

"There is a provision that if for any reason certain pictures are not delivered under a contract made upon the basis that the rental fees of the pictures when averaged should be a certain sum, the distributor must make a fair adjustment in the rental price of the pictures delivered that the average may be achieved.

Special Productions

"There is a provision that if the distributor makes a special production, he must first offer such special production to the exhibitor who has contracted for 50 per cent or more of the distributor's motion pictures.

"The distributor is prohibited from divulging any information received in checking the receipts of the exhibitor's theatre.

"The distributor is prohibited from licensing motion pictures to any non-theatrical account where the non-theatrical account is determined to be an unfair competitor with the exhibitor.

"In addition, if the contract with an exhibitor is made, and it should be found that the exhibitor bought more pictures than he requires with the intention and effect of depriving his competitor of pictures, the distributor must license these pictures to the complaining exhibitor. . . ."

Mr. Rosenblatt declared that "against all of the foregoing prohibitions and limitations against distributors only a comparatively few corresponding obligations are imposed upon the exhibitor," and went on:

"An exhibitor is prohibited from transferring his theatre for the purpose of avoiding existing contracts with distributors. The exhibitor is prohibited from exhibiting motion pictures at admission prices lower than those publicly announced or those specified in the contract for such motion pictures. Rebates are forbidden and the use of premiums is regulated. Finally, the exhibitor is prohibited from showing the motion picture prior to the days for which it is licensed."

His discussion of cancellation included a review of opposing arguments on the controversial subject of block booking. He declared that the court decisions upholding the practice "must still stand" but that the code provides for an outright 10 per cent cancellation privilege without payment, through amendment of the Standard License Agreement.

"The condition attached to the cancellation privilege is that if an exhibitor has cancelled certain motion pictures licensed and thereafter fails and refuses to substantially perform the conditions of his agreement, he may be held liable for his license fees for the motion pictures theretofore cancelled as part of his liability for his breach of contract. . . .

"Assuming that the exhibitor has licensed the exhibition of 36 motion pictures, then he is entitled to cancel four pictures without payment."

Double Feature Local Matter

Investigation of the double feature problem, Mr. Rosenblatt said, showed that "complete confusion reigned as to just what the majority of producers, distributors and exhibitors wanted done," after "so-called exhibitor leaders during the code conferences changed their position."

"I, therefore, did not regard it as within my function to jeopardize the business of independent producers nor to even partially place the stamp of disapproval upon the practice which in certain portions of the country has existed for many years," he said. The deputy administrator further explained that the question involved individual policy and was "entirely outside the scope of the proposed code at the present time."

Of the "right to buy" issue which rose to such great proportions in the conferences, Mr. Rosenblatt had much to say, declaring that he consistently had insisted upon safeguarding producers and distributors and their revenues under what they had termed their "right to sell."

"Among the bona fide exhibitors' leaders there was violent disagreement on those problems," he added. "Needless to say, among the so-called exhibitor leaders not bona fide exhibitors, there was likewise disagreement on these problems."

"One self-styled exhibitor leader, who so far as I know hasn't got five cents invested in the motion picture industry, as recently as nine days

(Continued on following page)

> "Now in the very moment when a marked advance is about to be made by this industry in coordinating the activities of its three economic divisions, and of attempting to replace discord and friction with harmony and cooperation, we are presented with a spectacle of false prophets and professional agitators arising to shout their empty and evil prophecies into the ears of the members of this industry."— Sol. A. Rosenblatt.

HINTS FURTHER MOVE IF BOARDS FAIL

(Continued from preceding page)

ago and a few hours before he left for Chicago, was unable to give me an intelligent answer as to how 'the right to buy' which he advocates would work in a given situation."

Each exhibitor's problem is peculiarly his own, Mr. Rosenblatt said he had discovered, and added: "I further found that this industry must be governed by reason and common sense in each situation as it exists or arises and that this industry cannot be governed by slogans and catch words.

Exhibitors' Complaints

"I found that from Maine to California 85 per cent of exhibitors' complaints were that competitors had been guilty of overbuying and of adopting unfairly competing operating policies. I further found that the next 10 per cent of exhibitors' complaints were with respect to unfair and unequitable clearance and protection and that the remaining 5 per cent of complaints were of general miscellaneous character, including a complaint from an exhibitor paying $5 each for feature motion pictures that such license charge was too high."

To eliminate abuses, the deputy explained, it was decided that local clearance and zoning boards and local grievance boards be established.

"A representative of the administrator will sit with each of such boards," he said, "just as three representatives of the administrator sit with the code authority, in order that the public interest may be protected and safeguarded. The work of these Boards will and must be carefully supervised and the rights of all persons who appear before them will and must be carefully regarded.

"If these Boards do not accomplish that for which they are intended, further provision will undoubtedly have to be formulated.

"No man alive is entitled to criticize in advance these Boards and their functions. Criticism will come with more grace and justification if these Boards fail in that which they are created to do. . . ."

Mr. Rosenblatt emphasized that exhibitors will have the right to bring before the local board any matter whether or not it is embraced in the code, that the boards "are to determine cases where exhibitors may have no legal rights whatsoever," that "their jurisdiction has designedly been made very broad."

"Will you imagine my amazement," he said, "when one of these so-called exhibitor leaders who is not a bona fide exhibitor was before me for a lengthy period of time just nine days ago demanding that the jurisdiction of these Boards should be strictly confined to matters only within the code. This person, apparently, would deny to the exhibitors of the country their right and privilege to an open discussion and an open determination of their problems in case particular reference to such problem was not contained within the proposed code.

"I will fight with every breath that is in me for the right of exhibitors to secure justice within their own industry. The creation of these Boards is a tremendous advance forward to such end."

Explaining that the proposed code "is necessarily experimental in its nature for the reason that heretofore no attempt was made tending toward the regimentation of this entire industry with provision made for self-regulation and self-discipline," Mr. Rosenblatt said:

> " . . . Our ears are assailed by the raucous evil cries of the professional harpies of this industry who make their money living upon the life blood of independent exhibitors.
>
> "Our President has challenged the chiselers of this nation — I challenge the chiselers of this industry!
>
> "Our beloved President has warned the money changers in our country, and I warn the unholy money collecting parasites now circulating among our exhibitors."*—Sol A. Rosenblatt.

"False Prophets"

"Now in the very moment when a marked advance is about to be made by this industry in coordinating the activities of its three economic divisions, and of attempting to replace discord and friction with harmony and cooperation, we are presented with a spectacle of false prophets and professional agitators arising to shout their empty and evil prophecies into the ears of the members of this industry.

"Perhaps these agitators would have turned into possible cooperators if the code had provided that other persons than bona fide executives and bona fide exhibitors could be seated in places of high authority within this industry.

"However, at this very moment, when our great President is asking for your cooperation with his administration in attempting to help solve the difficult problems of this nation, including the difficult problems of this industry, our ears are assailed by the raucous evil cries of the professional harpies of this industry who make their money living upon the life blood of independent exhibitors.

"Our President has challenged the chiselers of this nation—I challenge the chiselers of this industry!

"Our beloved President has warned the money changers in our country, and I warn the unholy money collecting parasites now circulating among our exhibitors.

"This nation, as well as this industry, can have no place for industrial termites. I tell you that this industry has suffered too long from those who feed the loco weed to our exhibitors. I ask you to refuse to deal with those who, like the boll weevil in the cotton, are attempting to destroy by their efforts the legitimate business of this industry.

"The National Recovery Administration is determined to go forward in its great work under the guidance and leadership of President Roosevelt and General Hugh S. Johnson. It cannot be swayed or deterred from its purpose by innuendoes and aspersions cast upon the honesty and sincerity of its motives. It cannot be threatened or coerced by self-styled leaders of industry, or by those members of this industry who are motivated solely by self-interest without regard to the welfare of the overwhelming majority of members of the same industry. . . .

"In recent weeks, with this Administration lending its active support to the general welfare of industry, approximately five hundred motion picture theatres have reopened with resulting employment to numerous persons heretofore out of work and with profit to the exhibitors running those theatres. This would appear to be progress in the right direction. Those exhibitors, and I hope all of you here, face the future with courage and with renewed hope in the efforts of our President."

Mr. Rosenblatt was entertained at the New York University gridiron game with Georgia, played at Athens, Ga., with exhibitors Byron Akins and J. B. Joel as hosts. On Sunday he was taken to view Stone Mountain and at dinner he was the guest of R. B. Wilby, head of the Valtenga Circuit, at the Capital City Club.

Kane Heads Fox European Product

Robert T. Kane has been appointed head of Fox European production activities, as an international producer. Mr. Kane will divide his time between the Paris and Hollywood Fox studios.

Mr. Kane will leave for the Coast shortly with George White to start the first of the "George White Scandals" in work. Following that will be the first Erik Charell picture, described as a musical extravaganza. Mr. Charell directed "Congress Dances."

Under the supervision of Mr. Kane two pictures are being produced in France, with Erich Pommer in direct charge. The two are the French version of "Lilliom," directed by Fritz Lang, and an untitled French film starring Henry Garat and Lily Damita. Following these Mr. Kane plans an elaborate multi-lingual version of "Music in the Air" abroad, with Lilian Harvey and an American cast.

Klangfilm and Zeiss Settle Difficulties

According to a report received this week from United States Trade Commissioner George R. Canty at Berlin, an agreement between the Klangfilm G. m. b. H. and the Zeiss Ikon A. G. has been reached. Under its terms it is understood in future Zeiss Ikon must equip its projectors and sound reproducers for the German market exclusively with Klangfilm amplifiers and loud speakers.

Before the agreement in question cinema owners buying installations from the Zeiss company had always to risk development of patent difficulties with Klangfilm upon delivery of amplifiers. These many disturbances and uncertainties are said to have stultified the apparatus market.

Toronto Firm Pays Dividend

Eastern Theatres, Ltd., Toronto, has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the common stock, payable December 1, to stock of record October 31.

"MERRY-GO-ROUND"

but "the motion picture business will be what its own men and its own methods make it"

by MARTIN QUIGLEY

Judged on the basis of present indications, the NRA code scheme for the motion picture industry represents an enormous waste of time, energy and money. We shall not speak of wasted opportunity in the code scheme because for some time it has been quite plain that the best the industry could look forward to would be to get through the ordeal with the least possible damage.

While the industry as a whole may congratulate itself on having escaped with only the apparent damage, the hour for any real jubilation has not yet arrived because Washington still toys with the notion of finding some miracle-man who would be made dictator over motion picture affairs and who from his lofty pinnacle of experience as an ex-governor, ex-national committeeman or ex-something else would quickly introduce the millennium into the picture business.

But that visitation has not yet appeared to darken the skies. In the meantime there are many lesser but equally disturbing thoughts which the industry's code experience to date gives rise to.

▽ ▽ ▽

In certain quarters in the trade it is held that the code procedure has betrayed their best interests. Groups of independent exhibitors, for instance, believe that what has happened during recent months actually has put off for years at least various kinds of relief which they shortly would have won through direct negotiation. In Hollywood, accustomed as it is to one disturbing thing after another, nothing has happened since its inception which has been quite so destructive to harmony and morale. The major companies have nothing to congratulate themselves upon unless it is that they got away with their lives. In every case even this dubious reward has been purchased through the expenditure of a great amount of time and energy on the part of leading executives who while doing this were letting their businesses, perforce, struggle along as best they might—and right at a time when their services were gravely needed.

The essence of the code scheme is an idea of dictatorship. While the idea of dictatorship is not very digestible food for the American businessman, in or out of motion pictures, it is not the idea of dictatorship or even the threatened actuality of a sole dictatorship in Washington which has given the greatest amount of trouble. It is rather the fact that something has gotten into the air about the National Capital which seems to cause government functionaries, of both greater and lesser importance—among the latter being some who actually rate no higher than clerks—to assume the mental posturings of a dictator in fact. To hear some of the vapid mouthings of certain small-calibre persons who have been caught up and carried to Washington on the tide of a new administration one might imagine that they are quoting at least from a decision of the Supreme Court.

Officials behind the code scheme would have you believe at one moment that industry is all wrong and that through the omniscience of a few G-men certain feats of sleight of hand would be passed over it and immediately it would become all right. And again at the moment when certain rather inevitable difficulties in the path of such procedure appear, it is carefully and somewhat confusedly explained that, after all, the government is only interested in re-employment and matters directly affecting same. But hardly before the echo of this new statement of policy has died down, attention is turned again to some matter of trade policy or practice and the administration is off again on the merry-go-round, eventually landing right back where it started.

▽ ▽ ▽

Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt, who has been the deputy administrator in motion picture matters, has, in pursuit of an impossible task, done about as well as might be expected. He is talented and industrious. But in keeping with the whole code scheme he has not known where he has been going or where he was expected to go—and consequently he has gotten nowhere. He has been the funnel through which there has been poured into the motion picture business more confusion, misunderstanding and turmoil than is likely to be offset in several years to come.

Outside of certain concessions to labor which the motion picture industry was quite willing to lay on the altar of national recovery and which in fact it did in a forthright manner—so forthright that it received the compliment of the president of the American Federation of Labor, whose business it is never to be satisfied with what is allowed to labor—and outside of a few other things which are either neglible or problematical the motion picture industry code is of small importance.

The several groups of independent exhibitors who are violently dissatisfied with it have the government to blame—not because they did not get what they hoped they would get but rather because the government led them into believing that they were going to get it. After all, the government has not yet entered upon a program of confiscation and these groups might have realized from the outset that, despite the big talk of various government men, trade advantages represented in property rights are not to be taken away without the consent of those affected.

While many things that may come out of the code cannot be clear to the observer because the policy which supports it is obviously not clear to the Recovery Administration itself, still there is good reason for saying that Hollywood has gotten itself unduly alarmed. We see no reason for not believing that affairs in Hollywood will proceed as previously. We shall be surprised if anything which has happened in Washington with respect to artists' salaries will excite even a ripple of interest six months hence. Mr. Joseph M. Schenck and Mr. Sam Goldwyn apparently do not join in this viewpoint. However, it may be pointed out that the professional and industrial future of neither of these gentlemen is likely at all to be adversely affected were leading stars and directors to come to look upon them as their saviors, as the kindly and charitable company executives who will not have the downtrodden star and director further trod down.

Before the code confusion commenced to permeate the motion picture industry the business was making substantial strides toward recovery. The business is still heading in the right direction but the confusion of the code procedure has been a deterring influence. The enormous consumption of executive time and attention also has been an adverse factor. In addition the code deliberations, if such they may be called, have generally diverted attention from the business of producing, distributing and exhibiting motion pictures—to the inevitable disadvantage of the business.

▽ ▽ ▽

We do not know what the effect of the code procedure has been elsewhere in American business but from surface indications a familiar pattern is to be observed. Of course, the idea of swiftly and certainly correcting all the abuses and inequalities which exist in business is a grand notion. But it is no more plain just how all of this can be done now than it was

(Continued on following page)

CODE TURNED OVER TO COL. LEA BY JOHNSON

Administrator Declares Action in No Sense Criticism of Rosenblatt; Independents' Complaints Also in Lea's Hands

[Solomon A. Rosenblatt, NRA deputy for amusement codes, interpreted the final draft of the motion picture code, on Monday, for the benefit of exhibitors. His remarks appear on page 9.]

The motion picture code draft and the demands of independents and of Allied States Association for revisions were turned over to Colonel W. R. Lea, deputy administrator acting as executive assistant to General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, who had met with the independent group all day Tuesday. Mr. Johnson is to leave Washington the end of the week for a western tour, and wanted the code left in hands familiar with it in the event it might not be ready for submission to President Roosevelt this week. The administrator said his action was in no sense a criticism or disapproval of the work of Solomon A. Rosenblatt, deputy.

Expect Pay Clause Elimination

Interest now centers around action to be taken by the President on the penalty for offering excessive inducements to stars to change employers, generally known as the salary clause. While it has been contended that this provision does not set maximum salaries, there is no denying that its effect will be to trim salary offers. In view of General Johnson's opposition and the probability of Congressional action, it is generally believed that when the President signs the code the salary clause will be eliminated.

With this exception, it is believed that the code now before the Administrator follows closely the third revision of two weeks ago, changes being chiefly for clarification. It was not expected, however, that definite information of the contents will be available until after the code has been signed and printed copies are made public.

The personnel of the code authority is understood to have been written into the code before it went to General Johnson. The list remains about the same as that which has been published variously in recent weeks.

Resent Allied Attitude

Officials of the administration expressed resentment over Allied States Association's insinuation, voiced last week at Chicago, that employment of counsel was thought necessary to obtain consideration for that group. They were also displeased by the general tenor of the various Allied charges, reported last week in MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

Possibilities of the imposition of restrictions upon the importation of pictures made abroad, by either American or foreign actors, if they threaten to endanger the success of the film code, are seen in an executive order issued last week by the President, outlining procedure.

Distributors were said to be disposed not to withhold any code benefits from exhibitors who already have signed 1933-34 contracts.

Pending organization of a regional compliance system on codes, district managers of the Department of Commerce will adjust complaints, but not as enforcement officers.

Representatives of independent exhibitors and of Allied were closeted with General Johnson, reputedly at his call, for several hours Tuesday. Meanwhile, Allied continued to bombard Mr. Rosenblatt's code activities.

The association also indicated it would base a campaign for members on the results of the turnout at Chicago.

An echo of the recent charges against the proposed star "raiding" and salary-curbing clauses of the code, voiced by Samuel Goldwyn and Joseph M. Schenck, was heard over the weekend from Jack Warner, who, arriving in New York from Hollywood, said:

"There are stragglers and deserters from every army, including the army of progress. It is an unfortunate fact that there are men in our industry who will do or say very wild things indeed to get their names in the papers."

Later, Mr. Goldwyn came back with a blast against Mr. Warner's statement, declaring:

"It was Warners who were guilty of the most reckless star-raiding, pirating Kay Francis, William Powell and Ruth Chatterton. When Jack paid an actress [referring to Constance Bennett] $30,000 a week, this industry became the laughing stock of the country's headlines."

IRVING TRUST ISSUES SECOND RKO REPORT

The Irving Trust Company, equity receivers for RKO, appeared late on Wednesday before Federal Judge William Bondy, in New York District Court, with the second report on the condition of the company; the progress being made in its reconstruction and an outline of activities in its management. Some of the highlights of the report by the receivers follow:

Fifty-eight of 162 wholly-owned theatres have been abandoned.

Basic theatre rents per annum have been reduced $250,000.

$261,063 has been saved in reduced taxes on theatres.

Reduction of $8,000 per annum was obtained on mortgage interest rates.

A number of extensions and deferments of principal were obtained, largely a readjustment of $3,489,300 in outstanding RKO Midwest bonds.

Probable reduction of $5,000,000 in RKO's net loss for 1933 was indicated, based on a net loss of $3,356,552 for eight months ending August 31. With operations continuing at a comparable level for the remainder of the year, net loss will approximate $5,745,000 as compared with a 12-months loss of $10,695,503 for 1932.

Assets are $69,799,000, compared with $97,170,000 Dec. 31, 1932, and $75,758,000 at the time of the receivership, Jan. 27, 1933.

Eight-months losses are broken down as follows: picture subsidiaries, $1,441,847; theatre subsidiaries (exclusive of Radio City), $977,484; Radio City, $134,410.

Consolidated cash position at the end of eight months: $2,414,529, compared with $3,212,000 for all of 1932.

Capital surplus of $2,953,882 Jan. 1, 1933, has been written down on balance sheet of August 31 to capital deficit of $12,500,000 by eliminating accounts of subsidiaries in bankruptcy or receivership and by writing down value of RKO investments in such subsidiaries.

No plan for reorganization has been formulated.

An elaboration of the foregoing highlights will appear in MOTION PICTURE HERALD next week.

'Merry-Go-Round

(Continued from preceding page)

at the time the Recovery Act was introduced. Just how anyone assumed that a group of accidental political favorites in Washington knew how all of that could be accomplished is something that may be bequeathed to future generations to marvel at.

The code scheme purported to be something which it is not and to do something which it cannot do. We do not think that it has been deliberately misrepresented but rather misunderstood—both by those who presented it as well as by those who received it. The idea in the abstract offered certain fine possibilities for the motion picture business. Assuming that the Administration knew how to find the solutions to various trade problems which this and every other business has, and assuming that the Administration further knew how to get the arrived at solutions enforced, then it was reasonable to assume that the idea might lead somewhere.

But with the Administration setting out to cover what later proved to be too much territory and with the evidence gradually coming to the surface that it didn't quite know what it wanted to do or what it could do—and with various notions tossed in from time to time under the label of having come direct from The White House —it has all been confusing and disheartening.

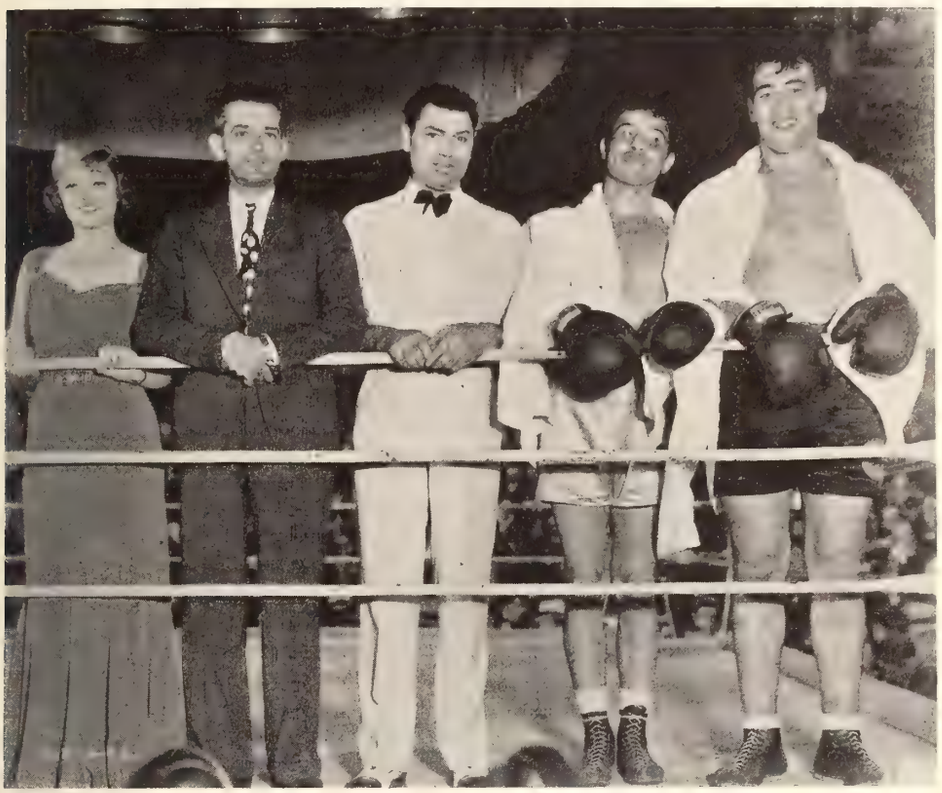
What will happen from this point on code-wise is of course, in view of what has and what has not happened, anybody's guess. But it is much more a certainty and much less a gamble that the progress of the motion picture industry toward a better and more prosperous industry depends on what the industry itself does and not upon what rules or regulations may or may not be imposed upon it from Washington. As the days pass and as General Johnson continues to shout in the manner he learned while drilling rookies in the army, it becomes increasingly difficult to see any difference betwen this latest and greatest interference of government in business and those that have gone before or any difference in the usual result of governmental interference being detrimental to both government and to business.

The stress and confusion of these days will be weathered. The motion picture business, in the long run, will be what its own men and its own methods make it.

Hearing Set for February

The argument of counsel in the patent infringement suit of Frank L. Dyer of Ventnor, N. J., against Sound Studios, Inc., New York, has been set for February 3 in United States district court, Wilmington. Testimony was concluded last week before Judge John P. Nields. The suit involves long-playing record patents, alleged by Mr. Dyer to have been infringed upon by the defendant.

THE CAMERA REPORTS



RINGSIDE. Max Baer, American heavyweight hope, in the ring with Primo Carnera, on a set for MGM's "The Prizefighter and the Lady." With them: Myrna Loy, Director W. S. Van Dyke and Jack Dempsey.

STAR AND BOSS. (Below) E. W. Hammons, president of Educational, shown during his recent stay in Hollywood, in conference with Shirley Temple, his youngest star.

A SCENT-SATION. In Samuel Goldwyn's United Artists musical starring Eddie Cantor, "Roman Scandals." The girls are shown as in a perfume routine called "Christmas Night," during which Cantor sings a song of that title.

END OF THE TRAIL. And the beginning of a new one, if we guess aright the meaning of this composition in black and white camera-etched at sunset against a Western sky. But the romance of America's epic plains never ends, and here are George O'Brien and Irene Bentley as in yet another story of the West, "Frontier Marshall," a Fox production.

WINNER AWARDED. Miss Anne Hyman of Syracuse, with Sam Sax, Vitaphone head, screen tested as winner of contest exploiting Warners' "Footlight Parade" in Syracuse.

FIRST SCREEN ROLES. For Francis Lederer, the Czecho-Slovakian star, and Steffi Duna, Hungarian actress, as they appear, she as his Eskimo wife, in RKO Radio's "Man of Two Worlds." The film marks the American cinematic debut of Mr. Lederer, who, a more or less recent arrival on the American stage, leaped to overnight stardom and popularity on the Broadway boards, from which point he went to the Hollywood set and the motion picture. The "man of two worlds" is additionally supported from the feminine standpoint by the attractive Elissa Landi.

NOW TO TALK. H. B. Warner (right), star of the silent "Sorrell and Son," at British & Dominions studio as star of a modern production for United Artists release. With him is the author, Warwick Deeping.

SAYS SALES ARE UP. A. Montague, general sales manager of Columbia, who announces that film contracts of that company today are 45 per cent in excess of last year's number. A total of 850 accounts have been added.

SHADOWS. Molding the young beauty of Jean Muir, one of the newer Warner players, now appearing in Warners' new Paul Muni picture, "The World Changes."

GIVES MUSICAL. Ramon Novarro shown with his sister, Miss Carmen Samaniego, on the occasion of a "musical evening" at the Novarro home, the MGM star singing songs featured on his recent European concert tour.

PARAMOUNT HAS $2,074,480 IN BANK; ZUKOR TELLS OF TRIBULATIONS IN 1932

Court Approves New Cash Control Plan for Trustees; 50 Contracts Disaffirmed; $2,075,000 Cash in Banks

The trustees of the bankrupt Paramount Publix Corporation—Charles D. Hilles, Eugene W. Leake and Charles E. Richardson—filed last Saturday in New York district court the third report of the corporation's progress toward rehabilitation. Outstanding developments recited were as follows:

Cash totaling $2,075,000 was reported in banks as of September 29.

For the period from July 10 to September 29, receipts were: $1,590,000; disbursements were: $361,870.

Thirty contracts and 20 leases were listed as having been disaffirmed, with court verification.

A new plan for controlling contracts and disbursements of subsidiary picture companies was outlined, and subsequently authorized by the court.

Home office payroll, compared with May, 1931, shows weekly reduction of $57,186, or nearly $3,000,000 per year.

Progress was reported in negotiations for reorganizing various theatre subsidiaries.

Appended to the third report of the trustees and given to Henry K. Davis, referee in bankruptcy, were three orders of the United States district court, by which

1. Trustees are authorized to take all steps they deem necessary to effect a method of control of contracts and disbursements of Paramount Pictures, Paramount Productions, Paramount News, Paramount Pictures Distributing and Paramount International.

2. Trustees are authorized (a) to open special accounts in their name with any authorized depositary for bankruptcy funds and to cause to be deposited therein all, or substantially all, of the cash receipts at New York of Paramount Pictures Distributing and Paramount International and such other funds of the subsidiary groups the trustees may determine; and (b) to draw checks upon special accounts to the order of the companies, each check to be countersigned by Referee Davis, on the basis of the quarterly budgets, picture budgets and specific budgets, and such checks to be deposited in accounts for the particular subsidiary.

3. The action of the trustees, in determining not to adopt certain contracts and leases (listed in report following) of Paramount Publix, is approved, ratified and confirmed.

The trustees cited their belief it is in the interests of the creditors that the business of the bankrupt be continued.

While they attached to the report a summary of all cash receipts and disbursements from July 8, 1933, the last date covered by the second report, to Sept. 29, 1933, the trustees pointed out that as the audits of Price, Waterhouse, become available, receipts of subsidiaries will be reported in the fourth and subsequent reports.

The trustees said they have not as yet made any payments to the attorneys or accountants

(Continued on page 24)

$2,074,480 CASH ON HAND REPORTED BY TRUSTEES

Cash in banks to the credit of Paramount Publix Corporation totaled $2,074,480 on September 29, 1933, according to the third report of the trustees, filed last Saturday. This compares with $846,634 as of July 8.

CASH RECEIPTS
(From July 10 to Sept. 29)

Collection of Receivables
From subsidiary companies	$1,523,933.80
From others	3,011.45	$1,526,945.25
Cash from Operations
Dividends from subsidiary companies	10,671.09
Storehouse shipments to subsidiary companies	608.86
Cravath, De Gersdorff, Swaine & Wood refund	15,000.00
City of Chicago tax refund	551.65
Rents from Wilshire Studio	1,137.10
Miscellaneous	829.79	28,798.49
Reimbursements for disbursements made for the account of subsidiaries (see contra on Schedule "B")		2,544.00
Chemical Bank & Trust Co. Special Account (Employees stock purchase plan)		7,504.83
Liability insurance premium refunds (covering payments made for the account of subsidiary companies)		23,920.79
TOTAL RECEIPTS		$1,589,713.36

CASH DISBURSEMENTS
(From July 10 to Sept. 29)

Reimbursement for account of subsidiaries for which reimbursements were made	$ 2,544.00
Subscriptions to stock of new subsidiaries	720.00
Liability insurance premium payments made for the account of subsidiary companies	38,719.00
Settlement of claims of Federal Government for deficiency on account of 1929 taxes	262,846.92
Advances made to subsidiary companies	47,500.00
Payment to Cinema Patents Co. on account of a sum to be determined by the court re: value of past and future use of machines and licenses	4,000.00
Trustees Operating expense—Payroll—Legal—office supplies—telephone and miscellaneous	5,537.83
TOTAL DISBURSEMENTS	$361,867.75

Paramount President Testifies to Circumstances Surrounding Resignations of Hertz, Kent, Katz, Lasky and Schulberg

Financial highlights of the Paramount Publix Corporation, prior to its bankruptcy early this year, were discussed last Friday when Adolph Zukor, Paramount president, took the stand at an adjourned meeting of the corporation creditors in the offices of Federal Referee Henry K. Davis. Mr. Zukor testified for four hours, describing what he termed the "highlights" of a series of events revolving around the successive resignations from high executive posts in the company's structure of Jesse L. Lasky, Sidney R. Kent, Sam Katz, B. P. Schulberg and John Hertz.

Mr. Zukor testified regarding details of the company's bond and stock financing and regarding stock repurchase contracts made in connection with the purchase of theatre properties and of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

He also discussed details of the entrance of John Hertz into the company's financial affairs, declaring that Mr. Hertz became associated with Paramount at the recommendation of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and that at Mr. Hertz's own suggestion he became contact man between New York and Hollywood and supervised production. This, Mr. Zukor testified, he protested against, because, he said, of Mr. Hertz's lack of experience in the film industry. Mr. Hertz subsequently resigned.

As to the case of Sidney R. Kent, Mr. Zukor declared that Mr. Kent, who had been in charge of distribution, resigned in January, 1932, due to differences with Sam Katz over policies of theatre operation, and that Mr. Katz later resigned as a result of differences with Mr. Zukor over Mr. Zukor's proposed policies of decentralized theatre management.

Mr. Lasky resigned in the autumn of 1932 after an investigation made by the management into film production methods in Hollywood, it being decided that the quality of negatives was not in accord with expenditures being made, Mr. Zukor said. Mr. Schulberg, who had been in entire charge of the company's studios on a contract arrangement, also resigned and was paid $200,000 in settlement of his contract. An additional $100,000 was to have been paid Mr. Schulberg, Mr. Zukor testified, but this was cancelled under a new contract specifying that Schulberg was to make seven or eight pictures independently for release through the company. Mr. Kent also was given $200,000 in settlement of his contract.

Cites Kent-Katz Disagreement

Pale, and bearing the marked effects of his recent illness which kept him in a Hollywood hospital for many weeks, Mr. Zukor recited hour after hour the inside story of the general unrest in the executive structure of the company during 1931 and 1932.

"Kent and Katz didn't get along," he said. "It started with disagreements over business policies and eventually became personal. It got so bad that we felt it might possible result in the deterioration of the entire organization. It

(Continued on page 29)

THE BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS FOR SEPTEMBER

Four rankings are made in the "champions" for September, with seven productions named to those positions by the nation's key city box offices, this number being accounted for by the presence of three ties for third place, and two for the fourth.

TUGBOAT ANNIE
MGM

(1) From the Saturday Evening Post stories by Norman Reilly Raine. Adapted by Zelda Sears and Eve Greene. Additional dialogue by Norman Reilly Raine. Recording director: Douglas Shearer. Art director: Merrill Pye. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Photographer: Gregg Toland. Film editor: Blanche Sewell. Cast: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, Willard Robertson, Tammany Young, Frankie Darro, Jack Pennick, Paul Hurst. Released August 4, 1933.

MORNING GLORY
RKO RADIO

(2) Directed by Lowell Sherman. Story by Zoe Akins. Screen play by Howard Green. Photographed by Bert Glennon. Cast: Katharine Hepburn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Adolphe Menjou, Mary Duncan, C. Aubrey Smith, Don Alvarado, Frederic Santley, Richard Carle, Tyler Brook, Geneva Mitchell. Released August 18, 1933.

PENTHOUSE
MGM

(3) Directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Associate producer: Hunt Stromberg. Screen play by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett. From the Cosmopolitan Magazine story by Arthur Somers Roche. Photographed by Lucien Andriot, Harold Rosson and Robert J. Kern. Musical score by Dr. William Axt. Recording director: Douglas Shearer. Cast: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy, Charles Butterworth, Mae Clarke, Phillips Holmes. Released September 8, 1933.

THE MASQUERADER
UNITED ARTISTS

(3) Directed by Richard Wallace. From the novel, "The Masquerader," by John Hunter Booth and Katherine Cecil Thurston. Screen adaptation by Howard Estabrook. Dialogue by Moss Hart. Dialogue direction by A. Leslie Pearce. Art director: Richard Day. Photographer: Gregg Toland. Film editor: Stuart Heisler. Cast: Ronald Colman, Elissa Landi, Juliette Compton, Halliwell Hobbes, Claude King. Released September 1, 1933.

CAPTURED
WARNER BROTHERS

(3) Directed by Roy Del Ruth. Based on the novel, "Fellow Prisoners," by Sir Philip Gibbs. Screen play by Edward Chodorov. Supervised by Hal Wallis. Assistant director: Frank Shaw. Film editor: William Holmes. Photographer: Barney McGill. Art director: Robert Haas. Cast: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Paul Lukas, Margaret Lindsay, Arthur Hohl, Robert Barrat, John Bleifer, Philip Faversham, Frank Reicher. Released August 19, 1933.

LADY FOR A DAY
COLUMBIA

(4) Directed by Frank Capra. Original story by Damon Runyon. Screen play by Robert Riskin. Photographed by Joseph Walker. Cast: May Robson, Warren William, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Ned Sparks, Jean Parker, Walter Connolly, Barry Norton, Nat Pendleton, Hobart Bosworth, Halliwell Hobbes, Robert Emmett O'Connor, Wallis Clark. Released September 13, 1933.

PADDY THE NEXT BEST THING
FOX

(4) Directed by Harry Lachman. From the play by W. Gayer McGay and Robert Ord, based on Gertrude Page's novel. Screen play by Edwin Burke. Photographer: John Seitz. Art director: Gordon Wiles. Sound engineer: Joseph Aiken. Film editor: Margaret Clancy. Cast: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter, Walter Connolly, Harvey Stephens, Margaret Lindsay, Joseph M. Kerrigan, Fiske O'Hara. Released September 1, 1933.

CENSORS' OWN INCONSISTENCIES CITED IN FIGHT TO OUST BOARDS

Represents a Negative Attack on a Problem Which Can Be Met Effectively Only by Positive Measures, Says Leader

Organized anti-censorship interests of the nation have set about to establish what they term the "capriciousness and inconsistency" of those who censor America's motion pictures, using as their ammunition the censors' own records of deletions during 1932 and through March of 1933.

Revealing the dialogue and scenes that the New York State censorship board, a division of the Department of Education, deletes from films under the licensing law as "obscene," "indecent," "immoral" and "sacrilegious," or as tending to "corrupt morals or incite to crime," the National Council on Freedom From Censorship, organized two years ago by the American Civil Liberties Union, published last week a full record of these cuts in booklet form, under the title, "What Shocked the Censors!"

These deletions, according to the Council, are characteristic of the work of censors in the five other states where they function—Kansas, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia.

Censors deleted parts of 355 feature films, or more than one-third of all submitted, the booklet indicated. In the 15 months covered, 13 pictures were banned completely, but later three of these—"Drei Tage Mittelarrest," "Maedchen in Uniform" and "Scarface"—were passed with substantial cuts. The deletions have to do 44 per cent with sex; 29 per cent with violence; 16 per cent with crime; 5 per cent with government, and 3 per cent with religion.

"The underlying moral compulsions are twofold," said Professor Eduard C. Lindeman, of the New York School of Social Work, in his introduction. "In the first place, the censor does not permit sex, crime, or violence to become too attractive or gruesome, and in the second place, he wishes to protect government and religion from direct attacks and indirect calumnies."

Censors Behind Closed Doors

The National Council was determined to find out just what the censors were doing, said Hatcher Hughes, chairman, in his foreword to the booklet, but this presented difficulties because the censors "had worked behind closed doors for 10 years, and they were modestly reluctant to change their ways."

"They refused to give the public they 'protected' an opportunity to voice any intelligent praise or criticism, or in fact, to make any appraisal whatsoever of this 'protection'," Mr. Hughes declared.

Through a bill introduced at Albany, through correspondence with the Board of Regents and the Commissioner of Education, the National Council urged its point of view that "if the censors accurately reflect current standards of morality and decency they have nothing to lose by a public inspection of their work. If they do not, then as public servants, they should welcome correction." Finally, in May, 1932, mimeographed copies of the records of film deletions were sent to the National Council.

The evil of censorship lies not so much in the elimination of isolated scenes and dialogue, according to the booklet, but in its superficiality and arbitrary inconsistency. Censorship, said the National Council, puts a premium on sentimental, flabby pictures and impedes honest, intelligent treatment of fundamental and controversial problems. Comparison of what is cut and what is left untouched in other films, or even in the same film, is suggested as a means of showing the "capriciousness of the censors."

"Sex subjects are censored not where immoral relations are shown, as they often are," the booklet stated, "but where they are shown in a favorable or too jocular light." Typical cuts in dialogue are such expressions as "want you"; "left my youth in the capitals of Europe"; "is she kept"; "spend the night with me"; "those blondes light up the old place"; "mistress"; "birth control" and "prostitute."

Kisses must not last more than four feet of film, according to the censors' statements as quoted in the booklet. Scenes were censored showing unmarried couples living together; the key to a young woman's apartment in the possession of a man not her husband; a wedding ring on the finger of an unmarried girl.

Nudity seems usually to be regarded by censors as indecent or obscene—in the records of action in the popular pictures of Bali and South Sea islands, the phrase "eliminate all views of child where sex is displayed" appeared repeatedly.

Technique of Crime Barred

Crime and violence are censored when the film deals with the "technique of crime and the actual commission of criminal or violent acts." Labels on bottles indicating criminal use, such as poison, veronal, chloroform or ether, are cut out. So too are all scenes in which money and gems, the plunder of crime, are being divided. Machine guns and pistols are commonly frowned on except in war pictures.

"The censors are determined," said the booklet, "that corruption in public life shall not be suggested in the movies. Inefficiency and negligence by public officials appear to be actually under ban. A lawyer's denunciation of 'man-made laws,' and their administration, was censored; likewire references to 'framing the jury' or 'fixing the judge' were deleted. A scene in which a mayor shakes hands with a racketeer was eliminated altogether, the offending line being, 'Jig, I want you to know that we appreciate this little party you're throwing for us tonight.' Portrayals of the third degree are censored. In the picture, 'I'm a Fugitive From a Chain Gang,' the censors even eliminated a sub-title showing that the working day for prisoners was sixteen hours."

FEATURES REJECTED

January 1, 1932, to March 31, 1933

	TITLE	DATE OF REJECTION
1.	Damaged Souls	April, 1932
2.	Den Store Barnepaden	May, 1932
3.	Drei Tage Mittelarrest (later passed)	July, 1932
4.	Gefahren Der Liebe.	December, 1932
5.	Hollywood After Dark	June, 1932
6.	La Petite Femme Dans le Train	November, 1932
7.	Maedchen in Uniform (later passed)	June, 1932
8.	Reform Girl	March, 1933
9.	Scarface: Shame of a Nation ..... (later passed)	March, 1932
10.	Seventh Commandment	March, 1933
11.	Svarta Rosor	January, 1933
12.	This Naked Age.....	December, 1932
13.	Why Saps Leave Home	April, 1932

National Council on Freedom Charges Censors Capricious and Work Superficial; Deletions Quoted as Examples

The Council's booklet noted examples of cuts relating to religion, the elimination of scenes showing the Bible being thrown on the floor of a church and its pages used for cigaret papers. The scene of a girl reading a novel behind her prayer-book in a synagogue was deleted from a Jewish picture.

"Although the standards pronounced by the censors appear to be forthright and explicit, the actuality is quite otherwise," Dr. Lindeman noted in his introduction. "Their statements or criteria always sound as though they were self-validating. Obviously no normal person wants obscenity, indecency, et cetera. And, certainly, the weaker members of society, particularly children, should be protected from contact with these evil aspects of life. It is this naivete which enlists censorship support on the part of the so-called 'good' people of the community. But, it is precisely because censors do not, and cannot, set forth an explicit standard in any of these spheres that their work becomes doubtful and harmful.

A Negative Attack

"Censorship emphasizes only that which is considered to be 'bad'," the introduction continued. "It deals only with fractions of the total situation; it represents a negative attack upon a problem which can only be effectively met by positive measures. But, there is still another sense in which censorship becomes a disease, and it is at this point that all persons who genuinely desire a better society should be concerned.

"We live in a society in which changes on the levels of technology, science and industry are rapid, dynamic and effective. But, alas, we live also in a society in which changes on the levels of political, social, economic and human values are correspondingly slow, lethargic and ineffective. Those who have for long been in power and have dominated our cultural pattern have already exercised far too much censorship. Social change can only arrive when the channels of criticism are all left open, when freedom is something more than a pioneer memory, and when liberties are unmistakable, authentic and thoroughly guaranteed. A decent society cannot be reared upon the edifice of fear, and all censorship it at bottom a manifestation of fear."

"Thus it becomes clear that censorship of motion pictures is merely a part of a much more significant problem, in that the thoughts of the individual need to be clarified with respect to the larger equation. As much as individuals may dislike certain aspects of motion pictures this fact should not lead us into gross confusion," the introduction concluded. "To allow the principle of censorship to gain headway in one sphere is to admit validity in all others. The 'cure' for an isolated sore thereupon becomes a systematic disease within the whole society. Those who genuinely desire that life and experience in this country shall become cleaner, more decent, more human, have a much more important task to perform than is implied in the negativism of censorship. Theirs is the responsibility to criticize, not symptoms, but the social diseases themselves."

LACK OF STANDARD CALLED HARMFUL

Regarding the voluminous study recently prepared and published by the Motion Picture Research Council, arguments on both sides of which have been reported from time to time in MOTION PICTURE HERALD, the National Council was not prepared at this time to express an opinion. It did, however, express the belief that "the conclusions at which this study arrives will, no doubt, be reversed by the forthcoming study conducted under the auspices of the National Board of Review."

Few Short Subjects Mentioned

In the compilation of the censors' work the question of short subject censorship appeared to be a comparatively negligible factor. A few shorts were included. The important summary fact to be kept in mind, according to the report, was that the censors either delete or reject 38.5 per cent of all feature films submitted, or, in other words, more than one-third of all feature pictures are affected by the censor boards.

The booklet itself, which in addition to introductory and foreword, covers 82 pages, is laid out so that the reader may see at a glance what specific parts of any picture have been cut. For example, with all censored lines in italicised type, one finds the following in the case of "Farewell to Arms":

Reel 1.—Eliminate view of girl in negligee as she jumps into scene (in house).

Reel 3.—Shorten scene of kiss in garden between Catherine and Frederick where he pushes her back and they disappear out of scene.

". . . in a churchyard, under the stars, like two random animals."

Even the Westerns

Even the western comes in for its share of deletions, as indicated in certain lines and sequences which have been bodily removed from "Gordon of Ghost City":

Reel 3.—Eliminate scene where man deliberately shoots at Temple through window.

Eliminate scene where Blain hands gun to Buck.

Reel 4.—Eliminate scene where Buck deliberately shoots at Temple after fight.

"I'm looking for you, Blain. What do I have to call you to make you draw?"

"I'm buttoning my coat. Let your six-shooter do the talking."

When it comes to scenes and dialogue of violence the censors made many deletions. In "Night Beat" the following dialogue—or that part of it in italics—was eliminated:

Reel 2.—What you need in dis' country is da beeg Mussolini."

"Dat's it—Mussolini—Get out or get shot. Only Mussolini gives 'em castor oil, too."

Reel 3.—"What a lay-out. Why, the town will belong to us. A gang war with the police on our side."

"That guinea that had Hymie Weissinkern arrested—when does he get bumped off?"

"Well, he's going to get bumped off, ain't he?"

"Sure he is."

Eliminate all sounds in sequence of gangsters beating Andrea, and dialogue: "Don't!—Stop!—Ouch!—Oh, don't!—Oh, don't!"

DELETIONS BY CENSORS CLASSIFIED

January 1, 1932, to March 31, 1933

CATEGORIES	APPLIED IN CONNECTION WITH FEATURE PICTURES DIALOGUE	SCENE	SHORT SUBJECTS DIALOGUE	SCENE	TOTALS
SEX:
Sex, general	667	308	11	24	1,010
Nudity	00	134	00	75	209
Language	15	9	00	3	27
Slang	19	00	1	00	20
CRIME:
Technique	96	123	1	28	248
Reward	42	80	7	8	137
References	13	00	1	0	14
Poison	00	24	0	17	41
VIOLENCE:
Human	139	494	22	46	701
Animals	00	65	00	00	65
GOVERNMENT:
United States	72	50	1	00	123
Foreign	19	00	0	00	19
RELIGION	25	1	0	0	27
UNCLASSIFIED	15	4	10	0	29
TOTALS	1,122	1,292	54	201	2,670

Inconsistency on Sex

Returning to the question of sex, the censors' inconsistency again was cited in their deletions from "Pick Up," the italicized words again being those which offended:

Reel 2.—Eliminate last view of Harry in night clothes sitting on side of Mary's bed and fadeout kiss.

Reel 3.—"You mean, just because we ain't married, if she wants to play around with you I gotta take it?"

Reel 6.—"I see. But I'm good enough for week-end heaven." (Editors Note: In this particular instance Week-end Heaven was the name of a summer camp.)

"If you'll stop being disagreeable I'll meet you there again tomorrow."

The following elimination of dialogue from "The Plumber and the Lady," Reel 2, left considerable doubt in the National Council's mind as to the actual objective of the censors:

Eliminate—

"I'm not sophisticated."

"The evening's young yet."

"This would be a swell time to announce our engagement."

And in "Private Jones," Reel 2: "This running around nights with a lot of tom-cats."

"This isn't any kind of a life you're trying to lead. Do you want to be labelled a chippie?"

"If you do, I'll spank your bottom."

Reel 7.—"If you fell into a latrine you'd come out with a six months' leave and a hand full of diamonds."

"Stop it! Why is it you're always playing around my pants?" and eliminate accompanying action of Lieutenant pulling Jones up from floor by seat of pants.

In short subjects the majority of deletions dealt with nudity of colored native women and children. An example of what has been done in certain types of short subjects was seen in deletions in one of John P. Medbury's "Travelaughs," as follows:

"Eliminate scene where man steps out from line of dancers, turns around and exposes his bare posterior, and dialogue: "If you think the Americans are good at the 'Black Bottom,' just watch these Africans."

The National Council on Freedom From Censorship was organized to fight all forms of bureaucratic censorship, the foreword to the booklet said, leaving the sole control to prosecution with trial by jury. The Council aids in court trials where and when it is convinced the law has not been violated, and strives to unite all forces opposed to censorship. Its officers are Hatcher Hughes, chairman; Barrett H. Clark, Fannie Hurst and Elmer Rice, vice-chairmen; Harry Elmer Barnes, treasurer, and Gordon W. Moss, secretary.

The national committee includes Helen Arthur, Bruce Bliven, Louise Stevens Bryant, Witter Bynner, James Branch Cabell, Henry Seidel Canby, Edward Childs Carpenter, Marc Connelly, Mary Ware Dennett, Walter Pritchard Eaton, Morris L. Ernst, Paul Green, Louis I. Harris, Arthur Garfield Hays, Theresa Helburn, B. W. Huebsch, Sidney Howard and Rupert Hughes. Other members of the committee include Inez Haynes Irwin, Dorothy Kenyon, Kenneth MacGowan, H. L. Mencken, Lewis Mumford, Henry Raymond Mussey, George Jean Nathan, Rabbi Louis I. Newman, Eugene O'Neill, Maxwell E. Perkins, G. Shearman Peterkin, Llewelyn Powys, Aaron J. Rosanoff, Robert E. Sherwood, Claire Sifton, Paul Sifton, Harry Weinberger, Stewart Edward White, Ira S. Wile and Harry Leon Wilson.

Speaking further of the studies of the Motion Picture Research Council, Dr. Lindeman said that the primary concern of persons involved in such studies related entirely to the welfare of children and a genuinely constructive program would lead, not toward censorship, but rather toward improved planning and supervision for children's entertainment. He pointed out that parents might even give themselves assurance by insisting upon enforcement of current laws which, in many states, forbid the admission of unaccompanied minors to motion picture theatres.

CONSTANCE Bennett

in

"AFTER TONIGHT"

with

GILBERT ROLAND

Entrancing as an Angel Dangerous as the Devil!

As "K-14", Spy! . . . she bewitched men's hearts and sent regiments to their death! But her own heart was crying out for the man she must now betray!

★

That glamorous lady, Constance Bennett in the arms of Gilbert Roland will send tingling thrills up and down the spines of your feminine audience for they've never seen her more alluring . . . or love scenes more tantalizing . . . than in this stunning tale of a spy in love and a conqueror the captive of his prisoner!

★

S. R. O. . . . BANK ON IT!

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

RKO Radio PICTURES

Directed by George Archainbaud
MERIAN C. COOPER, Executive Prod.
H. N. Swanson, Associate Producer

You've never seen THIS HEPBURN!

ELECTRIC in "Morning Glory"

•

DYNAMIC in "A Bill of Divorcement"

•

. . . and now, the
VERY SOUL OF ROMANCE
in America's best-loved love story that brings a new enchantment of sheer loveliness to glorify the screen!

•

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

RKO Radio PICTURES

Directed by George Cukor . . . MERIAN C. COOPER, Executive Producer . . . Kenneth Macgowan, Associate Producer

Katharine
HEPBURN
in Louisa M. Alcott's
LITTLE WOMEN

With JOAN BENNETT, PAUL LUKAS, FRANCES DEE, JEAN PARKER, EDNA MAY OLIVER, Douglass Montgomery • Henry Stephenson

ANNUAL PAYROLL REDUCED $3,000,000

(Continued from page 15)

retained by them, nor have any fees been paid to the equity receivers or their attorneys or accountants.

The trustees said they propose to take such further steps as may be found advisable to improve theatre operation. Principal management changes effected since the second report were promotion of Ralph A. Kohn from treasurer to vice-president in charge of theatre operations, and his election as an executive officer in most of the theatre companies.

They also caused Walter B. Cokell, previously assistant treasurer, to be elected treasurer.

Salary Adjustments Reported

The trustees said they had completed a study of salary adjustments which, in the period between May 31, 1931 and March 14, 1933, were reduced as follows:

(a) June, 1931: All salaries of home office and field employees were reduced from 5 per cent to 25 per cent.

(b) January, 1932: All salaries above $50 per week were reduced from 5 per cent to 10 per cent.

(c) April, 1932: There was a reduction of 5 per cent on the first $50 of all salaries.

(d) Summer of 1932: All home office and field employees were given two weeks' vacation without pay.

(e) Spring of 1933: All employees receiving over $50 per week were given half salary for a seven-weeks period.

The effect of the application of these reductions upon the rates of pay in May, 1931, according to the third report, was as follows:

Weekly Salary May, 1931	Weekly Salary after reductions	% of decrease in annual salary allowing for seven weeks at half pay in Spring, 1933, on salaries above $50 weekly
$2,000.00	$1,398.57	34.8
1,500.00	1,061.07	34.0
1,250.00	892.32	33.4
1,000.00	723.57	32.5
750.00	554.82	31.0
600.00	453.57	29.5
500.00	386.07	28.0
400.00	314.07	26.8
300.00	242.07	24.7
200.00	167.28	22.0
100.00	88.48	17.6
75.00	67.10	16.6
50.00	45.13	9.7
25.00	22.57	9.7

In addition to the foregoing reductions, since bankruptcy, reductions totaling $2,385 a week, affecting 36 employees, have been made.

In the period between January, 1933, and August, 1933, the average home office payroll reduction, resulting both from reduced salaries and reduced number of employees, amounted to 25 per cent.

The present home office payroll, as compared with that of May, 1931, shows a weekly reduction amounting to $57,186 (or nearly $3,000,000 a year).

Reductions in Rentals

The trustees said they were making continuous efforts to obtain reductions in rentals under existing leases (whether of the bankrupt or of former subsidiaries of the bankrupt), and were endeavoring to obtain new leases wherever possible, based upon reduced rentals.

Publix Enterprises, Inc., and Subsidiaries

Considerable progress was reported in negotiations for adusting various matters of Publix Enterprises which are in controversy, and the trustees "confidently expect" that Publix theatre properties and those of subsidiaries will soon be so reorganized as to be included under the same administration as the other theatre subsidiaries. "Thereby considerable savings in expense and gains in the efficiency of the administration will be achieved."

The advisory committee on theatre reorganization, working with Irving Trust, trustee in bankruptcy for Publix Enterprises, concluded negotiations, according to the Paramount trustees, for reorganizing A. H. Blank Theatres Corp., bankrupt, and its subsidiaries, operating in Iowa and Nebraska. The court approved the agreement, it was said.

Negotiations for reorganizing Southern Enterprises have resulted in an agreement with Karl Hoblitzelle, providing for reorganization of theatres in Texas. The court also has approved this agreement.

Irving Trust has secured court approval of an agreement with Hunter Perry, for reorganizing Publix Newport News Theatres, Virginian-Tennessee Theatres, Publix Virginia, operating in Newport News, Charlottesville and Lynchburg, Virginia.

Irving Trust has concluded negotiations for reorganization of August Amusements, Augusta, Ga., which agreement likewise was confirmed by the court.

Dent Theatres, Inc.

The court, it was said, has approved a deal whereby Dent Theatres has entered an agreement with Karl Hoblitzelle, providing for transfer to a new corporation of all stocks of subsidiaries owned by Dent Theatres. The estate of Paramount Publix owns 75 per cent of capital stock of Dent; Saenger Theatres owns the remaining 25 per cent.

This agreement also provides for sale to Hoblitzelle of all Class A stock, being 50 per cent of the authorized capital stock, of the new corporation, and provision was made for the repurchase of the Class A stock on or before August 1, 1934.

Olympia Theatres, Inc.

Negotiations for reorganization of Olympia Theatres are continuing under supervision of the trustees, they pointed out. The advisory committee on theatre reorganization is in contact with the Boston reorganization committee, of which Charles Francis Adams is chairman. It was said that particular attention is being devoted to Salem Realty, which own houses in Salem, Lynn, Averill, Newton and Brockton, Mass., and 50 per cent of the capital stock of which is owned by Olympia Theatres, the remaining 50 per cent being owned by outside interests.

Goldstein Brothers Theatres

Negotiations for reorganizing the G-B Circuit in New England are progressing with representatives of banks, noteholders and receivers having interests in the properties.

Saenger Theatres, Inc.

Trustees are negotiating for a reorganization of Saenger Theatres, the stock of which is owned by the trustees, and which operates throughout six southern states.

Minnesota Amusement Company

Negotiations for reorganizing Minnesota Amusement were said to be progressing, the trustees having sent representatives to Minneapolis to study the situation. Also, representatives of important creditor interests, it was said, have been discussing the situation with the trustees in New York.

Seneca Holding Company

This company, which owns a large assembled plot on Times Square, fronting on the east side of Broadway between 44th and 45th Streets (present site of the Criterion theatre, et al), covered the various plots with separate mortgages, all of which are now in default, the trustees said they endeavored to preserve this property as a unit to prevent this threatened loss. A payment of $40,000, authorized by the court, was made to prevent foreclosure and Joseph P. Day and Peter Grimm are now negotiating sale or lease of the property.

Also, the trustees are working to prevent a sale of other Seneca property, including a studio and film depot and laboratory in Long Island City, which is subject to a substantial mortgage.

The Detroit Situation

A newly organized subsidiary is now operating theatres in Detroit. The trustees entered into a contract with George W. Trendle, for a period of about ten months, to head this group. Negotiations had been carried on by trustees with a view to a sale of part of the capital stock of the new corporation.

Kansas City Operating Company

Holders of $35,000 principal of mortgage bonds have extended the bonds for three years, upon the payment of $1,000 a month amortization.

Paramount Building, New York

No concrete plan of reorganization has been arrived at with regards the home office building on Times Square, owned by Paramount Broadway Corporation, wholly-owned subsidiary of the bankrupt, and which is subject to the lien of a mortgage to secure bonds of Paramount Broadway, of which $8,875,000 are outstanding.

Taxes for the first half of 1933, and interest and sinking fund payments due July 1, 1933, are in default, and the trustee under the mortgage has declared the entire outstanding amount of the bond issue to be due and payable.

Various negotiations have been had with bondholders' representatives.

Properties on the West Coast

Associates of Root, Clark, Buckner and Ballantine, attorneys for the trustees, have remained in California since May, and a member of the firm has made a second trip to Los Angeles and San Francisco to deal with urgent situations.

Final settlement of the controversy between Paramount Publix and Fox Film, arising out of a certain theatre agreement of Dec. 10, 1930, (and explained in detail in the second report) has not as yet been made. However, progress was reported by the trustees in the third report regarding problems relating to the various theatre properties involved.

Individual negotiations are underway for settling the problems of each of these theatre properties—which include: Paramount theatre, stores and building, San Francisco; California theatre, stores and building, San Francisco; St. Francis theatre, stores and building, San Francisco; Paramount theatre and building, Oakland; Paramount theatre, Portland, Ore.; Rialto theatre, Portland, and the Paramount theatre in Seattle.

West Coast Studio

Trustees said they have conducted negotiations with a bondholders' committee holding $2,900,000 serial bonds on the studio and also the Paramount Theatre Building, Los Angeles, with respect to a possible revision of the terms of the bond issue, but such negotiations have not yet resulted in any plan being proposed which is satisfactory to the trustees.

TRUSTEES ACT ON CONTRACTS, LEASES

Paramount Productions was authorized to pay $150,000 of principal which became due Sept. 1, 1933, also a semi-annual installment of interest. Meanwhile negotiations are continuing.

A tender of $142,800 for release of a Hollywood tract owned by Paramount Land Corporation, and upon which the company's laboratory stands, was refused by the Citizens National Trust and Savings Bank, the trustee of the tract under the mortgage. Suit has been started to compel the bank to accept the tender and release the plot. However, it was said the mortgagee has indicated its willingness to consider a possible extension of the mortgage and a reduction of interest rates thereunder. Negotiations are now pending with a view to consummating such an agreement.

Paramount Land also owns a large tract 35 miles north of Hollywood, known as Paramount Rancho, and which is used for outdoor sets and westerns. Negotiations are in progress for extending for one year the maturity of an indebtedness of $72,500.

Marks Brothers' Suit

Hearings are in progress on an action pending in district court, Illinois, entitled "Paramount Publix Corp. vs. Louis L. Marks and Meyer Marks," wherein the bankrupt sought to recover $1,000,000 for alleged misrepresentations and breaches of warranty on the part of the Marks Brothers in connection with certain Chicago agreements dated October 31, 1929, whereby Paramount acquired the stock of Marks Brothers Theatres, Inc. Messrs. Sonnenschein, Berkson, Lautman, Levinson and Morse, of Chicago, have been retained by the trustees as special counsel.

Litigation Involving Transactions

Of importance was the situation involving the suit instituted by the trustees against a certain banking group to set aside the preferences it is claimed the banks received by reason of the March, 1932, and November, 1932, transactions. The respective banks and the members of the bank group have filed their answers raising the issues of the bill of complaint.

The subsidiary, Paramount Pictures, and its subsidiaries, Paramount Productions, Paramount Pictures Distributing, Paramount International and Film Production Corporation, pursuant to their request, have been given additional time to file thir answers to the complaint.

Survey of Contracts and Leases

The trustees pointed out that the court, by an order dated July 14, 1933, allowed them until Dec. 31, 1933 (with leave to apply for a further extension), within which period they could arrive at a determination as to which contracts, including leases, they should adopt.

Accordingly, the trustees, while reserving the right to determine not to adopt other contracts and leases, have definitely determined not to adopt the following contracts and leases, and in each such case, a notice of such action has been sent to the other party:

CONTRACTS DISAFFIRMED BY PARAMOUNT TRUSTEES

CANADIAN TRUST CO., Montreal, with Paramount Publix, dated Feb. 14, 1933, covering transfer agency for common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 12, 1933.

CHEMICAL BANK AND TRUST CO., New York, with Paramount Publix, dated April 1, 1931, and April 15, 1932. Disaffirmed Sept. 12, 1933.

CHEMICAL BANK AND TRUST CO., New York, with Paramount Publix, relating to transfer agency and registrar. Disaffirmed Sept. 12, 1933.

EMANUEL COHEN, with Paramount Publix, dated January 1, 1932, covering personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE, Montreal, with Paramount Publix, dated May 23, 1930, covering listing of common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 11, 1933.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE, New York, with Famous Players Lasky Corp., dated Jan. 28, 1920, and May 28, 1919, covering listing of preferred and common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 11, 1933.

CONSOLIDATED GAS CO. OF NEW YORK, New York, with Paramount Publix, dated Feb. 26, 1932, in connection with gas services at 521-31 West 43rd Street, New York. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

SAM DEMBOW, JR., with Paramount Publix, dated Jan. 1, 1929, covering personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

EMPIRE TRUST CO. OF NEW YORK, with Paramount Publix, relating to appointment as transfer agent and registrar. Disaffirmed Sept. 12, 1933.

FAMOUS PLAYERS CANADIAN CORP., LTD., with Paramount Famous Lasky Corp., dated on or about April 14, 1930, relating to exchange of shares of common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 11, 1933.

MORRIS GREENBERG, with Paramount Publix, dated April 25, 1932, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

RUSSELL HOLMAN, with Paramount Publix, dated March 21, 1929, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

IRVING TRUST CO., New York, with Famous players Lasky Corp., relating to appointment as registrar of preferred and common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 11, 1933.

RALPH A. KOHN, with Paramount Publix, dated January 1, 1932, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

FRANK EDWARD LORSON, doing business under the name New York Supply and Inspection Co., New York, with Paramount Famous Lasky Corp., dated April 24, 1928, relating to theatre, office and store building, located at DeKalb Avenue and DeBevoise Place, Brooklyn, New York. Disaffirmed Sept. 17, 1933.

ROUBEN MAMOULIAN, Los Angeles, with Paramount Publix, dated March 4, 1931, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

MANHATTAN ENGINEERING BUREAU, New York, with Paramount Publix, dated Sept. 8, 1930, relating to inspection services of premises located at 34-13 36th Street, Long Island City, New York, and contract dated October 28, 1931, relating to inspection services of premises located at 36-12 35th Avenue, Long Island City. Disaffirmed Sept. 6, 1933.

MONTREAL TRUST CO., Montreal, with Paramount Publix, dated Feb. 14, 1933, relating to transfer of common stock. Disaffirmed Sept. 12, 1933.

NATIONAL DISTRICT TELEGRAPH CO., with Paramount Famous Lasky Corp., relating to watchman and fire alarm signal services at Paramount Theatre, located at DeKalb and Flatbush Avenue Extension, Brooklyn, N. Y., dated Nov. 17, 1927, also contract dated November 17, 1927, relating to watchman and fire alarm signal services at Paramount Office Building, located at DeKalb and Flatbush Avenue Extension, Brooklyn, N. Y. Disaffirmed Sept. 6, 1933.

NATIONAL DISTRICT TELEGRAPH CO., New York, with Paramount Publix, dated June 3, 1930, relating to watchman and fire alarm services in connection with premises at 35-11 35th Avenue, Long Island City, New York. Disaffirmed Sept. 6, 1933.

NATIONAL DISTRICT TELEGRAPH CO., New York City, with Paramount Publix, dated June 3, 1930, relating to watchman and fire alarm services in connection with premises at 34-54 35th Street, Long Island City. Disaffirmed Sept. 6, 1933.

NATIONAL DISTRICT TELEGRAPH CO., New York, with Paramount Publix, dated June 3, 1930, relating to watchman and fire alarm services in connection with premises at 34-29 35th Street, Long Island City. Disaffirmed Sept. 6, 1933.

E. V. RICHARDS, New Orleans, with Paramount Publix, dated July 31, 1929, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

ROSS FEDERAL SERVICE, INC., New York, with Paramount Publix, dated May 13, 1931, relating to checking percentage pictures. Disaffirmed Sept. 25, 1933.

LAWRENCE STERN AND CO., New York, with Paramount Publix, dated July 15, 1932, relating to services in connection with rental reductions, etc. Disaffirmed Sept. 11, 1933.

GEORGE SCHAEFER, New York City, with Paramount Publix, dated March 20, 1929, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

TECHNICOLOR MOTION PICTURE CORP., Hollywood, with Paramount Publix Corporation, dated Feb. 3, 1931. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

SIR WILLIAM WISEMAN, New York, with Paramount Publix, dated Jan. 1, 1932, relating to services to be rendered bankrupt. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

ADOLPH ZUKOR, New York, with Paramount Publix, dated Jan. 1, 1932, relating to personal services. Disaffirmed Sept. 8, 1933.

Twenty Leases Are Disaffirmed

The trustees of Paramount Publix Corp. reported last week to the U. S. District Court, in New York, that they had disaffirmed 20 leases of various property holdings, as follows (Paramount Publix was lessee in all cases):

Alabama Theatre, Birmingham; Allied Owners Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/28 and ends 12/31/42, at $155,592 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/5/33.

Paramount Theatre and Building, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Allied Owners Corp., lessor; term began 11/1/28 and ends 10/31/43, at $593,337 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/5/33.

Paramount Theatre and Stores, Fremont, Ohio; Allied Owners Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/32 and ends 1/1/47, at $22,589 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/5/33.

Paramount Theatre, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Allied Owners Corp., lessor; term began 2/1/32 and ends 1/31/47, at $22,997 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/5/33.

Paramount Theatre, Hamilton, Ohio; Midham Corp., lessor; term began 3/6/31 and ends 3/5/56, at $45,524 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/30/33.

Florida Theatre and Building, Jacksonville, Fla.; Hiawatha Co., lessor; term began 4/8/27 and ends 4/7/42, at $200,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/31/33.

Tennessee Theatre and Building, Knoxville, Tenn.; Tennessee Enterprises, Inc., lessor; term began 7/1/29 and ends 6/30/50, at rental depending upon certain interest and principal obligations on mortgage.

Warehouse and vacant land, 456 Pierce Ave., Long Island City; Seneca Holding Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/33 and ends 12/31/33, at $20,280 annual rental; disaffirmed 7/6/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Edison Building, Los Angeles; Third and Broadway Building Corp., lessor; term began 7/1/25 and ends 6/30/42, at $160,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/31/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Paramount Theatre and Stores, Middleton, Ohio; Midham Corp., lessor; term began 4/5/31 and ends 4/4/56, at $35,969 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/30/33.

New warehouse, 521 W. 43rd St., New York; Attica Film Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/32 and ends yearly; disaffirmed 8/11/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Paramount Building, 1501 Broadway, New York; Paramount Broadway Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/26 and ends 1/1/51, at $807,500 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/1/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Studio, Laboratory and Film Depot, Long Island City; Seneca Holding Corp., lessor; term began 1/1/26 and ends 12/31/37, at rental starting at $253,000 yearly, to $678,600, on sliding scale; disaffirmed 4/28/31. (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Paramount Theatre, Oskland, Cal.; Bway. and 20th Properties, Inc. as successor in interest of Investment Properties Corp., lessor; term began 12/15/31 and ends 12/14/61, at $175,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/5/33 (subleased to third person at no profit).

Florida Theatre and Building; St. Petersburg, Fla.; St. Petersburg Enterprises, lessor; term began 8/15/26 and ends 8/14/38, at $150,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/31/33.

Paramount Theatre, San Francisco; Granada Realty Co., lessor; term began 3/1/26 and ends 4/30/41, at $250,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 8/31/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

State Theatre and Building, Uniontown, Pa.; Gorley, et al, as lessors; term began 12/28/31 and ends 12/27/51, at $52,000 annual rental; disaffirmed 9/8/33.

Madison Toledo Building, Toledo, Ohio; Madison Toledo Co., as lessor; term began 9/1/26 and ends 8/31/41, at annual rental of from $6,356 to $8,470, on sliding scale; disaffirmed 8/31/33.

Paramount Theatre, Toledo, Ohio; Toledo Paramount Corp., lessor; term began 2/1/29 and ends 2/1/44, at rentals sufficient to meet certain ground leases and mortgage payments; disaffirmed 9/5/33; (disaffirmance of inter-company lease).

Penn Theatre and Building, Uniontown, Pa.; Gorley, et al, lessors; term began 12/28/31 and ends 12/27/51, at annual rental of $18,000; disaffirmed 9/8/33.

In addition to the foregoing contracts, the Paramount trustees also disaffirmed direct and collateral leases on some 20 properties, records of which appear in an adjoining column.

Control of Contracts, Disbursements

As a result of transfers of producing and distributing assets and business to newly formed subsidiaries (Paramount Productions, Paramount News, et al), and as a result of the issuance of the stock of these subsidiaries to another newly-formed corporation, Paramount Pictures Corporation, which stock was then issued to the bankrupt parent company, said bankrupt was in form almost entirely a holding and not an operating corporation (with some exceptions, involving theatre leases and certain assets such as film inventory, etc.), said the trustees.

NEW PLAN TO CONTROL SUBSIDIARIES

And pursuant to authority granted in a court order entered in connection with the so-called suit of the banking group, the trustees have since allowed the subsidiaries to continue to hold their respective properties and to manage their respective businesses under the direction and control of the trustees. But, the trustees have required the subsidiary companies to present to them the agenda of the directors', finance committee, and executive committee meetings of the five subsidiaries.

In certain cases, the trustees said they have been consulted in advance with respect to proposed contracts and disbursements of the subsidiaries, and, as a part of the trustees' duties, they have generally supervised the operations of the subsidiaries.

Closer Control Desirable

However, the trustees point out that they have come to the conclusion that it would be appropriate and desirable for them to institute a plan for closer control over these subsidiaries. They also said that the advisability of effecting closer control over the contracts and disbursements of other subsidiaries is receiving their attention.

The plan developed and recommended by the trustees (and which they are authorized by the court to place in operation), follows:

All or substantially all of the cash receipts at New York of Paramount International and of Paramount Pictures Distributing (representing, in the case of International, the net foreign distribution receipts after payment of all expenses of the foreign distribution units, and, in the case of Distributing, the net domestic distribution receipts after the payment of domestic film exchanges of certain expenses of routine nature), are to be transferred to one or more special accounts in the name of the trustees. The cash receipts in New York of the two subsidiaries constitute the principal receipts of all of the five subsidiary companies.

Such cash receipts, according to the report, are to be paid out for the account of these subsidiaries only as needed for disbursements. The funds paid out will be deposited in bank accounts of the subsidiaries which are to make the required payments to outsiders. Withdrawals from such bank accounts of the subsidiaries are to be made only in accordance with general instructions from the trustees, and only upon countersignature of each check by an agent of the trustees. The funds transferred to the special accounts of the trustees will be transferred, not as dividends or as payments on account of indebtedness of the subsidiaries to the trustees, but as deposits somewhat in the nature of bank deposits, the trustees being accountable to the subsidiaries for the funds so deposited and not being entitled to offset against such funds the indebtedness of the subsidiaries to them.

Heretofore, budgets have been prepared quarterly estimating the probable cost of the production expenses of Paramount Productions and Paramount News, the exchange expenses of Paramount Pictures Distributing and the New York office expenses of the subsidiaries and estimating the probable film distribution receipts of Paramount Pictures Distributing and Paramount International Corporation.

Production Expense Variable

The distribution expenses and home office expenses are found to be fairly uniform, it was said. But the principal variable factor is the production expenses of Paramount Productions, which, however, represent a very large part of the total expenditures of the organization and which are incurred principally at the studio in California. In the case of production expenses of Paramount Productions, the budgets are prepared on the basis of the probable cost of pictures selected for filming during the succeeding quarter in the light of estimated distribution receipts. In addition, individual budgets, in great detail, are prepared for each picture. The trustees will require hereafter that the quarterly budgets and the picture budgets be submitted to them before they become effective. These quarterly budgets and individual picture budgets may frequently require modification after becoming effective, but the trustees will require that any substantial modification be approved by them.

Weekly or bi-weekly advances from the special accounts will be made to the subsidiaries upon requisitions describing the purposes for which such advances are to be used. To the extent that any such purposes are not within the quarterly budgets or individual picture budgets previously approved by the trustees, the requisitions are to be approved by the trustees before being honored.

As a further check upon expenditures, statements will be required to be furnished to the trustees weekly explaining all checks in excess of $1,000 which may be drawn by these subsidiaries.

As to contracts of these subsidiaries, the trustees have decided to require that no contract on behalf of such corporations shall be entered into unless such contract shall first have been approved by one or more of the trustees or shall expressly provide that it is made subject to the later approval of the executive committee of the corporation in question, which will be instructed not to grant such approval without the consent of the trustees. Contracts which will be performed within the period of a quarterly budget previously approved by the trustees and for which provision has been made in such budget, or contracts specifically contemplated by any approved picture budget, are to be deemed to have been approved, inasmuch as the trustees will theretofore have passed upon such budgets.

In order to retain the advantages, heretofore reported to the Court, involved in continuing the separate corporate existence of the pictures group subsidiaries, it is deemed advisable not to disregard the present corporate organization by requiring the various officers and employees of each corporation to obtain the approval of disbursements and contracts directly from the trustees, but rather to have approval granted by the executive committee of the corporation involved, or by one of two or three corporate officers to be designated by the trustees, such approval, in either case, to be granted only after obtaining the consent of one or more of the trustees, it was said. It is believed that the suggested indirect method of controlling disbursements and contracts will avoid the complications which would result if the trustees were to attempt to exercise direct control over those operations.

Dividend Payments

The trustees, in concluding their third report, said they do not recommend payment of a dividend at this time. Also, it was said that the obligations of the trustees for payment of various expenses connected with the equity receivership have not yet been determined or paid.

"A final report," it was said in conclusion, "cannot now be filed because of the uncompleted matters mentioned in this," the third report, "and because all the assets of the bankrupt have not been liquidated."

A record of cash receipts and disbursements of the trustees for the period covering from July 10 to September 29, 1933, appears on page 25.

Zukor Tells of Hertz and Katz

(Continued from page 15)

was apparent that it was to the company's best interests that an end be put to the situation. Kent was regarded as the one most likely to agree to step out in the interests of the company. Hertz negotiated a settlement with him. I didn't like to lose Kent. He had been my right hand man for 15 years.

"The conflict between him and Katz was begun, as I recollect, over the playing and selling of our pictures—even in our own houses. As business got worse, the situation between them came to an impasse. They were at loggerheads. When anything went wrong, one was always right and the other at fault."

As far as he knew, Mr. Zukor contended, Jesse Lasky had never formally resigned from the company. "He just stepped out."

Mr. Zukor said that early in the Spring of 1932, the company management decided that its pictures were not measuring up to their reputed cost, and that rather than "embarrass" Mr. Lasky with an investigation, they asked him to "take a three months' vacation" while they went ahead with their inquiries into production methods. As a result of this, certain changes were made and "Lasky subsequently stepped out."

Emanuel Cohen had been sent out to the Coast to make the studio check-up, said Mr. Zukor in answer to a question put to him by Saul E. Rogers, counsel for a Paramount bondholders' committee, and when his findings regarding excessive costs and methods proved correct, Mr. Zukor placed him in charge of production, which post he has held ever since.

Shortly after this, B. P. Schulberg received his $200,000 in settlement of his contract. Following this, the events leading up to the Hertz resignation took place. This was the result, Mr. Zukor testified, of efforts to assume control of production, chiefly, it appears, on the part of Sam Katz, who became interested in production and spent several months on the Coast assisting Mr. Cohen in getting the studio "back in shape." After Mr. Zukor recalled Mr. Katz from Hollywood and announced his proposals regarding decentralization in all departments, Katz resigned, Mr. Zukor said.

As to Mr. Hertz's actual resignation, Mr. Zukor said:

"He wanted to run the studio and tell them what to make and how to make it, and also wanted to run the advertising department. I believed a man who had been in the business for so little time wasn't qualified, and this led to his resignation."

Hertz's Salary, $96,000

Mr. Zukor said he had arranged the Hertz contract and that his salary was $96,000 per year.

Prior to 1919, when Paramount started as a large scale exhibitor, the company had no outside financing. After 1919, however, and up to and including 1930, various bond issues were floated for theatre and general expansion, and in 1930, a $15,200,000 loan was negotiated to "pay off maturing bank loans and other commitments."

Asked when the banks began to press the company for payments, Mr. Zukor insisted that he had no inkling the company was in difficulties with the banks until the late spring of 1932 when one of the banks refused to renew a note. Mr. Hertz and Ralph A. Kohn, Paramount treasurer, then began work on plans to reorganize the company finances. The result of these plans was the organization of Film Productions Corp. which pledged 23 negatives as collateral on new notes issued by 12 banks.

Paramount's bank indebtedness in 1931 was $7,500,000, and was increased to $9,600,000 the following year. The creation of new subsidiaries, Paramount Productions, Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp., Paramount International, and others, which took place in November, 1932, and the transfer of assets to them, "was part of the plan to decentralize the company everywhere, and was conceived months before," Mr. Zukor declared.

Mr. Zukor also revealed that his salary from 1927 to 1932, inclusive, had amounted to $858,000, and that during this time he received $750,000 in cash bonuses and approximately 10,000 shares of the company's stock. He disclosed that he owned nearly 100,000 shares in 1930, and that they then had a market value of $7,000,000.

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

The Mad Marxmen—now boiling some "Duck Soup" for Paramount—are admittedly just as insane in their preparations for filming as they are in the completed product. They do not hesitate to do things which no one else in the studio would dare contemplate, regardless of expense to the studio and the relation of that expense to the receivership. Which must annoy the trustees.

No one but Groucho, Chico, Harpo and Zeppo would avoid rehearsals with such enthusiasm.

No one but they could get away with calling a "family conference" and marching off to a secluded corner of the set just as Director Leo McCarey is ready to start a scene.

No one but Harpo would ask if he could leave the set for a few minutes and, being given permission, desert the studio to rush to the nearest airport and board a plane for Palm Springs.

No one but Zeppo, called for nine a. m., would have his valet telephone the studio at 8.55 to ask what time Mr. Marx was called, in the hope that the scene had been postponed.

But, then, they're really not bad boys. Groucho usually balances the cost scale when he paints on a false mustache and eyebrows, instead of growing them, or having them "built" on by hair, as other actors do.

▽

Young Richard Dawson, a sailor man, will get his diversion for the next four months on the rock pile at New York's workhouse, because he felt the urge of romance and tried to force his attentions upon a pretty miss of the Yorkville section, who, said Richard, gave him "that Mae West look." The magistrate who pronounced sentence is a namesake of the gentleman, who, while Paramounting, elected Miss West to pictures—Mr. Sam Katz.

▽

Even the New York censors have their big moments, as witnessed by some of their deletions. We bet the old boys got a kick out of their order to "eliminate distinct view of bottle labeled 'Itching Powder'" from a two-reeler tagged "Kid Glove Kisses."

▽

We sympathize with Paramount's lovely Miriam Hopkins. A piece of publicity from the main office in New York bears the sorrowful news that

MIRIAM HOPKINS FINDS
POLYANDROUS PART HARD WORK

"By nature," she said, "I happen to be the sort of woman who can't dominate one man, let alone two. When I leave the set in the evening, I usually relax into my natural self, but these days I'm so completely aroused emotionally that it takes two hours after I arrive at home before the full effect of my work wears off."

She can't take it.

▽

Radio would have us believe that the most distinguished dog in all the world is a new addition to the John Barrymore household, having been born on the Barrymore chest, while he was sleeping, during last week's earthquake.

▽

Dave (RKO vaudevillian) Hutton doesn't miss a trick, as evidenced by his account of the following, according to the daily press:

"She was sitting on the floor in our cabin in her pajamas, reading aloud from a Bible. Before I was quite awake I saw her there, and noticed that as she read she was looking at me out of the corner of her eye. Another thing I couldn't help noticing was that she kept looking at me out of the corner of her eye."

We have found a sequel to last week's paragraph about a curious letter which was sent to creditors by the editor of a Wisconsin newspaper. We echo this latest communication from Juliet Lowell's authentic specimens of "Dumb-Belles-Lettres—Lallapaloozas from the Morning Mail." It follows:

——— SHOE CO.

Dear Sirs:

We are in receipt of your letter of the 22nd inst. and surprised at its tenor.

Evidently you are unaware of our method of payment of accounts, so for your benefit we will explain.

Each month, when we have inspected our balance at the bank, we set aside a certain sum for the payment of accounts. Each creditor's name is then placed in the hat and the winning creditors drawn are paid the amounts due them.

We hope this explanation will be sufficient, and if we have any more of your damn nonsense your name will not even be placed in the hat.

We are, Yours faithfully,
CHARLES E——.

▽

Fortune telling is taboo in the Catholic religion. Yet Paramount sends to the press of the world an item which says, "Eleanor King, one of the nuns in 'Cradle Song,' told fortunes between scenes."

▽

Mr. Joseph V. McKee is about to inject into New York's heated tri-cornered mayoralty contest a last-minute bid for the support of motion picture projectionists in the Metropolitan area, on the grounds that it was he who sponsored and introduced in the Assembly, in 1920, the law compelling operators to take out a municipal license, and that, several years later, when reactionary film interests wanted to nullify the law with many hampering clauses, McKee again fought against such inroads.

▽

The Reverend Fred Smith, pastor of the First Congregational Church, at Newton, Kansas, rushes at this late hour to the defense of Sally Rand's fan dance, which netted Sally much front-page news space, considerable skekels and the wrath of Chicago's and New York's protectors of morals. Reverend Mr. Smith admitted that he saw the young lady strut her stuff, "but," he said, "it was as Moses saw God, from the cleft of the rock." (See Exodus 33:20-23.)

▽

"Some doubles," reports Fred Grace, "are so like the stars that the only way a director can tell them apart is to ask both to perform a risky stunt. The one whose 'side hurts' is not the double."

▽

Isn't it true that everybody wants to cooperate with the NRA by being the first to recover?

▽

Warners will tell you that "The World Changes," and so do the identities of some people's parentage. London neighbors of Boris Karloff knew him as Bill Pratt.

▽

Allied's latest charge against producers-distributors is that there was a plot to "wear down" Allied leaders during the code negotiations at Washington. They claim that producer executives maintained valets at nearby hotels to invigorate and restore them with rubdowns during the luncheon periods so they might outlast the independents.

▽

Metro's ambitious young actor, Eddie Quillan, is trying to write an original story. With that thought in mind, he has already read 400 books.

Very soon we shall have in our midst another American.

Herr Ernst Lubitsch, one-time Berlin actor, but for years a Paramount director in Hollywood, has finally gotten around, after some 11 years, to the important business of declaring allegiance to the land of opportunity, blue eagles, high salary checks and double features. Mr. Lubitsch, cigar a-smoking, received his first papers the other day.

Ernst Lubitsch still is quite young—only 41—a son of Simon and Anna (Lindenstedt) Lubitsch, of Berlin. It was in 1922 that Mr. Lubitsch asked for a passport to Hollywood, in answer to the strong and insistent entreaties of our Mary Pickford. After that he worked as a director for Sam, Harry and Jack Warner, spending three years with the brothers before he picked up a megaphone on the Metro Pictures lot of Mr. Marcus Loew. Finally, in 1927, he affixed his blunt signature, after brushing away some cigar ashes, to a Famous Players-Lasky contract.

▽

Anent our recent paragraph about taxation at motion picture theatres, Carlos Harrison, manager of Keith's, Cincinnati, says a movie house used to be a place where one sold tickets for a profit, but now it is merely a branch of the Internal Revenue's tax-collecting department.

▽

We hear that Mr. Roosevelt, the most written-to of all Presidents, gets an average of 3,800 letters a day, running far ahead of our best movie star. The majority of the Presidential mail is laudatory, many give suggestions, some are critical—and the rest are gimme letters. The mail has dropped considerably, though, from 5,200 daily.

And Marvin McIntyre, former Pathe newsreel man, now a Rooseveltian secretary, averages 270 telephone calls at the White House every day. One day he took 357.

▽

In most of the scenes of old, like those in "Berkeley Square," the ladies actually wear the fullness of dress requirements, sometimes as many as nine—count 'em—petticoats, worn one upon the other. This is supposed to lend dignity to the wearer's walk.

However, whenever you see a Roman gladiator with armor of "heavy steel," he is usually wearing felt dipped in gilt.

▽

He's a regular old navy man, is Secretary of the Navy Claude Swanson.

Fifi D'Orsay, petite French actress, completed one of her songs at a studio luncheon for Mr. Swanson, by skipping down from the stage and pausing on her way to affectionately pat some shiny bald heads and kiss a few chosen guests. Will Rogers came out of the embrace blushing and considerably mussed as to hair.

Then Fifi stopped beside Secretary Swanson. One hundred guests held their breath.

Would she?

She did—a generously long one. And Mr. Swanson emerged, not only smiling and unruffled, but looking as if he liked it.

Miss D'Orsay now has the whole United States Navy behind her.

▽

Mr. Rockefeller's people at Radio City seem to be constantly in hot water over politics and art. First it was Diego Rivera's "pink" paintings which kicked up a fuss. Now the paperhangers are after them for using German-made wall paper.

▽

RKO, in signing off its current circuit publication, says: "A few weeks ago we sent confidential word around that a certain actor, co-starred in a film, had proven box-office poison, and that it would be smart to lay off him in advertising." (Name 12.)

"SET TO

Chester
MORRIS in
KING FOR A NIGHT

DO GOOD BUSINESS"

—Says Daily Variety

"Powerful scenes and emotional wallops, with sincere direction and good performances," says Daily Variety . . . "SET TO DO GOOD BUSINESS GENERALLY, WITH SPECIAL APPEAL TO THE FAMILY TRADE."

With Alice White, John Miljan, George E. Stone, Grant Mitchell, George Meeker, Warren Hymer. Directed by Kurt Neumann. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Story by William Anthony McGuire. Presented by Carl Laemmle. Another winner from

UNIVERSAL

with Helen

TWELVETREES

DeCasseres, Stage Trumpeter, Sounds Note Of Comeback in Success of Seven Openings

Essayist Slides Bar of Soap under the Undertakers' Ballet

by BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

The miracle of 1933 is the comeback of Broadway. Lazarus came out of his grave dressed in his soup-and-fish!—Percy Atkinson Gabriel.

The dying theatre! The decline of the stage! The moribund drama! Pictures finally conquer the legit! Broadway is through!

That's what we listened to last year. And a lot more of this stuff was syringed into my ear along the Great Whited-Sepulchre Way as I carried the last legitimate actor from the "last legitimate theatre" one night last May.

Exit the theatre to the Bronx cheer.

Did I believe it? Not for an NRA moment. Why? Because since playing marbles I have heard periodically those old wheezes, "France is decaying," "British Empire is on its last legs," "This is Tammany's last battle" and "The theatre is declining."

The Undertakers' Ballet

So when I heard last year "The speaking theatre is through!" I knew I was listening to the familiar tap-dancing of the Undertakers' Ballet.

The same old ballet used to dance "The Pictures Will Never Amount to Anything!" "The Phonograph Will Annihilate the Concert Stage!" "Prohibition Is Here to Stay!"

Well, the boys of the daily rags must have copy. And that's what almost all the yowls amount to—copy! copy!

I grant that last year the legit. had a bad case of functional pylorospasm, with probable diverticulosis. But it wasn't caused by the fact that the public liked pictures better than plays or that it no longer cared for the stage. The decline of the stage to "its lowest level in years" was the result of (1) no-mun, (2) the belief of a raft of scene-plumbers, politely called playwrights, that they could run off anything on the Fool Pub. for a week or two and then sting the picture nunkey-donkeys for a barrel of grands for their boob-porridge, and (3, and this is, I believe, the nux of the subject), the inability of the producers and play-spinners to see that the public taste is steadily rising both as regards the legitimate and pictures.

As they say in the Latvian, the man that eats the meal is the judge of it. The man in the kitchen knows only his own palate.

The astounding return of Broadway right at the opening of the season both in the quality of the shows and overflowing attendances is due to two reasons, in my opinion: The people have more money to spend than they had last year, and, secondly (and to me this is the important reason), because nothing will ever be found as a substitute for the living, breathing, walking human being, just as no phonograph or radio can take the place of a living Chaliapin, Paderewski or Al Smith.

Consider what has happened on Broadway as I write this: Out of nine openings, seven smashed big. Last year at this time there was only one hit on Broadway.

Not only are many of the big hits fine shows, but the most extraordinary part of it is that several of the poor shows—like "Murder at the Vanities" and "Hold Your Horses," which the critics did not think so much of—are packing them in also.

The latter draws are caused by the public's desire to see real legs—and things—rather than the phantom kickers—and things—of the picture musical comedies. What can take the place of a real leg?

Take the women of the speaking stage. They are not as outrageously made up as the women of the screen. Most of the latter look phony with their gooey lips and upholstery-fringed eyes. And their acting looks, very often, like trick-bear stuff.

Am I arguing against pictures? Not for a moment. I'm a fan of boobiest ray serene. But I hold to the dominance, artistically and otherwise adverbially, of the spoken drama and musical show. The fall smashes and audiences fighting to get into theatres prove it.

There's Evolution, Too

I can conceive of the motion picture evolving into something else (higher or lower, as the case may be). I can conceive of it disappearing or giving place to some other form of entertainment as inconceivable to us now as pictures were to Oliver Cromwell. It is the essence of that which is mechanical and man-created to be finally junked. The reason: the mechanical is not reality itself; it is only a shadow and counterfeit of reality.

Now, the living stage is the reality, the eternal quantum, of which motion pictures are the shadow and the counterfeit.

A play by Aristophanes is put on twenty-five hundred years after its first performance in Athens. They pack them in to see it on Broadway for a year, and it goes on the road—Aristophanes!

Now, I do not know of a picture (original or otherwise) that will be reproduced twenty-five hundred years from now, for the simple reason that I do not believe there will be any such thing as a motion picture in 4433 A.D. But the stage, with living, breathing actors, who may even forget their lines, will, I wager, be there. And there will be Aeschyluses, Shakespeares, Molières, O'Neills and even Owen Davises doing their stuff.

"Forgetting their lines," I said above. That is another one of the elements that make for the superiority of the speaking stage. There is always that element of danger—which we all love—in a speaking drama. Anything may happen. The lead may be plastered. Cues may be missed. The vamp may make a frightful but uproariously funny mistake in a word. A horse may forget his parlor manners in public.

There is always this gripping margin of the accidental in the stage play, while in the picture everything is cock-sure, certain,

(Continued on page 34)

Mr. Benjamin DeCasseres, the last of the Spinozas, came into the office the other day proclaiming the resurrection of the speaking stage, the return of the ancient art, the triumph of the handmade drama. He had, it seemed, discovered nothing less than an epoch in the process of being born.

Now it is very pleasant to have a writer of Mr. DeCasseres' rank and attainment among our contributors. As has been set forth in this position before, we know him to be the best judge of beer and the second best judge of cheese in the world of American letters. We think he is also about as good a judge of the drama as he is of beer.

So in a mingled state of mind, but doubtful, it was agreed that he should do a piece for us tending to support his assertion about the stage. We have felt that if the stage should come back and get important it would be our duty to tell the motion picture world about it.

And what do we get by way of facts? None! But we do get considerable outgiving from Mr. DeCasseres in his entertaining manner about how he feels about something that he infers but does not prove. We have an essay—not a report.

May we not point out that Mr. DeCasseres himself in his article herewith puts his main hope for a real thrill from the drama on something that may happen that was not in the script—the "plastered lead," the careless horse, the dumb vamp.

*And so we present this outgiving from one of the most profound protagonists of the stage as further evidence that the motion picture is indeed the superseding medium.—*TERRY RAMSAYE.

Paramount's "Duck Soup" Four Marx Brothers Paramount's "Duck Soup" Four Marx Brothers Paramount's "Duck Soup" Four Marx Brothers

THEY HEARD ROSENBLATT EXPLAIN FILM CODE AT THE ATLANTA CONVENTION

ATLANTA CONVENTION INDORSES FILM CODE

Southeastern Exhibitors' Association Hears Rosenblatt Explain Provisions; Nat Williams Is Elected President

by HARRY E. NICHOLS
Special Correspondent

Support of the proposed code of fair competition for the motion picture industry was voted by the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association at the convention in Atlanta this week following an explanation of the instrument's objectives and workings by Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator. (Detailed account of Mr. Rosenblatt's address appears on page 9.)

More than 350 exhibitors and exchange men greeted Mr. Rosenblatt at the opening session Monday forenoon, called to order by Colonel Thomas E. Orr of Albertville, Ala., president of the association. It was a record attendance.

After Senator Alpha Fowler of Atlanta had presented a welcome to the exhibitors and Mitchell Wolfson, president of the Miami Theatre Owners and vice-president of the Southeastern Association, had spoken, Colonel Orr introduced Ed Kuykendall, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, who in turn presented Mr. Rosenblatt. The deputy administrator was escorted to the platform by R. B. Wilby and C. E. Peppiatt. On the speakers platform were also A. Julian Brylawski, vice-president of the MPTOA; Charles W. Picquet, president of the North and South Carolina Theatre Owners Association, and Love B. Harrell, secretary of the Southeastern organization.

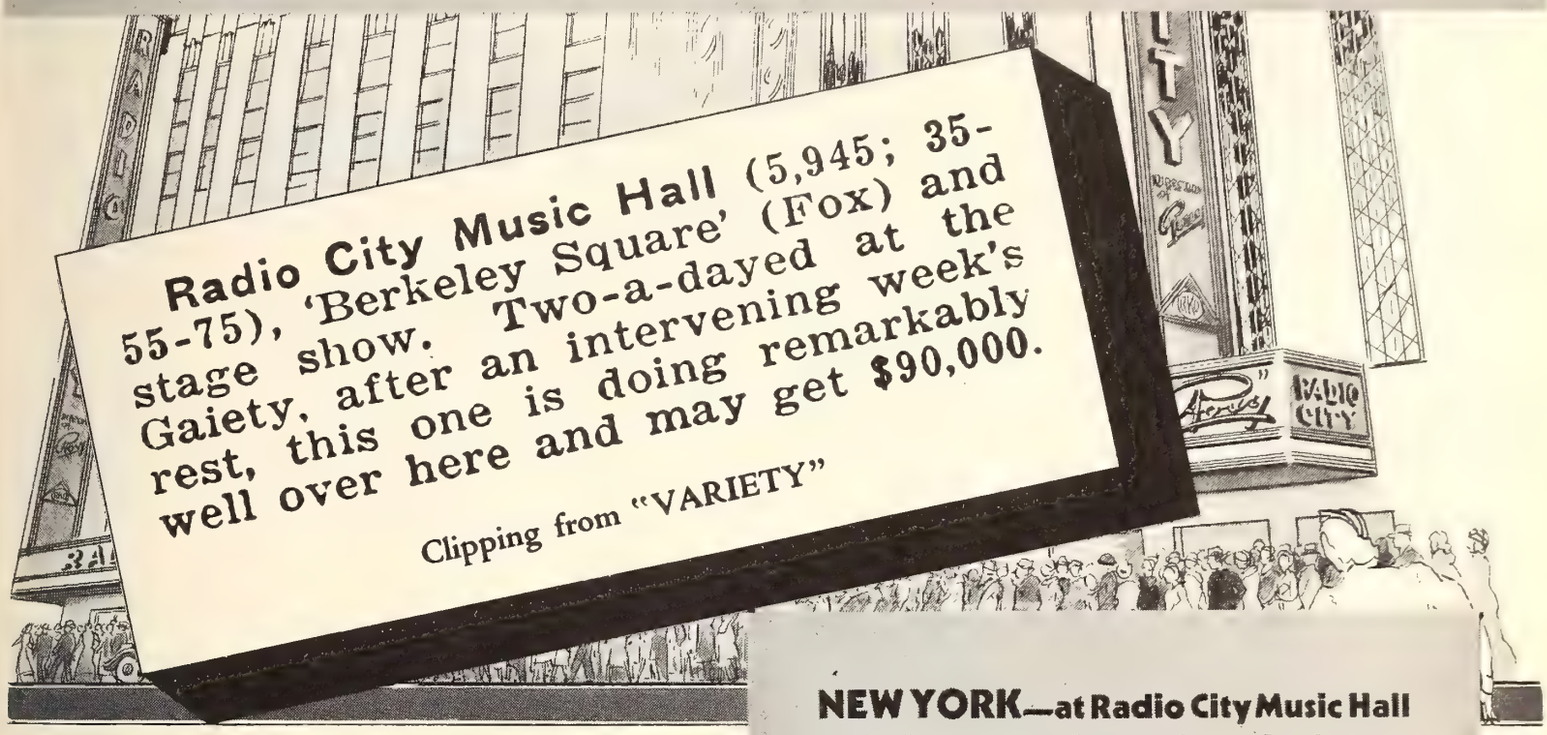
In another resolution the association protested against publication of box office figures and star salaries.

The following were elected for one-year terms as officers of the Southeastern exhibitors: Nat Williams, president; Hugh Manning, Mr. Orr and Mr. Wolfson, vice-presidents; Mr. Harrell, secretary, and these directors: O. C. Lam, Sam Borisky, Willis J. Davis, Mrs. H. T. Wood, C. H. Powell, R. B. Wilby, Fred Wise, Louis Bach, L. J. Duncan, L. D. Joel, H. C. Wales, Al Fowler, Arthur Lucas, A. E. Van Croix, J. C. H. Wink, W. H. Hartman, Mack Jackson, Ben Stein, T. E. Watson, F. F. Watson and F. F. Thompson.

Among those who registered at the convention were:

C. D. Swint and Mrs. Swint.
W. T. Murray.
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Richardson, Atlanta.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ezell, Atlanta.
Mr. Dave Prince, Atlanta.
Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Van Croix, Melbourne, Fla., and Van Croix, Fla.
Thos. E. Orr, Albertville, Ala.
T. E. Watson, Montevolla, Ala.
Nat. M. Williams
A. Julian Brylawski, Washington, D. C.
Walter J. Brackin.
Mrs. Wellingham Wood.
H. H. Macon, Statesboro, Ga.
W. P. Riggins, Jessup, Ga.
E. G. Gidley, Athens, Ga.
Mitchell Wolfson, Miami, Fla.
Jack B. Prichard, Hogansville, Ga.
Herbert Wales, Eustis, Fla.
M. C. Moore, Jacksonville, Fla.
C. H. Powell, Milledgeville, Ga.
Geo. M. Jones.
T. F. Thompson, Cedartown, Ga.
Sam Borisky, Chattanooga, Tenn.
L. H. Keene.
Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Duncan, West Point, Ga.
Wm. K. Jenkins, Lucas & Jenkins Circuit, Atlanta.
M. M. Osman, Atlanta.
Arthur Lucas, Lucas and Jenkins Circuit, Atlanta.
Willis J. Davis, Strand theatre, Covington, Ga.
Louis Rosenbaum, Muscle Shoals theatre, Florence, Ala.
Mr. and Mrs. Sol Rosenblatt, Washington, D. C.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kuykendall, Greenville, Miss.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Picquet, Charlotte, N. C.
J. C. Wink.
H. V. Manning.
J. E. Cantrell.
Geo. Wilby, Cameo theatre, Atlanta.
C. Eiseman, United Artists.
L. C. Moore, Enterprise, Ala.
F. R. Wright, Hartford, Ala.
M. S. England, RCA, Atlanta.
John Cunningham, Miami, Fla.
W. J. Hearn, Jr., State theatre, Russellville, Ala.
Charles Walder, Tivoli, Miami, Fla.
P. J. Henn, Lyric, Sylva, N. C.
J. G. Crouch, Princess, Troy, Ala.
I. H. Thompson, Princess, Hawkinsville.
Ben Stein, Valdosta Ga.
E. A. Rambonnet, Lexington theatre, Winston-Salem, N. C.
Walter L. Brandenburg, LaGrange, Ga.
W. J. Ray and wife, Franston theatre, Greenville, Ala.
T. W. Williams, Woodlawn and College theatres, Birmingham, Ala.
Frank Plaginos, Royal, Gainesville, Ga.
J. B. Dumestre, Jr., RCA Photophone, Atlanta, Ga.
O. A. Gross, Haven theatre, Canton, Ga.
W. H. Hutchinson, Jr., Majestic, Newman, Ga.
John A. Snider, Bessemer, Ala.
Thos. G. Coleman, Ritz, Anniston, Ala.
John W. Maugham, Jr., Arthur Bromberg Attractions, Atlanta.
Walter Griffith, Charlotte theatre, Charlotte, N. C.
H. Kincey, Charlotte.
L. A. Stein, Palace, Valdosta, Ga.
L. D. Joel, Casino, Jacksonville, Fla.
J. Hackel, Ritz, Jacksonville.
S. S. Stevenson, Henderson, N. C.
Ike Katz, Jr., Tivoli, Montgomery, Ala.
M. S. Katz, Montgomery.
Dixon Williams, Jr., Imperial, Griffin, Ga.
Jack Crawford, Gadsden, Gadsden, Ala.
Bernard Shapiro, Tri-Angle Poster and Printing Co., Atlanta.
C. M. Bolen, American Seating Co.
R. E. Martin, Martin theatre, Columbus, Ga.
A. E. Adams, Martin theatre, Columbus, Ga.
Paul A. King, National Carbon Co., Cleveland, Ohio.
Frank V. Merritt, Acme Theatres, Inc., Bham, Ala.
C. E. Peppiatt, Atlanta, Ga.
Tony Sudekum and wife, Crescent Amusement Co., Nashville, Tenn.
R. B. Wilby, Publix-Wilby, Atlanta.
R. W. Kennedy, Bham, Ala.
G. L. Wynn, Alamo, Newman, Ga.
C. H. Amos, Paramount, Nashville, Tenn.
Louis S. Bach, Hilan-Alphia-Bankhead, Atlanta.
L. D. Lawrence, American Seating Co.
Earle M. Fain, Leesburg, Fla.
Fred G. Weis, Savannah, Ga.
W. C. Kyle, Selma, Ala.
L. R. Towns, Montgomery, Ala.
Harry Hardy, Knoxville, Tenn.
E. R. Rogers, Chattanooga, Tenn.
J. H. Harrison, Publix-Wilby, Atlanta.
S. T. Spears, Baileys, Atlanta.
R. B. Vail, Rex, Bay Minette.
P. A. Engler.
B. L. Strozier, Stevenson Amusement Co., Rock Hill, S. C.
Rufus R. Davis, Houston theatre, Dothan, Ala.
J. L. Hutchinson, Majestic, Newnan, Ga.
J. C. Brown, National Theatre Supply Co.
W. F. McCauley, Western Electric.
L. W. McClung, Erpi.
Harry M. Williams, Universal salesman in Florida.
A. C. Gortatowsky, Albany and Liberty, Albany, Ga.
James H. Butner, Master Art Products, Atlanta.
H. S. Mitchell, Dixie, Pelham, Ga.
F. J. Wood, Woods, Cordele, Ga.
O. C. Lam, DeSoto, Rome, Ga.

"BERKELEY SQUARE" PROVES ANOTHER FOX MOP-UP!



Radio City Music Hall (5,945; 35-55-75), 'Berkeley Square' (Fox) and stage show. Two-a-dayed at the Gaiety, after an intervening week's rest, this one is doing remarkably well over here and may get $90,000.
Clipping from "VARIETY"

NEW YORK—at Radio City Music Hall ... tremendous after six boom $2 weeks at the Gaiety.

PHILADELPHIA—at the Locust ... 6th smash $2 week.

CLEVELAND—at the Hippodrome ... outstanding at pop prices ... beating "Paddy" and "Dr. Bull."

CINCINNATI—at the Lyric ... smash ... packing them in to 50% over previous week.

Just the beginning of a golden story that will be heard the country over!

BERKELEY SQUARE

LESLIE HOWARD
HEATHER ANGEL
VALERIE TAYLOR ◆ IRENE BROWNE ◆ BERYL MERCER

From the play by John L. Balderston
Directed by Frank Lloyd
Jesse L. Lasky Production

JOIN THE UPSWING WITH FOX

New Independent Exhibitor Group Formed in Ohio

Cleveland and Cincinnati independent exhibitors met in Columbus Tuesday to form a new independent association in protest against the present management of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Ohio. The formation of the new independent association was endorsed by exhibitors representing more than 200 theatres. Vigorous protest against the 10 per cent amusement tax was voiced by Ernest S. Schwartz, president of the Cleveland Exhibitors' Association, who presided, and who pleaded with the new organization to take steps looking to repeal of the tax.

Mr. Schwartz claimed that lack of independent organization, indifference and the circuit theatre interest of P. J. Wood, president of the Ohio MPTO, had been responsible for the present tax, and reminded the meeting that Ohio is the only state in the country paying an amusement tax in addition to a federal score charge for copyrighted music. A $15 minimum sound service charge, individual income taxes, state corporation taxes, censorship taxes, federal corporation taxes and state taxes on various other "intangibles" bring the total taxes paid by Ohio citizens to 11.

Attacks Circuits

Myer Fine, Cleveland exhibitor, bitterly attacked present circuit organizations, and Henry Greenberger, also of Cleveland, said that Cleveland exhibitors already had spent $10,000 in an effort to defeat the amusement tax.

Max Stern of Columbus pleaded unsuccessfully for all factions to consolidate under the new organization to fight the tax, but declined a membership on the proposed ways committee. Mr. Fine then asked for a reading of the resolution passed by Allied at the Chicago meeting last week requesting President Roosevelt to appoint some individual on the code board to see that independent exhibitors be given consideration and "an opportunity to exist." The motion was approved.

Demand Defense in Code

The following telegram was sent to M. B. Horowitz in Washington: "As an alternate on the code committee wish to advise you that at joint meeting now in session of Independent Theatre Owners of Southern and Northern Ohio that action taken at Chicago was endorsed by this body of exhibitors representing 218 theatres not affiliated with any national organization. Request you to continue your efforts and to continue cooperation with the independent theatre owners working on the code in Washington to the conclusion that a code be adopted that will permit independent theatres to remain in business.—(signed) M. S. Fine."

A ways and means committee was elected, composed of Nat Charnas, Toledo; Henry Greenberger, Cleveland; John Pekras, Elyria; Lemotte Smith, Alliance; N. J. Krichbaum, Akron; A. F. Hettesheimer, Cincinnati, and E. S. Schwartz, as chairman. It was instructed to organize for independent theatre owners, the organization to be known as Independent Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Ohio. The committee will meet within two weeks at Columbus.

On Wednesday P. J. Wood, president of the Ohio MPTO, declared that regardless of the formation of the new independent body, his organization would continue activities "for the best interests of all exhibitors." Mr. Wood also said that the most astounding news of Tuesday's mass meeting was the declaration that the Cleveland organization had spent $10,000 to defeat the amusement tax, when MPTO's entire legislative expense for the legislature's last three sessions was less than half that amount, during which time an amusement tax was twice defeated, newsreel tax and censorship exempted, two-men-in-a-booth bill defeated, stench bomb bill passed, and legislation legalizing Sunday motion pictures enacted.

Fred Strief, secretary of the Ohio Valley Exhibitors Association, announced late Tuesday his permanent retirement from exhibitor affairs, claiming he is unable to bear any longer the entire expense of that organization.

DeCasseres Sees Stage Comeback

(Continued from page 30)

pinned down. Nothing can go wrong. It is all printed.

In a word, pictures are too mechanically perfect. I can smell the stenciling and see the transportation can. It all happened in Hollywood. While in "Sailors, Beware!" for instance, it is happening before me. These living actors give me the delightful feeling of improvisation, of making up as they go along.

In the pictures those shadows will say their lines over and over some hundreds of thousands of times in just that way, with that same inflection, without a cough, a grunt or the human variation of a gesture to the sixteenth of an inch!

It gets on my nerves. If John Barrymore would only sneeze when he's making love.

These things happen on the stage—or we all, at least, hope for them to happen, knowing it is quite possible.

As I write these lines the newspapers chronicle two more colossal hits: "The Green Bay Tree" and "Let 'Em Eat Cake," with nine openings this coming week!

Every play is being taken out of its hiding place, dusted off, fly-spots removed and being pell-melled into rehearsal. There is a rush for theatres. The public is yelping for stage plays, and, more astonishing still, fine and competent playwrights are blossoming in every literary cranny and nook in New York, London and Paris.

All this is good for the picture business, for Hollywood depends almost entirely on New York, London and Europe for plays and books. The stage does everything for the screen, and, in return, the picture producers put money into the purses of playwrights and producers by their buys.

But this fact remains staring me in the face: the speaking stage is on the upturn. It will always be alive because plays have no formulas, while pictures all tend to be standardized. The intelligence of the producers, in the latter field, is always 'way behind the evolution of the public.

The difference between the stage and the screen: It is the difference, for instance, between seeing Lenore Ulric knocking a fellow down with her real kisses on the stage and seeing the same thing done on the screen by a shadow-vamp. It's the difference between seeing 15 rounds of a terrific go at Madison Square Garden and seeing the same thing on the screen.

There is no substitute for the human being in the raw. And that's the reason the stage will always "come back."

Thompson and Blumberg Given New RKO Posts

J. R. McDonough, recently elected president of the various RKO theatre companies to succeed Harold B. Franklin, started over the weekend to make changes in the company's management under the new regime and immediately transferred Phil Reisman to the foreign department of the film subsidiary, and appointed Leslie E. Thompson as executive assistant at RKO in charge of theatre operations, effective last Monday.

The theatre operations of RKO will be the direct responsibility of Major Thompson and he will be aided by Nate J. Blumberg, as general manager of theatre operations. Mr. Blumberg was due in New York from Chicago, where he had been serving the circuit as midwest manager.

Reoch in Charge of Realty

A. E. Reoch continues in charge of the real estate of RKO theatres. Construction and maintenance work is included in the operations of this department.

Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Reoch will report directly to Mr. McDonough, who is also general manager of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation.

Major Thompson had been the circuit's labor contact, and also had served in other executive posts in the circuit setup.

Walter L. Brown has been assigned to the real estate department of Radio-Keith-Orpheum to continue his analysis of company properties.

The post of assistant to the president of RKO has been discontinued.

In announcing the appointments of Thompson and Blumberg, Mr. McDonough said that Mr. Reisman had resigned from operation of the various theatre organizations of RKO to take over the position of general foreign sales manager of RKO Radio Pictures, under Ned E. Depinet, vice-president of that organization. Jules Levy will continue as general domestic sales manager in charge of RKO Radio sales in the United States and Canada, under Mr. Depinet.

Dowling Post Not Affected

Mr. Reisman and Mr. Franklin had been running the RKO circuit—Reisman as film buyer, vaudeville booker and an executive, and Franklin in charge of operations until his resignation two weeks ago.

A supplementary announcement from the New York home offices said that Mr. Reisman's appointment does not affect Ambrose Dowling, now in South America on company business, who generally has been accredited with being foreign sales manager.

Immediately upon Major Thompson's appointment—which was expected—the company called together in New York all of its eastern circuit divisional managers.

Trans-Lux Plans Four

Four or five new theatres to be constructed in different sections of New York are planned by Trans-Lux Theatre Corp., according to Leslie Thompson, president. One of them is to be built in Brooklyn, it was said.

TRAVELERS . . .

GRADWELL SEARS, Warner sales executive, was on a trip, out of New York, to South and Southwest.

BERT WHEELER, ROBERT WOOLSEY, THELMA TODD and DOROTHY LEE, Radio players, were set for cross-country stage tour in a musical comedy.

PETER FREUCHEN, Danish explorer and author of "Eskimo," arrived in New York from Metro studio for premiere.

LYNN FARNOL, Goldwyn representative, was due in New York from Hollywood.

BING CROSBY will fly from Hollywood to New York the end of this week.

RUTH ETTING leaves Hollywood for New York next week.

AL SELIG, Warner exploiteer, returned to New York from Detroit and left for Rochester.

ALINE MACMAHON, Warner player, returned to Hollywood from New York.

RUBY KEELER arrived at Burbank from New York to resume for Warners.

CARL LAEMMLE, Universal president, accompanied by his secretary, JACK ROSS, and CHARLES FORD left New York for Chicago Fair and Universal City.

JAMES R. GRAINGER, sales head of Universal, returned to New York from Coast.

GWEN HELLER, of Warner advertising department, left New York for Burbank.

LOU LUSTY returned to Columbia's Coast studios, where he has charge of trailers.

HOWARD WAUGH, Warner manager in Memphis, was in New York.

PAUL DANA, manager of RCA Victor office in Brazil, returned after New York stay.

RALPH PEER, song writer, sailed for Europe.

BENJAMIN GLAZER and his wife, SHARON LYNN, were due in New York from Europe, en route to Hollywood.

WALTER GOULD, United Artists manager in Latin America, returned from home office conferences.

ARTHUR DENT, BIP executive, returned to London from New York.

ARTHUR and DAVID LOEW will leave Los Angeles on round-the-world air tour, on November 15.

AL ROSEN was due in New York to discuss with Samuel Untermyer some aspects of proposed film, "The Mad Dog of Europe," anti-Hitler story.

HARRY COHN, president of Columbia, left New York for Hollywood.

MAX WEISFELDT, Majestic sales manager, was in Chicago, from New York headquarters.

HARVEY DAY left New York on tour of Fox exchanges in South and Midwest.

GEORGE ARLISS arrived on Coast from New York and England to start work for 20th Century.

SOPHIE TUCKER arrived in Los Angeles.

KATHARINE CORNELL returned to New York from Bavarian Alps.

BASIL RATHBONE returned from Europe.

CONSTANCE COLLIER sailed for Europe.

E. W. HAMMONS, Educational president, returned to New York from studio inspection.

JACK L. WARNER, vice-president of Warners, in charge of production, arrived in New York from Burbank.

WINFIELD SHEEHAN, Fox production executive, arrived on Coast from New York.

WILLIAM SCULLY, MGM eastern district sales manager, was in Boston.

KEN MORGAN, Erpi's Coast recording engineer, arrived in New York on annual visit.

JAMES M. BECK, JR., London representative for MPPDA, arrived in New York.

LEO MEEHAN is in New York from the Coast. It is his first trip East in four years.

BUDDY DESYLVA, Fox producer; DAVID BUTLER, director, and SID SILVERS, comedian, arrived in New York from the Coast.

EMILY LOWRY, actress, left New York for Hollywood, where she makes her screen debut for Warners.

MARIANA, Cuban dancer, arrived in New York from Europe.

TOBY GRUEN is back in New York from a European vacation.

AL SANTELL and LEWIS MILESTONE arrived in New York from Europe.

J. MAXWELL JOYCE is in Washington handling exploitation for United Artists.

MARY PICKFORD is on her way East from Hollywood.

21 Wide Range Deals Negotiated in Canada

Canada is going in for wide range sound in a substantial way with 21 installations already contracted for with the Northern Electric Company, the distributing and servicing organization for the Western Electric sound system in the Dominion. Sixteen installations already have been completed.

Installations made and contracted for include: Star, St. John, Newfoundland; Savoy, Glace Bay, N. S.; Orpheus, Halifax, N. S.; Napoleon Palace, Montreal, P. Q.; Park, Verdun, P. Q.; Centre, Ottawa, Ont.; Avalon, Ottawa, Ont.; Oxford, Toronto; Imperial, Toronto; Royal George, Toronto; Regent, Sudbury, Ont.; Uptown, Winnipeg, Man.; Strand, Prince Albert; Playhouse, Victoria, B. C.; Cinema de Paris, Three Rivers, P. Q.; Strand, Edmonton, Alta.; Century, Montreal, and two review rooms.

Film Interests Buy Casino

The Casino theatre, at Seventh avenue and 50th street, New York, one of the largest and most modern in the Times Square district, has been sold to Haring & Blumenthal and Jack Shapiro in a deal representing an investment of approximately $2,000,000. The theatre was formerly known as the Earl Carroll.

Tiffany Now Cortland

Tiffany Productions of California, Inc., Ltd., has changed its name to Cortland Pictures Corporation of California, Ltd., New York City, in the Delaware state department at Dover. The Corporation Trust Company was the incorporating company.

Monogram Votes Increased Budget

Monogram Pictures Corporation franchise holders met in Cleveland late last week to vote on an increased production budget and unanimously agreed to appropriate $100,000 for each feature picture, almost double the per picture expenditure originally allotted for the 1933-34 program.

According to W. Ray Johnston, Monogram president, the increase not only is justifiable but necessary in the face of present conditions.

"With the breakdown of most of the major theatre circuits, the opportunities for getting into first run spots are multiple today," Mr. Johnston said this week. "In order to fill these first run requirements it is necessary for us to go in for bigger name casts and for more prominent authors.""

The motion picture code was not discussed at the convention. All code matters, Mr. Johnston said, will be left to the Monogram executive committee, which will pass on it for the entire organization.

Master Art in U. A. Deal

Negotiations have been completed with Master Art Products, Inc., whereby its one-reel organlogues will be distributed by United Artists in the following territories: China, Manchuria, Japan, Formosa, Korea, Dairen, India, Burma, Ceylon, Afghanistan, Iraq, Persia, Strait Settlements, Malyasia, Siam, French Indo China, Sarawak, British North Borneo and the Dutch East Indies.

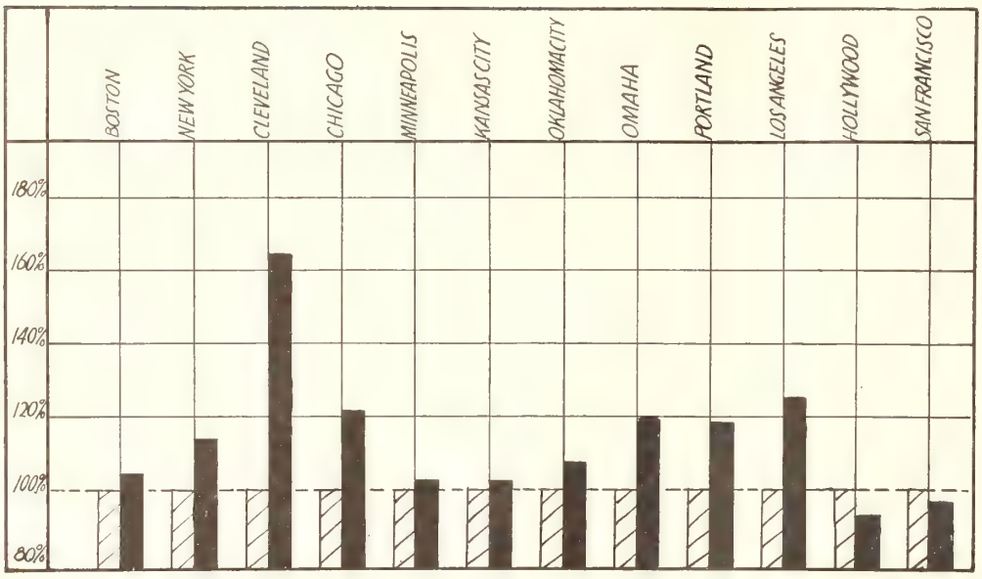
Bowes Supervises N.V.A. Rally

The 17th annual benefit for the National Variety Artists' Fund will be held Sunday evening, November 12, at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, with Major Edward Bowes, managing director of the Capitol theatre, in charge of entertainment.

AIR EXPRESS
fast, and economical

Whenever you need the most speed for your money you can count on Air Express. The new schedules offer the fastest coast-to-coast time in the country, with proportionately high speed in reaching 85 principal cities direct by air. Coordinated fast rail connections extend this service to 23,000 other Railway Express Agency points. Pick-up and delivery in leading towns are included in the low rates. Duplicate receipts give a positive check on both shipment and delivery. Call your Railway Express Agent for rates and time schedules.

AIR EXPRESS
VIA RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY
AIR EXPRESS
Division · Railway Express Agency, Inc.



The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's weekly tabulation of box-office grosses, compares the business done in twelve key cities during the three-weeks period from October 7 to October 21, 1933, with the business done in these same cities during the three previous weeks. The black bar represents the gross for the more recent period, while the shaded bar indicates the receipts for the first period.

Kansas City Independents In Negotiation with Loew's

The regulation of "cut-throat" trade practices and admissions in Kansas City and the adoption of a code of ethics governing "fair practices" to be agreed upon, are the subject of negotiations between Jay Means, president of the Independent Theatre Owners of Greater Kansas City, and Colonel E. A. Schiller of Loew's. Demand that Loew's raise the 25-cent price at the first-run Midland, is forcing offer of reciprocal concessions by suburban theatres.

Developments in the future are expected to bring about stabilization of admission prices and sharp restrictions, if not actual prohibition, on double bills, give-aways, cut-rates, two-for-ones and the other "price evasions" practiced by suburban houses. Inaction by Loew's on the matter, Mr. Means informed Colonel Schiller in New York by telegraph, will result in reduction of admissions from 15 and 20 cents to 10 cents. Loew's, in turn, demanded independents do something about double bills.

John Hertz Joins Lehman Brothers

John Hertz, former chairman of the Paramount Publix finance committee, will join the firm of Lehman Brothers, Wall Street banking house, on November 6. Lehman Brothers formerly were associated with RKO financing. Mr. Hertz will arrive in New York from Chicago over the week-end.

MPPDA Directors Meet

Directors of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America held a routine meeting at the New York offices Tuesday.

Fred W. Peters Dead

Fred W. Peters, for years cashier of the National Theatre Supply Company, Dallas, died there last week.

Shapiro Aids Goldstone In Majestic Production

William D. Shapiro of Majestic has turned from supervision of sales activities to act as assistant to Phil Goldstone, in charge of Coast production. The third of 12 releases, "Sin of Nora Moran," has just been completed with Zita Johann, John Miljan and Alan Dinehart featured. The shifting of Mr. Shapiro followed the appointment of Max Weisfeldt as general sales manager. Mr. Weisfeldt succeeded John Weber, who was named foreign sales manager.

"KING KONG" DID WELL IN LONDON

From Frank Tilley, of Radio Pictures, Ltd., of London, has come a note, taking specific issue with Bernard Charman, of the HERALD'S London correspondent staff, when he wrote in a recent issue that Fox's "Cavalcade" was an exception which had gratifyingly (for its producers) withstood the rigor of a summer hot spell, which had had a somewhat devastating effect on London's assorted box offices. Why, says Mr. Tilley, did Mr. Charman neglect to mention Radio's "King Kong," which is entitled as well to the "exception" rating by virtue, declares Mr. Tilley, of: 14 weeks at the London Coliseum, played "clean through" the heat spell, took in over $200,000, was seen by 406,108 "payees," played seven additional weeks in the West End, played three and four weeks at seaside resorts and key cities, broke house records? Mr. Kong, apparently, did rather well in London.

Columbia Sales Up 45 Per Cent

Sales of Columbia Pictures for this year are 45.2 per cent ahead of last year at this time, according to Abe Montague, sales manager.

"During the last three weeks especially sales have broken all records in the history of Columbia," Mr. Montague said Tuesday. "These have represented not only the most important circuits, but also many independent groups, and exhibitors from the smaller towns. And to add to the encouragement of the situation, last week's business topped everything in the history of our organization."

More Houses Quit Detroit Combine

Mid-States Theatres, booking combine composed of members of Allied of Michigan, lost six additional constituents in Detroit this week with the withdrawal of the six neighborhood theatres operated by Harry Brown. The Great Lakes, a key house, was another withdrawal.

Mr. Brown is retiring because of ill health, and has turned over operation of his six houses to his son, Sam Brown.

ITOA May Continue New York Buying Strike

The New York Independent Theatre Owners Association met this week to make a final decision as to whether or not they will continue the film buying strike instituted October 24, as a result of the percentage demands of large companies. Reports indicated Wednesday that the majority of independent exhibitors in the metropolitan area were in favor of a continuance of the strike.

Arthur Abeles, Nathan Hirsh, Hyman Rachmil, Jack Hattan, Leo Justin, Russell Cohen and Abraham Drogan have been named as a committee to review all pictures of all independent exchanges, and to report on their booking possibilities.

RCA Answers Complaint

Answer to the bill of complaint in an equity proceeding brought against Radio Corporation of America by the Arcturus Radio Tube Co., to halt an action by RCA against Arcturus in New Jersey, was filed in Wilmington chancery court last week. In its answer, RCA asked for dismissal on the grounds Arcturus has no remedy in equity because the issue in the lawsuit, which is for royalties on an equipment licensing agreement, involves only legal questions.

English Actress Suicide

Lillian Hall-Davis, English film actress, was found dead last week in a suburb of London, her head in the oven of a gas stove, her throat slashed. Despondency over ill health was said to have been the cause of suicide.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

Cradle Song

(Paramount)

Dramatic Idyll

Whether this picture will command the popular interest and support which its idea and class justly merit is a matter strictly in the hands of exhibitors who play it. They will have at their disposition a tenderly impressive show, and may announce it as probably one of the most beautiful, inspiring, and powerful human interest stories ever brought to the screen. They may promise that it is finely acted, with direction, photography and related production values above criticism.

The story is played, almost in its entirety, in a convent. Located in Spain, it's the story of a girl who becomes a nun. Exquisitely and understandingly handled, intimate glimpses of saintly Catholic sisterhood are revealed; yet the human side of these cloistered women is not ignored. A foundling is left at the convent door. Worldly maternal instincts, forever forsaken in her vows, prompt Sister Joanna to beg the Prioress that the convent keep and rear the girl-child. Granted, holy motherhood is exemplified in its truest conceptions as Joanna trains little Teresa. Years pass. Teresa is closer to Sister Joanna's heart than anything else in earthly life; her dream is that the child will follow in her footsteps and become a nun.

Teresa goes out into the world for a day and meets worldly love. It's a beautifully strange sensation to her; it's beautifully tragic to Sister Joanna. Antonio promises the sisterhood and Joanna that he will always keep Teresa holy and sacred.

Your problem is to convince patrons that this is a picture it is their moral duty to see, not with the old high pressure "you've got to see it" line of appeal, but with a showmanship campaign that will test your ability to the limit.

"Cradle Song" is unusual screen entertainment, consequently you must be prepared to adapt unusual methods in presenting it to your public. While the picture is primarily for adult understanding, it is also one that can be offered to youngsters in the teen age. It may be too deep, but certainly not inappropriate, for younger children.

While the picture is the first American starring vehicle of Dorothea Wieck of "Maedchen in Uniform," a natural selling asset, there is still much for the exhibitor to consider and do. First convince yourself that you have an unusual picture—one that any theatre, big city or small town, can be proud to offer—then sell it in ways that you know will be most effective in your neighborhood.

Start well enough in advance spreading the word that you have a picture that should be seen by every one. Line up every one you know, particularly the Catholic clergy, where possible, and the laymen whose opinions carry weight, and get them to see the picture at its first showing. A special preview for these persons would be advisable; then, getting their frank opinions, ask permission to use them in your ads and publicity. You can use their endorsement honestly and legitimately.

Dignity should be the basis of everything you attempt. There is no reason or justification for ballyhoo; nothing in the picture suggests that type of exploitation. Yet be careful that your dignity is not too solemn.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Mitchell Leisen. Associate director, Nina Moise. Original play by G. M. Martinez Sierra. Screen play by Marc Connelly. Art director, W. B. Ihnen. Music by W. Franke Harling. Continuity by Franke Partos and Robert Sparks. Sound, H. D. Mills. Photographer, Charles Lang. Running time, 77 minutes. Release date, November 17, 1933.

CAST

Joanna	Dorothea Wieck
Teresa	Evelyn Venable
The doctor	Sir Guy Standing
The prioress	Louise Dresser
Antonio	Kent Taylor
Marcella	Gertrude Michael
The vicaress	Georgia Caine
Alberto	Dickie Moore
Sagrario	Nydia Westman
Ines	Marion Ballou
Mistress of novices	Eleanor Wesselhoeft
Christina	Diane Sinclair
Pepita	Yvonne Pelletier
Tomas	David Durand
Carmen	Bonita Granville
Sabina	Rosita Butler
Village Priest	Mischa Auer

Meet the Baron

(MGM)

Comedy

Jack Pearl's radio broadcasting popularity is quite obviously the big showmanship value in this picture. That, undoubtedly, is the asset upon which the producers are basing their hopes for creating theatre patron interest. Naturally it is the element to hop on, and abetted by the provocative sounding title, which suggests many tricky showmanship variations, it should be possible to capitalize on that fact.

In content, comedy predominating, "Meet the Baron" is comparable to a vaudeville show—Pearl and Durante acts, mainly, with a couple of asides that bring in Zasu Pitts and Edna May Oliver. For occasional relief, Ted Healy and his Stooges occupy the screen to indulge in their typical slap-'em-around stuff. Dabs of girl glamour and interest, the most striking of which is a modernistically presented shower-bath episode, set to music. Blackouts climax every gag.

Continuity meaning little as broad comedy interpretations carry the story vein, the show opens with Baron and McGoo lost in the Trader Horn country. Deserted by the Real Baron, who might lead them to safety, as much of a handicap as they are, they are found by a relief expedition which mistakes them as the object of its search and the Baron and McGoo are content to let their rescuers keep on thinking so.

A Lindbergh New York welcome greets the amazed adventurers and Baron goes into his "Vas You Dere Sharley" broadcast character as McGoo clowns as his manager. Moving into Cuddles College, a girls' school, the gagging Healy gang carry on the laugh precipitation, and several episodes bring in Dean Primrose and Zasu, the maid, for more fun making. After the shower bath episode the Baron and Zasu contribute an icebox turn and the show is brought to its anti-climax as the Real Baron appears and accuses the Baron and McGoo of being imposters. An all-around face-saving deal is made, however, and the fadeout has the Baron renouncing his tall-lying propensities and romantically pleading with Zasu to share his future.

It's mass entertainment, and the highbrows must be convinced in advance that it's broad, low comedy, all-in-fun entertainment. Discounting several "funny" allusions, a family resemblance one in particular, there's a lot of fun for the youngsters. Much can be done to stimulate ticket sales with a clever handling of the "Meet the Baron"-Jack Pearl combination. His many listeners-in should constitute a potential ready made audience. The right kind of topical appeal should bring 'em in.

Radio contacts on Pearl's current broadcasting of course should be played to the limit by contact with releasing stations wherever possible. This should be supplemented by the draw of straight picture names in the cast, all tied together with catchlines that accentuate the hectic comedy color of the show and exploitation ideas that ring in such gags as the biggest liar contest.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by Walter Lang. Original story for the screen by Herman J. Mankiewicz and Norman Krasna. Screen play by Allen Rivkin and P. J. Wolfson. Dialogue by Arthur Kober and William K. Wells. Lyrics by Dorothy Fields. Music by Jimmy McHugh. Orchestra directed by Oscar Radin. Photographed by Allen Siegler. Film editor, Jemas E. Newcom. Art directors, Frank H. Webster and Howard Fisher. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Wardrobe by Dolly Tree. Executive producer, David O. Selznick. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, October 20, 1933.

CAST

Baron	Jack Pearl
Joe McGoo	Jimmy Durante
Zasu	Zasu Pitts
Ted	Ted Healy
Dean Primrose	Edna May Oliver
Charley	Ben Bard
Real Baron	Henry Kolker
Radio Man	William B. Davidson
Stooge	Moe Howard
Stooge	Jerry Howard
Stooge	Larry Fine

The Invisible Man

(Universal)

You've a showmanship natural in "The Invisible Man." Brand new in idea, it's the kind of material that old-time and new-idea showmen can sink their teeth in and exploit to the skies. On top of that, it is super-wierd entertainment.

A thriller to be sure, yet it is not really a horror picture, even though the element of awesome eerie terror, charged with suspense, is stressed to the last degree. A masterpiece of trick camera technique, "The Invisible Man" is dramatic rather than gruesome, and situations and reactions precipitate easing comedy contrasts.

The Man has discovered a chemical compound that makes his body invisible. Interrupted in his search for an antidote, he unwraps the bandages that cover his head, casts off his clothes, you hear only his voice and see the results of his actions as he plays havoc with the inhabitants of a little English village. Early reports treat the news as a hoax, but when the Man breaks up a police investigation and kills the Inspector, the nation is terrorized. Papers and radios flash news, warnings and instructions.

Invading Dr. Kemp's home, the Man proposes to take him in as his partner. Together they will rule the world. Invisible armies will give them unlimited power to do anything they will. While the Man sleeps, Kemp informs Cranley, Flora and the police. The Man learns of Kemp's action. Warning Kemp that he will return and kill him, he becomes invisible, strikes terror into the cordon of police and escapes. Kemp is killed, a train is wrecked.

Seeking rest in a country-side barn, a farmer notices movement in a strawpile. Snow begins to fall as the former notifies the police. Knowing they will be able to see his tracks in the snow, the authorities throw an impenetrable human wall around the barn, set it on fire. The door opens and footprints appear. The chief shoots. A human outline collapses in the snow. Nothing is visible. In bed, dying, the Man calls for Flora. She is with him as approaching death negates the chemical effect. Only in the last few seconds of the picture are Rains' features seen.

There will be a strong temptation to revive the "Frankenstein" furore in connection with this picture. It will be valuable, but not absolutely necessary. "The Invisible Man" has the stuff to sell and entertain on its own. Let your imagination ponder over the unlimited exploitation angles. The pressbook will be full of them, undoubtedly; there are a million more you can concoct, not the least of which are those that can be applied to women to stir their curiosity. How would they like to be embraced, kissed, by an invisible lover, an invisible man prying into their inmost secrets, an invisible man prowling the streets, a man they never see, until he's dead, the star of the picture. Concentrate on accentuating imagination-stunning thrill rather than gruesome terror.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by James Whale. From the story by H. G. Wells. Screenplay by R. C. Sherriff. Photographed by Arthur Edeson. Art direction by Charles D. Hall. Edited by Ted Kent. Editorial supervision by Maurice Pivar. Sound supervision by Gilbert Kurland. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, November 13, 1933.

CAST

The Invisible Man	Claude Rains
Dr. Kemp	William Harrigan
Flora Cranley	Gloria Stuart
Chief detective	Dudley Digges
Mr. Hall	Forrester Harvey
Mrs. Hall	Una O'Connor
Dr. Cranley	Henry Travers
Inspector Lane	Donald Stuart
Millie	Merle Tottenham
Inspector Bird	Harry Stubbs
Jaffers	E. E. Clive

Broken Dreams

(Monogram)

Drama

Domestic drama with an appealing twist, and family entertainment, "Broken Dreams" packs much human interest, with audience sympathies concentrated on a little boy and well chosen comedy contrasts intervening to keep the show from becoming too heavy. The picture has material to intrigue the mothers, hold the attention of fathers, and provide pleasing entertainment for the youngsters. There are occasions when audiences probably will be reaching for their handkerchiefs, but the picture is not a tear-jerker inasmuch as atmospheric boy life comedy situations provide for plenty laughs.

Dr. Morley, heartbroken because the birth of his son caused the death of his wife, turns Billy over to Pop and Mom Miller. As the Doctor goes to Europe for further study, the child's companions are the occupants of his foster parents' pet store. Returning to America, Pop and Mom invite Morley to visit them and his boy. Reluctant at first, he is quickly captivated by the boy's charm and bacomes his pal.

This means breaking dates with Martha, his fiancee, and creates hostility between the boy and the woman. After the marriage Billy is brought into his father's home when Martha wants children of her own. Open warfare between the newcomer and his stepmother is imminent; quarrels lead the Doctor to seeking the company of his son and Martha to pick up again with an old lover. While his father is away on a case Billy is injured when he seeks to prevent Paul from attacking Martha. The Doctor rushes back to tend his son and learns the reason for Billy's injury, but when he hears that his wife has cooperated in a blood-transfusion there is love and happiness for everyone all around.

Well acted, moving at a steady pace, with dramatic suspense welding the various elements, the picture gives Buster Phelps ample opportunity to prove that he is a real little actor.

The show suggests its own best angle for interesting patrons—the conflict between husband and wife, the stepmother angle, with the boy always hovering in the background. Ballyhoo gags can be built around the boy's pets, a dog and a champanzee, to stimulate juvenile attention.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Released on Monogram. Made by Ben Verschleiser. Directed by Robert Vignola. Story and screen play by Olga Printzlau. Dialogue and continuity by Maude Fulton. Photographed by Robert Planck. Running time, 68 minues. Release date, Oct. 20, 1933.

CAST

Dr. Robert Morley	Randolph Scott
Martha Morley	Martha Sleeper
Pop Miller	Joseph Cawthorn
Mom Miller	Beryl Mercer
Billy Morley	Buster Phelps
Grace	Charlotte Merriam
Hopkins	Sidney Bracey
Mam'selle	Adele St. Maur
Nurse	Phyllis Lee
Paul	Martin Burton
Gladys	Finis Barton
Judge Blake	Ed LeSaint
Dr. Greenwood	Sam Flint

The World Changes

(First National)

Drama

Against a vigorous background of some 75 years of American history, all revolving about a central character played with customary consummate skill by Paul Muni, Warner has drawn the picture which is "The World Changes," taken from the novel, "America Kneels," by Sheridan Gibney, a fact which may be worth noting.

Mr. Muni, who played so brilliantly in "I Am a Fugitive," here again attains a high level of performance, a point worthy of considerable emphasis. There are numerous angles of exhibitor attack. Perhaps the most valuable is that of Muni himself, as symbolical of an American spirit of daring and doing, against an ever changing background of American life, from the covered wagon of 1856 on the Nebraska prairie to the sable, stone mansion and stock ticker of 1929.

In support of Muni are innumerable good names. As Muni's mother is Aline MacMahon, as his wife is Mary Astor, as his partner is Guy Kibbee, as a son is Donald Cook. The title permits of a wide scope in the selling, and the generous use of innumerable articles indicating the progress of a nation from yesterday to today, in the lobby and out front.

The film is, at the same time, a history of the meat packing industry, centering in the Midwest and in the later stages, in Chicago particularly. The growth of the city is indicated.

Opening in 1856 with the birth of the son of Aline MacMahon and her husband as they settle in uncharted prairies, the story moves rapidly to the point where, as a young man fired by the words of Buffalo Bill Cody, Muni undertakes the impossible, driving Texas steers up to Omaha. With Kibbee as partner, he establishes the first and eventually the greatest meat packing company in Chicago. His snobbish wife detests his business, but takes full advantage of the money it brings. Eventually she is driven to insanity and death, more by her own temperament than by Muni. After having gone through the strife and turmoil which is big business, Muni retires, but not before he has started Cook in the brokerage business.

The family disintegrates, with Cook's social-climbing wife planning a marriage between her daughter and a priggish English "title." Muni, an old man, retires to his club, while his family goes its vapid way, coming to smash on the rocks of October, 1929. Finding that Cook's son, in business with his father, is in danger of prison for shady dealing, Muni saves the family name, but Cook's wife, caught in infidelity, kills her husband. Aline MacMahon, prior to that, has come to visit the family, and quickly sensing the trouble, decides to wait for the impending marriage of the "title" and a great grand-daughter. Then the crash, the shooting, and Muni's death, his only hope for the future, before his death, the promise of a young grandson to return to the earth and the Nebraska farm with the descendant of the girl Muni should have married as a young man, and Miss MacMahon, to start life, and the family name, anew. There the picture ends.

The story is set against a wide panorama of history and the development of a family. Muni is impressive in his character and reaction development as the story and his age progress, while Miss MacMahon shares honors with him.

Sell the picture powerfully, which means forcefully, making the most of Muni and his performance.—Aaronson, New York.

A First National production. Distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. From the novel "America Kneels," by Sheridan Gibney. Adaptation by Edward Chodorov. Photographed by Tony Gaudio. Film editor, William Holmes. Release date, November 25, 1933. Running time, 93 minutes.

CAST

Orin Nordholm, Jr.	Paul Muni
Virginia	Mary Astor
Anna Nordholm	Aline MacMahon
Richard	Donald Cook
Ogden Jarrett	Alan Dinehart
Cleflin	Guy Kibbee
Jennifer	Margaret Lindsay
Orin Nordholm, Sr.	Henry O'Neill
Selma III.	Jean Muir
Mrs. Peterson	Anna Q. Nilsson
Paul	Theodore Newton
Natalie	Patricia Ellis
Buffalo Bill	Douglas Dumbrille
Captain Custer	Clay Clement
Morley	Oscar Apfel
Hodgens	Sidney Toler
Sir Phillip	Alan Mowbray
John	Gordon Westcott
Patten	Arthur Hohl
John as a boy	Jackie Searle

The Kennel Murder Case

(Warner)

Mystery

Just as there are innumerable thousands of detective fiction fans in this country, many of them forming a staunch cheering section for the work of S. S. Van Dine and his fictionalized detective creation, Philo Vance, so there should be many to welcome the appearance of another of his books, as adapted for the motion picture. This, the last of his books but one, which has just been published, should still be quite fresh in memory. For those patrons who have not read the story, the exhibitor still has for sale an ably executed, well turned mystery yarn, with ample suspense, all the proper elements in their proper places and the requisite amount of suspicion falling upon a sufficient number of the parties involved.

Once again playing one of his best known roles, William Powell presents Philo Vance, gentleman of means—and amateur detective of note. In support, and offering the exhibitor a strong marquee opportunity, are Ralph Morgan, Mary Astor, Eugene Pallette, Jack La Rue and Arthur Hohl. Taking an important place in the solving of a highly perplexing double murder is, unusually, a large and handsome Doberman Pinscher dog, whose instinct and recollection of injury are relied upon by Powell to discover that of which he was reasonably certain but not positive. The dog fanciers among the patronage might well be brought to a point of interest in the film by indication of the part played by the dog in the solution.

Comedy is a relieving factor, ably supplied by Pallette, as Sergeant Heath, and Etienne Gibardot as Doc Doremus the medical examiner, who is always disturbed at meal time to examine bodies. There is ample motive and reason for suspicion falling upon Miss Astor, a niece of Archer Coe, first victim, and his brother Brisbane Coe, second victim. Also the finger cleverly points to Morgan, Coe's secretary; Helen Vinson, Coe's mistress; Jack La Lue, Italian negotiating with Coe; Paul Kavanaugh, in love with Miss Astor, and whose prize Scottie is found dead, evidence pointing to Coe as the bitter dog fancying rival; Hohl, the butler; James Lee, Chinese Cook, jealous of Coe's collection of Chinese pottery. All seven have reason, and even Brisbane Coe is suspected, until his body suddenly comes to light.

It is exceedingly doubtful that the audience will have any success selecting the murderer, which makes possible all the "dare you to guess" lines the exhibitor may care to use. Book store tieups are ready to hand, being particularly good at this moment, since Van Dine's latest, "The Dragon Murder Case," is just now being sold, stirring renewed interest in the author. The fact that the "Kennel Murder Case" ran serially in Hearst's International and Cosmopolitan Magazine should not be overlooked.

Good mystery, well developed, with Powell in a familiar and popular role, the unusual angle of the dogs, and the good name support afforded him, serve to provide the exhibitor with excellent entertainment in this picture.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by Michael Curtiz. Novel by S. S. Van Dine. Screen play by Robert N. Lee and Peter Milne. Dialogue director, Arthur Greville Collins. Photographed by William Reese. Film editor, Ed. M. McLarnin. Art director, Jack Okey. Release date, October 28, 1933. Running time, 73 minutes.

CAST

Philo Vance ..... William Powell
Hilda Lake ..... Mary Astor
Heath ..... Eugene Pallette
Raymond Wrede ..... Ralph Morgan
Doris Delafield ..... Helen Vinson
Eduardo Grassi ..... Jack LaRue
Sir Bruce MacDonald ..... Paul Kavanaugh
Archer Coe ..... Robert Barrat
Gamble ..... Arthur Hohl
Dubois ..... Henry O'Neill
Markham ..... Robert McWade
Brisbane Coe ..... Frank Conroy
Dr. Doremus ..... Etienne Gibardot
Snitkin ..... Spencer Charters
Hennessey ..... Charles Wilson
Liang ..... James Lee

Her Splendid Folly

(Progressive)

Comedy-Drama

Instead of whatever the title might indicate, the exhibitor has for sale in this picture a happily made production which carries no pretense to the spectacular or "super" yet provides an hour's entertainment. There is no "Folly" in it, nor is there anything of "splendor," but it is entertainment. It would be well at the start of billing to ward off any misgivings as to storms of emotion or extra-sentiment.

What you really have is a story of a girl, successful in search of work, who is to double for a star in danger sequences and then is assigned to do all the remainder of the picture when the star is mortally injured in an auto tumble en route to location.

Lilian Bond is the girl, and of course plays both roles. Theodore Von Eltz is the man lead who makes the going easier for the girl, particularly when she is hurt as the danger sequence goes awry and finds that he loves her. Lloyd Whitlock has the role of the deserted husband of the real Laura Gerard, who, not knowing of her death or the doubling, brings a sheriff when he learns of the double's marriage to the male lead.

The comedy element is something the exhibitor can count upon to hold the audience. Alexander Carr provides most of the fun, as the producer, and his dialogue of studio business carries a ring of authenticity as well as fun.

The names Lilian Bond and Theodore Von Eltz are the ones for the marquee.

There is no occasion to leave the children at home, and the show will fit any part of the week.—ROVELSTAD, New York.

Distributed by Progressive Pictures Corporation. In new year, Philadelphia and Washington by Hollywood Film Exchanges, Inc. Produced at International Studios, Hollywood. Directed by William O'Connor. Assistant director, Ralph Black. Adapted from the novel by Beulah Poynter. Edited by Roy Luby. Photographed by James Diamond and Jules Cronjager. Release date, October 7, 1933. Running time, 59 minutes.

CAST

Joan McAllister, Laura Gerard ..... Lillian Bond
Wallace Morley ..... Theodore Von Eltz
Solomon Ginsberg ..... Alexander Carr
John DeSilva ..... Lloyd Whitlock
Richard Hemingham ..... J. Frank Glendon
Mrs. McAllister ..... Beryl Mercer
Sally Lee ..... Roberta Gale
Natalie ..... Frances Lee
Anastasia ..... Louise Beaver
Justice of the Peace ..... William Burt
Witness ..... Harry Todd

Life in the Raw

(Fox)

Western

Where westerns are still good for audience draw, and there are unquestionably many such situations throughout the country, this Fox production, starring George O'Brien, is slightly shy on bang-up action in numerous spots, but nevertheless contains a goodly portion of the major ingredients of the western film, and should spot best on Saturday, when the juvenile and adult youngsters come to the show.

The O'Brien name is the best selling point, plus the authorship of the original, from a story by the notable and highly popular Zane Grey. The title is one of those general things that means little or nothing, and aside from its implied promise of an action picture, affords little opportunity in the direction of selling value. Zane Grey and George O'Brien are the best bets. In support are Claire Trevor, Greta Nissen, in a minor role, Warner Richmond and Gaylord Pendleton, in particular.

Miss Trevor stops at a small western town to find the ranch of her brother, Pendleton. O'Brien, meeting her after she gets out of Richmond's car to avoid his intentions, takes her to the nearest town. Finding her brother, she learns there is no ranch, and that night she learns more when Pendleton holds up the express office in town, the sheriff comes to make the arrest, and she and her brother escape. They separate, and when she runs into O'Brien in the mountains, they are followed by the sheriff, Miss Trevor making it appear that O'Brien is guilty of the holdup. They make good their escape from the law, and O'Brien leaves her. She is captured by Richmond and taken to his chief, Alan Edwards, owner of a night club in the desert, from which he conducts the leadership of his gang of outlaws.

O'Brien meets Pendleton and the two start for the club to effect the rescue of his sister and the capture of the bandits. It is successful, and when the three escape, O'Brien permits the sister and brother to ride ahead, while he decoys the pursuers into a trap which has been set, arranged by O'Brien and the sheriff. The inevitable romance, of course, concludes the picture.

There is little opportunity for selling in any but a conventional manner for this type of western, cut rather closely to the usual pattern as it is. It is good stuff for the youngsters, with whom O'Brien is popular.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Directed by Louis King. From a story by Zane Grey. Screen play by Stuart Anthony. Photography by Robert Planck. Costumes by Royer. Sound by Bernard Fredricks. Settings by Duncan Cramer. Musical director, Arthur Lange. Release date, July 7, 1933. Running time, 62 minutes.

CAST

Jim ..... George O'Brien
Judy ..... Claire Trevor
Belle ..... Greta Nissen
Myles ..... Francis Ford
Lamson ..... Warner Richmond
Tom ..... Gaylord Pendleton
Petroff ..... Alan Edwards
McTavish ..... Nigel DeBrulier

Take a Chance

(Paramount)

Musical Comedy

A light musical, "Take a Chance" is tinged with comedy, romance and spectacle that bring it within the classification of the current "back stage" entertainment cycle. Starting with a traveling carnival background and building to a point where a big show is having its premiere on Broadway, comedy, essentially of the specialty variety, is the predominant entertainment value. In this Dunn and Edwards are teamed, and because of their resort to slambang grifter tactics in getting what they are after, many laughs are forthcoming. One hoot owl song that Edwards puts over with the aid of his ukelele is catchy, suggesting its use over a loudspeaker system in ballyhooing the show.

Production and eye values fall somewhat short. The picture drags slowly as it permits the Dunn-Edwards specialties, and builds the Buddy Rogers-June Knight romance until it reaches a Daniel Boone climactic episode. This is an uproar of mirth provocation. There are several rather torrid dialogue lines and situations.

Most potent showmanship assets are to be found in the title, which suggests a wide latitude of clever tricks, and in the cast names. Smart handling of the combination of title and cast and a stressing of the comedy atmosphere should be the means of exciting patron attention.

The old teaser campaign, which costs little and often has been mighty effective, is a natural for adaptation in connection with this show. Well worked out with a proper consideration of name values, the comedy, romantic and music elements, it may easily prove just the thing that will sell the show most effectively.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Laurence Schwab and Monte Brice. Story and screen play by Laurence Schwab, Buddy DeSylva and Monte Brice. Music by Jay Gorney, Lou Alter and Herman Hupfeld. Lyrics by E. Y. Harburg, Billy Rose and Arthur Swanstrom. Art director, Herman Rosse. Director of dancing and singing, Bobby Connolly. Costumes by Charles LeMaire. Sound, Z. F. Tuthill. Photographer, Joe Valentine. Release date, October 27, 1933.

CAST

Duke ..... James Dunn
Louie ..... Cliff Edwards
Toni ..... June Knight
Wanda ..... Lillian Roth
Kenneth Raleigh ..... Charles "Buddy" Rogers
Thelma ..... Lillian Bond
Andrew Raleigh ..... Charles Richmond
Consuelo Raleigh ..... Dorothy Lee
Mike Caruso ..... Robert Gleckler
Miss Jersey City ..... Lona Andre

The Perils of Pauline

(Universal)

Excellent Serial

It may not be a parallel of Pearl White's "Pauline" of the early days of the silents, but it is a serial crammed with action, and decidedly different in atmosphere and background. Evalyn Knapp and Robert Allen carry the leads, supported by James Durkin, John Davidson, Sonny Ray and Frank Lackteen. The three first chapters—two of them running 21 minutes and the third 20—carry the action from China to a typhoon at sea, into Indo-China and the jungles. The opening episode introduces a hunt in a deserted temple for a disc carrying the formula of a deadly gas, a search conducted under shellfire and a rain of airplane bombs, and amid the machinations of Davidson's thugs. Next comes a fight aboard ship in a typhoon, a considerable letdown from the interest-stirring first chapter. In the third, a notable scene achieves suspense under a tense screen silence while a boa constrictor saves Pauline from one of the conspirators, a sequence worthy of any feature. Miss Knapp scarcely has the leading part in the action, and Sonny Ray's comedy falls short, but it at least has the merit of being busy comedy. The serial has everything from gunboats to savages' signal drums. —Two reels.

Wonders of the Tropics

(Principal)

Fair

Despite numerous unusual closeup shots of insect, bird and animal life on the jungled, infested banks of South America's greatest river, this journey with boat and camera down the mighty Amazon lacks a real continuity, an entertainment punch which appears throughout rather conspicuous by its absence. As a study of nature in the dank stretches of a little known jungle, it is of general interest. Several shots embody rather unusual pictorial beauty, but most of the lengthy footage is devoted to proof of the "survival of the fittest" axiom in the animal kingdom. The exhibitor may draw the schools into attendance by reason of the opportunity for nature study afforded.—Running time, 32 minutes.

Erpi Is Sued for Triple Damages

Stanley Company, a Warner subsidiary; Duovac tube interests and the Schlesinger General Talking Pictures Company, filed a motion at Wilmington, on Tuesday, seeking triple damages against Electrical Research Products. Immediately, Erpi's legal department made the following announcement in New York:

"There is nothing new in these suits. The issues involved have been in litigation for many months. Stanley, Duo-Vac, and General Talking Pictures asked the federal court in Delaware for several injunctions against the enforcement of Erpi's contracts with producers and theatres. The court refused to issue an injunction against the contract for servicing theatres and the collection of charges therefor. It granted the plea for an injunction against the enforcement of the clause providing for the furnishing of replacement parts and the clause thought to limit distribution of the pictures of producer licensees to theatres equipped with apparatus of Western Electric manufacture.

"No attempt was ever made by Erpi to enforce the first of these provisions by legal action, and the latter appeared only in the original licenses to Vitaphone and the Fox companies in which it was superseded more than five years ago. As a matter of fact, the injunctions have never been issued, due to the failure of the plaintiffs to file the necessary bonds.

"The litigation which resulted as above was based upon the alleged violation of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust laws, and the effect of the new action is to ask for damages alleged to have been suffered by reason of the matters now before the courts."

Federal Court Approves Sale of Fox New England

Judge Edwin S. Thomas in federal court at Hartford, Conn., this week, confirmed and approved the sale at auction of the Fox New England theatres in Massachusetts and Connecticut last week to John A. McNaughton and W. B. S. Rogers for $3,101,000.

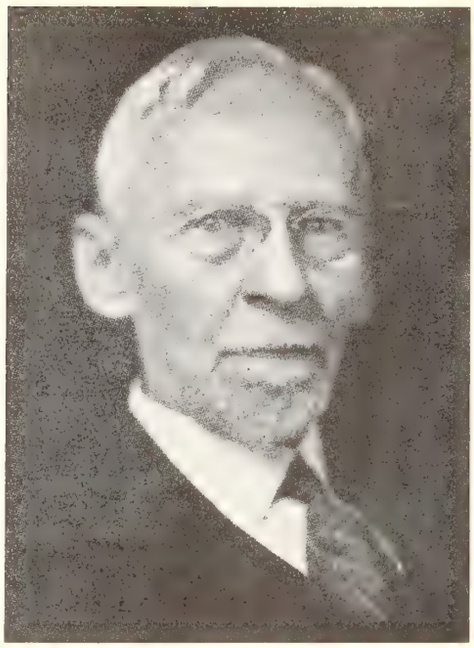
The reorganization plan of Poli-New England Theatres, Inc., new name of the former Fox New England circuit, has been completed and awaits the approval of the court. Under the plan S. Z. Poli will again resume control of the 18 theatres involved, with Louis M. Sagal, his son-in-law, in charge of operations.

Universal Reduces Loss, Compared With 1932 Quarter

Universal's net loss for the three months ended July 29, 1933, is estimated at approximately $124,492 after taxes and charges, according to a preliminary report of the company, issued this week. This compares with a loss of $419,338 for the same quarter in 1932. For the nine months ended July 29, according to the report, the net loss was approximately $728,747, which is $30,899 less than that for the corresponding period in 1932.

Rule Plans New War Film

A. L. Rule, producer of "The Big Drive," announced this week in Chicago that he will release another authentic war feature entitled "The Death Parade." The film will be offered to state rights distributors.



DR. GEORGE W. KIRCHWEY

Kirchwey Heads Board of Review

Dr. George W. Kirchwey, internationally known sociologist, criminologist and author, this week was elected to the chairmanship of the National Board of Review.

Dr. Kirchwey, former Dean of the Columbia University Law School, and later Commissioner of Reform in New York State and Warden of Sing Sing prison, succeeds Judge John R. Davies as chairman of the Board's executive committee. Wilton A. Barrett continues as executive secretary.

That social consciousness is "at last beginning to see the motion picture as a powerful force recreationally and educationally," and that the only contribution made by recent studies of films from a social standpoint has been to confirm "what we already know," were declarations made this week by Dr. Kirchwey, following his election.

Dr. Kirchwey told National Board of Review officers that there cannot be an intelligent motion picture audience unless it is made to demand more of the motion picture artistically and educationally, as well as from the standpoint of entertainment.

In addition to Dr. Kirchwey, members of the committee include: Dr. Frederic C. Howe, Walter W. Pettit; Mrs. Miriam Sutro Price, Dr. Myron T. Scudder, LeRoy E. Bowman, Dr. Frank Astor, Judge Davies, Dr. Louis I. Harris, George W. Zehrung, and Dr. William B. Tower.

Heywood-Wakefield Reports Loss of $533,215 for 9 Months

Heywood-Wakefield Company, manufacturer of reed and fibre furniture and theatre furnishings, reports for nine months ended September 30, 1933, net loss of $533,215 after depreciation, comparing with a net loss of $970,404 for the nine months in 1932.

Current assets as of September 30, 1933, amounted to $3,443,447, and current liabilities were $304,660, comparing with $4,236,479 and $203,624, respectively, last year.

Consolidated Net Equals $253,901

Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., and subsidiaries, this week reported for the quarter ended September 30 a consolidated net profit of $253,901, after depreciation and federal taxes. This is equivalent, after dividend requirements on $2 preferred stock, to 10 cents a share (par $1) on 524,973 shares of common stock. This compares with $197,177, or 49 cents a share on 400,000 shares of $2 preferred stock earned in the same quarter last year.

For the nine months ended September 30, net profit was $716,478 after charges and taxes, equal to 22 cents a share on the common and comparing with $685,273, or 16 cents a share, in the first nine months of 1932.

Closed Meeting Discusses Charges Made Against AMPA

Plans for a constructive and more concrete organization as well as reforms within the Associated Motion Picture Advertisers organization in New York, were determined upon at a closed luncheon meeting at Sardi's last week. Speakers discussed the recent charges of Columbia members that the organization was wasting its time, and it was agreed there was room for complaint.

Heading the group of objectors was Lou Goldberg of Columbia, who said he had no grievance against anyone in particular, but against the policies of the group. Other speakers were John Flinn, president; Vivian Moses, Tom Hamlin, Paul Benjamin, Martin Starr. The next meeting will hear a report of the board of directors.

Belasco Estate Put at $1,249,144

David Belasco, dean of the American theatre, who died May 14, 1931, left an estate with a gross valuation of $1,598,000 and a net of $1,249,144, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed in New York this week. The Actors' Fund of America received $5,000 under the will.

The bulk of the estate is in securities with a total value of $1,177,509, and included 500 shares of Stuyvesant Theatre Corporation, appraised at $700,135. Bonds included $110,659 in New York City corporate stock; $43,050 in New York State bonds; $41,340 in New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company bonds, and $33,050 in bonds of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company. Cash assets totaled $47,468, including $10,000 from the sale of the play "Tonight or Never."

Grainger Returns With Very Optimistic Report

James R. Grainger, general sales manager for Universal, returned to New York late last week from a cross-country sales trip, bringing back a report glowing with optimism. He visited eight key cities as far west as San Francisco.

"Conditions are improving and, while perhaps not as much as may have been expected, he said, "they are definitely on the plus side. This is particularly true of the Pacific Coast."

PRODUCTIONS IN WORK

TITLE	WRITER AND DIRECTOR	CAST	STAGE OF PRODUCTION
COLUMBIA
"Let's Fall in Love"	Story by Herbert Fields. Director: David Burton.	Harriette Lake, Edmund Lowe, Gregory Ratoff, Arthur Jarrett, Wera Engels.	Shooting
"Straightaway"	Story by Lambert Hillyer. Director: Otto Brower.	Tim McCoy, Sue Carol, William Bakewell.	Shooting
"The Criminal Within"	Story by Doris Malloy and Kathryn Scola. Director: Phil Rosen.	Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot, Grant Mitchell.	Shooting
FOX
"I Am Suzanne"	Screen play by Edwin Mayer. Director: Rowland V. Lee.	Lilian Harvey, Gene Raymond, Leslie Banks.	Shooting
"7 Lives Were Changed"	Story by Graham Greene. Director: Paul Martin.	Heather Angel, Norman Foster, Ralph Morgan, Herbert Mundin, Una O'Connor, Irene Ware, Dorothy Burgess.	Shooting
"Sleepers East"	Story by Frederick Nebel. Director: Kenneth MacKenna.	Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster, Harvey Stephens, Mona Barrie, Howard Lally.	Shooting
METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER
"The Comeback"	Story by F. Hugh Herbert. Director: George B. Seitz.	Otto Kruger, Ben Lyon, Isabelle Jewell.	Shooting
"Tarzan and His Mate"	Story by Edgar Rice Burroughs. Director: Cedric Gibbons.	Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan, Neil Hamilton, Paul Cavanaugh, Doris Lloyd, Frank Reicher.	Shooting
"The Hollywood Party"	Story by Edmund Goulding and Howard Dietz. Director: Richard Boleslavsky.	Marie Dressler, Joan Crawford, Jean Harlow, Jimmy Durante, Lupe Velez, Jack Pearl, Charles Butterworth, Jean Hersholt, Albertina Rasch Ballet, Eddie Quillan, Polly Moran, Ben Bard, Richard Carle, George Givot.	Shooting
"Malibu"	Story by Joseph Vance Hoyt. Directors: Chester Franklin and Nick Grinde.	Jean Parker, David Landau, Russell Hardie.	Shooting
"Going Hollywood"	Story by Donald Ogden Stewart and C. Gardner Sullivan. Director: Raoul Walsh.	Marion Davies, Bing Crosby, Fifi D'Orsay, Ned Sparks, Ted Healy.	Shooting
"The Cat and the Fiddle"	Play by Jerome Kern and Otto Harbach. Director: William K. Howard.	Ramon Novarro, Jeanette MacDonald, Charles Butterworth, Vivienne Segal, Frank Morgan, Jean Hersholt.	Shooting
"Sons of the Desert"	Original story by Frank Craven. Director: William Seiter.	Stan Laurel, Oliver Hardy, Mae Busch, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Chase, Dorothy Christy.	Shooting
"Transcontinental Bus"	Story by Ferdinand Reyer and Frank Wead. Director: Richard Boleslavsky.	Robert Montgomery, Madge Evans, Nat Pendleton, Gladys Hulette, Ted Healy.	Shooting
MONOGRAM
"Born Tough"	Story by Dore Schary. Director: William Nigh.	Ray Walker, Virginia Cherrill, George E. Stone.	Shooting
PARAMOUNT
"Catherine the Great"	Story by Manuel Komroff. Director: Josef von Sternberg.	Marlene Dietrich, John Lodge, Kent Taylor, Louise Dresser, C. Henry Gordon, C. Aubrey Smith.	Shooting
"The Search for Beauty"	Original story by S. E. Grey and Paul Q. Milton. Director: Earle C. Kenton.	Buster Crabbe, Ida Lupino, Robert Armstrong, Lona Andre, James Gleason.	Shooting
"The Border Legion"	Story by Zane Grey. Director: Henry Hathaway.	Randolph Scott, Monte Blue, Barbara Adams, Fred Kohler.	Shooting
"Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen"	Story by Rupert Hughes. Director: Alexander Hall.	Dorothea Wieck, Baby LeRoy, Alan Hale, Jack LaRue, Dorothy Burgess.	Shooting
"Alice in Wonderland"	Original story by Lewis Carroll. Director: Norman McLeod.	Charlotte Henry, Richard Arlen, Polly Moran, Jack Oakie, Charlie Ruggles, Louise Fazenda, Ford Sterling, Alison Skipworth, Leon Errol.	Shooting
"Eight Girls in a Boat"	Story by Helmuth Brandis. Director: Richard Wallace.	Dorothy Wilson, Kay Johnson, Mildred Hollis, Betty Grey, Douglas Montgomery, Peggy Montgomery, Ferike Boris, Barbara Barondess.	Shooting
"Girl Without a Room"	Story by Jack Lait. Director: Ralph Murphy.	Charles Farrell, Marguerite Churchill, Charlie Ruggles, Walter Woolf, Gregory Ratoff.	Shooting
"Sitting Pretty"	Story by Nina Wilcox Putnam. Director: Harry Joe Brown.	Jack Haley, Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, Thelma Todd, Gregory Ratoff.	Shooting
"Chrysalis"	Original story by Rose A. Porter. Director: James Flood.	Fredric March, Miriam Hopkins, George Raft.	Shooting
RKO-RADIO
"Man of Two Worlds"	Novel by Ainsworth Morgan. Director: J. Walter Ruben.	Francis Lederer, Elissa Landi, Henry Stephenson, Sarah Padden, J. Farrell MacDonald, Steffi Duna.	Shooting
"Rodney"	Story by Leonard Mason. Director: George Archainbaud.	Walter Huston, Frances Dee, Robert Shane.	Shooting
"Long Lost Father"	Story by G. B. Stern. Director: Ernest B. Schoedsack.	John Barrymore, Helen Chandler, Donald Cook, Alan Mowbray, Doris Lloyd.	Shooting
"Wild Birds"	Story by Don Totheroh. Director: Elliott Nugent.	Jean Parker, Tom Brown, Zasu Pitts.	Shooting
"Trigger"	Play by Lulu Vollmer. Director: John Cromwell.	Katharine Hepburn, Robert Young, Ralph Bellamy.	Shooting
"Once Over Lightly"	Story by A. T. Horman. Director: Russell Mack.	Zasu Pitts, Pert Kelton, Skeets Gallagher, El Brendel, James Gleason, Bill Cagney.	Shooting
"Hips, Hips, Hooray!"	Original story and screen play by Harry Ruby and Bert Kalmar. Director: Mark Sandrich.	Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Dorothy Lee, Ruth Etting, Thelma Todd, George Meeker, Phyllis Barry.	Shooting
RELIANCE
"Joe Palooka"	Director: Ben Stoloff.	Jimmy Durante, Stuart Erwin, Lupe Velez.	Shooting
SALIENT
"Mating Time"	Screen play and direction by Leo Birinski.	Ben Alexander, Jeanette Loff, Arthur Tracy.	Shooting
SAMUEL GOLDWYN
"Nana"	Story by Emile Zola. Director: Dorothy Arzner.	Anna Sten, Lionel Atwill, Phillips Holmes.	Shooting
TWENTIETH CENTURY
"Born to Be Bad"	Story by Ralph Graves. Director: Lowell Sherman.	Loretta Young, Cary Grant, Harry Green, Marion Burns.	Shooting
"Advice to the Lovelorn"	Novel by Nathaniel West. Director: Alfred Werker.	Lee Tracy, Sally Blane, Paul Harvey, C. Henry Gordon, Judith Wood.	Shooting
"Gallant Lady"	Screen play by Sam Mintz. Director: Gregory La Cava.	Ann Harding, Clive Brook, Tullio Carminati, Janet Beecher, Otto Kruger, Veree Teasdale.	Shooting
UNIVERSAL
"I Like It That Way"	Story by Harry Sauber. Director: Harry Lachman.	Gloria Stuart, Roger Pryor, Raymond Hackett.	Shooting
"Bombay Mail"	Story by L. G. Blochman. Director: Edwin Marin.	Edmund Lowe, Onslow Stevens, Ralph Forbes, Shirley Grey, Tom Moore.	Shooting
"Cross Country Cruise"	Screen play by Stanley Rauh and Elmer Harris. Director: Edward Buzell.	Lew Ayres, Alice White.	Shooting
"Madame Spy"	Screen play by William Hurlbut. Director: Karl Freund.	Fay Wray, Nils Asther, Edward Arnold, Mabel Marden.	Shooting
WARNER BROS.-FIRST NATIONAL
"Massacre"	Story by Robert Gessner and Ralph Block. Director: Alan Crosland.	Richard Barthelmess, Ann Dvorak, Henry O'Neill.	Shooting
"Easy to Love"	Screen play by Carl Erickson, David Boehm and Manny Seff. Director: William Keighley.	Adolphe Menjou, Mary Astor, Genevieve Tobin, Edward Everett Horton, Patricia Ellis, Hugh Herbert.	Shooting
"King of Fashion"	Story by Warren Duff. Director: Wilhelm Dieterle.	William Powell, Bette Davis, Frank McHugh.	Shooting
"Hi, Nellie!"	Story by Roy Chanslor. Director: Mervyn LeRoy.	Paul Muni, Glenda Farrell, Ned Sparks.	Shooting
"Mandalay"	Story by Paul H. Fox. Director: Michael Curtiz.	Kay Francis, Ricardo Cortez, George Brent.	Shooting

JENKINS' COLYUM

Neligh, Nebraska

DEAR HERALD:

Well, here we go. We don't know how far we will get for we've had to sneak one over on Doc. Doc tells us to stay in bed, but we can't unload all of our work on Ernie. Ernie is a good-natured, hardworking conscientious Democrat, but there is such a thing as asking too much of even a Democrat.

If you have never tried writing when one of your eyes was fogged over so that it made a phantasmagoria of the letters and lines until you couldn't tell whether you were afoot or on horseback, then you have missed an experience that is well worth missing. When you hit a "Q" when you want to hit an "H," it makes your orthography a little out of plumb and makes the typesetter wonder what kind of language you are using. Doc is working his durnest to get our blood pressure down, and if the horse medicine he is doping us with don't do it, it will be a joke on the horse.

And Those Crooners!

Majorie has the radio turned on and all we can hear is sobbing crooners and jazz orchestras, and if we have to listen to them much longer we are going to bite a chunk out of the bed rail. There is a long list of talented people whom we regard very highly, but jazz orchestras and crooners are not on that list.

The open season on pheasants starts today and every guy in town has gone hunting except us, and here we lie counting the flowers in the wall paper instead of estimating the distance we should lead the pheasant when he takes wing, and if you can think of anything worse than that you must be a good thinker. When we can't go hunting it's a cinch we are sick.

Out here in the corn belt the farmers are getting their necks bowed and are going to declare an embargo on all farm products until the price comes up to cover the cost of production. Ex-governor Keith Neville has resigned as state administrator of the N. R. A. and declares that that program is ruining the farmer, and Governor Bryan comes out with a like declaration, and it looks like hell has broken loose in the Jeffersonian ranks west of the Mississippi. As we have said before in this colyum, the farmers have been the goats ever since old Cincinnatis started breaking prairie with a yoke of bulls, and the goat pasture having become such slim picking accounts for why the goats have gone to eating tin cans and rubber boots, and when a goat gets filled up on rubber boots, boy, you want to look out for him.

Two Pounds of Butter a Ticket

The processing of cotton has raised the price of cotton goods 75% and the corn belt don't raise any cotton. The processing of wheat has raised flour from 85 cents a sack to $2.00, and the corn belt don't raise any wheat to speak of. The prices of farm products have steadily declined and that's why this country has blown up, and if you don't think this is making it mighty tough on theatres especially, just drive out here and investigate for yourself. It takes ten bushel of corn to buy a sack of flour. It takes two pounds of butter to buy a theatre ticket. It takes a dozen eggs to get a kid into the show, and the result is they are not going to shows in any great numbers. When you go to a show out here now you never have to stand up.

On the radio today we heard three professors of Chicago University discussing "inflation" at their "Round Table" conference. They covered the field from A to Z and when they got through we didn't know any more about inflation than a sow pig, and we doubt if they did either.

What They Mean—Or Don't

The consensus seemed to be that when you have plenty of commodities to trade for the dollar the dollar is inflated, but when you don't have anything to trade for the dollar the dollar is deflated, and that's where inflation and deflation invariably lands, and this statement will prove that we don't know adam thing about it.

Adios. Here comes the Doc, and here we go for the bed.

COL. J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

BOOK REVIEW

SETTINGS AND COSTUMES OF THE MODERN STAGE. By Theodore Komisarjevsky and Lee Simonson; edited by C. G. Holme. London: The Studio. 132 pp. Cloth, $4.50.

When the motion picture began to talk some thoughtful people declared that the theatre of the stage was doomed. This was not an altogether unpleasant thought, for change gives contemporary life an air of importance. Within the motion picture industry itself, of course, the prospect of cinema ascendency could not have been otherwise than pleasant. Not only did it promise larger revenues; it also suggested certain social inheritances—a complete right to Broadway, a valid title to the traditions of the Theatre. Those both lay and professional who had commercial or emotional attachments to the stage, naturally resisted this idea, but great numbers of them too came to accept what was regarded as the inevitable. But five years of audible motion pictures have shown this prophecy to have been only partly right.

The title, to be sure, scarcely suggests profound contents. The pages nevertheless do reflect a vitality continuous with that which has given the stage several thousand years of important cultural history—and what is more significant just now, they do define a purpose for the stage as worthy as ever it had, and within a restricted area, possibly as profitable.

Confusion of purpose may after all account for the notion that the talking picture supplants the stage, and it is a confusion which the motion picture industry, as well as the so-called "legitimate" field, might well wish to clarify. And this for good business reasons. The stage theatre is not a great popular theatre. The talking picture, on the other hand, has realized its tremendous mission in giving dramatic literature to those for whom it was non-existant or a rarity.

Crudely the stage endeavored to possess some of the elements of popular theatre. Just as well that the Opera House has been razed for the construction of a modern motion picture theatre. The troupers suffer, but the Theatre gains—if it will. As represented in this new Studio publication, it possesses an art-form quite its own, with its own material and appeals which the motion picture, now become the first satisfactory popular theatre, will not care to bother about.

The body of the volume consists in something like 200 reproductions of photographs and sketches of stage settings and costumes, representative of the several techniques developed for the enclosed theatre since the use of simple flats and wings, a period of about 60 years, as applied to productions of the last few years. They should stimulate the advanced creator of stage productions and prove a guide to those amateurs and semi-professionals ardently at work in thousands of "little theatres." But more than this, they suggest lines of further development in the creation of stagecraft as an electric art, integrally embracing lighting (dynamics of highlighting and chiaroscuro), interpretive painting, writing and acting. Above all, they stipulate a selection of story material and a creative point of view which lend themselves to the agencies of expression peculiar to, or at least eminently found in, the stage.

The contents are divided into two sections, one devoted to Europe, the other to the United States, and it is significant that of 124 pages (excluding title and contents pages), 86 are concerned with stagecraft in Europe. To this section Mr. Komisarjevsky has contributed an attempt worthy of his knowledge of the theatre to distinguish the many groups which have sought to set up dominant schools of technique. A similar task is considerably lighter for Mr. Simonson of the Theatre Guild, who had, instead of widely dispersed groups in all Europe to deal with, merely America to worry about, which means a rather lethargic Broadway. Some of the innovations in Europe, of course, have had their demonstrations or repercussions in America, as, for example, the activities of Diaghileff, Reinhardt, Bakst and others. Mr. Simonson, however, well can say that "the development of American scenic design will depend very largely on the future of American playwriting." This in turn, will depend very largely on how much the American stage is ready to select its ow naudience.—George Schutz.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Allied

BOILING POINT, THE: Hoot Gibson—Picture pleased and drew well from the adults. Children's attendance off. Always is on a Gibson picture.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

INTRUDER, THE: Monte Blue—An action melodrama that barely gets by. The continuity is very episodic. The story is not real clear. In fact it falls below standard. However, it's clean.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

SHRIEK IN THE NIGHT, A: Ginger Rogers, Lyle Talbot—Independent picture that seems to rank with any major production. Pretty good business and picture pleased. Murder mystery that is not too horrible.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

Columbia

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard, Gene Raymond—This is a very good picture, with very little action. It is a story of a blues singer in a night club, who falls in love with a millionaire playboy and marries him, only to find him too lazy to work for her. She leaves him and finally he goes to work and wins her back. A rather unusual story and is adult entertainment. Played one day to good business. Running time, 69 minutes. Played October 12. —J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

COCKTAIL HOUR: Bebe Daniels—Columbia can put out more pictures that please better and draw less. This is very delightful, and is worth advertising well.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

DANGEROUS CROSSROADS: Chic Sale—Satisfactory Saturday picture with average drawing power. Played September 19.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

DECEPTION: Leo Carrillo—The title is deceiving, but after you get them in, it's a wow. Had the patrons up on their tip toes in that last reel. When they stay to see it through twice, it must be good. Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 13-14.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

ONE MAN LAW: Buck Jones—Usual western, with average business. We say hurrah for cowboys. Our business will drop 20% at least if we do not have them on Friday and Saturday. Played October 13-14. —Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Surburban family patronage.

RIDING TORNADO, THE: Tim McCoy—All of these McCoys have pleased, with business good. Played September 29-30.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

RUSTY RIDES ALONE: Tim McCoy—Another good western from Columbia. Plenty of action, good story and McCoy doesn't kill seven or eight with his bare hands—neither does he fight a mob single handed. Running time, 6 reels. Played October 20-21.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt—Whew! This fell so hard I can still feel the shock. The folks who like Holt want action, and this is a slow moving "talky" picture. First night was fair business but the second night was one of the worst Saturday nights we've had this year. George E. Stone was particularly good. Played September 15-16.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt, Genevieve Tobin—A he-man picture. A good one for Saturday or Pal nights. Played October 10-11.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt—Just an average program picture. Running time, 72 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

First National

BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS: Lewis Stone, Pat O'Brien, Bette Davis, Glenda Farrell—The first of the new pictures from Warner Bros., and believe me brother, it's one swell bit of entertainment. Not a dull moment in the entire eight reels. The entire cast is splendid and the picture just can't help but please. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 3-4.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

CENTRAL PARK: Joan Blondell—Thrilling trailer brought in fine business and picture had everything necessary to back up the advertising. Played September 3-5.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

FRISCO JENNY: Ruth Chatterton—Everybody nowled about the sad ending, and why not? They come to the theatre to be entertained and sent out a bit happier than when they came. The masses do not care whether the ending is logical or not. They want to go out in a happy daze, believing they may realize their own particular dreams sometime, just as the actress in the story would. Played October 15-17.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Joan Blondell, Warren William—Fast moving comedy. Very good. Running time, 66 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

HEROES FOR SALE: Richard Barthelmess, Loretta Young—This is a fine picture but not the type of story for Barthelmess. It is too gruesome. If it could have had a cheerful ending, it would have pleased better. It drew well and pleased about 50%. Played September 14-15.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

HEROES FOR SALE: Richard Bathelmess—People do not seem to care for this type of story. Did not go over so good. Running time, 73 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis—Don't be afraid of this picture. It's great and will back up the strongest advertising you care to give it. Story good, and acting is perfect. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 17-18.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

LAWYER MAN: William Powell, Joan Blondell—Good picture to fair business on draw of Blondell, but may have been thought slightly sissified by our patrons who demand more or less blood and thunder. Played August 12-14.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

LITTLE GIANT, THE: Edward G. Robinson—We think it was one of Robinson's best pictures. Pleased everybody and made us a little money. Running time, 75 minutes. Played October 1-2-3.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

TIGER SHARK: Edward G. Robinson—Fine Saturday show. Drew exceptionally well. Played September 23.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

20,000 YEARS IN SING SING: Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis—Picture was well done and drew nicely, but of course they said: "I wished it had ended happily." Played August 27-29.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darrow, Dorothy Coonan—No excuse in the world for making a picture like this. Title bad and story not good. People have enough trouble and hardship in this world without paying money to see it all portrayed upon the screen. Business was 'way off on this one. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 21.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darrow, Dorothy Coonan—Here is a show that should make money for every exhibitor that plays it, because it has everything a picture should have. If Warners put out another show like this we are all willing to take them. Frankie Darrow, Dorothy Coonan and Edwin Phillips do some wonderful acting. What helped in this town was that there was one of our own town boys in it and we sold it with his name. This picture should appeal to all classes of people. Running time, 65 minutes. Played October 19-20-21.—William Dabb, Lyric Theatre, Shenandoah, Pa. General patronage.

Fox

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor—Beautiful music, delightful love story, exquisitely put on, but very, very poor business. First night good, second night terrible, which shows plainly that Gaynor fans did not like it. Played September 18-19.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: Joan Bennett, James Dunn—Very well received. Just enough drama, comedy and music to keep patrons interested. Both leads are favorites here and we had better than average business, which is not saying much. Played October 15-16.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon, Buddy Rogers—Very poor picture. Failed to draw and did not please the few who saw it. Played October 2-3.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE: Warner Oland—No better or no worse than the average Chan pictures. Business considerably off on this one. Patrons seem to be growing tired of the Charlie Chan stories. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 10-11. —R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers—Many said it was not really as good as other Rogers pictures, but it pleased, nevertheless. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 4-5.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers—Made to order for small towns. Excellent. Typical Will Rogers picture and one of his best. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 1-4.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers, Louise Dresser, Marian Nixon, Ralph Morgan—Excellent. Don't let them kid you that it is as good as "State Fair," but it's excellent entertainment. Will Rogers is the whole show. Played October 12-13.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

DR. BULL: Will Rogers—"Dr. Bull" may not click as well as "State Fair" because it is not nearly so good a picture, but it will please the average picture fan. Business was OK on it for me. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 12-13.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

GOLDEN WEST, THE: George O'Brien—Very good draw, particularly from the adults. Everybody satisfied. Played October 6-7.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: Sally Eilers, James Dunn—Gave generally good satisfaction to ordinary business. Played October 11-12.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

I LOVED YOU WEDNESDAY: Elissa Landi, Warner Baxter—This was a big disappointment. It didn't draw and it didn't please. Too ultra smart and sophisticated for my town. Played October 2-3.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

I LOVED YOU WEDNESDAY: Warner Baxter, Elissa Landi, Victor Jory—This picture is very hard to understand in places because of bad recording. Picture was a disappointment here. Not much entertainment if we are a good judge. Played October 16-17.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien—El Brendel helps to make this one of the best westerns made. Full of comedy and will appeal even to those patrons heretofore not interested in westerns. Running time, 60 minutes. Played October 5-7.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

LAST TRAIL, THE: George O'Brien—A good Zane Grey western. Pleased 100%. El Brendel supplies plenty of comedy in this one. Played October 6-7.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MAN WHO DARED, THE: Preston Foster—If you have this bought and can't use it on double bill, my advice is to give your school a free show. It contains a splendid lesson in citizenship and patriotism, but people won't come to the theatre to get lessons, and it certainly has no drawing power. We had 9 people the first night and 7 the second. Liberty gave this picture 3 stars and all the reviews were good on it, so we were thoroughly sold on the picture ourselves, and did a little extra advertising, but nobody wanted to see it. It is decidedly our worst flop. Played October 16-17.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

OVER THE HILL: James Dunn, Sally Eilers, Mae Marsh—Picture old but played on Bargain Nights to very good business. Played October 4-5.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Here is the perfect small town picture. Beautiful scenery and produced on a big scale. Drawing power much better than average. Play this one up big and you won't be sorry. Played October 16-18.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor—Gaynor as the fans like her. One of her best and will please all patrons. Clean, wholesome entertainment. Running time, 72 minutes. Played September 24-27.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Lots of favorable comments on this picture. Business good and everyone pleased. Should draw extra business anywhere. Gaynor is mighty fine, and Baxter simply slays 'em. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 15-16.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

PILGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crosman, Norman Foster, Marian Nixon—We have had several pictures lately where the girl "went wrong" but this one doubled up on it and had two of them, which ruined a perfectly good picture otherwise. Played October 15-16.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

PLEASURE CRUISE: Genevieve Tobin, Roland Young—Just fair. Entertained but that was about all. No special comment received. Players not too well known except Roland Young and he hardly makes a striking leading man, although fine for support. Played October 4-5.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Bay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy, Fay Wray—Nice program feature. Action and comedy. Fay Wray, whom we have not seen for many moons, very pleasing feminine lead. Tracy extra good with our patrons. Eugene Pallette always pleases.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

SHANGHAI MADNESS: Spencer Tracy, Fay Wray—This is a better picture than we expected. Plenty of action. We played it one day only. Not much business. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 20.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

SMOKE LIGHTNING: George O'Brien—Good Zane Grey western, but we were forced to pull this picture after first day's run account of bad print. Played September 21.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

STATE FAIR: Will Rogers, Janet Gaynor—We wonder if all the other subsequent runs, or any of them, have our same experience? On all of these special pictures the public must not be able to wait, but visit the earlier run houses, for we never have any outstanding business. Considering the increased film rental we feel we get mostly prestige and little or nothing else out of them. It is not lack of effort to put the pictures over, either. On this one we put out extra paper, took extra news space, and got up an exhibit of preserves from local housewives that got quite a little attention. A campaign like this is very small compared to those of first runs, but we have learned through experience about how much we can afford to spend and expect to get it back. Would managers of other subsequent run houses care to give their experience with the more expensive guarantee and percentage pictures, where those pictures have had a heavily ballyhooed first run?—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

WALLS OF GOLD: Sally Eilers, Norman Foster—A pleasing picture that will go over but not Sally Eiler's best. Running time, 74 minutes. Played October 18-19.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

Freuler

EASY MILLIONS: Skeets Gallagher—Good comedy. Well received by our audience. Running time, 56 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

MGM

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—A very excellent production with good cast. The Cimarron of the stage vaudeville. Young folks did not know what it was as it happened before their day. Some did not like it. Some did. Average business.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan, Madge Evans—"Leo" may have slipped a little bit this past summer but he certainly is back on the job now. This is one swell picture and if you can get them in, they will be well entertained. The whole cast great with Frank Morgan carrying off the honors. Running time, 9 reels. Played October 8-9.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

DEVIL'S BROTHER: Laurel and Hardy, Dennis King—Great show. It drew well and pleased. Laurel and Hardy at their funniest and Dennis King furnishes some wonderful music. Played September 20-21.—Edith M. Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

FAITHLESS: Tallulah Bankhead, Robert Montgomery—Pardon us for writing this, but the projectionist asked if they had gotten the story out of the sewer. The central idea was cheap. And then out came our audience, wiping away the tears to tell us what a grand picture it was. 'Fraid my public has me puzzled. The reformers, professional, raise mischief about dirt in pictures, and our patrons get all sobby sympathetic over that same dirt. Played September 1.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

HELL BELOW: Robert Montgomery, Walter Huston, Madge Evans—A wonderful picture. You can't go wrong on this one. It's got action, suspense, love and everything. You can get behind this one and not regret it. Running time, 105 minutes. Played October 8-10.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

MASK OF FU MANCHU, THE: Boris Karloff—Seemed to satisfy our audience. Just average business on one day showing. Played August 30.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

NUISANCE, THE: Lee Tracy—Ran this only one day because I gave "Gold Digers" extra running time. Good show, which deserves a two-day exhibition. Not a special by any means, but a very satisfactory programmer. Played September 22.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—With two stars like Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy most any picture would be good. I believe that Warner Baxter is the best liked male star in pictures today, and "Penthouse" is one of the best from Metro for some time. Boost it, and give your patrons a real treat. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 1-2.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—This is good enough for two reports. This drew splendid Sunday and Monday business and pleased 95%. I wish we could get more Dressler pictures, as she never fails to deliver the goods. Played September 10-11.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—We consider this a good picture and will do business anywhere. Running time, 9 reels. Played October 18-10.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

WHAT! NO BEER?: Buster Keaton, Jimmy Durante—Rather crude comedy. Durante talks too much. Business fair. Running time, 65 minutes. Played October 12-13-14.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Ann Harding, Alice Brady, Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy—This picture was well liked but Montgomery did not add any to his glory in this one. If he had not had able support from the women stars, he would have been sunk. What he has that Metro continually stars him is what my patrons want to know. They did not like him at all in this one and said so. From the reaction on his work in this picture he is slated to go the way that Gilbert went with the audiences.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

Paramount

BEDTIME STORY, A: Maurice Chevalier—Here's a picture that will go over O.K. Why I do not know, plenty of growling at the Frenchman; he cannot talk, he cannot sing, yet the picture gets over and was liked. If only the producers would pass a law not to let any talk get into a picture that could not be understood. Maurice Chevalier must be a good actor, but why don't he learn English. It's funny to stumble over English once in a while but to murder it is not entertainment. And it gets tiresome.—Russell C. Dey, Reedville Movies, Reedville, Va. General patronage.

BEDTIME STORY, A: Maurice Chevalier—A nice picture and Chevalier's best. Business good. Running time, 90 minutes. Played October 5-6-7.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

BLONDE VENUS: Marlene Dietrich—Good midweek business on this, due to our having used a local girl "Blonde Venus" in poses, and in not too much apparel, on the previous week's program. Stunt produced in a way I had not expected; also, in that it brought back some patrons the second night of her stay.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahome City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—The answer to our prayers. Played during 90° weather and even that helped. Crosby big favorite here. The first college show to get away from the woolie, woolie sweater era. Should click in all college town just for this reason. Hope Paramount sends more directors where they can learn what they should already know. Great show, play it. Running time, 80 minutes. Played August 11-12-13.—Philip Bissell Shaver, Henry Theatre, Henry, Ill. Urban, rural patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST, Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Julie Haydon, Genevieve Tobin—If you have played "Stranger's Return" you remember what a good one it was. Well, here is one that is better, that means it's excellent. Am glad to see Julie Haydon getting a break. Hope to see more of her. Played October 14.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST, Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin—This is a mighty good picture and worthy of your best playing dates. Entire cast turns in a fine performance. Drew some extra business the second night. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 19-20.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Wynne Gibson, Edmund Lowe—She needed one, from a box-office viewpoint. Honestly, why are all exhibitors born suckers. The picture may have had its moments, but where they were is still the question. Play this one while you are away on your vacation. Running time, 70 minutes. Played September 1-2-3.—Philip Bissell Shaver, Henry Theatre, Henry, Ill. Urban, rural patronage.

HERITAGE OF THE DESERT: Randolph Scott—Another one of Paramount's Zane Grey westerns that seemed to please our midweek bargain show fans. Recording on film was excellent. Business was only average. This same picture here three years ago would have packed the house. Played October 11-12.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE: Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields—A picture with a lot of entertainment packed into it by well-known stars of radio, stage and screen. Only the title doesn't mean a thing. You will have to use your own methods of selling this one. Play up some favorite star. Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 11-12.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

ISLAND OF LOST SOULS: Charles Laughton—A horror picture, but it drew good business.—Avece T. Waldren, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

KING OF THE JUNGLE: Buster Crabbe—Great. It brought them in, and entertained them after they came in. A good small town picture. Running time, 74 minutes. Played September 20-21.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

KING OF THE JUNGLE: Frances Dee, Buster Crabbe—Picture thoroughly pleased our patrons, with outstanding bargain nights business.—Avece T. Waldren, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

MAN OF THE FOREST: Randolph Scott, Verna Hillie—This is an excellent western picture, based on the story by Zane Grey. This is a story of the northwest and seems to be very popular. This is something different and was well liked here. Business considerably better than usual and everybody well pleased. By all means play it. Paramount does not make many westerns, but when they do, they are good ones. Running time, 63 minutes. Played October 14.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MIDNIGHT CLUB: George Raft, Clive Brook—Too much "English" talk, also the public is tired of gangster pictures. Pleased only about 60%. Drew big crowd due to beauty contest staged. Played September 29.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MIDNIGHT CLUB: Clive Brook, George Raft—Interesting crook drama. Both stars well liked and Helen Vinson as well as Alison Skipworth did not lower the entertainment value in the least. Played October 8-9.—Horn & Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. Small town patronage.

MYSTERIOUS RIDER, THE: Kent Taylor—Good business and good picture.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

PHANTOM PRESIDENT, THE: George M. Cohan, Claudette Colbert, Jimmy Durante—Another good picture. Business slightly off, probably on account of title.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

PICK UP: Sylvia Sidney, George Raft—Dated this with Paramount short "Snow White" and RKO "Century of Progress." Patrons liked feature and business was excellent, due probably to extra draw of the shorts, which we had advertised heavily. Played October 1-3.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—Everybody knows by this time that Mae has "something." She's box office. Just saw "I'm No Angel," and while I realize the picture is putting wonderful grosses in the first-runs, I believe there is going to be a little disappointment to patrons. It looks like a straight program picture excepting the courtroom scene at the end.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—This was my second time of running this one and I grossed bigger than my first run. I'd run it again if I could get an open date in the very near future. Running time, 62 minuptes. Played October 6-7.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—We passed up this attraction because we did not think it advisable for family patronage. We had requests from some of the fans to book it. We advertised that we didn't think it was suitable for children and that the picture was a little "hot." As a result, we did the best business of the year, but the picture didn't please too well. Played October 21.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—Art is art and me for art. Came when we needed it but did not stay long enough. Give this your whole advertising budget and don't worry, you can make out a new one after the smoke clears away. This will get them all. The good ones to get "shocked," the bad ones come to get a thrill, and they all stay for two shows. Play it if you have to mortgage your balcony. Running time, 92 minutes. Played September 22-23-24.—Philip Bissell Shaver, Henry Theatre, Henry, Ill. Urban, rural patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott, Tom Keene—A great western story for both young and old alike. It is a strange thing how we of the west just love tales of the west. Well liked here. Did good with it on week-end bill. Running time, 66 minutes. Played October 6-7.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—Good comment and well liked. Different. Misses being big. Will stand extra effort. Running time, 82 minutes. Played October 15-17.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

THIS DAY AN AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—A great picture for high school consumption. A very excellent production without any drawing power. Everyone that saw it liked it.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

THREE CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert—Somewhat different but a very pleasing picture. Will get a laugh from "frozen face" and that's something. Running time, 77 minutes. Played October 11-12.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—Will draw extra business. Very good and entertaining but somehow doesn't click as did "College Humor." Running time, 77 minutes. Played October 8-11.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie—A production that was well liked and brought a lot of favorable comment. Running time, 75 minutes. Played October 8-10.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby—This is one grand picture. Lots of swell music, good comedy and a bunch of pretty girls. Drew better than average business and pleased everyone. Worthy of your best playing dates. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 21-22.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—A picture that drew exceptionally well and pleased all. Business way above average. Claudette Colbert very good in this. Can stand extra exploitation. Running time, 72 minutes. Played October 15-17.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Don't let the title mislead you. Tie up with all Catholic organizations. The picture will make you proud of your theatre. "Colbert" is new, different, and gives it all for "Dear old Torch Singer." Played this when weather was just what you would order. Personally and professionally the picture was all you could ask for. Running time. 81 minutes. Played October 6-7-8. —Philip Bissell Shaver, Henry Theatre, Henry, Ill. Urban, rural patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—This is absolutely the best picture that Claudette Colbert ever appeared in. In fact it's the best one from Paramount for a long time. If this doesn't make Colbert one of the best stars in the business, nothing ever will. Boost it hard and your patrons will not be disappointed. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 5-6. —R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM: Stuart Erwin—Picture satisfactory, but business down due to pre-school starting day apparently.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

WILD HORSE MESA: Randolph Scott, Sally Blane—This is a good western picture and it will please your Saturday crowd. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 21.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

WOMAN ACCUSED, THE: Cary Grant, Nancy Carroll—Pretty good business, but to me the picture did not seem real. Played October 8-10.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

TO ESTES AND ESTES: AN EARLY RETURN!

Mates, we propose as a theme song for "What the Picture Did for Me" a composition by Caroline Hart Estes. And its title, "Lonely," expresses the feeling of exhibitor contributors, now that Estes and Estes have found it advisable to close their Merry Land theatre at Addison, Mich., due to lack of patronage.

Says the Addison Courier, with a fine touch of appreciation of the Estes contribution to the happiness of the community:

"It is hoped the picture house won't remain closed long. We need every cent possible kept in this community, whether for the movie, the school, the stores and markets, the churches and Sunday schools. . . . Every time you go out of town for entertainment . . . just stop and think, am I honestly doing right by my people and myself?"

Principal

TARZAN THE FEARLESS: Buster Crabbe—This is the first Tarzan that I have run and I think it is very good and should take where they like their jungle pictures. Buster Crabbe as Tarzan is very good. In this town the girls like Buster's form. Both the adults and children came to see Tarzan. This picture has an ending to it so that does not make it bad for the exhibitor. Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 15-16-17.—William Dabb, Lyric Theatre, Shenandoah, Pa. General patronage.

RKO

BED OF ROSES: Constance Bennett, Joel McCrea—Her best picture for some time. Here is a real actress if the producers would only pick a favorable story for her. Was rather surprised in receiving average business. because this star has never drawn here since she made "Common Clay" for Fox several years ago. Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 14-15.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

BIG BRAIN, THE: George E. Stone, Fay Wray—Did not make film rental on this. It's a good picture, however, but did not pull them in. Running time, 70 minutes. Played September 27-28.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

BIRD OF PARADISE: Dolores Del Rio, Joel McCrea—Excellent picture with splendid midweek business. Played September 13-14.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

BLIND ADVENTURE: Robert Armstrong—A nice mystery picture that was thoroughly enjoyed. Not big but pleasing. Running time, 60 minutes. Played October 13-14.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

FLYING DEVILS: Ralph Bellamy, Arline Judge, Bruce Cabot, Eric Linden—If you like aeroplane thrills, this has it. Running time, 62 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

FLYING DEVILS: Arline Judge, Bruce Cabot—It's a flying airplane picture from start to finish. I do believe the public have had enough of this class of pictures and for me I do hope I will never have to play another one.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

HOLD 'EM JAIL: Edna May Oliver, Wheeler and Woolsey—Good bargain night business. Picture pretty good.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Charles Ruggles, Phil Harris—One of the best musicals we have run this season, and that is saying plenty, because we have run a lot of musical pictures. Pleased every one who saw it, and we had a fair crowd. Roads bad, however, due to being under construction, and we depend on about 70% of our business from out of town. Running time, 70 minutes. Played September 29-30.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

MIDSHIPMAN JACK: Bruce Cabot, Betty Furness—A very pleasing program picture. Everybody liked it.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn, Adolphe Menjou—Hepburn in our opinion is one of the world's greatest stars, but the picture is just so much film. Some of our patrons raved about it, and others thought it poor. It's a funny world. Running time, 73 minutes. Played October 8-9-10.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—Fair entertainment. Dix plays his part well. Running time, 72 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

PENGUIN POOL MURDER: Edna May Oliver—Believe this would please where Edna May Oliver is popular. It pleased here.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SAILOR BE GOOD: Jack Oakie, Vivienne Osborne—Poor picture with poor sound. Pulled after one show. —Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

STATE'S ATTORNEY: John Barrymore—Bargain night business dropped. Picture was all right. Played September 27-28.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

RKO-Pathe

WHAT PRICE HOLLYWOOD?: Constance Bennett—Old but drew nicely on Bargain Night. Played October 18-19.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

YOUNG BRIDE: Helen Twelvetrees—Fair bargain night business. Picture fair. Played October 11-12.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

Tiffany

BRANDED MEN: Ken Maynard—Do not remember anything about the picture, but books show we had grand kid business. Played August 17-18.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

United Artists

KID FROM SPAIN, THE: Eddie Cantor—Cannot give a fair report on this, as we had the weather against us. Also bad roads, due to roads being under construction. Running time, 90 minutes. Played September 10-11-12.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SECRETS: Mary Pickford, Leslie Howard—This is a wonderful picture, expertly directed, and the acting is excellent. It is a romantic drama, beginning in a New England seaport and covering a period of fifty years to end in the nation's capital, Washington. If Mary Pickford plays a few more stories like this one, she should regain her lost popularity. A little old, but still a good business getter. Running time, 90 minutes. Played October 16-17.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Universal

ALL AMERICAN, THE: Richard Arlen—We did not buy our Universal pictures in time to run this last fall, so saved it till football season opened this year. It is splendid. One patron said it was the best football picture he had seen since "The Quarterback." Drew good. Played September 22-23.—A. N. Niles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

BIG CAGE, THE: Clyde Beatty, Anita Page—Picture drew different patrons and made slightly over average gross. It pleased.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

DON'T BET ON LOVE: Lew Ayres, Ginger Rogers —Good picture with better than average draw. Pleased. Played September 27-28.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

FIDDLIN' BUCKAROO: Ken Maynard—Good western picture. Drawing power fine. Played October 12-13-14.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

FOURTH HORSEMAN, THE: Tom Mix—Tom Mix still draws well in our theatre and these Universals have been well made.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts —About the usual from these stars. Business fair. Running time, 70 minutes. Played October 19-20-21.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH! BABY: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Uncle Carl's "Straight from the shoulder Folks" will lead you to believe this to be one of the greatest comedies ever released. There's hardly a laugh in the whole picture. This pair have slipped badly on their last two pictures.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo, Lillian Miles, Roger Pryor—Good musical comedy. We billed it heavy but for some unknown reason failed to draw. This new star Lillian Miles is plenty good. She should play in more pictures. Played October 4-5.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Roger Pryor—Worked hard on this picture for a good opening but couldn't get many out the first night. However those who did come liked it very much and consequently had a splendid matinee and night business the second day, which made total receipts fairly good. The picture will live up to everything said about it. Played September 25-26.—A. N. Niles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Roger Pryor, Leo Carrillo—Absolutely the best musical in my opinion ever made and I have seen them all the way from the first "Gold Diggers" to the last. Maybe I'm going "nuts' but I sat through this picture four times and I as a rule can't sit through over about one a month. I did not give this show a break in regards to publicity that it deserved but even at that business was splendid. Had I given it the publicity that I gave "42nd Street" I believe it would have outdrawn it. In conclusion, brothers, let me say that if you haven't played it buy it right now and step on it and grab yourself a little money. More power to you and Uncle Carl. Played September 21-22.—Tom Fleming, Alimar Theatre, Live Oak, Florida. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—Here is a real production. It has everything and we heartily recommend it. Owing to rain on both nights, our business was disappointing. Played October 18-19.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

PRIVATE JONES: Lee Tracy—Business average, but again they come out squawking about the picture's ending. Everything would have been fine if they had worked out a promise of romance for Tracy at the end. Played October 22-24.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

REBEL, THE: Vilma Banky—Very good picture, wonderful scenery. Running time, 71 minutes.—E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City. General patronage.

TERROR TRAIL, THE: Tom Mix—This an average Mix picture and seemed to please the majority of the western fans. Believe picture would have been more satisfactory if it had had one or two more reels in length. Picture seemed very short. Running time, 60 minutes. Played October 18-19.—M. F. Bodwell. Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

TERROR TRAIL, THE: Tom Mix—Tom Mix still has the western fans with him. He was a little better than usual, owing to a more suitable part. Business above the average. Played October 14.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

Warner

CAPTURED: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Disappointed in this one. It's a gatling gun shoot 'em up war picture and we all are fed up on this class of pictures. Tonight was our 16th anniversary in the theatre business and we got a feeling we would celebrate, so we went out with circulars in each hand riding on trains from town to towns and in automobiles for the country trade and they did come. Our admission was lowered and they brought the kids and the kids brought them, but the picture shot them to pieces. Won't do it any more unless we know our picture.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

GIRL MISSING: Ben Lyon, Mary Brian—This picture is truly excellent. Worthy to be called a big society special. Folks, I am sold on Warner-First National pictures. I do honestly believe that they will never be contented until they are the winning gamecock and stand on the top round on the high ladder and crow as the biggest winners in the best pictures.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

GIRL MISSING: Ben Lyon, Mary Brian—A good mystery story with a girl this time furnishing the brains to discover the solution, and the comedy too. A good light drama, nothing outstanding but entertaining nevertheless. Running time, 71 minutes. Played October 11-12.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Warren William, Joan Blondell, Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Here is the big draw of the year. I hesitated a long time before I signed up for this 50% arrangement, but I came out as well on it as I would have on anything else. Ran it an extra day. Had overflowing houses on Sunday and Monday and the house over half full the third day. It is a wonderful show. Much better than "42nd Street." For the benefit of those who wonder what it is doing in small towns, let me say that it drew for 30 miles in every direction and we had more paid admissions than on any one show in the history of this theatre, which runs ten years back. Runing time, 90 minutes. Played September 17-18-19.—Edith Fordyce, Princess Theatre, Selma, La. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL: James Cagney—It's a story of a New York training school for tough boys. Can't see why they call it "Mayor of Hell." It is not the picture I expected. James Cagney has always been a drawing card at my theatre, but in this picture in a way he is not the hard boiled star as most all my crowd expected to see.—Walter Odom, Sr., Dixie Theatre, Durant, Miss. General patronage.

NARROW CORNER, THE: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. —This is a very good picture of the South Sea Islands. If the tragedy had been omitted, it would have added considerably to the entertainment value. The acting is excellent and the settings are good, but a tragic ending spoiled the whole picture. We played this one day to a good business, as the story was well known in our town. Running time, 71 minutes. Played October 11.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

RIDE HIM COWBOY: John Wayne—A good western that pleases the western crowd.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

TELEGRAPH TRAIL, THE: John Wayne—Good picture and very good business. Used their trailer. Played September 15-16.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

VOLTAIRE: George Arliss—A splendid picture and good business, but think my people like him better in lighter role. Business good. Running time, 73 minutes. Played October 9-10-11.—Beatty & Johnston, Crescent Theatre, Red Deer, Alberta, Canada. Small town and rural patronage.

WORKING MAN, THE: George Arliss—A good picture by the most polished of actors. This is the first Arliss picture that has brought money into our box office, and it is a good picture all the way through. It was a real treat to run a picture without any dirt or filth in it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played October 6-7.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

COME ON TARZAN: Ken Maynard—Picture drew well and pleased thoroughly. Played October 20-21.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

BARNYARD BROADCAST: Mickey Mouse—A musical cartoon. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

CURSE OF A BROKEN HEART, THE: Not so hot. I just don't care for these Sunrise Comedies. They make a play on the old silent pictures and the younger folks can't appreciate them. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY IN AFRICA: John P. Medbury—Pleased.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

MINSTREL SHOW, THE: Krazy Kat—A really good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

SAY IT ISN'T SO: Richey Craig, Jr.—A slapstick comedy that will get by.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

SCREEN SNAPSHOT: An unusually good snapshot, showing boat racing of the stars and several close-ups that were good. My patrons like these series very much. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

SEEING STARS: Krazy Kat—Excellent on any program, any time, anywhere.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TECHNORACKET: Scrappy Cartoon—Another very good cartoon from Columbia. Most all of Columbia's single-reel shorts are good, but their two-reelers are terrible.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

Educational

BIG SQUEAL, THE: Andy Clyde—In a class with better grade comedies.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

GLAD RAGS TO RICHES: Baby Burlesks—We get a good many favorable comments on these baby stars. When little Shirley Temple sings "Bird in the Gilded Cage" it is just too darn cute for words. Running time, one reel.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HOT HOOFS: Moran and Mack—Here are the colored boys at a race track, and how they lose and win their money is a good big laugh. Running time, two reels.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

KRAKATOA: Excellent. Some may not care for it, but better-class patrons will. Tie up with your school. —D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SAWDUST SIDELIGHTS: Hodge-Podge—A very interesting reel of a circus in winter quarters with splendid air trapeze acts, and animal stunts. Grown folks enjoyed it as much as the children. Running time, one reel.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

Fox

MOTOR MANIA: For thrills you can't beat this.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

MGM

ALLEZ OOP: Sport Champion—A novelty acrobatic act that is different. Pleased, but would not want any more.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

FLIP'S LUNCHROOM: Flip the Frog—One of the best Flips we have had. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Mining town patronage.

MUSH AND MILK: Our Gang—A very funny gang comedy. Sound OK.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MUSH AND MILK: Our Gang—One of their best. —D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Paramount

AIN'T SHE SWEET: Lillian Roth—Good.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

BALANCE: Sports Eye View—Don't pass up this interesting sport reel. One of the most thrilling released.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

BARBER, THE: W. C. Fields—No one else has a brand of comedy just like Fields, so if your patrons like him, they will like this. Running time, 2 reels. —A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

BLUE OF THE NIGHT: Bing Crosby—Our patrons told us that this one was about the best two-reeler we have run this season. Recording good. Running time, 18 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

BUNDLE OF BLUES, A: Duke Ellington—A fine single-reel band act with singing and dancing. Use your best days.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

CAPTAIN HENRY'S RADIO SHOW: Shows the Show Boat Company on the radio. Radio people should stay on the radio and out of pictures. Music fine and will please, but they can not act. If there are any good lookers on the radio, they are not in this reel.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

DADDY KNOWS BEST: Walter Catlett—A good comedy of the bedroom type, more suitable for adults, but it is good for a lot of laughs. Running time, 20 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

DADDY KNOWS BEST: Walter Catlett—This is one of the best two-reel comedies we have played from Paramount this season. Plenty of laughs and good entertainment. Will make a good filler on any program. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

DOWN BY THE OLD MILL STREAM: Funny Boners—Another extra good Screen Song. Only wish

I could get my folks to sing. Running time, one reel. —A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

HUSBAND'S REUNION: This comedy is full of laughs from start to finish. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

IS MY PALM READ: Betty Boop—Good as usual. All Betty Boop cartoons have been good this season. Running time, 8 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

JAZZ A LA CUBA: Don Aspiazu—Very good Cuban band number. Running time, one reel.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

JAZZ A LA CUBA: Don Aspiazu and Orchestra—This is something like a musical travelogue. The music is furnished by Don Aspiazu and his orchestra, while showing a few scenes of Cuba. The specialty dance of the Rhumba at the end is good and will create some comment. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MEET THE CHAMP: Walter Catlett, Eugene Pallette—Fairly good comedy. Recording bad. Running time, 21 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

OLD MAN OF THE MOUNTAINS: Cab Calloway—Above the average Betty Boop. OK for any day.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL: No. 1—This is one of the best shorts we have run. It has some shots in color which are superb. Also has Duke Ellington's band and Cab Calloway's band. This reel drew a lot of favorable comments. Book it by all means.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

PEANUT VENDOR, THE: Screen Song—Terrible. Running time, 9½ minutes. —A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

STOOPNOCRACY: Stoopnagle and Budd—Good one-reeler. The little negro is a knockout.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SWEET COOKIE: Just a fair two-reel comedy. Will get by. Running time, 18 minutes.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

RKO

CENTURY OF PROGRESS: Were we surprised? You bet. We broke our house record on a two-reel picture. Advertised this above the feature, and people who could not go to the fair came from miles around to see it. We had to turn some away on account of limited seating capacity. Running time, 19 minutes. —A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

GAY NIGHTIES, THE: Clarke and McCullough—While this is not exactly a Sunday School comedy, still it is not in the sloppy class by any means. Those who read between the lines can get out of it what they wish, while the decent class will see only the funny part. It brought forth laughs and that is what we want to hear. Running time, 20 minutes.— A. H. Edwards, Orpheum Theatre, Orwigsburg, Pa. Small town and rural patronage.

HEAVE TWO: Rather surprised. We did get a fair comedy from RKO. This is somewhat unusual.—M. F. Bodwell, Paramount Theatre, Wyoming, Ill. Small town patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark and McCullough—Nothing to write home about. Old gags and the usual smut. It got a few laughs from the children. Running time, 19 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

KICKING THE CROWN AROUND: Clark & McCullough—Up to average. Our audience likes Clark & McCullough and they keep the house in a roar.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MICKEY'S APE MAN: Mickey McGuire—Uproarious laughter greeted this. All the kids who could stayed to see it three times.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SILVERY MOON: Fable—A cute little cartoon. Running time, 7 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

VENICE VAMP: Fable—A good cartoon. RKO seem to be getting better musical scores into their cartoons. This one was exceptionally good.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

United Artists

FATHER NOAH'S ARK: Silly Symphony—These Disney shorts are great. We actually bill them ahead of our feature. Use three-sheets when available, special advertising, and we believe that they bring us as many patrons as the feature. The musical score in this one is great. Running time, 8 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

READ THEIR REPORTS IN THIS ISSUE

Joining the steadily widening ranks of reporters to "What the Picture Did for Me" are these exhibitors, from the South, Midwest and East:

Tom Fleming, Alimar Theatre, Live Oak, Florida.

Philip Bissell Shaver, Henry Theatre, Henry, Illinois.

E. W. Gould, Costello Theatre, New York City.

FLOWERS AND TREES: Silly Symphony—This is an excellent one-reeler, done in color and with plenty of music. This is the best cartoons we have played from United Artists and here's hoping there are many more to follow this. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LULLABY LAND: Silly Symphony—Another excellent colored cartoon. If they do not like these, they do not know what life is.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

PIED PIPER: Silly Symphony—Another great colored cartoon. Pleases everybody and the kiddies just burst with delight.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

PUPPY LOVE: Mickey Mouse—One of the best Mickey Mouse reels we have ever run.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

Universal

FAMILY TROUBLES: Personally thought this a very poor comedy, but the audience seemed to like it. Running time, 21 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

GOFFYTONE NEWS: No. 2—Over my head, and over the heads of my audience. I did not think it even amusing, let alone funny. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

HIS FIRST CASE: Vince Barnett—Very poor comedy. Too much dark photography.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

QUIET NIGHT, A: Good rough-and-tumble slapstick comedy. Pleased for Friday and Saturday. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

TRIAL OF VINCE BARNETT: Vince Barnett—Good comedy. Running time, 21 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

BOSKO IN PERSON: Looney Tune—Kids not so pleased with this one. Grownups liked it.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

BOSKO, THE DRAWBACK: Looney Tune—Good cartoon. Play it during football season. Running time, 6 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

BOSKO, THE SHEEP-HERDER: Looney Tune—A good cartoon. A little above the average.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

BUZZIN' AROUND: Fatty Arbuckle—A splendid comedy. The crowd just ate it up. OK. Running time, 19 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

C'EST PARIS: This is one of the best colored shorts I have seen for a long time. Has some good comedy, singing and dancing, to say nothing of the music. One hundred per cent entertainment. Running time, 17 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

DOUBLE-CROSSING OF COLUMBUS, THE: Charles Judels—Another Broadway Brevity number. Not up to standard. Only fair entertainment. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

FIFI: Broadway Brevity—This is supposed to be a musical comedy, but fails miserably. My advice is leave it in the can.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

FISHERMEN'S HOLIDAY: Pepper Pot—This is a very interesting and educational one-reeler of the Pepper Pot series. Showing many scenes that were originally shown in "Tiger Shark," but, just the same, they were good and our audience liked it. Running time, 9 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HOT COMPETITION: Melody Master—We thought it just a space filler, with English comic song boresome.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

IF I'M ELECTED: Pepper Pot—Vitaphone can make some of the best shorts and also some of the poorest ones. This one is poor.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

LITTLE WHITE LIES: Pepper Pot—A good short subject and some lying. We liked it here. Running time, 1 reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

NAGGERS' ANNIVERSARY, THE: These Naggers are usually fair, but our public does not care much about them, nor have I ever heard any other show patron who cared about them.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

NORTHERN EXPOSURE: Broadway Brevity—Another color musical. Not as good as "Pleasure Island," but will get by and please on any program.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

PLEASURE ISLAND: Broadway Brevity—Good musical comedy in colors. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

POOR LITTLE RICH BOY: Phil Baker—Extra good musical comedy. Will improve any program. Running time, 17 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

POOR LITTLE RICH BOY: Phil Baker—Pretty good.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SHANTY WHERE SANTA CLAUS LIVES: Merry Melody—Pleased.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melody—Very good. All Warner's cartoons are good. Running time, 9 minutes.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

SMASH YOUR BAGGAGE: Melody Master—Good. —Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

THAT GOES DOUBLE: Russ Columbo—This is a very good musical comedy of the Broadway Brevity series. Plenty of music and, although the story is rather dull, should please the majority. Columbo should help draw extra business, so bill him on your program. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TIP-TAP-TOE: Hal LeRoy, Mitzi Mayfair—Great. Nothing better made. Get behind this one. Running time, 19 minutes.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

WAY OF ALL FRESHMEN: Hal LeRoy, Mitzi Mayfair—This two-reel musical comedy has everything, comedy, pretty girls, good music. Better than a lot of features. Play it and see. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

WE'RE IN THE MONEY: Merry Melody—One of the very best cartoons we have played lately. Pleased every one. Running time, 7 minutes.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

YACHT PARTY, THE: Melody Master—Good.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family patronage.

Serials

Universal

CLANCY OF THE MOUNTED: Tom Tyler—Only fair. It seems impossible to find a good serial with drawing power now. It looks like the day of serials has passed.—J. O. Smith, Dixie Theatre, Lineville, Ala. Small town patronage.

CLANCY OF THE MOUNTED: Tom Tyler, Jacqueline Wells—We have just finished this serial, and it's Okay. Had a steady Saturday matinee business for every episode.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

PHANTOM OF THE AIR: Tom Tyler—I have just started this one and if it keeps up all through the same as when it started, it is going to be good. I am running it as a matinee attraction and the children like it. Running time, 20 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C.

PHANTOM OF THE AIR: Tom Tyler—Have just run the first episode, and if it keeps up at the pace it starts with, it will be mighty good.—A. B. Jefferis, New Piedmont Theatre, Piedmont, Mo. Rural and small town patronage.

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 197.—(A) Quote the law that deals with light intensity at different distances from an open light source. (B) By what simple demonstration, available to every projectionist, is it possible to prove the correctness of this law? (C) Explain the action illustrated in figure 27-A, page 126, volume 1, of the Bluebook as applied to light-collecting power of condenser collector lens or mirror. (D) Name and describe the various elements of the projector optical train.

Answer to Question No. 190

Bluebook School Question No. 190 was: (A) Describe details of construction of test lamp equipment for use on 110-220 volt system; also one for straight 110-, and one for 220-volt circuits. (B) Using a test lamp, one wire of which is permanently grounded, tell us how you would test, for example, your motion picture projector lamp. How would you test a 110-volt circuit you suspected? (C) Tell us what you yourself consider the most practical method of testing projection equipment for grounds, and why. (D) Were you testing one of your projector lamps, would you first disconnect the ground wire, or would you not? Why?

The following made good: C. Rau and S. Evans; G. E. Doe; D. Danielson; B. Doe; W. Ostrum; J. Wentworth; H. Edwards; T. Van Vaulkenburg; K. Dowling; H. H. Menefee; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; L. Hendershot and R. Rubin; D. L. Howard; L. F. Evans; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; P. N. Thomas; L. M. Oglesby and Son; D. M. Banks and L. Summers; H. R. Baldwin and W. T. Soare; D. R. Peters and D. Holler; T. N. Williams and R. S. Allen; G. Garrison and E. Harlor; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; O. L. Evans; G. Tinlin; H. C. Lake; T. Kelley and C. Cummings; B. L. Tanner and E. Rymer; C. D. Carmody; S. Carberry; T. H. and J. N. Williams; R. MacDonald; G. Wayne and L. D. Stellegos; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; H. D. Schofield; H. Schontz and T. R. Richards; D. L. Sinklow; G. C. Cottrel and H. Cogen; E. F. Griffin and L. C. Abrams; G. Farmann; A. Sarno and H. G. Roth; D. C. Coates, F. T. Darnella, W. Tolman and H. Jameson; B. L. Banning and L. Jones; P. Jackson and B. Diglah; L. H. Danville and R. H. Patterson; P. L. Wheeler and M. Scully; R. D. Lynn and L. G. Lamb; P. H. Garrison and G. H. Henderson; E. and L. H. Munroe; W. and S. F. Love; C. H. Blaum; T. S. Raymond; D. L. Mason and J. T. Ballinger; C. Reed; D. U. Granger; P. R. Dual; R. Suler and R. Wheeler; E. V. Samuels; B. Ilers; S. L. Steinway; K. Irwin.

As to Section A, we will listen to W. Ostrum, whose answer is both correct and very well worded. He says:

"The details of construction of test lamp equipment for use on 110-220-volt, three-wire system are: Connect two sockets, each containing a 110-volt incandescent lamp, by a short wire. Attach two wires of ample size and any convenient length to the two remaining binding posts of the sockets and splice a third wire to the short connecting wire. Use the two wires connected directly to the sockets for testing across the two outside wires of the circuit, thus using both lamps in series, and use the third wire and either of the other two wires for testing from neutral to either outside wire (thus using only one lamp). For a test lamp for straight 110, simply connect two wires of ample size and any convenient length to a socket containing a 110-volt incandescent lamp. A test lamp for 220-volt circuits is exactly the same as one for 110-volt circuits except that the socket contains a 220-volt lamp."

I have used Friend Ostrum's answer because it was, in the matter of understandable description, better than any one of the hundreds of others. But following what is printed he made a very bad break, for he added, "Also, the wires will have to be large enough to carry 220 volts without overload, instead of only 110." I think he really knew better.

(B) This one is best answered by C. Rau and S. Evans, as follows: "Using a test lamp, one wire of which is permanently grounded, the projector ground wire is first disconnected, then the free wire from the permanently grounded test lamp is touched to the projector lamp frame. If there is a spark, or the test lamp lights, it is evident that one of the carbon arms is grounded to the lamp frame. If this happens when the arc lamp is connected across the neutral and one of the two outside wires of an Edison three-wire system, it is evident that it is the wire connected to the outside wire which is grounded because the neutral is already intentionally grounded. If the arc lamp is not on an Edison three-wire system, it will be necessary to disconnect one of the leads to the lamp to find out which carbon arm is really grounded. With one lead disconnected, the free wire from the test lamp is again touched to the lamp frame and if the test lamp again lights the trouble is evidently in the "live" carbon arm; if it does not light, then the trouble, of course, must be in the carbon arm which has been disconnected.

"The method of testing for grounds in apparatus attached to a 110-volt circuit is similar to above, always remembering to be certain whether the 110-volt circuit is part of an Edison three wire system, or an insulated system. If it is part of an Edison three-wire system it must be remembered that one of the 110-volt wires will be the neutral and thus intentionally grounded."

(C) H. H. Menefee says, "I would consider the magneto test best, but to the projectionist the permanently grounded test lamp is most practical, for the reason that whereas the magneto is ordinarily not easily available, the test lamp may be constructed by any projectionist from material available in any theatre. Its operation is easily understood and it is easily applied, hence it leaves no excuse for not making the tests several times a week or for that matter every day."

I would add this caution: Always be certain your ground connection is perfect. Merely wrapping the wire around a gas or water pipe is not enough. Clean the pipe surface thoroughly, heat the metal with a blow-torch and solder the wire to the pipe.

(D) J. Wentworth says, "Using a test lamp, the ground wire must be disconnected or the test will be very unreliable, the ground supplying a path of less resistance than that of the lamp filament. Using a magneto, it would make no difference whether the ground wire were connected or not, as the test then is not to ground, but directly from pole to pole of the magneto through the weak insulation spot. Put in another form, by any method, testing to ground through resistance, the ground wire should be disconnected."

ALLIED PRINTING TRADES UNION LABEL COUNCIL NEW YORK CITY

Hold Loew Stock Sale a Formality

Sale of the 660,900 shares of Loew's, Inc., stock by the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, scheduled to take place November 27, was described last week by David N. Bernstein, Loew treasurer, as a formality procedure under which holders of the defaulted $20,000,000 bond issue of Film Securities Corporation will acquire the stock.

The transaction would thus result neither in a change of stock control of Loew's, nor in disposing of the shares on the market, it is indicated, in the event the sale is approved by Federal Judge John C. Knox, before whom the transaction is scheduled for hearing November 15.

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of the theatre receipts for the calendar week ended October 28, 1933, from 111 houses in 18 major cities of the country, reached $1,235,022, a decrease of $196,286 from the total gross for the preceding calendar week, ended October 21, when 118 theatres in 19 cities reported an aggregate intake of $1,431,308.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"My Woman" (Col.)	21,500	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	20,000	High 10-28 "My Woman"	21,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (W. B.) and "Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	16,500	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) and "Flaming Gold" (Radio)	9,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"My Weakness" (Fox)	19,000	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	20,000	High 1-7 "No Other Woman"	21,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	20,000	"Bombshell" (MGM)	19,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	32,500	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	32,000	High 6-24 "College Humor"	41,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (W. B.) and "Worst Woman Paris?" (Fox)	10,500	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) and "Flaming Gold" (Radio)	10,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	16,200	"My Weakness" (Fox)	14,100	High 2-25 "State Fair"	24,800
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	5,900	"Captured" (W. B.)	5,500	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 5-13 "Grand Slam" and "Past of Mary Holmes"	4,200
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"Turn Back the Clock" (MGM)	11,100	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	9,300	High 10-14 "Mary Stevens, M.D."	22,300
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,800	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week)	13,100	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	7,000	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	6,700	High 9-23 "Lady for a Day"	10,000
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions"	5,000
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	50,000	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	52,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Stage Mother" (MGM)	11,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (2nd week)	12,500	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	30,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	40,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,600
							Low 10-7 "The Power and the Glory"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Ace of Aces" (Radio)	25,500	"My Woman" (Col.)	25,500	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	9,800	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	9,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	15,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week)	26,500	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	3,000	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) and "Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (2nd week) (25c-40c)	3,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "West of Singapore"	7,500
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hanna	1,500	30c-40c	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel)	7,500	.....		.....
Hippodrome	3,800	35c-60c	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox) (25c-40c)	14,000	"East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.) (Sat. midnite show $1.20 top)	30,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Rafter Romance" (Radio)	23,000	"My Woman" (Col.)	18,400	High 10-28 "Rafter Romance"	23,000
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	6,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	24,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	20c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	9,000	"Golden Harvest" (Para.) and "Discarded Lovers" (Tower) (25c-40c)	4,100	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 5-27 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,000
Warner's Lake	800	30c-44c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (8 days) (31c-60c)	10,000	"India Speaks" (RKO and "Headline Shooter" (Radio) (6 days)	2,500	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 8-5 "Heroes for Sale"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-40c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (25c-50c)	5,000	"The Bowery" (U.A.)	6,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	16,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (2nd week-3 days)	5,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
					"To the Last Man" (Para.) (4 days)	4,000	Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	6,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	9,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	14,600
							Low 9-30 "Beauty for Sale"	3,500
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	12,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	14,000	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	2,250	"Stage Mother" (MGM)	3,500	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
							Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Tabor	2,000	20c-25c	"Racetrack" (World Wide)	3,200	.....		.....
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	25c-50c	"My Woman" (Col.)	14,100	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	11,300	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-50c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	6,400	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	10,100	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	16,200	"My Weakness" (Fox)	15,400	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	21,200	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	13,200	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	12,400	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	13,500	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	6,200	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,300	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"I'm No Angel' (Para.) (2nd week)	24,500	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	30,800	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	12.500	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	11,000	Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
							High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	2,500	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	3,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	5,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	10,000	Low 10-7 "My Weakness"	2,000
							High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,300	25c-55c	"Mary Stevens, M.D." (W. B.)	13,000	"One Man's Journey" (Radio)	7,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	4,000			Low 6-10 "Below the Sea"	3,500
							High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 8-26 "Disgraced"	3,500
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	4,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	5,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 7-22 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Ace of Aces" (Radio) (8 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c-50c)	21,000	"The Mayor of Hell" (W. B.)	5,800	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4.000	25c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	9,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	20,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1.800	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week-8 days and Sat. midnite show)	10,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week-7 days and Sat. midnite show)	17,500	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	17,500
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	3,300	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	2,250	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-55c	"Stranger's Return" (MGM) (25c-40c)	2,950	"The Masquerader" (U. A.) (8th week)	1,950	High 8-19 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,800
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	850	40c-50c	"Red Head" (H. Bregstein) (6th week)	1,350	"Red Head" (H. Bregstein) (5th week)	2,250	High 9-23 "Red Head"	3,500
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	12,500	"My Weakness" (Fox)	13,900	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram)	4,100	"This Thing Called Love" (Radio) and "Jack-O-Lantern" (S. R.)	3,800	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Orpheum	2,220	25c-35c	"Secret of the Blue Room" (U.) and "The Last Trail" (Fox)	4,300	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	4,800	High 9-23 (since Sept.) "The Devil's in Love" and "Before Dawn"	4,850
							Low 10-7 "India Speaks" and "Ladies Must Love"	3,350
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	18,500	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	15,500	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	8,100	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (3rd week)	5,200	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	16,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week)	21,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	9,500	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F. N.)	12,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	9,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,640	25c-40c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	3,500	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	3,500	High 4-22 "Secrets"	5,500
							Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	1,500	"This Day and Age" (Para.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 10-7 "Turn Back the Clock"	1,300
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Ace of Aces" (Radio)	6,000	"My Woman" (Col.) and "Savage Gold" (S. R.)	5,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Solitaire Man" (MGM)	6,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	6,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"F. P. 1" (Fox)	1,200	"Fantegutten" "Norwegian) (2nd week)	1,200	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 10-28 "F. P. 1"	1,200
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"Morning Glory" (Radio) and "Flying Devils" (Radio)	10,000	"Her First Mate" (U.) and "Heroes for Sale" (F. N.)	9,000	High 1-21 "Rockabye" and "Trailing the Killer"	12,500
							Low 7-15 "The Silver Cord" and "Professional Sweetheart"	7,500
Imperial	1,914	25c-60c	"Nu Comme Un Ver" (French) (3rd week)	1,500	"Nu Comme Un Ver" (French) (2nd week)	2,000	High 1-7 "Enlevez-Moi" and "Cain"	4,000
							Low 7-8 "Les Bleus d'Amour"	1,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"Captured" (W. B.)	13,000	"Doctor Bull" (Fox)	13,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-85c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	11,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 10-21 "Berkeley Square"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-75c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Devil's Mate" (Monogram) (2nd week)	5.000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Devil's Mate" (Monogram) (1st week)	6,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 8-12 "Whoopee" and "Virtue"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (9th week)	13,203	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (8th week)	11,500	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"The Wandering Jew" (J.A.F.A.)	4,457	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	3,924	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Bombshell" (MGM)	49,735	"Night Flight" (MGM) (2nd week)	28,500	High 8-12 "Another Language"	64,000
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (2nd week-4 days)	3,600	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (1st week)	8,296	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield)	6,400	"Before Dawn" (Radio)	7,700	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F.N.)	7,865	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	12,091	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	68,200	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	83,450	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"Headline Shooter" (Radio)..	8,500	"My Woman" (Col.)	8,500	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (4th week)	17,900	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	26,695	High 10-7 "The Bowery"	45,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio)	59,000	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	103,000	High 4-15 "Cavalcade"	107,761
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
RKO Roxy	3,700	25c-55c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) (4 days) "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) (3 days)	12,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (4 days) "Big Executive" (Para.) (3 days)	11,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week Picture	Current Week Gross	Previous Week Picture	Previous Week Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
New York (Continued)
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	22,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	21,500	High 1-7 "No More Orchids"	39,487
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	35c-$1.25	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (3rd week)	20,912	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week)	36,902	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 8-5 "She Had to Say Yes"	10,590
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	3,000	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	3,000	High 9-9 "Three Cornered Moon"	3,700
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	11,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	5,200	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires"	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (4 days)	1,700	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal) (3 days)	1,800	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	3,900
			"Walls of Gold" (Fox) (3 days)	1,300	"Brief Moment" (Col.) (4 days)	1,600	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Victoria	800	10c-26c	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio) (4 days)	600	.....		High 7-1 "King of Jazz"	1,800
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man" and "Disgraced"	1,200
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	20c-35c	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (25c-40c)	6,500	"Bed of Roses" (Radio) (25c-50c)	5,000	.....
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "By Appointment Only" (Chesterfield)	7,500	"My Weakness" (Fox) and "Heroes for Sale" (F. N.)	7,250	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	6,750	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	12,500	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna"	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (25c-50c)	5,250	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) and "Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	5,000	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions" and "Ladies Must Love"	4,750
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week-6 days)	8,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (1st week-6 days)	12,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	12,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet"	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM) (6 days)	1,800	"Horse Feathers" (Para.) (2 days)	600	High 1-14 "Red Dust"	4,000
					"This Day and Age" (Para.) (3 days)	850	Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven"	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (6 days)	10,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (6 days)	10,000	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie"	21,000
							Low 8-5 "Mary Stevens, M.D."	8,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.) (6 days)	10,000	"Golden Harvest" (Para.) (6 days)	15,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise"	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions"	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"Rafter Romance" (Radio) (6 days)	15,000	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox) (6 days)	14,500	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM) (6 days)	3,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.) (6 days)	3,500	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (7 days)	5,000	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) (5 days)	3,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 10-7 "Tarzan the Fearless"	4,500
Locust	1,300	55c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3rd week-6 days)	6,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (2nd week-6 days)	7,000	High 2-11 "Cavalcade"	13,000
							Low 5-6 "The Phantom Broadcast"	4,000
Stanley	3,700	40c-75c	"The Way to Love" (Para.) (6 days)	20,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) (6 days)	18,000	High 6-17 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	27,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) (6 days)	6,000	"Stage Mother" (MGM) (6 days)	6,700	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man"	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	6,000	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM)	5,500	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?"	3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	2,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	2,500	High 10-14 "Torch Singer"	4,500
							Low 2-11 "Central Park"	1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	2,900	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	3,800	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	12,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids"	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Flaming Gold" (Radio)	2,000	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	2,500	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance"	14,000
							Low 8-12 "Double Harness"	1,800
Playhouse	1,600	25c-40c	"The Thirteenth Guest" (Monogram)	1,400	"Silk Express" (W. B.)	3,000	.....
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	5,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) (2nd week)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly"	1,600
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	4,500	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	3,500	High 2-4 "The Kid From Spain"	6,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)	7,000	"Penthouse" (MGM)	5,500	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"The Constant Woman" (World Wide)	3,750	"Curtain at Eight" (Majestic)	4,250	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?"	5,500
Metropolitan	1,800	75c-$1.65	"Farewell to Love" (S. R.) (20c-40c)	3,500	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)	5,000	Low 6-24 "Uptown New York"	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	3,750	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	6,000	.....
Orpheum	2,500	25c-55c	"Three Cornered Moon" (Para.)	6,500	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.) (6 days)	9,000	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	7,500
							Low 4-1 "Perfect Understanding"	3,250
Paramount	3,050	25c-55c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (9 days)	7,000	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (4 days)	2,500	.....
					"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (1st week-3 days)	2,750	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Ladies Must Love" (U.) (25c-75c)	14,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.) (8 days)	6,000	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love"	14,000
							Low 8-26 "The Devil's in Love"	4,000

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

E. W. "Red" Johnson, who used to burn up the league as a film salesman in these parts until a nervous breakdown forced him to take a rest, is now an exhibitor on his own. Johnson has taken over the Empire theatre at McHenry, Ill.

▽

Allied's great mass meeting at the Congress hotel was the big event of last week. Five hundred and seventy-five exhibitors, representing 1,762 theatres, turned out in the Florentine room to hear Allied leaders define the organization's stand on the code and approve a resolution asking the President to appoint an "impartial arbiter" in place of Deputy Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt. From the standpoint of attendance it ranked as one of the largest exhibitor gatherings in recent years.

▽

Madeline Woods, for years in charge of advertising and publicity for Great States Theatres, is the author of a novel, "Scandal House," soon to be published and later made into a motion picture.

▽

It is reported that the grand jury will be asked to look into the fire at the State-Congress following an investigation by deputy state fire marshal George Schivner.

▽

Phil Dunas, Columbia branch manager, is confined to his home with a cold but it is expected he will soon be at his desk.

▽

Jack Miller, Allan Usher, Henry Herbel, Emma Abplanalp and C. E. Strodel, representing Barney Balaban, were among those who participated in the luncheon of the Better Films Council of motion picture chairmen of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, at the Sherman hotel last Monday. Work of the council was reviewed. Forty chairmen were present.

▽

Joseph Kallison is opening the Academy theatre with a policy of vaudeville and pictures.

▽

A lot of folk along the Row had an advance Thanksgiving dinner when Walter Fluegel of the Pekin and Empire theatres, Pekin, Ill., pulled into town after a couple of days of shooting and distributed thirty-two ducks to friends.

▽

The champion, ladies and gentlemen. Herbert Washburn's cocker spaniel had the distinction of carrying away first honors in his class at a dog show.

▽

Exhibitors and folk along the Row had a swell time Saturday night at the house warming marking the opening of new quarters by the Theatre Printing Company at 720 S. Dearborn street.

HOLQUIST

Shamrock's First Ready

Shamrock Pictures Corporation of Detroit announced this week that its first release is nearly ready for distribution. Work on a special short subject, "The Fighting Priest," is under way. B. C. Fassio, Shamrock president, stated the picture deals with the activities of Father Charles E. Coughlin, the noted Detroit radio priest. Golden Arrow Productions are the producers.

In Principal Sales Post

Harry Rathner has been named eastern sales manager of Principal Distributing Corporation. Louis Hyman will remain western sales manager with headquarters at the home office, recently moved to the Coast.

Blumenthal Behind Eddie Dowling Films

A. Pam Blumenthal, who has been interested in numerous motion picture ventures over a period of 15 years, is one of those financially interested in Eddie Dowling Productions, Inc., it was revealed this week. Mr. Blumenthal has been engaged in the brokerage business in Wall street during the past two years.

Mr. Dowling's company, which recently completed "It's a Wise Wife," marking the return of Lillian Gish to the screen and featuring Roland Young, is going ahead with its production schedule. At least a dozen other pictures comprise the company's remaining schedule for 1933-34, all of them being produced at the Eastern Service Studios on Long Island.

ON BROADWAY

Week of October 28

CAPITOL
Out of the Ether ..... Columbia
Dutch Guiana ..... MGM

HOLLYWOOD
Operator's Opera ..... Vitaphone
I Got to Sing a Torch Song. Vitaphone
Exploring the Pacific..... Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Frozen Hell ..... Capitol
Big Benefit ..... Universal

PARAMOUNT
On Ice ..... Paramount
I Yam What I Yam..... Paramount

RIALTO
Paramount Pictorial—No. 4. Paramount
Three Little Swigs..... Paramount
I Like Mountain Music..... Vitaphone

RIVOLI
Steeplechase ..... United Artists
Audition ..... Vitaphone

RKO MUSIC HALL
The Island of Rhodes..... Fox
The Entertainer ..... Columbia
Fable Note ..... RKO Radio

ROXY
The Kick-Off ..... Principal
Mickey's Gala Premiere.... United Artists

STRAND
The Dish Ran Away With the Spoon ..... Vitaphone

RCA Victor Has Dealer Film

The advertising department of the RCA Victor Company has completed a three-reel talking film, "His Master's Voice, the Story of Radio Headquarters." The film is a history of the phonograph, radio and the company. The film will be used by dealers.

MacVeigh Joining Agency

Blake MacVeigh of the Paramount studio publicity department on the Coast, has resigned to return to New York, where he will join a prominent advertising agency.

Warner Men to New Posts

Warner Bros. has sent three new men into foreign posts. They are: Ray Price, to Peru; Joseph G. Mullin, to Buenos Aires, and Clifford E. Almy, to the Far East.

NEWS PICTURES

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 11—Roosevelt speaks to nation—Grid fans get big game thrills—Roosevelt asks Russia to send envoy to United States—Pope blesses Pilgrims in Rome—Al Smith visits World's Fair—Geese face holiday doom calmly in Massachusetts—Marine fliers celebrate Navy Day at Quantico, Va.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 12—Pictures of Germany leaving League of Nations—Graf Zeppelin arrives at Miami—Lindy and Anne to Russia—Poland's dictator reviews his men—Al Smith attends Indian reception in Chicago—President speaks at Chestertown, Md.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 210—Miami welcomes Graf Zeppelin—Al Smith made Indian chief in Chicago—Metrotone snapshots—Scenes of Germany quitting League of Nations—Roosevelt speaks at Washington College—Russians hail Lindy and Anne.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 211—United States warship rammed in fog off California coast—Soviet airmen set new altitude record in Moscow—Army and Navy win in grid war—Air forces stage defense demonstration at San Diego, Cal.—Metrotone snapshots.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 25—Indians make Al Smith Winnebago chief in Chicago—Modernistic motor-train tested in Philadelphia—Byrd leaves Norfolk, Va. for South Pole—United States probes rackets—Wrestling skill of 525-pound boy shown at Dedham, Mass.—Graf Zeppelin reaches United States—Georgia dry leader stands pat on alcohol.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 26—Pittsburgh downs Notre Dame—Senator McAdoo for Soviet recognition—Three die as ships crash at San Francisco—Flashes from everywhere—Boy's plea saves family home at Trenton, N. J.—Theodore Roosevelt's birthday celebrated at San Diego on Navy Day.

PATHE NEWS—No. 26—Roosevelt reports on recovery—Farmers explain strike at Des Moines, Iowa—Pacific fleet in spectacular Navy Day show off California—Rockefeller Center gives Manhattan touch of greenery—Imported African tree bears fruit at Coconut Grove, Fla.

PATHE NEWS—No. 27—Roosevelt delivers address at Chestertown, Md.—Soviet hails Lindys—Kissers block traffic at Bronxville, N. Y.—Graf Zeppelin on United States tour—Mining camp renews activity at Cripple Creek, Col.—Thirteen year old mother becomes bride in France—News flashes.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 192—Graf Zeppelin stops at Miami—Washington College honors Roosevelt—Al Smith made Indian chief in Chicago—Turkeys face axe at Westley, Cal.—Tiny airplane invented at Cincinnati—Lindberghs hailed in Moscow—Wife-kissing banned at Bronxville, N. Y. station.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 193—Stunt planes crash at Amarillo, Texas—Air armada roars over west coast—Mussolini sees police drill in Italy—Soviet fliers in record hop—Graf Zeppelin heads for home—Army beats Yale eleven—New type "railplane" designed at Dearborn, Mich.—Cruiser in mystery crash off California.

Chesterfield Making Musical

Believing that the field for musical comedy in motion pictures is greater today than at any time during the history of tallkers, George R. Batcheller, president of Chesterfield Pictures, began production last week on "Rainbow Over Broadway," which is being filmed at the Mack Sennett studios under the direction of Richard Thorpe. Joan Marsh and Frank Albertson are featured.

Giegerich With Celebrity

Charles J. Giegerich has rejoined Celebrity Pictures, which plans a series of Cinecolor cartoons. Ub Iwerks will do the drawings. Mr. Giegerich is in general charge of the company.

Start Travelogue Recording

Arcturus Pictures Corporation has begun recording of the first of a series of 18 travelogues made in the Mediterranean by F. Herrick Herrick. James Boring, travel expert, heads the company.

McClelland Leaves NBC

George F. McClelland, vice-president in charge of sales for National Broadcasting Company, resigned last week to enter the independent broadcasting field.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

SHOE FITS WHO?

Does every pleasantly situated manager deliver everything he has on the ball to put over his theatre? Do managers working for good bosses show appreciation by the proper devotion to their jobs? Is every manager as careful in the handling of his house as though it were his own?

Nope, your chairman is not asking these questions. They were just a few, among others, propounded by an exhibitor friend in discussion some evenings ago, a gentleman, incidentally, who has earned the reputation of treating his managers with every consideration and of paying them well. He brought up these queries after reading some of our editorials, contending that, in seeking to better managerial welfare, we leaned too far to one side in our battle for justice.

Far be it from us to foster this mistaken opinion. We all realize there are exhibitors who are swell bosses, as there are managers who are found wanting. It would be ridiculous to state that every theatre operator is all wrong, while all employees are bathed in heavenly white. No doubt there are managers who are lying down on the job, and good jobs, too, but from personal observation over a period of many years, we are happy to say the percentage of weak sisters and shirkers is pleasantly small.

Nevertheless, it isn't at all a bad idea for every showman to check up on himself and his work every now and then. A bit of intensive personal inventorying might cut down the number of those whom the "shoe fits" in answer to the above questions.

▽ ▽ ▽

AND WHAT GOOD-WILL

Desirable, indeed, is the exploitation campaign that, while serving its purpose as publicity, attains further status as an invaluable good-will and prestige builder for the good of the industry. United Artists' "Bowery Ball" in New York, a few nights back, for the benefit of the New York American Christmas Fund, is a sparkling instance.

Hal Horne and his crew labored for weeks in arranging the multifarious details, the execution of which resulted in an evening that will be long remembered by the thousands who paid to get in, and appreciated deeply by the Fund workers as well as those they serve. Society leaders, prominents of every classification, stars and all newspapers contributed to make the event outstanding and profitable. A goodly sum was netted, a worthy cause rewarded.

Of course, it was good publicity and, rightly, the picture will feel the box-office results. But the party would not have been so successful were it not tied in with the necessary atmosphere and color the picture background supplied, and without the work of Horne's crew the event could not have gone over as well as it did, if at all.

By such efforts does the motion picture strengthen its community standing and, through the labors of its exploiteers, brings practical relief to the exploited.

▽ ▽ ▽

EVEN WOOLWORTH

Significant are comments from prominent retailers on the necessity of employing higher types of sales staffs to cope with the new selling problems created under the provisions of the NRA. Hard-pressed department heads, charged with increased overhead for salaries and normal increases in prices, are seeking smarter sales people as the only "out" in keeping business up to required levels.

'Sfunny that so many otherwise smart exhibitors should so far fail to see what is most obvious to executives in other lines of business. It seems to be a merchandising truism that in order to get business today the better type of salesman must be employed and paid accordingly. Reports are current that even Woolworth is giving the idea of a higher type of sales person considerable thought.

Application of these profitable methods to theatre operation should show results for exhibitors as well, and competent (though underpaid) managers charged directly with selling the pictures will of necessity return higher box-office dividends.

▽ ▽ ▽

In this issue, we recount with pleasure, the activities of Mrs. Grace Severson, Liberty Theatre, Wolf Point, Idaho, who put over a successful campaign by which farm folk were able to swap produce for tickets. The effective battle of this showwoman against depression is further proof that showmanship is "what you've got," rather than "where you are."

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS

THAT LOOKS GOOD. I'VE GOT SOME MORE STILLS HERE I WANT YOU TO ADD ON YOUR POSTER. SORT OF DRESS IT UP!
LIONEL BARRYMORE
"STRANGERS RETURN"
FRANCHOT TONE
MIRIAM HOPKINS
STARTS SUNDAY

If you've ever been in a spot like this you will get a chuckle out of Don's cartoon.

Warnerites Click On "World Changes"

The launching of what was said to be the first air train consisting of a tri-motored plane towing bannered gliders, was the spectacular idea executed by Charlie Einfeld and his ad crew, in the campaign that marked the opening of Warner's "The World Changes" at the Hollywood, New York City.

As the story of the picture describes the various changes in this country's growth through five generations, an effective lobby exhibit was arranged tracing the progress of invention during this time. In the display were models of the first automobile and today's cars, the first telegraph instrument, early side-wheeler models of trans-Atlantic boats and those of today's ocean liners.

Among other items were electric light displays, a huge revolving globe of the world, early and late typewriters, oil paintings of phases in the country's history, business machines and models of old and new mimeograph machines.

Television was also demonstrated by a girl stationed in one corner of the lobby who wrote a message which was flashed upon the receiving machine some distance away and seen by the crowds in the lobby. This angle was carried out further from Hollywood from where a message of congratulations was flashed to Harry Warner at the theatre.

Girls in the various costumes of the different periods distributed rotogravure sections in the lobby to incoming patrons, who also received mimeographed stencil drawings of Paul Muni, run off on one of the new models. The theatre front was done in copper and black, the copper symbolizing the section of the country in which the action of the picture starts.

Across the street above the Warner Theatre was suspended a huge aluminum sign resembling a balloon, upon which was flashed news and picture bulletins. An effective street bally was an automobile parade of 32 cars, one for each year from 1901 to 1933, and each carrying a passenger dressed accordingly.

Tie-ups with schools and colleges on the historical and educational angles of the picture are being arranged nationally, so that pupils may have the opportunity of close-ups of the periods described in the picture. The above campaign is being arranged for duplication and adaptation in other spots and should aid in putting over the picture.

Costumed Lobby Girls

Dividend Producing Publicity

Smart managers leave nothing undone to strengthen their relations with local editors, and among the many who make this stand-in pay regular dividends is John W. Trewhela, of the Fox Judith, Lewistown, Mont.

From time to time, we receive copies of John's local papers and in every instance we find a nice plug for Trewhela and the theatre. A late issue reproduced almost in full the recent MOTION PICTURE HERALD article by Elmer Rhoden, adding a fulsome tribute to the Barnum-esque character of the local fast moving manager. Of course, John does not depend entirely on his newspapers in putting over his pictures, but he sure utilizes this invaluable angle to its fullest.

Trades Admissions For Local Produce

Two very practical ideas to build rural good will and patronage in the smaller community are credited to Mrs. Grace Severson, who manages the Liberty Theatre in Wolf Point (Mont.). Realizing that the years of depression have kept down attendance of surrounding farmers and their families, Mrs. Severson conceived the idea of a mail campaign, addressing mimeographed letters to those who had discontinued coming to her theatre.

The first letter took the form of a questionnaire, requesting that the recipient supply information such as name and address, type of pictures preferred, favorite stars, most convenient days for show-going, preference for afternoon or evening shows and other data that would be helpful. To be sure of getting the proper response, this enterprising showwoman stated in the letter that those filling in the answers as requested and bringing same to the show during a specified week, would be admitted free. The entire communication conveyed friendliness and sincerity and spoke of the various theatre advantages, such as good sound equipment, comfort and atmosphere.

In her questionnaire, Mrs. Severson also asked these potential patrons if they would be interested in trading wheat, live poultry and coal for theatre coupon books, and in a follow-up letter stressed this trading angle, stating that many farmers were in favor of this means of obtaining their theatre entertainment which otherwise they could not afford.

The second letter carried the trading prices, such as wheat at one dollar a bushel, live poultry at five cents a pound above the market price, and coal at 25 cents a ton over the market price. Shipping instructions were also included, traders being requested to deliver the wheat, poultry and coal to certain Wolf Point companies, receiving in turn weight slips which were exchanged in return for the coupon books.

The results so far are reported to be more than satisfactory, as the entire campaign not only brought business that otherwise would be lost, but also assisted Mrs. Severson in gauging the type of pictures that would bring the best box office response, in addition to building up good will through many new contacts.

OLD TIME CARRIAGE STREET BALLY. Ed Hart, the Plainfield (N. J.) Tornado, dug up this "way back when" transportation to put over "Double Harness" at the Strand. Ed says the outfit got plenty of attention. Sure deserved it.

"Footlight Parade" Exploitation Clicks

Campaigns from various spots on this Warner smash indicate that the boys are amply covering every angle, even reaching into City Hall to put over the picture.

For instance, down in Baltimore, Md., Loew's general manager, William Saxton, with Manager E. A. Steinbuch, and Ad Chief Herbert Morgan of the Stanley Theatre promoted the mayor to release imprinted balloons from the City Hall steps, a number of them carrying passes. A flock of gals in chorus costume assisted Hizzoner in putting over the gag.

And Don Jacocks, Warner New Jersey zone manager, reports the "Parade" campaign at the Newark Branford working with Jules Curley, advertising zone manager, as the biggest ever put on by them in this territory. Girls throwing confetti from the marquee divided interest with the fireworks display preceding the opening. The theatre front was entirely covered with a banner 85 by 35 feet, and another huge banner was suspended across the street.

Brient's Costumed Girls

Street ballys were girls on bicycles and roller skates, the New York portable dressing room bus idea, and a truck carrying a sky writing device flashing picture copy on sides of buildings. A tie-up with every A. & P. store in town, in which lucky number heralds were distributed, netted windows in every location in addition to theatre copy going out in each package of merchandise.

Clever Lobby Stuff

At the Roger Sherman in New Haven, Conn., Dan Finn worked out a very ingenious wall frame idea by photographing production stills several times and blowing them up into a continuous picture measuring 35 feet along the wall. The effect was further heightened by coloring the completed photos and special lighting.

The high lights of Elmer Brient's "Parade" campaign at Loew's, in Richmond, Va., were carried in the wired news issue of October 21. We now have the completed campaign which he put over with the assistance of Assistant Francis Deering and Bert Perkins, Warner exploiteer.

An unlooked for, but, nevertheless, box-office break, was the protest by certain Richmond groups against the lack of clothes on the cut-out lobby poster girls. Over night, this became the town's leading topic, taken up by the newspapers and discussed by every one on the street. Of course, it all simmered down in a few days, but while the subject was hot the box office got hotter.

A number of effective street stunts were put on, including that of costumed girls on the street (see photo), playing picture exploitation and song hit records on a portable victrola. A float was also sent around, the feature of which was a young tap dancer dressed a la Cagney, who performed the same dance as is done in the picture. A giant fan letter of congratulations addressed to the stars was planted on a prominent corner where passersby were invited to write their names. All in all, Brient and his aides put over some grand stuff which helped to break the house record.

In Hartford, Conn., Warner District Manager Henry Needles and Manager Joe McCarthy of the Strand put over a full hour's broadcast over the largest station in New England, the program sponsored by an insurance company which paid all expenses. The boys sold the idea by preparing an attractive radio continuity that the insurance people went for, even though it was an out-and-out plug for the picture.

Highly effective also were the engagements in Baltimore, Newark, New Haven and Hartford. The boys all did themselves proud.

The above different cutout poster and still lobby display at Manager Jim Clemmer's Fifth Avenue Theatre, Seattle, Wash., is the work of Bob Laing and Bob Clancy. Very clever and a natural "crowd-stopper."

M-G-M Celebrates Dressler Birthday

Getting behind the event with the vigor put forth on their big pictures, Howard Dietz's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer ad crew is adding the last touches on the coast-to-coast celebration, November 9, of Marie Dressler's 62nd birthday, which will coincide with the release date of "Christopher Bean."

An effective special press book has been put out with a raft of swell exploitation ideas from Billy Ferguson, the "topper" of which is a national poetry contest for a prize of $250 for the best Dressler poem. This angle can also be used in exploiting Dressler pictures after the birthday date, as the contest runs to January 1.

Another snappy idea is the traveling birthday scroll from city to city, in which theatre patrons are invited to write their names. Originating in Washington, where the President was the first to sign, numerous other world known prominents also inscribed their signatures before the scroll was placed by Manager Carter Barron in the foyer of Loew's Fox, in Washington, as the first stop on the way to Hollywood.

Various slants are also suggested to facilitate other tieups, such as tribute luncheons by local civic clubs, celebrations by women's organizations, free theatre admissions to those whose sixty-second birthday falls on the same day, etc.

A memory test contest, telegraph birthday greeting tieup, newspaper drawing stunt, and a host of other good gags, are also suggested to put over the event.

The entire idea is good, and managers who have dated in any of the Dressler pictures should take advantage of her birthday for extra publicity.

TIME TO PREPARE FOR THANKSGIVING

Eminently fitted for this holiday is the canned goods matinee, which for the past few years has brought a lot of swell good will to theatres putting it on, as well as practical relief for the local poor. The method of operation is very simple, as managers who have put it on well know. For those who want more dope about it, here are some suggestions:

Advertise ten days in advance, in program, screen and lobby, that on Thanksgiving Day free admissions to children will be given for cans or packages of food, such as any kind of canned goods, and other imperishable food such as spaghetti, crackers, potatoes, carrots, etc. Wherever possible, tie this into your local papers, and every effort should be made to land front page publicity every day at least a week in advance. Then arrange with local charitable and religious organizations for division of the food, covering as many groups as possible. These should include Salvation Army, Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, as well as the churches.

Give the youngsters a good show in return for their efforts. Dig up a fitting picture, sound or silent, and a flock of cartoon and holiday shorts. Of course, your house staff contributes all services in gathering the food and during the show, which may be put on before or after Thanksgiving dinner. Local Boy Scouts may also be enlisted to help, as well as representatives of the charitable organizations. Be sure to pile up all the donations in the lobby, with tie-up poster copy, and photos of this should be planted in the papers.

Proclamations from local mayors and other "big shots" should be obtained, as well as good-will stories plugging the theatre. Trucks to haul the stuff away should also be promoted, perhaps using police cars, if others are not available. Coal and overcoat matinees have also been put on, but for this holiday food seems more befitting. The matinee should be advertised in schools by the principals and teachers.

For your regular evening shows, advance Thanksgiving lobby decorations, program and newspaper advertising might be used, and the regular show could include appropriate shorts, overtures, organ solos, prologues, etc. Many managers, of course, will give away turkeys in advance of the day.

But be sure to stress your food matinees, for this has proven to be a good-will natural, nationally, as well as giving managers a chance to do something that is really fine and human.

Round Tabler Uses Personal Time for Building Contacts

by JOHN McMANUS
Manager, Midland, Kansas City, Mo.

Would you loan your money to a dead-beat? Being theatre men and therefore intelligent, the answer will resound round this page, "No!" Again being theatre men, questions will start to pop; the first, quite naturally, would be what in the world has loaning money to a dead-beat to do with civic contacts?

J. J. McManus

Civic contact is something that a theatre manager builds up in those hours that are set aside as "his own"; it may be at dinner, lunch or after the theatre at night, or, I might add for those more fortunate ones that provoke youth on the golf course, it might be while golfing.

Meeting people is our stock in trade; we should like it. I DO. I try to know everyone. Of course, not being related to Gene Dennis, I fail in this, but really my measure has filled up to the brim on several occasions mainly through the people I have known.

The captionary question heading this epistle is parallel with, what do you do with your time (not that it's any of my business), but WHAT DO YOU DO WITH YOUR TIME? Time is money. Who knows that if you were to meet the manager of a certain large downtown hotel personally and impress him, that a few nights later on, he might be in a position to do you and your theatre a great favor. What of the banker? He might like you too; that is, if he knew you, and his windows look mighty attractive as frames for Traveltalks. The merchant is necessary to us, but realizes that we are more necessary to him, appreciating the fact that we, the theatres, bring the people downtown.

The City Hall should be your spare time office; you really ought to know the big boys, should you not? The Chamber of Commerce, the Kiwanis, Rotarians, and any number of clubs and associations that meet and fraternize in yours and my city should be known. This can be done; one cannot do everything in a week, but stay in there, pick away, never miss a chance to meet people, try to make them be the proper type of people, and remember, you're in show business and—an actor at least tries to impress everyone. How about you?

Various Stunts on Utica "Woman" Campaign

That practical press book suggestion, "The Love Secrets by Robinson" teaser diary, was used by Manager Bert Leighton to good advantage in his advance on "I Loved a Woman" at the Stanley, Utica, N. Y. Distribution of these diaries was effected through circulating libraries, newsstands and offices in the downtown section.

Leading five and ten stores tied in on a Robinson fan magazine article and in return the theatre displayed 40 by 60 in the lobby calling attention to this hookup. Residential sections were thoroughly covered with house-to-house herald distribution, these last also being stuffed in all preceding Sunday newspapers, distributed within a 25-mile radius of Utica.

An effective street bally was put on with a silk hatted sandwich man carrying a large lettered heart five feet high and four feet wide, followed by six boys in single file, carrying theatre signs. A bannered auto trailer covered the city and surrounding areas in advance. Bert kept plugging his picture until the very last day by planting his sandwich men and boys in the local NRA parade, with "last times today" copy.

DAVIDGE PUTS OUT STILT WALKER GAG ON "HELL BELOW"

In a teaser ad campaign on "Hell Below" at the Ritz Theatre, Durant, Okla., Manager F. Miller Davidge topped each ad with the name of a prominent local who said something complimentary about the picture, and Miller, in turn at the bottom of each teaser, added a few personal words about the endorser, creating a pleasant intimacy that no doubt helped the campaign.

For a street bally, Davidge used a stilt walker plentifully bannered who stopped many of the curious, as you will note below. Heralds and special full-sheet window cards were distributed and tacked in town and on the main roads.

Giant Street Bally

The lobby display included a flittered board with different stills topped with large cut-out heads of the stars, and another board showed blow up reviews of the picture. Atop the marquee was placed a long white banner frame, with the title in giant size lettering.

Miller says the entire campaign was put on at little expense for good returns.

Harry Gathers Nuts With Screwy Campaign

Harry Botwick, of the Paramount Theatre, Rutland, Vt., a usually conservative Roundtabler, goes completely "nuts" on his campaign on "Three Cornered Moon" in keeping with the atmosphere of that picture. His newspaper advertising carried endorsement from such prominent "cuckoos" as Mrs. Hugo Nertz, of Chestnut Avenue and Mr. Peter Pistachio of Walnut Street, who both agreed there were more screws in the picture than they had ever met in any insane asylum.

Christmas Tree Gag

Harry used the Christmas tree lobby press book suggestion (see photo), planting the trees in the lobby in advance and bringing them up to the box office during the run. These Christmas tokens attracted plenty of attention.

Imprinted envelopes containing walnuts were distributed at the local fair grounds and another effective stunt was a bally consisting of a racing sulky and horse, which Botwick entered in one of the trotting races. Unfortunately, the outfit was wrecked in an accident, so Harry could not go through with the idea, but thinks so much of it that he intends using it again.

Smart Thinking Creates Profitable Window Card

A different idea in window cards comes to us from Manager R. V. McGinnis, Conway Theatre, Conway, Ark., who used framed stills on "Tugboat Annie" not only to advertise the picture in his city's stores, but made this return a small profit.

McGinnis mounted the regular 8 by 10 production stills in paper frames, 14 by 17, and sold most of the white space to various merchants, four ads, two on each side being run and the rest of the frame retained for theatre advertising. The ads were approximately one column wide by four inches deep, one placed in each corner of the frame.

The idea went over very well, not one merchant refusing to place these in his best window. In fact, there were many requests for extra displays. Here is an excellent idea for other managers to consider, for not only does it command attention, but can be put over at no expense. And, of course, the ads on the cards almost guarantee front window position.

MANAGER

With record that makes self-inflation unnecessary, a manager, thoroughly experienced in circuit operation, having successful background as independent theatre owner and operator, seeks new connection where merit will be properly recognized. Years of experience in booking, buying of films, handling of personnel, publicity and putting practical ideas into effect. Retained through numerous changes of circuit heads. Highest indorsement.

BOX GRA, MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway New York City

"Aussie" Showmen Do It Rather Well

Albert Deane, ad chief of Paramount International shoots us a campaign on "A Bedtime Story" put over at the Capitol Theatre, Melbourne, Australia, by Frank V. Kennebeck, publicity director, and James L. Thornley, general manager.

A most attractive inside lobby display was made up of wall panels, cutout lettering against a gold background being nicely balanced with heads of the stars. The baby idea was carried out in effective fashion with a straw-hatted doll infant in a perambulator pushed around town by a well dressed "father," as you will note in photo below. We call your attention to the neat way the picture is advertised by the book the baby is "reading."

Australian exploitation keeps pace with

Australian "Bedtime" Gag

the efforts of the better showmen on this side, one of the reasons no doubt being that Frank Kennebeck, as well as his brother, John, director of Paramount Australian advertising, both served their exploitation apprenticeship in this country, and pooling their ideas with the effective angles worked out by the "down under" showmen has resulted in a heap of money campaigns.

WALLY'S BOW WOW

Above is a picture of the wire-hair pup and kennel given away by Wally Caldwell in a hookup with his newspaper on "Peg o' My Heart" at Loew's Valentine, Toledo, Ohio. The outfit was on view in the lobby in advance and then planted in a leading store during the run.

FALL FESTIVALS!

A special week under this title might give you a good opportunity of emphasizing the quality of the new season's product and also to surround the week wtih many added attractions—plus a florist's tie-up for some autumn foliage.

Staged in November, it may work right into your layout so as to really make the week outstanding in many ways, including receipts. As we recall from last year's Club pages, several of these Fall Festival Weeks were engineered with fine results by showmen all over the country. Some combined the Fall Fashion Revue with the festival and thereby added more pull for the box office.

There are many interesting and worthwhile slants to special weeks of this sort, and those who have never given the idea much thought or consideration ought to investigate the possibilities of them. After we get into the winter months the Club pages will probably carry many Fall Festival campaigns; but then it will be too late to carry through the idea, unless you revamp it for a Winter Festival.

K. OHTA, MANAGER IN FAR OFF JAPAN, SHOULD KEEP US POSTED, RIGHT?

The modern American methods of picture ballyhoo have invaded even the far off Island of Japan, where Mr. K. Ohta, manager of the Nihon-Kan Theatre in Asakuso, Tokio, sends us this account of his exploitation on his showing of "Central Airport" and "Untamed Africa." The display on top of the marquee was devoted to both pictures, with the "Central Airport" stunt showing a wrecked airplane, alongside of which were two figures pointing to a man making a parachute landing. The "Untamed Africa" display featured blow-ups of the wild animals of Africa, with a banner carrying selling copy on the picture. All in all, it was an extremely effective display which arrested the attention of people for blocks around.

And the above ballyhoo helped a great deal towards filling this house to capacity every day for the seven days of the attractions' run there.

We should be particularly interested in receiving accounts of Mr. Ohta's activities in far-off Japan and hope he will favor us.

GEO. LATHERS CELEBRATES THIRTEENTH NOVEL ANNIVERSARY

George Lathers of the Strand Theatre in Mt. Vernon, Mo., certainly tied his town's merchants up when his house celebrated its thirteenth anniversary recently.

We have before us a copy of a herald with 13 advertisers on it—six ties cleaned for 13 cents, heavy syrup, stein of beer, a drug store comes through with 13 bargains for the same price, and so on down the line.

This is a great little gag because it could be tied up with any anniversary. We're sure this went over big and George netted a goodly profit for his house as a result of it.

CORKING MOVIE TABLOID!

One of the best little theatre newsettes to come to our attention is gotten out by Bob L. Lippert, Strand Theatre, Oakland, Cal. The sheet, just two pages covered on both sides, measures 7 by 9. The first page carries latest flashes from Hollywood, second page has the coming attractions and a few outlines of some of these attractions, third page a profile and a Hollywood Correspondent Reporter column with the last page carrying merchant ads that pay for the entire cost of the little sheet. Darn fine work, Bob, and I'm sure if some of you boys would like to see a copy of it, write to Mons. Lippert and he'll oblige.

Why Do We Urge You To See This Picture?

Today, Tomorrow and Monday we are going to show a picture whose cast you never heard of in all your life. You never even heard of the story. You have nothing to go on but what we tell you now:

WE ask you to see "Be Mine Tonight" because we want to renew your interest in the movies. We want you to see something refreshing. We want you to see it without asking us, "Who is in it? Who wrote it? What is it all about?"

WE want you to have some delicious entertainment. We want you to laugh. We want you to get a little thrill. We want to answer your demand for romance. Mixed in with this, we want to have you hear a voice of pure gold.

WE want each and every one of you to feel like a discoverer. We want to prove to you that great entertainment does not depend entirely on the stars you know and love so well.

How many times do you leave any theatre and feel like telling your friends, "YOU MUST NOT MISS THIS PICTURE?" You will feel like saying that after you see "Be Mine Tonight."

Be among the first to see a picture which is an international sensation. Have the fun of telling your best friends about it.

PALACE

Today, Saturday and Monday

2nd Hit—Lew Ayres, Ginger Rogers
"DON'T BET ON LOVE"

The above cut shows the way Pete Egan, Capitol Theatre, Calgary, Canada, sold "Be Mine Tonight" in his newspaper ads. This is good, sensible advertising and not stressed too much. The copy is excellently worded and can be used for other pictures as well. Pete sold the picture as a whole and wisely did not oversell the unknowns in the cast.

COMBINATION DISPLAY

Although "Samarang" was the big lobby flash at the Isis, Lynchburg, Va., Manager Leo Young also got in a nice display on a gas range and pony-cycle giveaway contest, which you will note in right and left rear of lobby.

Gets Clever Effect With Crepe Paper

Walter Morris, former manager, New Theatre at Staunton (Va.) sends along a swell display made up principally of crepe paper on a plain beaver board background (see photo), an advance plug on "Tugboat Annie." By a tieup with a local window trimmer, very skilled in the use of the crepe paper, these flashes are used frequently at little expense.

Attractive Crepe Paper Display

The flittered stars' names in catch line with mounted litho and title are scraped beaver board in relief, and the trough of lights add to the depth and effectiveness of the display, which was used in the lobby in advance and in front during the run.

Thanks for the kind words, Walter, and we hope that you will continue to send on the highlights of your coming campaigns.

Posts Type 24's To Plug "Lady For a Day"

Mickey Gross, the skipper of the Orpheum Theatre, Sioux City (Iowa), breaks a long silence with his report on a successful "Lady for a Day" campaign. Photostatic enlargements of national magazine endorsements were placed in prominent locations throughout the city, and copies of the publication open at the pages containing the favorable review were left distributed where they would do the most good. Twenty-four's of this review were printed locally and were posted in town and on the main highways.

Subscription tieup with the local paper netted two pages of free display ads with additional publicity and art breaks for two weeks in advance. Street banners were strung across prominent corners and every taxi in town carried a tieup cover ad in advance and during the run of the picture.

These were the high lights of Mickey's well executed campaign, and now that we have again established contact with this enterprising Iowan, we trust we shall be able to present more of his exploitation for the information of the membership.

Lou's Ingenuity

Lou Metzger, San Diego, Cal., pulled a clever stunt that cost very little but landed his engagement of "Gold Diggers" at the Spreckles Theatre much attention. He played the picture at a $1.10 top, using tickets printed on stamped out brass the shape of a regular reserved seat theatre ticket. By using the line "Patrons' Souvenir Ticket," on it, Metzger made sure that his patrons would carry it around with them to show to their friends, thus getting over lots of word of mouth advertising. This can be tied in on other pictures, boys.

SWEET WINDOW. Among the exploitation features employed by United Artists on the New York opening of "Bitter Sweet" was an effective window display in the Fifth Avenue office of the Southern Pacific Lines, with a background of Hans Kraly art and stills from the picture.

"The Bowery" Campaign Also Plugs Birthday

Going back to the days when that colorful street that carries the name of the picture was better known than it is today, Manager Melnicker, Loew's Grand, Atlanta, Ga., and Earle Griggs, U. A. exploiteer, arranged an out-of-the-ordinary street stunt with a parade of old-time bannered automobiles to plug their local showing of "The Bowery" (see photo). After a lot of hard work, the boys managed to dig up 12 of these relics which, moving under their own power, naturally attracted the desired attention.

Old Timers Street Bally

Another crowd-gatherer was put on in the lobby to celebrate the theatre's first anniversary, that is, the first since the house has been remodeled. A huge candle was lit on the day before the picture opened, and prizes were offered for the nearest guesses to the exact length of time the candle would burn.

The always reliable newspaper classified "chuckle ad" contest was put over in which 25 passes were awarded daily, and of course the newspaper came across with the usual display breaks plugging the theatre and attraction. To further celebrate the theatre's anniversary, the entire front was decorated with flags and huge banners 40 feet long, extending above marquee. A number of downtown office buildings were likewise decorated, the bannering including advertising for the picture.

TWO MONEY-GETTERS. Above is a shot of ace lobby front created by Manager Byron Farley and Francis Downey, art director, Ritz Theatre, Albany, N. Y., one of the finest of its kind we have seen in many a moon. Photo on right shows some of the 4-H Club kids entertained by Joe Kinsky at the Capitol Theatre, Sioux City, Iowa, during the Interstate Baby Beef Show. Joe (on the left, shaking hands) puts this party on every year for the youngsters who come from all parts of Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska. It builds up his important farm trade and also strengthens his "in" with the local stock yards company.

Clever "Cruise" Boat Makes Flash Bally

The nautical yen in exploitation continues to spread nationally, the latest Round Tabler to report his activities in this direction being G. P. Banniza, manager of the Princess, Decatur, Ala., who put out a snappy looking boat float on his "Melody Cruise" campaign.

The "yacht" was built on a model T Ford and close attention was given its construction to simulate the appearance of a real water craft, as can be noted in the accompanying photo. And as boats and pretty girls are synonymous, "G. P." rounded up a flock of pulchritudinous lassies to ornament the gag. In addition, the high school band was promoted to toot melodies while the bally covered the town and outlying districts.

Lobby decorations included cut-out boards covered with 8 by 10 stills, and out on the sidewalk, Banniza planted a cut-out taken from the 24-sheet, this backed up with a 13-foot banner hanging from the marquee.

"Melodious" Bally

We like this member's street float very much and, although it looks expensive, he assures us that the cost of building was very low. It is therefore recommended to the membership, especially to managers in the smaller communities, where such stunts have not been worked recently or frequently.

Minton Makes Auto Tieup On "When Ladies Meet"

An effective tie-up was arranged by V. Minton, manager of Shea's Theatre, Erie, N. Y., where "When Ladies Meet" was the feature, with the Pontiac motor car people. A Pontiac car with a glass hood, attracting a great deal of attention, with banners containing copy on the theatre and picture, was in evidence in the streets and in front of the theatre in the evening.

Window displays on golf were obtained with the Lockwood firm. A beautiful display with the dress shop, using stills of Myrna Loy, resulted in interest on the part of shoppers. A drug company featured a special sundae as well as pictures of Robert Montgomery with a Kodak.

Another Member Plugs Pretzel Sales

V. T. Touchette, the skipper of the Fond du Lac Theatre, Fond du Lac, Wis., who was responsible for that enlightening letter on admission prices in a recent issue, sends in a short report on his activities with "Moonlight and Pretzels" in which, as have other managers, he gives the pretzel industry a boost.

Thousands of small bags containing the food that goes so well with beer, were distributed at the theatre and one of the largest department stores, with copy along these lines. "You can get pretzels like these at the (name of store), but the moonlight, the pretty girls and laughs are in "Moonlight and Pretzels," etc. The store paid for the imprinting and the bags, also devoting large front window to stills and title cards.

The front was rigged up with a flasher attached to the title in lights, a happy moon on left rigged so that one eye was winking on and off. The song hits in the picture were plugged on the local radio station, the picture and dates being announced after each broadcast.

Broadway Houses Plug "Three Pigs" Repeat Dates

Among the many theatres playing repeated return dates on the rapidly becoming nationally famous "Three Little Pigs," Disney's short, is the Seventh Avenue, New York Roxy Theatre. Taking advantage of the short's popularity and realizing its advertising possibilities, Managing Director Sol Lesser passed along a nifty idea for a street bally which was put into effect by Morris Kinzler, ad chief.

In an old fashioned bannered open carriage drawn by two ponies, were placed three stuffed pigs (see photo) and the outfit was driven through various sections of the city, also participating in a parade to mark the opening of the big rodeo, held recently at the local Madison Square Garden. Screen and program advertising in addition to a 14-foot lobby display of the porkers, vividly colored, and marquee billing atop the feature were also used to plug the date.

Ponies Pulling Porkers

The Trans-Lux Theatre on Broadway also used a neat stunt on this attraction by planting posters of the piglets adorned with beards, out front, to proclaim the fifth week of the showing.

Uses Own Copy Slant On Press Book Ads

Showmen everywhere are reacting to the exploitation possibilities of recent pictures set in a background of the "Gay Nineties," and George B. Myers, head man at the Capitol Theatre, Frankfort, Ky., sends along some shots of the old fashioned high wheeled bicycles he promoted from an antique dealer on his "One Sunday Afternoon" campaign. The bikes are certainly unusual and the accompanying photo will give you an idea of how they were used to attract attention.

George also sends along a few samples of his recent advertising, the copy in which strikes us as very refreshing. As an instance, on "Man of the Forest," he heads a two-column, ten-inch ad with three lines of black-face caps saying—"We're kickin' off the high hat, and showing you a Western. . . . You'll like it, too!"

His copy slant on "Goodbye Again" stresses the comedy angle and is headed as follows: "For those who like a long laugh! And who doesn't? There ain't no drammer in this picture, it's all fun, and when we say fun, we mean you'll laugh one hour by the clock, etc."

Old Fashioned Bike Tieup

These ads remind us that there is no reason why managers should not exercise their own copywriting ingenuity to inject a different slant in the more or less routine ad copy. Myers does it rather well and we would very much like to see others follow his snappy example.

This Is Service!

Frank Boucher, Warner Theatre head, Hagerstown, Md., had his Chamber of Commerce working for him on the exploitation of "The Stranger's Return" at the Maryland Theatre, by getting the august body to mimeograph free of charge a personal indorsement letter that Frank mailed to members of the local women's Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. Frank put on a strong plug for the picture, recommending it as one of the best of his recent bookings. The promoted service shows how Boucher stands down in that South country, and how successfully he has lined up the local civic organizations to work with him.

Auction Money Raises Grosses

C. Morelock, operator of the Arcade Theatre, Cottage Grove, Ore., sends along a very enthusiastic report headed, "Exploitation for any theatre, at a minimum minus cost," which describes his profitable experience with auction money used one night a week for six weeks.

He promoted 25 prizes from that many merchants and in return gave them a lot of auction money in $10 denominations, a "ten" being given to every customer making purchases of 25 cents or more. Then on the night of the event, the folks all came to the theatre, with the auction dough they had collected during the week and bid on the prizes.

Morelock says the cost of the printing over the six-week period was $20, his box office gain on these nights increasing 148 per cent over preceding nights without this feature and not hurting business during the rest of the week, which is something to say in a town of 2,500, the population of Cottage Grove.

Incidentally, Morelock states he will be glad to send along further details to any interested member, for which, on behalf of all of us, we thank you.

personalities

HARRY DENNY
is the new manager of the Rosemary, Ocean Park, Cal. He replaces JOHN VAINIKO who's at the Lyric in Huntington Park.

▽

WAYNE DAILLARD
former manager at the Lyric, is at the United Artists in Long Beach, Cal., replacing RAY ROCKETT.

▽

GEORGE KRASKA
former manager of the Loew Fine Arts Theatre, Boston, Mass. has been transferred to Loews at Canton Ohio succeeding ADOLPH BUEHRIG, JR. who was called to New York for reassignment.

▽

ROBERT RHODES
has resigned as assistant manager of Loew's, Canton, Ohio, to become associated with Mort Shea at the Weller in Zanesville, Ohio.

▽

ARNOLD ALBERT
has been engaged by J. Real Neth, Columbus, Ohio as press agent for two of his downtown houses.

▽

E. R. ROSE
assistant manager of the Fox Theatre, Spokane, Wash. has gone to Seattle to join H. D. McBRIDE who is reopening the Orpheum in Seattle.

▽

ARTHUR R. CLARK
has taken over the role of manager of the Lryic at Del Rey, Cal.

▽

J. W. BASCOM
for years owner of the Shastona Theatre, Mount Shasta, City, Cal. is back at the helm again after a period or retirement.

▽

JACK BOYD
skipper of the Broadway Theatre, High Point, N. C. recently had the house renovated and new equipment installed. L. C. SIPE is the new owner.

▽

E. J. GOLDEN
has reopened the old Elmore, Pittsburgh, Pa. after having had it completely redecorated.

▽

MISS ADDYCE BROWN
has assumed management of the Brown Theatre in Stamps, Ark.

▽

L. E. MATHEWS
of Webster City, is reopening the Strand Theatre, Boone, Ia.

▽

P. J. HENN
has reopened the Lyric at Sylva, N. C. House has been redecorated.

▽

LOUIS GANS
who used to manage the Tuxedo, Brown is now to be found at the Crescent.

▽

S. W. COLLINWOOD
has reopened the Old Unionville Opera, Detroit and has renamed it the Collinwood.

▽

MARC BOWMAN
former manager of the Paramount, Portland can be found at the Liberty in Seattle.

▽

G. OTTO HARTSOE
is the owner and manager of the Newton Theatre in North Newton, N. C.

▽

BOB ALLEN
is the new manager of the Des Moines Theatre in Des Moines, Ia. while WILLIAM B. BECKLEY goes into the Strand formerly occupied by Allen.

SOME RECENT EXAMPLES OF POSTER ART WORK DONE BY FRANK BONAIT. Poster artist at Shea's Theatre, Erie, Pa., sends several samples of decorative panels. Beery's face is dark flesh color, raw and burnt sienna used; the eyes were done in dark brown. A background of light yellow and yellow orange blended in several places; the panel being done in different tones of green starting with light yellow green and ending with emerald. Barrymore's face was colored the same as Beery's, but the background was light yellow ochre and light cream yellow blended. The panel was carried out in different tones of purples, starting with light violet and ending in a mauve.

J. MAXWELL JOICE
chief of the Amusement Section of the Century of Progress exposition has completed his work in Chicago and returned to New York to resume stage and screen publicity and exploitation.

▽

MILTON NICHOL
will manage the Strand in Marion City, Ia. and JOHN ALDINGER the Palace, same City.

▽

L. E. DAVIDSON
formerly skipper of the Paramount, Marion, Ind., has been named city manager for Publix Theatres in Des Moines, Ia. BOB GARY is publicity manager.

▽

M. A. EDWARDS
former manager of the Ritz Theatre, in Phillipsburg, N. J., has been appointed manager of the Park, in Allentown, Pa. Extensive remodeling has been done.

▽

HARRY KENDRICK
has been named manager of the Pantages Theatre in Portland, Ore. He was formerly associated with Pantages in Tacoma.

▽

HARRY BROWN
owner of theatres in Detroit, has retired from business due to ill health and turned his theatres over to his son, Sam.

▽

BERT STERN
publicity man for Cooper-Publix, has been transferred back to Oklahoma City from Lincoln, Neb.

▽

ARNOLD ALBERT
joins J. Real Neth as advertising and publicity head for the seven Neth theatres in Columbus, Ohio.

▽

MORRIS NIMMER
former manager of the Paramount Theatre, in Seattle, Wash., has just been made manager of the Coliseum, Evergreen's ace second run house.

BILL HUFFMAN
formerly of Philly, is at the Valley Stream Theatre, Long Island. With him is MAX BRONOW, former assistant manager of the Stanley, in Camden, N. J.

▽

MAX HALPERIN
previously RKO city manager in Cincinnati, and later manager of the Fordham, in New York, has purchased an interest in the Beecher, colored theatre, in Cincinnati.

▽

DAVE R. RICHARDS
formerly of San Francisco, has been made manager of the U. C. Theatre, in the suburban city of Berkeley.

▽

ROBERT A. HAZEL
who has had wide experience in managing theatres in Northern and Central California, has opened the Rex Theatre, at Oroville, Cal.

▽

RALPH FORD
to be manager of the Central Theatre, Oakland, Cal., when this house reopens, following extensive alterations. The house was formerly the Century Theatre.

▽

B. W. BICKERT
has taken over the Palace, at Ashland, Ohio, adding to his chain of theatres.

▽

JOHN CALMAN
has reopened the Temple, at Birmingham, Ala. House was closed for a few weeks on account of lightning, which struck the chimney.

▽

SAM REICHBLUM
who operates theatres in Ohio, has just taken a lease on the American, Leetonia, Ohio. House has been entirely redecorated.

▽

JOE GORMAN
formerly an exhibitor in Kansas City, has leased the Majestic Theatre, at Cedar Rapids, Ia.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dude Bandit, The	Hoot Gibson-Gloria Shea	May 1	67
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Cheaters
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Picture Brides — Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey — 68 — Oct. 14
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used
Without Children

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5

Coming Feature Attractions

In the Money — "Skeets" Gallagher-Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer
Rainbow Over Broadway — Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson — Dec. 1

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20
Ann Carver's Profession	Fay Wray-Gene Raymond	May 26	68	June 17
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
Cocktail Hour	Bebe Daniels-Sidney Blackmer-Randolph Scott	June 5	74	June 10
Dangerous Crossroads	Chic Sale-Diane Sinclair	June 15	62	July 1
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28
(See "Man of Steel," "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30
Rusty Rides Alone	Tim McCoy-Barbara Weeks	May 26	58
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30
Unknown Valley	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	May 5	69	Aug. 26
What Price Innocence?	Willard Mack-Jean Parker	June 29	64	July 1
Woman I Stole, The	Jack Holt - Raquel Torres - Fay Wray	May 1	63	July 8
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Criminal Within, The — Bruce Cabot-Mary Brian
Fighting Code, The — Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair
Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Fog — Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny
House of Murder — June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy
King of the Wild Horses — Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Let's Fall in Love — Harriette Lake - Edmund Lowe
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Man's Castle, A — Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Night Bus — Clark Gable
Ninth Guest
Once to Every Woman
Straightaway — Tim McCoy-Sue Carol
World's Fair — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Throne of God (Tent.)		Aug.	56 and 39

Coming Feature Attractions

Dassan — 51 and 38

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	78	Sept. 2
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	65	June 17
Heroes for Sale	Richard Barthelmess - Loretta Young	June 17	76	May 27
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	80	Sept. 16
Lilly Turner	Ruth Chatterton-Geo. Brent	May 13	64	Apr. 29
Little Giant, The	Edward G. Robinson	May 20	74	Apr. 15
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young-Lyle Talbot	July 15	62	June 17
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	69	Sept. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside — Warren William
Convention City — Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni
Mandalay	Kay Francis
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23
Wonder Bar, The	Al Jolson
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adorable	Janet Gaynor-Henry Garat	May 19	83	May 20
Arizona to Broadway	James Dunn-Joan Bennett	June 30	67	July 29
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Best of Enemies	Marian Nixon-"Buddy" Rogers	June 23	71	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold Me Tight	James Dunn-Sally Eilers	May 26	71	May 27
I Loved You Wednesday	Warner Baxter - Elissa Landi - Miriam Jordan-Victor Jory	June 16	75	June 24
It's Great to Be Alive	Edna May Oliver-Raul Roulien	June 2	68	July 1
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life In the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
My Weakness	Lilian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gayner-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman-Marian Nixon-Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	70	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	68	Sept. 2
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Warrior's Husband, The	Elissa Landi - Ernest Truex - David Manners	May 12	68	May 6
Worst Woman In Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

As Husbands Go — Warner Baxter-Eleanor Lynn — Jan. 5,'34
Frontier Marshall — George O'Brien-Irene Bentley — Jan. 28,'34
Hoopla — Clara Bow-Preston Foster — Nov. 30
House of Connelly, The — Janet Gaynor-Robert Young
I Am Suzanne — Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond — Dec. 22
I Was a Spy — Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll-Conrad Veidt — Dec. 15 — 75 — Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Nov. 24
Mr. Skitch — Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts — Dec. 29
My Lips Betray — Lillian Harvey-John Boles — Nov. 10
Olsen's Big Moment — El Brendel — Nov. 17 — Oct. 28
7 Lives Were Changed — Heather Angel-Norman Foster — Jan. 12,'34
Sleepers East — Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster
Smoky — Victor Jory-Irene Bentley — Dec. 8
Three Against Death — Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Deadwood Pass	Tom Tyler	May 5
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert		68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo
Love In Morocco	Rex Ingram		67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Jean Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	May 26	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
Soldiers of the King	Cicely Courtneidge - Anthony Bushell
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Mathews-Owen Nares		79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye-Fritz Schulz	Oct. 1	90	Aug. 12

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanaugh	Oct. 1	74
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Nov. 1
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug. 1	78	Aug. 19
Trouble Busters	Jack Hoxie-Lane Chandler	May 15	55

Coming Feature Attractions

Divorce Bed, The		Dec. 1
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Nov. 15	63	Oct. 28
Shoot the Works (Reviewed under the title "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Nov. 15	87	Sept. 16
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-John Loder	Nov. 15		Oct. 14

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July 1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept. 1	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June 15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July 28	79	Aug. 5
Barbarian, The	Ramon Novarro-Myrna Loy	May 12	88	Apr. 15
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept. 1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov. 3	76
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70
Devil's Brother, The	Laurel and Hardy-Dennis King-Thelma Todd	May 5	92	Apr. 8
Hell Below	Robt. Montgomery-Jimmy Durante - Robt. Young - Walter Huston-Madge Evans	June 9	105	Apr. 15
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July 7	89	July 8
Made on Broadway	R. Montgomery-Sally Eilers	May 19	69	Apr. 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65
Midnight Mary	Loretta Young-Ricardo Cortez	June 30	76	June 17
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Nuisance, The (Reviewed under the title, "Never Give a Sucker a Break")	Lee Tracy-Madge Evans	June 2	80	May 6
Peg O' My Heart	Marion Davies-Onslow Stevens	May 26	85	May 20
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Reunion in Vienna	John Barrymore-Diana Wynyard-Frank Morgan	June 16	100	May 6
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July 14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July 21	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
When Ladies Meet	Ann Harding-Alice Brady-Robt. Montgomery-Myrna Loy	June 23	85	June 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Dec. 8
Christopher Bean	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17
Comeback, The	Otto Kruger-Ben Lyon-Isabelle Jewell
Comin' Round the Mountain	May Robson-Polly Moran
Dancing Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt		113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Malibu	Jean Parker-David Landau
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	68	Oct. 28
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Transcontinental Bus	Robt. Montgomery - Madge Evans
Vinegar Tree, The	Lionel Barrymore-Alice Brady-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug. 10	79	Oct. 7
Black Beauty	Alex. Kirkland-Esther Ralston	May 10	70	Apr. 29
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct. 20	68
Crashing Broadway	Rex Bell	June 1	55	July 15
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug. 20	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June 15	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July 15
Gallant Fool	Bob Steele	May 29
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug. 5
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July 25
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug. 15
Return of Casey Jones	Charles Starrett-Ruth Hall	May 25
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct. 10	72
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug. 30
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug. 15
Sphinx, The	Lionel Atwill-Sheila Terry	June 1	70	June 3
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct. 1	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Beggars in Ermine
Born Tough	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill
Manhattan Love Song
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neill-Creighton Chaney
Woman's Man

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug. 18	72	Aug. 5
College Humor	Crosby-Oakie-Arlen-Carlisle-Burns and Allen	June 23	80	June 17
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July 7	65	June 24
Eagle and the Hawk, The	F. March-C. Grant-J. Oakie	May 19	72	May 6
Gambling Ship	Cary Grant-Benita Hume	June 30	72	June 17
Girl in 419, The	James Dunn-Gloria Stuart	May 26	76	May 6
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July 21	70	July 8
I Love That Man	Nancy Carroll-Edmund Lowe	June 9	75	May 6
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
International House	All Star	June 2	65	May 20
Jennie Gerhardt	Sylvia Sidney-Donald Cook	June 16	76	June 10
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July 14	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July 14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July 28	70	July 29
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug. 11	92	July 1
Story of Temple Drake, The	Miriam Hopkins-Jack LaRue	May 12	72	May 13
Sunset Pass	Randolph Scott-Tom Keene	May 26	68	June 3
Supernatural	C. Lombard - Randolph Scott - V. Osborne	May 5	64½	Apr. 29
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct. 27	82
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug. 25	82	July 29
Three Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug. 4	72	Aug. 12
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles
Border Legion, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Adams
Catherine the Great	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Chrysalis	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper
Duck Soup (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles
Great Adventure, The	Lillian Gish-Roland Young
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Blarney Kiss, The	Tom Walls-Anne Grey	Aug. 18	71	Aug. 26
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19

Coming Feature Attractions

His Fighting Blood	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Nov. 15
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20
(Untitled)	Kazan	Jan. 15,'34

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan-Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July 14	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug. 4	62	Oct. 21
Big Brain, The	Geo. E. Stone-Fay Wray-Phillips Holmes	June 16	70	June 3
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug. 18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Cross Fire	Tom Keene-Betty Furness	June 30	55	Apr. 8
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Diplomaniacs	Bert Wheeler-Robt. Woolsey	May 12	63	Apr. 15
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July 21	74	July 8
Emergency Call	Bill Boyd-Betty Furness	May 26	60	July 1
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd-Mae Clarke-Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy - Eric Linden	July 14	62	Sept. 2
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan-Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Ratoff	July 28	65	July 29
Melody Cruise	Phil Harris-Charles Ruggles	June 23	75	June 3
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn - D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Professional Sweetheart	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	June 9	70	June 3
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Silver Cord, The	Irene Dunne-Joel McCrea	May 19	74	May 13
Son of the Border	Tom Keene-Julie Haydon	May 5	55	Aug. 5
Tomorrow at Seven	Chester Morris-Vivienne Osborne	June 2	64	May 13

Coming Feature Attractions

After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 17	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 10	73	Oct. 28
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond-Raul Roulien

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi
Once Over Lightly	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 27
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee
Sea of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack
This Day of Grace	Gracie Fields		92	Oct. 28
Trigger	Katharine Hepburn
Wild Birds	Jean Parker-Tom Brown

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp-John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff		63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow
Golden Head
Moth, The
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Corruption	Evalyn Knapp - Preston Foster	Imperial Distr.	June 19	63	July 1
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond-T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59
Isle of Doom, The	Peter Sobolevski	Amkino	June 5	65½	July 22
Laughing at Life	V. McLaglen - C. Montenegro	Mascot	June 26	70	June 3
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconneti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Red-Head, The	Robert Lynen	Harold Auten	May 25	88	June 17
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dilloway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Taming the Jungle		Invincible	June 3	59	June 10
This Is America		Frederick Ullman, Jr.	July 19	70	July 29
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Victims of Persecution	Betty Hamilton-Mitchell Harris	Bud Pollard	June 16	60	June 24
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wives Beware!	Adolphe Menjou	Regent Picts.	June 1	63

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo-Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
I Cover the Waterfront	Claudette Colbert - Ben Lyon - Ernest Torrence	May 17	75	Apr. 29
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	73	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Samarang	Native Cast	June 23	62	May 20
Yes, Mr. Brown	Jack Buchanan	May	69	Mar. 18

Coming Feature Attractions

Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson
(See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Joe Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone-T. Carminati
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner
Trouble Shooter	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30
King of Jazz (Reissue)	Paul Whiteman - John Boles - Bing Crosby	June 1	63	Apr. 5,'30
King of the Arena	Ken Maynard	June 1	61
Kiss Before the Mirror	Nancy Carroll-Paul Lukas	May 4	67	Mar. 11
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Lee Carrillo	Aug. 5	84	Sept. 2
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6
Rebel, The	Vilma Banky-Luis Trenker	June 15	78	July 1
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Roque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Ralph Graves-Shirley Grey	Dec. 25
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 4
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Nov. 27
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres-Alice White
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 20
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 1,'34
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 11	68	Sept. 9
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton
Riders of Justice	Walter Miller-Cecelia Parker	Dec. 18
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Special Investigator	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr.-Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	102	Oct. 7
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	90	May 27
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73
Life of Jimmy Dolan, The	D. Fairbanks, Jr.-Loretta Young	June 3	70	June 24
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Mayor of Hell, The	James Cagney	June 24	80	May 26
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Private Detective 62	William Powell	June 10	67	July 15
Silk Express	Neil Hamilton-Sheila Terry	June 10	63	June 10
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

Big Shakedown, The	Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin
Finger Man	James Cagney	Dec. 9
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2
Havana Widows	J. Blondell-G. Farrell	Nov. 18
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23
King of Fashion	William Powell-Bette Davis

WORLD WIDE

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lone Avenger, The	Ken Maynard	May 14	61	Aug. 19
Study in Scarlet, A	Reginald Owen-June Clyde	May 14	72	June 10

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Cadet, The	Frans Fiedler	Film Exchange		80	Apr. 5
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Dream of Schoenbrunn	Martha Eggerth	Europa Film	May 31	78	June 10
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman-Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Mc-Laglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Morgenrot (Dawn)	Else Knott - Rudolf Forster	Protex	May 15	85	May 27
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Chas. Boyer	Gaumont-Ufa		95	Aug. 12
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	British Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Broadway Malady	Apr. 18	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks		1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Russian Dressing	May 1
Stage Krazy		1 rl.
Whack's Museum		1 rl.
LAMBS GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
Poor Fish, The	Apr. 27	2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2	Sept. 30
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show		18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes
Match Kid, The	May 9	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Technoracket	May 20	1 rl.
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 2		1 rl.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls
SMITH AND DALE
Hot Daze		2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Entertainer, The Will Mahoney
Preferred List Ken Murray
Say It Isn't So Richey Craig, Jr.	June 29	19
WORLD OF SPORT
All's Wet That Ends Wet	May 5	1 rl.
Champions	May 5	1 rl.
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18
Hook and Line	July 28
In the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started
Who Said the Weaker Sex?		9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Feeling Rosy	Apr. 30	21
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kin 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Kid 'N Hollywood	May 14	11
Kid's Last Fight, The	Apr. 23	11
Polly Tix in Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
Sea, The	May 7	9
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7
Pirates of the Deep	May 7	9
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl.
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 5	Apr. 30	11
No. 6	June 18
CAMERA ADVENTURES
Cougar's Mistake, The	May 28	9
CORONET COMEDIES
What a Wife	Nov. 3
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Highlights of the Past	Apr. 9	8
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Makin' Good
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
Out of the Ordinary	May 28
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Knight Duty	May 7	22
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
A Pair of Socks	May 14	20
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Hot Hoofs	June 18
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Git Along Little Dogies	Nov. 10
Manhattan Lullaby	Nov. 24
Slow Poke	Sept. 22	1 rl.
Stepin Fetchit
SPIRIT OF THE CAMPUS (Reinald Werrenrath)
Georgia Tech	May 7	9
McGill	May 28	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Mr. Adam	Nov. 10
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Cinderella	May 28	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
King Zilch	June 11	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oh! Susanna	Apr. 2	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Pirate Ship	Apr. 30	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Romeo and Juliet	Apr. 16	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Tale of a Shirt, The	Feb. 19	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Tropical Fish	May 14	6
Village Blacksmith, A	Nov. 3	6
THREE-REEL SPECIAL
Krakatoa	Apr. 23	23
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Torchy Turns Turtle	Apr. 23	21
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Shorts	Nov. 3
Song of Vienna	Nov. 10
Your Life Is in Your Hands	Sept. 22
VANITY COMEDIES
Techno-crazy Monty Collins-Billy Bevan	Apr. 23	19

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29
Conquest of the Air!
Scouring the Seven Seas!
Answering the Riot Call!
Filming the Fashions
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Down from Vesuvius	Apr. 15
Broadway by Day	Apr. 2
Sampans and Shadows	Apr. 9
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
The Island of Malta
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Oct. 6
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 27
The Great Train Robbery
A Moment of Madness
Helen of the Chorus
The Extravagant Wife
The Girl from the Country
Emma's Dilemma
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills Radio Rubes		6
Sally Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy Charles Carlisle-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt Phyllis Barry-George Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Yeast Is West
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20
His Silent Racket	Apr. 29	19
Midsummer Mush		21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
COLORTONE MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels		20
Hello, Pop!		17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26
Plane Nuts		20
Rhapsody in Brew		20
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Daughters of the Sea	Apr. 8	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka		10
Fiji and Samoa	May 20	8
New Zealand		9
Over the Seas to Borneo	Apr. 29	9
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9
Scotland the Bonnie		9
FLIP, THE FROG
Bulloney		8
Chinaman's Chance		8
Paleface		8
Soda Squirt		7
Techno-cracked		8
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies		20
Dirty Work		20
Me An' My Pal	Apr. 22	21
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers		9
Handlebars
Happy Warriors		9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Kid from Borneo, The	Apr. 15	19
Mush and Milk	May 27	18
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Backs to Nature		20
Bargain of the Century	Apr. 8	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16
One Track Minds	May 20
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
Roosevelt, the Man of the Hour	Apr. 8	18
SPORT CHAMPIONS
Auto Racing	Apr. 1
Throttle Pushers	Apr. 1	9
TAXI BOYS
Call Her Sausage	May 13	19
Rummy, The	June 10	18
Taxi Barons	Apr. 1	19
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16
WILLIE WHOPPER
Play Ball		7

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
Captain Henry's Radio Show Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw - Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11
A Bundle of Blues Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10
The Little Broadcast Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	11
Rumba Rhythm Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 9	Apr. 7	10
No. 10	May 5	10
No. 11	June 2	10
No. 12	June 30	10
No. 13	July 28	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad Tom Howard	June 9	11
Jazz a La Cuba Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
Moonlight Fantasy Vincent Lopez	Apr. 14	8
Walking the Baby Burns and Allen	May 12	11
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 10—Birth of the Year — Laboratory Sleuth — Three X Sisters	Apr. 21	10
No. 11—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews - Ward Wilson - Danbury Fair	May 19	10
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax — Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1 — Just a Little Dressing — The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
SCREEN SONGS
"Bollesk" Watson Sisters	June 9	7
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Down by the Old Mill Stream Funny Boners	July 21	7
I Like Mountain Music Eton Boys		7
Peanut Vendor, The Armida	Apr. 28	7
Popular Melodies Arthur Jarrett	Apr. 7	7
Sing, Sisters, Sing Three X Sisters	June 3	7
Song Shopping Ethel Merman	May 19	7
Stoopnocracy Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba Mills Bros.	Sept. 15	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 10	Apr. 14	10
No. 11	May 12	10
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
Kennel Kings		1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Aggravatin' Bear, The	Apr. 28	10
Balance	June 23	10
Jabs and Jolts	May 26	10
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7
Betty Boop's Birthday Party	Apr. 21	7
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party		7
Betty Boop's May Party	May 12	7
I Heard Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Mother Goose Land	June 23	7
Old Man of the Mountains Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The Sennett Star	July 14	20
Daddy Knows Best Walter Catlett	June 16	22
Dream Stuff Sennett Star	May 12	20

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19
Husband's Reunion Sennett Star	July 7	19
Knockout Kisses Sennett Star	June 23	19
Marriage Humor Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19
Meet the Champ Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21
Pharmacist, The Sennett Star	Apr. 21	20
Roadhouse Queen Sennett Star	May 26	20
Sailors, Beware Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18
See You Tonight Sennett Star	June 2	21
Sweet Cookie Sennett Star	Apr. 14	18
Uncle Jake Sennett Star	May 5	19

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Oct. 25	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 7,'34	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
High Spots of New York	June 1	11
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Masked Raider, The	Sept. 1	20
News Laugh No. 1	Oct. 18	7
News Laugh No. 2	Nov. 15	7
News Laugh No. 3	Dec. 17	7
News Laugh No. 4	Jan. 21,'34	7
News Laugh No. 5	Feb. 18,'34	7
News Laugh No. 6	Mar. 18,'34	7
Queen of the Underworld	Nov. 1	7
Voodoo	May 2	36
Walpi	May 15	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Nov. 8	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEADS SERIES
Flirting In the Park	Aug. 18	20
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Druggist's Dilemma, The	May 5	17
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Thrown Out of Joint	May 12	21
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Lost in the Limehouse	Apr. 7	20½
Moonshiner's Daughter, The	May 19	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
Mickey's Race	Apr. 14	18
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Grin and Bear It	Nov. 3
Merchant of Menace, The	Apr. 21	19½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
The Fatal Note	Sept. 29	7
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Hook and Ladder Hokum	Apr. 28	7
In the Park	May 26	6
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
AUDIO PRODUCTIONS
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Cococo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Venezuana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
My Side of the Story	Sept. 22	10
David L. Hutton
Strange Case of Tom Meoney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Ski-ing		1 rl.
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase		7
18. The Pet Shop
(NEW SERIES)
1. Mickey and the Giant
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper		7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The China Shop
2. The Night Before Christmas

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Nov. 13	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Beau Best	May 22	1 rl.
Confidence	July 31	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Going to Blazes	Apr. 10	1 rl.
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	1 rl.
Marry Old Soul	Nov. 27	1 rl.
Ocean Hop (Reissue)	Apr. 24	1 rl.
Parking Space	Dec. 4	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Morton Downey—No. 4	Apr. 17	2 rls.
My Pal the Prince
Beauty on Broadway	May 15	2 rls.
Walter Winchell—No. 2
The Old Timers		21
Louis Sobol No. 3
Peeping Tom	Sept. 20	17
Louis Sobol—No. 4
SPECIALS
Your Technocracy and Mine	Apr. 15	1 rl.
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 28—Novelty	Apr. 17	8½
No. 29—Novelty	May 29	8
No. 30—Novelty	May 29	1 rl.
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
A Quiet Night Bert Roach	May 31	21
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 11	21
Gleason's New Deal James Gleason	July 12	20
His First Case Vince Barnett	June 14	20
Mister Mugg James Gleason	May 10	21
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda		2 rls.
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Holloway	Nov. 22	2 rls.
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	2 rls.
Pick Me Up Marie Prevost	Apr. 5	19
Room Mates Frank Albertson	Apr. 19	20
Stung Again Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	2 rls.
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Been? Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Close Relations Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 2—Salt Water Daffy Jack Haley		21
No. 3—Gobs of Fun George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy		20
No. 5—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 7—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels		18
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony Stoopnagle & Budd	June 3
No. 9—Poor Little Rich Boy Phil Baker	Dec. 24,'32	18
No. 10—Hey, Hey, Westerner Technicolor Musical	Dec. 31,'32	17
No. 11—That Goes Double Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 12—Bygones Ruth Etting	Jan. 14	18
No. 13—Pleasure Island Technicolor Musical	Feb. 25	18
No. 14—Yours Sincerely Lanny Ross	Mar. 11	19
No. 15—Speaking of Operations Pick & Pat	Jan. 28	18
No. 16—Northern Exposure Technicolor Musical	Apr. 8	18
No. 17—Nothing Ever Happens Musical	Mar. 25	18
No. 18—World's Champ Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 19—The Way of All Freshmen Hal Leroy-Mitzi Mayfair	Apr. 22
No. 20—Along Came Ruth Ruth Etting	May 6
No. 21—Fifi V. Segal-Chas. Judels	May 20	21
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Rufus Jones for President Ethel Waters		20
No. 2—Use Your Imagination Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair		18
No. 3—Paul Revere, Jr.		21
Gus Shy-Janet Reade
No. 4—Operator's Opera Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys		21
No. 5—Seasoned Greetings Lita Grey Chaplin		20
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Ride Him, Bosko		7
No. 2—Bosko the Drawback		7
No. 3—Bosko's Dizzy Date		7
No. 4—Bosko's Woodland Daze		7
No. 5—Bosko in Dutch		7
No. 6—Bosko in Person		7
No. 7—Bosko the Speed King
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out
MELODY MASTERS
No. 1—Music to My Ears Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 2—Municipal Band Wagon Small's Paradise Band		10
No. 3—Smash Your Baggage Aunt Jemima		19
No. 4—The Lease Breakers Roger Wolfe Kahn's Band		9
No. 5—The Yacht Party Noble Sissle and Band		9
No. 6—Hot Competition The Continentals-Barris-Whiteman-Ted Husing		10
No. 7—Abe Lyman and Band		10
No. 8—"How's Tricks?" Jean Sargent-George Owen and Gang
No. 9—That's the Spirit Noble Sissle and Band		10
No. 10—The Alma Martyr Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20
No. 13—A Castilian Garden Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Vincent Lopez and Orchestra
No. 2—Hot from Petrograd Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 3—Barber Shop Blues Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 4—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals		8
No. 5—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 6—Eddie Duchin and Band
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're In the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—Torch Song
PEPPER POT
No. 1—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 1
No. 2—Nickelette
No. 3—Contact
No. 4—If I'm Elected
No. 5—King Salmon
No. 6—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 2
No. 7—Babe O' Mine
No. 8—Dangerous Occupations
No. 9—Out of the Past
No. 10—Love Thy Neighbor
No. 11—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 3
No. 12—A Whale of a Yarn
No. 13—Africa Speaks—English
No. 14—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 4
No. 15—Sea Devils
No. 16—Parades of Yesterday
No. 17—Breakwater
No. 18—Little White Lies
No. 19—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 5
No. 20—You're Killing Me
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Little Miss Mischief
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell
No. 4—Notre Dame Glee Club
No. 5—Admission 5c		10
No. 6—Easy Aces
No. 7—Song Hits, with Roy Turk
No. 8—Harry Warren
No. 9—Laughs in the Law
SPORT THRILLS SERIES TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
TECHNICOLOR MUSICALS
No. 1—'Tis Spring		20
No. 2—Business Is a Pleasure
No. 3—Girl Trouble
No. 4—Morocco Nights
WORLD ADVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 6	20 (each)
Three Musketeers, The John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Whispering Shadow Bela Lugosi-Karl Dane-Malcolm MacGregor	Jan. 10
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe		20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Clancy of the Mounted	Feb. 27	20
Tom Tyler-Jacqueline Wells		(each)
Gordon of Ghost City	Aug. 14	20
Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy		(each)
Perils of Pauline	Nov. 6
Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen
Phantom of the Air Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

BIG SELECTION IN USED VENEERED AND upholstered theatre chairs at bargain prices. Replacement parts for all makes of chairs. Write ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., 1024 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H, MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

HIGH GRADE LENSES ANY SIZE OVER 5"; very cheap. BOX 326, MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 407 So. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.

SOUND SACRIFICE SPECIAL: TWO HOLMES portable projectors with New sound heads, Webster portable amplifier and speaker. Complete details. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

LABORATORIES—EXCHANGES—NOTICE! FOR immediate disposal metal stools 19 inches, $1.45; metal chairs 19 inches, $1.95; double rewinding tables, wired, $9.90 F.O.B.; rewinders $4.60 per pair. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 West 44th St., New York.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL SCOOP: TWO REbuilt Simplex projectors with reflector lamps and rectifiers complete. Fully guaranteed. Like new. Investigate this tremendous bargain. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

PAIR PEERLESS LAMPS LIKENU, $95.00 EACH; Roth 30-30 single phase generator, $150.00. THEATRE SOUND SERVICE, Rochester, N. Y.

TWO POWERS PROJECTORS WITH SOUND heads and amplifier. W. H. HARDMAN, Frankfort, Kans.

WANTED TO BUY

THEATRE EQUIPMENT FOR FIVE THEATRES. Projectors, motor generators, rectifiers, low intensity lamps and other moving picture theatre equipment including seats. OHIO MUSIC COMPANY, Lima, Ohio.

GOLD STANDARD CASH PRICES FOR ANY theatre equipment. Trades made. POSTOFFICE BOX 2042, DeSoto Station, Memphis, Tenn.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

DON'T PASS THESE UP—NRA BANNERS, $1.59; projector oil, 49c can; tickets, misprints, 10c roll; horn towers, $14.70; carbons 60% off; steel sound reels, 15", 89c; many others. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

AMPLIFIERS—OPTICAL SYSTEMS—SPEAKERS for Wide Range and High Fidelity recordings—sound heads correctly designed for perfect film travel—projector drives mechanically correct—individual designs for Motiograph, Simplex and Powers—and complete—no extras to buy. SCOTT-BALLANTYNE CO., Redick Tower Bldg., Omaha, Nebr.

RCA PHOTOPHONE DOWN TO A PRICE—brand new wide range soundheads complete, original factory serial numbers, originally $1,200.00, now $295.00. Trade your present soundheads while you can. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

PROGRAM PRINTERS

THE "RITE" THEATRICAL PRINTERS. A. J. LIPP COMPANY, 307 West 38th St., New York City. Phone: BRyant 9-8681.

POSTER EXCHANGES

LARGEST STOCK OF USED ADVERTISING AT best prices. Cash for your used paper on current releases. Write for samples of programs and heralds. PREMIER ADVERTISING SERVICE, 1717 Wyandotte, Kansas City, Mo.

SALESMEN WANTED

AN ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION TO MEN who are acquainted with theatres and who can sell premiums that will stimulate business. Send full particulars and references. STREIMER AD-SERVICE, 352 W. 44th Street, New York City.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

STILL ON GOLD STANDARD—WE PAY "SPOT" for anything you've got—trades taken, bargains galore. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

POWERS, SIMPLEX, OLD TYPE VERTICAL arc lamp houses with lamps, $25 per pair; Powers mechanism rebuilt, $40; Simplex mechanism, $135; 30 ampere rectifiers with bulbs, $150 per pair; photo cells for Western Electric, $6.75, for RCA, $5.75 guaranteed; reflectors resilvered, $4.90, work guaranteed; mechanisms repaired at bargain prices. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 West 44th St., New York.

BUY SAFELY, BUY RIGHT FROM A REAL organization operating its own factories under N.R.A. Money-back guarantee with S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

FOR FRAGRANT ATMOSPHERE IN YOUR theatre use De Jee. No foul odors can prevail where De Jee is used. Fill three times first week for saturation and thereafter according to one's taste. Four-ounce bottle and evaporator will last about six weeks. Thereafter filling once in two weeks will be sufficient. Introductory price $1, mailed prepaid. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 W. 44th St., New York.

HELPING OPEN SMALL THEATRES—SOLD ON trial. Famous Wide Fidelity sound complete $179.70 up; soundheads $49.50 up; portable sound film complete, $195.00; amplifiers, $50.00 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

SOUND PROJECTIONIST—14 YEARS' EXPERIence—can operate any equipment—non-union—will go anywhere. BOX 140-A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

MANAGER THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED IN circuit or independent theatre operations, seeks connection where merit will be recognized. Experienced in booking, buying films, personnel, publicity. Now employed. Highest endorsements. BOX 339, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SCREEN SERVICE

GUARANTEED SCREEN REFINISHING PROcess improves projection. Write for details. RAYTEX SCREEN COMPANY, 14117 Merchandise Mart, Chicago, Ill.

THEATRES

FOR RENT: MODERN BRICK BUILDING ON Main Street, not equipped. McCLINTIC BROTHERS, Midland, Texas.

In Almost Any

FEATURE PICTURE

. . . you are now likely to find sequences demonstrating that ingenious technical device, the composite shot. The foundation for those sequences is most likely to be Eastman Background Negative. Because of its amazingly fine grain, this special new film has been found ideally suited to the "shooting" of backgrounds that are to be projected and rephotographed. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN

Background Negative

HER FACE will be YOUR FORTUN

DOROTHEA WIECK

in Paramount's "CRADLE SONG"

"Maedchen in Uniform" definitely proved DOROTHEA WIECK'S great potentialities. PARAMOUNT...the only company that brought forth two great stars in the past year, MAE WEST and BING CROSBY...has taken great care to develop these by providing Miss Wieck with an exceptionally fine screen play written by Marc Connelly, author of "Green Pastures."

Directed by Mitchell Leisen

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

FIFTY MILLIONS PROFIT

That's the five-year record of Loew's and subsidiaries, and the net is $4,034,000 for the past year, surplus $33,700,000

CHIEF PARAMOUNT CLAIMS

A listing of claims representing $66,000,000; Contracts for $565,000 already liquidated; All claims examined by trustees

THE NON-STOP THEATRE

Every minute of the twenty-four hours is show time at the Detroit Roxy and every day has its profit; Silent sleepers welcome

Vol. 113, No. 7 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription, $3.00 a year. Single copies, 25 cents. November 11, 1933

SHOUT ABOUT PRIZE FIGHTER AND THE LADY
THE BIG NOISE OF YOUR LIFE
M-G-M's happy because you'll be happy!

WARNER BROS. DELIVER their 3rd hit of the week on Broadway in this story of a she-woman on the hunt for a he-man—certain that among 50 million males there must be one who'll fight for his honor — determined to find him if she has to test them all!...Take it from N. Y. Mirror, it's "warm entertainment"...Take it from Variety, it's "going strong" in first key date at the Michigan, Detroit ...Take it from us—any time after November 11th.

RUTH

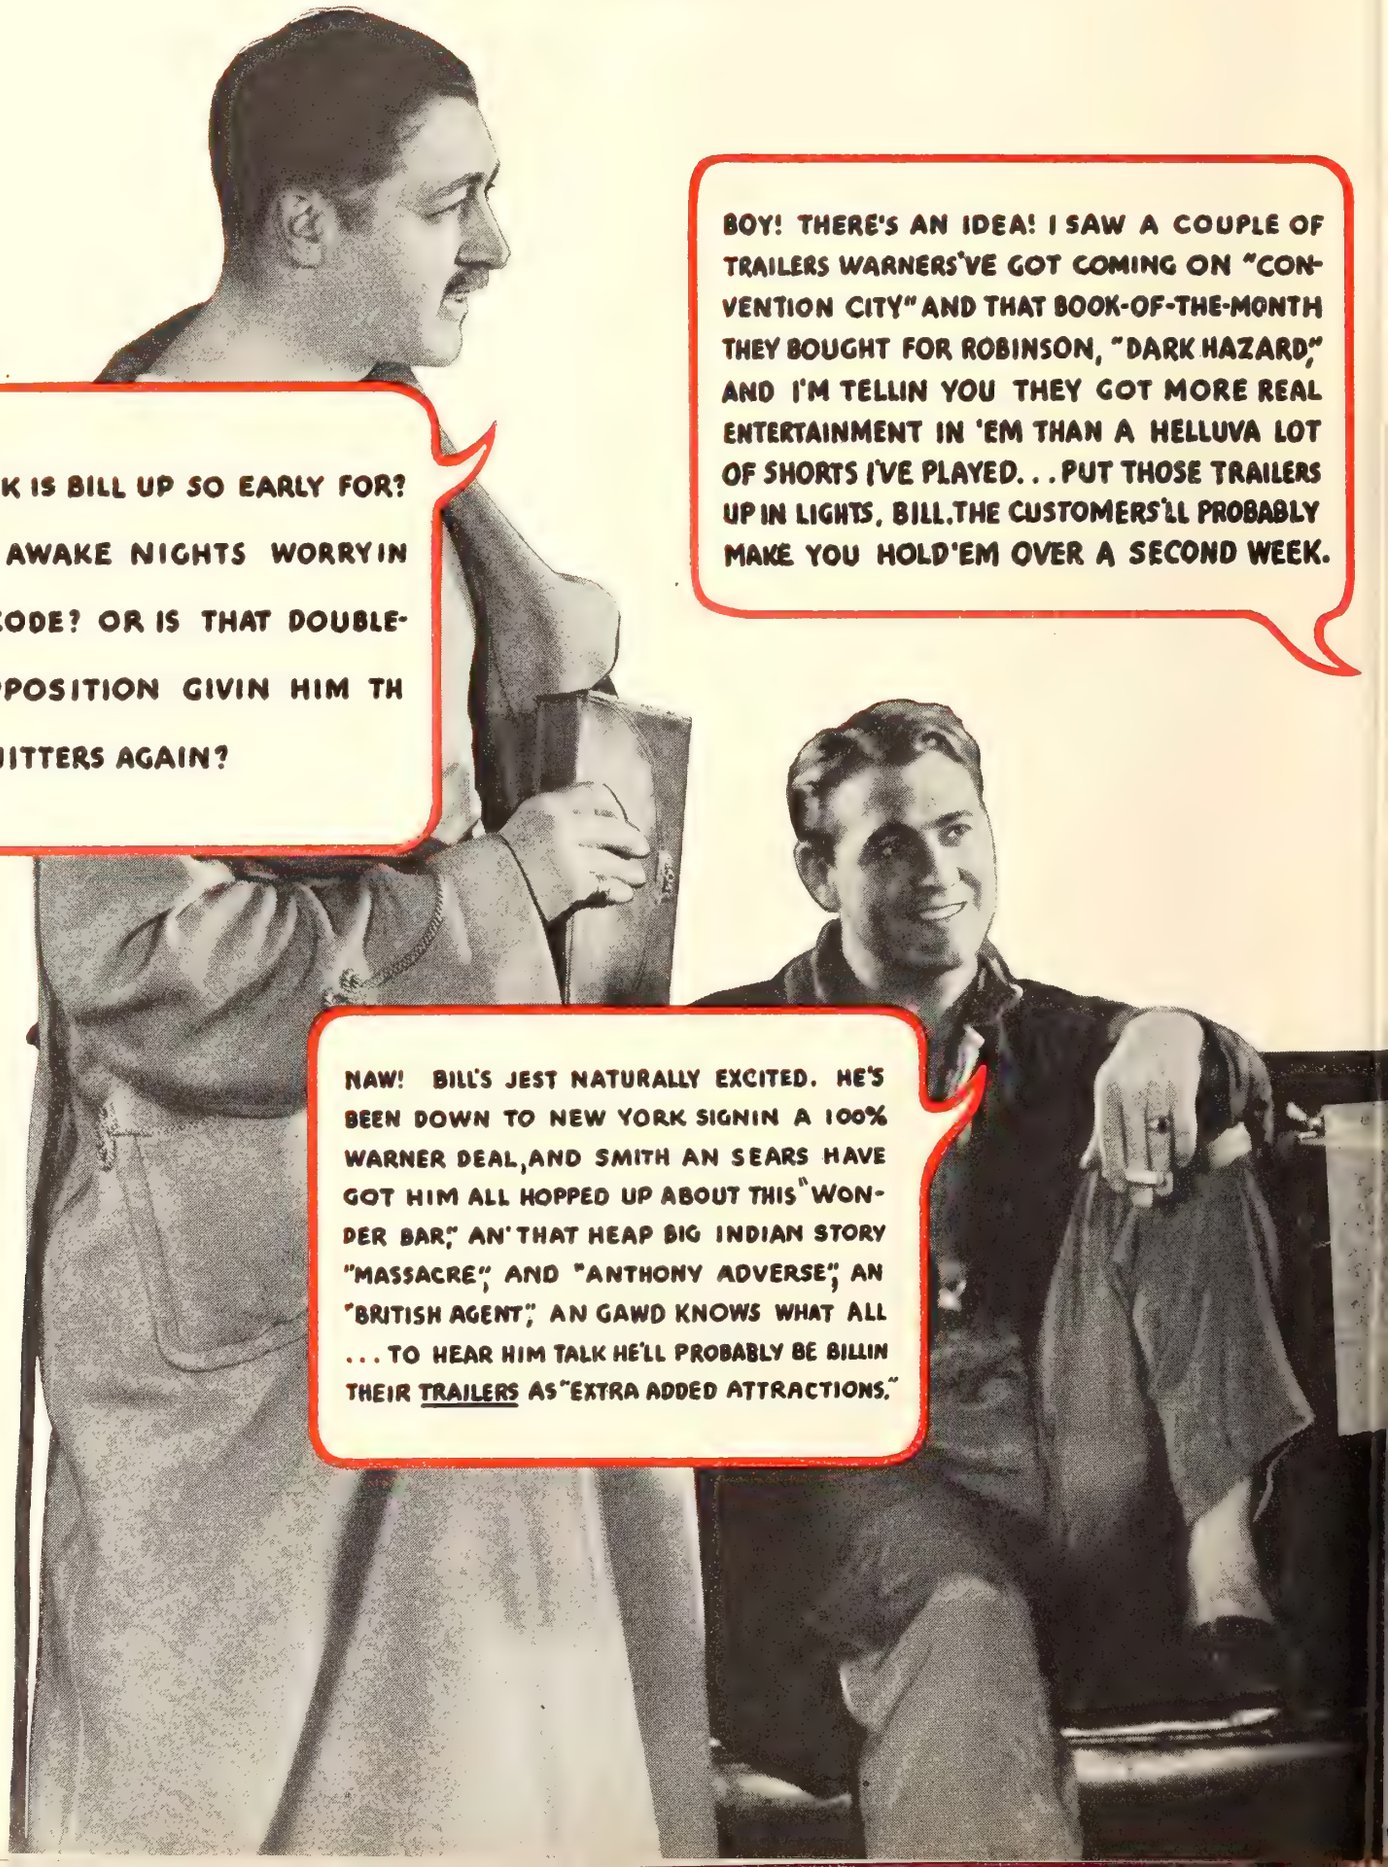
Chatterton

in

"FEMALE"

With George Brent, Johnny Mack Brown, Ruth Donnelly, Lois Wilson, Gavin Gordon in a typically lavish First National cast, directed by Michael Curtiz.

The Talk of the



WHAT TH HECK IS BILL UP SO EARLY FOR? BEEN LAYIN AWAKE NIGHTS WORRYIN ABOUT THE CODE? OR IS THAT DOUBLE-FEATURE OPPOSITION GIVIN HIM TH JITTERS AGAIN?
BOY! THERE'S AN IDEA! I SAW A COUPLE OF TRAILERS WARNERS'VE GOT COMING ON "CONVENTION CITY" AND THAT BOOK-OF-THE-MONTH THEY BOUGHT FOR ROBINSON, "DARK HAZARD," AND I'M TELLIN YOU THEY GOT MORE REAL ENTERTAINMENT IN 'EM THAN A HELLUVA LOT OF SHORTS I'VE PLAYED... PUT THOSE TRAILERS UP IN LIGHTS, BILL. THE CUSTOMERS'LL PROBABLY MAKE YOU HOLD'EM OVER A SECOND WEEK.
NAW! BILL'S JEST NATURALLY EXCITED. HE'S BEEN DOWN TO NEW YORK SIGNIN A 100% WARNER DEAL, AND SMITH AN SEARS HAVE GOT HIM ALL HOPPED UP ABOUT THIS "WONDER BAR," AN' THAT HEAP BIG INDIAN STORY "MASSACRE", AND "ANTHONY ADVERSE", AN "BRITISH AGENT", AN GAWD KNOWS WHAT ALL ... TO HEAR HIM TALK HE'LL PROBABLY BE BILLIN THEIR TRAILERS AS "EXTRA ADDED ATTRACTIONS."

NRA MEMBER

Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

Trade...

NERTS! YOU GUYS CAN'T RIB ME! I'VE SEEN THE SHOWS - AND I'VE SEEN 'EM PERFORM - "WORLD CHANGES" AND "KENNEL MURDER CASE" GOIN INTO 3RD AND 2ND WEEKS ON BROADWAY - AND CAGNEY'S "LADY KILLER," JOE BROWN'S "SON OF A SAILOR", AND CHATTERTON'S "FEMALE" COMING RIGHT UP! AND FOR THE REST OF THE LINE-UP, JUST REMEMBER THAT BY ACTUAL COUNT I'VE GOT MORE TALENT -STARS, DIRECTORS AN WRITERS - WORKIN FOR ME OUT AT THAT WARNER STUDIO THAN ANY OF MY OPPOSITION... LAUGH THAT OFF!

Clara BOW
in HOOPLA
PRESTON FOSTER
RICHARD CROMWELL
HERBERT MUNDIN · JAMES
GLEASON · MINNA GOMBELL
From the play "The Barker" by John Kenyon Nicholson
Stage play produced by Charles L. Wagner
Al Rockett Production
Directed by FRANK LLOYD
On a dare...
She started out to vamp a boy . . .
and ended by making him a man!
Join the upswing with FOX

NOV 11 1933 ©C1B 206600

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 113, No. 7 November 11, 1933

WORKING AGAIN

AS one scans the financial pages and some of the current news from Washington it would seem to be made clearer than ever before, if that were necessary, that the larger problems of the industry have not come from the screen. There was a day when executive leadership in the world of the motion picture was concerned chiefly, often exclusively, with the making and marketing of films. There was a day, too, when bankers ran banks almost exclusively for banking purposes.

Which brings us to the more cheerful observation that not in many a season past has there been so much evidence of earnest attention to production and its problems in the offices up and down Broadway as now. The treasurers and the lawyers are talking about bonds and debentures and financing aplenty, but the picture people are once again thinking and talking about pictures, and should be permitted to continue.

Through ordeal our industry has arrived at a point in the cycles of its evolution where it once again is healthily seeking to make money by making pictures. The disconcerting crying over spilt milk seems about over. And that, gentlemen, initiates recovery. The real wealth of the screen is in the endless, indestructible demand for entertainment.

△ △ △

"CRADLE SONG"

LAST week in this column we referred to Paramount's production of "I'm No Angel." This week, with considerably more pleasure, we refer to another Paramount production—"The Cradle Song."

Our first information on this new production was a bulletin from a shrewd observer in Hollywood who characterized it as "the most exquisitely beautiful story" he has seen on the screen. Our interest thus quickened, we hastened to a first-hand inspection.

One's first reaction to a current viewing of such a picture as "The Cradle Song" is likely to be one of amazement at the extraordinary versatility of a studio which in one month may produce, for instance, "I'm No Angel" and in another may bring to the screen this genuine achievement which is "The Cradle Song."

The Paramount organization is eminently entitled to some signal form of recognition for its courage and skill in bringing this latest production into the distinguished list of really fine motion pictures. In "The Cradle Song" an extraordinary heart-interest drama has been given a keenly sensitive and understanding treatment. Its whole execution has been achieved with skill and effectiveness.

It is a production that reflects credit upon the Paramount organization—and the industry as well.

Exhibitors will find that the advertising and promotion of this picture presents both a problem and an opportunity. The problem is to avoid anything of questionable taste which would be alien to the character of the picture; the opportunity lies in effectively sketching the novel and unusual appeal of the story.—M. Q.

△ △ △

FROM HUGH TO MAE

RESPECTFULLY, if you know what we mean, we direct the appreciative attention of NRA and General Woof-Woof Johnson to the very large service which the motion picture through the personality of Miss Mae West is rendering to national recovery.

On every hand are evidences that Miss West is setting a fashion in figures. She has pushed from the limelight the slender, slinking sirens and lolling lillies of the "Hollywood diet" era and gives us the return of the luscious lollypop type of robust appeal with the accent more on the bust than the ro.

And so goes upward and onward the demand for those beefsteaks on which Miss West diets, and away go the bans on the sweets and starches, the butterfats and the curve building dainties.

"Advertising Age" this week relates how a corset company is launching a campaign to "Make your figure a series of dangerous curves." Meanwhile Paris has taken cognizance of the style which is West and so we are off to a period of passionate consumption of the products and industries of the corn belt. And so do movies move the world. A blue eagle in sapphires from Hugh to Mae would be appropriate.

△ △ △

TEXAS GUINAN GOES

THE passing of the picaresque and picturesque Miss Texas Guinan has come rather precisely at the end of the era which she so capitalized and professionally typified. It was with gay, bitter Texas poignantly professional. She became mistress supreme of the carnival showmanship of nightlife playland not nearly so much because she liked it as because she saw, evaluated and could sell back to it its own mockeries. She had somewhat that same friendly scorn of utter understanding which characterized so much of the writing of the late Ring Lardner. She was once upon the screen in the days of old Triangle, but the motion picture never presented the real Texas Guinan of mordant wit and tragic laughter.

△ △ △

WITH times as they are, a count on the fingers will reveal that the power and the glory of executives in some phases of the motion picture industry are becoming well near as transient as the effulgence of stars.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone Circle 7-3100. Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago office, 407 South Dearborn street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Pacific States Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London office, 41 Redhill Drive, Edgware, London, England, W. H. Mooring, representative; Berlin office, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, J. K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Office, 19. Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autré, representative; Rome office, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassvti, representative; Sydney office, 102 Sussex street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City office, James Lockhart, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

KULTUR—AND "MAD DOG"

As in Berlin last week arose still further evidence of the Hitler fist, in the formation of a National Kultur Chamber, headed by Nazi propaganda minister Joseph Goebbels, designed to embrace all German art, including the screen, with the customary Hitlerian obligatory membership, came word that, despite strenuous Hays office opposition, Al Rosen, Coast casting agent, would proceed with his projected "Mad Dog of Europe," based on the Hitler career, cinematizing the lives in Germany, from 1914 to 1933, of a Jewish, a Catholic family. Film's nucleus: 7,000 feet taken in Germany in the past decade, smuggled from the country. Pending is Agent Rosen's suit naming the Hays organization, charging interference. Does Producer Rosen plead a cause, or grasp a box office opportunity? . . .

PLAGIARISM

Again and again arises the story bugaboo, plagiarism. Last week came such action, brought by Joseph L. Plunkett's Foremco Pictures, seeking $100,000 from Paramount, anent Foremco's European release, "M," charging defendant's "This Day and Age" a plagiarism. To Paramount, plantiff contends, went distribution rights to "M." Then came Hilterism, release delay, and meantime production, release of "This Day and Age." "Diametrically opposite" in theme, is defense reply: "M" has "a fiendish murderer of children;" the other has "depredations of schoolboy gangs." Saved trouble last week was Paramount when action to restrain production of "Death Takes a Holiday," based on alleged plaigarism of Myra Wyren's "Most," was summarily tossed out of court. Ideas cannot be copyrighted. . . .

COMPETITION

Into the motion picture distribution business on expansive scale has gone the University of Wisconsin, via its extension division. The town minus a motion picture, the theatre lacking adequate material, the school, club desiring "wholesome" cinema for community wellbeing, recreation, may receive a standard two-hour program. From the extension bureau of visual education may come programs singly or in "courses" of six weekly showings: five-reel feature, two-reel comedy, one-reel travelogue, educational film. Competition? . . .

ON THE BOWERY

One day at the age of 17 one George Anthony Connors, Jr., of New York City, learned that Chuck Connors, famously notorious "Mayor of Chinatown," King of the Bowery was his father. One day in 1933 Junior Connors, actor, brought a libel action against a New York theatre manager, the actual defendant to be United Artists and its Darryl Zanuck film, "The Bowery," rowdily, vigorously recounting the yarn of Chuck Connors, Steve Brody and the Bowery of the '90's. Admitted by the complainant was his signature on two letters of release, the receipt of $800 from two film companies, prior to production. Dismissed was the action when records indicated the plaintiff was nephew, not son, of Chuck Connors. "Deliberate," was the court's description of the libel charge. . . .

"SCHNOZZLE"

Terribly self-conscious, perpetually embarrassed would be the average possessor of a proboscis of gigantic, awe-inspiring, deBergerac-like proportions. But not so James Durante, once vaudeville player, now MGM screener. More than proud of his nose, he has dubbed it "schnozzle," played upon its proportions, made it a valuable showmanship property. As such, he seeks protection. Already in the U. S. Patent Office at Washington is he protected from unauthorized "schnozzle" use on jig saw puzzles, other games. Pending are copyright petitions on watch fobs, clothing, jewelry, foods. To Jimmy Durante's already tremendous nose is now appended a long list of numbers—patent variety. . . .

In This Issue

Loew's and subsidiaries, including MGM, net $4,034,000 in 1933, and 50 millions profit in five years — Page 9
Code runs into new delay — Page 10
Theatre operates every minute of the 24 hours and shows a profit each day — Page 11
Court action knots music copyrights — Page 12
A list of 400 Paramount claimants totaling 66 million dollars — Page 41
RKO net loss for year is being halved; consolidated cash now $2,414,529 — Page 56

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 20
J. C. Jenkins — His Colyum — Page 48
Asides and Interludes — Page 19

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 49
Showmen's Reviews — Page 27
Managers' Round Table — Page 61
Technological — Page 54
Short Feature News — Page 46
The Release Chart — Page 69
Box Office Receipts — Page 36
Classified Advertising — Page 74

BLUE LAW BLOWN

Swiftly into the limbo last week passed another ancient anachronism of legality, as decisively the commonalty of Georgia's Atlanta lifted the ban on Sunday performances, the council repealed the "blue law" ordinance of prohibition. Last Sunday for the first time Atlanta theatres opened, exhibited, but still not wholly unrestricted. There is yet a state law to be hurdled. Thus in Atlanta is it done: theatres, being permitted to operate on Sunday if fair charity is recipient of at least a portion of the proceeds, Atlanta houses contribute 10 per cent, have designated the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Home fortunate object. The nation progresses.

CONTRIBUTION

To the memory of a man who perhaps more than any other made possible the motion picture, this week has begun the erection of a testimonial in imperishable stone. On the lawn of Kodak Park in the Rochester to which he brought fame, is work progressing on a sunken garden, winding away from a central monument in which one day will be deposited the ashes of George Eastman, who in 1932 terminoted life as he did all things, with deliberate determination. Well may the motion picture industry bear in mind George Eastman's contribution. . . .

PARENTAL ATTITUDE

Faith in children, faith in the motion picture producer, or plain indifference marks the cinema attitude of many of the parents of Beaver Dam, Wis. From a recent study by the local women's club among students of the junior-senior high school emerge these film facts: average attendance at film theatres, once a week; in 428 cases no parental supervision exercised; in 121 cases supervision occasionally; mystery films most admired; those with love interest rated second; sex films, total lack of appeal. With Beaver Dam parents exhibitors have but little difficulty, apparently. . . .

SKUNK, GIRAFFE

Not yet by many a long day are the code difficulties of the motion picture at an end. Serious, troublesome arises this week on the Pacific Coast a new problem: a codification for domestic, wild animals under California state advisement. Opposed are producers to trainers' contention of individual wage scale for separate animals: giraffes, $500 daily; rhinoceri, $350 daily; elephants, $100; skunks, $7.50; snakes, rated according to length, but large boa constrictors, $100 daily. Fortunately under control is the subjects' collective voice in the code negotiations. . . .

LOEW 1933 NET IS $4,034,000; $50,000,000 PROFIT IN 5 YEARS

Surplus of Company and Its Subsidiaries, Including MGM, Is $33,700,000 for Year Ended September 1

Loew's, Inc., and subsidiary corporations, including Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer finished the year ending September 1—probably the most severe period of depression in motion picture history—with a net profit of $4,034,000, after all charges and dividends and with a surplus of $33,700,000; cash and government securities totaled $11,000,000 and assets of some $123,700,000, after deducting $21,000,000 for reserve for depreciation.

After payment of preferred dividends the net profit for the fiscal year was equivalent to $2.15 a share on 1,464,205 shares of common stock, which compares with a net profit of $7,961,314 for 1932, equivalent to $4.80 a share on the common.

In a footnote to the report, which was sent to stockholders last week by Miller, Donaldson and Company, C. P. A., it was said that cost of films released during the year has been amortized against rentals received on the basis of the company's experience during the fiscal year ended August 31, 1932, which they have determined to be substantially in accord with the rate at which rentals were received during the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1933.

Net current assets of foreign subsidiary corporations totaled $1,409,517, including $515,145 cash in banks which was subject to export restrictions.

Cash Position Better

There was slight change in the worth of the corporation's real properties, valued at $90,682,000, which, after depreciation of $20,994,483, were listed at $69,688,591, as compared with $71,470,000 in 1932 and $71,417,000 in 1931.

Liquid assets, however, showed improvement. Cash on hand, totaling $4,153,000, compared with $2,904,000 on August 31 of last year. In the line of short-term government securities, too, there was an increase of about $2,500,000 over 1931 holdings.

Inventories were about the same as last year, when $22,560,000 worth were on hand, these including films in work, completed and releases, books, rights, accessories and supplies.

Capital stock was recorded as follows:

Preferred—no par value:
Originally authorized—300,000 shares issued—138,349 shares $6.50 cumulative	$13,073,980
Common—no par value:
Authorized 4,000,000 sh.
Options authorized. 250,000 sh.
Issued 1,464,205 sh.	36,576,580
Total	$49,650,560

Loew's has investments of $14,651,000, holding stocks, mortgages and advances in affiliated corporations, and sinking fund requirements, deposits on leases and contracts.

There was a difference of $1,000,000 in total assets: 1933, $123,697,000; 1932, $124,784,000.

Current liabilities of $6,000,000 were $30,000,000 less than current and working assets.

Principal obligations outstanding are: $8,965,-

(Continued on page 12)

Five-Year Comparison of Loew And Metro Financial Operations

(For Fiscal Years Ending August 31)

ASSETS

	1933	1932	1931	1930	1929
*Property, bldgs., equip. land	$69,688,157	$71,469,780	$71,417,124	$68,938,699	$65,336,097
Due from affiliated companies	515,161	664,765	786,304	1,462,121	1,974,812
Cash	4,153,061	2,904,614	a5,766,635	a6,637,370	a8,356,436
Cash for construction	.....	.....	644,831	1,489,944	1,717,938
U. S. Gov't securities	7,075,143	5,527,313	.....	.....	.....
Accounts, notes receivable	1,621,918	2,089,768	2,031,629	2,888,444	2,504,833
Sinking fund requirements—anticipated	891,253	1,080,185	1,569,462	.....	.....
Advances to producers, secured; mortgage and interest payments	884,389	1,162,103	1,262,999	1,021,539	1,667,563
Inventories: films in work, completed and released; books and rights, advertising accessories, theatre and studio supplies	22,171,287	22,560,309	27,966,536	27,860,352	23,566,230
Investments in stocks, mortgages; advances to affiliated corp.; deposits on leases, contract, misc.	13,760,272	13,818,694	14,525,985	14,821,819	14,922,491
Deferred charges	2,936,947	3,507,415	3,461,639	3,513,073	4,177,224
Total	$123,697,591	$124,784,946	$129,433,144	$128,633,361	$124,223,624

LIABILITIES

	1933	1932	1931	1930	1929
Common stock	$36,576,580	†$36,576,580	†$36,576,581	$34,348,805	$32,082,520
Preferred stock	13,073,980	§13,276,966	§13,721,683	13,869,103	14,023,800
Bonds, mortgages of subsidiaries	19,795,208	20,482,767	21,173,446	23,997,870	26,312,599
Debenture bonds	8,965,000	9,934,000	10,707,000	11,695,000	12,694,000
Subsidiary stock outstanding	4,571,938	4,690,819	4,815,426	4,938,446	5,561,453
Accounts payable	4,312,185	3,651,719	4,481,905	5,630,834	7,364,890
Notes payable	89,872	65,584	42,363	193,296	408,676
Sinking fund payment	.....	.....	1,000,000	1,048,500	667,000
Dividends payable	429,704	65,683	67,356	69,124	70,894
Federal state tax	478,255	821,149	1,364,418	1,427,483	1,190,109
Accrued interest	526,685	565,397	617,085	716,911	783,433
Advances, affiliated companies	87,275	177,314	146,196	230,268	141,646
‡Accounts payable	.....	.....	154,000	210,500	¶413,236
Contingent reserve	113,750	149,175	.....	.....	.....
‡Notes payable	147,900	147,990	152,446	500,000	500,000
Deferred credits	828,839	617,016	697,091	972,919	1,284,285
Earned surplus	33,700,322	33,562,787	33,716,148	28,784,302	20,725,083
Total	$123,697,591	$124,784,946	$129,433,144	$128,633,361	$124,223,624

CONSOLIDATED OPERATING STATEMENT

	1933	1932	1931	1930	1929	TOTALS FOR FIVE YEARS
Gross income	$80,772,191	$107,416,036	$120,479,511	$129,521,029	$116,201,937	$554,390,704
Expenses, amortization, etc.	73,997,951	93,289,960	101,609,074	107,120,614	97,770,774	473,788,373
Depreciation, bldgs., equip., etc.	3,673,325	3,850,915	3,831,180	3,470,573	2,748,686	17,574,679
Federal taxes	516,780	986,943	1,554,489	1,893,137	1,607,789	6,559,138
Minority interests' share, affiliated corporations	94,268	1,002,046	1,321,485	2,094,688	1,967,662	6,480,149
M-G-M preferred dividends	302,890	324,858	333,289	341,685	350,070	1,652,792
Net profit	4,034,289	7,961,314	11,829,994	14,600,332	11,756,956	50,182,885
Preferred dividends	893,405	927,451	946,354	953,963	969,800	4,690,973
Common dividends	2,925,171	5,856,567	5,710,786	4,817,122	4,034,076	23,343,722
Surplus	33,700,322	33,562,787	33,316,148	28,784,301	20,725,083	.....

*After depreciation. †Represented by 1,464,205 no par shares. ‡Long term. §Represented by 140,497 no par shares. ¶Includes long-term notes payable. a Includes call loans.

LEA HOLDS UP CODE AND INDUSTRY WAITS

Independents Answer Johnson After Warm Session With Administrator and Intimation No Big Changes Will Be Made

The motion picture code appears unable to get through the doors of the Presidential sanctum at Washington. Rumbles of internal strife in the National Recovery Administration this week threatened to delay submission of the document to President Roosevelt for several days, possibly until the return next week of Administrator Hugh S. Johnson from the Midwest.

Colonel W. R. Lea, administrative assistant to General Johnson and acting administrator during his absence, is responsible for the present delay. General Johnson, before leaving Washington, had ordered the code taken to the White House early this week by Solomon Rosenblatt, NRA deputy, and Colonel Lea, after conferences with representatives of complaining independent exhibitors, principally Allied.

As given the virtual approval of Johnson, the code was practically unchanged from the third draft submitted by Mr. Rosenblatt.

Colonel Lea Not Satisfied

Colonel Lea later intimated he was not fully satisfied with the code and declared he would not sign Johnson's name to any document about which he had any doubts.

The delay is proving irksome to all branches of the industry. Reports have reached Washington from Ed Kuykendall, president of the MPTOA, that exhibitors in small communities, who were released from obligations to the President's re-employment agreement by executive order issued last month, said NRA compliance boards have been creating difficulties for them which will not be abated until the industry's own code, whose provisions are considered less onerous than those of the general re-employment agreement, has been signed.

Distributors Complain of Delay

Distributors complain that the delay is making it impossible for them to consummate sales contracts with exhibitors. And the producers charge difficulties due to uncertainties regarding distribution phases.

Executives and workers on the western front were awaiting outcome of Washington deliberations on the salary clause penalizing the offering of "excessive inducements," understood to be the only provision of the document in which any drastic amendment may be made.

A feature of the general code situation this week was a proposal by Gerard Swope of General Electric, a member of the industrial advisory board of the NRA up to November 1, that a national chamber of commerce and industry be created, to which would belong all trade and industrial associations, to take over for permanent administration the work now being performed by the NRA. Mr. Swope's plan was approved by General Johnson, but has not been looked upon with any great degree of favor by the White House.

Amendment of the film code was discussed at conferences between General Johnson and representatives of the independent exhibitors on October 31 and between Colonel Lea and the same group on the following day. It was indicated by General Johnson that no important changes would result.

In turning the code over to Colonel Lea, the administrator emphasized that it was solely to avoid delay and was in no way a criticism of Mr. Rosenblatt, explaining:

"I have received Mr. Lea's report and discussed it at length with him and I find that the charges made against the deputy administrator are wholly without foundation, and that the complaints made with respect to the code are based principally upon fear and suspicion that just decisions may not be made by the administrative boards set up in the code, and, further, that others of the complaints could not be taken care of in the code without the invasion of legal rights."

The administrator's statement and the intimations of few changes drew from Allied the retort that in view of these facts it was "necessary that authentic information regarding the negotiations be given the exhibitors."

Allied Outlines Steps

Outlining the steps leading up to the conferences, the statement said:

"At the meeting in General Johnson's office the exhibitor representatives were questioned as to their objections to the code, and in the course of this discussion Mr. Rosenblatt became highly incensed, stated that he was not prepared to defend the code and that he understood the purpose of the meeting was to consider the charges made against him in the resolution. When it was suggested that Rosenblatt had shown bias he relieved the committee of the necessity of pursuing that subject by freely admitting, in the presence of General Johnson, that he was absolutely prejudiced against every exhibitor in the room.

"It is not believed that it will serve any good purpose to air all features of the controversy at this time. General Johnson has seen fit to issue a statement exculpating Rosenblatt of all 'charges.' The facts are a matter of record in General Johnson's office and form the background for any steps which may be taken under Rosenblatt's code (assuming that it is approved in the form last disclosed to the exhibitors) to injure the independent theatre owners in their business, particularly in the matter of zoning and protection.

"Your committee believes that whatever other changes may or may not be made, the code when approved will contain safeguards against the invasion of the legal rights of the exhibitors under existing laws and decrees," it was declared.

Hearings on the proposed music publishing code, barring song "plugging" in lobbies, came to a quick conclusion when Mr. Rosenblatt refused to accept a schedule of discounts and minimum prices proposed.

The Southeastern Theatre Owners Association has signed the code, and other state exhibitor groups were planning to hold early conventions. The MPPDA also signed late last week, as an association, which supplements the signatures of individual company members delivered recently by Will H. Hays to Mr. Rosenblatt. United Artists remained the lone company which has not signed.

Although there is no clause in the code which specifically mentions the "right to buy," a demand of independent exhibitors, Charles L. O'Reilly, head of the New York Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, said last week he believed the much discussed issue is met by an interpretation which he places on Part 2, Section 5, dealing with grievance boards.

Louis Krouse, assistant to William C. Elliott, president of the IATSE, is in Washington preparing to set up offices for the International. Purpose is to be near the administration on code matters pertaining to labor.

Thalberg Defends Production Costs In "Post" Article

A defense of the often decried "excessive" cost of producing motion pictures is expressed by Irving Thalberg, in charge of production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, in an article, "Why Motion Pictures Cost So Much," appearing in the issue of November 4 of The Saturday Evening Post. The article was written in collaboration with Hugh Weir.

Mr. Thalberg points out the unique problem which is the motion picture by reason of the fact that it is a combination of art and industry, a creative business. The production executive, in the article, criticizes the attempts on the part of bankers and financial experts to restrict expenditures where he feels they should not be pared, in the production of pictures. Mr. Thalberg agrees that the something which is wrong with the film industry is waste, some of which occurs in Hollywood. But neither studio expense or star salaries, Mr. Thalberg contends, is an important factor in the waste which raises the price of film rentals to the exhibitor and therefore the price of admission to the public.

The great preponderance of Hollywood product is produced on a reasonable cost basis, the article indicates, and the contention is made that it would be unwise to seriously decrease that cost under present conditions. Not in Hollywood but between Hollywood and the public lies the real answer to why pictures cost so much, Mr. Thalberg says. In the distribution system is the first place to look, he contends, and points out that the losses the industry—and theatres—have to absorb is the root of all extravagance in the motion picture business.

The drain of the unsuccessful picture, if permitted to continue, means the doom of the picture business regardless of whether prosperity returns or not, declares the executive. Motion picture companies have spent more than $100,000,000 a year to sell their pictures to the public, which he contends is excessive. In the boom years between 1927 and 1929, according to the article, the industry spent about $150,000,000 a year for production. That expenditure produced at the box offices of the world about $2,000,000,000. The product cost only 7½ per cent of the total gross. Even in the depression period, says Mr. Thalberg, production still was only 10 per cent of the total gross.

Griffith to Revive "Intolerance"

Absent from the screen for nearly a decade, D. W. Griffith's "Intolerance" will return, beginning next Tuesday, at the Fifty-fifth Street Playhouse, New York, to inaugurate a series of motion picture revivals in aid of the New York American Christmas and Relief Fund.

Cameramen With Byrd

John Herrmann and Carl Peterson, Paramount newsreel cameramen, joined Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and his Antarctic expedition last weekend at Cristobal, in the Panama Canal Zone. They will make a film record of the trip into Little America.

24 HOURS A DAY—ALWAYS PROFIT

Best Hours of Detroit Roxy Are From 10 to 4 a.m., But 1,500 Attend Between 4 and 9 a.m.

It's always show time at Detroit's Roxy theatre—every minute of the 24 hours. The non-stop house, owned and operated by Ben and Lou Cohen and managed by Phil McNamee, has returned a profit each day since its doors were opened almost a year ago.

Most all-night houses are open only 18 hours a day, instead of the implied 24; but not so with the Roxy. Its doors are swung wide all the time, and no matter what the hour, anybody wishing to go to the show can gain admittance. And there are plenty whose desire to see a show seizes them during the wee sma' hours of the morning. According to Mr. McNamee, who produced charts to bear out his story, the average attendance for each 24-hour (noon to noon) period is 4,000. Of this number, about 1,500 come into the house between the hours of 4 and 9 A. M. While during those hours the attendance is at its lowest ebb, usually 300 to 400 will be found in the house at any time during that period. Believe it or not, the best hours are from 10 P. M. to 4 A. M., after which the crowds begin to dwindle. Any time between those hours the house, which seats 1,400, is as likely to be full as not.

And who comprise the audiences during those hours? They are the tradesman whose work keeps him busy during the daylight and early evening hours, restaurant keeper, the factory worker on odd-hour shifts, the cab driver, cabaret and vaudeville entertainers, dance hall patrons, musicians, doctors, occasional insomnia sufferers and of course not a few recruits from the ranks of the unemployed.

Any one going into the Roxy for the first time at any hour between midnight and dawn will, like the writer, probably be surprised to find that the audience differs but little from that found in the average first-run or neighborhood houses. A few patrons will be dozing comfortably but on the whole there is a spirit of attention and enjoyment, and an atmosphere of general good order.

Solved by Campaign

This condition can be attributed largely to the fact that the management, when the house was opened, conducted a vigorous campaign to dispel the prevailing impression that an all-night theatre is patronized largely by rowdies and bums. It was made known from the start that no disorder of any kind would be tolerated, and this policy has been strictly followed. The result is that the hustler, the flirt, the rowdy steered clear of the Roxy.

Realizing that in these days there are many with price of a movie ticket who haven't the money for a hotel or lodging house room, the Roxy management has a liberal policy in regard to "sleepers." Only those who flop all over the place, and give vent to explosive snores, are asked to leave —and their money is refunded.

Naturally, a house running 24 consecutive hours a day, day after day for months on end, presents not a few problems of maintenance.

At 6 A. M. a battery of cleaners descend upon the place and politely ask the customers to move over on the left side of the house. Then the floor, which is concrete beneath the seats but covered with a special type of rubber tile elsewhere, is washed down with a hose. Large drain holes located just below each end of the stage carry off the water in a jiffy. Mops are quickly and thoroughly applied and the floor is soon dry. The seats are dusted, the patrons are invited to move over to the cleaned section, and the process is repeated on the other side of the house. There's no noise, no confusion, and little to distract the attention of the customers—unless they happen to find the cleaning process more interesting than the picture.

Always a Reserve Projector

To guard against any mechanical interruptions, the Roxy management has equipped its projection room with three Strong Type HR "High-Low" projectors, each fully equipped for sound. Two are used to carry on, while daily a third is dismantled and repaired where necessary. Each machine, therefore, gets a thorough overhauling every third day. This careful maintenance program has kept breakdowns per machine to a minimum, and, except for breaks in the film, has permitted continuous showing since November 6 of 1932.

Sound is provided by the latest Western Electric apparatus, equipped with the new "wide range." Spare vacuum tubes for the amplifier are kept always heated, so that when one blows a new one can be inserted immediately. Two generators work in 12-hour shifts each.

Smoking at the Roxy is permitted from 9 P. M. to 9 A. M., and no matter how many fags are burning in the place the air is always as clear as the proverbial crystal. That's because of the very efficient ventilating system. This is in reality a combined heating and ventilating system.

Fresh air, drawn in through vents in the roof, passes through a series of radiators which are cooled in summer and heated, by central heat, in the winter. Passage through these radiators brings the temperature of the air to 70 degrees, and it is then ready to be distributed throughout the theatre. This task is entrusted to an immense turbine-like fan which forces the air, via a series of ducts, into the theatre from strategic points which have been selected so as to prevent drafts. This fan at top speed can force 62,000 cubic feet of fresh air into the house every minute.

Foul air, and this of course includes smoke, is carried off through nine grills, three large ones in the center of the ceiling and three smaller ones on each side. A large, four-bladed, airplane type exhaust fan, turning at high speed, creates such a suction that cigaret smoke is carried almost straight up from the smoker's mouth, and so quickly that other patrons don't notice it, nor does it interfere with their vision.

TALKING FILMS COME TO TOWN

To the inhabitants of several towns in northern Ohio, W. J. Wannenmacher, industrialist, is something of a good Samaritan. He has leased a string of silent theatres in the district and is presenting one-night performances with portable RCA sound equipment. To date Mr. Wannenmacher has leased the Strand, in Neffs; Gem, Holloway, and Capital, Harrisville. Not one of these towns has ever had sound motion pictures, and many of the inhabitants, report their benefactor, have never seen — and heard — a talking motion picture.

Wynn Leaves Radio Company; MGM Rejects Use of Studio

Ed Wynn, radio and stage comedian, has retired as president and director of the Amalgamated Broadcasting System, organized last spring and beginning on the air September 25. The reason given was that the comedian had concluded he was a showman and not a "radio technical executive." He is continuing broadcasting.

Meanwhile the Amalgamated studio facilities were offered to Major Edward Bowes and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, but were rejected, Maj. Bowes said Tuesday.

Metro definitely is interested in acquiring new broadcasting studios, Maj. Bowes said, but a station for the company's new broadcasting activities soon will open at Astoria, L.I., and eventually will supersede WRNY, WQAO, WHN and WPAP, all of which are owned by M-G-M. The new studio will be operated in connection with the new transmitting station.

Rowson Heads New British Company

Simon Rowson, who for years was executive of Ideal Pictures, Ltd., absorbed by Gaumont-British, is heading a new company just organized in London under the name New Ideal Pictures, Ltd., chartered to produce and distribute.

NBC Restores Salary Cut

The National Broadcasting Company has restored a 10 per cent salary reduction to its employees, effective November 1. All employees on the payroll as of April 1, 1933, date of the last reduction, will receive the increase.

COURT ACTION KNOTS MUSIC COPYRIGHTS

Ohio Judge Throws Out Company Suit on Evidence Night Club Orchestra Played Music by Ear, and Not by Note

Musical compositions which are played by ear, and not by note, do not constitute a violation of the copyright law, according to an Ohio court.

Establishing what might become a precedent in copyright infringement cases as regards music performance rights in motion picture theatres and other places of amusement, Judge Benson W. Hough, in U. S. district court, Columbus, threw out a suit in October filed by Famous Music Corporation against Raymond F. Crawford, Steubenville, Ohio, night club proprietor, for alleged featuring of an orchestral number without permission of the copyright owners. The court said, according to the report from Columbus, that the evidence presented did not indicate a violation, on the grounds that the music had been played by "ear" and not by note.

The possibilities of such a decision—if it is sustained—in its relation to the playing of and payment for copyrighted music are immediately apparent, although the music copyright interests, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, denied this week that the "by ear" question was the gist of Judge Hough's decision.

Society Denies Decision

The Society denied that such a decision was made; said that the Judge had not declared that music played by ear was not a violation of copyright; that the Columbus newspaper reporting the case had "got their signals mixed," and that Judge Hough had stated, to their Columbus representative, that he had been "grossly misquoted" and that no question of "by ear" or "by note" had entered into his disposition of the case.

What the Society did say was that the decision was made on the grounds of insufficient evidence and that the night club proprietor apparently had been able to prove that the selection in question "had not been rendered." With a consensus, however, that no publisher would take such a matter to court were there any doubt as to whether the number actually had been played, it appeared that the court's action was taken on the basis that Mr. Crawford was able to prove the composition had been played by ear.

$860,000 for Performing Rights

Although the American Society's chief function, insofar as the exhibitor is concerned, is to collect the yearly tax of 10 cents per seat for the rights to reproduce, for profit, the music contained in motion pictures, it sometimes finds it necessary to institute similar suits against exhibitors for alleged violations of copyright through musical selections played in theatres by organists, pianists, and sometimes, orchestras. The Society collects approximately $860,000 annually for these performing rights.

Since 1914 motion picture theatres have been paying royalties for performing rights to the Society and in that time they have rolled up a grand total of some $12,000,000. In 1925 there were 19,000 musicians employed in motion picture theatres; in 1932 there were only 3,000, a status attributed to the general business decline and the talking picture. Now, with business improving, the Ohio action takes on added importance as employment increases.

The American Society said this week it was entirely satisfied with Judge Hough's disposition of the Crawford case and that Famous also was not contemplating any appeal.

Doubt General Application

However, if exhibitors, music, dance hall and night club proprietors are to be allowed to "get away" with such evidence as apparently was presented at Columbus, the Society might as well discontinue its present copyright coverage of music played by ear, in the opinion of several New York attorneys, who however assumed that Judge Hough's disposition of the case must have been based on some purely technical point which was not made known to the public.

"It sounds a bit far-fetched that a judge would make such a decision on these grounds," one attorney said. "It also does not sound reasonable that a music publisher would take such a case to court unless he were sure of his ground. Therefore, there must have been something we do not know about."

A transcript of the records of the case as presented to the court has not been obtainable.

Another attorney advanced the opinion that he did not believe such cases were common occurrences, nor did he see any likelihood that they might become so. He cautioned exhibitors against attempting to set this case as an example.

A third legal opinion was that there was a possibility the defendant had argued he never had heard the piece of music in question, and that the "by ear" rendition was his own composition, or that of the person actually playing it. Under copyrighted law, it was explained, if two or more persons conceive identical pieces of music, unknown to one another, at the same time, theoretically they each own a copyright on the music. This, it is understood, holds true even in instances where the two or more compositions are identical, even to note and general arrangement. However, the composer who first copyrights his piece has prior rights.

It was revealed in Baltimore that the Music Users' Protective Association of America, newly formed in that city, was planning a request to Congress for a Federal investigation into the activities of the American Society. The Baltimore association also wants an amendment to the copyright laws. Harry Leeward Katz, attorney for the association, said last week that General Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery Administrator, will be given allegations that unemployment is being caused in the Baltimore territory by the American Society through the "exorbitant" licensing demands they make.

Loew's 1933 Net Set at $4,034,000

(Continued from page 9)

000 of 15-year six per cent debentures, due 1941; $11,460,708 of bonds and mortgages of subsidiary corporations; $8,334,500 of first lien six per cent bonds of subsidiary, due 1947; total, $28,760,000.

Also outstanding are $4,571,938 of outstanding Metro-Goldwyn preferred stock.

Earnings Heavy in Summer

The 12 weeks from June 8 to August 31 were the most profitable of the year, although the summer months are usually the dullest period in motion picture earnings. For the 40 weeks ended on June 8, the net profit was equivalent to $1.12 a share on the common stock, indicating that for the 12 weeks thereafter it was approximately $1.03 a share, against eight cents a share in the 12 weeks ended on June 8, which brought to a close a period during which the industry suffered considerably in the reaction which followed the closing of banks nationally.

Gross Income Is $80,000,000

Loew's and its subsidiaries, principally MGM, grossed $80,772,191 in the 1932-33 period, in theatre receipts and rental and sales of films and accessories. Charged against this were theatre operating expenses, including film rentals for Loew theatres, totaling $26,749,984; film distribution costs, $9,165,330; amortization of films, $24,020,287; film advertising accessories, $579,280, and producers' share of film rentals, $4,371,693, or a total expense of $64,886,578. The picture and theatre companies, therefore, earned a gross profit in operations of some $15,885,613.

Rentals of stores and offices brought $2,508,609, but expenses in this connection totaled $5,753,867, of which $3,530,270 was spent for rent on leased properties, and $2,223,597 for real estate and other taxes.

There was $568,484 paid out for interest on debentures; $1,114,743, for interest on bonds and mortgages, and $516,780 in federal taxes.

Metro Declares Dividend

Metro-Goldwyn Pictures Corporation has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 47½ cents on the preferred stock, payable December 15, 1933 to stock of record November 24.

Allied Meeting Delayed

The annual meeting of Allied of Michigan, scheduled for this week, has been postponed to some time in December. Postponement was decided to await completion of the code, so that it might be presented to the session. The meeting will be held in Grand Rapids, rather than Flint, as originally intended.

Winchell on Another Vacation

Walter Winchell, columnist on the New York Daily Mirror, has been given a leave of absence due to illness. Paul Yawitz is substituting in the conduct of the column. Broadway rumors had Mr. Winchell resigned, but they were unconfirmed.

Trans-Lux Opening Another

Trans-Lux Theatres late this week will open a new theatre of that name in New York, at Madison avenue and 60th street. Major L. E. Thompson is president of the company.

You can't go wrong!

Take a Chance

"Oh, Mahatma!" James Dunn, with Cliff Edwards' assistance, reads Lona Andre's mind.

Buddy Rogers and June Knight furnishing the Love Interest

Cliff Edwards . . . does it with his ukelele!

"TAKE A CHANCE" was the one big smash hit on Broadway last year. Week after week it packed 'em in at $4.40 top at the Apollo Theatre for thirty-three consecutive weeks.

Laurence Schwab who produced this success, now brings it with all its laughs and music to the screen. William Rowland and Monte Brice, the "Moonlight and Pretzels" boys, are associated with Mr. Schwab in this project. Bobby Connolly, ace Broadway dance director, staged the dances. Buddy DeSylva, Vincent Youmans, Lew Brown and Richard Whiting helped Mr. Schwab with the book and the music. New numbers have been added, and "Eadie Was A Lady" remains as ever, "a lady".

"Should I be Sweet
June Knight

or Hot?"
Lilian Bond

"...She has Klass with a Capital K!"
Lillian Roth singing "Eadie Was a Lady!"

"TAKE A CHANCE"

with JAMES DUNN
JUNE KNIGHT LILLIAN ROTH
CLIFF EDWARDS LILIAN BOND
DOROTHY LEE LONA ANDRE
CHARLES "Buddy" ROGERS

A Paramount Release. Produced by Laurence Schwab in association with William Rowland and Monte Brice.

IF IT'S A PARAMOUNT PICTURE IT'S THE BEST SHOW IN TOWN!

MEET THE CHAMP!

PARAMOUNT

takes great pride in announcing that

WEST

in

"i'm no angel"

with Cary Grant, directed by Wesley Ruggles has broken all existing records for attendance at those theatres in which it has played in NEW YORK, BOSTON, CHICAGO, DETROIT, BROOKLYN, NEWARK, ROCHESTER, SYRACUSE, BUFFALO, WASHINGTON D. C., INDIANAPOLIS, and it has topped attendance records of the past two or three years in CINCINNATI, KANSAS CITY, NEW ORLEANS, ATLANTA, SAN FRANCISCO and other cities too numerous to mention . . . In many cases, the business done by this picture has been three and four times as great as that of the other pictures playing against it.

IF IT'S A PARAMOUNT PICTURE IT'S THE BEST SHOW IN TOWN!

DOROTHEA WIECK

in "CRADLE SONG"

. . . . if it's a
PARAMOUNT
PICTURE
it's the best show in town

a PARAMOUNT PICTURE

ASIDES & INTERLUDES

By JAMES CUNNINGHAM

Mr. Louis K. Sidney, Loew executive, said the other day that, in all the years he has been connected with the company's Capitol theatre on Broadway, he has never given an opinion prior to the opening of a picture at the theatre. "However," he added, "after seeing 'The Prizefighter and the Lady' in preview, I cannot refrain from saying that it is by far the most entertaining picture I have ever seen—and wait until you see Max Baer!!—Max will be the male Mae West of the talkies."

Just at that moment, John L. Sullivan turned over in his grave.

▽

One of our leading motion picture executives sent word the other day to the White House that he was agreeable to swapping autographs with the President.

▽

The motor car in which Archduke Ferdinand of Austria was assassinated, on June 28th, 1914, and from which incident the World War started, has finally gone Hollywood, making its motion picture debut in Radio's "After Tonight," current release about a woman spy who works along the Austrian-Russian frontier. Its historic bullet holes still show on the old imperial Austrian gray.

▽

We call the attention of the stern censors of Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Kansas, Virginia, et al, and to other critics of motion picture morals, the highly commendable fact that, in order to keep films clean, the smokestacks of Kodak Park in Rochester are built as high as any in the world.

▽

Johnny Chapman relates the one about a customer who ankled up to Paul Dauer, on duty at the New Amsterdam theatre box office, near Times Square, and asked for two tickets for the mezzadora. Later in the evening, Paul informed a patron that there was "Standing room only." "What!" said the customer. "No sitting!"

▽

Just when the industry has about completely patched up the differences between adversaries in the fight over a double bill clause for the NRA code, along comes a theatreowner showing 42 reels on the same program.

The Philkino theatre in Philadelphia, started out the other midnight with an assorted lot of features and shorts, some 42 reels in all, in English, American, Hollywood and whatnot.

The patrons couldn't take it, though. One hundred dwindled down to about 16 just before closing, and when a single reel was flashed on the screen, 15 got up and departed in a body. Only one person appeared to be watching the show, but, upon investigation, he was seen to be sleeping. This disqualified him, and the management closed the place, although it was prepared to run until ten a. m., if necessary.

▽

Time flies, especially in the film business, as witnessed by the following:

Item on page two, Motion Picture Daily, November 1:

William Anthony McGuire has sold "Disillusion" to Fox for early production.

Item on page four, same paper, same issue:

Fox has taken "Disillusion" from the shelves and has handed it to William Conselman to work up into screen material.

MR. BABY LE ROY STANDS UP for the first time. But Paramount's costumer evidently does not know his poker. The babe's part in "Alice in Wonderland" is that of the Deuce of Spades.

And this, we hope, is the last story ever to appear on this page about those Three Little Pigs:

It seems that the owners of the Flatbush theatre, on Church Street, in Brooklyn, decided to follow the trend (advt.) and so booked Mr. Disney's cartoon. Not stopping there, they imported from a Jersey farm, three live, squealing piggies for display purposes. A good idea. But then the big, bad wolf appeared on the scene, in the person of Irish Roy Mulligan, who flashed a badge, or something, and said that, as a representative of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, he protested that the pigs were overcrowded in the cage and did not have sufficient room to exercise. (Paging Bernarr Macfadden.)

Martin Block, assistant manager of the theatre, appeared in court in answer to a summons, and told Judge Walsh that not only did he follow specific instructions on how to care for the pigs, but he had even provided them with little sweaters to ward off the chilly Flatbush breezes which swept up the street.

▽

We refuse to take any blame for the following story, which was sent from Cincinnati by our Ohio operative, Edwin Mayer:

An itinerant beggar, accustomed to sleeping in so-called "flop rooms" of police stations the country over, was looking for a place to snooze shortly after arriving in Cincinnati.

Meeting a theatre manager near the Film Building on Cincinnati's Film Row, the itinerant asked, "Say, Buddy, can you direct me to the nearest flop house?"

"What do you mean, flop house?" the manager asked, very indignant, and a bit self-conscious.

Twenty-five years ago last Sunday, Charles Evans Hughes was re-elected governor of New York; William Howard Taft was swept into the presidency by a tremendous vote, and Will H. Hays, an up an' comin' Sullivan, Indiana, lawyer, was celebrating his 29th birthday.

▽

A Chinese who recently died at a great age had married 63 times. It is competition like this that makes our motion picture industry feel its infancy.

▽

News Item—

"The hope that out of the years of depression may come a better understanding by those at the top of business for those at the bottom was voiced today by Mrs. Roosevelt."

But nothing has resulted along this line, so far—except a better understanding of those at the top by those at the bottom.

▽

Dr. Erna Gunther, director of the University of Washington museum, is somewhat disturbed because motion picture "Indians" are using in westerns a Hollywood conception of the costumes and customs of the northwest Indians, which is causing the northwest Indians to change to the costumes and customs of the Hollywood Indians, which is ruining the costumes and customs of the northwest Indians. Or something like that.

▽

GOVERNOR NAMES MAE WEST KENTUCKY COLONEL—Headline.

Laffoon has made Mae West a colonel.
How kind! And yet by the Etolonel!—
We suspect that his game
Is to get his own name
On the front page of each daily jolonel.
—Tom Daly, Phila.

In acknowledging the commission to the governor by telegraph, Mae said: "Thank you for your courtesy. You interest me and I promise to reverse the process and come up and see YOU some time, anytime."

▽

According to a statement issued by the Descendants of Rashi Association, and passed on by Philadelphia's Jay Emanuel, Mike Landow, Universal exchange manager in the Quaker Town, is a member of that aristocracy. The Landaus (Landows) are descended from David, King of the Israelites, of royal blood, and privileged to marry into the families of Prince Edward, King Alfonso or any others who still have their crown.

Rabbi Solomon Rashi, a Bible commentator of 1033 A.D., started it all.

▽

O. O. McIntyre tells about the handicaps John Barrymore, now a distinguished actor, overcame in reaching his place in the sun. His initial days were marked by what seemed insurmountables. He had a way of gawking on, pigeon-toed, with feet far apart, and some of his pronunciations, according to Oscar Odd McIntyre, smacked of South Brooklyn's "foist" and "woist." During the year preceding his amazing success in "The Jest," Mr. Barrymore put himself in the hands of a coach who ironed out difficulties by eight hours a day of rigid discipline. He'd awaken Barrymore out of a sound sleep to see if he would still pronounce Cuba "Cuber."

▽

Roxy's Music Hall at Radio City uses 14 projectionists. They have to throw it a long way.

THE CAMERA REPORTS

FROM RADIO TO FILMS. Eleven-year-old George Breakston, NBC performer, has been signed by Columbia for the lead in "No Cannons Roar" (tentative title). Shown: Director Frank Borzage, Jo Swerling, adaptor; George, and his mother.

NOT A MOTION PICTURE. But the real thing—for so, we are told, Joan Blondell, Warner star, and her husband, George Barnes, surveyed havoc wrought by flames in their new home. (The still photographer musta answered the alarm!)

RECORDING EXPEDITION. The two cameramen who will bring back the story of the second Byrd exploration of Little America. They are John Herrmann and Carl Peterson, who are shown with their equipment prior to joining the expedition.

MAKES DEBUT. A new personality of whom Universal expects great things—Margaret Sullavan, in "Only Yesterday."

RETURNS. Lloyd Hamilton, Educational star of other years, who is back with that company, in the Mermaid series.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? If anything, this Colgate University football star will be a comedy team all by himself, his name being Woolsey Wheeler. Naturally, Robert Woolsey and Bert Wheeler, RKO Radio comedians, are cheering for Colgate.

VISITS AMSTERDAM OFFICE. Sam Morris, vice-president, at Warner headquarters in Holland the other day. Shown are Mr. Morris, Phil Kaufman, Warner general manager for Central Europe; and J. Wetsel, manager for Holland.

KID TYPE. (Below.) And an appealing one, is Buster Phelps, who becomes an addition to the roster of screen youngsters in Monogram's "Broken Dreams."

IN MOTHER'S FILM. Maria Dietrich, eight-year-old daughter of Marlene Dietrich, as she makes her debut in Paramount's "Scarlet Pageant," starring her mother.

BEGINS CAREER. Alma Lloyd, who becomes a screen player in Fox's "Jimmy and Sally." Miss Lloyd is 19 and the daughter of Frank Lloyd, noted director.

THE HORSE LAUGH. Which many have given and others have taken but which few have actually seen—until now, when Heather Angel, Fox star, presents "My Girl" of the Du Brock stables in Hollywood, in an effective demonstration of the real thing.

NAVAL VISITORS. Join film celebrities on a First National set. Front row: Hal B. Wallis, production executive; Al Jolson, Secretary Claude A. Swanson, Bette Davis, Admiral D. F. Sellers, William Powell. Second row: William Koening, production executive, and behind him, Director William Dieterle; Edward G. Robinson, Rear Admiral C. P. Snyder, Rear Admiral T. J. Senn, Capt. H. R. Star, Capt. Edgar Woods, Frank McHugh. And for good measure, a sextette.

EXHIBITORS WOULD PICK STORIES FOR NEW BRITISH 'CO-OP' COMPANY

Bryson Proposes 1,000 Independents Finance Producing Organization; Would Buy Studio for 12 Films a Year

by BERNARD CHARMAN of London Correspondence Staff

A champion has come forward to fight for the cause of the British independent exhibitor.

His name is James Van Bibber Bryson, his occupation was formerly that of managing director of the British distributing end of Universal Pictures, before which he was an executive for some years of the company in America.

His shining sword is a plan to establish a concern with the gallant title of the "Empire Co-operative Friendly Film Society," whose function will be to produce films for distribution by the independent exhibitors.

Independents To Finance Plan

The independents will be called upon to finance the venture, and Mr. Bryson is calling for a total capital investment of £52,500 sterling (approximately $250,000). He thinks he should get a thousand or more independents interested, so that the contribution of each will not be heavy.

And the profits!

It's all down in figures, listed and documented, showing how, on a capital of £52,500, a yearly net profit of £40,000 can be realized—a dividend of nearly 77 per cent!

According to a special document, Mr. Bryson stipulates that he is not committed to go forward with the next move until all the required capital has been obtained.

Would Equip Studio

But when it does materialize he will acquire and completely equip a studio at Elstree (presumably the old Blattner layout), so as to go into production in ninety days. He plans to make 12 pictures a year, for distribution among the exhibitors in the Society, and expects to be able to rent floor space to outside producers for 22 weeks a year, at a nominal rental of £500 per.

The "Co-op" Society will be run by "territorial representatives," and the pictures to be made will be chosen from a list of subjects submitted by the exhibitors themselves through their elected representatives. Members of the Society will have first right to the pictures, but will not be bound to accept them.

To reassure the Kinematograph Renters' Society, which is opposed to cooperative booking, Mr. Bryson's document declares the concern will not distribute pictures other than those it makes itself.

There is also a hint of cooperative purchase of theatre equipment.

Approval of the Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association is being sought for the project, which is compared by its sponsors with the original First National organization whose history you all know.

Following are the budget figures presented by Mr. Bryson for APPROPRIATION and APPROXIMATE COST of putting studios into operation:

APPROPRIATION and APPROXIMATE COST of Putting Studios Into Operation

Cost of studios, freehold building and existing equipment	£25,000
Fees, stamp duties, etc.	1,000
Cost of complete lighting equipment	4,000
Soundproof mobile unit of both studios	4,000
Two, three or more of the latest cameras	2,500
Sound equipment and complete sound van	5,000
Furniture and fixtures to equip offices, dressing rooms, etc.	1,000
Stock (lumber, scenery, etc.) and cash in hand	10,000
	£52,500

PROFIT on Contract for Rental of Studio for the Making of Twelve Productions Each Year—One Production Every Four Weeks

Studio rental each year, based on a price of £500 a week	£24,000
Rental for hire of studio for productions other than those of the Co-op Friendly Societies—22 weeks each year at £500 per week	11,000
Profit on electrical current, labor and materials supplied for productions	15,000
	£50,000
Deduct overheads and general expenses of running studio	10,000
ESTIMATED YEARLY NET PROFIT	£40,000

British & Dominions, producing company and one of the units linked up with United Artists, has just made a very encouraging financial statement. The report is on a half-yearly basis, owing to a financial adjustment.

More Than Full Year 1931

Over the last six months the company reports a profit of £19,463. In the full year of 1931 the total profit was only £17,004, while last year the company made £30,740. It is clear, therefore, that on the ratio of a full year the latest figure is a progressive sign.

Concurrent with its report, B. & D. announces a drastic reduction in its working capital, which is to be written down from £299,120 to £74,780. The concern over the last three years has been pulled back to a stable footing from a position of virtual bankruptcy.

Once the situation has been cleared up, it is reported that plans are to be advanced for a further capital reconstruction by means of an issue of stock.

Hubert J. Marsh, chairman and managing director of B. & D., to whose efforts the reorganization is largely due, is recuperating from a breakdown directly attributable to his unsparing efforts.

▽

CEA Loan to Institute

A loan of £500 has been made by the CEA to the National Film Institute, which is going to pump us all full of uplift, in order to help it along until the necessary Government appropriation comes along. KRS is making a similar offer, it seems.

Some exhibitors are moaning at this idea of gratuitously backing an organization which, they contend, will interfere with their own free trading. Institute, they say, already is guaranteed a portion of their receipts from Sunday opening, and they should not be called on to assist it further.

The situation, however, has been put succinctly by C. P. Metcalfe, prominent Leeds exhibitor. He says: "You can't stop this thing going forward. It is established by Act of Parliament, and it will go on whether we want it or not. If our trade is not represented on it, then it is quite likely it will be left to what you call 'busybodies,' but if we work in with them, we can probably have some influence on what they do and how they do it."

There is no question of the trade not being represented in the Institute, as three of its nine governors are declared associated with the industry. So it's possible for the trade to play alongside them.

Only the question is what they're going to play at!

British & Dominions Shows Healthful Profit for Six-Months Period; Exhibitors Make Loan to Film Institute

Marie Dressler's Birthday Honored

Marie Dressler's birthday celebration Thursday is being signalized in the mailbag, on the radio and in many other forms of special "happy returns of the day." One is a scroll signed by President Roosevelt and by governors and mayors as well as many thousands of others.

Wally Caldwell of the Toledo Valentine theatre obtained permission from Postmaster General Farley to place a temporary government mailbox in the lobby. In Syracuse, Postal Telegraph messengers delivered doorknob heralds. The Nashville Banner front-paged a poetry contest for an MGM prize, and in Cobourg, Canada, the mayor is heading an observance in the little frame-house where Miss Dressler was born 62 years ago.

On the radio, tributes are coming from "Uncle Don" from the Capitol theatre broadcast in New York, from Phillips Carlin, Edwin C. Hill, Perry Charles and other news commentators. A gala dinner on the Coast is being broadcast.

Elmer Pearson Joins DeVry As General Manager

Elmer Pearson, for many years vice-president and general manager of the Old Pathe company, has become general manager of the Herman A. DeVry Company, of Chicago.

At the same time it was announced that DeVry would market a new camera for double, single, as well as bi-pack recording, along with a new straight feed portable.

Group Leaves Ohio MPTO

Independent Theatres at Akron, O., have left the MPTO of Ohio, and affiliated with the Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association.

To Meet on Picture Club

Action to decide the future activity of the Motion Picture Club in New York has been deferred for two weeks. The directors are scheduled to meet again on November 10.

LOVE MADE THEM FORGET...FOR A FEW MAD HOURS...THAT THEY WERE ENEMIES!

ENTRANCING
AS AN ANGEL...
DANGEROUS
AS THE DEVIL!

She knew that her days were numbered . . . but to a spy what matters "After Tonight"?

★

You've never seen the Glamorous Bennett more alluring . . . or love scenes more tantalizing . . . than in this story of a love that had a day to live!

CONSTANCE Bennett

in

"AFTER TONIGHT"

with

GILBERT ROLAND

★

Directed by George Archainbaud
MERIAN C. COOPER, Executive Prod.
H. N. SWANSON, Associate Producer

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

RKO Radio PICTURES

Flashes from th
THE BEGINNIN
APPLAUS
BERED
Katharine
HEPBURN
in LITTLE WOMEN
With
JOAN BENNETT
PAUL LUKAS
FRANCES DEE
JEAN PARKER
Edna May Oliver
Douglass Montgomery
Henry Stephenson
Directed by GEORGE CUKOR, MERIAN C. COOPER, executive producer, Kenneth Macgowan, associate producer.

Hollywood Preview . . .

OF A NATION'S THUNDEROUS FOR "A PICTURE THAT WILL BE REMEMTALKED ABOUT AND RELEASED LONG AFTER THIS GENERATION HAS PASSED"

"Honestly, reverently and beautifully made, with Katharine Hepburn and her supporting players happily fitted to the film version, "Little Women" is superbly done and impressive."

Daily Variety — Oct. 31, 1933

★

".....showmen's dream of the ideal attraction —and that means a golden rain across the counters of every theatre in the country until the superstitious exhibitor will begin to believe that Hepburn was put on earth especially to lead him out of the wilderness of depression.....

".....Artistically, it can be declared the finest production Radio has ever turned out. It will challenge comparison with the best productions that have come from any other studios. It's no trick to predict that it will be listed among the masterpieces of the industry by critics of all canons and degrees of fastidiousness.....

"....."Little Women" is a picture for the classes and the masses—for Main Street and Park Avenue —for the man who can't read or write and for the wizard who is master of 14 languages—for young and old, for boys, girls, men, women.....

".....The box-office will tell the final story on "Little Women"—and what a story it will be!— but the entire motion picture industry and the American public can rejoice that 1933 gave them this picture, whatever disappointments it may have passed out during its run."

Hollywood Reporter, Oct. 31, 1933

HOT . . . From HOLLYWOOD!

By GWYNN.

(Special to the Daily Mirror by Telegraph.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1.—The preview in Hollywood last night of "Little Women" almost caused a minor flood around the theatre where it was shown. As the film unwound, men, women and children wept copiously and unashamed into the aisles, nearly drowning a couple of ushers. But what a picture! It is an orgy of tears, but beautifully balanced with smiles, and the simplicity and beauty of George Cukor's direction put him second to none in the megaphone ranks. Katharine Hepburn outshines even her former performances, and Joan Bennett, Paul Lukas, Jean Parker, Frances Dee—in fact every member of the cast is someone to rave about. You won't be sorry that this classic of your childhood days has been screened—and we had to give you an advance notice—because we're that enthused about it

PROUDLY PRESENTED TO THE THEATRES OF THE WORLD BY

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

WHAT'S RIGHT WITH FILM CODE

Rosenblatt Too Smart for the Industry's "Smart-Alecks," Says R. H. Cochrane of Code Hearings

by R. H. COCHRANE
Executive Vice-President of Universal

Now it can be told.

The main trouble with the motion picture code, as finally okayed by the administration, is the fact that the man who played the major part in drafting it proved just a little too smart for the smart-alecks of the industry.

Of course I mean Mr. Rosenblatt.

Here is what happened:

Weeks and weeks before even a first meeting was held in New York to discuss any provisions of the code, Mr. Rosenblatt began to study the practical side of the motion picture industry.

He devoted his first and deepest study to the men who have swayed its destinies, or have attempted to do so. He made the most exhaustive search into their records. They knew nothing of this. But he looked them up, among friends and enemies.

Long before he met them face to face, he had catalogued practically every producer, every distributor and every exhibitor who was worth cataloguing.

He knew which of these men were worthy of belief; which ones were in the habit of shooting off their mouths; which ones had some special ax to grind; which ones were unselfish; which ones were on the level; which ones were making their living out of stirring up trouble. He had a pigeon-hole for each one.

Next the Problems

Next he studied the real problems of the business. He looked into the merits of block booking; of blind booking; of double features; of protection; of zoning; of the forcing of short subjects with features; of a thousand and one other things which have made trouble in the business for years.

Then he studied the laws applicable to all phases of the picture industry; the law as laid down by the NRA act; the laws as adjudicated in legal scraps between exhibitors; between exhibitors and distributors; between distributors; between producer and distributors and exhibitors. He studied the records in every lawsuit of importance which has affected any arm of the business during the past quarter of a century.

He analyzed the contract forms under which pictures have been leased over a long period of years. He studied the terms of franchises under which one or more producing companies have leased their pictures to chains of theatres.

He delved into the relationships between producing companies and their own theatres; and between producers and the chains of theatres owned by competing producers; and between distributors and independent theatres.

He investigated the labor problems of the business, in studios, in exchanges and in theatres.

These things are but a fraction of the deep and intensive studies he made before a single public hearing was ever held.

The amazing thing, to me, was that all these investigations left him with an open mind. It was open but it was aware. It knew what was what in the picture business and I must confess that although I have been in the business for more than a quarter of a century, the Rosenblatt mind, through an intensive study, had marshaled more facts about the industry than my own mind ever had.

So it was with this sort of preparation that Mr. Rosenblatt opened the public and then the private hearings in Washington.

I doubt whether any code hearings, in any industry, have been so thoroughly prepared in advance as ours. Whether it was oil, steel, coal, cotton or anything else, I seriously doubt that any deputy administrator knew so many facts in advance as this Mr. Rosenblatt knew about the insides of the movies.

I was among those who spent a solid month down in Washington trying to work out a decent code. I was among those who were somewhat stunned to discover that no matter what subject we talked upon, Mr. Rosenblatt was ready for us with an array of facts which challenged the imagination. What threatened to become a nightmare, proved to be a delight, for there is nothing more gratifying than to discover that the judge before whom you are presenting a case has a well grounded knowledge of all the salient facts.

Still an Open Mind

Picture what a joy it was to realize that the judge (in this case, Mr. Rosenblatt) knew as much as we did about the merits of every problem; he knew who the crooks were; he knew what selfish interest motivated every man who spoke on every or any subject; he had all the background and all the atmosphere of every important matter.

When Mr. Rosenblatt decided a point against my own best judgment, believe it or not, I was in a mood to believe that he was right and I was wrong. I have always thought I was rather opinionated, but I confess I yielded my judgment to his in more cases than he yielded his to mine—and he made me like it.

And what was the outcome?

Well, I think it was the safest code which could be drawn in a highly competitive and highly individualized industry. I cannot see how anyone who is on the level can possibly be hurt by any provision of it.

I think it is poison for the selfish operator in any branch of the business. I think it will raise the very devil with the snipers who have been the fringe of the business for years and have made a dishonest livelihood out of their sniping. I think it will help to convert the unethical into the ethical; the indecent into the decent.

That's a hell of a lot for any code to accomplish!

Mr. R. H. Cochrane of Universal Pictures Corporation finds himself pleased to the point of spontaneous

R. H. COCHRANE

SOL ROSENBLATT

expression with the performance of Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator of the National Recovery Administration, and with the code for the motion picture industry which has been evolved largely under Mr. Rosenblatt's supervision.

Mr. Cochrane holds that the code is such that " . . . no one who is on the level can possibly be hurt by it," and that " . . . it is poison for the selfish operator in any branch of the business."

This is the first voluntary expression of unqualified approval of the code to come from a first rank motion picture executive, or from among those who participated importantly in the code conferences. It is fitting that Mr. Cochrane's outgiving should be presented in the columns of MOTION PICTURE HERALD, where the code making and makers have been these several weeks the subject of a vast deal of careful reporting and considerable comment. — THE EDITOR.

Veteran Projectionist Dead

Albert M. Irwin, 64, operator at the Rialto theatre, Hamilton, Ohio, died suddenly at his home there last week. He was was the oldest projectionist in point of service in the locality, with 30 years in the business.

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

My Lips Betray

(Fox)

Comedy With Music

Very definitely a comedy with a touch of music, this latest starring vehicle for the attractive and completely vivacious Lilian Harvey, late of Europe, can not be sold as a musical show with any real accuracy. Immediately Miss Harvey becomes the focal point of the exhibitor's merchandising of the picture, with mention of her previous effort, "My Weakness." The fact that the film is the adaptation of a stage play will be of no consequence to the audience, the playwright in this instance being completely unknown.

It is true that in this picture there is less marquee material ready to the exhibitor than in the previous effort. Playing opposite Miss Harvey is John Boles. Whether his name presents marquee strength is something for the individual showman to decide for himself, knowing best his patronage. El Brendel can be counted upon for a considerable following. The other cast names mean very little, though Maude Eburne contributes a measure of comedy as well.

The cinderella-like story is one of those fanciful yarns of the fanciful Kingdom of Ruthenia, situated somewhere in the one-time much-kingdomed Europe. Miss Harvey attempts a job as singing entertainer in a beer garden, and is a dismal failure at the moment Brendel, the king's chauffeur, partakes of beer en route with the king's new car, a veritable hotel suite on wheels. Taken with Miss Harvey, Brendel drives her home in the king's car, and immediately springs up the widespread story that Lili is the king's favorite. As the beer garden proprietor makes frantic efforts to have Lili return to his employ, Miss Eburne, her landlady, takes upon herself the post of manager. Meanwhile, in the palace, Boles, the king, hears about the girl who is the favorite he has never seen, rather enjoying the palace furor his "affair" is arousing, and investigates.

She is all that a favorite might well be in her ingenuous manner, and he proceeds to make love incognito, and rather successfully. He is at the same time under the necessity of promising to marry a princess, as the only adequate means of balancing the national budget. Lili is, meanwhile, the hit of the beer garden. Entertaining comedy enters, when, in the course of her conversations with her lover, she mentions the manner in which the king is so attentive to her. Brendel finally brings word that the game is up, and she is summoned to the palace. There she meets her lover, learns he is the king, and it all comes out when oil is discovered in the kingdom, which takes care of the budget-balancing problem in a fashion almost too simple to be convincing.

The film is light and entertaining, with an attractive song number or two, and an intriguing title with which the exhibitor should be able to do something. Broadcasting the song through loudspeakers in the lobby should prove effective in catching pedestrian attention, and much should be made of the new role of Miss Harvey. The comedy angles should be emphasized, while too much perhaps should not be made of the mythical kingdom idea, since that is in a measure threadbare as a motion picture theme. Promise light, amusing entertainment.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Directed by John Blystone. From the play, "Der Komet," by Attila Orbok. Screen play by Hans Kraly and Jane Storm. Dialogue by S. N. Behrman. Music and lyrics by William Kernell. Photographed by Lee Garmes. Dance direction by Sammy Lee. Sound recorder, W. W. Lindsay, Jr. Art director, Joseph Wright. Musical arrangement, Hugo Friedhofer. Release date, November 10, 1933. Running time, 79 minutes.

CAST

Lili ..... Lilian Harvey
King Rupert ..... John Boles
Stigmat ..... El Brendel
Queen Mother ..... Irene Browne
Mamma Watcheck ..... Maude Eburne
De Conti ..... Henry Stephenson
Weininger ..... Herman Bing

Duck Soup

(Paramount)

Comedy

Here's another truckload of hilarious nonsense from the irrepressible comedy four, the Marx Brothers. The series of gags has some old, many new, all of them vigorous laugh generators. Clocking the laughs is almost impossible—they come so fast, furious and foolishly—but there are enough for half a dozen regular comedy riots.

Of course the brothers, Groucho particularly, are the whole works. Louis Calhern, Margaret Dumont, Edgar Kennedy and occasionally Raquel Torres, figure importantly in the amusement creation. The rest of the cast are atmospheric stooges, the butts of all the tomfoolery. In many ways this picture departs radically from the Cocoanuts-Animal Crackers-Monkey Business-Horsefeathers brand of merriment-making. Harpo doesn't drag in his harp, only once tearing at piano chords, and Chico stays away from the piano. Specialties eliminated, concentration is on straight fun-making, and girl glamour is absent.

Continuity means little in stories of this type. The locale is a mythical state of which Rufus is prime minister, a position he attained by wheedling enough dough out of Mrs. Teasdale to keep the country going. The plot apparently is forgotten as the gag parade begins. A peanut vendor and hat swapping-destroying stunts are the vanguards in which Brownie, Chicolini and the Vendor participate. Plenty of related fun interluding, all of which is noticeably clean, next comes a revival of the two person mirror gag, expertly and hilariously done. Trentino's plotting puts the gimmick on affairs of state, and Mrs. Teasdale is taken for an audience delighting spin as Brownie and Chicolini impersonate Rufus. Assuming the role of dictator, Rufus goes to war with Trentino's country, the high spot of which is his ridiculous burlesquing of Paul Revere's ride. Nobody knows or cares whether the whole thing is tied together. It's all fun and anything resembling logical screen technique would be out of place.

You'll probably figure that when this show comes along, it will be only necessary to stick up a title and cast name shingle and then leave on a vacation while the dough rolls in regardless. But if you want to cash in on the full value of this show, you'll go to work on it. There's a world of ballyhoo and exploitation possibilities to supplement your straight advertising and publicity. The funnier and more luridly insane you make everything, both stunts and copy, the better it should be for the box office. While references to previous Marx smashes should prove helpful and should be in every campaign, there's enough funny amusement in "Duck Soup," the title alone suggesting any number of topical tricks, to let it stand on its own. Get over the idea that there's fun for everyone.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Leo McCarey. Story, music and lyrics by Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby. Additional dialogue, Arthur Sheekman and Nat Perrin. Music Adviser, Arthur Johnston. Art directors, Hans Dreier and W. B. Ihnen. Photographer, Henry Sharp. Sound, H. M. Lindgren. Running time, 80 minutes. Release date, Nov. 17, 1933.

CAST

Rufus T. Firefly ..... Groucho Marx
Brownie ..... Harpo Marx
Chicolini ..... Chico Marx
Bob Roland ..... Zeppo Marx
Mrs. Teasdale ..... Margaret Dumont
Vera Marcal ..... Raquel Torres
Trentino ..... Louis Calhern
Zander ..... Edmund Breese
First Minister of Finance ..... William Worthington
Secretary of War ..... Edwin Maxwell
Agitator ..... Leonid Kinsky
Secretary ..... Verna Hillie
First Judge ..... George MacQuarrie
Second Judge ..... Fred Sullivan
Second Minister of Finance ..... Davison Clark
Prosecutor ..... Charles B. Middleton
Third Judge ..... Eric Mayne
Peanut Vendor ..... Edgar Kennedy

Little Women

(Radio)

Romance, Drama, Comedy

Replete with story and production values, "Little Women" also provides the exhibitor with a wealth of showmanship material in actors and acting, direction, photography, literary and technical treatment. The screen entertainment is in the drama, romance, comedy, character, thrill, pathos and tragedy, all emotionally human and tenderly sentimental.

There are other values, too, readily evident. From an American classic, read by millions, there is already a large potential in-hand audience. In Katharine Hepburn is a grand box office name. The production is attuned to the Thanksgiving and Christmas season mood. The picture was made with realism and authenticity in complete harmony with the spirit of the Alcott novel. The cast faithfully interprets the original story. The treatment carries undeniable appeal to all womanhood. The production is clean, sweet and beautiful all the way through to the point of being ideal.

The handicap, if there is one, is whether the show will appeal to the hey-hey modernes—the 18 to 25 year old gang which seems to be yelling for something snappy, spectacular and jolting in all its entertainment. There is no modernism in "Little Women." There are no sock-in-the-jaw smashes to knock 'em out of their seats. Rather there is a simple, real and powerful story of life that should be driven home strongly in the campaign.

Always in action and dialogue there is an intelligent, finely handled effort to induce the reactions of tears, smiles and an occasional belly-laugh.

Where "Little Women" is a prestige picture, it is also class and mass entertainment of the highest caliber. Most fathers and mothers will understand it as an epic of life as they have lived and dreamed life. At the same time, while the story has always been one that

John

COU

A Great Star's Greatest Picture!

•

Another Big One from
UNIVERSAL

BARRYMORE
NSELLOR AT LAW

With BEBE

DANIELS

DORIS KENYON

ONSLOW STEVENS, MELVYN DOUGLAS, ISABEL JEWEL, THELMA TODD, MAYO METHOT and a great cast. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Directed by William Wyler. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

•

Elmer Rice's sensationally successful stage play pictured with all its mighty punch, plus the added power that only the screen can impart!

adults consider ideal for juveniles, the picture appears deep for youthful understanding and it is long.

For the group at the end of the teen age, or just over it, use an impressive, straight-from-the-shoulder, truth-telling advance campaign, boldly challenging them to see this picture and say that the heart of little women of yesterday is any different from the heart of little women today.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by RKO Radio. Executive producer, Merian C. Cooper. Supervised by Kenneth MacGowan. Directed by George Cukor. From the novel by Louisa May Alcott. Screen play by Sarah Y. Mason, Victor Heerman. Photographed by Henry Gerrard. Art directors, Van Nest Polglase. Sets by Hobe Erwin. Musical director, Max Steiner. Costumes by Walter Plunkett. Sound recorder, Frank H. Harris, Film editor, Jack Kitchin. Running time, 107 minutes. Release date, Nov. 24, 1933.

CAST

Jo ..... Katharine Hepburn
Amy ..... Joan Bennett
Fritz Bhaor ..... Paul Lukas
Meg ..... Frances Dee
Beth ..... Jean Parker
Aunt March ..... Edna May Oliver
Laurie ..... Douglass Montgomery
Mr. Laurence ..... Henry Stephenson
Marmee ..... Spring Byington
Mr. March ..... Samuel Hinds
Hannah ..... Mabel Colcord
Brooks ..... John Lodge
Mamie ..... Nydia Westman

Notorious But Nice

(Chesterfield)

Drama

Chiefly by reason of a sequence or two embodying a certain amount of suspense activity, this independently-produced picture reaches the average program classification of screen drama. With hard-working performers doing reasonably well, the story moves at a fair pace, but contains rather little that is not more or less usual story material of its type.

With Marian Marsh, Betty Compson, who, probably still has some followers; Donald Dillaway and J. Carroll Naish, the perennial heavy, for box office material, the exhibitor obviously cannot rely too heavily on names for his patronage draw. The title is somewhat intriguing, but the fact that its rather specific implications are hardly borne out by the story material itself, makes it somewhat inadvisable to make too much of the title.

The story, then, with its suspense elements and presentable angles, becomes virtually the strongest selling front on which to attack. Miss Marsh, hard at work as an office clerk, is in love with, and about to marry Dillaway, almost wealthy young men whose money is in the hands of John St. Polis, Miss Marsh's employer, and executor of the estate of Dillaway's late father. Seeking to prevent a marriage which is distasteful to him, and partly because his daughter has designs on Dillaway, St. Polis bends every effort to accomplish his purpose, having Miss Marsh shadowed by a detective and by Miss Compson, who is to get her into a "jam" if possible. He fires Miss Marsh, sees to it that she cannot get another job, sends Dillaway to Montana for several weeks, ostensibly on business, and has Miss Compson intercept all Dillaway's letters to Miss Marsh. Believing Dillaway no longer cares, and unable to get a job, Miss Marsh meets, eventually marries Naish, owner of the night club in which Miss Compson works.

The climax comes when Dillaway walks into the club, sees Miss Marsh decked in silks and jewels, and they have words. Naish breaks in, takes her to his office, and there is killed by a pistol shot, the gun being thrown into Miss Marsh's lap as she sits near a door. The trial, quite well handled, provides the best spot in the picture. Miss Compson, suffering a change of heart, uncovers the real murderer just after Miss Marsh is found guilty by the jury. The expected reconciliation between her and Dillaway follows.

From that story the exhibitor should be able to derive several catch lines for selling purposes. There is obviously little opportunity for unusual exploitation, but with a promise of fair entertainment and a good courtroom scene the exhibitor should get his best results. Midweek is the best spot, and it is adult entertainment.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Chesterfield. Directed by Richard Thorpe. Story by Adeline Leitzbach. Adaptation by Carol Webster. Photographed by M. A. Anderson. Release date, August 5, 1933. Running time, 72 minutes.

CAST

Jennie Jones ..... Marian Marsh
Millie Sprague ..... Betty Compson
Dick Hamilton ..... Donald Dillaway
Connie Martin ..... Rochelle Hudson
John Martin ..... John St. Polis
Defense Attorney ..... Henry Kolker
Joe Charney ..... J. Carrol Naish
Tuffy ..... Dewey Robinson
Prosecuting Attorney ..... Robert Ellis
Judge ..... Wilfred Lucas
Landlady ..... Jane Keckley
The Park Man ..... Robert Frazer
Ophelia ..... Louise Beaver

The Vinegar Tree

(MGM)

Comedy-Drama

Mixing high comedy with light drama, playing love interest for all it's worth, and tying the whole thing together with excitement that explodes in almost every situation, "The Vinegar Tree" has sophistication for the intelligentsia, hokum for the everyday theatre-goer, and standard possibilities for both city and country audiences. Counterbalancing elements for both the more mature and younger folk, it comes within the family show classification. The showman will take advantage of many available interest-creating possibilities.

Here's the plot: Geoffry is madly in love with Leone. She's fascinated by a man-of-the-world, Max, who is loved in turn and dominated by the catty Winifred. Laura is Gussie's wife and Leone's mother, a romantic, love-starved dreamer who mistakes Max for an old flame and thinks he wants to marry her. Augustus is the crabbed, vitriolic father, interested only in his daughter's happiness and absolutely convinced that all the rest are idiots. The Butler is a dragoon-coated mortal whose stockings continually slip, certain that the entire gang is batty. The whole melange is set down in Gussie's country home to work out its destiny. It does, in ways that are howlingly funny, sometimes tightly dramatic and occasionally tinged with emotion-stirring punches.

In addition to audience interesting values, "The Vinegar Tree" suggests many ways in which to sell them. The title being irrelevant, booming the show-idea should be the most important consideration. Many dialogue lines can be adapted readily to tricky ad copy. Quick situation descriptions, stressing the furore of the show and accentuating comedy, can be easily prepared. Ballyhoo and exploitation possibilities are meager, but cast names counteract that. Barrymore is typical. Alice Brady's comedy role is worth plenty of attention. Mary Carlisle and Janney should take care of the young crowd. The veterans, Tearle and Hobbs, have lots of friends who like to see 'em. In Katherine Alexander you have a newcomer of whom to talk.

Unlike the stage show from which it was adapted, the picture skips the broad sexy atmosphere. While a bit intimate here and there in both action and dialogue, it is cleverly clean. Bring it to the attention of your patrons as worthwhile entertainment.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Associate producer, Lawrence Weingarten. Screen play by Bella and Samuel Spewack. From the play by Paul Osborn. Directed by Harry Beaumont. Running time, 78 minutes. Release date, Dec. 1, 1933.

CAST

Augustus ..... Lionel Barrymore
Laura ..... Alice Brady
Max ..... Conway Tearle
Winifred ..... Katherine Alexander
Leone ..... Mary Carlisle
Geoffry ..... William Janney
Butler ..... Halliwell Hobbes

Dance, Girl, Dance

(Chesterfield)

Drama

Working through more or less expected complications, centering about the yarn of the young girl who made good on her own after desertion by her husband, to a conclusion not quite so expected, this independent product provides the exhibitor with moderately effective entertainment.

A few dance numbers are worked in, plus the rendition of a song or two by Evalyn Knapp, the girl who makes good, but they are incidentals to the picture, in no sense imparting to the film anything of a general musical nature. The cast names are not particularly strong in marquee, attention-drawing value, though they are familiar names. Beside Miss Knapp are Alan Dinehart, Edward Nugent and the old-timer, Mae Busch. Too much emphasis should not be placed on the vocal effort of Miss Knapp.

She and Nugent are hoofers on small-time vaudeville, playing the tank towns, Miss Busch their agent. Nugent, pure ham, gives the orders, effectively and continuously squelching the docile Miss Knapp, much to the disgust of Miss Busch. When Nugent takes up with a new partner, Miss Knapp leaves him, goes to New York and attempts to find work through Miss Busch, who befriends her. A test before the wealthy night club revue producer, Dinehart, proves a frost, but he takes her on in the chorus through friendship with Miss Busch.

The not unexpected child arrives, and through Dinehart's generosity, she is sent away to recuperate. Returning, she brings the child with her, turns down Dinehart's offer of marriage, makes a considerable success with a song she has written, and repulses the advances of Theodore von Eltz, who has lots of money but highly dishonorable intentions. Nugent returns, sees the baby, then leaves. But Miss Knapp, through Miss Busch, arranges for a tryout for him, at which he is considerably no good. Miss Knapp has said she will have nothing to do with him, with every indication that she will succumb to Dinehart. But she relents, returns to Nugent and that's that.

Sell the idea of the girl who made good but couldn't forget the ham actor who was her husband, despite the opportunity of wealth and position offered her. The best draw probably lies in the younger generation. The film is an adult attraction, there being nothing whatever in it for the juvenile. The exhibitor might best show it in a midweek position.—Aaronson, New York.

An Invincible picture. Distributed by Chesterfield. Directed by Frank Strayer. Assistant director, Melville Shyer. Photographed by M. A. Anderson. Sound engineer, Pete Clark. Dances staged by Pearl Eaton. Release date, September 1, 1933. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

Wade Valentine ..... Alan Dinehart
Sally ..... Evalyn Knapp
Joe ..... Edward Nugent
Cleo ..... Gloria Shea
Claudette ..... Ada May
Laddie Norton ..... Theodore von Eltz
Mozart ..... George Grandee
Lou Kenton ..... Mae Busch

Day of Reckoning

(MGM)

Drama

This weighty screen drama presents a bit of problem to the exhibitor as a less conspicuous work of the usually vigorous Richard Dix. At the same time, in the role of a house-maid, Una Merkel, of the ingenuous manners and heavily southern speech, virtually takes the picture away from those who are ostensibly its stars.

As a title the "Day of Reckoning" line presents innumerable selling possibilities for the exhibitor in catch lines and advertising copy. Everyone, probably, is interested in some sort of "day of reckoning." That title, properly emphasized, and combined strongly with the popular box office name of Dix, should bring considerable initial patronage attention. Besides the Dix name for marquee purposes are those of Madge Evans, Miss Merkel, Conway Tearle and Stuart Erwin, good if not outstanding.

It is domestic drama for the most part, starting somewhat slowly but reaching to an action climax in a fist fight on the edge of a roof.

Dix is extremely happy in his home with his wife, Miss Evans, and two young children, despite his wife's extravagance. Miss Merkel is the devoted maid. On the evening of a birthday party, Dix is arrested on a charge of appropriating funds from his firm, to supply his wife with luxuries. Seeking to aid him, she is unsuccessful until she goes to Tearle, wealthy business man. He hires an attorney and so frames his "friend" Dix, that Dix receives a county jail sentence of two years, leaving the way clear for Tearle to pursue Miss Evans. He gives her employment in his office despite her obvious incompetence, and the annoyance of Isabel Jewell, in love with Tearle. Miss Evans carries on an affair with Tearle despite Miss Merkel's efforts to prevent it. Miss Merkel, incidentally, is the apple of the eye of Erwin, the milkman. Dix, in jail, has profound faith in his wife's fidelity.

Then the pace quickens, as Miss Jewell finds Tearle and Miss Evans together and kills Miss Evans. The news stuns Dix, but when Tearle is confined to the same jail for implication in the crime, Dix finds his chance, and the two fight it out desperately on the cornice of the jail roof. Tearle falls to his death, the day of reckoning having tumultuously arrived. Miss Merkel, meanwhile has taken the children to the country home of Erwin, among the cows and chickens. Released from jail, Dix is met by Erwin, and in an almost saccharine pastoral setting is reunited with his children, while Miss Merkel provides for the happiness of Erwin. The last sequence is by way of being an anti-climax, but it does provide the expected—and apparently necessary—happy ending.

Dix and the title are unquestionably the exhibitor's best bets in the selling of the picture, combined with whatever references to Miss Merkel's part of the faithful servant, in her own way in love with Dix, may suggest themselves to the showman. The prison fight sequence provides what action punch would be otherwise lacking.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by Charles Brabin. Associate producer, Lucien Hubbard. Based on the story by Morris Levine. Screen play by Zelda Sears and Eve Green. Art director, Eddie Imazu. Interior decoration by Edwin B. Willis. Photographed by Theodore Tetzlaff. Film editor, Adrienne Fazan. Release date, October 27, 1933. Running time, 70 minutes.

CAST

John Day	Richard Dix
Dorothy Day	Madge Evans
Hollins	Conway Tearle
Mamie	Una Merkel
Jerry	Stuart Erwin
Johnny	Spanky McFarlane
Kate Lovett	Isabel Jewell
Slim	James Bell
Hart	Raymond Hatton
Harry	Paul Hurst
Abraham	John Larkin
Guard	Wilfred Lucas
O'Farrell	Samuel Hinds

Love, Honor and Oh, Baby

(Universal)

Comedy

Universal's starring comedy team of Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts comes again to the screen in a comedy of the shyster lawyer, the timid fiancee and her gold-digging family, all of which combines to make slightly slapstick comedy, with numerous laughs.

The exhibitor has a wide open opportunity for laugh selling, citing previous efforts of the team, and leading with the announcement that "they are back again." Gagging the idea of the lawyer fighting for his sweetheart's "honor"—and the $100,000 for which they hope to mulct her employer—should bring results, with lobby stills of Summerville and Pitts, particularly those showing her on the witness stand, aiding the draw.

The title presents an opportunity for more kidding in the advertising. Though there is nothing especially subtle or clever about the comedy involved, it is good for laughs and the team is popular.

Slim, who has been engaged to Zasu for six years, doesn't want to get married until he has some money, much to the disgust of her family, composed of her sister and brother-in-law, Lucille Gleason and Donald Meek, and hard-boiled, divorcee elder sister, Vera Teasdale. When Slim learns that Miss Pitts' boss, George Barbier, is in the habit of taking his secretary on occasional holiday weekend trips to Rochester, the lawyer has an idea. It becomes workable when the previous secretary quits and Zasu gets the job. It is all framed, with the family taking an important part in the arrangements devised by Slim. There are amusing moments when Miss Pitts, in her timid fashion, attempts to arouse her boss's interest in the preliminaries to a trip to Rochester. She succeeds, and the moment arrives when he comes to the apartment to take Zasu to the train. The suit makes front page news, the trial starts, though Miss Teasdale double-crosses the family, going over to the enemy.

The court-room scene, with which the film ends, is good for laughs, as Slim turns the trick with a weather report of the day in question, which upsets the defense of Purnell Pratt, Barbier's attorney. The exhibitor has a chance for laugh selling in the entries in Miss Pitts' diary, mentioning the various vegetables recommended to her by Barbier, a vegetarian. Slim gives them a double meaning, with amusing results on the witness stand. Slim and Zasu, of course, win the case.

Sell Slim and Zasu, sell the laughs, and the gold-digging idea which makes up the yarn. Liven up the campaign with the distribution of invitations to the "great trial of Miss Pitts, defended by her sweetheart, Slim Summerville." It should be good for almost any spot in the week.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced and distributed by Universal. From the play "Oh, Promise Me," by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson. Screen play by Eddie Buzzell and Norman Krasna. Directed by Eddie Buzzell. Photographed by George Robinson. Release date, October 16, 1933. Running time, 63 minutes.

CAST

Mark Reed	Slim Summerville
Connie	Zasu Pitts
J. B. Ogden	George Barbier
Flo	Lucille Gleason
Elsie	Vera Teasdale
Luther	Donald Meek
Marshal Durant	Purnell Pratt
Louise	Adrienne Dore
Mrs. Brown	Dorothy Grainger
Mr. Brown	Neely Edwards
The Judge	Henry Kolker

The Entertainer

(Columbia)

Amusing

Will Mahoney, long known on the stage for his amusing antics, is most certainly all that the title indicates in this short subject, in which, arriving at a house party to entertain, he proceeds to do his stuff. Working with a stooge, Mahoney goes through a lengthy, rapid-fire routine, almost every motion good for a laugh. Only at the end is it ascertained that he came to the wrong address in response to an agency call. The Mahoney name should be worth something, and the audience will be assured of numerous laughs.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Plane Nuts

(MGM)

Entertaining

Around the yarn of the two German-accented comedians who are hooked for the purchase of a large beer garden, then turn the tables on the perpetrators of the duping, MGM has smartly concocted a few attractive dance numbers. In addition to the entertainment afforded in the filmed floor show, the work of the two comedians is amusing and good for a number of laughs. A good short, it strikes a popular note of the moment, and should please almost any audience.—Running time, 20 minutes.

Snowman

(Invincible)

Entertaining

A color cartoon of unquestioned quality, this cleverly in animated fashion pictures the construction of a snowman by the animals of the arctic. The wintry figure suddenly comes to life and pursues the animals, who are only saved by the quick work of the Eskimo boy, who rushes to the central power house to turn on the Aurora Borealis and melt the snowman. The youngsters are certain to enjoy it.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Delhi

(First Division)

Interesting

One of the subjects of the Port of Call series, this number has much of travel interest in its picturing of the noted city of Delhi, in India, which is a strange combination of the ancient and the modern. Horse and ox-drawn carts share the streets with modern, double-decked trams, while the dress of the inhabitants presents a like contrast. With its indication of the mode of existence in another, and far distant land, this subject has an element of interest. The accompanying monologue is intelligent, and the subject rates as a good travel number.—Running time, 10 minutes.

I Like Mountain Music

(Vitaphone)

Entertaining

One of the Vitaphone Merry Melodies numbers, this subject has a quartet, dressed appropriately, handling the popular title song in attractive fashion. The accompanying animated cartoon is amusing in its recounting of the story of Rip Van Winkle and his dog, who, hunting, fall asleep after watching the gnomes bowling, and waken to the hysterical rush of today, a cartoon which is done amusingly. A good subject of its kind.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Three Little Swigs

(Paramount)

Good Comedy

By virtue of the comedic ability of Leon Erroll, famed stage and screen comedian of the undependable legs, this number has more than a laugh or two to recommend it. In the familiar setting of the domestic situation, wherein Erroll tries to stay sober at their anniversary party, a drink or two has its amusing effect. Then, trying to help a friend in distress, he finds himself in another jam, from which also he is extricated only after some fast thinking. It is fairly good comedy, and Erroll's name should be familiar. Running time, 20 minutes.

Stung Again

(Universal)

A Few Bright Spots

Louise Fazenda's comedy experience stands this picture in good stead; without it the word comedy would not have much justification. It's a camping story, and true enough there are no cows to squash the lunch and the pattern in general is different, but the fun is limpid for the most part. The picture ends on a skunk's invasion of the girls' sleeping tent.—Running time, 18 minutes.

World Flight

(RKO Radio)

Good Cartoon

When Cubby Bear, the Aesop Fables animated hero, attempts his world flight, and the plane indulges in those antics which only an animated cartoon artist can concoct, the result is a lightly amusing cartoon, especially enjoyable for the youngsters. Incorporated are cartoon caricatures of the Four Marx Brothers, Chevalier and others, cleverly done but no longer new.—Running time, 7 minutes.

DOUGH • RE • ME
IN THE BOX-OFFICE

WALTER WINCHELL'S "BROADWAY THR

IN MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

"Color, excitement — bright — racy — witty, Winchellian — grand entertainment."
— Daily Mirror

DARRYL F. ZANUCK PRODUCTION PRES

WITH THIS GREAT CAST Consta

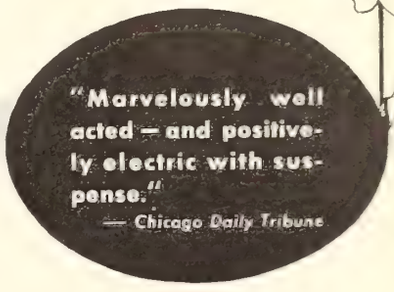
"Grand eye and ear entertainment."
— Evening Journal

Blossom SEELEY • Gregory RATOFF • Texas GUINAN

A KEYHOLE" STRIKES A NEW HIGH NOTE

IT'S THE SECOND BIG

ITED BY JOSEPH M. SCHENCK



e CUMMINGS • Russ COLUMBO • Paul KELLY

rances WILLIAMS ABE LYMAN AND HIS BAND

RELEASED THRU UNITED ARTISTS

20th CENTURY PICTURES, INC.

"AN AIR-TIGHT, SEAMLESS THRILLER"

And 100 Per Cent Screen Material, Says DeCasseres of "Ten-Minute Alibi"; Other Stage Plays

by BENJAMIN DE CASSERES

TEN-MINUTE ALIBI

Crosby Gaige and Lee Shubert got Herman Shumlin to direct Anthony Armstrong's big London hit, "Ten-Minute Alibi." He did a masterly job in a play that drew the breaths out of the blood vessels of a house packed to the walls.

On the night I was present at this fine murder melodrama I was as entirely surrounded by picture execs. as an Untouchable is with fleas.

"Ten-Minute Alibi" clicks for a picture buy like a taxi running away down the slippery slopes of Griffith Park. And I suggest that Bramwell Fletcher be shanghaied to Hollywood, for his Colin Derwent, the murderer, is about as fine a study in post-murder emotional stress as I have seen in many years. This fellow is an artist.

Philip Sevilla, dopester and international white-slaver, is about to skip from London to Paris with Betty Findon, a nice, believing young girl.

Colin Derwent, a young barrister, is in love with her. He knows Philip's crawly business and reputation. On a visit to threaten Philip he smokes one of the latter's doped cigarets. During his sleep a perfect alibi murder is unfolded in his brain.

The dream is played out in the first act. In the second act, the reality begins. With slight variations on the dream, Philip is murdered by Colin. He makes it look like suicide, turns the clock back for an alibi, goes to a restaurant and then returns.

The alibi is perfect. Scotland Yard is bamboozled in a dramatic third act, and Colin is freed of suspicion. He has saved the girl and put a beast out of the way.

The clock is the big factor in this play as it will be in the picture. And every second in this play ticks with menace.

"Ten-Minute Alibi" is an air-tight, seamless thriller.

Picture value, 100 per cent.

THE GREEN BAY TREE

"The Green Bay Tree," the big London run, by Mordaunt Shairp, is a 100 per cent adult play. No emotional monkeyshines. No claptrap. No trick-stuff. No hemstitching and half-soling. Solid. The goods. In a word, a great play—a profound play—has come to New York.

It sounds like Noel Coward. It sounds like Oscar Wilde. It sounds like Bourdet of "The Captive." But it isn't any of these. It stands alone, brilliant, sophisticated, human, grim, tragic. Jed Harris meditated two years about producing it. And he handed us a perfect job. So did the actors.

It is a ticklish picture subject. Homosexuality is implied, as it is in "The Design for Living" and as lesbianism was frankly the theme in "The Captive." But "The Green Bay Tree" can be so manipulated on the screen that the wise will guess, and what the meek and lowly of mind don't know won't harm them.

The fable, in brief, is this:

Mr. Dulcimer ("Dulcy") is rich, luxury-loving, a collector of flowers, rare pleasures and sensations. He lives alone with Trump, his butler (of the same hedonistic breed), and Julian Dulcimer, an adopted son. for whom he paid a large sum of money to a drunken father, now turned a Heaven-scouring evangelist and reformed souse. Dulcy "bought" Julian after hearing his "high-treble" voice in a choir.

Enters the girl, Leonora Yale, matter-of-fact, middle-class, studying to be a veterinarian. Julian loves her. The play turns on the conflict between "Dulcy," Julian's real father, and the girl. The latter two are trying to rescue Julian from "Dulcy's" insidious "corrupting influence," for he, too, "loves" the boy.

These five characters are real. It is tingling drama. Hearts and motives are laid bare with a surgeon's knife in a lancinating dialogue. It's a "sensation."

Picture value, 70 per cent.

THE WORLD WAITS

This play of the Antarctic, by George F. Hummel, was made to go into camera production. I think it would make rather a tremendous thriller for the he-man (and therefore True Woman) trade.

With fifteen men marooned down near the Pole for three years, their ship beyond reach, no relief boat in sight, and starvation staring them in the face—well, it fairly yelps for any old scenarist.

Mutiny, airplane disasters, suicide, the emotion of fear exposed to ice, ice, ice. There you are.

It's a kind of frappéd "Journey's End." I could write a column about it, but it can be condensed into the phrase: a great buy.

Picture value, 100 per cent.

LET 'EM EAT CAKE

This sequel to "Of Thee I Sing," with the impregnable Caxton-Vic Moore-Lois Moran stage outfit, and Kaufman, Ryskind and the Gershwins doing the musical cooking and the lyrical crocheting, does not nearly size up to their first famous opus.

For picture purposes, it looks like something that the Four Marxes could jazz to a fare-you-well.

Dialogue is piercing and snappy, but the tale is rather forced and tends to straight melodrama when it should be all satiric farce. Don't get serious when you are spoofing!

The tale: Wintergreen and Throttlebottom have been licked for re-election as President and Vice-President by one Tweedle-dee.

They go into the blue-shirt business in Union Square. They concoct a revolution, with a soap-box-wet-bomb-gasbag radical, and throw Tweedle-dee out of the White House.

There is a funny guillotine scene. And plenty of other good screen stuff—if the pictures dare monkey with the White House.

But with Groucho and Harpo—and Schnozzle!—grand stuff!

Picture value (with the Marxses) 90 per cent.

COME EASY

This is a rather bunky attempt to follow up that rip-roaring "Three-Cornered Moon." But the Ward family in this piece of tosh by Felicia Metcalfe is not, by a whole bottle of tabasco, the crazy and delightful Rimplegar family.

"Come Easy" (good picture title) is a small-town domestic setup. There are camera possibilities in it for the trade that is riding under the rumble-seat of the NRA upturn and for those curious persons who like to see their own domestic troubles on the screen.

We have the Ward family—Uncle Bill, who has lost his socks in stocks; Mrs. Ward and her three bum-around children, two girls and a boy.

At a critical moment Marcia Ward returns from a Philadelphia party with a Count Riccardo di Lucca, one of those Strictly Dishonorable looking furriners. He is putting up at the Ward house—no less.

This fires up the scrofulous blood of the main town-pump spitter who is in love with Marcia. He believes, naturally, that the furriner is an Eyetalian imposter and that a check he has passed is rubber. And Uncle Bill returns to tell them that this time he has lost even his pants buttons in another market pool.

As it turns out, the Count is OK. Money comes in through the pipe (this isn't very clear, but Aw, whatterhell!), and all ends hunky-dory in a fairly pediculous show that would take a lot of intellectual marrowfat to hammer into a picture.

Picture value, 20 per cent.

SHAN-KAR

Maybe yes and maybe no. The great Hindu dancer, with his company, is about to invade Hollywood and all points around. If he isn't the greatest sensation that ever hit Southern Cal., I'll swap my new camel's-hair coat for Bill Powell's mustache.

The "maybe yes and maybe no" was in regard to pictures. Whether this consummate artist, this great interpreter of the soul of India in music and dance, has any intention of going into pictures, I do not know. But I would like to see him and his company there—inserted somewhere in some kind of Anglo-Indian "Cavalcade."

Shan-Kar himself is youthful and has the beauty of an amorous god.

If sex-appeal, beauty, grace and erotic charm are picture assets, Shan-Kar is a Find with a capital f.

THE SWING TO FOX is based on Dependability

Box-office pictures . . . delivered on time . . . the secret of the exhibitors' swing toward FOX. Now . . . when you want big pictures to cash in on the rising attendance tide . . . FOX manpower delivers these great releases:

THE MAD GAME with Spencer Tracy, Claire Trevor, Ralph Morgan. Directed by Irving Cummings. Smash drama of the kidnaping racket. Released October 27th.

BERKELEY SQUARE with Leslie Howard, Heather Angel. Jesse L. Lasky production, directed by Frank Lloyd. Proving a clean-up at popular prices. Released November 3rd.

LILIAN HARVEY in MY LIPS BETRAY with John Boles, El Brendel. Directed by John Blystone. Lilian Harvey . . . singing, dancing . . . at her captivating best. Released November 10th.

OLSEN'S BIG MOMENT with El Brendel, Walter Catlett, Barbara Weeks, Susan Fleming. Girlie-girlie, gag-and-guffaw riot. Directed by Malcolm St. Clair Released November 17th.

JIMMY AND SALLY with James Dunn and Claire Trevor. Directed by James Tinling. Peppy romance of a snappy p. a. and his s. a. sweetie. Swell music. Released November 24th.

CLARA BOW in HOOPLA with Preston Foster, Richard Cromwell, Herbert Mundin, James Gleason, Minna Gombell. Al Rockett production, directed by Frank Lloyd. Hot stuff! Released November 30th.

JOIN THE UPSWING WITH FOX

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended November 4, 1933, from 114 houses in 18 major cities of the country reached $1,359,534, an increase of $124,512 over the total for the previous calendar week, ended October 28, when 111 theatres in 18 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,235,022.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Saturday's Millions" (U)	20,500	"My Woman" (Col.)	21,500	High 10-28 "My Woman"	21,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	9,500	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (W. B.) and "Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	10,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	20,000	"My Weakness" (Fox)	19,000	High 1-7 "No Other Woman"	21,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	20,500	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	20,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	44,500	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	32,500	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	10,000	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (W. B.) and "Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	10,500	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	13,100	"Night Flight" (MGM)	16,200	High 2-25 "State Fair"	24,800
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"This Day and Age" (Para.)	6,000	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	5,900	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 5-13 "Grand Slam" and "Past of Mary Holmes"	4,200
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	27,200	"Turn Back the Clock" (MGM)	11,100	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.) (6 days) (25c)	10,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	7,800	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	6,700	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.)	7,000	High 9-23 "Lady for a Day"	10,000
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions"	5,000
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	43,000	"Bombshell" (MGM)	50,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	11,000	"Stage Mother" (MGM)	11,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	31,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	30,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 10-7 "The Power and the Glory"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	27,000	"Ace of Aces" (Radio)	25,500	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	7,500	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	9,800	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	9,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	15,000	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	3,500	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	3,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "West of Singapore"	7,500
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hanna	1,500	30c-40c	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (2nd week)	4,000	"Forgotten Men" (Jewel) (1st week)	7,500	.....
Hippodrome	3,800	25c-40c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	20,000	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	14,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	24,500	"Rafter Romance" (Radio)	23,000	High 11-4 "Walls of Gold"	24,500
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	7,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)	6,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Warner's Lake	800	31c-60c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week)	4,200	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (1st week-8 days)	10,000	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 8-5 "Heroes for Sale"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (6 days)	3,500	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	5,000	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	13,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	16,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (6 days)	4,500	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	6,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	14,600
							Low 9-30 "Beauty for Sale"	3,500
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) (6 days)	11,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	12,500	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby" (U.)	2,500	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	2,250	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
							Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	25c-50c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	11,400	"My Woman" (Col.)	14,100	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-50c	"Bombshell" (MGM) (25c-40c)	8,300	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	6,400	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox) (25c-50c)	15,200	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	16,200	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	18,100	"Bombshell" (MGM)	21,200	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	12,300	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	12,400	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.)	9,100	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	6,200	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

EDUCATIONAL'S BIGGEST STAR LINE-UP STEPS OUT IN HIGH WITH RECORD HITS

Names Are Box-office Keynote of Showmen's Recovery Program of Short Features; Lillian Roth and Ernest Truex Score with "Million Dollar Melody" and "Mr. Adam."

Current Comedy Clickers

ANDY CLYDE

in

"HIS WEAK MOMENT"

He was the town's strong man till his weak moment came along. It's a scream.

"GIT ALONG LITTLE WIFIE"

Coronet Comedy

with

TAYLOR HOLMES

The laugh's on the alimony racketeer in this clever farce.

TOM HOWARD

in

"STATIC"

High frequency laughs in a radio shop.... with no interference.

"MERRILY YOURS"

first of the new series of

"Frolics of Youth"

with

JUNIOR COGHLAN and

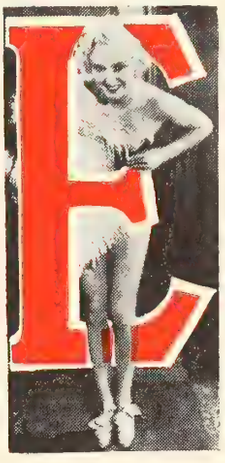
MARY BLACKFORD

Frolicksome fun for youths of any age.

"LEAVE IT TO DAD".

Mermaid Comedy

One of the fastest action comedies of the year.



ducational Pictures have taken another giant stride ahead of the field. The big name stars of radio, stage and screen signed up to reinforce Educational's established favorites, have begun to deliver... with a k. o. wallop in every reel. Their comedy hits are scaling new peaks of short subject box-office valuation.

East and West ... Educational's production units are giving 'er the gun in an unprecedented flight of short subject showmanship... stepping up on a program of entertainment that runs the gamut of public taste, and gives the showman bigger opportunities for profit.

E. W. Hammons Fulfills His Promise of Box-office Talent

No company has ever approached, in one season's comedies, the grand array of box-office names coming to you in Educational Pictures. Among the outstanding favorites who are contributing to this showman's program are: Ernest Truex, Andy Clyde, Helen Morgan, Tom Patricola, Tom Howard, Stoopnagle and Budd, Moran and Mack, Milton Berle, Lillian Roth, Olive Borden, Bob Hope, Charles Judels, Taylor Holmes, Junior Coghlan, Tom Howard, and James Melton.

Your Profits Are in Your Hands

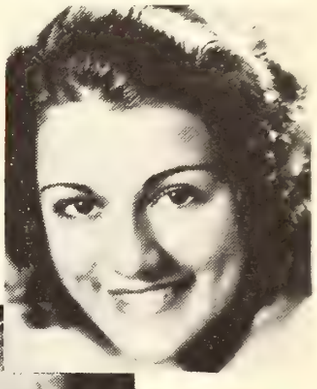
There's profit for the showman, too, in the single-reel pictures in which Educational is covering such a wide range of amusement angles. There are no funnier cartoons to be had than Terry-toons. Fast increasing sales show their growing popularity. There's a smile for everybody in the new Song Hit Story, "Slow Poke," featuring Stepin Fetchit, the original Lazy Bones. And "Your Life Is In Your Hands," a gem from the Treasure Chest, will have everyone in your audience talking and studying the lines in his hands. It offers a score of opportunities for easy exploitation. Your profits are in your hands,

First of New Stars in Parade of Hits

Lillian ROTH

in

"MILLON DOLLAR MELODY"



Ernest TRUEX

in

"MR. ADAM"

The parade of hits from the eastern forces is under way, with Lillian Roth and Ernest Truex leading the procession. Miss Roth, with Eddie Craven, gives Educational's Musical Comedies a great send-off in "Million Dollar Melody." This Jack White production, with original songs by James Hanley and Benny Davis, is a picture of big feature calibre in story, music, dialogue and action. And Mr. Truex, with all his big feature successes, has never done a funnier role than that of the nudist colony recruit in the Al Christie production "Mr. Adam."

DISTRIBUTED IN U. S. A. BY FOX FILM CORPORATION

Educational Pictures — THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	20,250	"I'm No Angel' (Para.) (2nd week)	24,500	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	13,000	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	12,500	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (6 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c-60c)	16,000	"Ace of Aces" (Radio) (8 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c-50c)	21,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	10,000	"Meet the Baron" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	9,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"The Way to Love" (Para.) (6 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week-8 days and Sat. midnite show)	10,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	17,500
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	3,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	3,300	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Stranger's Return" (MGM) (2nd week) and "Beauty for Sale" (MGM)	3,200	"Stranger's Return" (MGM) (1st week)	2,950	High 8-19 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,800
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	850	40c-50c	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.)	2,750	"Red Head" (H. Bregstein) (6th week)	1,350	High 9-23 "Red Head"	3,500
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	15,650	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM)	12,500	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield)	5,800	"Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" (Monogram)	4,100	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Orpheum	2,220	25c-35c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	4,200	"Secret of the Blue Room" (U.) and "The Last Trail" (Fox)	4,300	High 9-23 (since Sept.) "The Devil's in Love" and "Before Dawn"	4,850
							Low 10-7 "India Speaks" and "Ladies Must Love"	3,350
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	23,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	18,500	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (1st week)	8,100	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	12,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	16,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	11,600	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	9,500	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	9,000
Minneapolis
Century	1,640	25c-40c	"My Weakness" (Fox)	4,000	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	3,500	High 4-22 "Secrets"	5,500
							Low 3-11 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	2,500
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	1,500	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 10-7 "Turn Back the Clock"	1,300
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	5,800	"Ace of Aces" (Radio)	6,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
State	2,300	25c-40c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	6,000	"Solitaire Man" (MGM)	6,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"The Good Companions" (Fox)	1,200	"F. P. 1" (Fox)	1,200	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 11-4 "The Good Companions"	1,200
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-60c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (25c-75c)	13,000	"Morning Glory" (Radio) and "Flying Devils" (Radio)	10,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	13,000
							Low 7-15 "The Silver Cord" and "Professional Sweetheart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	12,500	"Captured" (W. B.)	13,000	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-85c	"Night Flight" (MGM) and "Facing the Music" (Empire) (25c-75c)	9,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	11,500	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 11-4 "Night Flight" and "Facing the Music"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-75c	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal) and "My Woman" (Col.) (25c-65c)	7,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and "Devil's Mate" (Monogram) (2nd week)	5,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 8-12 "Whoopee" and "Virtue"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (10th week)	10,261	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (9th week)	13,203	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"The Wandering Jew" (J.A.F.A.) (2nd week)	4,010	"The Wandering Jew" (J.A.F.A.) (1st week)	4,457	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	37,820	"Bombshell" (MGM)	49,735	High 8-12 "Another Language"	64,000
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"The World Changes" (F. N.)	24,740	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.) (2nd week-4 days)	3,600	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Mayfair	2,300	35c-85c	"Blind Adventure" (Radio) (9 days)	10,000	"Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield)	6,400	High 1-7 "The Half Naked Truth"	24,750
							Low 6-3 "When Strangers Marry"	4,900
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	11,734	"Wild Boys of the Road" (F.N.)	7,865	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	55,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	68,200	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	16,000	"Headline Shooter" (Radio)	8,500	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	38,400	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (4th week)	17,900	High 10-7 "The Bowery"	45,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	80,344	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio)	59,000	High 4-15 "Cavalcade"	107,761
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
RKO Roxy	3,700	25c-55c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	20,763	"Doctor Bull" (Fox) (4 days) "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox) (3 days)	12,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	19,000	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	22,000	High 1-7 "No More Orchids"	39,487
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	35c-$1.25	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (4th week-8 days)	18,862	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (3rd week)	20,912	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 8-5 "She Had to Say Yes"	10,590

LAUGH-A-SECOND COMEDY... SHOULD HIT BOTH ADULTS AND YOUNGSTERS RIGHT ON THE FUNNYBONE!"

—Motion Picture Herald

Millions are laughing at MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES, one of the funniest, liveliest and most popular short subjects now being produced. A real money-maker. Date them right away!

Mickey McGuire Comedies

From Fontaine Fox's Famous Cartoon with MICKEY ROONEY and his gang

A LARRY DARMOUR Production

Released by

COLUMBIA PICTURES CORP.

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week: Picture	Current Week: Gross	Previous Week: Picture	Previous Week: Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"One Man's Journey" (Radio)....	3,500	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.).....	3,000	High 9-9 "Three Cornered Moon"	3,700
							Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven".....	1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"The Bowery" (U. A.).....	6,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.).....	11,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	11,000
							Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires".....	1,800
Liberty	1,500	10c-36c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (3 days)	1,500	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.) (4 days)	1,700	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	3,900
			"Saturday's Millions" (U.) ..... (4 days)	1,500	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)..... (3 days)	1,300	Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman"	1,100
Victoria	800	10c-26c	"Rafter Romance" (Radio)..... (3 days)	600	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)..... (4 days)	600	High 7-1 "King of Jazz".....	1,800
			"Yes, Mr. Brown" (U. A)..... (4 days)	600			Low 11-4 "Rafter Romance" and "Yes, Mr. Brown"	1,200
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	20c-40c	"Lady for a Day" (Col.)..... (2nd week)	5,000	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) ..... (1st week)	6,500	.....
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM) and.... "Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	7,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.) and..... "By Appointment Only" (Chesterfield)	7,500	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday"..	16,500
							Low 4-29 "Sweepings"	5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"The Way to Love" (Para.).....	8,500	"Bombshell" (MGM)	6,750	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	13,250
							Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna".....	5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Stage Mother" (MGM) and..... "Golden Harvest" (Para.) (1st week)	4,750	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)..... (25c-50c)	5,250	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding"	7,500
							Low 11-4 "Stage Mother" and "Golden Harvest"	4,750
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)..... (3rd week-6 days)	5,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.)..... (2nd week-6 days)	8,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery".....	12,000
							Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet".....	4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.)..... (6 days)	1,600	"Broadway to Hollywood" (MGM) (6 days)	1,800	High 1-14 "Red Dust"	4,000
							Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven".....	1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Bombshell" (MGM) ..... (6 days)	9,500	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)..... (6 days)	10,000	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie"	21,000
							Low 8-5 "Mary Stevens, M.D.".....	8,000
Chestnut	1,500	55c-$1.50	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM)..... (6 days)	12,000	.....		.....
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)..... (6 days)	20,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)..... (6 days)	10,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise".....	29,000
							Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions".....	10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"The Mad Game" (Fox)..... (6 days)	16,000	"Rafter Romance" (Radio)..... (6 days)	15,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade"	29,000
							Low 8-5 "F. P. 1"	13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)..... (6 days)	3,000	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM)..... (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street"	7,700
							Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession"..	2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"My Weakness" (Fox)..... (6 days)	4,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (7 days)	5,000	High 1-7 "Self Defense"	11,500
							Low 11-4 "My Weakness"	4,500
Locust	1,300	55c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)..... (4th week-6 days)	5,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)..... (3rd week-6 days)	6,500	High 2-11 "Cavalcade"	13,000
							Low 5-6 "The Phantom Broadcast"....	4,000
Stanley	3,700	40c-75c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)..... (6 days)	18,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.)..... (6 days)	20,000	High 6-17 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	27,500
							Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord"	9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)... (6 days)	6,500	"S. O. S. Iceberg" (U.) ..... (6 days)	6,000	High 6-3 "The Little Giant"	10,000
							Low 7-14 "I Love That Man".....	4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM).....	6,900	"Bombshell" (MGM)	6,000	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny"	11,000
							Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?".....	3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	2,500	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case.... (Fox)	2,000	High 10-14 "Torch Singer"	4,500
							Low 2-11 "Central Park"	1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Elysia" (Bryan Foy).....	4,200	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	2,900	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	12,000
							Low 5-13 "No More Orchids".....	1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Before Dawn" (Radio).....	1,800	"Flaming Gold" (Radio).....	2,000	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance".....	14,000
							Low 11-4 "Before Dawn"	1,800
Pantages	1,700	15c-40c	"Lady for a Day" (Col.).....	10,200	.....		.....
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.).....	6,000	Broadway Thru a Keyhole"..... (U. A.)	5,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	8,500
							Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly".....	1,600
San Francisco
Columbia	1,200	50c-$1.50	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)..... (2nd week)	6,500	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)..... (1st week)	7,000	.....
El Capitan	2,900	10c-40c	"Mary Stevens, M.D." (W. B.)....	8,000	"Moonlight and Pretzels" (U.)....	8,000	High 7-1 "Out All Night"	13,000
							Low 11-4 "Mary Stevens, M.D.".....	8,000
Embassy	1,380	30c-50c	"Night Flight" (MGM).....	3,500	"Bombshell" (MGM)	4,500	High 9-9 "Voltaire"	9,000
							Low 3-18 "Hound of the Baskervilles"	2,000
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram)....	10,000	"Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield) (6 days)	7,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon"	15,500
							Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters"	7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-65c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (U.)	9,500	"Ann Vickers" (Radio).....	10,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy"	25,500
							Low 10-21 "My Woman".....	8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"Flaming Gold" (Radio).....	8,500	"Deluge" (Radio)	10,000	.....
Paramount	2,670	25c-75c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)..... (2nd week)	25,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)..... (1st week)	40,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel".....	40,000
							Low 9-30 "I Loved a Woman".....	9,000
St. Francis	1,435	25c-50c	"Bureau of Missing Persons"..... (F. N.)	5,500	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) and..... "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	5,500	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad"	13,500
							Low 4-15 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Girl Missing"	4,500
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)..... (4th week)	6,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.)..... (3rd week)	12,000	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain".....	16,000
							Low 8-26 "The Wrecker"	4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.).....	15,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)..... (1st week)	23,000	High 2-25 "Hard to Handle"	24,000
							Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake".....	10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"The Bowery" (U. A.)..... (2nd week)	3,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.) ..... (1st week)	4,500	High 2-4 "The Kid From Spain".....	6,500
							Low 8-19 "The Rebel"	2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.).....	15,000	"Too Much Harmony" (Para.)...	7,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie"	19,250
							Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche"	5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Terror Trail" (U.) and..... "Reform Girl" (Tower)	3,750	"The Constant Woman" ..... (World Wide)	3,750	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?"..	5,500
Metropolitan	1,800	20c-40c	"Night and Day"..... (Gaumont-British)	2,500	"Farewell to Love" (S. R.).....	3,500	Low 6-24 "Uptown New York".....	3,000
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.).....	3,250	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole".... (U. A.)	3,750	.....
							High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933".....	7,500
Orpheum	2,500	25c-55c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.).....	6,000	"Three Cornered Moon" (Para.)..	6,500	Low 11-4 "Ever in My Heart".....	3,250
							.....
Paramount	3,050	25c-55c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)..... (9 days)	6,000	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)..... (9 days)	7,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms"	9,500
							Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak"	4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Pilgrimage" (Fox) ..... (5 days)	4,000	"Ladies Must Love" (U.) ..... (25c-75c)	14,000	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love".....	14,000
							Low 8-26 "The Devil's in Love".....	4,000

400 CLAIMS AGAINST PARAMOUNT TOTALING $66,000,000 ARE LISTED

Total amount of claims filed by creditors of the bankrupt Paramount Publix Corporation is about $319,000,000.

The time for filing claims expired on September 14, 1933, six months after the voluntary adjudication in bankruptcy. On September 15, 1933, counsel for trustees Charles D. Hilles, Eugene W. Leake and Charles E. Richardson, obtained court orders barring the filing of claims for taxes subsequent to November 15, 1933.

Counsel for the trustees have examined the 5,000 claims on file and are proceeding to determine the validity and amount of each claim with a view towards liquidating the claims that are provable and expunging the claims that are non-provable. (Thirty important contract claims were disaffirmed by the trustees in their third report to the court, filed last week. See page 25, November 4 issue of Motion Picture Herald.)

Of the total claims filed, the trustees pointed out in their latest report that about $36,000,000 of duplications have thus far been discovered, and that "a large part of the balance of the claims appear to be excessive in amount and to be of doubtful provability." In this connection, it was learned unofficially that about $35,000,000 of the claims will be contested by the trustees. Meanwhile, in the fourth, and all subsequent reports of the trustees to the court, statements will be given as to the results of further examination of the remaining claims by counsel for the trustees.

With approximately $36,000,000 in duplicated claims deducted from the total of $319,000,000 which had been filed originally, and a reputed total of some $213,000,000 which are said to be the claims of the various Paramount corporations, and for property leases, etc., it would appear that the list of some 400 general claims which is recorded below, representing some $66,000,000, would constitute the remainder.

In this compilation of 400 claims—which was not a part of the trustees' official third report to the court, are the claims of several thousand bondholders, all listed as two general claims, and filed on their behalf by the Chase National Bank, as trustee, for amounts totaling approximately $26,000,000.

Also listed are the so-called bank claims totaling some $13,675,000, and approximately $559,000 in 225 minor claims, which have been liquidated. The principal claims in this group were:

American Bank Note, $12,000; Richard E. Byrd, $2,100; John D. Clark, $16,000; Consolidated Film Industries, $705; Eastman Kodak, $4,740; Employers' Liability Assurance, $13,000; First National Bank of Dallas, $22,000; George Benz, $6,000; Heywood-Wakefield, $35,000; Jules Brulatour, $81,700; Sidney R. Kent, $65,000; Morgan Lithograph, $16,000; New York Telephone, $8,000; John G. Paine, as agent and trustee for music publishers, $30,000; RCA Victor, $24,000; Smith and Aller, $11,000; Sam Spira, $56,000; Samuel Steiner, $55,000.

The most important under the classification of "miscellaneous past rent due" claims was that of the Prudence Company, for about $200,000.

There are claims of $130,000 for legal services, of which Nutter, McClennen and Fish, of Boston, seek $53,000 and Cravath de Gersdorff Swaine and Wood, of New York, filed a claim for $25,000.

Over $570,000 are listed in tax claims, principal claim being that of the United States Collector of Internal Revenue, for $471,000.

Twenty-seven claims of Electrical Research Products are for $1,884,411.

Unliquidated contract claims total about $2,500,000. Outstanding in this group were claims filed by Joseph Cooper, $80,000; Cecil B. DeMille Productions, Inc., $59,000; another De Mille claim, for $125,000; Indemnity Insurance Co., $306,000; Sam Katz, $265,000; Jessie L. Lasky, $282,000; Louis Marcus, $89,000; Price, Waterhouse, $12,000; E. V Richards, $20,000; Herbert L. Rothchild, $321,000; Technicolor, $10,000; RCA Victor, $23,000; Warners, $75,000.

De Forest Phonofilm and its parent company, General Talking Pictures, each filed a claim for $2,000,000; while some $6,130,000 is listed as possible claims under anti trust actions.

The 400 claims which follow represent a total of about $66,000,000, and, it is assumed, are in the process of continuous liquidation, or invalidation by counsel for the trustees:

DEBENTURE BONDS*

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
CHASE NATIONAL BANK (343) (As Trustee), New York	$12,133,752.33
CHASE NATIONAL BANK (344) (As Trustee), New York	13,717,819.43
Total	$25,851,571.76

* Representing several thousand bondholders.

BANK CLAIMS

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
BANK OF AMERICA NAT'L TRUST & SAV. ASS'N (290) Los Angeles	$ 486,846.75
BANKERS TRUST CO. (329) New York City	1,460,540.04
CENTRAL HANOVER BANK & TRUST CO. (335) New York City	1,460,540.05
CHEMICAL BANK & TRUST CO. (293). New York City	1,460,540.05
COMMERCIAL NAT. BANK & TRUST CO. (342) New York City	1,460,540.05
EMPIRE TRUST CO. (334) New York City	486,846.70
FIRST NAT. BANK OF CHICAGO (291) Chicago	1,460,540.03
LAWYERS COUNTY TRUST CO. (330). New York City	365,135.01
MANUFACTURERS TRUST CO. (Bond 1385) New York City	1,460,540.05
NATIONAL CITY BANK (315) New York City	1,460,540.05
TRADESMENS NAT. BANK (294) Philadelphia	506,166.67
CONTINENTAL ILL. NAT. BANK (292) Chicago	1,606,813.55
Total	$13,675,589.00

CONTRACTS LIQUIDATED

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
A. B. DICK CO. (133) 720 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago	$ 646.06
A-ONE PAPER TUBE & REEL CO (24) 126 Bleecker St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	232.00
A. P. W. PAPER CO. (247) Albany, N. Y.	124.77
A. P. W. PAPER CO. (297) Albany, N. Y.	5.20
A. P. W. PAPER CO. (298) Albany, N. Y.	85.75
A. P. W. PAPER CO. (355) Albany, N. Y.	132.00
A. W. GERSTNER CO. (138) 634 Eighth Ave., New York City	20.11
ALBERT WILLCOX & CO. (198) 82 Beaver St., New York City	1,097.02
AMBERG FILE & INDEX CO. (58) 79-81 Duane St., New York City	189.97
AMERICAN BANK NOTE CO. (193)	12,000.00
AMERICAN EMPLOYER'S INSURANCE CO. (203) Boston	158.30
AMERICAN LOOSE LEAF CORP. (120). 141 Varick St., New York City	448.21
AMERICAN NEWS CO. INC. (240) 131 Varick St., New York City	17.92
ARCHER BLOW PIPE & INCINERATOR CO. (39) 7430 Compton Ave., Los Angeles	482.00
ATLANTIC & SOUTHWESTERN BROOM CO. (63) Baylis & Toone Sts., Baltimore	48.00
ATLAS WAX ENGRAVING CO., INC.(35) 229 W. 28th St., New York City	43.21
AULT & WIBORG CO. (48) 75 Varick St., New York City	75.36
BALDWIN PAPER CO., INC. (251) 61 Greene St., New York City	197.20
BAUER & BLACK (148) 104 E. 25th St., New York City	29.25
BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL CO. (70).. Rochester, N. Y.	325.77
BELL & HOWELL CO. (206) 1801 Larchmont Ave., Chicago	202.19
MRS. MINERVA BENCE (261) 653 Chestnut St., Indiana, Pa.	4.00
BROUN-GREEN CO. (204) 48 John St., New York City	130.65
BRUNO-NEW YORK, INC. (98) 460 W. 34th St., New York City	17.83
BRYANT PARK ELECTRIC CO., INC.(73) 260 W. 41st St., New York City	374.80

325 MINOR CLAIMS LIQUIDATED

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
R. E. BYRD (272)	2,108.34
C. J. HOLT & CO., INC. (197) 2-10 Bridge St., New York City	749.78
CARBONA PRODUCTS CO. (111) 302-304 W. 26th St., New York City	15.00
CARRIER ENGINEERING CORP. (105). 850 Frelinghuysen Ave., Newark, N. J.	643.65
CARTERS INK CO. (143) Boston	6.07
CENTRAL PAINT & VARNISH WORKS (28) 63-69 Prospect St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	26.60
D. W. CHAMBERLAIN (265) Leamington Hotel, Minneapolis	Does not appear
CHARLES BRUNING CO., INC. (27) 102 Reade St., New York City	409.05
CHEMICAL BANK & TRUST CO. (194). 165 Broadway, New York City	656.28
CHICAGO, BURLINGTON & QUINCY R. R. CO. (154) Chicago	45.07
CHICAGO WATCHMAN'S CLOCK CO.(66) 1526 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago	5.77
CINAMA CONSOLIDATED MERCANTILE CORP., LTD. (262) 5857 Santa Monica Blvd., Los Angeles	24.00
CITY CORRUGATED PAPER PRODUCTS CO., INC. (134) 622-640 W. 57th St. New York City	274.68
CITY DEPOSIT BANK & TRUST CO.(270) 6338 Aurelia Street, Pittsburgh	1.16
JOHN D. CLARK (161) 299 Park St., Upper Montclair, N. J.	16,033.34
COLUMBIA RIBBON & CARBON MFG. CO. (141) Glen Cove, N. Y. (P. O. Box 443)	2.68
COMMERCE CLEARING HOUSE, INC.(96) 205 W. Monroe St., Chicago	56.70
COMMERCIAL UTILITIES MANUFACTURING CO. (60) 147-153 Waverly Place, New York City	9.98
CONFORT & CO., INC. (235) 2 Duane St., New York City	1,395.96
CONSOLIDATED FILM INDUSTRIES, INC. (2) 1776 Broadway, New York City	705.80
CONSOLIDATED STAMP MFG. CO. (135) 87 Maiden Lane, New York City	38.61
CONTINENTAL CHEMICAL CO. (78)... 101 W. 31st St., New York City	23.04
COPY PAPERS, INC. (131) 560 West Lake St., Chicago	9.75
CORPORATION TRUST CO. (299) 120 Broadway, New York City	383.98
DEFIANCE RUBBER CO. (23) 336-340 Canal St., New York City	81.00
DITTO, INC. (149) Harrison at Oakley Blvd., Chicago	45.57
DURADEX CO. (17) 175 Varick Street, New York City	98.12
SAMUEL C. DUBERSTEIN, as trustee in bankruptcy of Drake Business Forms, Inc., Bankrupt (104) 32 Court St., Brooklyn, New York	577.60
E. F. HOUGHTON & CO. (9) 240 W. Somerset St., N. Philadelphia, Pa.	14.24
E. F. HOUGHTON & CO. (248) 240 W. Somerset St., N. Philadelphia, Pa.	6.00
E. J. WARNER (75) 653 Eleventh Ave., New York City	10.50
EAST RIVER GAS CO. OF LONG ISLAND CITY (108) 35-20 Broadway, Long Island City	14.26
EASTMAN KODAK CO. (25) Rochester, N. Y.	4,740.14
EDWIN O'BRIEN, INC. (350) 24-26 Stone St., New York City	75.20
ELECTRICAL PRODUCTS CORP. (225). 1112-1148 Venice Blvd., Los Angeles	3,719.30
ELKAY PRODUCTS CORP. (34) 324 East 33rd St., New York City	2.64
ELLIOTT ADDRESSING MACHINE CO. (115) 143 Albany St., Cambridge, Mass.	26.65
EMPLOYERS LIABILITY ASSURANCE CORP., LTD. (360)	12,991.63
EMPIRE TRUST CO. (156) 120 Broadway, New York City	1,601.64
F. W. ANDERSON & CO., INC. (89) 16-18 Beekman St., New York City	46.42
F. WEIDNER PRINTING & PUB. CO., INC. (213) 1109 DeKalb Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.	19.50
FALLON LAW BOOK CO. (20) 2 Lafayette St., New York City	30.00
FELIPPELLI-GENERAL FLOWER & DEC. CO. (87) 311 West 50th St., New York City	55.00
FELT & TARRANT MFG. CO. (144) 1735 North Pauline St., Chicago	168.76
FIRST NATIONAL BANK IN DALLAS (159) Dallas	22,500.00
FOSTER & KLEISER CO. (103) 1550 W. Washington St., Los Angeles	12.41
FOX FILM CORP. (228) 444 W. 56th St., New York City	195.75
FRENCH TELEGRAPH CABLE CO. (45) 60 Broad St., New York City	74.05
G. & G. HARDWARE CO. (16) 10 Trinity Pl., New York City	2.00
G. W. GIANNINI, INC. (65) 437-439 W. 42nd St., New York City	222.17
GENERAL BUILDERS SUPPLY CORP. (84) 205 E. 42nd St., New York City	3.75
GENERAL OUTDOOR ADVERTISING CO., INC. (238) 585 Gerard Ave., New York City	2,146.66
GENERAL ELECTRIC VAPOR LAMP CO. (41) Hoboken, N. J.	22.82
GEO. BENZ & SONS (165) Minneapolis	6,508.32
GEOMETRIC STAMPING CO. (56) 1111 E. 200th St., Cleveland	382.20
GEO. P. IDE & CO. (11) Troy, N. Y.	24.58
GEO. W. MILLAR & CO., INC. (30) 284-290 Lafayette St., New York City	5.00
GEORGE G. SCOTT & CO. (199) Charlotte, N. C.	56.97
MARY L. GRAFF (312) 5204 Beeler St., Pittsburgh	.51
GRAMERCY PAINT CO., INC. (86) 250 3rd Ave., New York City	1.21
GRAYBAR ELECTRIC CO., INC. (67).. 180 Varick St., New York City	750.01
GRAYHOUND VANS, INC. (306) 254 W. 51st St., New York City	525.00
LEILA M. HANKEY (347) 1218 Heberton Ave., Pittsburgh	.56
J. HOFERT (94) 1220 Maple Ave., Los Angeles	36.00
H. B. HOSMER, INC (43) 118 Duane St., New York City	26.50
HARPER & REYNOLDS CORP. (95) 148-154 N. Main St., Los Angeles	20.19
HATFIELD ELECTRIC CO. (290) Indianapolis	8.80
ELIZABETH HAYES (LR-8) 1022 7th St., South Brainerd, Minn.	350.00
HERCULES CORRUGATED BOX CORP. (296) 32-88 33rd St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	11.50
HERRMANN PAPER CO., INC. (14) 468 Broom St., New York City	12.25
HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD CO. (208) 2653 Arthington St., Chicago	17,281.89
HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD CO. (307) 2653 Arthington St., Chicago	17,778.64
HEYMAN & BRO. & JOSEPH J. GREENBERG (160)	20,000.00
HOME INSURANCE CO. (242) 59 Maiden Lane, New York City	498.15
HOME INSURANCE CO., OF N.Y. (313)	1,046.22
OHIO BELL TELEPHONE CO. (253) Cleveland	103.13
HORTON & CONVERSE (215) 1012 S. Olive St., Los Angeles	5.00
HURLOCK BROS. CO., INC (113) 3436-38 Market St., Philadelphia	131.00
INTERNATIONAL TIME RECORDING CO. (153) 270 Broadway, New York City	48.28
IMPERIAL BRUSH CO., INC. (51) 18 Astor Place, New York City	64.46
INTER-STATE THEATRES, INC. (237)	468.73
IRVING BERLIN & CO. (130) 309 W. 44th St., New York City	32.95
EAST RIVER GAS CO. OF LONG ISLAND CITY (108) 35-20 Broadway, Long Island City	14.26
J. E. BRULATOUR, INC. (114) 6700 Santa Monica Blvd., Hollywood	81,740.82
J. MOSS & SONS, INC. (72) 78-19th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	174.10
J. R. SHAYS, JR., INC. (31) 100 Greenwich St., New York City	402.59
JOHN C. MOORE CORP. (62) Rochester	11.50
JOHN H. PRAY & SONS CO. (332) 646 Washington St., Boston	140.00
KEITH CLARK, INC. (50) 350 Hudson St., New York City	466.99
SIDNEY R. KENT (162) 399 Park Ave., New York City	65,000.00
KEPPLER BROS. (22) 444 Lafayette St., New York City	168.78
KOCH-CONLEY POST NO. 121, AMERICAN LEGION (124) 428 Lackawanna Ave., Scranton, Pa.	5.00
KOLESCH & CO. (13) 138 Fulton St., New York City	64.73
KORITE, INC. (81) 89 Bickford St., Boston	16.56
L. C. SMITH & CORONA TYPEWRITER INC. (8) 115 Post St., San Francisco	8.10
LABORATORY PRODUCTS CO. (249).. 1530-1538 Crossing St., Chicago	724.92
LILY-TULIP CUP CORP. (132) 122 East 42nd St., New York City	118.75
LOS ANGELES RUBBER STAMP CO. (102) 15th & Los Angeles Sts., Los Angeles	12.41
LAMSON COMPANY, INC. (76) Syracuse, N. Y.	42.95
LUTZ & SHEINKMAN, INC. (46) 2 Duane St., New York City	92.41
McKENNA & PHELPS, INC. (25) 489-493 Broome St., New York City	2.00
MAJESTIC FILM DISTRIBUTORS (285) 1965 S. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles	175.00
MASTER BOOKBINDING CO. (18) 49-53 E. 21st St., New York City	10.50

400 PARAMOUNT CLAIMS DIVIDED INTO 19 GROUPS

Some $66,000,000 are listed in 400 claims against the bankrupt Paramount Publix Corporation. These claims have been divided by attorneys for the trustees into 19 groups, as follows:

DIVISION OF CLAIM	AMOUNT OF CLAIM
Debenture Bonds	$25,851,571.76
Banks	13,675,589.00
Contracts Liquidated	558,875.50
Misc. Past Rent Due	426,071.14
Legal Services	130,053.15
Wage Claims	909.20
Tax Claims	573,935.00
Electrical Research Products	1,884,411.18
Guaranty of Mortgage Bonds	152,417.01
Unliquidated Contract Claims	2,467,841.10
G. B. Theatre Bonds	1,410,926.57
Bonds on Leases	225,000.00
Guaranty of Leases	5,344,581.49
Other Future Rent	4,727,503.94
Mixed—Past—Future Rent	155,413.95
Patents	2,000,000.00
Copyright	152,000.00
Tort Claims	46,650.00
Anti-Trust	6,130,000.00
GRAND TOTAL	$65,914,249.99

HALF MILLION IN TAX CLAIMS

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
MASTERPIECE FILM ATTRACTIONS (258) 1329 Vine St., Philadelphia	487.50
MEDO PHOTO SUPPLY CORP. (52) 323-325 W. 37th St., New York City	16.03
MILLER-BRYANT PIERCE CO. (142) Aurora, Ill.	470.22
MONARCH ASSOCIATES, INC. (219) 101 Park Ave., New York City	40.50
MONROE CALCULATING MACHINE CO., INC. (90) Orange, N. J.	2.10
MORGAN LITHOGRAPH CO. (147) Cleveland	15,830.55
NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CO. (3) 205 E. 42nd St., New York City	121.32
NATIONAL DISTRICT TELEGRAPH CO. (232) 155 6th Ave., New York City	169.41
NATIONAL ELECTROTYPE CO. (36) 227 E. 45th St., New York City	60.79
NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE CORP. (88) 630 9th Ave., New York City	365.58
NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY CO. (128) 92-96 Gold St., New York City	95.22
NEW YORK & QUEENS ELECTRIC LIGHT & POWER (119) 28-19 Bridge Plaza-N., Long Island City	12,209.89
NEW JERSEY BELL TELEPHONE CO. (217) 540 Broad St., Newark	58.56
NEW YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD CO. (61) New York City	814.28
NEW YORK TELEPHONE CO. (5)	8,395.53
OHIO BELL TELEPHONE CO. (253) Cleveland	103.13
OPPENHEIMER & SHERMAN (32) 133 Liberty St., New York City	69.64
JAMES A. PACE, ASSIGNEE OF THE CONTINENTAL INSURANCE CO. (129) 116 John St., New York City	1,220.49
JOHN G. PAINE AS AGENT & TRUSTEE (223) 1501 Broadway, New York City	29,376.72
PARAMOUNT PAPER PRODUCTS CO. (80) (SUBDIVISION OF PARAMOUNT STATIONERY CORP.) 580 Broadway, New York City	79.00
PARROT SPEED FASTENER CORP. (71) 388 Broadway, New York City	55.00
PASSANTINO PRINTING CO. (37) 1587 Broadway, New York City	25.00
PATHE INTERNATIONAL CORP. (100) 35 W. 45th St., New York City	13.00
PEERLESS TOWEL SUPPLY CO., INC. (38) 372 Gold St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	1,103.83
PEERLESS TOWEL SUPPLY CO., INC. (245) 372 Gold St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	1,103.83
PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY (AS AGENTS FOR TRUSTEE ESTATE ELMER E. DUNGAN, DECD.) (257) S. E. Cor. 15th St. & Chestnut St., Philadelphia	2.16
PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD CO. (195) Broad St., Station Bldg., Philadelphia	195.74
PHILADELPHIA STORAGE BATTERY CO. (146) Ontario & C Sts., Philadelphia	103.47
PHILCO RADIO & TELEVISION CORP. (145) Tioga & C. Sts., Philadelphia	12.10
POSTAGE METER CO. (101) 723 Pacific St., Stamford	199.76
POSTAL TELEGRAPH CABLE CO. (10) 67 Broad St., New York City	2.84
POSTAL TELEGRAPH-CABLE CO. (202) 67 Broad St., New York City	.98
POSTAL TELEGRAPH - CABLE CO. (N.Y.) (126) 67 Broad St., New York City	924.31
POSTAL TELEGRAPH-CABLE CO. OF MASS. (93) Springfield, Mass.	3.87
POSTAL TELEGRAPH-CABLE CO. OF MASS. (117) 67 Broad St., New York City	2.70
POTTER ELECTRIC SIGNAL & MFG. CO. (42) 937-942 Century Bldg., St. Louis	15.57
PREMIER-PABST CORPORATION (319)	3,619.90
PRENTICE-HALL, INC. (210) 70 5th Ave., New York City	77.00
PROUDFOOT PAPER CO. (203) 171 William St., New York City	314.85
PURITAN RAINCOAT CO., INC. (151) 135 W. 36th St., New York City	158.50
POWERS REPRODUCTION CORP. (139) 205 W. 39th St., New York City	2,732.48
R. C. A. COMMUNICATIONS, INC. (125) 66 Broad St., New York City	5.92
R. C. A. VICTOR COMPANY, INC. (222) Camden, N. J.	24,055.46
RAND McNALLY & CO. (244) Chicago	15.00
RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY, INC. (212) 230 Park Ave., New York City	31.42
REEVES COAL & DOCK CO. (57) 1728 Wash. Ave., No., Minneapolis	78.33
RELIANCE PENCIL CORP. (91) 777-779 Broadway, New York City	329.86
REMINGTON RAND INC. (64) 465 Washington St., Buffalo	10.95
REVERSIBLE COLLAR CO. (236) 111 Putnam Ave., Cambridge, Mass.	766.21
ROCHESTER RIBBON & CARBON CO. (276) 30 Beekman St., New York City	243.61
ROCKWOOD & COMPANY (150) Washington Park & Waverly Aves., Brooklyn, N. Y.	39.60
SAND & SIMON (121) 38-40 W. 32nd St., New York City	240.00
SHELL EASTERN PETROLEUM PRODUCTS, INC. (325) 122 E. 42nd St., New York City	2,330.68
SHELTON MFG. CO., INC. (49) 42-24 Orchard St., Long Island City	80.00
SHERWIN WILLIAMS COMPANY (152) Brown St. & Pister Ave., Newark	16.90
SIEBEL COMPANY (79) 32-34 W. 20th St., New York City	3.00
SINRAM BROS., INC. (33) 417-423 E. 37th St., New York City	362.01
SMITH & ALLER, LTD. (107) 6656 Santa Monica Blvd., Hollywood	10,730.47
LEO SOLOMON (196) 505 Fifth Ave., New York City	7,733.05
SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA DISINFECTING CO. (99) 236-38-30 So. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles	22.75
SOUTHERN DISTRICT COURT REPORTERS (314)	3,365.63
SOUTHERN NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE CO. (53) New Haven	169.35
SAM SPIRA (278) 1339 W. Loyola Ave., Chicago	56,323.05
STANDARD NECKWEAR CO. (85) Essex & Edinboro Sts., Boston	135.00
SAMUEL STEINER (227)	55,685.00
SUN-GAZETTE CO. (230) 4th & Hepburn Sts., Williamsport, Pa.	210.21
SUPERIOR WIPER CO., INC. (21) 44-35 10th St., Long Island City	201.40
SUPREME AD SERVICE, INC. (122)	361.60
H. S. TECH (353) 1601 Oliver Bldg., Pittsburgh	5.51
TABULATING MACHINE CO (97) 270 Broadway, New York City	1,227.00
TABULATING MACHINE CO. (234) 270 Broadway, New York City	36.97
TAYLOR INSTRUMENT COMPANIES (106) Rochester	21.71
TOWER BROS. STATIONERY CO. (15) 23 W. 23rd St., New York City	1,019.34
UFA FILMS, INC. (163) 729 7th Ave., New York City	275.63
UNDERWOOD ELLIOTT FISHER CO. (92) 63 Vesey St., New York City	52.98
UNION TRUST CO. OF PITTSBURGH (TRUSTEE ESTATE EVELYN HANNA BITNER) (352) Pittsburgh	2.76
UNITED AIR LINES, INC. (127) P. O. Box 00, Chicago	69.02
UNITED STATES CORPORATION CO. (77) 150 Broadway, New York City	20.00
UNITED STATES RUBBER PRODUCTS (214) 61 Hudson St., New York City	2.85
VANGELE'S HATTERS & BOOT-BLACK'S SUPPLIER (44) 206 E. 34th St., New York City	13.50
VARIETY, INC. (158) 154 W. 46th St., New York City	2,800.00
VEIR BROS. CO. (116) 443-445 S. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles	29.75
W. H. COMPTON SHEAR CO. (269) 314-320 Camden St., Newark	48.54
W. R. COFFEE BOX & LUMBER CORP. (40) 13-15 Charles St., Brooklyn, N. Y.	176.25
W. T. FAIR CO. (286) 167 Front St., New York City	40.76
WARD LEONARD ELECTRIC CO. (83) Mount Vernon, N. Y.	275.41
WELTZ AD SERVICE (136) 250 W. 40th St., New York City	177.05
WEST PUBLISHING CO. (4) St. Paul	7.65
WESTERN AIR EXPRESS, INC., CALIFORNIA (137)	33.81
WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO. (69) New York City	2,244.27
WHITAKER PAPER COMPANY (316) 48 Great Jones St., New York City	50.64
WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO. (218) c/o H. Bolshaw, Credits & Collections, 60 Hudson St., New York City	8.48
WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO. (295) c/o H. Bolshaw, 60 Hudson St., New York City	36.75
WHITE-SWAN CO. (29) 80 Green St., New York City	162.00
ZAPON COMPANY (123) Stamford, Conn.	50.00
Total	$558,875.50

MISCELLANEOUS PAST RENT DUE

ELECTRIC REALTY INVESTMENT CO., (L R 37) Joplin, Mo.	$ 4,050.00
ELECTRIC THEATRE CO. (L R 38) Kansas City, Kan.	4,050.00
FALLS TIRE COMPANY (L R 15) 327 W. Commerce St., Youngstown, O.	50.00
GRANADA REALTY CORP. (L R 59) San Francisco	80.286.23
A. O. GREENFIELD (as executor of the Estate of D. Greenfield, Deceased) (L R 7) Atlanta	175.00
LLOYD LITTRELL (receiver of National Bank of Fayette Co.), (L R 11) Uniontown, Penn.	22,171.47
JNO. A. McRAE & JULIAN H. LITTLE (as Tenants) (L R 42) 108 Law Bldg., Charlotte	400.00
MINNEAPOLIS THEATRE CO. (L R 16) Wilmington	100.498.11
PENN. AMUSEMENT CO., (a partnership) (L R 10) Uniontown, Penn.	8,503.58
THE PRUDENCE CO., INC. (Hawatha Co.) (L R 2) 331 Madison Ave., New York City	61,498.68
PRUDENCE CO., INC. (St. Petersburgh) (L R 3) 331 Madison Ave., New York City	49,491.67
PRUDENCE CO., INC. (Seneca) (L R 6) 331 Madison Ave., New York City	87,600.80

$2,470,000 IN CONTRACT CLAIMS

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
SPRINGFIELD THEATRE INVESTMENT CO. (L R 36) Springfield, Mo.	5,400.00
D. E. WAGNER & GEO. A. WAGNER. Surviving Trustees (L R 13) Memphis	769.94
GEORGE F. WILSON, JR. (L R 17) Charlotte	1,125.66
Total	$426,071.14

LEGAL SERVICES

JAMES T. BARKELEW (226)	$ 1,948.00
Los Angeles
CRAVATH DE GERSDORFF SWAINE & WOOD (309)	25,142.78
New York City
FRIEDMAN ATHERTON KING & TURNER (275)	3,422.44
Boston
JOSEPH HABER JR. (280)	2,500.00
San Francisco
KIDDLE MARGESON & HORNIDGE (157)	2,357.31
New York City
HERMAN A. MINTZ (289)	35,400.00
Boston
NUTTER McCLENNEN & FISH (155)	53,681.77
Boston
SONNENSCHEIN, BERKSON, LAUTMAN & LEVINSON & MORSE (260)	5,600.85
Chicago
Total	$130,053.15

WAGE CLAIMS

GEORGE DARANSOLL (Manager of Feeley Theatre) (W 2)	$ 77.20
Bronx, New York
MOTION PICTURE RELIEF FUND OF S. A. INC., (Subscription to Actors Fund) (W 3)	332.00
Hollywood
HARRISON R. STEVES (Services as Literary Expert) (W 1)	500.00
Westport, Conn.
Total	$909.20

TAX CLAIMS

CITY OF NORTH ADAMS (Tax 11)	$ 207.60
CITY OF PLATTSBURG, N. Y. (Tax 10)	540.63
LAKE COUNTY INDIANA (Tax 16)	399.41
NEW YORK STATE (Tax 6)	No. amt. given
N. Y. STATE (Dept. of Tax & Finance, Finance Bureau) (Tax 4)	11,004.40
OREGON STATE TAX COMMISSION (Tax 12)	26.40
STATE OF CONNECTICUT-AMUSEMENT TAX (Tax 14)	1,468.00
STATE OF NEW YORK (Tax 8)	Unstated
STATE OF NEW YORK (Dept. of Tax & Finance) (Tax 9)	12,772.00
STATE OF NEW YORK (Dept. of Tax & Finance, Finance Bureau) (Tax 5)	18,815.63
STATE OF NEW YORK (Finance Bureau) (Tax 3)	45,565.07
STATE OF N. Y. (Income Tax Bureau) (Dept. of Tax & Finance) (Tax 7)	5,976.60
STATE TAX COLLECTOR—PARISH OF ORLEANS (represented by judgment for tax and interest) (Tax 13)	5,407.84
UNITED STATES (Collector of Int. Rev.) (Tax 1)	471,452.85
U. S. GOVERNMENT, William Duggan, Collector, 1st. Rev. (Tax 2)	2.48
VERMILION COUNTY—ILL. (Tax 15)	296.09
Total	$573.935.00

ELECTRICAL RESEARCH PRODUCTS, INC. (ERPI)

ELECTRICAL RESEARCH PRODUCTS INC. (191)	$1,884,411.18
New York City
(The following claims as a whole are duplicates of the single general claim which is listed above.)
Accounts Receivable (Studio Equipment) (1)
NEW YORK ACCOUNT (News Laboratory and Review Rooms) (1.1)	228,715.21
LONG ISLAND STUDIO ACCOUNT (1.2)	129,831.39
HOLLYWOOD STUDIO ACCOUNT (1.3)	50,529.45
Accounts Receivable (Interest) (2)
Interest Billed on paid royalties (2.1)	1,127.26
Accounts Receivable (Copyrighted Music) (3)
Billing rendered under Domestic Agreement (3.1)	54,359.80
Billing rendered under Foreign Agreement (3.2)	22,479.44
ERPI Contingent Liability on account of endorsement of Paramount's notes to John G. Paine in connection with settlement of copyright music agreement effected October 17, 1932 (3.3)	51,521.83
Unbilled expense accrued under the copyright music agreements (3.4)	17,717.63
Royalties (United States Recorded) (4)
United States Recording
United States Distribution (4.1)	236,500.00
United States Recording
Foreign Distribution (4.2)	250,651.00
Trailers (Recording and Foreign Distribution) (4.3)	180,000.00
Foreign Versions (Recording and Foreign Distribution) (4.4)	137,458.50
United States Distribution on Non-Theatrical Releases for Theatrical Recording (4.5)	141,000.00
United States Recordings on Industrial Productions (4.6)	11,000.00
Royalties, News Reels—United States and Foreign (5)
United States and Foreign Distribution (5.1)	17,300.00
Deficiencies in Minimum from 8/1/29 to 3/13/33 (5.2)	36,448.17
Local News Sheets and Pictorials (5.3)	34,607.00
Royalties (Paris Studio) (6)
Paris Recording (6.1)	198,000.00
Paris Recording and Foreign Distributions (6.2)	71,362.00
Royalties (British Recorded Productions) (7)
Foreign Distribution (7.1)	13,802.50
Total	*$3,768,822.36

(*$1,884,411.18 represents duplicated claims. Erpi's claim, therefore, is for $1,884,411.)

GUARANTY OF MORTGAGE BONDS

MANUFACTURERS TRUST CO. (S G 4) New York	$92,417.01
FIRST TRUST & SAVINGS BANK. Trustee under the indenture with respect to the Thomas Pierce Holding Co. bonds (L R 18) Miami, Fla.	60,000.00

The following claims equal the claim filled by the Trustee:—

UNICOY, INC. (L R 18A) Miami, Florida	$1,000.00
W. E. CANNON, Administrator of Estate of Ida L. Cannon (L R 18B) Dublin, Ga.	1,000.00
FIRST TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, as Trustee of Estate of Mary Luce (L R 18C) Miami, Fla.	4,000.00
FIRST TRUST & SAVINGS BANK as Trustee of trust for John Keane (L R 18D) Miami, Fla.	1,000.00
FIRST TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, as Trustee under trust set up by Perle T. Ashby (L R 18E) Miami, Florida	2,000.00
PROTECTIVE BONDHOLDERS COMMITTEE OF THOMAS PIERCE HOLDING CO. Bonds (S G 146)	51,000.00
Total	$152,417.01

UNLIQUIDATED CONTRACT CLAIMS

PHILLIP BAIONA (Breach of Contract) (164)	$25,000.00
Boston
PHILLIP BAIONA. Salary Contract 10/27/31 to 2/7/32 (Wage 4) Boston	750.00
BANK OF AMERICA NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS ASSOC. Bl. of purchase price of film "Tabu," contract 2/18/31 (250) Los Angeles	429.15
THE BANK OF UNITED STATES (Percentage of "Out of the Inkwell" profits. Assignee Ink Wells Films, Inc.) (211) New York City	3,000.00
JOSEPH P. BICKERTON. Arbiter, etc., 10% "Dance of Life" (167)	Undetermined
HELEN BROWN. Ticket of admission to theatre (357) State Sanitarium, Rutland, Mass.	24.50
ROB'T P. BURKALTER. Royalties, contract of 12/31/28 (involve same picture as Claim 317) (318)	314.25
CLARENCE H. CALHOUN, HAROLD T. DILLON, assignees of Hugh F. Dickson, services securing leases Uniontown (300) 26 Park Lane N. E., Atlanta	28,000.00
BARRON G. COLLIER, INC. (Balance due under Scranton R. R. street car advtg. contract, 10/5/26) (233) New York City	1,169.19
JOSEPH H. COOPER. Balance selling price of ½ interest in theatres in St. Joseph, Mo. (338)	79,891.95
MERIAN C. COOPER. Balance due to 1/28/33 for production "Chang" under contract 5/29/25 (287)	195.90
JOHN COLTON. Writer's Contract (Wage 8)	5,500.00
CECIL B. DE MILLE PRODUCTION, INC. (Distribution Contract "Ten Commandments," etc.) (166)	58,653.25
CECIL B. DE MILLE PRODUCTION, INC. (Distribution Contract "Ten Commandments, etc. (274)	125,000.00
E. BURNS ELLISON & HOMER A. ELLISON (Balance of purchase price of 500 sh. Mt. States Theatre Corp. common) (239) Denver, Colo.	5,000.00
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF BOSTON, David H. Brand—attachment of money (323)	58,749.97
FRONTIER THEATRES. Payment under agreement 12/31/25 (L R 19) Buffalo, N. Y.	68,537.40
GUARANTY TRUST CO., as executor of Estate Weinberger, dec'd. Purchase price of 120 shs. of stock (259)	72,187.77
INDEMNITY INSURANCE CO. OF NORTH AMERICA. Liability under certain surety bonds & claim for premiums (311)	306,342.70
IRVING TRUST CO. as Trustee in Bankruptcy of McCrory Stores Corp. Balance purchase price of lease of 12/4/16—Excelsior Bldg. Co. & Federal Holding Co.) (345) 233 Broadway, New York City	65,360.00
IRVING TRUST CO. as Trustees in Bankruptcy Pictures Realization Corp. —contracts of 9/12/29 & 10/22/30—distribution of pictures (Honeymoon Lane) (reclamation proceedings started for $15,308.63 of it) (365)	25,000.00
SAM KATZ. Salary contract dated 1/1/32 (Wage 6) New York	265,498.18
JESSE L. LASKY. Salary and stock under personal service contract of 12/15/22 (266)	282,000.00
VINCENT LAWRENCE, c/o Harold Lloyd Corp. Salary contract 2/28/31 at $1,750 per week (351) Hollywood, Calif.	113,750.00
LIBERTY PRODUCTS CO, LTD. Balance due under distribution contract "Mad Parade" (254) Hollywood, Calif.	50,000.00
CHAS. E. MACK. Services & Royalties, Contract 12/31/28 (Involve same picture as Claim 318) (317)	2,828.31
MADAN THEATRE (369) Calcutta, India	32,370.68
LOUIS MARCUS (Balance of purchase price of claimant's interest in Publix-Marcus, Inc., contract) (229)	88,750.00
A. JOHN MICHEL. Special Services property values (Wage 7) New York City	6,375.00

ANTI-TRUST CLAIMS, $6,000,000

Claimant and Claim Number	Amount
MOVIETONE NEWS, INC. Damage to Camera (305)	345.25
PALLARDY-WATRONS INS. AGENCY, INC. Damages for breach of insurance commission contract — Tampa Theatre property (256)	5,439.36
JAMES C. PARKER (Securing options on Schenectady property (224)	7,425.00
PRICE WATERHOUSE & CO. Services as accountants, survey of Bankrupt & Affiliates (310)	12,415.00
C. W. & GEO. L. RAPP. Prof. serv. as architects in designing theatres (304)	13,736.54
E. V. RICHARDS. Salary and damages under contract 7/31/29 and 11/3/30 (368) New Orleans, La.	20,271.34
HERBERT L. ROTHCHILD (Contract for stock purchase (188b)	321,013.60
JANE McMAHAN ROTHCHILD (Contract for stock purchase (189)	22,731.89
HENRY RUFF & T. R. WEAVER (Contract to pay post rent of Birmingham Theatre) (L R 30)	900.00
ERNEST B. SCHOEDSACK (Royalties, contract dated 6/10/29—"Rango") (231)	1,261.24
HARRY K. STONE. 3½% commission on $350,000, purchase price of City Theatre, Brockton, Mass. (288) Brockton, Mass.	16,231.25
SYNDICATE EXCHANGES, INC. 7 unplayed pictures at $30 each (320) 630 9th Ave., New York City	210.00
SYNDICATE EXCHANGES, INC. 1 unplayed picture at $15 (321) 630 9th Ave., New York City	15.00
SYNDICATE EXCHANGES, INC. 1 unplayed picture at $20 (322) 630 9th Ave., New York City	20.00
Above three claims are against State Theatre, Poughkeepsie, Strand Theatre, Freehold, N. J., and Rialto Theatre, Asbury Park, N. J., respectively.
TECHNICOLOR MOTION PICTURE CORP. (Stipulated amount for failure to accept film) (220)	10,000.00
FRED THOMSON PRODUCTIONS, INC. Royalties pursuant to contract with Famous Players-Lasky Corp. (263) New York City	541.21
TOBIS TONBOILD-SYNDIKAT ATK. Licensing Agreement 8/22/30 35.625% of distribution fees and royalties (341)	111,519.42
V. & D. PRODUCTIONS, INC. c/o of distribution of "Honeymoon Lane" profits (302)	1,444.78
R. C. A. VICTOR CO., INC. Part liquidated goods sold 7 del. & claim for royalties
17,565.46 goods sold & del. 6,510.00 royalties (222)	(a) 22,858.66
(a) Amount claimed is $20 less than total of the items set forth in exhibit.
WARNER BROS. PICTURES, INC. Assignees of 64.375% of distribution fee of International Tobis (340) 321 W. 44th St., New York City	75,000.00
WARNER QUINLAN CO. (Fuel Oil sold and del. 3/3/33 to 4/27/33) (*346) New York City	21,013.96
STANLEY C. WARRICK (Wages) (L R 45) Palm Beach, Fla.	32,769.40
Total	$2,467,841.10

G. B. THEATRE BONDS

G. B. THEATRES CORP. Duplication Gen. 281 (GEN 284) Springfield, Mass.
G. B. THEATRES CORP. (*GEN 282) Springfield, Mass.	$669,945.28
G. B. THEATRES CORP. Duplication S G 6 (GEN 283). Springfield, Mass.
NATHAN GOLDSTEIN East Longmeadow, Mass.
SAMUEL GOLDSTEIN (GEN 281) Springfield, Mass.	127,500.00
MERTON E. GRUSH, as Trustee. Duplication Gen. 282 (*S G 7). Winchester, Mass.
HAROLD G. STORKE, as Trustee (S G 6) Arlington, Mass.	613,481.29
Total	$1,410,926.57

BONDS ON LEASES

FIFTEENTH STREET INVESTMENT CORP. (L R 24) Denver, Colo.	$75,000.00
SIXTEENTH STREET REALTY COMPANY (whose claim has been assigned to the International Trust Co.) (L R 25) Denver, Colo.	150,000.00
Total	$225,000.00

GUARANTY OF LEASES

EAST AVE. AMUSEMENT CORP. (L R 4) Rochester, N. Y.	$51,005.14
SUNRISE CORP. (L R 9)	156,784.44
PICADILLY THEATRE INC. (L R 12) Rochester, N. Y.	24,048.06
INTERSTATE TRUST & BANKING COMPANY, (as Trustee) (L R 23) New Orleans	121,649.98
TOM K. SMITH as receiver of St. Louis Properties Corp.) (L R 26) St. Louis	43,333.36
MADISON TOLEDO CO. (L R 27) Toledo	37,115.70
G. M. LABORATORIES, INC. (L R 28) Long Island City, N. Y.	9,411.70
CITIZENS NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS BANK (L R 29) 5th & Spring Sts., Los Angeles	10,511.46
MIDHAM CORP. (also, Central Trust Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio as trustee) (L R 31)	36,218.50
JOHN BALABAN (L R 33) Chicago	13,125.00
LINCOLN SQUARE REALTY CO., & CIRCLE THEATRE CO. (L R 32) Indianapolis	600,000.00
BANKERS BOND & MORTGAGE CO. (L R 34) Philadelphia	914,558.86
SALEM REALTY CO. (L R 41) Salem, Mass.	16,673.62
STANLEY C. WARRICK (L R 45) Palm Beach, Florida	333,963.40
FRANK V. STORRS (Breach of contract dated 5/5/30 and 5/14/30 with Storrs, Reade and bankrupt) (GEN. 359) Reade also filed claims Gen. 358—for $160,454.84 and L R 57 for 96,612.57	257,067.41
	$257,067.41
Also 8 separate claims (L R 49 to 56 inclusive, listed below) were filed by Walter Reade companies in New Jersey, the total of which amount to $160,454.84. These claims are all omitted from totals on the theory that they are duplicates.
RARITAN AMUSEMENT CO. (*L R 49)	$4,804.85
TRENTON THEATRE BUILDING CO. (*L R 50)	3,459.12
RIALTO THEATRE CORP. of Ashbury Park (*L R 51)	16,888.00
ST. JAMES THEATRES CO., INC. (*L R 52)	31,391.04
READES PLAINFIELD-PERTH AMBOY THEATRES COMPANY (*L R 53)	59,726.82
SAVOY THEATRES CO., LTD., of Ashbury Park (*L R 54)	6,453.31
RED BANK AMUSEMENT COMPANY (*L R 55)	15,617.30
BROADWAY THEATRE COMPANY of Long Branch, Inc. (*L R 56)	22,114.40
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SEATTLE (L R 60) Seattle, Washington	88,456.05
MELVIN STRAUS, as trustee, etc. (Portland, Oregon Theatres) (L R 61)	53,096.73 (Plus)
PORTLAND PARAMOUNT CORP. (Same as L R 61) (L R 44)
CHIPPEWA THEATRE CORP. (L R 48)	2,577,562.08
Total	$5,344,581.49

OTHER FUTURE RENT

A. E. REUBEN & W. J. KOUNTZ, (receivers of Toledo-Paramount Corp.) (*GEN. 366) Toledo	$1,340,876.90
FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF TOLEDO (as Trustee of Toledo-Paramount Corp. bonds. Duplicate of Gen. 366. Apparently includes past rent due (L R 35).
1432 BROADWAY CORP. (L R 43) New York City	521,807.14
CITIZENS NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS BANK OF LOS ANGELES (L R 39) Spring & Fifth Sts., Los Angeles	18,025.78
BROADWAY & TWENTIETH PROPERTIES, INC. (L R 21) Oakland, Cal.	2,153,142.12
SPRINGFIELD THEATRE & INVESTMENT CO. (L R 36) Springfield, Mo.	54,423.00
ELECTRIC REALTY INVESTMENT CO. (L R 37) Joplin, Mo.	136,709.00
ELECTRIC THEATRE CO. (L R 38) Kansas City, Kansas.	67,520.00
AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK, (as Trustee of Bonds of Tennessee Enterprises, Inc.) (*S G 121) Nashville	435,000.00
Total	$4,727,503.94

MIXED PAST FUTURE RENT

ESTATE OF CLAUDE S. JARVIS, (dec'd Ann Jarvis, Extrix.) (L R 58) P. O. Box 3473, Philadelphia	$48,714.00
BELPIK THEATRES, INC. (L R 40)	21,450.00
ANDERSON THEATRICAL ENTERPRISES (L R 46) Louisville	85,249.95
Total	$155,413.95

PATENTS

DEFOREST PHONOFILM CO. (363) 218 West 42nd St., New York City	$1,000,000.00
GENERAL TALKING PICTURES CORP. (364) 218 West 42nd St., New York City	1,000,000.00
AMERICAN TRI ERGON CORP. (362) New York City	Undetermined
Total	$2,000,000.00

COPYRIGHT

ESTATE OF JEAN A. LEROY, by Seba LeRoy, Adm. (188a)	$2,500.00
ISADORE A. SIMON & JENNIE C. MacMAHON as Extrs. of Estate of Will MacMahon (301	Undetermined
HARRY CORT & MARGRETTA CORT (354)	150,000.00
Total	$152,500.00

TORT CLAIMS

CARLOTTA CAMPO (201) 497 West Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.	$10,000.00
SAM CAMPO (200) 497 West Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.	5,000.00
LILLIAN & MURRAY STAMPER (243) 1051 Elder Ave., Bronx, N. Y.	1,000.00
MARY QUINN (246) Bayonne, N. J.	5,000.00
AGNES E. THOMAS (264)	25,000.00
LOUIS SIMONS (326)	150.00
ANNA SIMONS (327)	500.00
Total	$46,650.00

ANTI TRUST

EDWARD QUITTNER (268)	$2,880,000.00
MIDDLETOWN COMBINED BUILDINGS CO., INC. (267)	2,250,000.00
STRAND AMUSEMENT CO. (328) Portland, Me.	1,000,000.00
Total	$6,130,000.00
GRAND TOTAL	$65,914,249.99

NEWS PICTURES

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 213—China flood—takes grim toll—Governors ask President to fix farm prices—Oil fire threatens town at Oklahoma City—Ibanez arrives in Spain from exile.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 212—Demon auto drivers in speed classic at Los Angeles—Metrotone snapshots—United States backs crusade to save children—World's Fair honors Mrs. Roosevelt—Show new bonnets for 1934—Oil explosion spreads death at Tiverton, R. I.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 13—Warship crash kills three off San Francisco—Lloyd George sees peace in peril—Picture paragraphs in the day's news Big gridiron games provide thrills — New York couple, 68 and 79 years old, get married.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 14—Auto speed demons race with death—Sir Oswald Mosley agitates fascism in Great Britain—Jockey J. Westrope rides 250th winner—Picture paragraphs in the day's news—Secretary Dern explains NRA—Oil tank explosion kills three at Tiverton, R. I.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 28—Japanese teachers parade for pupils—Farmers threaten strike—Flashes from everywhere—Mussolini celebrates 11th anniversary of Fascism—Navy downs Notre Dame—St. Mary's beats Fordham.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 27—Mussolini reviews his police—Start gold rush at Denver, Colo.—Headlines in Europe—Minister, priest and rabbi to preach fellowship throughout United States—Macon leaves California for Pacific maneuvers.

PATHE NEWS—No. 28—Sea hawks mass in sky parade at San Diego, Cal.—Forty-pound fishes easily caught at Tumwater, Wash.—McAdoo lauds Russia.

PATHE NEWS—No. 29—Macon soars over clouds in California—Jim Crowley explains football plays—New hat styles shown in New York—New Soviet train tested in Moscow—Needle Work Guild starts annual drive in New York—Buffalo geography pupils go up in plane—News flashes.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 194—Three die in oil tank explosion at Tiverton, R. I.—Help needy, says First Lady in Chicago.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 195—Seven die in airplane crash at Shrewsbury, N. J.—Fascists mark party's birth in Italy—Children in thrilling rodeo in Kansas City.

THE PARADE OF THE WINNERS

● Walk into any of the thousands of small-town, 300-seat movies and you will find "American Chairs" predominating. Seat yourself in any of America's greatest show houses and again you probably will be enjoying the comfort of an "American Chair".

ASK US,
"How can I reseat my theatre economically?"

The WINNERS...
all equipped with "American Chairs"

Radio City—RKO
New York City

Civic Memorial Opera House
San Francisco

Earl Carroll Theatre
New York City

RKO Theatres
Albany, Schenectady, Denver, Davenport

Marcus Loew's Theatres
72nd Street, New York
175th Street, New York
Grand-Atlanta, Johannesburg, South Africa

United Artists
Berkeley, Cal.

Rome Circuit, Baltimore
Broadway, Apollo, Harlem Theatres

T. & D. Jr. Enterprises
Alameda, Cal.

NRA WE DO OUR PART

American Seating Company
Makers of dependable seating for theatres, schools and churches
General Offices: GRAND RAPIDS, MICHIGAN BRANCHES IN ALL PRINCIPAL CITIES

ON BROADWAY

Week of November 4

CAPITOL
Plane Nuts.....MGM

HOLLYWOOD
Operator's Opera.....Vitaphone
I Got to Sing a Torch Song.Vitaphone
Exploring the Pacific.....Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Frozen Hell .....Capitol
Big Benefit.....Universal

PARAMOUNT
Screen Souvenirs—No. 3...Paramount
March of the Champions..Paramount
Sailor Beware.....Paramount

RIALTO
Paramount Pictorial—No. 4.Paramount
Three Little Swigs.....Paramount
I Like Mountain Music... Paramount

RIVOLI
The Pet Shop.....United Artists
Across the Sea.....Educational

RKO MUSIC HALL
Air Tonic.....RKO Radio
Scouring the Seven Seas...Fox
Beanstalk Jack.....Fox

ROXY
Snowman .....Invincible

STRAND
Paul Revere, Jr.....Vitaphone
In the Dough.....Vitaphone
Rubinoff and Band.....Vitaphone

New York Services For Texas Guinan

A sad troupe of showgirls are riding the rails from Vancouver to Broadway with the remains of Texas Guinan, early film player and night club entertainer, who died on November 4 of an intestinal illness. She was 49 years old.

Relatives honored her wish in arranging for her burial in New York, "where I would rather have one square inch than all the rest of the world." Services will be held early next week from St. Malachy's Catholic actors' church, near Times Square in 49th street.

Texas Guinan was born Mary Louise Cecilia Guinan in Waco, Texas. A rare swashbuckling type, she made one fairly successful talker "Queen of the Night Clubs" (Warners, 1929), and she also had a small part in United Artists' current Winchell story, "Broadway Through a Keyhole."

John Alicoate Loses Election Race

Mr. John Wilde Alicoate was an unsuccessful candidate on Tuesday for the post of councilman at Harrison, New York, losing by a margin of only six votes. Mr. Alicoate publishes Film Daily.

Smith Doing New MGM Shorts

A new Pete Smith short subject series for MGM, called "Goofy Movies," will throw newsreel, cartoon, short and feature into one reel, with explanatory dialogue by Mr. Smith. Jules White will direct.

Loew and Poli Agreement Near

This weekend is expected to see the consummation of a deal for operation of 18 theatres in the Poli-New England circuit by Loew's under a three-year agreement with S. Z. Poli, who recently reacquired the circuit. The plan is reported to provide that no agreements or contracts be made for more than one year by the managing company.

Capitalization of Poli-New England calls for issuance of $7,074,200 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1958; $7,074,200 general mortgage 5 per cent income bonds, due 1983; $600,000 5 per cent unsecured income notes, due 1958; 5,000 shares no par common stock.

The capital stock and the 5 per cent unsecured income notes are to be issued to provide necessary funds to pay real estate taxes due on the properties, together with expenses and charges of reorganization and working capital of Poli-New England.

Poli owned $13,852,500 of the first mortgage bonds of Fox-New England and under the new plan will receive for each $1,000 bond one $500 first mortgage bond and one $500 general mortgage bonds on Poli-New England.

Reports from New Haven this week had it that operation of the 18 Poli-New England theatres will pass to Loew on November 15, with Loew paying a weekly rental reputed to be $10,000 for the entire group, for three years.

The United States district court at New Haven has finally approved plans for the reorganization of the capital structure of the circuit. The new securities for Poli-New England and for Eastern Theatres Corporation are expected to be issued within a fortnight, with Loew's reported buying a block of the securities.

Three Paramount Trustees Defended

Support of the Paramount trustees' defense of a removal action brought by Samuel Zirn, attorney for certain bondholders, was forthcoming on Monday, when two of the largest creditors' protective committees asked for and were authorized by the court to file briefs in support of the trustees on December 4. On that date, the United States circuit court of appeals will hear the action.

The protective committees supporting Trustees Charles D. Hilles, Eugene W. Leake and Charles E. Richardson are the bondholders' group represented by Davis, Polk, Wardwell, Gardner and Reed, and the general creditors' committee represented by Nathan Burkan.

Referee Henry K. Davis in New York heard preliminary details of a claim for $155,000 filed against Publix by Sunrise Realty Corporation, based on future rents. Mr. Davis deferred a ruling until November 15.

The trustees decided this week to reject a proposal made by F. and M. Circuit for the purchase of eight Publix-Richards-Nace houses in Arizona. They decided to continue operation of the group, following a survey made for the trustees by Herschel Stuart.

Clean Films Recommended By Catholic Bishops

Motion pictures of questionable moral tone will be discussed at one of the sessions of Catholic clergymen who will convene at Washington November 15 and 16. Representing the 102 American dioceses will be 126 bishops, who are understood to be preparing to take steps to elevate the moral tone of the screen.

Bishop Cantwell, of the Los Angeles diocese, said this week that 32,000,000 Catholics would heed the church's recommendation for purified pictures. He added that about 50 immoral films out of a total yearly output of 500 would be sufficient to corrupt a community, and that the bishops want to prevent this, warning that producers determined to fight against a higher moral standard in films would suffer diminished business from Catholics.

Waxman Out, Turner In

Terry Turner returned this week to his old post as RKO circuit press representative, succeeding Abe Waxman.

Lester Cowan Quits Academy

Lester Cowan suddenly resigned Tuesday night as secretary and manager of the Academy of Arts and Sciences. He asked to be released as quickly as is convenient for the executive board to act, and gave as his reason what he called the "impossibility" of effectively carrying on the basic principle for which the Academy originally was designed.

The Academy was placed under fire a few weeks ago by revolting actor members who joined the Actors' Guild, claiming insufficient representation at the code hearings.

Major Levinson, executive chairman of the Technicians' branch, also resigned.

B. I. P. To Handle "Tarzan"

British International Pictures will distribute Principal's "Tarzan, the Fearless," in Great Britain.

"I enjoyed directing 'A MAN'S CASTLE' more than any picture I have ever made. I owe sincere thanks to Spencer Tracy, Loretta Young, Glenda Farrell, Walter Connolly, Arthur Hohl and Marjorie Rambeau for magnificent performances."
Frank Borzage
THE MOST GLORIOUS LOVE STORY SINCE "7th Heaven"!
"A Man's Castle"
A FRANK BORZAGE Production
with
SPENCER TRACY • LORETTA YOUNG
Screen play by Jo Swerling
From the play by Lawrence Hazard
A COLUMBIA PICTURE
A Screen Guild Picture

J. C. Jenkins--His Colyum

Neligh, Nebraska

AN OPEN LETTER TO PAT O'BRIEN

Dear Pat:

As soon as we learned last night that you were playing in "Bureau of Missing Persons" at the Moon theatre we called up the Doc and were glad to learn that he was out of town. Then we called a taxi to take us down to the show, for we couldn't see how we could lie in bed when you were on the screen.

We were under a pretty bad handicap because one of our eyes had gone democratic a few weeks ago and only until recently has it begun to see a little light, therefore we had to trust one eye on you, but from what we could see with one eye we are giving it as our opinion that nobody in Hollywood could have played the part as well as you did.

Perhaps you being teamed up with our nephew, Allen Jenkins, might have helped some, for Allen isn't so slow either except that occasionally he can be as dumb as Zasu Pitts, but that's a trait that runs in the Jenkins family.

Cow-Itch and the Goats

While we were watching you play we wondered if you were in any way related to Grandma O'Brien, who used to live neighbor to us back in Newton county, Indiana. Grandma was a dear old soul and she always gave us fried cakes and popcorn and would pin a green bow on us every St. Patrick's day in the morning. We liked grandma very much, but she had six or seven goats that we didn't fall for very hard, for every time our mother would hang out her clothes on washday those damgoats would jump over our back yard fence and proceed to help themselves to the lingerie, etc., etc. They chewed one sleeve out of our Sunday shirt and made our underwear look like it had been run through a cornsheller.

One day while they were getting their accustomed meal of sheets, step-ins, etc., we sprinkled some cow-itch on their backs and you should have seen those goats go for home. The old buck goat dove through the window of grandma's kitchen and upset the churn and a jar of home brew that was about ready to bottle and the balance of the herd jumped up on top of the kitchen roof. Grandma never could understand what got the matter with her gosts. We could have told her, but we didn't consider it safe. How are you fixed on goats, Pat?

▽

On Maximum Salaries

In the October 21 issue of the HERALD appears two of the best articles we have read in many a day. One is an editorial by Terry Ramsaye under the heading "Eagle Feathers," in which he concludes that the motion picture code under the N. R. A. as applied to the motion picture industry is a flat tire. We'd like to go Mr. Ramsaye one better and say that, as we see it, it is a complete blowout.

Mr. Rosenblatt, who is supposed to be the Skipper and First Mate of the theatre code, lays considerable stress on fixing a "minimum wage" for the industry, but what the exhibitors and the public want is for him to fix a maximum wage, one within reason, but on this particular point the code seems to be about as noisy as an oyster.

After you have read Mr. Ramsaye's editorial, if you haven't already done so, you should turn to page 32 of the same issue and read "Speaking of Stars' Pay" by H. I. Phillips, in which he takes Eddie Cantor down the road barefooted and proves that Eddie should have delivered the Gettysburg speech instead of Lincoln.

When he came to the question of cutting star salaries Eddie became somewhat hysterical and declared, "Any attempt in that direction will find me in the front rank with those willing to fight for the principles of Abraham Lincoln." Eddie seems to be strong on that Lincoln stuff. He doesn't propose to drift back to the days of slavery and have his $250,000 salary tampered with. We don't blame him; if they go to monkeying with ours we'll make a kick about it, too.

Blood Pressure

After you have read Eddie's declarations as set forth by H. I. Phillips then read the motion picture code and see if you can find anything therein that should cause Eddie's blood pressure to rise as high as ours has. The mere mention of cutting star salaries causes a greater commotion in Hollywood than did the recent earthquake. Those stars are bound and determined that this country shall not drift back to "Slavery Days." Some day there will be a Lincoln rise up in this picture industry and his name won't be Cantor or Rosenblatt, and the industry won't drift back to "Slavery Days" either, and when that time comes the exhibitors and the public will get some measure of justice.

Five thousand dollars a week for a star who couldn't command over $100 in any other line of endeavor would hardly warrant the assumption that we are drifting back to slavery days, and if there is any indication of "slavery" in this business it will be found at the box offices of five thousand theatremen whom we know personally, and if the drafters of the picture code want to do something constructive for the industry they will take a cross-eyed slant at this end of the business.

It is quite evident that Eddie had the mumps and had caught cold, and we would recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

▽

Hollywood Greeter

A few days ago we received a letter from Miss Mildred Early. This won't be news for those of you east of the Rockies, but it will be headline stuff for those on the Pacific slope, for Mildred is the tall, handsome blonde in the HERALD's Hollywood office and the principal reason why young men with matrimonial inclinations should take Horace Greely's advice.

When we arrived at the Hollywood office two years ago Mildred gave us the once over and concluded right away that we were not city broke, so she took us under her wing, so to speak, and proceeded to make appointments for us for the stars' whoopee parties, but with the distinct understanding that we should be our age. Through her influence we had free access to all the studios, and her name on an admittance card gave us quite considerable standing where otherwise we would have been a complete washout.

Mildred wouldn't trust us with Jeannette Meehan, another handsome brunette who is an important factor in the HERALD family, for fear she might allow us to fall off an icewagon and get lost. We slipped away from Mildred one day and she finally found us down on Hollywood boulevard trying to figure out what made the street cars go. The easy access to Reno probably accounts for why these two young ladies are gun-shy on the matrimonial question. Other stars are not so particular.

▽

Daylight Sifting In

We can begin to see a little daylight through our left eye and that gives us considerable encouragement, but the Doc says he won't permit us to associate with April Shower for some little time yet, and that don't sound so good.

▽

In a recent editorial in the Round Table department of the HERALD, A-Mike Vogel has this to say: "We venture to state that within one day's journey, open-minded, truth-searching studioites could obtain from managers with ears to the ground enough real lowdown on star and story box office slant to change some of Hollywood's pet production ideas." Yes, yes, Mr. Vogel, and again yes, yes. Let's have some more like that and maybe it will soak in after a while. The Bible says that "God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh," but this motion picture business doesn't seem to be using that same brand of gas.

▽

When the summer days are gone
And the leaves are falling fast,
When the mallard ducks are flying everywhere,
Then we like to take our gun
And go out and have some fun
As we have done so often in the past.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD's Vagabond Colyumnist

Anthony Jim a Bankrupt

Anthony Jim, theatre owner, with headquarters at Latrobe, Pa., has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Pittsburgh, with assets at $50 and liabilities at $2,404,-984. Unpaid rents and film bills make up the larger part of the liabilities, he indicated.

Century Circuit Moves

Century Circuit, Inc., operators of theatres in Brooklyn and Long Island, has moved from 152 West 42d street, New York, to the RCA Building in Rockefeller Center.

Skouras Takes Two in Bronx

George Skouras has added the Blenheim and Belmont, two theatres in the Bronx, N. Y., to his local circuit.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

Columbia

AIR HOSTESS: Evalyn Knapp, James Murray—A pleasing picture that drew extra business. Running time, 67 minutes. Played Sept. 15-16.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

BELOW THE SEA: Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray—Quite an interesting picture. Recording not good, but pleased. It is different. Something new in a way. It will do business if you give it a chance.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

BELOW THE SEA: Ralph Bellamy, Fay Wray—Good sea story that pleased the week-end crowd. Makes a very good change in your lineup of action pictures in the small town. The mention of color was a bit far fetched, as all there is is a clipping from "Strange As It Seems," but the picture is plenty good as it is. Running time, 9 reels. Played October 13-14.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones, Helen Mack—An extraordinary picture. One that will give general satisfaction in moderate admission price theatres. It is chuck full of action, some real natural comedy situations and interesting story coupled up with Buck Jones and Helen Mack, and the two brothers who furnish the comedy. You have a marvelous offering.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—One of the finest pictures we ever had. Did wonderful business and would have done better if we had not played it so early. Played September 11-12.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

MAN AGAINST WOMAN: Jack Holt—This is just a little different type of story for Holt but he shows up to advantage as the tough detective who always gets his man. A gangster type of picture but good and interesting. Double-billed. Fair business. Running time, 69 minutes. Played October 16-17.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

NIGHT OF TERROR: Bela Lugosi and Sally Blane—Now I would like to have some wise showman tell me the entertainment of pictures of this type. The acting is good but as an entertainment they don't draw. They don't please, and why waste good talent and time on this kind of a show. The people certainly are having all the horrors of life right along now and don't have to buy it. Possibly I am wrong, but I would like to be advised.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

OBEY THE LAW: Leo Carrillo, Lois Wilson—Very good program picture that pleased patrons, but weak at the box office. Running time, 69 minutes.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Small town and rural patronage.

SO THIS IS AFRICA: Wheeler and Woolsey—After all the talk about this one we are still wondering what all the fireworks are for. It registered here as just a poor Wheeler and Woolsey and that's all. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 18-19.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SO THIS IS AFRICA: Wheeler and Woolsey—A regular laugh fest, fast moving comedy throughout. A little on the suggestive side and a little crude in spots but the majority like this one. Double-billed. Fair business. Running time, 57 minutes. Played October 16-17.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

SPEED DEMON: William Collier, Jr.—Good action picture for those who like this kind. Poor story. Just action of speedboat variety. Played Oct. 20.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

THAT'S MY BOY: Richard Cromwell— Dandy bunch of pictures from Columbia. This is a peach. Played Sept. 22.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

WHEN STRANGERS MARRY: Jack Holt, Lillian Bond—This is a good entertainment for both young and old. It has plenty of action and a good love story combined, which should please any audience. Nothing big about this, but just the thing for a one-day showing. The story of railroad building in the jungle and of a girl who learns loyalty when she meets the man she loves. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 68 minutes. Played October 20.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

WHITE EAGLE: Buck Jones—Here is a dandy Indian picture. You should do well with it.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

First National

ELMER THE GREAT: Joe E. Brown—One of the best comedies of the year. Many comments and the kind that we like to get. Joe is in a class all by himself. Business was a little over the average.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

ELMER THE GREAT: Joe E. Brown—One of the best drawing pictures of the summer season. This is a typical Joe E. Brown production and pleased 100%. Great baseball scenes in the picture that went over big. Joe E. Brown is the best comedian on the screen today. By all means play this picture. Running time, 75 minutes. Played August 27.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

FRISCO JENNY: Ruth Chatterton—Undoubtedly a fine show but not enough comedy relief. The ending is the kind that brings the fans out blowing their noses. We would rather see them come out grinning. —L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

GOODBYE AGAIN: Joan Blondell, Warren William—This is a good picture of the comedy type, full of laughs, and should please everybody. We had a few kicks on this, but as a whole it pleased the majority. It is just what you expect of a comedy, funny and silly, with a touch of romance here and there to make the picture complete. If you have not played it, then get it and advertise it as comedy entertainment. Running time, 65 minutes. Played October 19.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro, Dorothy Coonan—Immensely pleasing to the box office and the patrons. Step on this one and enjoy that buoyant feeling when you make out your deposit slip for your bank. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Oct. 29-31.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

Fox

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Grant—Light and airy. Nice music and songs. Gorgeous sets. Clean as a hound's teeth. Will please ladies, particularly, if they like romance and background. Would have made a swell color film. Played Oct. 23.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

ADORABLE: Janet Gaynor, Henry Grant—A dandy little picture. Box office O. K. Running time, 83 minutes. Played Sept. 23.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: James Dunn, Joan Bennett—A real piece of entertainment, and the folks came to see it, which makes it doubly so. It had what most pictures fail to have these days, suspense. Pictures of the last few years seem to try to get along without that good old suspense, the something that pictures need very badly. It seems that most pictures nowadays tell the story like a poor story teller in a parlor full of old ladies. Dull and draggy, no life, no color.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon, Buddy Rogers—While Nixon and Rogers were the stars in this one, I think the honors ought to go to the old gentlemen playing the German and the landlord. They sure were funny, and stole the picture. Pictures like this are made for the small town. The big cities eat them up also, I would say.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

CAVALCADE: Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard—Terrible! We had more walkouts on this than any picture we have ever previously played. By all means cancel this. Good photography work by Fox but the English dialect is hard to understand. Why do the distributors insist that we theatre managers must play these foreign films? Running time, 110 minutes. Played September 16.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

DEVIL'S IN LOVE: Victor Jory, Constance Bennett—A fair picture, ran along very nicely until the last reel and then they had to kill the hero. Ugh! Took all the fun out of it, leaving everyone depressed. Poor stuff, this killing the hero at the finish. If he has to die, why don't they knock him off before they make the picture, and then perhaps they could not make it, which would be something.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

FACE IN THE SKY: Spencer Tracy, Marian Nixon—A very entertaining little show that brought almost nothing at the box office, due to tent show competition. Good for all classes and ages.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—This team is about washed up. This is the poorest picture they have made. Another like it and they are through. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Oct. 21-22.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—Here is a picture that suited everyone. It has romance, action and a bang-up climax. Nuff sed. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Oct. 7.—Nelson Cressell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—Only a fair program picture to below average business. A few like this and Dunn and Eilers may as well fold up.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—A great western tale from the pen of Zane Grey, and we of the West love tales of the West. This one is as good as any I've shown to date. Clean and plenty of action. Suits either young or old alike. Ran it in a double bill. Only fair business. Running time, 59 minutes. Played October 13-14.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—For a western picture better than average, but the same old story of a misunderstanding and the hero catches the real crooks just in time, so he can marry the girl. Played October 20-21.—Horn & Morgan, Inc., Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—Now here is a picture that's different and pleased all 100%. Many favorable comments. Lilian Harvey very clever. Picture has a little bit of everything, good comedy, beautiful clothes to please the women, good story. Sends the customers away happy. Running time, 75 minutes.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

MY WEAKNESS: Lilian Harvey, Lew Ayres—Nice picture but did less than average business. Music with this was very nice. Running time, 74 minutes. Played October 22.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Great picture and did the usual Gaynor business. Gave satisfaction. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 16-17-18.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY: Spencer Tracy—A very good picture but a boxoffice flop. Marvelous acting by Spencer Tracy. Too depressing and slow for the masses. Running time, 76 minutes.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

SAILOR'S LUCK: James Dunn, Sally Eilers—Good comedy that pleased the midweek fans. Did not draw average business, however.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

SIX HOURS TO LIVE: Warner Baxter, John Boles, Miriam Jordan—This is a well acted picture.

The story interesting to some. About 50-50 satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

STATE FAIR: Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers—Drew well. Sorry we did not screen and eliminate the one objectionable scene in tent. That was so unnecessary. Surprised that Will Rogers permitted it. Just such as that breeds contempt for certain directors.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

TOMBSTONE CANYON: Ken Maynard—A regular horse opera. Cannot call it a good western as this star has made so many that were better. The scenery was great, but the story was not.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Small town and country patronage.

WALLS OF GOLD: Norman Foster, Sally Eilers—An extra good program picture. Will stand extra billing. Miss Eilers is lovely, and excellent in her part. Settings above the average, sound good. Played October 17-18.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

WORST WOMAN IN PARIS: Adolph Menjou, Benita Hume—So-so. Characteristic of Jesse Lasky productions, too slow. Running time, 76 min.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

ZOO IN BUDAPEST: Gene Raymond, Loretta Young—A swell picture for the country towns two or three hundred miles from a zoo. This is one of the best animal pictures I ever saw and the kiddies all stayed for the second show. The grownups were almost as enthusiastic. Advertise this to the limit. I cannot recommend it too highly. Running time, 85 minutes.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Mascot

PRIDE OF THE LEGION: Barbara Kent, Sally Blane, Victor Jory—This is a good picture full of action and thrills. It will please everyone and should make a good Saturday picture. Rin-Tin-Tin plays in this and with a little billing it should bring in the kids and older folks too. The picture is a little old, but we played it one day to a good business and received many comments on it. Running time, 70 minutes. Played October 18.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

MGM

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Frank Morgan, Alice Brady, Madge Evans, Eddie Quillan—Here is mighty good entertainment. Better than program class. Russell Hardie, Mickey Rooney and Eddie Quillan give good dance number. Lots of girls. One number of about five minutes in color that was very classy, two or three hundred in it. Color was used in this according to my idea of how it should be used in pictures. Boost this, it will satisfy. Played October 19-20.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—One of the best pictures in months. A little long but no dull spots in it. Step on this one hard, it has everything.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—Picture went over all right and they liked it. The National Screen Service, however, put out a trailer on this that they have no right to make. They pledge the house to show the knockout of knockouts with the theatre's reputation behind the statement. Theatres can speak for themselves. The trailer company can speak for the films. I guard my relations with those who read my advertisements and keep scrupulous faith with them—don't want this sold out.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic & Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Madge Evans, Jackie Cooper—Very good picture but did only about 25% of average business. The greatest picture of back stage life ever made. Should have done better business than it did. The best acting you will see for a long time. Great story. Music and sound perfect. Running time, 88 minutes. Played October 23-24-25.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Clark Gable, Jean Harlow—Clark Gable and Jean Harlow together proved to be a great attraction, and with a good story to back this up there is no other conclusion than that it is a sure-fire hit, and my box office showed it. Business very good. Running time, 85 minutes. Played October 18-19.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Jean Harlow, Clark Gable—An excellent picture and good drawing power. Don't pass this by.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Clark Gable, Jean Harlow—Did extra good business with this feature at advanced prices.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

HOLD YOUR MAN: Clark Gable, Jean Harlow—Very good. Harlow seems to be gaining in popularity and they like this homely Gable. The picture moves at a fast pace. Some action and not too much dialogue. Also a clever cast in support in the detention home, which is one of the sequences of the picture, helps a lot. Stuart Erwin has a small part that is an outstanding bit of pathos that he does do well. The audiences are rather strong for Stuart. He is most always the under dog and I guess that is what they like about him.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

MADE ON BROADWAY: Robert Montgomery, Sally Eilers—A fair program picture but Montgomery don't make so good a "hard boiled guy" as some I have seen, but he certainly tried to make it convincing. Gave fair satisfaction on a double bill.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Small town and country patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Franchot Tone—Another fine picture from Leo. Young's best performance since "Life Begins" and Ricardo Cortez and Franchot Tone are very good while Una Merkel gets the laughs with her southern drawl. Great entertainment. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 21-22.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

NUISANCE, THE: Lee Tracy—Best Tracy picture to date. Not a slow place in the entire picture and pleased 100%. Running time, 80 minutes. Played September 22-23.—H. E. Newbury, Y.M.C.A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, N. C. Small town patronage.

NUISANCE, THE: Lee Tracy—This picture, while not a big feature, went over good to a very good business. Ran it one day on Ladies' Bargain day.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

PEG O' MY HEART: Marion Davies—A good audience picture. One of the finest pictures we have had. A credit to our theatre. Played October 25-26.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy—Another good one from Leo the Lion that did good business and was a credit to our theatre. Leo's growl sounds better in our house now than it did in the Spring of this year.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy, May Clarke—Very good picture and did better than average business. Gave satisfaction. Running time, 88 minutes. Played October 15.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

PROSPERITY: Marie Dressler, Polly Moran—This is one of the best Dressler-Moran pictures we have played. It is a natural small town picture that pleased 100 per cent. Played Oct. 19.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

REUNION IN VIENNA: John Barrymore, Diana Wynyard—This is a big picture. Great of the kind, but not the kind the natives will come to see in small towns. We never should be compelled to play this type of picture (over their heads) and an exhibitor cannot get expenses out of them. This kind of entertainment is for big towns, that know what it's all about.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Small town and country patronage.

REUNION IN VIENNA: John Barrymore, Diana Wynyard—Did fine business with this picture, and pleased everybody and we cannot see why the exhibitors panned this picture in their comments on pictures.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

REUNION IN VIENNA: John Barrymore—The bulk of America don't like Vienna stuff, but to hell with the show-going public. No good in sluff house.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Kay Francis, Nils Asther—Picture received as a matter of course. Just another picture. Nothing very outstanding about it. The good old eternal triangle in foreign countries. Nuf said. Played October 18-19.—Horn & Morgan, Inc., Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins—One of the finest pictures we ever played. The stars, great story, interesting, and pleased 100% the people we got in to see it, but the real good pictures do not draw in this burg. P. T. was right. They want to be humbugged.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Country and small town patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins—Here's a good, clean, well acted picture with everyone in the cast a star. Barrymore was never better and how Miriam Hopkins did herself proud. Running time, 84 minutes. Played October 15-17.—F. E. Klein, Rivoli Theatre, Osceola, Neb. Small town patronage.

TODAY WE LIVE: Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper—About the poorest picture I have run this year. Picture would have been much better had the running time been cut about in half. Running time, 115 minutes. Played October 2-3-4.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—Drew quite a lot of extra business and pleased generally. Personally, did not think it so wonderful as a production but it got the business. That's all that matters.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—It's a box office picture in any man's town. As a picture, well, I've seen better, but your customers will not be anything but pleased. Running time, 88 minutes. Played October 12-14.—F. E. Klein, Rivoli Theatre, Osceola, Neb. Small town patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery—A great audience picture. Did tremendous business although the picture came to us on one week's notice, and we did not have time to get any advertising out for it. Should have had a longer run with us. Played August 14-15.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery, Robert Young—A swell picture all right. Not quite as good as "Min and Bill" but you can't get away from the fact that this pair are great in any picture that they have made. Robert Young is miscast. It takes a long stretch of imagination that he should be a captain of a liner with his immature looks of a kid. It would have been better to have had more of the he-man type for this role. It just isn't being done in real life. It takes years and years before a man reaches a captaincy in the nautical world and that is the one fault of the picture.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbus City, Ind. General patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy—Fair picture. Played 3 days, very poor business. Anyone that comes in after the first few reels won't know what the picture is all about. Try and get your people in at the first. Running time, 79 minutes. Played October 9-10-11.—Edward M. Starkey, Rex Theatre, Berlin, Wis. Rural and city patronage.

TURN BACK THE CLOCK: Lee Tracy, Mae Clark—This is a dream picture, but it is good. This boy Tracy can do his stuff. The plot throws him back twenty years, and the consequent mixups of his living in two periods is what makes the picture. The title is not so hot, but they will like it if you can get them in.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbus City, Ind. General patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Robert Montgomery, Ann Harding, Myrna Loy, Alice Brady—Excellent! Perhaps I'm no judge, but give people something that is at least real and human and you score a hit. Every part played to a degree of almost perfection. Beautiful settings, and, well, give us more. Played October 22-23.—Horn & Morgan, Inc., Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

WHEN LADIES MEET: Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery—One of the best pictures of the year. Ann Harding gives her usual perfect-plus performance while Alice Brady furnishes plenty of laughs and Myrna Loy, Robert Montgomery and Morgan all are fine in their parts. A picture that seemed to please them all. Running time, 85 minutes. Played October 14-15.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Monogram

BLACK BEAUTY: Esther Ralston, Alexander Kirkland—A splendid picture. Directing good, recording good and our patrons were well pleased. Alexander Kirkland stole the stellar role with his Southern accent. You can't go wrong on this one. Particularly appeals to ladies and children. Played October 24.—Amuzu Theatre, Inc., Inman, S. C. General small town partonage.

GALLANT FOOL: Bob Steele—Drew good business. Good western action picture. Played October 7.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

GALLOPING ROMEO: Bob Steele—A very good western. Played it Saturday to big house. A good western will always make us money on Saturdays.—O. A. Kaker, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

Paramount

BEDTIME STORY, A: Maurice Chevalier—An extraordinary production, to be sure, and if you are one of the many admirers of Chevalier you, like myself, will get genuine enjoyment out of this picture. I have this to say about Baby LeRoy, he is Just another baby and he is presented at every good advantage in this picture, but if any producer has an idea from this, that this is a baby year, and signs Baby LeRoy for more gurgles, then I want to know it so I can cancel the baby pictures out. There is no doubt in my mind but that Chevalier is the person that puts this picture across. Entertainment fine. Box office nose-dived.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby—Did good business at advanced prices, and should have had a longer run.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris—Good timely picture which pleased every patron. Roscoe Ates furnished the comedy and this picture should do well in the rural communities. A poor title. Running time, 72 minutes. Played October 20-21.—F. E. Klein, Rivoli Theatre, Osceola, Neb. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST: Chester Morris—Words of praise on this. To sell it in the West emphasizes the fact it was taken on Pacific coast grain fields. Soft pedal the wheat pit as stock market and wheat pit stories never yet have gotten coin, a fact the producers can't get through their unobservant heads. It did all right here.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

HORSE FEATHERS: Four Marx Brothers—A few, just a few funny spots. Plenty vulgar stuff. I'm washed up with these boys, especially Groucho. Played October 13.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE JUNGLE: Buster Crabbe—This turned out to be a surprise party for me. Without turning a hand to get extra business, this drew a fine crowd (fifth highest gross for 1933) and drew more nice comments than any show I have run for many months. Paramount has certainly come through with pictures for the small burgs during the past year.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN: Jack Oakie—A man's picture that will please the ladies as well. Running time, 75 minutes. Played October 9.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charles Ruggles, Mary Boland—Not so hot as other Paramount pictures and Paramount has certainly given us some good pictures this year.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

MIDNIGHT CLUB: Clive Brook, George Raft—Good entertainment that pleased but did not draw for some reason. One of the best pieces of work Raft has done. Should go over anywhere. Don't just know why it failed to do better here. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 18-19.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

ONE HOUR WITH YOU: Maurice Chevalier, Jeanette McDonald—One of the best Chevalier has made. A lot of these old pictures are better than those released later. Running time, 80 minutes. Played October 14.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Overdrawn and draggy all the way. Few amusing situations, but as a whole not much to it, except that it's clean. Played October 22-23.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Another excellent picture from Paramount. Clean as can be and should appeal greatly to the better class audience. Miss Fuller, a most attractive personality, properly cast. She will be heard from. Story holds interest, and the old-time atmosphere should not detract from its draw. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 22-24.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

PHANTOM PRESIDENT, THE: George M. Cohan—Drew well and got a big hand. It's real entertainment. Played September 29.—Frank Sabin, Majestic Theatre, Eureka, Mont. Small town patronage.

70,000 WITNESSES: Charlie Ruggles, Phillips Holmes—I call this a swell show. Will please all classes. It is old, but it is fine entertainment. Running time, 72 minutes. Played October 23.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

SIGN OF THE CROSS: Fredric March, Elissa Landi—We played this picture as a school benefit, and did it surely brighten the business. The picture is O.K. for adults, but pretty strong stuff for the kids. Running time, 123 minutes. Played October 26.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marelene Dietrich—Just the right kind of a picture to look at before you go to bed—you will have nothing on your mind. Fair business, poor picture.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

SONG OF THE EAGLE: Charles Bickford, Richard Arlen, Mary Brian—Quite a timely picture. My congregation like it very much. Thrills galore with many bright comedy moments. It was either an awfully good picture else we don't know anything about such things.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Gerber, Okla. General patronage.

STRICTLY PERSONAL: Marjorie Rambeau, Dorothy Jordan—This is a good little program picture that will please the average theatregoer. It is a melodrama with a different story. The story concerns the operations of a Lonely Hearts Club and what happens when a gangster muscles into a legitimate business. Nothing big about this one, but it will please the majority. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 70 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott, Tom Keene—Still another good Zane Grey-Paramount. Pleased 100%. Very good cast, plenty of action, story better than most. Again we say that there are no better outdoor pictures than these. Running time, 7 reels. Played October 20-21.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

TREE CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert, Richard Arlen—Nothing to this one. Poorest Sunday business in months. Just a lot of talk that failed to be funny.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. Small town patronage.

THREE CORNERED MOON: Claudette Colbert—Not as good as some Paramounts but all right. Did pretty good business. Played October 5-6.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

READ THEIR FIRST REPORTS THIS WEEK

And to the steadily growing company of reporters to "What the Picture Did For Me" come this week the following, from Ohio, North Carolina and Wisconsin:

Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio.

Edward M. Starkey, Rex Opera House, Berlin, Wis.

O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C.

Read what they have to say about pictures.

TILLIE AND GUS: Alison Skipworth, W. C. Fields—Comedy and wisecracks by Fields kept the audience laughing. Some thought this too much hokum but majority thought it "great." Running time, 60 minutes. Played October 22-24.—F. E. Klein, Rivoli Theatre, Osceola, Neb. Small town patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Lilyan Tashman—This type of picture is the one made best by Paramount. It satisfies the public so that we had more favorable comment than on the big musical specials that preceded it, and it got business aplenty. Exhibitors should shoot the works on this —Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—They raved about this one here. I note it flopped many places in the eastern de luxe houses, and I also noted that the bad and unshowmanlike management of those gilded morgues and churches of amusement double-headed it. Any manager that double-heads stuff like that should be back in the grease restaurant or junk business where they belong.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—One of the big pictures of the year with us. We tried to book it for Thanksgiving or for a Monday or Tuesday booking, but could not get it so we had to run it on Thursday and Friday, which are our off days, but it went over fine.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Here's an exceptionally well produced picture that pleased greatly. Did better than usual business, largely on word of mouth. To our notion, the best thing Claudette Colbert has done by far, and she's always done good work. Paramount made a good job of this one. Running time, 8 reels. Played October 8-10. —Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

TO THE LAST MAN: Randolph Scott, Esther Ralston—Good outdoor picture. All players portray characters of period in which picture takes place. May seem crude to the younger generation, but they were all good. Played October 21.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM: Stuart Erwin—There is more comedy in this than in any western we ever ran. Action plus comedy is a great combination for the tanks. This drew almost record midweek business. (That is, for the depression era.)—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

UNDER THE TONTO RIM: Stuart Erwin—This certainly is a real audience picture. Pleased the old and young and after all, that is what we want. Excellently directed, perfect recording, poor photography in places. We term it a dandy picture at more than average business.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Garber, Okla. General patronage.

WAY TO LOVE: Maurice Chevalier—Our patrons enjoyed it as it has lots of comedy. However, it lacks the lavishness and beautiful settings characteristic of other Chevalier pictures. Running time, 84 minutes.—W. A. Collins, Regal Theatre, Elvins, Mo. Small town patronage.

RKO

BIG BRAIN, THE: George E. Stone, Fay Wray, Phillips Holmes—A very good program picture killed by no title. No brains could have picked a better title.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

CHEYENNE KID: Tom Keene—These Keene pictures are liked. Exhibitors should watch New Mexico and bear in mind that there are forty-eight sovereign governments, any one of which has power to correct the major abuses of this business in the state under its jurisdiction. They put the "lor" on 'em in New Mexico and it looks like it will stick.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

DELUGE: Peggy Shannon, Sidney Blackmer—This is only fair entertainment and is good for one day showing only. The story is highly imaginative, but vividly realistic. The tidal waves and earthquake, made in miniature, are wonderful and realistic. The beginning of the story describes the destruction of the world and then goes to a picture of romantic drama of a few of the survivors. Played one day to good business. Running time, 68 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan, Frances Dee—They liked this picture which grossed a trifle below average because of its name, which is not so good. The exhibitor would starve if he did not know his business better, when he informs the public of his stuff.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

INDIA SPEAKS: This would, perhaps, be all right a few years ago, when pictures of this type were popular. But when a fellow gets this kind of stuff in the one-reelers every so often, and then has to sit through a half dozen reels all over again, it kinda takes the spice out of it, and it tastes flat as hell.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Phil Harris, Charlie Ruggles —Too weak. Music not catchy. Fell flat here. Just a program.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Charles Ruggles, Phil Harris —Just another of RKO's socalled specials that failed to click. Phil Harris may be a great musician but as an actor he would make a good cook. Good old Charlie tries hard, but he did not have enough support. Running time, 75 minutes. Played October 8. —Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn—Another star in Hepburn's crown. One of the greatest pieces of acting portrayed on the screen. Not so good at the box office. Hepburn's first appearance here. Running time, 70 minutes. Played October 16-17.—H. E. Newbury, Y.M.C.A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—Very light comedy drama program picture. Did not draw for us. Running time, 75 minutes. Played October 20-21.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

SILVER CORD, THE: Irene Dunne, Joel McCrea —Don't mean much, just an ordinary picture.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: Ann Harding—Did not draw. Good picture according to the critics, and those who saw it here liked it.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

State Rights

SUCKER MONEY: Mischa Auer—Failed to get roadshow money but they like the picture strangely enough.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

United Artists

CYNARA: Ronald Colman, Kay Francis—This is a good picture expertly directed and the acting is excellent. It is a high class drama of the sophisticated type. The story concerns a husband who steps out while the wife is away, but is told in such a way that only a few will object to it. A modern story in every way and one that will please the average audience. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 80 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

I COVER THE WATERFRONT: Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon—Very entertaining story well told by the stars and director.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

Universal

BE MINE TONIGHT: Jan Kiepura, Magda Schneider—A good musical picture. Wonderful scenery. High class music and singing. Did not draw at box office. Satisfaction about 50%. Played in nearby towns before we got it and those that saw it there knocked the picture and we did not get them. That's that.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Small town and country patronage.

BE MINE TONIGHT: Jan Kiepura, Magda Schneider—No doubt about this being a classy production, but it's foreign just the same, and it's next to impossible to get folks in to see and hear anything that smacks of across the pond.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

BIG CAGE, THE: Anita Page, Clyde Beatty—A thriller to average business. Pleased those who came. Played October 18-19.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

DON'T BET ON LOVE: Lew Ayres, Ginger Rogers—A fast running picture that was in the language of the past, a humdinger. Well acted, well directed, good recording, good photography. Pleased one hundred per cent. Grab it and play it for a run. It's a picture.—Ned Pedigo, DeLuxe Theatre, Gerber, Okla. General patronage.

FOURTH HORSEMAN, THE: Tom Mix—The usual satisfactory Mix that always draws several extra dollars into the ticket office.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts—A funny picture. We played it behind every tank in the country but it did a little business. Some came to see it the second time. Very good entertainment and pleased all we got in to see it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Small town and country patronage.

HER FIRST MATE: Zasu Pitts, Slim Summerville—I have said it before and still do, that Universal is expecting too much of this pair to keep public favor with so many pictures. This team can be kept in demand by being quite sure that the comedy is not forced and not more than two pictures per year. Parts of this picture are very, very weak and it would not do in better class theatres where real admission prices are asked.—W. H. Brenner, Cozy Theatre, Winchester, Ind. General patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: Paul Whiteman—This picture did for us exactly the same as it did when first shown three years ago. Nothing. Can't understand why, though. Think it one of the finest pictures ever produced.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

KING OF THE ARENA: Ken Maynard—Good western to good business on Saturday. Universal is a good stand-by for the small exhibitor. They treat you right.—O. A. Kaker, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

KISS BEFORE THE MIRROR: Nancy Carroll, Paul Lukas—A picture that entertains very nicely, nothing big, and not so small, either, just so.—Jack Greene, Geneseo Theatre, Geneseo, Ill. Small town patronage.

LADIES MUST LOVE: June Knight, Neil Hamilton—From start to finish there was not a new idea in the whole picture. If these three girls are actresses then I am Marie Dressler and Helen Hayes. Should have been left in the can. A depression picture. No business.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbus, Ind. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carillo—Very good picture, with a very timely and patriotic ending. Well worth your best playing time. Did fine business. Universal are nice people to deal with. Pleased everybody.—O. A. Kafer, Masonic Theatre, New Bern, N. C. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Leo Carrillo, Mary Brian—A natural for any theatre. Will stand plenty of advertising and will please young and old alike. Wonder why the film concerns don't put out more musicals and give the exhibitors a break. Running time, 83 minutes. Played October 20-21.—H. E. Newberry, Y.M.C.A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—A very fine musical, but for some reason did not do business. Pleased all. Good story, catchy lines and pretty girls.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

OUT ALL NIGHT: Slim Summerville, Zasu Pitts—Very entertaining to box office and patrons. Running time, 69 minutes.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM: Lionel Atwill, Gloria Stuart, Paul Lukas—One of the best mystery pictures we ever played. A good story and well acted. A mystery play without the horror most of them have. This kind of picture has been done to death but this one all said was different and better. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Country and small town patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart—One of the best mystery pictures ever released. Played to better than average business on two weakest show days. Will keep them guessing to the end. Running time, 67 minutes. Played October 23-24.—H. E. Newbury, Y.M.C.A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

Warner

BABY FACE: Barbara Stanwyck—A good program picture to no extra business. A little hot for some and okay for others. Just another good program picture from Warners.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kan. General patronage.

CABIN IN THE COTTON: Richard Barthelmess—Played this with the Beverly Hill Billies on the stage. The Hill Billies gave me a record business for these times and were the advertised attraction but "Cabin in the Cotton" got almost as much comment and praise from everyone. It's a fine small town picture. —Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. Small town patronage.

CAPTURED: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—This is a wonderful picture, showing the conditions in the German prison camps. Practically the entire story takes place in the camp and only twice does a woman appear in the whole picture. It is strictly a man's picture and will not appeal to the ladies. If you can get the men in your theatre, they are sure to like it. Played two days to average business. Running time, 72 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BISHOP McCONNELL SCORES CENSORSHIP

"The trouble I have with the idea of censorship," said Francis J. McConnell, resident bishop of the New York area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, "is that formal censorship puts the seal of official approval on what is left after the censor has done his work. Anyone who reads the excisions made by the censors feels that the cutting is wholly of superficials. The fundamental conception of the theme may be wrong. To say of a bad play that it is passed by the Board of Censors after deletions puts sanction on what remains. The good done by the excision does not outweigh the evil done by what at least appears to be found approved."

CAPTURED: Leslie Howard, Douglas Fairbanks—Another headache for the exhibitor. Also another overdraft. I did not make film rental. If I have to run many pictures like this I am sunk, for people go to shows now to be entertained and to forget depression. No crops and poor prices and as one patron told me, he left feeling more depressed than when he came. Not one foot of comedy in the entire eight reels. If your town is like mine, pay for it and don't run it. Warner Brothers can give us excellent pictures, but this and "Heroes For Sale" about put me out of business. Running time, 72 long minutes. Played October 25-26.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

FORTY-SECOND STREET: Warner Baxter, Ruby Keeler, Bebe Daniels, Dick Powell—A grand show to double ordinary business.—L. V. Bergtold, Opera House, Kasson, Minn. General patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Warren Williams, Joan Blondell—The best musical show we have had to date. There was more comedy than "42nd Street" and gave better satisfaction on that part of the show. We were not financially able to buy any more theatres with our share of the receipts but it did very well considering it had played all around before we got it. Gave good satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Town and country patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Warren William, Joan Blondel—Failed to deliver at this late date enough gross to justify the percentage.—Herman J. Brown, Majestic and Adelaide Theatres, Nampa, Idaho. General patronage.

LIFE OF JIMMY DOLAN: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Loretta Young—A good action program picture. Good prize fight and pleased the fight fans. The story was interesting and the acting fine by the whole cast.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. Country and small town patronage.

MAN FROM YESTERDAY: John Wayne—A good western type. I think Warner had the best westerns made this year. Running time, 60 minutes. Played October 8-10.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

MARY STEVENS, M.D.: Kay Francis—This is one of the greatest pictures of the year of its kind. Kay Francis does some great work in this and I sincerely hope she will give us more pictures like this in the future. Running time, 72 minutes. Played October 1. —Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL: James Cagney—A mighty fine picture that drew above average business. Cagney is great but the kid, Frankie Darro, was the whole show. Will please all the family.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL: James Cagney—Exceptionally good and different picture. Good satisfaction to box office and patrons. Running time, 80 minutes. Played September 29-30.—U. F. Loibl, Chimes Theatre, Cedarburg, Wis. Rural and small town patronage.

MAYOR OF HELL: James Cagney, Frankie Darro—Remarks by patrons: "A picture every man, woman and child ought to see." "The best picture I have seen for years." "Boy, can those kids act?" "A dandy show." "Swell picture." Personally I consider this one of the best pictures of the year, and did not hear one word of criticism. Running time, 80 minutes. Played October 11-12.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE 62: William Powell is always liked here, and in this story he shows up well as the suave, slick private detective. It is a good picture and if your patrons like Powell don't hesitate to run this. It is good. Double-billed. Only fair business. Running time, 64 minutes. Played October 15-16.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

SOMEWHERE IN SONORA: John Wayne—This is another good western picture from Warner. It is crammed full of action and thrills, with a slight touch of comedy and romance here and there. The locale is the Mexican border, where American bandits are in action. I cannot see why Warner should discontinue these westerns, when they are the best on the market. Running time, 55 minutes. Played October 21.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

WHACK'S MUSEUM: Krazy Kat Kartoon—Just a cartoon. Will get by.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

Educational

ALWAYS KICKIN': Gleason's Sports—This is only a fair two-reel comedy of the football type. A few laughs and several good football scenes, which seemed to please many. This is the first of this series and we hope the next will be better entertainment. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

ARTIST'S MUDDLES: Andy Clyde—This is only fair entertainment and is below the average comedy from Andy Clyde. However, it will go over well on a one-day showing. Here's hoping his next will be better. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TALE OF A SHIRT, THE: Terry-Toon—Not much to it.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TIED FOR LIFE: Harry Langdon—This got several laughs and seemed to go over good.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Fox

SAWDUST SIDELIGHTS: Hodge Podge—An excellent single reel for Saturdays or family nights. Shows circus in preparation and of interest to all.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

TIED FOR LIFE: Harry Langdon—A very good Langdon slapstick comedy.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

WOODLAND PALS: Bray's Naturgraphs—Especially interesting for children as well as grownups. Our people like these animal pictures.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

MGM

A LAD AND A LAMP: Our Gang—Good. Running time, 18 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

CHALK UP: Willie Hoppe—MGM's Sport Champion series have all been fine, and this Sport showing Willie Hoppe in some trick billiard and pool shots is no exception. Running time, 10 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

KID FROM BORNEO: Our Gang—Good. Running time, 18 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

LAUREL AND HARDY: The old slapstick comedy. People laugh once in a while to keep from becoming too bored. It may be that we can't take it, but Laurel and Hardy don't dish it out so hot.—Horn & Morgan, Inc., Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

ME AND MY PAL: Laurel and Hardy—Stan and Olly get all tangled up in a crossword puzzle, and such a mess. I've seen better, but this will do. Running time, 18 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

MR. BRIDE: Charley Chase—Phooey. Lot of fun, but no laughs. Running time, 18 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

MR. BRIDE: Charley Chase—Chase in his worst comedy. Silly without being funny. Running time, two reels.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

ONE TRACK MINDS: Zasu Pitts, Thelma Todd—A great comedy packed with laughs. Don't hesitate to book it, it is great. This pair are quite an attraction in any short. Running time, 18 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

ONE TRACK MINDS: Pitts and Todd—A good two reel comedy with a lot of good comedians on the job. Very funny.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich.

OVER THE COUNTER: Colortone Review—A great Colortone Review. Good singing, dancing, plenty girls and the audience liked every foot of it.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

PALE FACE: Flip the Frog—Just fair. Running time, 8 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Rural and small town patronage.

SNEAK EASILY: Pitts and Todd—Poorest short I have ever run with this team. Thelma always gets the laughs, but they were few and far between in this one. Running time, 19 minutes.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

SOILERS, THE: Pitts-Todd—Good. Running time, 18 minutes.—Nelson Creswell, Opera House, Cedarville, Ohio. Small town and rural patronage.

WHAT PRICE TAXI: Taxi Boys—This is a pretty fair comedy. Has some clever ladder sequences, with ladders attached to moving autos. Running time, 19 minutes.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B.C. Neighborhood patronage.

Paramount

DOWN BY THE OLD MILL STREAM: Funny Boners—Good recording and a very good screen song. Running time, 9 minutes.—F. E. Klein, Rivoli Theatre, Osceola, Neb. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE: An excellent filler on any program.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE: No. 3—Very good. Ed Wynn and Jack Pearl bring laughs as usual. Running time, 9 minutes.—H. E. Newbury, Y.M.C.A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

IS MY PALM RED: Betty Boop—There is no better cartoon comedy on the market. One reel.—C. A. Jordan, Opera House, Cogswell, N. D. Small town patronage.

ON ICE: Harry Langdon—Good two-reel comedy.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL NO. 2: Just average pictorial.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

POPEYE, THE SAILOR: Talkartoon—Here's a one-reel subject with real drawing power for the kids. If you have it booked be sure and let them know about it. They still bother us wanting to know when Popeye will be back. Running time, one reel.—Henry Reeve, Mission Theatre, Menard, Texas. Small town patronage.

SING, BING, SING: Bing Crosby—A good comedy with Bing Crosby singing several popular songs. Running time, 19 minutes.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

WHEN YUBA PLAYS THE RUMBA ON THE TUBA: Mills Bros.—Good any night of the week.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

RKO

CENTURY OF PROGRESS: Very good short that gives some exciting scenes of the World's Fair. This seemed to please. Running time, 22 minutes.—Phil Billiet, Coliseum Theatre, Annawan, Ill. General patronage.

FLIRTING IN THE PARK: Blonde and Red Heads Series—Very good slapstick comedy. Action and laughs all the way. Running time, 19½ minutes.—H. E. Newbury, Y. M. C. A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

INDIAN WHOOPEE: Cartoon—Good entertainment especially for the kids. Running time, 7 minutes.—H. E. Newbury, Y. M. C. A. Theatre, Ware Soals, S. C. Small town patronage.

MOONSHINER'S DAUGHTER: Masquers Comedies—A very funny comedy. Two reels.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich.

United Artists

STEEPLECHASE—Mickey Mouse—You haven't seen any Mickey Mouse until you play this one. House was in an uproar all the time.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

Universal

BIG BENEFIT, THE: Absolutely the most entertaining two-reeler on the market. Music and dancing that will please all. More favorable comments on this than most good feature pictures. Running time, 21 minutes.—H. E. Newbury, Y. M. C. A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

HAM AND EGGS: Oswald Cartoons—Just so-so. Not bad, not especially good.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

KING KLUNK: Pooch Cartoon—Very good cartoon. Should be shown ahead of RKO's feature, "King Kong." Worth twice its cost for advertising. Running time, 9 minutes.—H. E. Newbury, Y. M. C. A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

FATTY ARBUCKLE COMEDIES: Fatty dead gets more laughs than any of the live ones I can find. Wish he had lived to make 52.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

I LIKE MOUNTAIN MUSIC: Merry Melodies—Fine. Most of this series is good, but this is exceptionally. Running time, one reel.—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

NAME IS FAMILIAR, THE: Melody Master—This is a good musical number, featuring songs and dances of several foreign countries, expertly done by Belasco and his band. The Rhumba dance at the end is marvelous and you can be sure that your patrons will like this. Running time, 10 minutes.—J. J. Medford, ROAD IS OPEN AGAIN, THE: Dick Powell—An NRA trailer that adds real color to a program and greatly benefits the public by explaining the National Recovery Administration. Furnished free through National Screen Service. Should be shown in every theatre.—H. E. Newbury, Y. M. C. A. Theatre, Ware Shoals, S. C. Small town patronage.

STUCK STUCK STUCKOO: Good single reel short. Got a lot of laughs. Running time, 10 minutes—Gladys E. McArdle, Owl Theatre, Lebanon, Kan. Small town patronage.

Serials

Universal

JUNGLE MYSTERY: Tom Tyler—The best serial since sound. On episode 10 and holding up something unusual here. If Tyler could only talk like Harry Carey, it would be perfect. Wish I knew where I could get another as good to get and hold both kids and adults.—G. Carey, Strand Theatre, Paris, Ark. Family patronage.

Mascot

THREE MUSKETEERS, THE: John Wayne, Ruth Hall—Now on tenth episode and say! it is the best serial yet. Don't pass it up.—Charles Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

TRAVELERS . . .

PAUL LUKAS, Universal player, sailed for Europe.

GUY P. MORGAN, United Artists' general manager at Argentina, arrived in New York.

EMIL LUDWIG, noted biographer, returned to Europe after Warner studio conference.

LAURENCE STALLINGS, writer, returned to Columbia studio from Europe.

ERNST LUBITSCH, Paramount director, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

BARBARA STANWYCK, Warner player, returned to Burbank from New York.

SAM MORRIS, Warner vice-president, was due in New York from Europe.

EMANUEL COHEN, studio head, and Henry Herzbrun, counsel, returned to Paramount studios on Coast for home office conferences.

GIFFORD COCHRAN, producer of "Emperor Jones," returned to New York from Europe.

AL ROCKETT, Fox producer, was preparing to return to Movietone City, from New York.

ANDY SMITH, Warner sales executive, returned to the home office from vacation.

ARTHUR W. KELLY, United Artists' foreign head, is due in New York next week from Europe.

PAT GARYN, sales head of Master Art, returned to New York from Midwest.

MONROE ISEN, Universal general manager in South America, returned from conferences at home office.

MONTAGUE LOVE arrived in New York.

AL SANTELL returned to Hollywood from New York.

JAMES WHALE, Universal director, sailed for Europe.

LYNN FARNOL, Sam Goldwyn's press agent, arrived in New York from Hollywood.

CATHERINE SWAN, Fox story staff executive, arrived in New York from Coast.

SIGNED. . .

Columbia

Elissa Landi given contract. . . . Gloria Shea and Sam Adams sign for "Um-Pa" (short subject). . . . Donald Cook loaned RKO for "Long Lost Father." . . . Oscar Apfel, Jack Long and Samuel F. Hines engaged for "Hold the Press." . . . Otto Brower to direct Tim McCoy in "Straightaway." . . . Gene Raymond signed for three productions. . . . Clark Gable borrowed from MGM for "Night Bus." . . . Harriette Lake and Wera Engels join "Let's Fall in Love." . . .

▽

Educational

Frances Halliday and Ernest Truex signed for "Mr. Adam." . . . Cecilia Parker, Eddie Phillips and Josephine Hall engaged for "Easy Mark Anthony." . . . Helen Morgan in "Manhattan Lullaby." . . .

▽

Fox

Norman Foster's contract renewed. . . . Russell Patterson signed to design sets and costumes for "Fox Movietone Follies." . . . Samuel Hoffenstein engaged to do screen play of "All Men Are Enemies," from Richard Aldington's book. . . . Spencer Tracy and John Boles in "Bottoms Up" (Buddy DeSylva). David Butler will direct. . . . Alice Leone Moats, editor and author, to serve as technical adviser on "Coming Out Party" (Jesse L. Lasky). . . .

▽

MGM

Donald Ogden Stewart to write dialogue for "Living in a Big Way." . . . Grace Hale selected for "Cat and the Fiddle." . . . Max Baer, prizefighter, and Mary Carlisle additions to "The Hollywood Party." . . . Harry Pollard to direct "Five Days." . . . Grant Mitchell and Nat Pendleton added to "Payment in Full."

▽

Paramount

Gertrude Michael chosen for "Death Takes a Holiday." . . . George Bancroft assigned to "The World's Greatest Spender" (Charles R. Rogers). . . . Baby LeRoy added to "Alice in Wonderland." . . . James Bush joins "Eight Girls in a Boat" (Charles R. Rogers). . . . Casey Robinson, scenario writer for Charles R. Rogers, becomes director. . . .

▽

RKO Radio

Edward H. Giffith, director, Lenore Ulric and Polly Moran, players, awarded contracts. . . . Wilson Collison to prepare screen play of "Blonde Poison," original by Donald Henderson Clarke. . . . Elissa Landi engaged for "Man of Two Worlds." . . . Jean Parker replaces Dorothy Jordan in "Wild Birds." . . .

▽

United Artists

Fay Wray will be presented with vehicles calculated to raise her to stardom by 20th Century. . . . William Cagney engaged for "Joe Palooka." . . . 20th Century to make supermusical titled "The Love School," Sam Mintz and Henry Lehrman to do screen play. . . .

▽

Universal

Chester Morris given new contract. . . . "Dangerous to Women" changed to "King for a Night." . . . Lucille Lund and Richard Talmadge in "Pirate Treasure" (serial), Ray Taylor directing. . . . Gloria Stuart and Roger Pryor chosen for "I Like It That Way." . . .

▽

Warner-First National

Guy Kibbee awarded new contract. . . . Jean Muir and Donald Woods added to "As the Earth Turns." . . . George Brent cast for "Mandalay." . . . Philip Reed assigned to "King of Fashion." . . . Matt McHugh joins "Hi, Nellie." . . . Pat O'Brien in "Hell's Bells."

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 198.—(A) Whatis the first element of the projection optical train and just what are its functions? (B) What is the second element of the projector optical train and what are its functions? (C) What is meant, in optics, by the term "perpendicular," as when we say: the optical axis is perpendicular to the screen surface? (D) Explain why (a) a light ray passing through both surfaces of a lens perpendicular thereto will not be bent or "refracted" and (b) what if any light losses will be sustained by such a ray.

Answer to Question No. 191

Bluebook School Question No. 191 was: (A) How would you test for grounds when using a battery? (B) How would you test for grounds with a magneto? (C) Suppose you had a grounded coil or grid in one of your rheostats. How would you locate it? (D) Should your projector lamphouse and mechanism be permanently grounded? On what do you base your answer? (E) Would you or would you not ground the metal work of your projection room?

The following made satisfactory answers, though some slipped a bit on one or two points: G. E. Doe; S. Evans and C. Rau; J. Wentworth; D. Danielson; H. H. Menifee; T. Van Vaulkenburg; B. Doe; L. Van Buskirk and E. Kroll; W. Ostrum; H. Edwards; K. Dowling; J. C. Richardson; G. R. Kelley; A. Tallakson; L. F. Evans; D. Emmerson; R. Rubin and L. Hendershot; M. Simms and O. L. Daris; B. Diglah and P. Jackson; M. Spencer, D. T. Arlen and G. L. Donaldson; C. A. and D. L. Prince; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; D. Smith; B. L. Blinkensdorfer; B. L. Tanner and E. Rymer; R. M. Thomas; S. B. Schneider; D. Haber and A. Breaston; G. Farmann; M. R. Davis; H. R. Baldwin and W. T. Soar; L. L. Jones; H. C. Lake; O. V. Saxton and T. Lovejoy; A. T. Jackson and P. Conforti; A. Ilks and P. L. Jensen; O. Allbright; G. Harrison and E. Harlor; U. H. Hanover; J. Clark and A. M. Ginsberg; D. R. Peters and D. Holler; B. M. Granby; S. N. Connors and G. Tomaston; P. L. Danby; D. U. Grainger; L. Jones and B. L. Banning; G. Tinlin; R. Suler and R. Wheeler; E. Hart and R. B. Hammil; T. N. Williams and R. C. McDonald; A. Bailey; F. Butler and D. L. Catlin; O. L. Evans; C. Cummings and T. Kelley; D. C. and H. B. Coates; R. H. Patterson and L. H. Danville; W. Oakland; H. True; S. Maybe and R. D. Konley; T. McGruder; M. G. Greig; D. L. Banks and L. Summers; H. Miles; G. Johnson and N. T. Kane; P. K. Daniels and F. F. Franks; D. V. Peterson; D. R. Lyon and D. G. Lamb; L. M. Oglesby and Son; D. Little and J. H. Rathburn; R. Singleton and M. L. George; L. Graf and F. S. Perkins; W. and S. F. Love; T. H. and J. N. Wilson; B. L. Donaldson.

We shall let G. E. Doe answer this one.

He says: "Unless it be necessary I would not test my equipment with a battery because of its low voltage. However, if no other testing equipment be available I would have the room in at least semi-darkness, since unless there be a ground of sufficiently low enough resistance to operate a bell or buzzer, or to light a low voltage lamp, a spark must be depended upon for evidence of leakage and the spark would naturally be a faint one, probably not visible in a lighted room. As a matter of fact it would, I believe, be best to depend wholly upon a spark test, merely connecting a wire to each battery terminal and touching the wire ends to opposite polarities across the point to be tested.

"The foregoing of course applies to a single battery cell. If two or more cells be connected in series and the voltage thus increased sufficiently, then a lamp of suitable voltage may be used successfully, though I believe a sufficient number of cells to raise the voltage to about ten and a spark in a semi-dark room is best, provided always the spark be used intelligently —one wire end being held in contact with one polarity and the other touched and pulled away with a quick, wiping motion.

"Of course a battery test of an entire circuit may be made by connecting one battery lead to ground and testing with the other, but because of the low voltage I would not regard a single cell test made thus as at all reliable. I would prefer myself to test across each suspected place."

(B) J. Wentworth says: "Using a magneto for testing is very effective and simple, because of the extremely high voltage generated by the instrument. One may test a circuit as a whole by opening its feeding switch, connecting one magneto lead to earth and the other to one wire of the circuit. With the switch open, the fact that it may be a part of a 3-wire system makes no difference, since it then is entirely disconnected and therefore completely isolated from the system as a whole.

"If it be a 3-wire Edison system and the circuit switch be closed, then the test must be made from ground to outside wire. The magneto will detect grounds of such high resistance that an ordinary line voltage test or a battery test would not indicate them. They therefore are not really grounds in the true sense, so far as concerns ordinary commercial voltage."

(C) O. V. Saxton and T. Lovejoy answer thus: "It would depend upon what testing apparatus we had. If a magneto, we would test from one of the binding posts (first having disconnected the rheostat from the circuit) to frame. No ring means everything O. K. If, however, the bell rings, there is a ground. We then would test across each grid or coil connection to find the source of leakage.

If we had only a test lamp and line voltage, we would disconnect the rheostat from the circuit and test across from a binding post to frame. If there was a spark or if the lamp filament showed current action, then we would, starting at one end, disconnect each grid or coil, testing after each disconnection, until the lamp stopped lighting and (or) there was no spark. The leak then of course would be in the last grid or coil disconnected."

(D) L. Hutch and D. Goldberg answer this one very well indeed. They say: "The projector lamphouse and mechanism should be grounded to the metal frame work (if any) of the projection room. If not, then directly to ground. This is necessary for the reasons that (a) should the projector become charged, as may occur at any time through the lamp, it would always be possible, if the projector be not so grounded, for a reel to touch some portion of the projector, a magazine for example, the projection room frame metal or the grounded conduit, thus causing a spark of greater or less intensity, and sparks are rather highly undesirable around inflammable motion picture film. (b) It would always be possible for the projectionist to get an unpleasant 'jolt' by touching grounded metal and an ungrounded projector. (c) An ungrounded projector and grounded conduit, etc., is in any event a highly undesirable condition."

(E) Out of the many hundreds of answers received, only one said the projection room metal should not be grounded. His reason was rather unique: "If the metal be grounded and the projector be grounded to it, then in case of ground there would be constant current leakage which would have to be paid for." Correct, brother, but——???

A GORGEOUS AFFAIR

By invitation friend daughter and her Dad were guests of the American Projection Society at a dinner and dance in that georgously decorated restaurant, The Paradise, on the Great White Way, New York City, last week.

There were approximately 700 members, projectionists and others present.

There is real need for such an organization, but it is my opinion that success requires a thorough reorganization. We need an organization restricted in membership wholly to men who have proved themselves justly entitled to the title projectionist, men who have real interest and pride in the profession. It does not seem either practical or desirable to maintain a room open to members at all times.

It might be well to issue a yearly membership card suitable for framing, requiring it be hung in the projection room.

I congratulate the, or perhaps I should say our, Society upon the splendid affair.—F. H.

Missouri Houses Face Drastic Bills

Prohibition of the sale of standing room in St. Louis theatres, passage of special taxes on theatres throughout the state of Missouri are the dour prospects facing exhibitors.

In St. Louis the Safety Council, the Fire Prevention Bureau and the police and fire departments have swung in behind the anti-standing room bill now before the board of aldermen. And it all came about when a politician found no seat available when he entered the Ambasador theatre to see Mae West's "I'm No Angel."

Here are the rates of special taxes provided for in the Buford State Senate bill: For each admission of 25 cents or less, 1½ cents; for tickets costing 25 to 50 cents, 3 cents; from 50 to 75 cents, 4 cents; from 75 cents to $1, 5 cents; from $1 to $1.25, 7 cents; from $1.25 to $1.50, 10 cents; $1.50 to $2.25, 15 cents, and for each ticket costing $2.25 or more, 20 cents.

Exhibitors say this bill, if enacted into law, would force many neighborhood and suburban houses in St. Louis and Kansas City and small town theatres to close their doors.

Another bill directed at the industry is a house measure to impose a special film rental tax on a footage basis. However, it is believed this particular bill hasn't much chance of passage.

Authors' Guild Elects Officers

Will Irwin was elected president of the Authors' Guild of the Authors' League of America at its annual luncheon meeting last week in New York. Other officers elected were Booth Tarkington, Dorothy Canfield Fisher and Julian Street, vice presidents; Louise Sillcox, secretary and treasurer.

The following council members were chosen: Frederick Irving Anderson, Chester T. Crowell, Fairfax Downey, Elisabeth Sanxay Holding, Fanny Heaslip Lea, Mary Margaret McBride, Mary C. McCall, Jr., Edmund Pearson, Frederic F. Van de Water and Margaret Widdemer.

Gell Named Managing Head of Pathe in London

W. J. Gell, formerly managing director of Gaumont Company, Ltd., and Gaumont Ideal, London, has been named managing director of Pathe Pictures, Ltd., in London, effective November 1. He has also been named to the board of British Instructional Films.

Mr. Gell's new appointment follows the consolidation of the Gaumont-British distributing units, with which he was associated, and is understood to be in line with plans for increasing Pathe production in England, which was resumed recently.

Columbia Declares Dividend

Columbia Pictures has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents per share on its convertible preference stock, payable December 1, 1933, to stockholders of record November 16.

General Theatres Settlement With Fox Theatres Is Likely

Creditors of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., have been ordered by the chancery court at Wilmington, Del., to show cause November 17 why Daniel O. Hastings of Wilmington, receiver for the corporation, should not be authorized to agree to a proposed settlement of controversies between himself, as receiver, and William E. Atkinson and John S. Sherman, receivers of Fox Theatres Corporation and others.

Senator Hastings' petition declared that settlement of the controversies would be highly advantageous to the corporation for which he is receiver both on its own merits and because prompt settlement of the controversies involved is necessary before reorganization of General Theatres can be attained. The proposed settlement provides in part that General Theatres deliver to Fox Film Corporation stock in Fox Movietonews, Inc., which General Theatres received from Fox Theatres in 1931. Another is that Fox Theatres receivers give a general release to General Theatres and various others against whom they have planned claims.

55th Street Playhouse Reopens in New York

The 55th Street Playhouse, New York, opened its season last week with a policy designed to present "photoplays of distinction," both of American and foreign production. The first film will be the Sergei M. Eisenstein-Upton Sinclair film, "Thunder Over Mexico," with an additional 5,000 feet of representative selections from all material photographed by Mr. Eisenstein in Mexico.

Ohio Exhibitors In Lobbying Quiz

Statement of an exhibitor that "the Cleveland exhibitors body spent $10,000 to defeat the amusement tax recently enacted in Ohio" brought Donald J. Hoskins, county prosecutor, and his staff to Cleveland this week as part of a general investigation of lobby activities in the Ohio legislature.

With the Franklin county grand jury recessing for a few days pending completion of the inquiry, Mr. Hoskins was conducting the prosecutor's probe of lobbying before the inquiry body, which last week indicted Senator William H. Herner of Monroeville on a charge of soliciting a $1,500 bribe.

Of the motion picture phase, Mr. Hoskins said that unless a satisfactory explanation were forthcoming from the Cleveland exhibitors he proposed to subpena Henry Greenberger of the Community Circuit theatres, Cleveland, who was alleged to have made the statement, also George W. Erdman, general manager of Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors' Association, its president, Ernest S. Schwartz, P. J. Wood, business manager of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of Ohio, news and trade paper representatives, and other leading exhibitors.

McCurdy to Australia

Jack McCurdy is at the Columbia studios in Hollywood preparatory to sailing November 15 for Australia, where he is to be Columbia representative. On the same boat, the Mariposa, will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Loew and Mr. and Mrs. David Loew and Sir Benjamin Fuller of the Fuller circuit in Australia.

"'A MAN'S CASTLE' is closer to 'Seventh Heaven' than anything the director has done since."
The Hollywood Reporter
THE MOST GLORIOUS LOVE STORY SINCE "7th Heaven"!
"A Man's Castle"
A FRANK BORZAGE Production
with
SPENCER TRACY • LORETTA YOUNG
Screen play by Jo Swerling
From the play by Lawrence Hazard
A COLUMBIA PICTURE
A Screen Guild Picture

RKO NET LOSS FOR YEAR IS HALVED: 58 OF 162 OWNED HOUSES DROPPED

Highlights of the second report on the RKO receivership situation, filed in district court in New York last week, by Irving Trust Company, as receiver in equity, follow:

Fifty-eight of 162 wholly-owned theatres have been abandoned.

Basic theatre rents per annum have been reduced $250,000.

$261,063 has been saved in reduced taxes on theatres.

Reduction of $8,000 per annum was obtained on mortgage interest rates.

A number of extensions and deferments of principal were obtained, largely a readjustment of $3,489,300 in outstanding RKO Midwest bonds.

Probable reduction of $5,000,000 in RKO's net loss for 1933 was indicated, based on a net loss of $3,356,552 for eight months ending August 31. With operations continuing at a comparable level for the remainder of the year, net loss will approximate $5,745,000 as compared with a 12-months loss of $10,695,503 for 1932.

Assets are $69,799,000, compared with $97,170,000 Dec. 31, 1932, and $75,758,000 at the time of receivership, Jan. 27, 1933.

Eight-months losses are broken down as follows: picture subsidiaries, $1,441,847; theatre subsidiaries (exclusive of Radio City), $977,484; Radio City, $134,410.

Consolidated cash position at the end of eight months: $2,414,529, compared with $3,212,000 for all of 1932.

Capital surplus of $2,953,882 Jan. 1, 1933, has been written down on balance sheet of August 31 to capital deficit of $12,500,000 by eliminating accounts of subsidiaries in bankruptcy or receivership and by writing down value of RKO investments in such subsidiaries.

The receiver is engaged in preparing data to determine the amounts which may be paid by subsidiaries of RKO to Chemical Bank and Trust Company, as trustee, for the purpose of creating a revolving credit fund, as provided by an agreement dated Jan. 26, 1933, and from which fund, when created, it will be requested that fresh loans to subsidiaries of RKO be made, all as provided by such agreement and as authorized by the order of Sept. 7, 1933.

In connection with the carrying out of its duties as receiver and for the purpose of making more effective the protection of the equities in the properties represented by stocks of subsidiary corporations of RKO, the receiver reached an understanding with RCA, Chemical Bank, CIT and the trustee, in regard to the exercise of the voting power, pursuant to the provisions of the January 26th agreement, in respect of any stocks subject to the lien of the collateral note indenture, which understanding is set forth in two letters dated August 4, 1933.

In the first of these letters RCA agrees "that so long as it shall have the right under the January 26th agreement to direct the trustee as to the exercise of voting power on stocks of subsidiaries of RKO for the election of directors, it will confer with the receiver's representative designated for that purpose a reasonable time prior to any meeting of stockholders of any such corporation at which directors are to be elected, and before ascertaining whether any person proposed for election is willing to serve as a director, and will not direct the voting of any stock for any person as director of any such corporation without first obtaining the court's approval, or giving the court a period of at least five days to express its approval or disapproval.

Assets and Liabilities at Inception

"As to voting such stocks in respect of matters other than the election of directors, RCA agrees that it (a) will consult with the receiver's representative in advance as to any proposed exercise of such voting power; (b) will direct its representative on the committee constituted by the January 26th agreement to instruct the trustee to vote any such stock in accordance with any request which you may make as to such voting, in so far as compliance with such request will not in the opinion of RCA adversely affect the interests of RCA as a holder of debentures and stock of RKO; and (c) will not object to action by the other members of said committee in accordance with the provisions of said letters from the trustee and the noteholders, unless in the opinion of RCA such action may adversely affect the interests of RCA as a holder of debentures and stock of RKO."

The second letter, from Chemical Bank, CIT and the Trustee, points out that "so far as the election of directors is concerned, the trustee can, during the life of the extension provided for in the January 26th agreement, only exercise such voting power for the election of directors as RCA may, in writing, direct."

After careful consideration the receiver concluded that the cost of preparing a consolidated balance sheet of RKO and its subsidiaries as at Jan. 27, 1933, the date of its appointment, was so great that it should not be incurred, especially in view of the availability of the certified consolidated balance sheet as at Dec. 31, 1932, prepared by Price, Waterhouse & Company in connection with the regular audit upon which they were engaged when the receiver was appointed.

Annexed to the report is a revised balance sheet of RKO as at Jan. 27, 1933 (not consolidated). This balance sheet has not been audited by certified public accountants but was prepared from the books and records of RKO by its accounting staff under the direction of the receiver. It shows total assets of $75,758,668, rather than $76,124,794, the total assets stated in the preliminary balance sheet of RKO as of Jan. 27, 1933, annexed to the report of the temporary receiver filed Feb. 17, 1933.

Prior to the receivership, assets with an aggregate book value of $70,514,707.46, consisting of notes, accounts and mortgages receivable from the capital stocks of subsidiary companies had been pledged as security with Chemical Bank & Trust Company, as trustee for RKO's 6% secured gold notes, 6% sinking fund gold debentures and part of its 6% gold notes. This left unpledged assets with an aggregate book value of $5,243,961.46, consisting of the following:

Cash	$ 26,690.27
Unpaid subscriptions on debentures	297,499.75
Improvements and equipment on leased property	95,510.62
Good-will and contracts	1,500,001.00
Deposits on leases	1,000,000.00
Accounts receivable and accrued interest	31,580.58
Notes and accounts receivable from affiliated companies	93,333.33
Capital stock of subsidiaries	1,655,348.34
Mortgages receivable	15,000.00
Advances to and bonds of Affiliated companies	301,241.50
Sundry deposits and deferred charges	227,756.07
Total	$5,243,961.46

Operations During Receivership

Upon its appointment the receiver came into actual possession of only $2,846, cash in bank and the stock certificates, bonds and notes of subsidiaries.

Its total receipts and disbursements to Oct. 15, 1933, were as follows:

RECEIPTS

Bank balances collected	$ 2,846.41
Payments on subscriptions to stock and debentures	24,689.17
Interest on bank account	67.71
Interest on escrow account	3,636.10
Notes receivable collected	184.09
Refund, Interborough Rapid Transit Co.	220.53
Interest on mortgage, Long Island Amusement Company	436.50
Dividend, Van Beuren Corporation	6,060.00
Refund, Wells Fargo Bank	30.00
	$38,170.51

DISBURSEMENTS

Salaries	$13,189.19
Investment, stock of Stadium Theatres Corporation	1,000.00
Official stenographer	147.80
Stationery, office supplies and postage	118.30
Legal notices and advertising	173.7/
Printing	1,457.94
California trip—receiver's representative	618.46
Preparing list of stockholders	375.00
Miscellaneous expenses	330.77
Rent for receiver's offices	666.67
		18,077.90
Balance, Regular Account		$20,092.61

In addition to the foregoing receipts, the receiver collected certain monies which it has deposited in a special account pending determination of contested rights therto. The nature of these collections is as follows:

Dividend, Union Hill Corporation	$10,000.00
Surrender value, life insurance policies	9,108.81
Federal income tax, withheld, re: coupons on debentures	4.56
New York State income tax; re: salaries paid to non-residents	37.93
Interest on account (less check tax)	.81
Balance on Special Account	$19,152.11

Fifty-eight of the 162 theatres operated by wholly owned subsidiaries on Jan. 27, 1933, were dropped. For those maintained, reductions of rent, taxes and interest and deferment of amortizations were negotiated.

Basic theatre rents per annum have been reduced since the inception of the receivership by approximately $250,000. In addition, expiring reductions previously secured have been continued for additional periods. It should be noted, however, that some of the reduction agreements contain provisions granting lessors a percentage of the profits or a percentage of the gross receipts above a fixed minimum rent.

BASIC THEATRE RENTS CUT $250,000

Extensive efforts to reduce the cost of taxes on properties owned in fee or leased with tax obligations by RKO subsidiaries resulted in estimated savings of $261,063 in taxes on properties still being operated.

Reductions in interest rates, which will result in savings of $8,000 per annum, were secured on several individually held mortgages. Most of the indebtedness of RKO subsidiaries, however, consists of mortgage bonds in the hands of the public.

Many Extensions Obtained

A number of extensions and deferments of principal were obtained, particularly where the cash position of the debtor subsidiaries did not warrant the necessary withdrawals. The most notable accomplishment in this regard was the readjustment of the secured 6% serial gold bonds of RKO Midwest Corporation, of which $3,489,300 was outstanding and was largely held by the public. Of these bonds, $436,900 was payable on May 1, 1933, a like amount on May 1, 1934, and the balance on May 1, 1935. New sinking fund bonds, due May 1, 1940, were exchanged for all but $4,800 of the original bonds, including those maturing May 1, 1933.

RKO Service Corporation pays all expenses, including salaries, incurred in connection with the management service it renders to the theatre operating and other subsidiaries, and allocates such expenses among the several subsidiaries, charging theatre operating subsidiaries a home office fee based upon a percentage of their gross receipts from theatres and a percentage of billings to tenants of commercial space. A portion of home office expense is allocated to motion picture producing and distributing subsidiaries. Since RKO Service Corporation is operated on a non-profit basis, reductions in its expenses result in reduced home office fees to be borne by theatre operating subsidiaries.

After careful study the receiver recommended reductions in salaries of executives, reductions in personnel and savings in nearly all other items of expense, including rent. The expense of RKO Service Corporation allocated to theatre operating subsidiaries in 1932 was approximately $1,700,000, an average of almost $142,000 monthly. For the seven-months period ending July 31, 1933, the average monthly expense so allocated was $105,043. Similar expense for August, 1933, was $66,713. Since August 31, 1933, additional savings in rent, electricity, cleaning, etc., have been effected by consolidating the RKO home office activities so that they are now housed in five rather than seven and one-half floors of the RKO Building in Radio City (New York).

Further savings will be effected wherever possible. It is hoped that if the theatres currently in operation are maintained and theatre receipts hold their present level, the present home office fee of 5% of the average weekly gross receipts can be reduced to 3½% or 3% by January, 1934.

During the first six months of 1933, the motion picture and vaudeville theatre business declined to its lowest level in many years. Nevertheless, RKO theatre operations for this period show an improvement over the corresponding period of 1932. This improvement is due to drastic reductions in operating expenses and the elimination of unprofitable theatres.

The following comparative table shows operations for the 76 comparable theatres operating during the first six months of 1932 and 1933:

	First Six Months 1932	First Six Months 1933	% 1933 of 1932
Attendance	38,782,188	36,773,879	94.72
Average admission price	$ .3672	$ .2994	81.54
Total operating income	14,241,292.70	10,999,361.52	77.24
Total operating expense	11,256,075.33	7,880,806.76	70.01
Net profit before fixed charges	2,985,217.37	3,118,554.76	104.47
Analysis of operating expense:
Vaudeville	$2,538,067.21	$1,061,987.89	41.81
Film	2,903,969.57	2,408,586.53	82.94
Advertising	1,241,873.40	1,015,486.22	81.77
Other expense	4,572,165.15	3,393,646.30	74.27

Despite lower gross operating income resulting from lower attendance and average admission prices, the net profit (before fixed charges) was greater during the first six months of 1933 than during the corresponding period in 1932. The substantial reduction of vaudeville expenses is due more to the elimination of vaudeville in many houses than to reduction in cost.

Currently managed theatre operating subsidiaries (exclusive of the two subsidiaries operating the Radio City theatres) show a net loss after all charges for the eight-months period ending Aug. 31, 1933, of $977,484. This loss includes many non-cash and non-recurring items such as depreciation of buildings, amortization of leaseholds, loss on sales of investments and capital assets, etc. If the largest of these items, depreciation and amortization, aggregating $1,278,697, is eliminated, current theatre operations for the period show a cash profit of $301,212.

Operations of Radio City Theatres

When the receiver was appointed on January 27, 1933, the Radio City Music Hall and the RKO Roxy Theatre were being operated respectively by Radio City, Inc., and Radio City Theatres Corporation, two direct subsidiaries of RKO, whose stocks remained unpledged and came into possession of the receiver. Both theatres were sub-leased from RKO with rentals and terms substantially equivalent to those in the basic lease from Rockefeller Center, Inc., to RKO.

The original lease from Rockefeller Center, Inc. (formerly known as Metropolitan Square Corporation), to RKO called for a rental as finally adjusted of $953,972 per annum ($79,497 per month) for the two theatres. Pursuant to the provisions of an agreement dated June 5, 1930, as subsequently amended, between Rockefeller Center, Inc., and Underel Holding Corporation, on the one hand, and, on the other, RCA and certain other corporations which, through stock ownership or otherwise, are associated with RCA, including RKO, $1,000,000 in securities (later converted into cash) was deposited with the Chase National Bank of the City of New York. Said agreement dated June 5, 1930, provided, among other things, that sub-

RKO Profit and Loss Account For 8 Months Ended August 31

INCOME:
Theatre admissions, film rental and other income		$28,596,971.54
EXPENSES:
Operating and general expenses		28,864,245.35
Loss before items as below		$ 267,273.81
OTHER INCOME:
Profit of foreign subsidiary companies not consolidated	$ 357,553.77
Dividends received on investments in affiliated and other companies	52,610.00
Interest earned	97,311.47
Forfeited deposits	18,903.06
Sundry other income and credits	43,352.54
		569,730.84
Profit before other charges		$ 302,457.03
OTHER CHARGES:
Interest and discount*	$1,876,156.31
Depreciation of capital assets and amortization of leaseholds	1,420,585.77
Loss on sale of investments and capital assets	332,593.85
Picture production and studio equipment abandoned and settlement under contracts	14,703.14
Sundry other charges	14,970.22
		3,659,009.29
Net Loss (before providing for dividends on cumulative preferred stocks of subsidiary companies in arrears)		$ 3,356,552.26

Including $625,097.19 Interest Accrued on Obligations of Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation from January 27th to August 31st, 1933, which has been charged as expense on this statement for statistical purposes but is not recorded on the books of the corporation.

Note: Results from operations of companies in bankruptcy have been included to their respective dates of bankruptcy. The total loss of such companies amounts to $282,372.11.

ASSETS OFF $5,959,000 IN 8 MONTHS

ject to certain conditions the landlords (Rockefeller Center, Inc., and Underel Holding Corporation) might apply the proceeds from the sale of such securities to any deficiencies in the rentals for the two theatres. Said original lease terminated automatically by its terms when the receivership was made permanent on February 17, 1933. As of that date a reserve was created on the books of RKO and charged to capital surplus in the amount of $843,003, to cover the balance of said security deposit remaining after allowing for accrued rent payable to February 17, 1933.

Radio City Agreement

Pursuant to order of the court, Radio City, Inc., and Radio City Theatres Corporation entered into an agreement with Rockefeller Center, Inc., and Radio Corporation of America, providing for a new lease of the two theatres to Radio City, Inc., for a term beginning Feb. 17, 1933, and ending Aug. 31, 1933, upon the following basis:

RCA was to advance to the two theatre corporations a sum not exceeding $250,000 to be used for the payment of their outstanding indebtedness as of Feb. 1, 1933, and an additional $50,000 to be used for working capital. All income from the theatres was to be paid by the subsidiaries into a special account in trust to pay the necessary operating expenses and then to pay the balance at the end of each calendar month, one-half to RCA to repay the amounts advanced and one-half to Rockefeller Center, Inc., as rent (but not exceeding a maximum amount, the calculation of which was based on the maximum rent provided in the original theatre lease to RKO). Any balance remaining at the termination of the agreement, after full payment of the RCA advances and the maximum rent, was to be returned to the theatre operating subsidiaries. Rockefeller Center, Inc., was to recover from the $1,000,000 security deposit the rent and other charges due on Feb. 17, 1933, under the original theatre lease and thereafter, from time to time, was to recover from said deposit such sums as might be necessary in order to make up any deficiency between the rent provided in the original theatre lease and the rent received under the new lease.

As a result of this arrangement, the two theatre operating subsidiaries were able to pay off substantially all their current obligations; they were assured that their obligation for rent would not exceed their income from the theatre; and they were put in possession of working capital which would not be subject to depletion for rent.

Pursuant to the agreement of Feb. 17, 1933, a new lease was executed and the operation of the theatres continued until Aug. 31, 1933. During this period Rockefeller Center, Inc., and RCA received $98,378 and $98,378, respectively, from the special account, so that $201,621 was still due to RCA on Sept. 1, 1933. During the same period Rockefeller Center, Inc., withdrew the sum of $696,835 from the security deposit, leaving a balance of $303,164.

New Special Account

Prior to the expiration of the leases made pursuant to the agreement of Feb. 17, 1933, the receiver and the executives of RKO negotiated a new agreement dated as of Aug. 31, 1933, which has been executed by Rockefeller Center, Inc., RCA and the theatre corporations, and approved by the receiver, subject, however, in all respects to the approval of the court, providing for a new lease of the two theatres for one year (subject to earlier cancellation by the landlord) upon the following basis:

The income from the theatres is to be placed in a new special account to be applied, first, to the payment of operating expenses of the theatres; second, to the maintenance of a working fund of $100,000; third, to a reserve fund not exceeding $25,000, for the payment of accrued operating expenses; and fourth, to a rent payment of $50,000 per month to Rockefeller Center, Inc. One-half of any balance then remaining at the end of each month is to be paid to Rockefeller Center, Inc., as additional rent, one-fourth to the theatre operating subsidiaries, and one-fourth into a special reserve fund account. As under the earlier agreement of February 17, 1933, the new agreement gives to Rockefeller Center, Inc., the privilege of recovering monthly from the remainder of the $1,000,000 security deposit any deficiency between the original lease rent and the rent under the new lease. If it has not theretofore received $1,000,000 in rent for the year from the new special account, Rockefeller Center, Inc., is to take down the deficiency from the special reserve fund account; otherwise the money in this account is to go to the theatre operating subsidiaries.

The new agreement also makes provision for certain collateral benefits to RKO Service Corporation and RKO Radio Pictures, Inc.

Operations of the two Radio City theatres for the period from Jan. 1, 1933, to Aug. 25, 1933, as expressed on the books of the operating subsidiaries, show a loss of $134,410. In addition to depreciation and amortization this loss includes $20,424 interest accrued on advances from RCA and RKO. Rent on the two theatres was charged on the basis of $79,497 per month from Jan. 1, 1933, to Feb. 17, 1933, in accordance with the terms of the sub-leases from RKO. Thereafter to Aug. 25, 1933, only the actual amount of cash paid Rockefeller Center, Inc., under the terms of the agreement of Feb. 17, 1933, amounting to $98,378, has been charged as rent.

During the entire period the executives of RKO and the receiver have devoted continual attention to the problems of reducing operating expenses. The result of their efforts is reflected in the statement of operations for the four weeks in September, 1933, which shows a profit before rent of $90,580.87.

If this recent improvement in operations should continue, it is reasonable to assume that the Radio City theatres can be conducted on a profitable basis hereafter, the court was told.

Commercial Real Estate Operations

Theatres and other buildings owned or leased by RKO and its subdidiaries contain commercial space which in 1932 yielded approximately $2,500,000 in rentals. Income from these sources has declined since the receivership because many of the properties owned or leased by insolvent subsidiaries of RKO have been abandoned. When the receiver was appointed on Jan. 27, 1933, RKO through its subsidiaries controlled 91 properties having commercial space; on Oct. 1, 1933, this number had declined to 73.

A policy has been instituted whereby each property containing commercial space now contributes to the payment of home office expenses in proportion to the amount of the monthly rent charges. This will result in the managed properties bearing the cost of operating the real estate department and will reduce the home office expenses heretofore charged to the theatres by RKO Service Corporation.

Motion Picture Production and Distribution

RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., a direct subsidiary of RKO, is engaged through subsidiaries in the production of motion pictures at its studios in Los Angeles and in their distribution. Pathe News are produced by Pathe News, Inc., another direct subsidiary of RKO, and RKO Pathe Pictures, Inc., also a direct subsidiary of RKO, through its subsidiary owns studios in Los Angeles which are either leased to outside producers or remain idle.

When RKO went into receivership on Jan. 27, 1933, the picture companies were faced by an impending cash shortage and an uncertainty as to the continuity of studio management, which interfered with necessary preparations for productions to be started in the near future. This had a definite bearing upon the pictures available for release during subsequent months.

In the early part of March, 1933, studio operations were taken over by a new executive producer. The new management was immediately confronted with the difficulty of preparing for the production of a large number of pictures. During this transitional period, comparatively little actual shooting of high-quality pictures was in process, and the revenues derived from the liquidation of inventories so exceeded cash requirements that the picture companies were able to build up their cash reserves.

The new production management, with the incentive of a share in the profits of the pictures, tentatively adopted as complete a production schedule as was permitted by the companies' cash resources and the requirements of the distributing and exhibiting companies. Thus far, this program has been satisfactorily maintained, and, aside from making possible an adequate release schedule, has resulted in a substantial reduction in the cost of pictures without impairing their quality. The current financial and operating reports are indicative of the promising results achieved by the new studio management.

A comparison of current and past performances by RKO Studios indicates a substantial reduction in the cost of pictures prepared and completed by the new management.

Results of operations of RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., and RKO Pathe Pictures, Inc., for the period from Jan. 1, 1933, to Sept. 30, 1933, compared with the corresponding period in 1932, also indicate an improvement. During this period, total income declined from $15,942,541 in 1932 to $14,212,505 (estimated) in 1933, while the operating loss (before accrued interest on indebtedness to RKO, payment of which has been suspended) dropped from $1,779,322 in 1932 to $703,747 (estimated). In connection with the estimated loss for 1933, it should be borne in mind that throughout the current year, and particularly during the early months, the over-cost films, production of which was completed or started prior to receivership, were being amortized. At the present time, amortization is decidedly less than during the corresponding period of last year, or during the early months of this year. This factor, together with the maintenance of a level release schedule, the quality of the pictures being released, and the increasing attendance at theatres, has resulted in the picture companies showing decided profits in recent weeks.

The executives of the picture companies believe that they are successfully weathering the most difficult period experienced in many years and that their promising studio results, their sizeable inventory of quality pictures in release and available for near future release, and the general improvement in theatre attendance and receipts, indicate that future operations will show material improvement.

CONSOLIDATED CASH NOW $2,414,529

RKO Building Leases

By agreement dated June 5, 1930, between Rockefeller Center, Inc. (then known as Metropolitan Square Corporation), RKO and others, RKO agreed to lease two theatres and certain space in the RKO building, all thereafter to be erected. Pursuant to the terms of this agreement as amended by supplemental agreements dated Nov. 25, 1930, and Jan. 12-14, 1 31. Rockefeller Center, Inc., by indenture dated Oct. 29, 1931, leased 186,583 square feet of office space in the RKO Building to RKO. By supplemental indenture dated Nov. 21, 1932, the space under this lease was reduced from 186,583 square feet to 90,773 square feet. On Dec. 1, 1932, RKO took possession of the demised premises and has since occupied them.

When the receivership was made permanent on Feb. 17, 1933, the lease was automatically terminated by its terms. The receiver and executives of RKO thereupon entered into negotiations with Rockefeller Center, Inc., which resulted in two separate leases to RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., and RKO Service Corporation for the period from Feb. 17, 1933, to Aug. 31, 1933, at a total rental substantially equivalent to that paid under the original lease.

After further negotiations new leases have been executed between Rockefeller Center, Inc., RKO Radio Pictures, Inc., and RKO Service Corporation for terms beginning Sept. 1, 1933, and ending Aug. 31, 1934. The new leases call for reduction in space at a reduced unit rental which will result in a saving of approximately $125,000 for the one-year period.

Results of Operations

A consolidated profit and loss statement of RKO and its subsidiaries for the eight-month period ending Aug. 31, 1933, prepared from the books and records by their accounting staff, shows a net loss for the period of $3,356,-552.26. This loss is accounted for as follows:

1. Bankrupt subsidiaries from Jan. 1, 1933, to their respective dates of bankruptcy	$ 282,372.11
2. Subsidiaries which have ceased operations	440,931.11
3. Service companies	75,401.84
4. Radio City theatres	134,410.17
5. Film companies	1,441,847.86
6. Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation.	4,104.33
7. Theatre companies currently operated	977,484.84
Total	$3,356,552.26

The losses sustained by the subsidiaries which have gone into bankruptcy (Item 1) and by the subsidiaries which have ceased operations (Item 2) should be excluded in ascertaining the results from operations of currently managed properties. The loss incurred by the service companies (Item 3) is made up almost entirely of the results of operations of the RKO Vaudeville Exchange whose losses are due to the fact that the use of vaudeville in theatres declined to the lowest point in recent years. Since the receivership drastic reductions in expense of this subsidiary have been instituted and it is believed that this phase of the business should improve during the coming winter, especially in view of the renewed interest in the use of vaudeville. The net loss of the picture companies (Item 5) is considerably lower than that for the same period of 1932 and involves no cash loss. Their cash position on Jan. 27, 1933, and Aug. 31, 1933, is almost identical despite the enlarged production and release schedules and the absence of any borrowing. Moreover, the loss includes $646,708 accrued interest on indebtedness to RKO.

In computing the loss for RKO (Item 6) there is included, for statistical purposes, $625,-097 interest accrued on obligations of RKO from Jan. 27, 1933, to Aug. 31, 1933, even though this accrual is not recorded on the books. As an offset to this charge, accrued interest receivable on advances to subsidiary and affiliated companies is included as income. Included in the loss sustained by the theatre companies currently operated (Item 7) are charges for depreciation and capital assets and amortization of leaseholds aggregating $1,278,697. This does not represent any cash outlay, so that operations before depreciation and amortization show a profit of $301,212. However, from a cash standpoint, the profit is greater, due to the inclusion in the consolidated statement of numerous other items of a non-cash nature, such as loss on sale of investments and capital assets, amortization of organization expense, deferred alteration and improvement expense, bond deferment expense, bad debts and reserve for doubtful accounts, interest on intercompany indebtedness, etc. While the consolidated loss for the year 1932 includes losses sustained during the period by those subsidiaries which have been placed in receivership or bankruptcy since the receivership of RKO, it may be noted that "loss before other charges" amounted to $2,246,945, whereas the consolidated statement for the eight-month period ending Aug. 31, 1933, indicates a "profit before other charges" in the amount of $302,457.

The current cash position of RKO and its subsidiaries compares favorably with the cash on hand when the receiver was appointed on Jan. 27, 1933, after payments made by subsidiary companies in reduction of mortgages and other financial obligations in an amount aggregating over $450,000 are taken into account.

Consolidated Balance Sheet

In a consolidated balance sheet of RKO and its subsidiaries as at Aug. 31, 1933, prepared from the books and records of RKO by its accounting staff, the capital surplus of $2,953,882 on Jan. 1, 1933, has been written down on the balance sheet of Aug. 31, 1933, to a capital deficit of $12,504,177 by eliminating from the consolidation the accounts of the subsidiaries in bankruptcy or receivership and by adjusting the accounts of RKO and its subsidiaries (1) to write down to nominal value the investments in such subsidiaries (2) to provide reserves for the security deposit hereof and balances due from such subsidiaries and (3) to set up liabilities for that part of their indebtedness which was guaranteed by RKO. Substantially similar adjustments are indicated on the balance sheet of RKO as at Aug. 31, 1933.

Readjustment of KAO Indebtedness

Prior to the receivership, RKO controlled Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation, which in turn controlled Orpheum Circuit, Inc. RKO owned 21,674 of the outstanding 64,304 shares of preferred stock and substantially all of the common stock of KAO. RKO also owned 9,462 of the outstanding 63,840 shares of Orpheum preferred stock. The remaining shares of Orpheum preferred stock (except for 1,289 shares in Orpheum's treasury) were in the hands of the public. KAO owned substantially all of the common stock of Orpheum.

From time to time during 1930 and 1931 RKO made loans to Orpheum of which $1,115,-434 remained unpaid at Dec. 31, 1931. As of that date KAO assumed the payment of this debt to RKO, in consideration of Orpheum's agreement to pay a like sum to KAO. During 1932, KAO made additional advances to Orpheum, so that when the latter filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy on Jan. 27, 1933, its total indebtedness to KAO (including interest) was $3,001,239. As security for the payment of this indebtedness, Orpheum, by indentures dated as of April 1, 1932, and Aug. 1, 1932, had pledged with KAO all of the capital stock of its subsidiaries held by it as well as the notes and mortgages originally given by them to Orpheum for advances made to them by it.

In order to obtain funds primarily to be used for making the loans to Orpheum just described, KAO borrowed from RKO from time to time so that as at Dec. 31, 1932, KAO was indebted to RKO to the extent of $2,394,655 (excluding interest) for which promissory notes had been executed and delivered by KAO to RKO. These notes were pledged by RKO with Chemical Bank & Trust Company under the indentures previously discussed.

Prior to, and after the appointment of the receiver, certain holders of preferred stock of KAO challenged the validity of the notes executed and delivered by KAO to RKO and threatened to institute suit to set aside the entire indebtedness as an obligation of KAO, and to compel RKO to accept instead the indebtedness of Orpheum to KAO.

In order to avoid such litigation and to effect an equitable adjustment of the matter prior to the receivership negotiations were carried on by RKO and attorneys employed by KAO with the attorneys for the complaining preferred stockholders of KAO. On the appointment of the receiver these negotiations were concluded and an agreement was entered into between the receiver, KAO and Stadium Theatres Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of the receiver of RKO, pursuant to an order made and entered herein May 9, 1933, providing for the following transaction:

Stadium was to execute its note for $2,394,-655, dated as of the date of the closing of the transaction and payable on demand with interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum to Chemical Bank and Trust Company, as trustee under the collateral note indenture of July 1, 1931, and deliver this note to the receiver.

In exchange for this note of Stadium the receiver was to obtain from Chemical Bank and Trust Company, as trustee, the notes of KAO aggregating $2,394,655. On receipt of these notes the receiver was to mark them "Paid" and deliver them so marked to KAO on the delivery by KAO to Stadium of (1) Orpheum secured gold notes held by KAO aggregating $2,394,655, and (2) an assignment of all of the Orpheum collateral held by KAO as security for the payment of these Orpheum gold notes, together with an assignment of the rights of KAO under the Orpheum indentures of April 1, 1932, and Aug. 1, 1932, as well as such other additional instruments of transfer as might be required by Stadium, subject to the proviso that such assignments were not to impose upon KAO any obligation or warranty in respect to the validity, enforcement or collectibility of the Orpheum notes or the Orpheum collateral assigned to Stadium.

With respect to the balance of $486,030 of Orpheum's notes retained by KAO, KAO was to execute and deliver to Stadium an agreement subordinating this interest in the Orpheum collateral securing such notes and agreeing to indemnify and hold Stadium harmless from any loss or damage from any set-off or counterclaim interposed by and allowed to Orpheum against the indebtedness of Orpheum assigned to Stadium.

In the event that the amount eventually paid or received on the Orpheum notes prior to Jan. 1, 1938, should be less than the sum of $2,394,655, plus certain interest, KAO was to pay to Stadium on demand at any time on or after Jan. 1, 1938, the amount of such deficiency up to but not exceeding $894,655, such amount being the difference between the amount of the indebtedness of KAO to RKO ($2,394,655) and the sum of $1,500,000, which is the extent of the indebtedness of KAO to RKO to be released under the terms of the agreement. If the proceeds of the Orpheum notes should exceed $2,394,655, plus interest, then Stadium on Jan. 1, 1938, is either to pay the excess to KAO in cash or in Orpheum collateral or the proceeds thereof, or both.

MANY ECONOMIES CITED BY RECEIVER

This agreement, dated as of April 1, 1933, was executed by the receiver pursuant to an order of the court made herein May 9, 1933, and has since been performed by the parties thereto. The net result is that RKO releases KAO of its indebtedness of $2,394,655, subject to a contingent liability of KAO to RKO not exceeding $894,655, which contingency is vested to the extent that RKO (through Stadium) does not realize $2,394,655 on the Orpheum collateral assigned to it by KAO. The expense of a prolonged and difficult litigation was thus avoided.

Following the making of the order dated May 9, 1933, Harrison Theatre & Realty Corporation, an unsecured creditor, applied for and obtained an order granting it leave to intervene in the receivership suit for the purpose of appealing from said order to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Second Circuit. Such appeal is now pending in that court.

A number of the theatre operating and holding company subsidiaries of RKO went into receivership or bankruptcy at nearly the same time as the appointment of the temporary receiver of RKO. As most of these subsidiaries were heavily indebted to RKO, the receiver has filed proofs of claim against their estates.

Claims Filed Against RKO

Pursuant to the order appointing the receiver and the supplemental order dated May 5, 1933, claims aggregating $23,285,143 have been filed against the estate of RKO, in addition to the claim of Rockefeller Center, Inc., which is undeterminate in amount and is based upon (1) breach of lease covenants by RKO for the payment of rent on the two Radio City theatres and office space in the RKO Building; and (2) breach of an agreement to pay the cost of the two theatres (less certain adjustments for amortization, etc.) in the event of default in the payment of rent therefor.

The following table indicates the nature of these claims:

Nature of Claims	Number of Such Claims	Total Amount of Claims
Contingent claims based upon rent guarantees or direct leases (excluding claim of Rockefeller Center, Inc.)	18	$17,395,990.80
Contingent claims based upon guarantees of financial obligations	19	4,581,714.70
Claims founded on alleged breach of contract	8	812,031.65
Claims for goods and commercial services rendered.	14	21,399.84
Claims for other services rendered (legal, banking, etc.)	10	14,676.38
Income Tax claims	3	259,763.13
Miscellaneous claims	8	199,567.45
Total		$23,285,143.95

In addition to the foregoing, it must be borne in mind that RKO has a funded indebtedness of $16,239,708 consisting of notes and debentures outstanding in the following amounts: $2,814,500 of 6 per cent gold notes; $1,825,208.76 of 6 per cent secured gold notes; $11,600,000 of 10-year 6 per cent sinking fund gold debentures. Subject to further order of court, holders of these securities have been exempted from filing claims.

The time for filing claims having expired, the receiver intends to apply to the court in the near future for the appointment of a special master or masters to hear and determine those claims so filed.

Federal Tax Claims

Because of his familiarity with the tax problems of RKO, the receiver pursuant to order of court dated July 14, 1933, retained Randolph E. Paul as special tax counsel to contest the above income tax claims filed by the United States. After thorough investigation, the receiver and its counsel have concluded that there were no deficiencies for 1929 and 1930 as alleged by the government, but that, on the contrary, refunds were due for 1930. Accordingly, refund claims and supporting data relating thereto have been filed with the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Counsel to the receiver are now negotiating a settlement of the alleged deficiencies and refund claims.

Pursuant to an order of the court dated Sept. 14, 1933, the receiver retained Randolph E. Paul as special counsel in connection with the filing of a consolidated income tax return for RKO and its subsidiaries for the year 1932. Upon advice of such counsel the receiver has filed a consolidated return and is about to enter into an agreement with the subsidiaries of RKO, providing for proper allocation among RKO and its subsidiaries of such tax liabilities as shall hereafter be assessed.

Protective Committees

Since the appointment of the receiver, protective committees have been organized for the common stock, 10-year gold debentures and 6 per cent gold notes of RKO and authority has been requested by each of these committees to enable them to act for the protection of the holders of the respective securities represented by them. The receiver has cooperated with each of these committees and sought their suggestions in regard to various of the proceedings taken during the receivership.

Reorganization Plans

No plan of reorganization has been formulated to date to the knowledge of the receiver.

Conclusion

Pending efforts of interested parties to effect a reorganization, the receiver recommends that the receivership be continued and the business conducted as heretofore.

Encouraging progress has been made in reducing operating expenses, which has been reflected in improved results in operations, despite the disruption of organization and morale consequent upon the receivership and the decline in theatre attendance during the period of bank closings and moratoria throughout the country. The losses in receivership operations discussed above consisted largely of non-recurring and non-cash items. Despite the absence of borrowing and the maintenance of a full motion picture production schedule, consolidated cash reserves have not been depleted to any considerable extent.

RCA Cuts Losses In Third Quarter

Radio Corporation has cut its losses to $525,159 for the third quarter of 1933, from $790,000 in the preceding quarter and $812,000 in the same period a year ago.

For the nine months ended September 30, the consolidated net loss was $1,793,371, comparing with a loss of $592,723 for the corresponding period in 1932. No dividends have been paid in 1933. The only dividends paid in 1932 were $343,019 on the Class A preferred stock, resulting in a deficit of $935,742 for the first nine months.

Total income for the third quarter this year was $14,225,112, including $13,988,114 from operations. This compares with $14,254,638 total income a year ago, a decline of $29,526. In the second quarter total income was $14,297,384, and in the first quarter it was $13,222,054.

In the nine months ended September 30 total income was $41,744,551, including $41,137,939 operating income, comparing with $50,796,800, including $49,931,842 operating income, in the 1932 period.

Net earnings, after cost of sales, general operating, development, selling and administrative expenses, were $1,367,170 for the nine months, against $4,263,705 in the first nine months of last year. Interest charges were $173,425, against $983,452, depreciation was $2,537,116, against $3,372,976, and amortization of patents was $450,000 in both periods. In 1932 there was $50,000 appropriated for Federal income taxes, against nothing for the current year.

Surplus of the company on September 30 amounted to $8,057,814, comparing with $8,582,972 on June 30, $9,851,184 on January 1, and $10,392,047 on September 30, 1932.

RCA is the parent company of National Broadcasting Company, Photophone, RCA Victor, RCA Communications.

St. Louis Company Receivers Report an Operating Profit

Roy F. Britton and Henri Chouteau, former circuit court receivers for the St. Louis Amusement Company, operating 16 subsequent run houses in St. Louis and vicinity, claim an operating profit of $170,197 for the receivership period, from November 24, 1931 to August 7, 1933. Their receivership terminated August 8.

The receivers reported that the cash operating revenue during the period was $1,864,666, while operating disbursements amounted to $1,549,877. The receivers and their attorneys have asked the court to allow them additional fees. Warner owns approximately 93 per cent of the capital stock of the company.

Rejects Settlement Offer for Statewide

Because the majority of landlords voted against the $16,000 cash offer by the Wisconsin Amusement Enterprises in settlement of the bankrupt Statewide Theatres, Milton J. Knoblock, Racine, Wis., referee in the case, has seen fit to reject the offer made.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

GOOD BUSINESS

Two winters back, while the city fathers of Detroit staggered under the load of imperative unemployment relief, Bill Raynor, then head man at the Fox Theatre in that city, threw the resources of his vast organization into the battle against want, with a series of lobby dances that returned thousands of dollars for the alleviation of the hungry, at the same time adding not inconsiderably to the box office gross. The story of the successful welfare campaign is set forth in another page of this issue.

In a nearby suburban community, the center of a highly competitive section, an exhibitor recently reopened a dark house. Not getting the proper response to his carefully selected programs, he hit upon a bold move, and in the face of friendly criticism donated the theatre and show for an evening, to launch a "Buy Now" locally sponsored campaign. The house of course was jammed, and those present who were not regular patrons had ample opportunity to observe the comforts and conveniences of the theatre. Leading citizens who spoke from the stage lavishly praised the exhibitor's generosity, thus giving the house an advertising break that money could not buy.

And best of all, the widely publicized event attracted many outsiders who paid their way in sufficient numbers to roll up a better than normal gross for the evening.

Managers who are inclined to shy away from community projects that involve the use of the theatre might consider the above cases of showmen who have long since discovered that good-will and good business are oft times synonymous.

▽ ▽ ▽

SCREEN COURSES

Of interest to members should be the findings of the photoplay appreciation committee of the National Council of Teachers of English, as recorded by the chairman, William Lewin, whose report is outlined in the Club columns. For some time the Council has sponsored, in a number of states, screen appreciation high school courses and now proposes that such instruction be introduced in the nation's schools to improve movie tastes.

Should this be encouraged by the United States Office of Education, now studying its possibilities, managers will no doubt have much to do with the ultimate success of the plan. Given sympathetic handling, this movement should enhance theatre prestige and perhaps open up an added source of box office revenue. Alert theatremen might contact high school principals and English teachers for further information regarding the workings of the plan.

▽ ▽ ▽

ON GETTING AHEAD

To managers sceptical of chances for advancement, we state that there still is, and ever will be, opportunity in the exhibition end of the business. Agreed that while promotion to higher post is not a daily occurrence, nevertheless it happens often enough to indicate the thoroughness with which the higher-ups search the field for broad shouldered guys who can deliver.

We note, within the past few weeks, the stepping-up of Round Tablers Skip Weshner, Howard Waugh and Earle Bailey to bigger jobs in the Warner Theatre organization. That these able showmen have well earned their new spurs is not the point we wish to stress. Rather do we prefer to emphasize that what they have accomplished is not extraordinary, but the natural result of years of patient and fruitful labor in the field.

▽ ▽ ▽

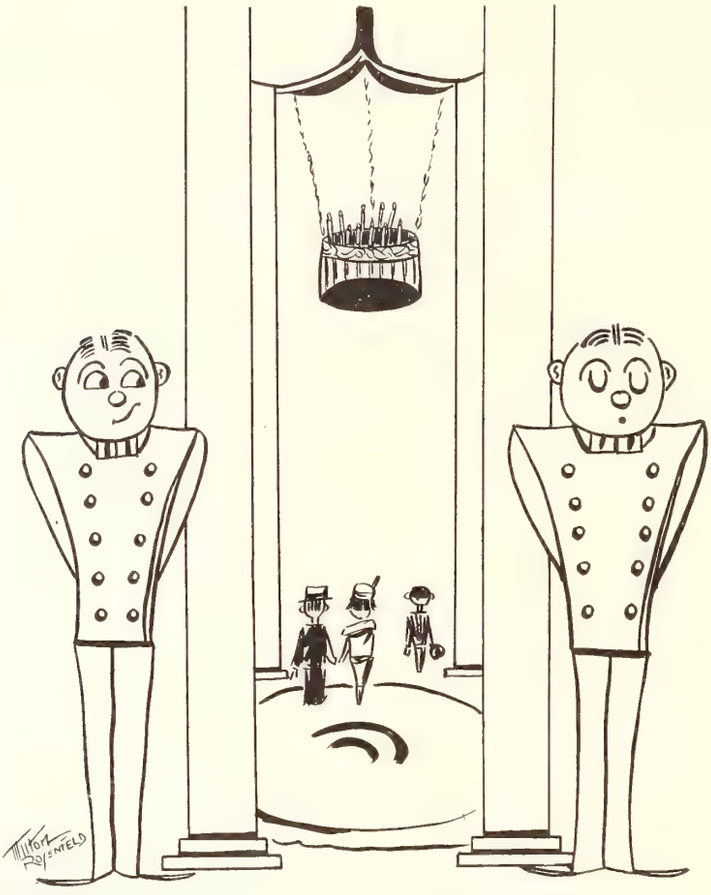
TRAIL BLAZERS

Ingenious is the showman of today, never permanently satisfied with what he accomplishes, ever alert for new slants. Among these, we count M. H. Garvin, Rivoli Theatre, Hastings, Neb., who broke out his newspaper ads in two colors, the first advertiser in his city to do so. The returns were so gratifying that other local advertisers will no doubt be encouraged to follow Garvin's lead.

Theatremen have always been trail blazers in testing new publicity angles, thus earning for the theatre, high place as the proving ground of novel advertising ideas which sooner or later are appropriated for use in other fields. Rarely credited for their originality, showmen nevertheless should be thanked for the success of many merchandising campaigns, the genesis of which can be directly traced to motion picture exploitation.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!



"Psst . . . What's the name of the picture in case anybody asks me?"

Writes The Movie Column For Paper

A number of campaigns on various pictures and special events have been forwarded by that active Round Tabler Bill Levey, who passes up no opportunity to bring his theatre activities to the attention of his townfolk through his newspaper and merchant tie-ups, at the Capitol, Riverhead, Long Island.

Bill is all set for his Armistice day program in conjunction with his showing of "Saturday's Millions," the feature of which is to be the presence of his high school band and football team, the proceedings to be in charge of the high school principal. Both teams and band will appear in uniform, heading a parade to the theatre with music being played en route.

Before the show starts, "taps" will be sounded and the house lights dimmed to red, white and blue. Then "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by school yells led by the cheer leader, immediately after which "Saturday's Millions" will be shown.

One of Levey's best promotion stunts is a regular picture column he writes for his paper, in which the names of six local residents are planted who are awarded passes upon presentation of the column at the box office. For his recent showing of "One Man's Journey," Bill also tied in on another newspaper contest in which readers were given passes for the best 150-word letter on different questions concerning the small town doctor's activities.

An imprinted cardboard case containing pencil, pen holder and ruler given to all children at a Saturday matinee is a clever idea of Levey's to build good will and advertise his house, as the cases no doubt will be used by children in school and home.

The above are just a few of the things that the fast stepping Bill is doing to keep this important Prudential spot in the limelight. And that he is succeeding, is proven by his box office results and his own personal popularity in the Long Island town.

Showmen Clicking On "Angel" Campaigns

From various spots in this country and Canada, we receive members' campaigns which have helped in the making of high scores on their showings of "I'm No Angel." Manager Fred Reeths, Jr., Sheboygan Theatre, Sheboygan, Wis., worked out an effective fan magazine contact that he reports did very well for him. For several months, each copy of the magazine contained a photo in color of Mae West and the title of the picture. Knowing of this in advance, Fred had small stickers made up with theatre copy and persuaded the manager of the local Kresge store to place these stickers on the photos, glued to the back, with the theatre copy folded over the faces.

Macy's "Angel" Window

Sid Scott, recently transferred to the Capitol Theatre, Windsor, Ont., hooked up with his telegraph company on a wire from Mae West in Hollywood. The telegram, which included theatre and date, was reproduced in a two-column newspaper ad, and in addition to publicizing the attraction in this novel manner, Mae also said something nice about Sid's new job, which of course helped to introduce him to local theatregoers.

On the New York Paramount date, supervised by John C. Flinn, Jack McInerney promoted a smash window in the Fifth Avenue Southern Pacific office as some of the picture was produced on that railroad. In addition, Jack secured a full window at Macy's (see photo) where West styles were displayed, including full-sized panel paintings of the star as background.

Hodges Practical Plane Plugs "Night Flight"

Manager Jack Hodges, Tampa Theatre, Tampa, Fla., who has been keeping that southern town on its toes with his clever exploitation, forwards an advance lobby idea on "Night Flight" which tops anything of its kind we have seen recently. The photo below gives you an idea of how carefully Jack went about producing this real crowd stopper.

The plane has a wing spread of 24 feet and is 18 feet long, the fuselage finished in burnished silver, while the wings and propeller are burnished gold, the latter attached to a quarter horsepower motor, producing a speed of four revolutions per second. The wheels are real, from the local Goodyear dealer, and the title letters are white outlined in black with red Neon tubes running through the center of each letter. An amber spot is focused on the propeller, and produces a striking effect against the blue sky of the lobby, the entire display suspended by a steel cable.

Attractive Lobby Display

Hodges gives the credit for construction to Andy Beiter and the other boys in the art shop who are all entitled to an extra bow for their swell work. Jack writes that when the picture opens he will transfer the plane to the top of the marquee during the run, where it will attract the same attention.

Garvin Uses Color For Newspaper Ads

Concluding that he was stressing his outdoor billing too strongly, thus weakening its effect as an advertising medium, M. H. Garvin, who operates the Rivoli Theatre in Hastings, Neb., cast about for something unusual and out of the ordinary in publicity to call attention to his attractions. He discovered what he was seeking through the medium of a duplex tubular press newly installed by his leading newspaper and took advantage of this equipment to break a seven-column, two-color display on the showing of "Too Much Harmony."

That the extra expense was worth while was proven by the city-wide comment aroused, in addition to which the editor of the paper thought enough of it to run a front page story. Although we cannot state definitely just how much more expensive two-color newspaper ads might be, where the necessary equipment is available, nevertheless for an unusual publicity angle the possibilities might be considered by managers with more flexible budgets.

The electrical radio transcriptions provided by Paramount were also used in advance and a special front consisting of large title banner and side panels with cut-out figures from the 24 sheet, the entire display decorated with college pennants made a further attractor and Garvin states that the campaign resulted in a business that came very near his house record.

Incidentally, this is one of the first times we note the use of color in theatre advertising, and this showman is to be commended for his showmanship in hooking his theatre in to this new advertising process.

Round Tabler Reports From New Assignment

Harold C. Knudsen, who put on those swell exploitation campaigns while at the Capitol Theatre, Madison, Wis., has now transferred his activities to the city of West Allis in that state, where he is now head man at the Paradise Theatre. As soon as he was set in the new spot, Harold went to work on a bang-up campaign on "Secrets."

Noticing that a local paper was running a life story on Mary Pickford, he persuaded the promotion manager to furnish, free of charge, 5,000 copies of the page with the current chapter of the Pickford story, and on the other side Knudsen laid out a lot of picture art and copy, using the idea as a giveaway which he had distributed by Carrier boys in exchange for passes. The paper was squared with a slide of the screen tying in the story with the attraction.

To bally the personal appearance of two well known radio youngsters booked for a Saturday matinee, Harold tied up with a Milwaukee department store to include the performance on the store's weekly broadcast. In return for this, the store advertised the radio date at the theatre in their newspaper advertising and also plugged the event in advance on the air.

Knudsen also sends along a sample of his well known menu covers which he distributes to all restaurants, the front page containing, in this instance, an ad on "Tugboat Annie," with space on the back cover sold to neighboring merchants for enough to pay all costs. Richard Moran and Phillip Herro of the theatre staff secured the ads and did all the necessary work. The merchant ad idea is also carried out in a weekly newsette, printed by a local print shop that sells the ads, and puts out 3,000 of these programs weekly at a net cost to the theatre of three dollars.

Glad to have heard from you again, Harold, and here's wishing you every success in the new assignment.

"Annie" Stunt Big In Many Spots

Adapting the stunt for local usage, showmen in various spots have put over the "Lady for a Day" stunt to good returns in business and extra newspaper space. Manager Lawrence Lehman, Mainstreet Theatre, Kansas City, Mo., worked it by advertising for May Robson's double, to use as atmosphere in the foyer.

Guy, May and Dick

Through local charity workers, a penniless woman was secured, and Lehman thought of the idea of writing Miss Robson and telling her what was being done. That grand trouper promptly replied by wiring $100 for the relief of the woman, the "topper" on the stunt being an almost full-column story in one of the papers. Ralph Stitt, Columbia exploiteer, helped put it over.

Dick Moss, skipper of the RKO Hillstreet, Los Angeles, Cal., put it on fancy with an opening night show that included the personal appearances of May Robson, herself, and Guy Kibbee, and the accompanying photo shows the two stars with Dick himself on the right. Needless to say, the presence of these two well known players gave Moss's opening a real Hollywood glamor.

In New York, Manager Edgar Wallach of the Audubon Theatre, capitalized on the smash New York publicity obtained by Columbia on the Music Hall showing by using the original "Apple Annie" in a lobby stunt, placing her in front of a background of stills illustrating her eventful day. Dressed in evening clothes and selling her apples, "Annie" made a swell advance bally for the Audubon showing.

"MILKMAID'S(?) MATINEE"

Hal Horne, United Artists' ad chief, dug up another gag to grab off some extra space for the New York Rivoli opening of "Broadway Through a Keyhole" with a 3 A.M. showing for the showgals of the various Broadway hits and night clubs, arranged by Monte Proser and Monroe Greenthal. Managers who have used the "milkman's matinee" might consider the publicity possibilities of the above angle, in spots where there are enough show people and other late birds to put it over.

Highlights on K. C. "Keyhole" Campaign

Adapting the title of the picture to a lobby stunt, Manager John McManus, Loew's Midland, Kansas City, Mo., on his early showing of "Broadway Through a Keyhole" planted a special box with keyhole and invited patrons to unlock the box with their own keys. No prizes were given for this, but when the box was unlocked, the interior disclosed lighted heads of the stars with a back drop in miniature with picture copy. Adding to the stunt, John had one of his papers throw away 50 lettered keys that would fit the lock and reports that over half of these were brought to the theatre in exchange for passes. Pulled on the day before opening, the gag was good for stories and pictures.

McManus made a number of other effective tie-ups, one including a broadcast of the Hollywood premiere of the picture, sponsored by one of his leading jewelers, John taking the opportunity of plugging the MGM stars who attended the opening.

A hook-in with a leading ballroom netted the theatre a lot of free display advertising on a Winchell dance held at the ballroom the night before the opening, the song hits of the picture being plugged in advance at the dance hall as well as by all other stations and leading orchestras. A florist promotion was effected by which McManus distributed Winchell "orchids" in the form of roses to the first 600 women attending the opening matinee.

Other gags that went over were windows in every Postal telegraph office, a "keyhole" window at a leading hardware store, using the trick lobby box as the main display, and of course plenty of good newspaper breaks in addition to extra advertising space.

Smash Breaks on Girl Magic Act

An excellent campaign to put over his stage presentation of a girl magic act is detailed by Manager Ross J. Hobkirk, Majestic Theatre, Spokane, Wash., who promoted his local police department, newsreel services, and local papers for a lot of good exploitation.

Ross had the girl handcuffed and shackled, then locked in a jail cell at police headquarters from which she escaped, the gag being covered by the newspapers who ran stories and pictures. On the opening day, a double truck was put over in one of the newspapers, the copy stressing a blindfold drive by the girl, which disorganized traffic and required extra police to handle the crowds.

On the second day, Hobkirk had the girl hung by her heels from a roof six stories high, from which position she made her escape from a straitjacket. This was also covered by the newsreels, and after her escape the girl dropped a large banner with theatre copy. Incidentally, this Round Tabler states that the girl originated in Spokane, which of course aided the publicity attained on the attraction.

THEATRE WELFARE DANCES

Well Known Showman Describes Good Will Poor Relief Plan Put Over With Civic Officials

by WILLIAM H. RAYNOR
Managing Director, Paramount, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Fox Theatre in Detroit employed 300 people. These 300 employees were divided into groups of five, with a captain in charge of each. The squads were numbered from one to 60, and arranged so that there would be a higher salaried employee in each squad working with ushers and minor help, the latter donating from 50 to 75 cents weekly, the former more. Each squad was obligated to raise as close to $5.00 a week as possible and every member of these squads alternated in taking care of a family in person, by going to the home of the family they were taking care of and investigating conditions. In this manner, the people who were donating for the care of these families were coming into personal contact with those they were helping to support.

W. H. Raynor

In addition, dances were held in the theatre lobby once every five weeks, an admission fee of one dollar a couple was charged to the outside public and ice cream, nuts and other refreshments received as donations were served at the dance. All the music was supplied by our own house orchestra by permission of the Musicians' Local. Various coffee companies, bakeries, etc., supplied the buffet luncheon for the advertising. Outside of that each squad donated a big layer cake. Every dollar that we took in at these dances was net profit.

Contingent Fund

The money derived from these affairs was in the neighborhood of from $1,000 to $1,500 per dance. This was thrown into our contingent fund, a special committee handling this money as follows: If a squad had a family of ten people to take care of and only had their weekly donations of $5.00 to spread over the needed $12.00 to take care of the family they would requisition this committee to secure that additional $7.00, which would come out of our dance contingent fund. To meet various demands each squad was allowed to draw weekly on the contingent fund if $5.00 was not sufficient to take care of the families involved.

During this period, the Fox Detroit Theatre was feeding anywhere from 500 to 600 people a week. A basket went out every week with enough food to meet a family's requirements for seven days. This was scientifically arranged with food tables to last for a seven day period and every week a ham or some other meat was secured to put into each basket.

Where babies were concerned, the neighborhood grocer was paid in advance by the squad who assisted this particular family, for milk to be delivered for seven days. If fresh meats were necessary that was also paid for in advance and delivered every day.

This was the most successful plan, I believe, that we ever worked out. The good will it created for the Fox Detroit Theatre was inestimable. There was no preference shown for any nationality or religious creed and names of families requiring aid were secured through captains of police precincts, fire departments, and the Welfare Board.

Free Medical Aid

In addition to this, our house doctor donated his services for the treatment of any sickness in these families. This idea functioned perfectly. Every dollar that we handled was given for food, clothing and medical care without any overhead or expense to the fund, as the theatre paid for electric current, etc., when the dances were held. We continued the plan for seventeen months at the Fox Detroit with the utmost cooperation from every employee involved. They knew what they were donating for and what their efforts were taking care of, as each squad member made his own investigation. Coming into personal contact with the families they were aiding, they fully realized the conditions and made their efforts 100 per cent effective.

What we did not count upon originally, but nevertheless extremely gratifying, was the favorable response at the box office, as receipts jumped appreciably while the plan was in operation, no doubt due in some part to the generous publicity the papers gave us, and also to the word of mouth advertising.

This plan of welfare operation was taken up by the Detroit Times, which called for donations and was worked on the "Feed a Family" plan. Although we were not credited with it, this plan was followed out by several big corporations in Detroit and up till the close of last year some of these organizations were still maintaining this form of relief work.

The plan for aiding the Detroit unemployed, detailed in these columns, was executed by Bill Raynor, while serving as managing director of the Fox Theatre in that city. It was successful as a money-raiser, and built up a lot of splendid prestige for the theatre. Showmen so inclined may be able to adapt this plan to the needs of their own localities.

Student Cards And Various Price Scale Used By Managers

Here are two letters from small-town members which have to do with children admission prices. The authors' present plans they have adopted in their theatres to overcome this perplexing problem. We present them for the information of the Club. The first is from John Forrester, Pines Theatre, Waldron, Ark., and the second from Louis J. Maurin, Maurin's Theatre, Reserve, La.

GENTLEMEN:

In reference to your articles in the issues of September 2 and 23, I thought other managers might be interested in the plan adopted by the Pines Theatre, which has been so successful that the theatres in Heavener, Okla., Poteau, Okla., and De Queen, Ark., surrounding towns, have adopted the same plan.

All school children past the age of 12 are admitted to any regular performance for 25 cents, the average admission prices running from 30 to 35 cents. Working with the schools, each student is given a special student ticket, which when presented at the ticket office with a quarter admits one. This has been in use for three years and has increased our school attendance.

I believe this plan could be adapted for towns that have an adult attendance price of from 25 cents, by issuing these tickets, which with, say, 15 or 20 cents, would admit grown-up children. We have found that the saving of from five to ten cents is a great inducement, as the children are anxious for these cards, and use them often.

Hoping that the plan may be of interest to other members, I am,

Cordially yours,
JOHN FORRESTER.

Louis Maurin describes a three-price admission scale that, he maintains, has worked out very well. Here it is:

DEAR SIR:

Reading the criticisms in your valued Managers' Round Table section, relative to the charging of adult prices to children 12 to 16 years, in our estimation we have solved the problem here long ago with a three-price scale as follows:

Grammar school children, 10 cents; high school students, 15 cents, and adults, 25 cents. Inasmuch as we draw also from neighboring towns, we rely solely on the customers' honesty, and feel that we are seldom taken advantage of. We assure you that it has helped to keep whole families remaining regular patrons, and is part of our success in a town with non-theatrical competition.

I am sure no exhibitor in a small town would regret this three-price scale. Wishing you the kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,
LOUIS J. MAURIN.

The above letters indicate the determination of showmen to untie the children admission knot. Both plans have good points, and we trust their publication will encourage others to let us know what they think of the above, and what they are doing to tackle this situation.

Showman's Calendar

DECEMBER

2nd	Monroe Doctrine—1823
3rd	Illinois Admitted to Union—1818
	General McClellan Born—1826
5th	Martin Van Buren (8th Pres.) Born—1782
6th	Elissa Landi's Birthday
	Virginia Lee Corbin's Birthday
8th	Immaculate Conception (Quebec)
	Eli Whitney (Inventor of Cotton Gin) Born—1765
9th	John Milton Born—1608
	Eddie Dowling's Birthday
	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.'s Birthday
10th	Peace with Spain Signed at Paris—1898
	Una Merkel's Birthday
	Victor McLaglen's Birthday
11th	Alfred B. Nobel Born—1833
	Sally Eiler's Birthday
	Gilbert Roland's Birthday
12th	First Marconi Wireless Across Atlantic—1901
	Edward G. Robinson's Birthday
	Karen Morley's Birthday
13th	Heinrich Heine (German Poet) Born—1797
	Norman Foster's Birthday
	Chanukah (Jewish Holiday)
14th	Alabama Admitted to Union—1819
16th	Boston Tea Party—1733
	John Bole's Birthday
17th	Whittier (Poet) Born—1807
18th	Mary Nolan's Birthday
	William Boyd's Birthday
20th	Irene Dunne's Birthday
21st	Shortest Day of Year
	Pilgrims Landed at Plymouth Rock—1620
24th	Ruth Chatterton's Birthday
25th	Christmas
	Washington Crossed Delaware—1776
26th	Admiral Dewey Born—1837
27th	Marlene Dietrich's Birthday
	Louis Pasteur Born—1822
28th	Woodrow Wilson (28th Pres.) Born—1856
	Lew Ayres' Birthday
29th	Iowa Admitted to Union—1848
	Texas Admitted to Union—1845
	Andrew Jackson (17th Pres.) Born—1808
30th	Rizal Day—Philippines
31st	New Year's Eve
	West Virginia Admitted to Union—1862

Round Tabler Clicks In New Assignment

Herman C. Bamberger, who has recently transferred his managerial activities from Ohio to the Fox-Poli, Springfield, Mass., is busily doing things in his new assignment, among his recent campaigns being some well rounded exploitation on "My Weakness" and "Three Little Pigs."

On the Harvey picture, Herman landed a number of very fine windows, a photo of a record window being shown here. The store was supplied with the theatre advance lobby set piece consisting of center panel and two wing pieces, a life sized cut-out in colors of Harvey in the center with girl cut-outs on either side. These were offset from the background and illuminated front and behind, with records of songs from the picture making up the rest of the display.

Reproductions of magazine covers, about five feet in height, were utilized as backgrounds in a woman's wear window and upon each cover was painted a picture of one of the personality girls from "My Weakness." In the center of the display, on white satin, was an oil painting of the star, with theatre credit cards placed prominently.

Herman's Window Display

As a plug for the short, Bamberger placed three live pigs in a Main Street window, after which he arranged for the Mayor to present the porkers to the local 4 H Boys' Club, both evening papers carrying three column cuts and stories.

This Round Tabler has been responsible for a lot of effective campaigns and the above indicates he is set to go.

Fast Stepping Louie Again Loose in Dallas

Louie Charninsky, who keeps the folks down in Dallas (Texas) aroused by his thundering campaigns at the Capitol Theatre there, created quite a bit of excitement with his broadside on "Tarzan the Fearless," going in for atmosphere to the extent of planting a live, roaring lion in his lobby. The peripatetic Louis followed this up with a number of other attention getting displays such as men dressed in ape suits and Tarzan costumes, negro dressed as savage with rings in his nose and ears, beating a tom tom; live, caged monkeys and different species of stuffed animals.

The "jungleers" participated in the official local NRA parade, in addition to which Charninsky put on his own procession with boys' band, and caged animals on trucks, winding up at the theatre, where a special performance was put on to inaugurate Louie's newly formed Tarzan club.

A Hollywood opening with all the recognized accessories preceded the regular showings which included motion pictures of prominent guests, microphone at box office with an announcer giving the high lights of the proceedings, flood lights, etc. To ensure attendance from the city's "names," Louis sent out specially engraved invitations to 500 of his community leaders, which brought a satisfying response, the newspapers giving the event advance space.

Charnisky has succeeded in bringing plenty of customer attention to his new assignment, his campaigns at all times being highly colorful and generally effective, especially so, the one above described the results of which required, according to newspaper stories, police and fire squads to handle the attendance which broke records.

Good Advice to Exhibitors

M. WITMARK & SONS

Publishers of those great song hits in

WARNER BROS.

Smash Musical Hit

FOOTLIGHT PARADE

HAVE OUTLINED ON PAGES 34-35 OF PRESS-BOOK, VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS FOR MUSIC EXPLOITATION—READ THESE PAGES CAREFULLY—

Play Up These Songs

BY A WATERFALL . . .
HONEYMOON HOTEL . . .
SHANGHAI LIL . . .
SITTIN' ON A BACKYARD FENCE . .
AH! THE MOON IS HERE . . .

M. WITMARK & SONS
1657 Broadway, New York

PICTURE STUDY IN SCHOOLS

Screen Appreciation Courses Improve Students' Critical Taste, Say English Teachers

That units of instruction be introduced into the nation's schools, with a view to improving popular standards and tastes in motion pictures, is the recommendation of the committee on photoplay appreciation of the National Council of Teachers of English, as reported by Mr. William Lewin, chairman, who discusses this problem at length in a recent issue of the New York Times.

This recommendation is based on experimentation in a number of states, as a result of which suggested units of instruction have been prepared for publication, and will be incorporated in the revision of English literature and composition courses. The findings have been presented at a conference called by the United States Office of Education, in Washington, on the possibilities of introducing a study of photoplay appreciation in schools throughout the country.

The committee's researches show that classroom teaching has enabled high school boys and girls to discriminate among pictures and choose the better productions. The methods employed have been enjoyed by teachers and pupils alike, have been approved by parents and Boards of Education, and have been officially recommended.

To the pupil, such lessons mean that he goes to the theatre as he would to a library, taking with him a questionnaire which he must later fill out to be discussed in the classroom. The committee hopes that the result will help to modernize the usual English course and give students the ability to discuss the pictures critically.

Experiments were conducted with two groups of students in each school, one receiving instruction and the other not. Through the cooperation of local theatre managers, both groups went in a body to see the same picture at the same time, and it was found that the group receiving instruction were 41 per cent closer to the standard set up by the teachers.

Shop For Pictures

Striking gains were made in respect to appreciation of ideals as portrayed on the screen, reports Mr. Lewin, for after instruction with the use of selected pictures, students were able to mention a greater number of screen characters to be admired for honesty, sportsmanship, etc. It was also found that after a period of instruction, a greater number of children in the experimental groups requested the teachers' advice as to a good screen play to see, many of them forming the habit of shopping for pictures. Also significant was the discovery that the children did not consider a picture a poor one unless it ended happily, and it was also discovered that through the influence of pictures on conduct, one student in four was able to mention a film that changed his behavior.

Mr. Lewin further states that many children read more books as a result of seeing films and that a majority also select films based on books they have read, and that in this field the power of the English teacher for good is hard to overestimate. Teachers of experimental groups reported that their pupils enjoyed discussing the current movie.

What should be of great interest to showmen is Mr. Lewin's concluding statement that one of the features of the project is that it was the first attempt to correlate the neighborhood theatre program with the program of the local school.

Ties Football Scores To Theatre Attractions

A nice bit of institutional advertising is that of Manager Harry Botwick's to advertise the Paramount Theatre, Rutland, Vt., in every prominent window, through the medium of a football score window card, 12 by 17 inches, giving the results of prominent national and local games. The cards are printed in blank with spaces for 14 games, with copy at the top to the effect that these are furnished through the courtesy of the Paramount Theatre and space below for the current attraction.

Smiling Botwick on the Left

As cards are distributed on Saturday, Harry gets the scores of the games on this day over his radio, then has members of his house staff letter the teams and scores in the blank spaces and distribute them immediately. The value of this idea lies in the fact that Saturday is the opening day at the Paramount, and as the score cards land in every good window in town, Botwick's attractions get an added plug, perhaps otherwise unattainable.

This practical slant is recommended to other managers seeking to tie in the football season to their theatres. The cost is far from excessive, as Harry uses thin-coated stock printed in two colors, illustrated with football mats he obtained from his newspaper advertising department.

A few weeks ago, on the morning of his opening day showing, Harry had a "miss-out" on "Penthouse," and being informed that the print would arrive by plane, rounded up his newspaper to cover the arrival, resulting in a two-column cut and story, taken at the air field. The photo above is a reproduction of the cut in which Botwick can be identified on the left, being the gent with the pleased smile.

Boucher Misses Little On "Missing Persons"

That hospitable Southern gentleman, Frank Boucher, Hagerstown (Md.) Warner city manager, sends along his campaign on "Bureau of Missing Persons," containing a number of ingenious newspaper, radio and lobby angles. Prominent among these was a contest in his leading paper in which cash prizes of five, three and two dollars were offered for the best authentic stories on persons who have disappeared from Hagerstown and vicinity, with the daily carrying stories on it for a full week in advance.

Frank also put over a pip of a radio gag that ran a week as follows: The station announced that a local girl was missing from her home, but it was known that she was still in Hagerstown, and that a cash prize would be given to the one finding her. Daily descriptions of the girl were broadcast with information where she probably would be at certain periods of the day. To win the prize, the discoverer was requested to tap the girl on the shoulder, asking if she were the missing girl. One cash prize was given daily, the cost to the theatre being only one five, as cooperating merchants paid all the other cash awards, in return for which the station announced their names during daily broadcast of girl's whereabouts.

A number of the striking lobby effects used in New York were adopted by Boucher for his displays, one slant gaining a lot of attention being the planting of the missing persons' booth in front of the theatre, with blanks being distributed requesting information on missing locals.

These were the standouts in Frank's effective campaign which brought in plenty of business. He reports that the newspaper contest was the second ever promoted in his local sheet, which indicates his standing in Hagerstown. The radio "find the girl" slant is also to be recommended and might be considered to publicize other attractions. Incidentally, Boucher has been chosen as a member of his local "Buy Now" committee, which is duly chronicled in a two-column, page one story. Which is not unusual, as this hustling Round Tabler is usually found in the front ranks of any community drive.

Radio Tie-Up Highlight Of Campaign

L. Pollick, manager, arranged for Station WHEC to broadcast the radio continuity of "Tugboat Annie" when that picture was scheduled to play at the Rochester Theatre, in Rochester, N. Y. Five of the station's players enacted the roles. Daily announcements were also made of the film's showing.

An effective tie-up was arranged with the Rochester News Company whereby they advertised, by means of five thousand inserts, the fact that Marie Dressler was pictured on the cover of the current Time Magazine.

Newspaper critics were invited to the midnight preview. The Democrat, in conjunction with the theatre, invited all the orphan children in the city to be guests at a performance. The Elks had a parade for the children and Manager Pollick used a float made up to represent a tugboat. The parade took place on the main street, which is at all other times forbidden to display any bally.

The Truly Warner hat store used stills of Robert Young in a tie-up. Window and counter displays were arranged at a Factor make-up store.

Orlove Scores High With Various Ideas

What with local talent and big time stage shows, newspaper contests, weekly football rallies, and a host of other swell selling angles, Louis Orlove is stepping along in ace fashion at the Uptown Theatre, Milwaukee, Wis., the operation of which this able Round Tabler returned to a short time ago.

Louie's local talent show was called a "Hollywood Premiere," the amateurs appearing in song and dance, as various picture stars, to capacity houses, the advance advertising, including the lobbywide cut-out board illustrated below, with Louie on the right wearing hat and busy giving orders. A flock of neighborhood merchants cooperated to put this over, and were given gracious acknowledgment of their assistance by Orlove in his program.

The football Friday night pep rallies have long been an ace attraction at the Uptown. Although students from all local high schools attend regularly, Louie makes the evening more interesting by having the players of opposition teams scheduled to tangle on the following day, appear as his guests, seating them on opposite sides of the house among the team rooters, who sing and cheer under the guidance of the school cheer leaders.

So as not to offend any of the older patrons who might take exception to the noise, Orlove introduces the school program from the stage and asks that everybody young and old get into the spirit of the occasion and enjoy the fun. A box kite flown over the local stadium during the games, advertising the current attraction, is also effective in plugging the theatre.

That's Louie with the Hat

Newspapers, of course, both downtown and neighborhood, are not neglected in Louie's publicity. As an example, he uses the jigsaw face puzzle in one contest with prizes for those who assemble the pieces correctly and write no more than 50 words on why they like the theatre, and another clever idea is the map published in his newspapers showing the easiest ways to reach the theatre from any place in the city.

Ties In With Store For Mickey Mouse Revue

When the leading dry goods store in Delta, Col., installed a line of Mickey and Minnie dresses for the kids, Manager Harry R. Moore, of the Egyptian Theatre in that city, conceived the idea of a Mickey Mouse style revue which the store went for with great enthusiasm, to the extent of going for a large newspaper ad announcing the show, beside distributing attractive programs to the store clientele.

Participating in the revue were a lot of cute little girls dressed in the Minnie Mouse frocks, there being a model for each day in the week. The program opened with one of the youngsters singing "What—No Mickey Mouse?", then introducing each model with some appropriate verse.

Harry says the party was a huge success with the parents, relatives and friends of the youngsters turning out in great style. In addition, a regular Mickey Mouse reel was included in the show, which of course brought in a lot of youngsters who might not have gone for the style angle. The event outgrossed any week day in several months and all extra advertising was paid for by the store in addition to giving prominent window display space to plug the event.

Moore states that this is a natural for a small town and recommends it cheerfully to brother managers who might be interested. No doubt, this Round Tabler will be glad to supply further details.

College Paper Helps Ticket Buying

Tom McCaskey, who has the pleasant job of running the Williamsburg Theatre, in that lovely town of Williamsburg, Va., sends along a few things that have proven of interest to his patrons. Especially good is the clipping from the "Gossip Column" of the nearby William and Mary College Student paper, which states that it is getting to be fashionable for steady dates to alternate in buying tickets to Tom's show. He states that since its publication, additional business has been noticed, with either sex purchasing at the box office.

Very well done is a twice monthly program card which McCaskey has been distributing, containing the titles and dates of his attractions during the two-week period. The program is three inches wide by five deep, and printed on fairly heavy coated stock, distributed house to house over a 15-mile area and also mailed.

The calling card gag helped McCaskey on his showing of "Doctor Bull." Of regular size, it contained the theatre phone number, "office hours" and theatre copy, the reverse side being given to a clever laugh prescription, which carried some good selling copy on the picture.

"It Really Happened"

told by SONNY SHEPHERD about HAL KOPPLIN,
Ad Chief, Wometco Theatre, Miami, Fla.

It was not an exploitation stunt that went awry, but a stunt that was pulled on a stage that many a man probably wishes was the limit of a certain gangster's fury.

Hal Kopplin

During the good ole stage show days of the Capitol theatre under the regime of Hal Kopplin, one in particular that stands out like a red light was the "Side Show" staged by the orchestra on the stage of the Capitol, every idea of the stage show carried out with the different Carnival banners, and when it came to a climax there was a huge banner of a gorilla, named Al Capone.

Mrs. Capone and Sonny, her child (not me), who is very likable young man (and one of our best customers with his bodyguard, Jones) were sitting in the orchestra and Mr. Capone and some of his genial companions were in the balcony of the theatre. Mrs. Capone put up a very loud and noticeable squawk about the travesty on her husband and after she was quieted a very prominent character, well known to the ushers, sought out the manager.

The manager was found and a nice slap in the face was given Mr. Kopplin with the words: "That will show you what a gorilla I am." Mr. Capone and some of his cohorts were taken to the police station and of course they were out in a short time and some of them made a drive back to the Capitol theatre and there, finding Jimmy Newman, the electrician, sought him as the manager. It did not take long to convince the boys he was not the manager, but where Hal was no one knew.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS TO THESE MEMBERS!

Ivan Ackery
J. Adams
Edwin J. Adler
Fred D. Arnn
William Walter Artz
H. Ash
Donald K. Ayres
H. Barker
W. R. Bartholomew
Floyd Bell
C. V. Bells
Charles A. Boshert
M. E. Bourassa
G. Brainos
Fred Brown
H. D. Carpenter
Robert W. Chambers
J. E. Courter
M. A. Cowles
Charles S. Edwards
Phillip Engel
Joseph F. Enos
Robert F. Etchberger
William Exton
Irving Feinman
P. E. Fenelon
W. W. Fisk
Tillie Freedman
William M. Glackier
Edw. R. Golden
Syd Gottlieb
J. J. Greene
Frank H. Harrington
H. J. Hanreddy
Russ M. Hogue
Alec H. Hurwitz
Guy Jones
Eddie G. Kane
James A. Knox
Murray Lafayette
Harold Lloyd
Henry Lowry
John R. Ludy
Mac McCarthy
Ray J. Mellien
E. J. Mooney
Lafayette Moore
Fred Nelon
Julius Nupka
Ray O'Connell
Leslie Paine
George L. Peppler
Jack Reis
Ben Rosenberg
Z. Schneider
Harry Schwartz
Don Seasholtz
F. F. Shontz
Ken C. Simons
Dave Sinton
Flynn Stubblefield
Oscar F. Swanson
J. J. Tkch
Ted Turrell
Reinhold Wallach
Charles F. Weisbecker, Sr.
August A. Wolf
Gordon Woodruff
Ned Wright

HERE ARE MORE NEW CLUB MEMBERS

L. D. GUIDRY

manages the Jefferson Theatre for the Southern Amusement Company down Lafayette, La., way. Guidry has a thousand-seater about as close to the Gulf of Mexico as he can get, and while we haven't any other members in Lafayette itself, we have plenty close by. You ought to be nice and warm, Guidry, while we're shivering up here. Send us a breath of the South in some of your campaigns and we'll do the rest.

▽

BILL HUFFMAN

who manages the Valley Stream Theatre, in Valley Stream, L. I., comes into the office to join us and we certainly wish that all of our members could do that, because it gives us the opportunity of meeting them personally. Bill's a great fellow and we're expecting to hear lots from his part of the island now. Don't disappoint us, and come and see us again some time.

▽

JOSEPH R. SHEARER

is the assistant manager of the Virginia Theatre in Atlanic City, N. J. Now that we have Friend Poppay, the manager, and Joe signed on the dotted line, we'll miss our guess if things don't start humming down there and in the Round Table section so far as their contributions are concerned. What say, boys, are you with us?

▽

J. B. SEGER

holds down the manager's fort at the York Theatre, up in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, and we're sure skipping around the globe this week welcoming our various new members. Watch where they're coming from, smart men all of them, to take advantage of this interchange of ideas. Be sure to let us know what you're doing up there, "J. B.," you know you can't just sign on the dotted line and let it go at that.

▽

B. FRANK NEWELL

is a way out in Nigeria, West Africa, where he manages the Coliseum Theatre, and if we aren't taking all of you for a trip around the world, we'll eat our new winter Disney. Frank's going to keep us posted on doings in his part of Africa and we're going to wait impatiently for his first contribution to the Club.

▽

KARL WALZER

is the manager of the Hayden, Kaertner and Busch Theatres, in Wien, Austria, which ought to keep him busy, but not too busy to tell us how he keeps his cash register buzzing at the houses. Karl is our first member to join from Wien and we are gradually creeping into all corners of the globe spreading the showman's gospel, as it were.

▽

T. W. LEWIS

is the owner and manager of the Princess Theatre, in Texarkana, Texas, and he says he's been in showbusiness many years and has benefited a lot by reading what other managers and members of the Club have done. He has also contributed a few times himself before he finally joined, but now that he's one of us we hope we'll be a'hearin' from him more often.

▽

J. R. SMITH

manages the Lensig, Paris and Rialto Theatres in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and he sends in his application on Columbus Day with the comment that two great discoveries had occurred on that day, Columbus' and his, when he found that he hadn't actually joined the Club before this. "J. R." wishes all his brother members many happy returns of the old B. O. and I'm sure you all wish the same back at him. What happened to Art Bachechi, Smith?

FERRY LEHR

manages the Moderne Lichtspiele in Aachen, Germany, and is still another enterprising showman who sees the advantage of joining the Club and following some of the stunts his brother members on this side of the water use and submitting a few of his own for us.

▽

ART WARNER

who holds down the fort at the Colonial Theatre, in Grandview, Wash., is another newly elected member, and judging from the brand of showmen they turn out in Washington, we can expect big things from Art. Get going there, boy, and we'll do the rest by getting your stuff into print.

▽

DAVE UNGER

manages the Luisentheater in Allenstein, Germany, and is a young lad of only thirty-three with all kinds of ambition to get places in showbusiness and to know how the rest of the showmen in other parts of the world put their things over. Therefore, Dave rightly joins the Club and starts his membership.

▽

BEN STERN

is at the Keystone Theatre, in Philadelphia, Penna., where he's managing a house that keeps him pretty busy. Ben comes from a town that's very well represented in the Club roster and when we have our get-together out in his fair city we're hoping Ben will be there with the rest of the gang. Are you on?

▽

WILLIAM F. GERST

acts as manager of the Crescent Theatre in Collingswood, N. J. Our records boast of a goodly number of members from the State of Jersey, and unless Bill wants to be left way behind, he'd better get busy and dig into his files and see what he can send us for use in our pages. With all the new winter activities getting under way there ought to be plenty that you have to say that would interest your brother members.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

NAME _____

POSITION _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

DATE OF BIRTH _____

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

LOUIS J. MAURIN

joins the Club from Maurin's Theatre, in Reserve, Louisiana, where he manages that house. We're hoping that he won't be like the name of the town and keep his doings quiet. Don't hide your light under the well known bushel, Louis, but let us in on what you are doing.

▽

LORNE K. DUNHAM

is the manager of the New State Theatre, in Marshall, Minn. This house is one that's affiliated with the Twin City Theatre Corporation, and since Lorne is only twenty-four and as we've said before some of our most active members are the young "uns," we'll see what you have to offer for use in the pages.

▽

KARL H. KRUGER

manages the Titasia Palast, in Berlin, Germany, and apparently they have their showmen young in Germany, too, because Karl is only twenty-five. You and Lorne ought to sort of run a race and see who can send in the best stuff. Maybe you have some things that he can use and vice versa. At any rate, I'm sure other members besides Lorne would be interested in hearing from you.

▽

DAVID RUBIN

is another manager to join from Philadelphia, Pa., where he holds forth at the Leader Theatre, and that invitation to join the get-together which we shall have shortly certainly includes you, too, Dave. I'd like to know you personally, so I'll be looking forward to meeting you, but don't wait until then, to let us hear from you.

▽

GUS HARTMAN

assists J. G. McGee out at the Clementon Theatre, in Clementon, N. J., and since they join and subscribe at the same time, that's a sign that we ought to be kept informed of what's going on out there on the other side of the water. Remember us to McGee and keep in touch.

▽

IRVING BLUMBERG

almost needs no introduction to these pages, but for the benefit of those who don't know him, ladeez and gentlemen, Irv is the manager of Warners' Stanton, in Philly, and unless we miss our guess and he's not like the balance of his family, he's an enterprising showman who will keep the mails humming with accounts of his activities at the Stanton. I'll be seeing you soon, Irv, and remember me to the rest of the boys.

▽

J. M. GARVER

manages the Grove Theatre, in Willow Grove, Penn., and as we recall it, Willow Grove is certainly a beautiful spot. This is another Warner house, and since all the men in this chain are active in the Club, we're going to expect things from you, too, "J. M.," so don't lay down on the job, but keep up the high standing of the gang.

▽

GLADWYN L. RUCH

is the manager of the Grand Theatre, in Camden, N. J., another Warner house. How about some friendly competition between you new Warnerites who have joined the Club? That's something that's relished by the best of men, so dig down and grab out some of your best stunts and send them in to us, we'll do the rest.

▽

F. W. MEADE

manages the Meade Theatre, in Kingman, Kansas, and says he's sorry that he put off joining till now. Well, as long as you finally got around to it and start your membership by contributing, we'll forgive you if you keep on sending your stuff in. Keep up your good work with the kiddies, "F. W.," it sounds swell.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dude Bandit, The	Hoot Gibson-Gloria Shea	May 1	67
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Cheaters
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Picture Brides — Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey — 68 — Oct. 14
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used
Without Children

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher-Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72

Coming Feature Attractions

Rainbow Over Broadway — Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson — Dec. 1

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Ann Carver's Profession	Fay Wray-Gene Raymond	May 26	68	June 17
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
Cocktail Hour	Bebe Daniels-Sidney Blackmer-Randolph Scott	June 5	74	June 10
Dangerous Crossroads	Chic Sale-Diane Sinclair	June 15	62	July 1
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28
(See "Man of Steel," "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58
Rusty Rides Alone	Tim McCoy-Barbara Weeks	May 26	58
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58
Unknown Valley	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	May 5	69	Aug. 26
What Price Innocence?	Willard Mack-Jean Parker	June 29	64	July 1
Woman I Stole, The	Jack Holt - Raquel Torres - Fay Wray	May 1	63	July 8
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Criminal Within, The — Bruce Cabot-Mary Brian
Fighting Code, The — Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair
Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Fog — Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny
House of Murder — June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy
King of the Wild Horses — Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Let's Fall in Love — Harriette Lake - Edmund Lowe
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Man's Castle, A — Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Night Bus — Clark Gable
Ninth Guest
Once to Every Woman
Paul Street Boys — Frankie Darro-Jackie Searl
Straightaway — Tim McCoy-Sue Carol
World's Fair — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Throne of God (Tent.)		Aug.	56 and 59

Coming Feature Attractions

Dassan — 51 and 58

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	78	Sept. 2
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	65	June 17
Heroes for Sale	Richard Barthelmess - Loretta Young	June 17	76	May 27
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	80	Sept. 16
Lilly Turner	Ruth Chatterton-Geo. Brent	May 13	64	Apr. 29
Little Giant, The	Edward G. Robinson	May 20	74	Apr. 15
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young-Lyle Talbot	July 15	62	June 17
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	69	Sept. 30

Coming Feature Attractions

Bedside — Warren William
Big Shakedown, The — Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez
Convention City — Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou-Mary Astor-Genevieve Tobin
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23
Wonder Bar, The	Al Jolson - Dick Powell - Kay Francis-Ruby Keeler-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adorable	Janet Gaynor-Henry Garat	May 19	83	May 20
Arizona to Broadway	James Dunn-Joan Bennett	June 30	67	July 29
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Best of Enemies	Marian Nixon-"Buddy" Rogers	June 23	71	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's in Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	96	Apr. 29
Hold Me Tight	James Dunn-Sally Eilers	May 26	71	May 27
I Loved You Wednesday	Warner Baxter - Elissa Landi - Miriam Jordan-Victor Jory	June 16	75	June 24
It's Great to Be Alive	Edna May Oliver-Raul Roulien	June 2	68	July 1
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life in the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62	Nov. 4
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
My Lips Betray	Lillian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79
My Weakness	Lillian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gaynor-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman-Marian Nixon-Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	65	Sept. 2
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Warrior's Husband, The	Elissa Landi - Ernest Truex - David Manners	May 12	68	May 6
Worst Woman in Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

As Husbands Go — Warner Baxter-Eleanor Lynn — Jan. 5,'34
Coming Out Party — Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
Frontier Marshall — George O'Brien-Irene Bentley — Jan. 26,'34
Hoopla — Clara Bow-Preston Foster — Nov. 30
House of Connelly, The — Janet Gaynor-Robert Young
I Am Suzanne — Lilian Harvey-Gene Raymond — Dec. 29
I Was a Spy — Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll-Conrad Veidt — Dec. 15 — 75 — Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Nov. 24
Mr. Skitch — Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts — Dec. 22
Olsen's Big Moment — El Brendel — Nov. 17 — Oct. 28
7 Lives Were Changed — Heather Angel-Norman Foster — Jan. 12,'34
Sleepers East — Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster
Smoky — Victor Jory-Irene Bentley — Dec. 8
Stranger in the Night — Victor Jory - Heather Angel - Miriam Jordan
Three Against Death — Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Deadwood Pass	Tom Tyler	May 5
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
Marriage on Approval — Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry — Nov. 17
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love in Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert		68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo
Love in Morocco	Rex Ingram		67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Jean Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	May 26	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
Soldiers of the King	Cicely Courtneidge - Anthony Bushell
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Mathews		79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	90	Aug. 12

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanaugh	Oct.	1	74
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Nov.	15	63	Oct. 28
Shoot the Works (Reviewed under the title "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Nov.	15	87	Sept. 16
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Nov.	15
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug.	1	73	Aug. 19
Trouble Busters	Jack Hoxie-Lane Chandler	May	15	55
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov.	15		Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Divorce Bed, The		Dec.	1

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July	1	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept.	1	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June	15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct.	20	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July	28	79	Aug. 5
Barbarian, The	Ramon Novarro-Myrna Loy	May	12	88	Apr. 15
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept.	1	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct.	13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept.	15	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov.	3	66
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct.	27	66
Devil's Brother, The	Laurel and Hardy-Dennis King-Thelma Todd	May	5	92	Apr. 8
Hell Below	Robt. Montgomery-Jimmy Durante - Robt. Young - Walter Huston-Madge Evans	June	9	105	Apr. 15
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July	7	89	July 8
Made on Broadway	R. Montgomery-Sally Eilers	May	19	69	Apr. 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct.	20	65	Nov. 4
Midnight Mary	Loretta Young-Ricardo Cortez	June	30	76	June 17
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct.	6	91	Aug. 19
Nuisance, The (Reviewed under the title, "Never Give a Sucker a Break")	Lee Tracy-Madge Evans	June	2	80	May 6
Peg O' My Heart	Marion Davies-Onslow Stevens	May	26	85	May 20
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept.	8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov.	10	68	Oct. 28
Reunion in Vienna	John Barrymore-Diana Wynyard-Frank Morgan	June	16	100	May 6
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept.	22	65	Sept. 16
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept.	29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July	14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July	21	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug.	4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug.	25	80	Sept. 2
When Ladies Meet	Ann Harding-Alice Brady-Robt. Montgomery-Myrna Loy	June	23	85	June 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Dec.	8
Christopher Bean	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov.	17
Comeback, The	Otto Kruger-Ben Lyon-Isabel Jewell
Comin' Round the Mountain	May Robson-Polly Moran
Dancing Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)	Jean Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov.	24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt			113	June 10
Eskimo	Native Cast
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Malibu	Jean Parker-David Landau
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Transcontinental Bus	Robt. Montgomery - Madge Evans
Vinegar Tree, The	Lionel Barrymore-Alice Brady-Conway Tearle	Dec.	1	78
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug.	10	79	Oct. 7
Black Beauty	Alex. Kirkland-Esther Ralston	May	10	70	Apr. 29
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct.	20	68	Nov. 4
Crashing Broadway	Rex Bell	June	1	55	July 15
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug.	20	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June	15	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July	15
Gallant Fool	Bob Steele	May	25
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug.	5
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July	25
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug.	15
Return of Casey Jones	Charles Starrett-Ruth Hall	May	25
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct.	10	72
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug.	30
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	15
Sphinx, The	Lionel Atwill-Sheila Terry	June	1	76	June 3
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	1	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ape, The
Beggars in Ermine
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill
Jane Eyre
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neill-Creighton Chaney
Woman's Man

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug.	18	72	Aug. 5
College Humor	Crosby-Oakie-Arlen-Carlisle-Burns and Allen	June	23	80	June 17
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July	7	68	June 24
Eagle and the Hawk, The	F. March-C. Grant-J. Oakie	May	19	72	May 6
Gambling Ship	Cary Grant-Benita Hume	June	30	72	June 17
Girl in 419, The	James Dunn-Gloria Stuart	May	26	76	May 6
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept.	22	70	Sept. 23
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct.	27	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July	21	70	July 8
I Love That Man	Nancy Carroll-Edmund Lowe	June	9	75	May 6
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct.	6	87	Oct. 7
International House	All Star	June	2	85	May 20
Jennie Gerhardt	Sylvia Sidney-Donald Cook	June	16	76	June 10
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July	14	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July	14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July	28	70	July 29
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept.	1	85	Aug. 26
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug.	11	92	July 1
Story of Temple Drake, The	Miriam Hopkins-Jack LaRue	May	12	72	May 13
Sunset Pass	Randolph Scott-Tom Keene	May	26	63	June 3
Supernatural	C. Lombard - Randolph Scott - V. Osborne	May	5	64½	Apr. 29
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct.	27	82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug.	25	82	July 29
Three Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug.	4	72	Aug. 12
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct.	13	57½
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept.	15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept.	29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept.	8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct.	20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov.	3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec.	22
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Dec.	29
Border Legion, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Adams
Catherine the Great	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov.	17	77	Nov. 4
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper
Duck Soup (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)	Four Marx Bros.	Nov.	17
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Dec.	15
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec.	8
Great Adventure, The	Lillian Gish-Roland Young
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec.	1
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov.	24
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov.	24

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Nov.	15	58
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug.	11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov.	15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ferocious Pal, The
King of the North
Lone Avenger, The Midnight Call
(Untitled)	Kazan	Jan.	15,'34

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel.	Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan-Ralph Bellamy	Oct.	20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov.	10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov.	3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct.	13	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July	14	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug.	4	62	Oct. 21
Big Brain, The	Geo. E. Stone-Fay Wray-Phillips Holmes	June	16	70	June 3
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug.	18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct.	27	70	Oct. 14
Cross Fire	Tom Keene-Betty Furness	June	30	55	Apr. 8
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept.	15	68	Aug. 19
Diplomaniacs	Bert Wheeler-Robt. Woolsey	May	12	63	Apr. 15
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July	21	74	July 8
Emergency Call	Bill Boyd-Betty Furness	May	26	60	July 1
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd-Mae Clarke-Pat O'Brien	Sept.	29
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy - Eric Linden	July	14	62	Sept. 2
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov.	10	66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan-Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Rateff	July	28	85	July 29
Melody Cruise	Phil Harris-Charles Ruggles	June	23	75	June 3
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept.	22	63	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn - D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug.	18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug.	11	73	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept.	8	72	Sept. 9
Professional Sweetheart	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	June	9	70	June 3
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept.	1	70	Aug. 5
Silver Cord, The	Irene Dunne-Joel McCrea	May	19	74	May 13
Son of the Border	Tom Keene-Julie Haydon	May	5	55	Aug. 5
Tomorrow at Seven	Chester Morris-Vivienne Osborne	June	2	64	May 13

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Coming Feature Attractions
Dark Sunlight	Jean Parker-Tom Brown
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond-Raul Roulien
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler
Lost Patrol, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	McLaglen-Karloff
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi
Once Over Lightly	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack
This Day of Grace	Gracie Fields		92	Oct. 28
Trigger	Katharine Hepburn

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp-John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1
Golden Head
Moth, The
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Corruption	Evalyn Knapp - Preston Foster	Imperial Distr.	June 19	63	July 1
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Flaming Signal, The	Marseline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond-T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Isle of Doom, The	Peter Sobolevski	Amkino	June 5	65½	July 22
Laughing at Life	V. McLaglen - C. Montenegro	Mascot	June 26	70	June 3
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconneti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Red-Head, The	Robert Lynen	Harold Auten	May 25	88	June 17
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dilloway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Taming the Jungle		Invincible	June 3	59	June 16
This Is America		Frederick Ullman, Jr.	July 19	70	July 29
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Victims of Persecution	Betty Hamilton-Mitchell Harris	Bud Pollard	June 16	60	June 24
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wives Beware!	Adolphe Menjou	Regent Picts.	June 1	63

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo-Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
I Cover the Waterfront	Claudette Colbert - Ben Lyon - Ernest Torrence	May 17	75	Apr. 29
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Samarang	Native Cast	June 23	62	May 20
Yes, Mr. Brown	Jack Buchanan	May	69	Mar. 18

Coming Feature Attractions

Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1
Blood Money (See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Joe Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone-T. Carminati
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner
Trouble Shooter	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30
King of Jazz (Reissue)	Paul Whiteman - John Boles - Bing Crosby	June 1	63	Apr. 5,'30
King of the Arena	Ken Maynard	June 1	61
Kiss Before the Mirror	Nancy Carroll-Paul Lukas	May 4	67	Mar. 11
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Lee Carrillo	Aug. 3	84	Sept. 2
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6
Rebel, The	Vilma Banky-Luis Trenker	June 15	75	July 1
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Reque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Ralph Graves-Shirley Grey	Dec. 25
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 4
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Nov. 27
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres-Alice White
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 20
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 1,'34
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 11	68	Sept. 9
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton
Riders of Justice	Walter Miller-Cecelia Parker	Dec. 18
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Special Investigator	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr.-Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	102	Oct. 7
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	90	May 27
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Life of Jimmy Dolan, The	D. Fairbanks, Jr.-Loretta Young	June 3	70	June 24
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Mayor of Hell, The	James Cagney	June 24	80	May 20
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Private Detective 62	William Powell	June 10	67	July 15
Silk Express	Neil Hamilton-Sheila Terry	June 10	63	June 10
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

Fashion Plate, The	William Powell-Bette Davis
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2
Hell's Bells	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis-Ricardo Cortez-Gene Raymond	Dec. 23
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9
Mandalay	Kay Francis

WORLD WIDE

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lone Avenger, The	Ken Maynard	May 14	61	Aug. 19
Study in Scarlet, A	Reginald Owen-June Clyde	May 14	72	June 10

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	89	July 29
Cadet, The	Frans Fiedler	Film Exchange		80	Apr. 8
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Dream of Schoenbrunn	Martha Eggerth	Europa Film	May 31	78	June 10
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street, The	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman-Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Maglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Morgenrot (Dawn)	Else Knott - Rudolf Forster	Protex	May 15	85	May 27
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Chas. Boyer	Gaumont-Ufa		95	Aug. 12
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	Britsh Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 15
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Vareoni	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl.
Broadway Malady	Apr. 18	1 rl.
House Cleaning		1 rl.
Krazy Spooks		1 rl.
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½
Russian Dressing	May 1
Stage Krazy		1 rl.
Whack's Museum		1 rl.
LAMBS GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
Poor Fish, The	Apr. 27	2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl.
2—In the Orient		1 rl.
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½
No. 2	Sept. 30
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18
2—Mickey's Tent Show		18
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
False Alarm		1 rl.
Hollywood Babes
Match Kid, The	May 9	1 rl.
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl.
Technorackets	May 20	1 rl.
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl.
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1	Oct. 13	1 rl.
No. 2		1 rl.
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls
SMITH AND DALE
Hot Daze		2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Entertainer, The Will Mahoney
Preferred List Ken Murray
Say It Isn't So	June 29	19
Richey Craig, Jr.
WORLD OF SPORT
All's Wet That Ends Wet	May 5	1 rl.
Champions	May 5	1 rl.
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18
Hook and Line	July 28
Is the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl.
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl.
What the Scotch Started
Who Said the Weaker Sex?		9

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20
Easy Mark Anthony
Feeling Rosy	Apr. 30	21
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kin 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Kid 'N Hollywood	May 14	11
Kid's Last Fight, The	Apr. 23	11
Polly Tix In Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9
Sea, The	May 7	9
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7
Pirates of the Deep	May 7	9
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl.
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 5	Apr. 30	11
No. 6	June 18
CAMERA ADVENTURES
Cougar's Mistake, The	May 26	9
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Highlights of the Past	Apr. 9	8
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Makin' Good
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9
Capers in Clay	July 30
Out of the Ordinary	May 28
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Knight Duty	May 7	22
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
A Pair of Socks	May 14	20
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18
Hot Hoofs	June 18
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Manhattan Lullaby Helen Morgan	Nov. 24
Slow Poke Stepin Fetchit	Sept. 22	1 rl.
SPIRIT OF THE CAMPUS (Reinaid Werrenrath)
Georgia Tech	May 7	9
McGill	May 28	9
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Mr. Adam	Nov. 10
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6
Cinderella	May 28	6
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6
King Zilch	June 11	6
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6
Oh! Susanna	Apr. 2	6
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Pirate Ship	Apr. 30	6
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6
Romeo and Juliet	Apr. 16	6
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6
Tale of a Shirt, The	Feb. 19	6
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6
Tropical Fish	May 14	6
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6
THREE-REEL SPECIAL
Krakatoa	Apr. 23	23
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20
Torchy Turns Turtle	Apr. 23	21
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18
TREASURE CHEST
Shorts	Nov. 3
Song of Vienna	Nov. 10
Your Life Is In Your Hands	Sept. 22
VANITY COMEDIES
Techno-crazy Monty Collins-Billy Bevan	Apr. 23	19

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept.
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29
Conquest of the Air!
Scouring the Seven Seas!
Answering the Riot Call!
Filming the Fashions
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Down from Vesuvius	Apr. 15
Broadway by Day	Apr. 2
Sampans and Shadows	Apr. 9
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
The Island of Malta
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Oct. 6
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 27
The Great Train Robbery
A Moment of Madness
Helen of the Chorus
The Extravagant Wife
The Girl from the Country
Emma's Dilemma
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills Radio Rubes		6
Sally Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7
Night of Romance Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7
Tongue Twisters Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Ship of Dreams Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7
Melody on Parade Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7
Home Again Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Tintypes Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6
Oriental Phantasy Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8
Organ Festival Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9
Melody Tour Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8
Organlogue-ing the Hits Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8
Songs of Nations Carlile-Rawlinson-White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
I. Spilled Salt Phyllis Barry-George Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour		19
Yeast Is West
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20
His Silent Racket	Apr. 29	19
Luncheon at Twelve		21
Midsummer Mush		21
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17
COLORTONE MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels		20
Hello, Pop!		17
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26
Plane Nuts		20
Rhapsody in Brew		20
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Daughters of the Sea	Apr. 8	9
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka		10
Fiji and Samoa	May 20	8
New Zealand		9
Over the Seas to Borneo	Apr. 29	9
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9
Scotland the Bonnie		9
FLIP, THE FROG
Bullonev		8
Chinaman's Chance		8
Paleface		8
Soda Squirt		7
Techno-cracked		8
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies		20
Dirty Work		20
Me An' My Pal	Apr. 22	21
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers		8
Handlebars
Happy Warriors		9
Menu	Aug. 26	11
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21
Kid from Borneo, The	Apr. 15	19
Mush and Milk	May 27	18
Wild Poses		19
TODD-KELLY
Backs to Nature		20
Bargain of the Century	Apr. 8	20
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16
One Track Minds	May 20
SPECIAL
Inflation		11
Roosevelt, the Man of the Hour	Apr. 8	18
SPORT CHAMPIONS
Auto Racing	Apr. 1
Throttle Pushers	Apr. 1	9
TAXI BOYS
Call Her Sausage	May 13	19
Rummy, The	June 10	18
Taxi Barons	Apr. 1	19
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16
WILLIE WHOPPER
Play Ball		7

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
Captain Henry's Radio Show Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw - Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11
A Bundle of Blues Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10
The Little Broadcast Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Rey Atwill	Oct. 27	11
Rumba Rhythm Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 9	Apr. 7	10
No. 10	May 5	10
No. 11	June 2	10
No. 12	June 30	10
No. 13	July 28	10
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11
No. 2	Sept. 8	11
No. 3	Oct. 13	11
No. 4
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad Tom Howard	June 9	11
Jazz a La Cuba Don Aspiazu	July 7	10
Moonlight Fantasy Vincent Lopez	Apr. 14	8
Walking the Baby Burns and Allen	May 12	11
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 10—Birth of the Year — Laboratory Sleuth — Three X Sisters	Apr. 21	10
No. 11—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews - Ward Wilson - Danbury Fair	May 19	10
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax — Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1 — Just a Little Dressing — The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10
POPEYE THE SAILOR
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7
SCREEN SONGS
"Bolleskr" Watson Sisters	June 9	7
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	1 rl.
Down by the Old Mill Stream	July 21	7
Funny Boners
I Like Mountain Music Eton Boys		7
Peanut Vendor, The Armida	Apr. 28	7
Popular Melodies Arthur Jarrett	Apr. 7	7
Sing, Sisters, Sing Three X Sisters	June 3	7
Song Shopping Ethel Merman	May 19	7
Stoopnocracy Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba Mills Bros.	Sept. 15	7
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 10	Apr. 14	10
No. 11	May 12	10
No. 12	June 9	10
No. 13	July 7	10
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25
No. 2	Sept. 22	10
No. 3	Oct. 20	10
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11
Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10
Water Lure	Sept. 22	10
The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11
Kennel Kings		1 rl.
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Aggravatin' Bear, The	Apr. 28	10
Balance	June 23	10
Jabs and Jolts	May 26	10
Over the Jumps	July 21	10
Straight Shooters	July 21	11
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7
Betty Boop's Birthday Party	Apr. 21	7
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party		7
Betty Boop's May Party	May 12	7
I Heard Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7
Morning, Noon and Night Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7
Mother Goose Land	June 23	7
Old Man of the Mountains Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The W. C. Fields	July 28	21
Big Fibber, The Sennett Star	July 14	20
Daddy Knows Best Walter Catlett	June 16	22
Dream Stuff Sennett Star	May 12	20

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Oct. 25	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 7,'34	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
High Spots of New York	June 1	11
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Masked Raider, The	Sept. 1	20
News Laugh No. 1	Oct. 18	7
News Laugh No. 2	Nov. 15	7
News Laugh No. 3	Dec. 17	7
News Laugh No. 4	Jan. 21,'34	7
News Laugh No. 5	Feb. 18,'34	7
News Laugh No. 6	Mar. 18,'34	7
Queen of the Underworld	Nov. 1	7
Voodoo	May 2	36
Walpi	May 15	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEADS SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Count	Nov. 17
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Druggist's Dilemma, The	May 5	17
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Thrown Out of Joint	May 12	21
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Lost in the Limehouse	Apr. 7	20½
Moonshiner's Daughter, The	May 19	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
Mickey's Race	Apr. 14	18
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Merchant of Menace, The	Apr. 21	19½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
Knee Deep In Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	15
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS
Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW
Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
The Fatal Note	Sept. 29	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	27
SPECIALS
So This is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Hook and Ladder Hokum	Apr. 28	7
In the Park	May 26	6
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
AUDIO PRODUCTIONS
Butterfly		10
Seed Dispersal		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Coocoo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
My Side of the Story	Sept. 22	10
David L. Hutton
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Ski-ing		1 rl.
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Mickey and the Giant
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The China Shop
2. The Night Before Christmas

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
No. 3	Nov. 13	1 rl.
No. 4	Dec. 11	1 rl.
OSWALD CARTOONS
Beau Best	May 22	1 rl.
Confidence	July 31	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Going to Blazes	Apr. 10	1 rl.
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	1 rl.
Marry Old Soul	Nov. 27	1 rl.
Ocean Hop (Reissue)	Apr. 24	1 rl.
Parking Space	Dec. 4	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Morton Downey—No. 4	Apr. 17	2 rls.
My Pal the Prince
Beauty on Broadway	May 15	2 rls.
Walter Winchell—No. 2
The Old Timers		21
Louis Sobol No. 3
Peeping Tom	Sept. 20	17
Louis Sobol—No. 4
SPECIALS
Your Technocracy and Mine	Apr. 15	1 rl.
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 28—Novelty	Apr. 17	8½
No. 29—Novelty	May 29	8
No. 30—Novelty	May 29	1 rl.
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
A Quiet Night	May 31	21
Bert Roach
All at Sea	Sept. 20	21
(Mentone No. 2)
Big Benefit, The	Oct. 11	21
(Mentone No. 3)
Gleason's New Deal	July 12	20
James Gleason
His First Case	June 14	20
Vince Barnett
Mister Mugg	May 10	21
James Gleason
Mountain Music		2 rls.
Louise Fazenda
Not the Marrying Kind	Nov. 22	2 rls.
Sterling Holloway
On the Air and Off	Sept. 6	19
(Mentone No. 1)
Open Sesame	Oct. 25	20
Henry Armetta
Out of Gas	Nov. 8	2 rls.
Louise Fazenda
Pie for Two	Dec. 13	2 rls.
James Gleason
Pick Me Up	Apr. 5	19
Marie Prevost
Room Mates	Apr. 19	20
Frank Albertson
Stung Again	Oct. 18	2 rls.
Louise Fazenda
Supper at Six	Nov. 29	2 rls.
(Mentone No. 4)
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Been?	June 24
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 12—An Idle Roomer		20
Jack Haley
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth	Aug. 19	19
Jack Haley
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Close Relations
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 2—Salt Water Daffy		21
Jack Haley
No. 3—Gobs of Fun
George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw		20
Gus Shy
No. 5—Tomalio
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—In the Dough
Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 7—How D'Ya Like That?		18
George Givot-Charles Judels
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony	June 3
Stoopnagle & Budd
No. 9—Poor Little Rich Boy	Dec. 24,'32	18
Phil Baker
No. 10—Hey, Hey, Westerner	Dec. 31,'32	17
Technicolor Musical
No. 11—That Goes Double	July 29
Russ Columbo
No. 12—Bygones	Jan. 14	18
Ruth Etting
No. 13—Pleasure Island	Feb. 25	18
Technicolor Musical
No. 14—Yours Sincerely	Mar. 11	19
Lanny Ross
No. 15—Speaking of Operations	Jan. 28	18
Pick & Pat
No. 16—Northern Exposure	Apr. 8	18
Technicolor Musical
No. 17—Nothing Ever Happens	Mar. 25	18
Musical
No. 18—World's Champ	July 11
Jack Dempsey
No. 19—The Way of All Freshmen	Apr. 22
Hal Leroy-Mitzi Mayfair
No. 20—Along Came Ruth	May 6
Ruth Etting
No. 21—Fifi	May 20	21
V. Segal-Chas. Judels
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus	July 15	19
Charles Judels
No. 23—Pie a la Mode	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate	July 1
Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang	Aug. 12	19
Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters
No. 26—The "No" Man	Aug. 26	19
Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Rufus Jones for President		20
Ethel Waters
No. 2—Use Your Imagination		18
Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair
No. 3—Paul Revere, Jr.		21
Gus Shy-Janet Reade
No. 4—Operator's Opera		21
Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys
No. 5—Seasoned Greetings		20
Lita Grey Chaplin
No. 6—Yeast Is Yeast
Tom Patricola
HOW TO BREAK 90
BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Ride Him, Bosko		7
No. 2—Bosko the Drawback		7
No. 3—Bosko's Dizzy Date		7
No. 4—Bosko's Woodland Daze		7
No. 5—Bosko in Dutch		7
No. 6—Bosko in Person		7
No. 7—Bosko the Speed King
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden
MELODY MASTERS
No. 1—Music to My Ears		10
Jack Denny and Band
No. 2—Municipal Band Wagon		10
No. 3—Smash Your Baggage		19
Small's Paradise Band
No. 4—The Lease Breakers		9
Aunt Jemima
No. 5—The Yacht Party		9
Roger Wolfe Kahn's Band
No. 6—Hot Competition		10
The Continentals-Barris-Whiteman-Ted Husing
No. 7—Abe Lyman and Band		10
No. 8—"How's Tricks?"
Jean Sargent-George Owen and Gang
No. 9—That's the Spirit		10
Noble Sissle and Band
No. 10—The Alma Martyr		9
Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar
Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition		20
Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band
No. 13—A Castilian Garden		9
Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Vincent Lopez and Orchestra
No. 2—Hot from Petrograd		10
Dave Apollon and Orchestra
No. 3—Barber Shop Blues		9
Claude Hopkins and Band
No. 4—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals
No. 5—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 6—Eddie Duchin and Band
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band
No. 8—Jack Denny and Band
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—Torch Song
PEPPER POT
No. 1—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 1
No. 2—Nickelette
No. 3—Contact
No. 4—If I'm Elected
No. 5—King Salmon
No. 6—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 2
No. 7—Babe O' Mine
No. 8—Dangerous Occupations
No. 9—Out of the Past
No. 10—Love Thy Neighbor
No. 11—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 3
No. 12—A Whale of a Yarn
No. 13—Africa Speaks—English
No. 14—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 4
No. 15—Sea Devils
No. 16—Parades of Yesterday
No. 17—Breakwater
No. 18—Little White Lies
No. 19—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 5
No. 20—You're Killing Me
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Little Miss Mischief
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell
No. 4—Notre Dame Glee Club
No. 5—Admission 5c		10
No. 6—Easy Aces
No. 7—Song Hits, with Roy Turk
No. 8—Harry Warren
No. 9—Laughs in the Law
No. 10—Movie Memories
SPORT THRILLS SERIES
TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
TECHNICOLOR MUSICALS
No. 1—'Tis Spring		20
No. 2—Business Is a Pleasure
No. 3—Girl Trouble
No. 4—Morocco Nights
WORLD ADVENTURES E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		1 rl.
No. 4—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson	July 6	20
Johnny Mack Brown- Noah Beery		(each)
Three Musketeers, The	Apr. 7
John Wayne-Ruth Hall
Whispering Shadow	Jan. 10
Bela Lugosi-Karl Dane-Malcolm MacGregor
Wolf Dog, The	Sept. 30
Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless	Aug. 11	20
Buster Crabbe		(each)
UNIVERSAL
Clancy of the Mounted	Feb. 27	20
Tom Tyler-Jacqueline Wells		(each)
Gordon of Ghost City	Aug. 14	20
Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy		(each)
Perils of Pauline	Nov. 6	20
Evalyn Knapp-Robert Allen		(each)
Phantom of the Air	May 22
Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea
Pirate Treasure
Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

BIG SELECTION IN USED VENEERED AND upholstered theatre chairs at bargain prices. Replacement parts for all makes of chairs. Write ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., 1024 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

NO ARMISTICE HERE—BATTLE CONTINUES—greatest sale ever. Standard brands—Simplex, Peerless, Strong, Brenkert, Forest, Hertner, Operadio, sacrifice prices. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL SCOOP: TWO REbuilt Simplex projectors with reflector lamps and rectifiers complete. Fully guaranteed. Like new. Investigate this tremendous bargain. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

TWO POWERS PROJECTORS WITH SOUND heads and amplifier. W. H. HARDMAN, Frankfort, Kans.

WANTED TO BUY

THEATRE EQUIPMENT FOR FIVE THEATRES. Projectors, motor generators, rectifiers, low intensity lamps and other moving picture theatre equipment including seats. OHIO MUSIC COMPANY, Lima, Ohio.

VELOUR DROP CURTAIN SLIGHTLY USED but in good condition. " Also quantity of carpet in good condition for reasonable cash price. HARRIS GRAND THEATRE, Bloomington, Ind.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

RCA PHOTOPHONE NOW WITHIN REACH—liberal trades for old equipment on brand new Wide Range RCA soundheads entirely complete, originally $1,200.00, now $295.00. Write for details. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

PROGRAM PRINTERS

THE "RITE" THEATRICAL PRINTERS. A. J. LIPP COMPANY, 307 West 38th St., New York City. Phone: BRyant 9-8681.

POSTER EXCHANGES

LARGEST STOCK OF USED ADVERTISING AT best prices. Cash for your used paper on current releases. Write for samples of programs and heralds. PREMIER ADVERTISING SERVICE, 1717 Wyandotte, Kansas City, Mo.

GOOD, CLEAN USED ADVERTISING CHEAP. Liberal credits. Highest cash prices paid for paper on current releases. ALABAMA POSTER EXCHANGE, 528 North 18th St., Birmingham, Ala.

SALESMEN WANTED

AN ATTRACTIVE PROPOSITION TO MEN who are acquainted with theatres and who can sell premiums that will stimulate business. Send full particulars and references. STREIMER AD-SERVICE, 352 W. 44th Street, New York City.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

GOLD IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD — LOOK around, see what you've got—we'll take it for cash. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

IF YOU WANT TO REPLACE ANY TYPE OF equipment with brand new material we will be glad to make an allowance on your old equipment and a better price on new equipment. Let us know what you need and what you want to exchange and we will send complete details on our proposition. EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE, c/o MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

PLEASE YOUR PATRONS — DON'T ANNOY them—trade your old worn soundheads, amplifiers, speakers, for new Wide Fidelity devices, from $49.50 up, sold on trial. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

FAN COVERS FOR 16-INCH FAN, 70c; CARBON savers, any size, $1.70 each; exciter lamps, any size, 60c; photo cells No. 868, $5.00; No. 038, $7.50; amplifier tubes, No. 264A, $1.15. CROWN MOTION PICTURE SUPPLIES, 311 West 44th St., New York City.

LIQUIDATION STANDARD MAKE AMPLIFIERS —brand new Operadio models, originally selling $400.00, now $49.50. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSITIONS WANTED

SOUND PROJECTIONIST—14 YEARS' EXPERIence—can operate any equipment—non-union—will go anywhere. BOX 140-A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

MANAGER THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED IN circuit or independent theatre operations, seeks connection where merit will be recognized. Experienced in booking, buying films, personnel, publicity. Now employed. Highest endorsements. BOX 339, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTIONIST—LICENSED 12 YEARS—EXPErienced all outfits—do repairs—anywhere—small town preferred. BOX 340, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

THEATRES WANTED

PAYING THEATRE FIVE TO FIFTEEN thousand town. Advise seating capacity and opposition. HERMAN L. ART, 705 Sixth St., N. W., Canton, Ohio.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

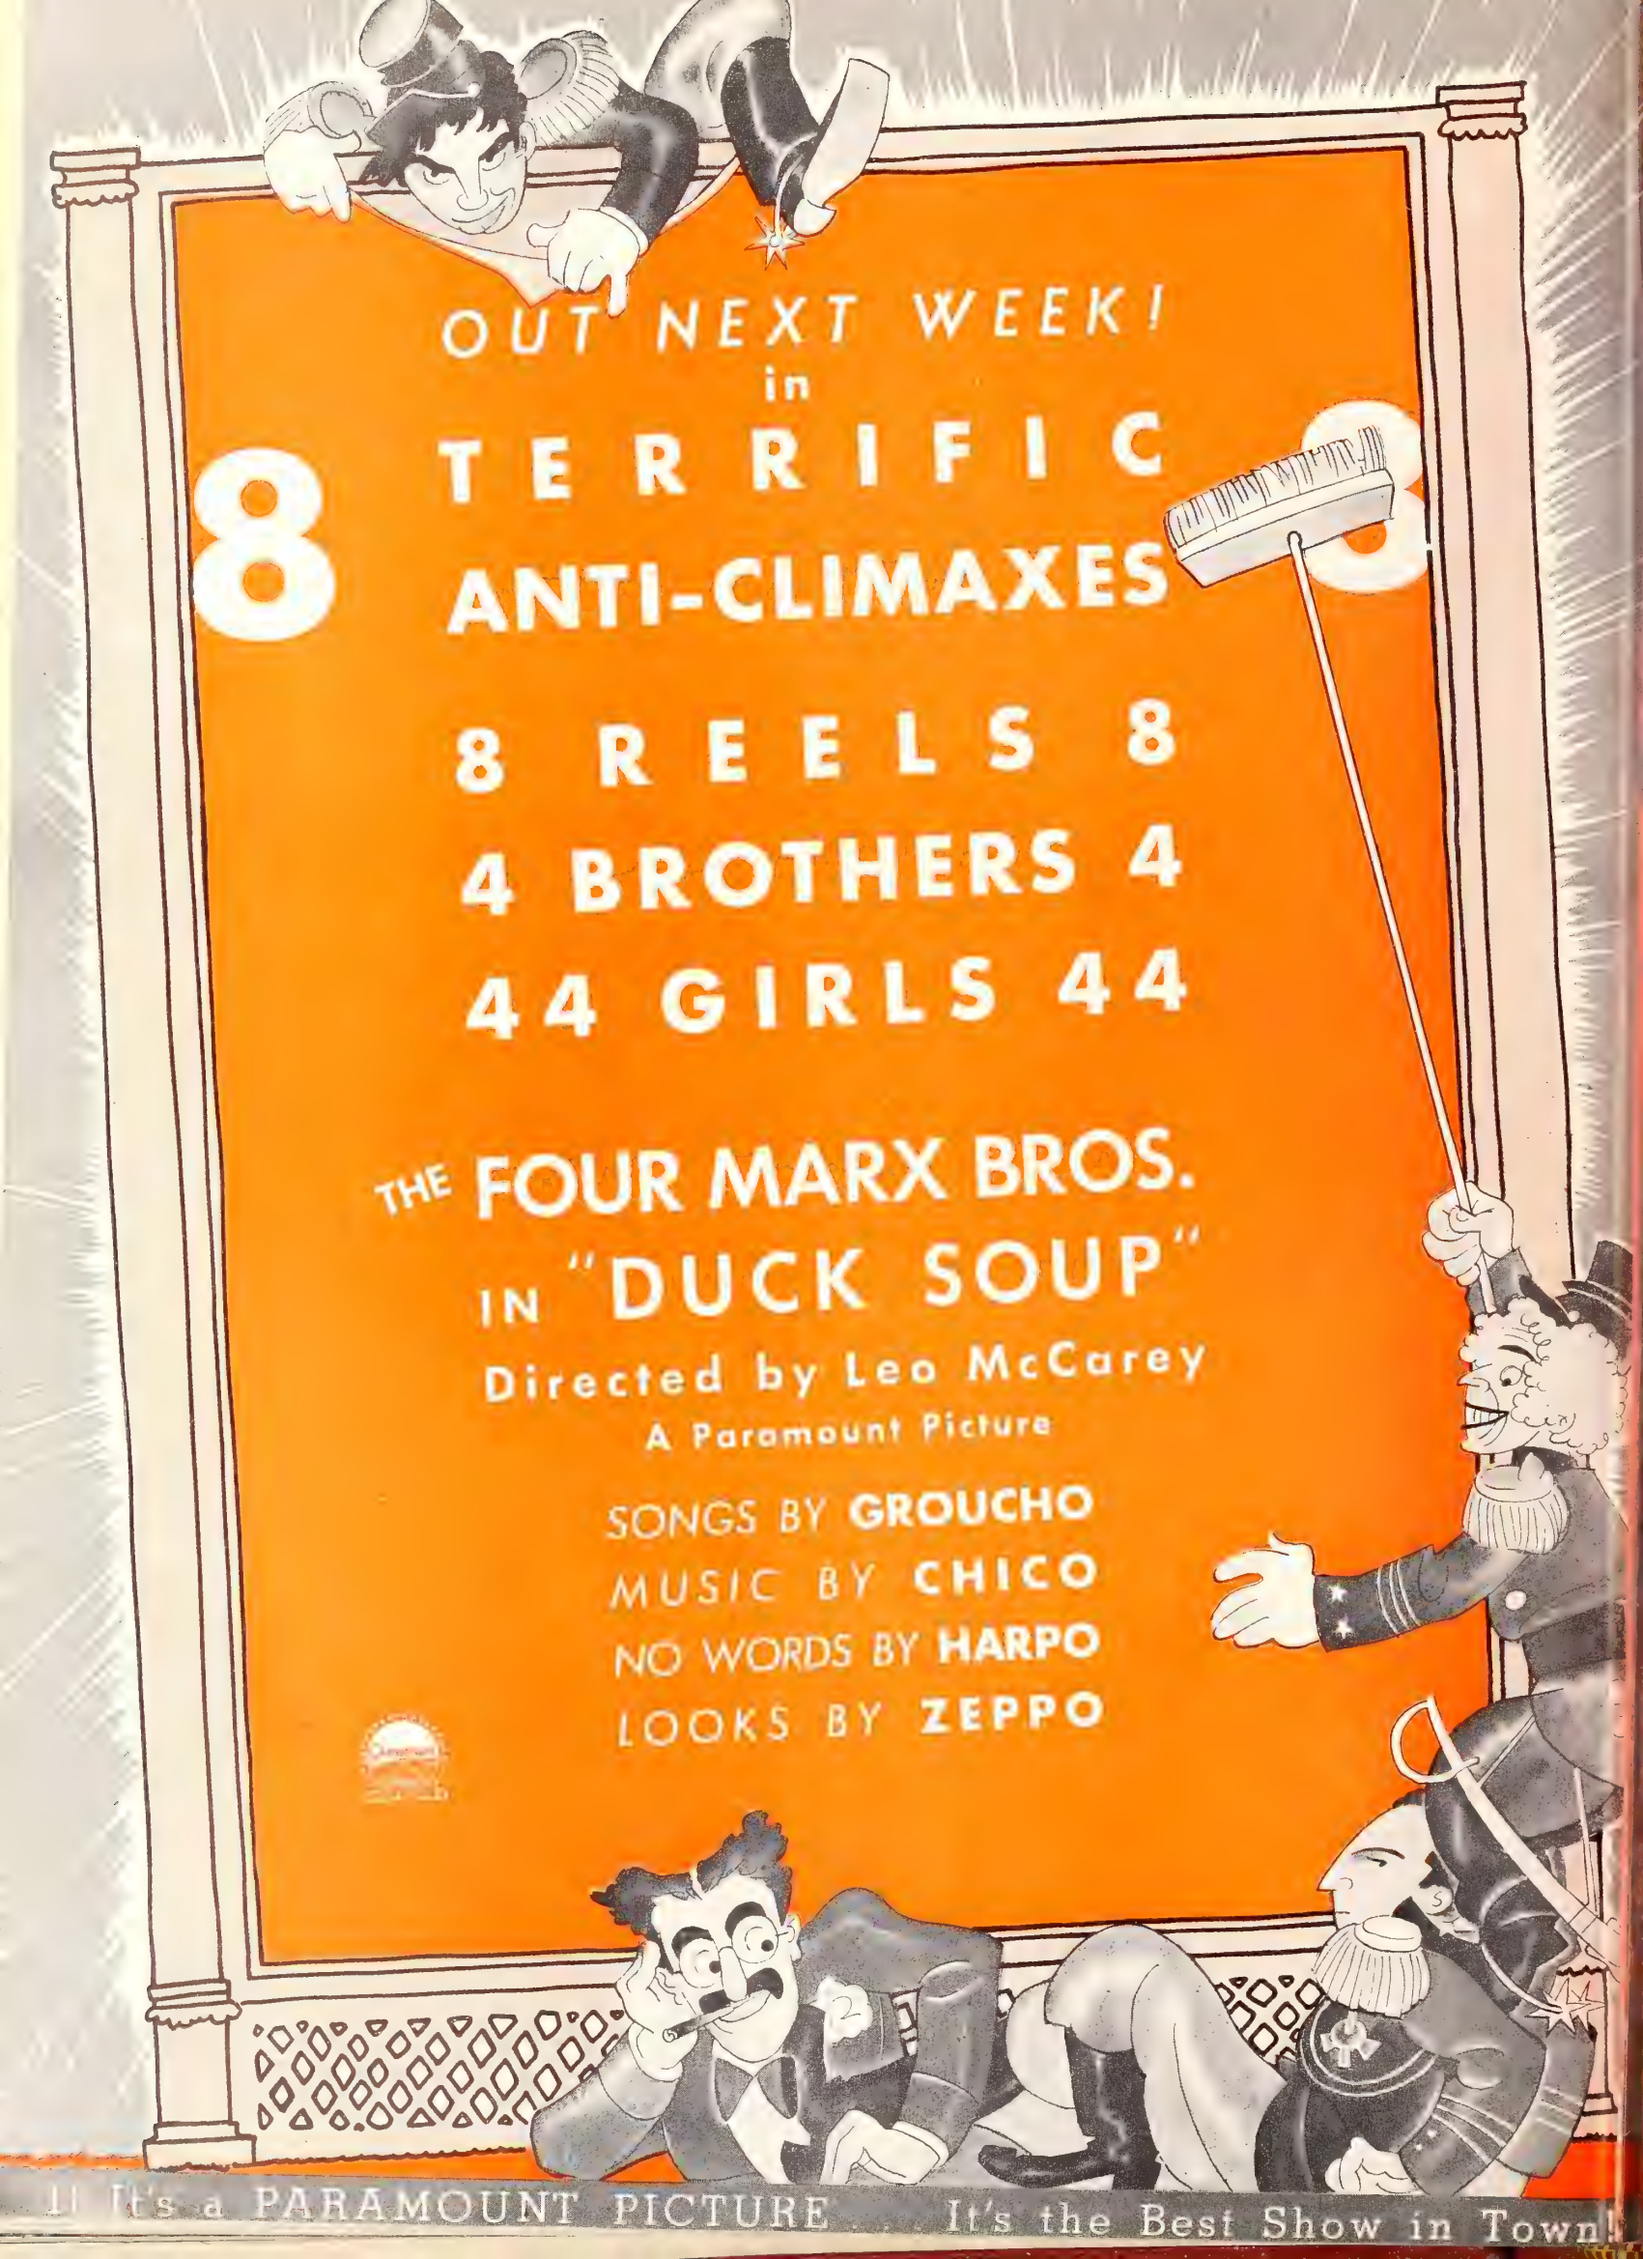
In Almost Any

FEATURE PICTURE

. . . you are now likely to find sequences demonstrating that ingenious technical device, the composite shot. The foundation for those sequences is most likely to be Eastman Background Negative. Because of its amazingly fine grain, this special new film has been found ideally suited to the "shooting" of backgrounds that are to be projected and rephotographed. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN

Background Negative



OUT NEXT WEEK!
in
8 TERRIFIC ANTI-CLIMAXES 8
8 REELS 8
4 BROTHERS 4
44 GIRLS 44
THE FOUR MARX BROS.
IN "DUCK SOUP"
Directed by Leo McCarey
A Paramount Picture
SONGS BY GROUCHO
MUSIC BY CHICO
NO WORDS BY HARPO
LOOKS BY ZEPPO
It's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE . . . It's the Best Show in Town!

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

ROOSEVELT IS NOW WORKING ON CODE

Allied charges "propaganda mill" to discredit opposition to code draft; Iowa-Nebraska unit indorses it and is dropped; New delay at Washington; Dozen Warner executives leave Academy

365 FILMS PICKED FOR SPECIAL USES

Board of Review selects motion pictures for Junior Matinees, book tieups, films of topical interest, and foreign product

Two Sections — Section One

Vol. 113, No. 8 Entered as second-class matter January 12, 1931, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York, N. Y. November 18, 1933

THERE IS NOTHIN

BIGGER!

Now at the $2 Astor, N.Y. "Trader Horn" yields its laurels to an even greater triumph of romance and adventure

A METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER Production

W. S. Van Dyke, Director

Hunt Stromberg, Associate Producer

PLAYED 1697 consecutive days in theatres around the globe! . . . . . .
VOTED by 192 famous critics as the greatest screen drama of its time! . . . . . .
SHOWN in more than 29,000 different motion picture houses!
SEEN and CHEERED by more than 170 million persons, speaking 24 different languages!
NRA MEMBER
Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

HERE'S WHY IT'S SMART SHOWMANSHIP T
RE-ORDER THIS BEST-SELLER NOW

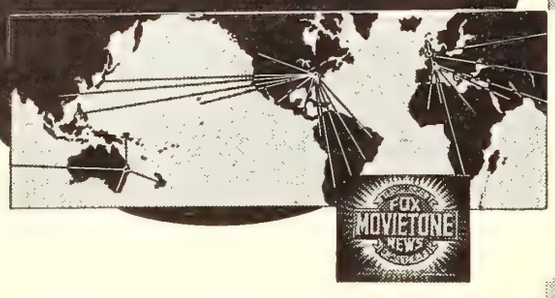
Say you were running a bookshop...You'd restock heavy on your biggest seller Why?...Because you'd know you can make money on it! ● Same thing with "Disraeli." You don't have to take anybody's word that you can make money on this picture...You know it because you've done it. ● And you can do it again! Thousands of return dates prove that millions want to see it over and over. And there's A NEW GENERATION that has never seen the screen classic of all time...George

ARLISS
in
DISRAELI

You can't find anywhere a better family show for Thanksgiving or Christmas holidays! ● Special Return Engagement press sheet and accessories ready now at your exchange — but you don't have to go overboard on advertising and exploitation, because the public's already sold on "Disraeli"... ● Just tell them you've got it and they'll come and get it! . . . . . .

WARNER BROS. HAVE THE SHOW YOU NEED FOR THANKSGIVING AND CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

THE PERFECT SHORTS FOR ANY SHOW •



FOX MOVIETONE NEWS • • Twice Weekly

First all-talking newsreel . . . and more than ever far ahead of the field. More news . . . better news . . . quicker news . . . because Fox Movietone News has the most complete world coverage of any newsreel. With sound and voice recorded at actual scene of the action. Insist on genuine news.

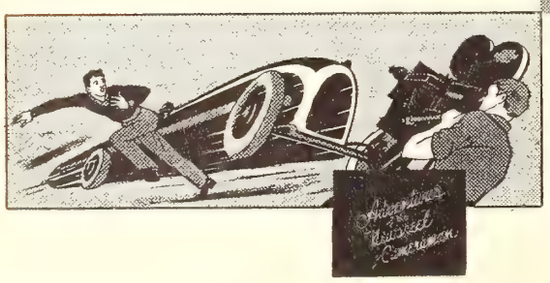
MAGIC CARPET of MOVIETONE • 26 One Reel each

Let your patrons see the world from a theatre seat. With photography of unmatched beauty . . . natural sound . . . symphonic musical treatment . . . fascinating comment by a narrator's voice. Blends perfectly with any program. Showing in leading theatres everywhere.

MOVIE TINTYPES 12 One reel each

Screen hits of yesteryear . . . including "The Great Train Robbery" and eleven other classics of the old Edison Company. Boiled down to one riotous reel each . . . with side-splitting wisecracks by an off-stage voice. Just a belly-laugh natural. They will even make you laugh your head off.

ADVENTURES of the NEWS — REEL CAMERA MAN • 12 One Reel each



Thrills that will knock your audiences right out of their seats . . .because they're REAL! Actual death-defying experiences of newsreel cameramen . . . who grind as danger rushes at them. Plus a blood-stirring off-stage voice, so your patrons won't miss a trick. Says Red Kann: "The stuff is gasp-inducing in its excitement."

All Produced by Movietone News, Inc.

CIB 207670

NOV 17 1933

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 113, No. 8 November 18, 1933

CALLING MR. CANTOR

WEEKS have run into months while the service of the NRA experiment has required of the motion picture an extraordinary and costly attention of man power and has imposed upon the industry a disturbance in the critically important selling season, all incident to the strivings for a Blue Eagle Code.

Having given their time and effort to this cause, the executives of the industry, and the whole industry in truth, have now for weeks been waiting through endless inter- and intra-departmental twiddlings in Washington for the final issuance of the code so that business under it may be transacted, or attempted.

Twice President Roosevelt has spoken what seemed to be his mind at the time, once to Mr. Sol A. Rosenblatt, deputy administrator, once in a press conference on that salary matter. Several times Mr. Rosenblatt has spoken his mind on this and that. And when at last the bedeviled document reached the office of General Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, it went over to the desk of Colonel W. R. Lea, for this and that or maybe what. Then the General, his heels all a-heated with Farleyitis, the itch for travel, went off speech-making while the Colonel did some more talking and some denying about the code.

The motion picture industry, in the midst of its annual selling season, might the meanwhile sit whittling a stick.

Now it seems that President Roosevelt has decided upon a trip to Warm Springs about the third week of this month and, according to a week-old and undenied report, has invited one Mr. Eddie Cantor, a Broadway comedian of stage and radio and sometimes the screen, to meet him there on November 21 and discuss the actors' side of the proposed and yet unsigned code.

It has been said that "there are sixty thousand people who have tried to see the President about a code," and that he has seen none.

Perhaps Mr. Cantor has been highly honored—but we are not so sure the motion picture shares.

If it so chances that the President of the United States has decided to have a hand in code making, or even code listening, there are a number of persons who might go to Warm Springs and do some talking even more representative of the industry than this merry, whimsical song-and-dance man. Possibly the President has heard this by now.

Just offhand one would expect that remarks from such a person as Mr. Adolph Zukor, or Mr. Nicholas Schenck, both of whom have been in the industry quite a while, or from Mr. Sidney Kent or, if the actor must be heard, such a keen and picture minded person as Miss Mary Pickford would prove informative to the President. There's, for instance, the very socially conscious and concerned Mr. Charles Chaplin who pertains also strictly to the motion picture. The names of half a hundred well informed and competent motion picture persons crowd the mind.

But maybe Mr. Cantor will be funnier.

Also, he might even change his plans, or have them changed.

△ △ △

WHOSE LEISURE IS IT?

MR. EDWIN R. SELIGMAN, a professor emeritus of economics at Columbia University, views the current scene in the United States with great equanimity and calls this an era of "socialized individualism." You will be remembering, of course, that that other great economist, from West Point, General Hugh Johnson, has declared for a completely planned economy on the ground that this country is so filled up that no one can run his own business and that all life must be regimented, there being no frontiers to which the pioneer spirited individual can take refuge and seek opportunity. "Socialized individualism" has, it seems to us, all the allure of near-beer or a mince pie made on the W.C.T.U. formula. Also, in our opinion, there are surely some intellectual frontiers left, anyway.

Meanwhile the professional "regimenters," the busy thinkers-for-the-other-fellow, the Let-Me-Fix-Its of the nation, are having a lovely time, playing with their blue eagle feathers.

At the end of this week the National Recovery Administration's New York committee is setting out to hold a series of public hearings on the subject of what is to be done about the leisure time expected to accrue to millions of workers under the NRA and "recovery." The speakers are to include Mr. Newton D. Baker, once secretary of war, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, the vociferating president of Columbia University, and Mr. Matthew Woll of the American Federation of Labor.

It will not be leisure if the NRA is going to regiment that, too.

If the NRA wants a real list of speakers on the subject of American leisure and what to do about it, we put in nomination: Mr. Will Rogers, Mr. George Herman Ruth, Mr. Henry Ford—and, maybe, Miss Mae West.

△ △ △

THE calm and reservedly cool Mr. Ernest A. Rovelstad, who editorially puts Motion Picture Herald to press every Wednesday night, looked up from a stack of proofs and manuscripts the other day and remarked with his customary conservatism that it seemed "just possible that Russia is going to recognize the United States."

MOTION PICTURE HERALD MARTIN QUIGLEY, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher

Incorporating Exhibitor's Herald, founded 1915; Motion Picture News, founded 1913; Moving Picture World, founded 1907; Motography, founded 1909; The Film Index, founded 1906. Published every Thursday by Quigley Publishing Company, 1790 Broadway, New York City. Telephone CIrcle 7-3100. Martin Quigley, Editor-in-Chief and Publisher; Colvin Brown, Vice-President and General Manager; Terry Ramsaye, Editor; Ernest A. Rovelstad, Managing Editor; Chicago office, 407 South Dearborn street, Edwin S. Clifford, manager; Hollywood Bureau, Pacific States Life Building, Victor M. Shapiro, manager; London office, 41 Redhill Drive, Edgware, London, England, W. H. Mooring, representative; Berlin office, Berlin-Tempelhof, Kaiserin-Augustastrasse 28, J. K. Rutenberg, representative; Paris Office, 19. Rue de la Cour-des-Noues, Paris 20e, France, Pierre Autré, representative; Rome office, Viale Gorizia, Rome, Italy, Vittorio Malpassvti, representative; Sydney office, 102 Sussex street, Sydney, Australia, Cliff Holt, representative; Mexico City office, James Lockhart, Apartado 269, Mexico City, Mexico. Member Audit Bureau of Circulations. All contents copyright 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company. Address all correspondence to the New York Office. Better Theatres, devoted to the construction, equipment and operation of theatres, is published every fourth week as section 2 of Motion Picture Herald. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac, published annually, and the Chicagoan.

THIS WEEK - - - -

COLUMBUS CALAMITY

"Ironic illustration of the power of taxation to destroy" was last week pointed out editorially by Cincinnati's "Times-Star," citing the legitimate theatre's studied avoidance of Ohio as a waystation on the "road." The reason: Ohio's 10 per cent admission tax plus the U. S. 10 per cent. State's film houses have avoided federal tax by admission reductions, but Ohio's two lonely legitimates bear both on their already deeply bowed shoulders. Says the "Times-Star": "We have come to a point . . . where any new tax is likely to do serious harm. The plight of the theatre in Ohio is a horrible example." Other "horrible" examples splash redly the amusement horizon. . . .

BINGO, KENO

To long suffering, hapless Ohio exhibitors, particularly Columbus situations, has come a new visitation, a stabbing competition against which their frantic retaliatory jabs have so far proven fruitless. Hall, club, ballroom, church auditorium is the scene of activity: a game of chance, called variously keno, bingo, lotto, jo-lo, at 28 to 44 cent admission, drew one week 30,000 in Columbus alone. Almost cut are neighborhood theatre throats. To pleading exhibitors city officials answer the games are popular, the prizes aid needy with household valuables. Believed operating the games is a former film sales executive. Hope there is that a Columbus gambling ordinance may yet be sucessfully invoked, but meanwhile box offices lapse, exhibitors fret. . . .

ACHIEVEMENT

Opened last weekend with considerable fanfare and innumerable trumpets were National Broadcasting's much heralded new studios in Rockefeller Center and Radio City. In the huge largest auditorium of the 27 sat 1,200 distinguished guests, while in a burst of vocalization, orchestration and oration was carried on the dedication. From London RCA's (NBC parent) president David Sarnoff tapped code signals, switched on floodlights, and a special broadcast was shortwaved to Admiral Byrd, en route southward. Millions listened, but that many marveled is a question, for such is man's inadequate appreciation of science's achievement. . . .

LATIN TEMPER

No lie is the oft-repeated tradition of Latin short, hot temperament, according to testimony last week of Guy Morgan, United Artists representative in Buenos Aires, conferee in New York. Disliking a feature, the disgruntled patron makes no plea for returned admission, but whips out a long bladed knife, takes it out on inoffensive seat upholstery, lifts handy portable objects, tosses them into fixtures, with a distinct preference for mirrors. Obvious, therefore, is the exhibitor necessity of presenting good films, in turn largely dependent on the quality of the superimposed subtitle dialogue translations. Dubbed versions are needed, avers Mr. Morgan, to counteract weakened patronage. Equipment firms should find a ready market. . . .

VIGILANTE

Not enough is moral support, more important is financial support of local exhibitor organizations if motion picture theatres are to be guarded against unfair special taxation, last week in St. Louis warned, pleaded Film Board president, MPPDA counsel Charles C. Pettijohn, eternal vigilante where taxation, legislation affecting film theatres is concerned. Warned he, at a hastily gathered luncheon party, as he passed through St. Louis: in the long run the individual exhibitor will pay more in taxation than his nominal dues as exhibitor organization member, the organization being his ever-alert safeguard against burdensome encroachments into the slim black column of his ledger. . . .

In This Issue

Roosevelt is now working on motion picture industry code; Eddie Cantor, representing creative talent, will confer with President at Warm Springs; Wage classifying brings new delay; Dozen Warner executives leave Academy — Page 9

Allied States charges "propaganda mill" is seeking to discredit organization for withholding approval of code; Iowa-Nebraska unit endorses third draft and is dropped; Kuykendall answers Allied — Page 11

High prices and scarce credit called real obstacles to reopening Russian market — Page 13

365 motion pictures selected by National Board of Review for Junior Matinees, book tieups, artistry, and outstanding foreign product — Page 46

FEATURES

Editorial — Page 7
The Camera Reports — Page 39
J. C. Jenkins—His Colyum — Page 54
October Box Office Champions — Page 44

DEPARTMENTS

What the Picture Did for Me — Page 55
Showmen's Reviews — Page 36
Managers' Round Table — Page 61
Technological — Page 50
Short Feature News — Page 43
Chicago — Page 43
The Release Chart — Page 69
Box Office Receipts — Page 51
Classified Advertising — Page 74

SNAGGED MACHINERY

Into the machinery of an attempted code of ethics, elimination of cut prices, visioned by Loew's and Kansas City independent exhibitors, has been indelicately heaved the proverbial monkey wrench by several key showmen, loath to drop "successful" trade practices. For Loew's Colonel E. A. Schiller had agreed to boosting the Midland's scale, if independents would discard "price evasions." Now Loew's is withholding sanction of a price raise, while Jay Means, independent president, still hopes to pull recalcitrant die-hards into line. Important to a solution will be the industry code in dulling the edge of Kansas City "chiseling." . . .

EXAGGERATED

Greatly exaggerated is the "harmful influence" of the motion picture on the young mind, last week opinionated lately consecrated Bishop Charles H. LeBlond of St. Joseph, Mo. From within the Catholic Church comes this latest champion of the film, long a welfare worker in Cleveland, of national repute. Aimed at the screen's critics, challenged he: there is "nothing more educational for young and old. . . . Of course there is good and bad in everything. . . . On the whole I find them entertaining and wholesome. I always sent my boys in Cleveland." . . .

PRESS FREEDOM

Up in arms has risen Hollywood's innumerable coterie of film fan magazine writers, entering vigorous protest against major studio interference in star interviews, meat, drink, spice to the writers, their audience. The edict: interview yarns must be approved by the studio before publication. Last week to Paramount militantly marched 25 in full feminine contingent anent restriction on the "swell copy" which is Mae West. To MGM, anent the Garbo, they also advanced. Freedom of the press, even as have daily paper newsmen, is their battle cry. Hearty disciples of the great god Publicity, studios yet prefer an occasional soft-pedaling prerogative. . . .

LEGAL STATURE

Bitterly resentful was Adrian D. Rosen, attorney and leader in establishment of a Detroit exhibitor organization, when an Allied States bulletin referred to him as "one small Detroit attorney." Under Michigan libel laws Attorney Rosen last week demanded unqualified retraction from Allied, its business manager, H. M. Richey. Before Allied directors Mr. Rosen appeared, demanded removal of Mr. Richey, all directors also serving on the board of Mid-States, Allied affiliate. Hardly "small" is the issue Mr. Rosen is making of reflection on his legal, not physical, stature. . .

ROOSEVELT NOW WORKING ON CODE—AND HAS BEEN FOR LAST TWO WEEKS

[Washington Bureau of Motion Picture Herald]

Sources held to be authoritative on Wednesday afternoon confirmed in Washington the Motion Picture Herald's anticipation of some two weeks ago that the motion picture's NRA code was going immediately to President Roosevelt.

It is believed in Washington, despite the fact that the code is still officially in the office of the National Recovery Administration, that a copy of it has been in the hands of and under the consideration of the President for approximately two weeks.

This squares and aligns with the curious tidings that Eddie Cantor, comedian, has been invited to talk about the actors' side of the code with the President on November 21, in the course of his recuperative vacation at Warm Springs. In the light of these phases of the matter it is assumed here that nothing further will be done in the office of the NRA with reference to the motion picture code until President Roosevelt has made manifest his own findings and observations.

It is to be recalled that the date of two weeks past would put the President's receipt of the code right in the midst of the breaking of the storm of criticism of the NRA program by the press and various spokesmen for finance and industry. It may be deduced, by those so inclined, that perhaps the President became thereupon suddenly conscious of the fact that in its dealings with the motion picture the NRA was achieving its most intimate, not to say delicate, contact with the great masses of America, and further that the motion picture presented more complex elements of issue and controversy than any other before the administration. The trained political executive, it is pointed out, would be more than likely to consider that matters had arrived at an excellent point at which to proceed to make haste slowly.

Meanwhile, so long as the code remains, officially, in the office of General Hugh Johnson, head of the National Recovery Administration, whether it is on the desk of the General or of Colonel W. R. Lea, or elsewhere, it remains, in terms of official publicity, still incomplete and in process. This method of handling would obviously permit the White House to modify, trim and reshape aspects of the document in tune with what may be heard by ears to the grass roots on Broadway, in Hollywood and out in the provinces. It may readily be the view in some official quarters that the NRA is more considerably faced with a public judgment by what it does in the world of the amusement of the millions than in matters perhaps more important but less conspicuously on printed page and screen.

ROOSEVELT ACTION AT WARM SPRINGS SEEN

Codification of the motion picture industry appeared this week to be no closer to realization than a few weeks ago when the NRA document was supposedly completed by Solomon Rosenblatt. The latest regular weekly prediction from Washington of the date when the Presidential signature will make the code law indicated that this long awaited occasion will quite likely take place at Warm Springs, Ga., where Mr. Roosevelt will go on Friday, not to return to the White House until after Thanksgiving day.

Returning to Washington Tuesday night from his Midwestern trip, Administrator Johnson was confronted with the necessity of making a decision as to application of orders recently issued by the policy board of the NRA that minimum rates for labor by occupations should not be included in codes.

While it was originally believed that the motion picture code was being held up by Colonel W. R. Lea, acting administrator, to whom it was referred before General Johnson left Washington, because of objections expressed against various provisions by independent exhibitors, prominent labor leaders now declare that the schedule of 58 pay rates in the film code is the nucleus of a controversy which only Mr. Johnson can settle.

The order of the policy board, it was charged, was adopted at a meeting which was not attended by either of the two labor representatives. Until the film code reached Colonel Lea, little or no attention appears to have been paid to the order, and there seems to be some doubt as to whether Administrator Johnson ever actually approved it.

Efforts to halt the film code, it is asserted, were made by certain groups in the construction industry, whose code is now pending, who were seeking to obtain a minimum wage of 90 cents an hour for occupations which the film code gives $1.16 2/3, and who feared that approval of the code with this rate included would be seized upon by organized labor as a precedent to be followed in consideration of the construction code.

In view of the fact that the policy board had recommended that not more than four wage classifications be incorporated in any code, Colonel Lea got in touch with General Johnson, laid the situation before him, and was instructed to hold up the code until the administrator returned to Washington.

In the meantime, it has become known that there is no consistent obedience to the rule, some codes recently approved by deputy administrators containing long wage schedules. On the other hand, Division Administrator A. D. Whiteside, presiding over the hearing on the general wholesale code on November 13, met a plea of the traveling salesmen for a guaranteed minimum wage with the announcement that the administration had adopted a policy of not writing occupational minima into the code and that the best the salesmen would get if they were written into the code would be the minimum for unskilled labor.

Leveling several blasts against the code during the past week, Allied States charged the operation of a mammoth "propaganda mill" to spread the belief that the code was all "set" and would not be changed, predicting that important changes would be made in the instrument before it went to the President. The Allied situation is discussed on page 11.

Imposition of the first penalty for violation of an amusement code was ordered by

CODE POT BOILS EAST AND WEST

Deputy Rosenblatt, suspending the license of the Broadway Theatre Ticket Company, New York, for one week for violation of the legitimate theatre code by selling for $30 a pair of tickets to the Music Box, a New York theatre, when the box-office price plus the agency fee should have been but $10.45. As it happened, the sale was made to a Department of Justice man who was taking a night off but was not so far removed from his work that he failed to complain.

The hearing before Mr. Rosenblatt on the burlesque code developed that this form of amusement is staging a comeback and that producers are having difficulty in recruiting their choruses, the girls apparently having all migrated to Hollywood, since one producer said he had to send to the Pacific Coast for "hoofers."

Equipment in Wholesale Code

The theatre equipment industry will be included with other trades under the general wholesale code on which hearings were held November 13. A separate code was filed for this industry originally, but was thrown out during a hearing on the ground that the proponents were not truly representative of the trade. Later, with some 20-odd other trades of similar nature, it was included in the general wholesale code.

Charges that studios in California are forcing sound men to join unions not of their own choice, presumably the electrical workers' union since the complaint was filed by the IATSE, will be adjudicated by local labor boards in Los Angeles or San Francisco, under instructions from Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board.

Vigorously asserting that "the President has been misinformed on the problems of the entire motion picture industry," Eddie Cantor, stage, screen and radio comedian, now president of the Screen Actors' Guild, launched into a tirade Monday in New York against any possible star salary fixing under the film code and announced he will go to Warm Springs, Georgia, on November 21, to confer with Mr. Roosevelt on the problems of the actor in connection with the code.

Mr. Cantor had arrived in New York only a few hours before he extended invitations to the press to discuss the situation.

Protests Bridge Matching Clause

Mr. Cantor's chief objection to the code as it now stands is the clause which permits the employing producer to match bids for the services of an actor six months before and after the expiration of his contract, claiming that this period is liable "to kill off an actor, and it isn't fair to the performer."

The comedian was forceful in his charge that the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences had been allowed no voice in the code deliberations in Washington, and said that the reason the Screen Guild had been formed was to enable the actors to have their say on matters pertaining directly to them. In the beginning, between 30 and 40 actors banded together for the purpose of "attempting to correct the many abuses in the industry." This number has grown constantly and the Screen Guild's membership is now estimated at 1,300 players.

"One Big Trust"

He declared that major producers were "one big trust," in which stockholders had no voice, while they were "being used as a smoke screen for the millions lost by the companies."

In respect to the limitation of star salaries, Mr. Cantor pointed out that the player receiving $5,000 a week may be underpaid, while the actor with a salary of $50 may be overpaid. "No one tells a company to pay Marie Dressler $4,000 a week. The producers can get someone else at $200 a week, but it will not be Miss Dressler," he said. "Also there is only one family of Marx brothers and they are entitled to what they get. Fritz Kreisler is so successful because there are so many Rubinoffs, and that illustrates the point."

Mr. Cantor said that the professional "life" of the average motion picture actor is between four and five years and that continued conversation about such salaries as $4,000 or $5,000 weekly, which last only for a fraction of the year, tend to mislead the public.

He emphasized that any attempt to limit or equalize salaries of players, regardless of earning power, would be unjust, and added that necessary economies could be brought about by cutting useless relatives and highly paid "figureheads" from the executive and supervisory staffs of motion picture studios.

Expressing the belief that President Roosevelt had been misinformed regarding the situation in Hollywood, Mr. Cantor said that he would bring to his attention the "unique personality and money-making power" of certain players who, being irreplaceable, are "worth what they can bring into the box office."

The short professional life of many stars Mr. Cantor ascribed to the producers themselves, who, he said, are often inclined to overexploit a player with too many pictures.

"Everybody seems to have the wrong idea about the question of salaries," the comedian said. "They see only the $10,000 a week multiplied by 52 weeks in a year. They don't consider that an actor works perhaps only 25 weeks, pays large taxes to the government and has innumerable other expenses. They don't realize that if he's lucky, his professional career may last only four or five years."

A great improvement in the entire situation could be effected if 50 per cent of the theatres now operating were to be closed, Mr. Cantor said, asserting that the country is grossly overseated. If the number of houses were reduced by half, better and fewer pictures would follow, he said.

Mr. Cantor declared no outside help for the Screen Actors' Guild is necessary at this time, saying that the organization has no intention of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor or the Actors Equity Association. He denied that Lester Cowan, who resigned last week from the Academy's executive secretary post, would join the actors' association.

Extra players now are being admitted to the Guild's ranks at fees of $2 a year, although they cost the Guild from $4 to $5 a year to maintain as members, he said.

It is understood that Article 5 of the motion picture code will be the subject of Mr. Cantor's conversations with President Roosevelt in Georgia. If this is so, provided the actor's representations in the matter meet with Presidential approval, this clause automatically will end the secret negotiations for star services as forbidden by the Article.

Warners Quit Academy

Further indications of disintegration of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, which began some weeks ago when the Screen Actors' Guild took into its fold hundreds of new members, including dozens who bolted the Academy ranks, were seen this week in the resignation of Harry and Jack Warner, and all Warner studio executives.

The Warner resignations actually had been handed in on October 23, according to Howard Green, vice-president of the Academy, who, it is understood, attributed the reason for their action to the Academy's opposition to the Warner stand on salary restorations following the bank closings last March.

At that time the organization attempted to bring studio activities back to normalcy and in order to do this formed an emergency committee. Both Harry and Jack Warner disagred with the Academy on the question of restoring salary scales reduced during the banking emergency, in spite of the fact that virtually every other studio in Hollywood had accepted the committee's decision.

Another factor cited is that at the code hearing the Academy forces, headed by Lester Cowan, who also resigned from the Academy last week, clashed with Harry Warner over the salary control clause.

Other Warner executives who tendered their resignations were Hal Wallis, Lloyd Bacon, William Koenig and Sam Schneider. Mr. Schneider is financial advisor to Harry Warner.

Levinson Agrees With Cowan

On the heels of the Cowan resignation last week, Major Nathan Levinson, executive chairman of the technicians' branch, submitted his resignation. Major Levinson said the reason for his action was because he was in complete agreement with Mr. Cowan's ideas on the Academy.

"After several years' groping," he said, "I definitely believe there is no room for technicians in the Academy, and I not only resign as an official of that organization but as a member as well."

Major Levinson denied, however, that film technicians intended forming their own guild. He indicated that a research bureau probably will be set up to carry on the same work accomplished by the Academy.

B. B. Kahane, president of RKO Radio Pictures, said he could not see why so much importance had been attached to the Cowan-Levinson move, and Waldemar Young, writer, declared the Academy "could carry on without politics and soreheads."

The Academy has cut its office staff to three, having dropped 10 persons after the Cowan resignation. Don Gledhill has been named to the post vacated by Cowan, and the Academy has decided to start a vigorous membership drive. The total membership is now 870, and out of the 205 actor members, 73 have resigned, it was said.

Hugh Trevor, Actor, Dead

Hugh Trevor, screen actor, died suddenly last week at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, Hollywood, following a relapse after an appendix operation. He was 30 years old.

"PROPAGANDA MILL" CHARGED BY MYERS, AND THE SHOOTING BEGINS

Allied Generalissimo Rakes MPTOA With Verbal Shells and Kuykendall Returns Fire With All Batteries Smoking

[Other code developments of the week appear on pages 9 and 10]

The generals of Allied's forces headquartered at Washington were "digging in" early this week for a brand new war, declared by chief-general Abram Fern Myers, amid a series of vociferous outbursts from various fronts, against an alleged "vicious propaganda mill," which is charged with circulating stories along the highways and byways about a revolution in the Allied States ranks and the reputed reconciliation of some state leaders to the industry's NRA code, a document which in its present form is outlawed by national Allied policy.

The first few shells scarcely had left the guns when Allied extended the battle lines to engage the competitive MPTOA, both national and state, in some verbal crossfire over code adoption by exhibitors. A few "pot shots" were taken again by Allied against Solomon Rosenblatt, NRA deputy.

The only casualty appeared to be Lester Martin's Allied unit of Iowa-Nebraska, which deliberately bolted the ranks and voted code approval. This organization was stricken from the Allied roster, but its executives wired Mr. Myers that "that's fine," or something.

Kuykendall Returns Fire

Mentioning Ed Kuykendall, MPTOA president, in particular, and all exhibitor leaders approving the code, in general, Allied's national headquarters charged that such approvals were merely for the purpose of placing obstacles in the way of those seeking terms in the code more favorable to the exhibitors. Mr. Kuykendall, however, did not take it sitting down. He retaliated quickly and said that the Allied outbursts were the crystallization of "pent-up anger on the part of those mis-leaders who have no actual investment in the industry."

One of the really serious charges coming from Allied was that in quarters supposedly "antagonistic" to the independent exhibitors, "trafficking in appointments" to the local boards provided for in the code "has already begun."

Allied offered the suggestions, as this issue was going to press, that "a really big man, with the prestige of a national figure," take hold of the many loose ends of the code, discuss the situation, and write a new one.

Allied's current outburst started on November 9, when from Lester Martin's Allied States Association of Iowa and Nebraska, there came the following statement:

> "We, the independent exhibitors assembled in mass meeting (November 6 and 7, at Des Moines), in view of economic conditions, feel it is our duty to accept the motion picture code in order to work in harmony with the Administration, definitely voicing our objection against protection between towns and block booking.
>
> "Matters pertaining to the code and the Allied objections as they have been prepared were gone over very carefully.
>
> "Through proper channels, the organization has notified Sol A. Rosenblatt of our approval of the code and our willingness to sign for all independent exhibitors in this territory."

The next day, Abram F. Myers, chairman of the national Allied, issued from Washington the following self-explanatory telegram which he had sent to Lester Martin:

Action Disloyal: Myers

> "In pursuance of motion made at Allied board meeting in Chicago, October 24th, that Allied franchise in your territory be cancelled and that you be dismissed from board for failure to keep many promises of support, a written vote was taken and the vote was unanimously in favor of the motion. Final action was withheld because of the critical code situation involving the interests of independent theatre owners. Your action in calling together a small group in Des Moines to approve Rosenblatt's code while the national committee (of Allied) is striving for changes in the interest of our members and before same has even been finally approved by the NRA, was disloyal, not only to the national (Allied) association, but also to independent exhibitors generally.
>
> "The explanation made to the (Iowa-Nebraska) meeting that action at that time was necessary to insure representation on local boards (under the code) raises the question as to your authority for making such a statement, inasmuch as the exercise of the appointing power to coerce exhibitors is a most serious reflection on the NRA. You will cease using the name Allied and inform your members you have no further connection with the association."

Report Stand Weakening

At this point there appeared published reports, some of which also were heard along Broadway, that Allied's vigorous stand against the code was weakening with the reported reconciliation of certain Allied state leaders to the adoption of the code. It was said that Nathan Yamins, head of Allied in New England, and a member of the national directorate, had wired his approval, or the approval of his organization, to Mr. Rosenblatt at Washington.

Also, there were reports that Herman Blum, national Allied treasurer, and executive of the Maryland association, had signed the code. The reports had it that a revolution in the ranks had been started, but these stories were quickly killed on November 11, when from Allied's national headquarters at Washington, there came this:

> "Allied's eleventh hour fight to get a fair code for the independent exhibitors has brought into full operation the propaganda mills controlled by antagonistic interests.
>
> "The latest is to the effect that Nathan Yamins, of Massachusetts, has 'approved the code.' Mr. Yamins is, of course, too able and experienced a leader to commit himself in reference to a document that is still in the formative stage.
>
> "The following wire (to Abram Myers) from Yamins makes this clear:
>
> "'My attention has just been called to an article appearing in one of the trade papers to the effect that I had wired the Administration my approval of the code. This is absolutely false. I have taken no action in the way of approval or disapproval and fail to see how I can intelligently take any action until the code in its final form has been presented to me for consideration and action. You may assure Allied leaders of my continued loyalty to Allied and to the cause of the independent exhibitor.'
>
> "It would seem that this rumor should have been verified before printing it under a caption that proclaimed a division of the Allied ranks.
>
> "Allied is investigating the source of suggestions made to certain leaders that they must approve a formless and unofficial document in order to secure representation on local grievance and zoning boards."

Allied Headquarters Courtmartials Iowa-Nebraska Volunteers But Unit Carries On; Sees 'Trafficking' in Board Posts

"Pack of Lies," Wires Blum

Further confirming Mr. Yamins' statement that Allied leaders were not breaking away from the code stand of the parent organization, was a telegraphic reply to an inquiry sent to Herman Blum, at Baltimore, on November 11:

> "Information about me accepting the code comes from the same vicious propaganda mill which credited my friend, Nathan Yamins, with the same treachery. It is all a pack of lies."

Using such highly-colorful terms as "yellow-bellies" and "wise guys," the national Allied office at Washington followed through with another blast, likewise dated November 11, and which reads as follows:

"Nothing could more clearly disclose the treachery of certain socalled exhibitor leaders than their actions in the present situation with reference to the code.

"Weaklings Made Apologists"

"When Rosenblatt presented his 'first revision' there was not a leader in the country who did not express a determination to seek changes.

"Then the producers who had been specially favored in the code, and Rosenblatt whose prestige was at stake, began to 'crack down,' and the weaklings changed overnight from fighters to apologists.

"Two men who have been most active in opposing further efforts to secure modification of the proposed code in favor of the exhibitor had been offered places on the Code Authority by Rosenblatt.

"Other leaders received mysterious intimations that unless they got into line their organizations would not be represented on the various local boards provided in the draft.

"Propaganda was spread that the code was 'set'; that it had gone to the White House; that the President's pen was poised over it; that further opposition was useless.

"Disregarding the counsel of the yellow-bellies and the wise guys, Allied leaders have continued the battle for a fair code right down to the present time.

"Not only this, but the greatest propaganda mill ever erected in the business is grinding out reports and rumors at a rate that makes one's head swim. Small exhibitor units that have been inactive for years, mere 'letterhead' organizations, with only affiliated chain theatres for dues-paying members, scheduling meetings to approve the Rosenblatt draft.

THERE'S NO QUIET ON EITHER FRONT

"What possible object can Mr. Kuykendall and his cohorts have in securing these senseless 'approvals' of the Rosenblatt code, except to place obstacles in the way of those seeking terms more favorable to the exhibitors.

"The stupidity of the campaign resides in the fact that the connections and relations between the exhibitor leaders who are opposing modifications of the code, and the beneficiaries under the code are well known to all persons dealing with the code.

"Moreover, the Allied effort is founded on the merits of their case and the beating of a thousand tom-toms before the NRA and the filling of the columns of the trade papers with rumors similar to that regarding Nate Yamins which was scotched yesterday, will be without avail.

"When it is all over, the board of managers of the movement initiated at Chicago on October 24th will furnish every exhibitor in the country with an account of the performances of every socalled leader involved."

Asinine Charges, Says Kuykendall

As was expected, the MPTOA was drawn into the fracas, and on Wednesday, Mr. Ed Kuykendall, president of that exhibitor organization, came forth with the following statement, in which he brands Allied's current outbreaks as "senseless" and "asinine":

"In a socalled formal statement dated Washington and headed 'Propaganda Mill,' purporting to come from Allied States Association, an attack is made on Mr. Rosenblatt, the administrator of the NRA, and Ed Kuykendall is personally mentioned as placing obstacles in the way of exhibitors getting any further concessions and where they refer to the treachery of certain socalled exhibitor leaders. Also condemning any effort on the part of any person or organization to get the code matter settled. I am just a little bit surprised at this outburst of pent-up anger on the part of those misleaders who have no actual investment in this industry—and no interest other than an intense desire to capitalize for their own personal interest. I cannot believe the procedure of these three or four self-styled leaders really represents the sentiment of any appreciable number of the membership of Allied States—because there are many fine fellows who belong to it that are not given to such rash ridiculous statements. So I must believe that all these senseless, asinine outbreaks of speech are not concurred in by the membership as a whole and really come from the same men who have become notorious for their capacity to make mis-statements of fact and want the old ballyhoo of obstructionism to keep them before the Exhibitors of this Country.

"The MPTOA is now accused, in Abe Myers' latest outburst, of supporting the President's recovery program and of offering our cooperation in the big job ahead of self-government in the motion picture industry under the NRA code. This, he thinks, is treason and treachery. If this be treason then make the most of it.

"Everyone knows that the MPTOA members individually signed the President's re-employment agreement, pledged their cooperation in developing an industry code, and will not welch on that agreement.

Charges Campaign of Obstruction

"Allied, originally organized for the sole purpose of opposing the MPTOA, advised its members to oppose the recovery program in the beginning, to refuse to submit to any codes or re-employment agreements. Their campaign of obstruction and non-cooperation is at least logical and understandable. Lawyers must live. Fortunately we have no lawyers interested in getting a fee to carry on a 'fight' indefinitely, nor professional organizers who need 'controversies' to help them get money from some exhibitors who probably will always be suckers for that sort of thing. We have no quarrel with Mr. Myers and his organizers, fully sympathize with his position and think his personal attacks are quite unjustified. We cannot agree that the measure of an exhibitor's independence is solely based on how much he hates the other parts of the industry.

"His quarrel is really with the National Recovery Administration, who operate the 'propaganda mill' to secure the cooperation of all industries with the President's recovery program and the NRA codes. Apparently, desertions in his own ranks, and the complete failure of Allied efforts to entice away our members, have blinded Mr. Myers with rage over the success achieved by the MPTOA in securing code provisions long advocated for the benefit of the small independent exhibitor. If Allied had produced a definite, organized program in advance, instead of trying to block the whole NRA program, perhaps their blunders would not have been so obvious to their own membership.

"If anything unfair is in the code it will be corrected—our Government guarantees that."

Iowa-Nebraska Continues

Word came from Iowa Tuesday that Lester Martin's Allied unit of Iowa-Nebraska had decided to go it alone, continuing under its present name.

C. F. Niles, president of the Iowa-Nebraska group, made it clear that the organization will defend Lester Martin, its manager, who had tendered his resignation.

Mr. Niles informed Abram Myers that "we think your criticism and action (against Martin) very unjust."

Ed Kuykendall, upon arriving in New York late last week, from Washington, gave as his opinion the belief that the code in its present form is not entirely pleasing to him, but that it is a "flexible" agreement which can be corrected if inequities develop.

Ratified by Four MPTO Units

Mr. Kuykendall said that he will attend 12 state MPTO meetings within a few weeks, at which action will be taken on the code. Four such regional groups already have ratified the document. Meetings slated within the next few weeks include the MPTO of Wisconsin, November 21 and 22, at Milwaukee; MPTO of Ohio, December 5 an 6, at Columbus; MPTO of North and South Carolina, December 10 and 11, at Charlotte. Texas and Oklahoma will follow, but neither has set a date.

MPTO state organizations which already have approved the code include the Tri-state unit of Mississippi, Tennessee and Arkansas; Southeastern Theatre Owners Association; Exhibitors' Association of Chicago; MPTO of Iowa and Nebraska.

From Sidney Samuelson, president of Allied in New Jersey, Abram Myers received at Washington on Wednesday a recommendation of the Jersey organization that an Allied committee be appointed immediately to formulate plans to produce and distribute motion pictures. The reason, according to Mr. Samuelson's group, is that conditions in the industry affecting the independent exhibitor demand a new source of product.

The climax to Allied's current outbursts came Wednesday morning, when "The Beginning of A Scandal" came from the national organization's mimeograph machine, as follows:

"That the Allied leaders correctly foresaw the purpose and intent behind the peculiar provisions for organizing the various industry boards outlined in the Rosenblatt Code is borne out by the fact that in quarters antagonistic to the independent exhibitors trafficking in appointments to such boards already has begun.

"In one Allied district the branch manager of the principal theatre-owning producer, claiming to act under instructions from his home office, is consulting exhibitors not members of the Allied unit concerning membership on the boards in that district. The head of the exhibitor association in question reports as follows:

> "'The local exchanges have boasted of this fact for the past several weeks . . . stating that under the Code they would have the authority to name all members of the Board, without consideration of our organization.'

"Information has reached Allied headquarters of 'unofficial' offers of appointment to the boards having been made by groups affiliated or cooperating closely with the producers. Since the Code itself provides that such appointments shall be made by the Code Authority, and since the Code has not been approved and is believed to be in a formative stage, any trafficking in appointments in the quarters mentioned not only is corrupt but wholly unauthorized."

Suggests New Start

This statement was followed by another from Allied, in which it is suggested that the industry start codifying all over again. It reads:

"A really big man, with the prestige of a national figure, could take the representatives of the various factions into a room and in a short time find out how far they can agree on a code.

"Such national figure could then prepare a code with a fair provision as regards labor (which provision would be in keeping with established policies of NRA and would not contain experimental innovations) together with such other provisions as the various factions could agree to. That would be the code.

"A committee could then be created (executive, administrative, or congressional) to inquire into and report on the many issues as to which the parties are unable to agree."

Sidney Samuelson on Wednesday invited Mr. Kuykendall to meet with New Jersey Allied at the MPTOA president's convenience in an effort to "clear the atmosphere once and for all" on the code.

HIGH PRICES AND SCARCE CREDIT HELD OBSTACLE TO SOVIET MARKET

Acting President of Amkino Denies "Capitalist" Point of View in American Films Bars Them from Russian Field

"If the only 'fault' of American pictures were the 'capitalist' point of view, your American films would be allowed in greater numbers in the U. S. S. R."—H. M. IDASHKIN, President of Amkino.

With resumption of normal trade relations with Soviet Russia and official recognition of the USSR about to become a fact, distributors of American-made motion pictures overseas may look forward to considerably simplified negotiations. Although the extent to which American distributors can depend upon a widening of the Russian market is still a matter for speculation, it is believed that many difficulties can be ironed out, particularly if Maxim Litvinov, Soviet commissar for Foreign Affairs, now in this country, and President Roosevent are able to effect reciprocal trade arrangements.

H. M. Idashkin, acting president of Amkino, official Soviet film distributor in this country, believes that while American exporters may not experience any appreciable increase in their Soviet sales immediately, eventually there will be an improvement.

No Trade Restrictions

In spite of non-recognition there have been virtually no restrictions on trade for a number of years, M. Idashkin pointed out; private American enterprises have done much to improve industrial conditions in Russia, and the Soviet always has welcomed them."

The chief difficulties, not so complicated as most persons imagine, the Amkino official said, are twofold: the allegedly exorbitant prices asked for prints by American distributors, and the inability of either party to arrange terms of credit.

Contrary to the oft-expressed opinion that Soviet objection to American films because of their depictions of "capitalist life in America" was having the effect of a virtual ban on this country's product, M. Idashkin said:

"If the only 'fault' of American motion pictures were the 'capitalist' point of view, your films would be allowed in the Soviet practically without restraint."

Object to Derision

He explained that while the Russian outlook on certain sociological aspects may be totally different, the government is always willing and eager to know about the other fellow's point of view.

"The only thing we do object to as depicted in foreign films," said M. Idashkin, "is anything which tends to deride the actual political regime now extant in the USSR. These have been very few, and the fact remains that the chief obstruction in the way of American film exports has been in the high prices asked and the apparent inability to arrange credit terms."

From the standpoint of Russia, aside from increased prestige, recognition by the United States is described as offering opportunity to obtain credits here with which to finance its purchases of American products. This probably will apply to motion pictures as well.

The policy of the Russian government has been to buy in countries which extended credit, so far as possible, but, M. Idashkin declared, in American film deals cash in advance has been the watchword. Soviet distributors have been unable to meet this demand and thus many potential deals have fallen.

In Washington it is considered extremely doubtful that resumption of normal trade relations with Russia will open up any appreciable market for American films, but it is pointed out that Washington and the rest of the country still believe that only such films as depict the "victory of the worker and the glories of communism" are acceptable in Russia and that luxurious settings will be frowned upon by USSR officials.

Propaganda Medium: Laemmle

Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, said recently that he saw little hope for American films in Russia in spite of recognition, and attributes this to the fact that in Russia the screen is used purely as a medium for political propaganda.

The Soviet recently announced that films of a more romantic turn henceforth will be admitted to production and release in that country. The announcement also indicated that this new policy, coupled with American recognition, might easily widen that market for product from the United States.

Mr. Laemmle is not alone, however, in his opinion that recognition will have little or no effect.

Joseph Seidelman, in charge of foreign affairs for Columbia, said Monday that if Russia were to change its point of view in respect to what its people ought to see, there definitely should be a good market.

"They always have permitted comedy pictures, and cartoons and animal films—they seem to like them—but these have been so few and far between that no one has given serious thought as to the potentialities following recognition."

Clayton Sheehan, head of the Fox Film department, indicated that unless there were radical changes in the Soviet film policy American distributors would benefit little through recognition.

Awaits Reciprocal Arrangements

"I think we're going a little too fast," said N. L. Manheim, Universal's foreign sales leader. "So far as I know, we haven't recognized the Soviet as yet. It is entirely possible that some reciprocal arrangements will be made which will be of mutual advantage in all trade matters, including distribution of films."

Norton Ritchey, secretary of Ritchey Export Corporation, distributor of Monogram Pictures abroad, said Monday that he did not believe recognition would result in appreciable benefits to American film companies. "There is a distinct possibility that educational short subjects may be in greater demand than at present," he said.

Thomas P. Mulrooney, of the United Artists' foreign department, said that to date Russia had shown no tendency to buy American films "and I don't suppose they will."

According to M. Idaskin, the Russian people are interested in American films chiefly from the point of view of sound and photographic achievement. The sociological aspects interest them also, but a picture like "King Kong," which was reported to have enjoyed a distinct success in Sovietland, stands out in the minds of the Russian student as a triumph of American film making.

"There certainly was nothing in that film," M. Idashkin said, "which could be construed as an argument either for or against capitalism. We like films of that type. We like comedies. We enjoy especially the cartoon picture and we are interested in typical 'depictions' of American life. Surely that is a sufficiently liberal attitude!"

Difficulties in Past

Sam E. Morris, vice-president of Warner Brothers, and head of that company's foreign department, declared it would be "foolish" to attempt to prophesy what film relations may be accomplished by recognition.

"We have always been willing to do business with the Soviet," Mr. Morris said. "We will still be willing. In the past, conditions in Russia have made it difficult for American distributors to effect film deals, but when recognition finally is accomplished, negotiations should be easier."

Facilities for exhibition in the USSR are adequate with a steady increase in number of theatres and sound installations since 1928, when there were approximately 1,800 commercial theatres, in addition to some 32,000 so-called theatres in villages for workers and soldiers' clubs, besides 17,000 schools with film facilities. The greatest sources of revenue in the film market are said to be the commercial cinemas, although only 17 per cent of the actual theatres, not including the halls and schools, are commercial.

Last year it was estimated that 50,000,000 meters of raw film was produced, with the prospect of 100,000,000 meters by the end of 1933. The important factor, a German trade press report pointed out, is that the Soviet industry still depends on foreign supplies of raw film.

From January 1, 1931, to July 1 of the same year, there were 27,437 full length films used in the USSR, as against 15,876 on Oct. 1, 1928, with 5,460 of these of foreign origin. Investments in the industry in 1932 amounted to 131,211,000 rubles, as against 23,000,000 in 1931. Last year 38,000 cinematographic machines were put into operation.

Appreciable Rise of Film Exports to Russia Doubted Under Proposed Recognition, But Reciprocity Is Awaited

Cullman Denies Change In Roxy Management Set

Howard S. Cullman, receiver and managing director of the Roxy theatre on Seventh avenue, New York, emphatically denied, via a statement this week, that any change in management is contemplated for the house. He calls the reports "unfounded rumors," and in the same category lists the report of the return to the house of S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel.

The statement said in part: "I have been advised that he bondholders' committee has officially informed a group submitting this plan that it was not acceptable. This statement is issued . . . to appraise the public . . . no change whatever is contemplated. . . . The present policy has proven successful during the past year."

NUTS

NUTS!
GROUCHO is HARPO looks
CHICO sells and the three of them drive ZEPPO
NUTS!

A boy and a girl were dancing!

Fore!

to SOUP!

LAUGHING SOUP ... Concocted by the greatest collection of gag men in motion-picture history ... Brewed by the hand of Leo McCarey, who directed "The Kid From Spain." Decorated by any number of maidens out of uniform. And dished up by the FOUR MARXES.

Off to the races!

The old shell game!

THE 4 MARX BROS. in "DUCK SOUP"

a Paramount Picture, directed by Leo McCarey

if it's a PARAMOUNT PICTURE it's the best show in town!

YOUR customers must have their FUN. So here is to Parker & Pendleton, composers of "You're in My Arms, But I'm in the Hands of a Receiver"... You can't go wrong with a Parker song and Pendleton lyrics will give you hysterics.

Jack Oakie and Jack Haley

SIT pretty? Yes, they sit pretty, listen pretty, look even prettier. Two good numbers that bring SEX-APPEAL right into the picture . . . "Number one" red-headed and rythmic . . . "Number two" blonde, blasé, beautiful.

Ginger Rogers and Thelma Todd

"SITTING

ING ling tunes by the boys who wrote "A Tree Was a ree", "Underneath the Harlem Moon", "An Orchid to ou". Heard just enough on the radio by your customers o put them in a mood for "Sitting Pretty" in your seats.

PRETTY, very pretty! These hundred Hollywood honeys, coached by Larry Ceballos to assume graceful and enticing poses. "IT", multiplied by 100, gives you SUPER-"IT", and that's what they give off in this picture.

DID YOU EVER SEE A DREAM WALKING?
MANY MOONS AGO
GOOD MORNING, GLORY
YOU'RE SUCH A COMFORT TO ME
from the Paramount Picture
SITTING PRETTY
JACK OAKIE • JACK HALEY • GINGER ROGERS
a Charles R. Rogers Production

Music by Gordon & Revel

100 Hollywood Honeys

PRETTY"

JACK OAKIE • JACK HALEY • GINGER ROGERS • THELMA TODD
GREGORY RATOFF • LEW CODY and the PICKENS SISTERS
Directed by Harry Joe Brown ~ ~ A Charles R. Rogers Production

A PARAMOUNT PICTURE

HERTZ TESTIFIES TO DISPUTE WITH KATZ

Chicago Financier Tells of Fourteen-Months Career as Paramount Executive and Traces Company's '31-32 Difficulties

Making his first "public" appearance on matters pertaining to the motion picture industry since his resignation as chairman of the Paramount Publix finance committee January 6, John Hertz, Chicago financier whose 14 months career in the post created for him in the now bankrupt organization, a post terminated at his own request, took the floor at a creditors' meeting Friday before Referee Henry K. Davis and for two and one-half hours related his "impressions" of certain financial events said to have led up to the company's failure early this year.

Abnormal business conditions, a decline in the foreign money exchange and failure of banks to extend further credit were factors contributing to the collapse last January of the Paramount Publix corporation, Mr. Hertz testified.

Sponsored by Sam Katz

Mr. Hertz's entrance into the Paramount picture was sponsored by Sam Katz, then chief of the vast home-office-operated Publix theatre circuit, when he invited Mr. Hertz, late in 1931, to participate in the corporation's financial affairs. Mr. Hertz's career in the company came to a sudden end Jan. 6, 1933, shortly after he had asked Mr. Katz to resign because of Mr. Katz's inability to reconcile himself to the company's decentralization program.

Replying "as best he could after so long an absence from motion picture affairs" to the insistent questioning of Samuel Isseks, counsel for the Paramount trustees in bankruptcy, Mr. Hertz revealed that early in 1932 on more than one occasion during negotiations with bankers and Paramount theatre landlords he had made the statement that the company was faced with "complete collapse," or would be, unless aid was forthcoming.

Mr. Hertz also declared that he had wanted to resign prior to January 6, and had had statements to this effect prepared, and that his resignation was in no way due to his fear of impending financial disaster ending in receivership.

Through Mr. Isseks' examination it was revealed further that the Chicago financier was "mainly interested" in obtaining for the company "by a certain time" the new 1932 bank credit, and that he had left details of the transaction, once the credit had been obtained, to others. The "details" involved the establishment of Film Productions Corp. and the assigning to it of title to 13 negatives which were uncompleted at the time, and which were in turn made available to Paramount Publix by the new corporation.

Mr. Hertz continued with the statement that Leo Spitz, executive advisor in management affairs during the Hertz regime, was the originator of the company's decentralization scheme which led to the resignation of Sam Katz.

Formation in Delaware in 1932 of the operating subsidiaries of Paramount Publix, including Paramount Pictures Distributing Corp., Paramount Productions and Paramount International, was an outgrowth of the decentralization plan and was not initiated to place the assets of the company outside the jurisdiction of the U. S. district court in New York in the event of a receivership, Mr. Hertz said.

Despite reports to the contrary, Mr. Hertz testified, he did not enter Paramount because of a "pressing financial situation." In fact, he declared, he had no inkling of the company's real financial situation until February, 1932. At the time of his entrance into the company, Paramount had a bank credit of $17,000,000.

He testified that the company's bank indebtedness at the end of 1931 was $7,500,000, and $9,600,000 at the end of 1932. His initial functions as chairman of the finance committee were in connection with plans for "solidifying the company's bank credits, in order to make them as sound as possible," he said.

"Unsuccessful" on Note Renewal

In February, 1932, while he was in Florida on a vacation, he said, Ralph A. Kohn, Paramount treasurer, telephoned him that the National City Bank of New York had refused to renew a note for $1,000,000 about to come due. Mr. Hertz said he left for New York immediately and tried to negotiate an extension with the bank, "but was unsuccessful."

Following this, Mr. Hertz went to Sir William Wiseman and Otto Kahn at Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Paramount bankers, who promised to "see what could be done in the way of straightening out the matter." Later National City was given a demand note for $1,000,000 in place of the unsecured note.

Thereafter it was decided to create a new financial set-up for the company and Percy Johnston of the Chemical Bank was approached to head the new set-up, on the premise that Paramount would "pull through" with a fair amount of credit in view of contemplated economies totaling $25,000,000. Later Max D. Howell of the Commercial Bank & Trust Co., was consulted regarding organization of a committee to approach banks on a one-year credit proposal, and this later developed into the Film Production transaction by which a $13,375,000 credit was obtained from 12 banks. It was agreed that the transaction would not infringe the company's indentures, but such an alleged infringement served as the basis for a suit that was brought later by A. C. Blumenthal and resulted in a cash settlement for $35,000.

In the spring of 1932, Mr. Hertz said, he and Leo Spitz worked on a large-scale rental reduction plan which "contemplated a complete abatement of rentals by all Paramount landlords for the months of June, July and August of that year."

A reorganization plan for the Paramount Publix bankrupt theatre subsidiary, Publix Enterprises, will be ready for submission to Referee Davis within the next two weeks.

The plan, it is understood, will bring under the administration of the Paramount Publix trustees the largest single block of theatres in the company's exhibition setup and, among other things, will involve a change in the name of the subsidiary and an issue of stock in the new organization to the parent company in consideration of Publix Enterprises' indebtedness.

Famous Theatres Corp., organized in Delaware in August as the basis of a reorganization plan, will buy assets of Publix Enterprises.

Field Representative At Exhibitor Sessions

N. D. Bader, field representative of Quigley Publications, is in the Middlewest for the next thirty days to attend conventions and other gatherings of exhibitors. His first stop was at Columbus, Ohio, for the meeting of the newly formed Independent Theatre Owners of Northern and Southern Ohio, which opened Wednesday.

"Intolerance" In New York Revival

D. W. Griffith's famous spectacle motion picture of 1915, "Intolerance," which raised a storm of controversy and clicked at the nation's box offices in much the same fashion as its producer's earlier "Birth of a Nation," was revived Tuesday night at the 55th Street Playhouse in New York, with Mr. Griffith in attendance.

It is coincidental that on the same night, at the Astor on Broadway, MGM opened its showing of "Eskimo," which was directed by W. S. Van Dyke. In 1915, in his debut in Hollywood motion picture activity, a considerably younger Mr. Van Dyke played a small part in a Mr. Griffith's "Intolerance," then in the making.

Skouras Company Files St. Louis Bankruptcy

Skouras Brothers Enterprises, St. Louis circuit, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court. Schedule of assets and liabilities will be filed shortly. The chief liability of the company is a bond issue of $4,500,000 on the Ambassador theatre and office building which the company guaranteed.

The decision to file the petition was reached last September at a directors' meeting, shortly after the court had dismissed a state receivership against the company, which is controlled by Warner.

Skouras Brothers stated Tuesday the voluntary bankruptcy of Skouras Brothers Enterprises, Inc., in St. Louis, has no connection with Skouras Theatres Corporation, which operates theatres in the east. It was said the Skourases have had no interest in the St. Louis corporation since 1928 when their controlling interest was sold to Warners.

Illinois Allied Forming Downstate Sub-Unit

E. E. Alger has been authorized by Allied Theatres of Illinois to organize a downstate unit, which will have its own officers. Mr. Alger, a vice-president of Allied, operates theatres around LaSalle, Ill.

Recapitalization of B. & D.

Financial reorganization of British and Dominions, London, was approved this week by the stockholders, with more than $1,000,000 being written off.

AUSTRALIAN EXHIBITORS REJECT HALVING BOTTOM ADMISSION RATE

Dominion Government Makes New Offer of Awards for Best Pictures in Move to Aid Home Production

by CLIFF HOLT

Sydney Correspondent

Australian exhibitors turned down by a sweeping majority a proposal to reduce the minimum admission price to 6 pence, as predicted. It is a pleasing result. It shows that theatre-owners here have not been stampeded into wild methods of obtaining business, that a protracted period of bad conditions and poor returns has not broken their faith in the industry. There were those, of course, who expected exhibitors to go for a 6d. (12 cents) minimum, lock, stock and barrel. Stories of capacity houses at 6d. a head as told by showmen who had experimented would, they felt, sway the majority to their way of thinking. But they reckoned without the saner element.

Theatre Grosses Rising

Right from the outset I have contended that a general price-cut affecting the schedule of every theatre in Australia found its justification only on the assumption that (1) more than twice as much business could be done at 6d. than could be done at one shilling (24 cents); (2) the time for a revival of industry was so far distant that struggling exhibitors could not "hang on" until it came.

The first clause, I think, cannot be assumed. Business might at first be doubled, but how long would such a rate be maintained? The second opens up arguments too lengthy to discuss fully here. But this comment can be made: The general feeling is that the affairs of Australia are in much better shape, in comparison with two years ago, and that they will continue to improve. Executives, after a close analysis of new product, insist that not for a very long time has the future looked so promising. And already theatre grosses throughout the country are beginning to rise appreciably . . . to payable houses with average to good programs, and to capacity when the "big guns" are let loose. So where in the name of all that is logical is the wisdom in auctioning first-class entertainment at 6d., when perhaps in three months, six months or less, it may be possible to increase the minimum.

▽

Rewards for Excellent Pictures

As far back as 1928, the Federal Government acted upon the recommendation of the Royal Film Commission and put aside £10,000 annually (approximately $47,200 at exchange this week) to be awarded as prize money to the producers of the best three pictures of the year. The idea was to foster local industry. To finance the plan and at the same time to offset the cost of the enlarged Boards of Censorship Appeal, the Government added an extra farthing per foot (one-half a cent) on foreign pictures. This brought in approximately £22,000 a year, so that while giving producers a helping hand, the Government was making quite a sizeable profit. The producer of what was adjudged the best film was to get £5,000, and second and third money amounted to £2,500 and £1,500 respectively. The remaining £1,000 was to be divided between the writers of the two winning scenarios. The first competition was a fiasco. "Fellers" was the only production submitted thought worthy of a prize, and even it was not rated higher than third. Of the two selected scenarios, one was a bliblical pageant with King Tutankhamen as the central figure . . . a hopeless subject for Australian producers even to consider. After that, nothing more was heard of the Government's £10,000, although the farthing per foot tax remained.

Now, however, Canberra (the seat of the Government) has revived its interest in the local producing industry, and it is announced that £4,750 will be awarded each year for the three best films entered, less £250 for the best scenario. Despite the fact that £4,750 represents only half the original award, local companies welcome the plan. But if the Government is to avoid a repetition of the 1928-29 farce, drastic alterations will have to be made in the conditions governing the awards, especially those in respect of the scenarios. As the idea of the awards is primarily to foster the production of films in this country, it is hopeless to reward the writer of a scenario which has been written regardless of production costs and difficulties. To the trained writer, it is not a hard task to impress the judges with a plot demanding lavish spectacles, huge sets and hundreds of extras. A far more formidable task, however, is to impress them equally with a simple story, easy of picturization. And yet these last-named are the only ones worth consideration. It is imperative that the Australian producer be given a chance of first getting his costs back on the domestic market, the overseas market being too uncertain to depend upon; and such stories as that Tutankhamen creation would make this an impossibility.

▽

May Revive "King of Jazz"

Universal is beginning to revive "Talking of Jazz" in Australia, and its second release takes place in the near future at the Plaza theatre, Sydney. Already it has played a revival season in Adelaide, and the business it drew astounded even those who expected great things of it. Accordingly, Universal is looking forward to the Sydney run with few misgivings. It is curious how Sydney theatre-goers retain a fond memory of their old favorites, and respond to them when the opportunity is presented. Particularly is this so in the legitimate field. Such old timers as "The Belle of New York," "The Quaker Girl," "Our Miss Gibbs," "Florodora" and Gilbert & Sullivan never fail to bring in tall grosses in the J. C. Williamson theatres, while more spectacular modern productions receive only a half-hearted welcome. In this connection, "Music in the Air" may be cited as an instance. The show was perfectly presented, and a talented girl, Sylvia Welling, was brought from London to play it. Yet it was little more than a moderate success, though keen students of the stage voted it the best Sydney had been offered in 10 years.

If "The King of Jazz" lives up to its early—or late—promise, it is probable that the revival of other hits of three years ago will follow. "Gold-Diggers of Broadway" and "City Lights" spring to mind as two that must still contain great possibilities.

▽

Income Tax Cut Awaited

Australian distributors are looking forward to the long expected reduction of the one shilling per foot tariff on imported product. The extent of the reduction is not known, but some cut is fairly certain to be made. If it is, the efforts of the industry and allied trades to force the import down to a reasonable level will be justified.

It may be remembered that the tariff was originally 4d. Then, without warning, the Federal Government increased it by 200 per cent. The importation of all but essential product immediately ceased, and the industry collectively devised a means of combating the terrific assessment. Parliamentarians were approached, and the unfairness of the terrific impost was put before them. It was shown that the smaller companies, which relied on westerners, shorts and other product of restricted earning capacity, could not possibly pay £250 duty on a 5,000-foot western, and still keep out of the red. A tariff of 6d. a foot, or an ad valorem duty, were among the alternative suggestions made, until finally the Senate referred the question back to the House of Representatives with the recommendation that the original 4d. a foot be achieved also on negatives imported for the purpose of making local prints. The Senate's thought was to save the Australian processing industry from complete obliteration. But Parliament deferred any action.

Since then, however, the position has undergone a change. The Government has a surplus and will be enabled to revise tariff items. For the sake of an industry that is just now recovering from the effects of many severe blows, it is to be hoped that its desire for revenue is subordinated by logic.

Universal Reviving Hits of Three Years Ago—Distributors Await Reduction of Tax on Imported Productions

Filipino's Dismissed Damage Suit Is Ordered Reinstated

Holding that Roqee E. la Ysla, Filipino, had cause when he filed suit against Publix Theatres, Inc., and the Victory theatre, charging breach of contract, the state supreme court last week in Salt Lake City reversed a district court decision and ordered the case reinstated. La Ysla filed suit in 1932, charging he purchased orchestra tickets for $1.40, but that he and three Filipino friends had to sit in the balcony.

He sought $4,000 for "embarrassment, ridicule and humiliation," $1.40 for breach of contract, and attorney's fees and costs.

Move Goldwyn Offices

The headquarters of Samuel Goldwyn in New York has been moved from the 12th to the eighth floor at 729 Seventh avenue, enlarging the space occupied by the United Artists publicity and advertising department.

On RKO Maintenance Staff

W. B. England has succeeded R. E. Hall, resigned, on the staff of the RKO maintenance department. Mr. England was formerly in the accounting department.

Kodak Official Dead

Freeman C. Allen, 48, assistant credit manager of the Eastman Kodak Company at Rochester, N. Y., died of a heart attack at the Genesee Valley Club there last week.

RKO Opens Mexico City Office

RKO Radio Pictures has opened its own exchange in Mexico City at 31 de Jose Azueta, with Luis Lezama in charge.

WE TOLD
—and now the Critics

N. Y. Daily News:

(3½ Stars) . . . "A new star has risen and is shining brightly on the Music Hall screen since yesterday, when Margaret Sullavan appeared in Universal's 'Only Yesterday.'"

N. Y. Daily Mirror:

"This beautiful, sensitive love story is played by one of the finest casts ever assembled for a single film. Among the 95 established players who appear in it you will find a new star of genuine brilliance. She is Margaret Sullavan, who gives a performance of such lustrous beauty it will thrill you and of such simple sincerity it will break your heart."

N. Y. American:

"Margaret Sullavan scores heavily ...'Only Yesterday' possesses quality in production and has its moments of affecting beauty . . . The picture is distinguished by the effective pretending of Margaret Sullavan, the light charm of Billie Burke and the presence of John Boles, who does just a bit better than ever before."

N. Y. Journal:

"There were any number of handkerchiefs in evidence at the Music Hall yesterday. For 'Only Yesterday' is a picture to induce sobs from those who like their movies tearful...Margaret Sullavan makes her screen debut and establishes herself as an emotional actress."

N. Y. World-Telegram:

"Still another picture which comes under the head of 'drop everything and see it at once' attractions is 'Only Yesterday' . . . A beautifully tender, sweet and charming love story, it features a new star, who most certainly demonstrates here that she is one of the finest actresses the screen has yet lured away from the stage."

N. Y. Post:

"Margaret Sullavan managed . . . to extort loud and anguished sobs from yesterday's audience...'Only Yesterday' belongs among the superior Hollywood productions."

JOHN M. STAHL'S
ONLY Y

YOU SO!

Go Us One Better!

N. Y. Sun:

"The dramatic critics had better stop praising these newcomers — if they wish to keep them to have and to hold. Bless their discerning hearts, they have praised Margaret Sullavan straight into talkie stardom."

N. Y. Herald Tribune:

"As the tragic and lovelorn heroine of the shrewdly devised sentimental orgy called 'Only Yesterday,' Margaret Sullavan plays with such forthright sympathy, wise reticence and honest feeling that she not only assures the economic success of the picture, but establishes herself with some definiteness as one of the cinema people to be watched."

N. Y. Times:

"Margaret Sullavan gives a sterling performance . . . This romantic drama is imbued with genuinely affecting sentiment and occasional interludes of gentle humor."

•

GREATEST PRODUCTION FOR UNIVERSAL

MARGARET SULLAVAN

JOHN BOLES

Billie Burke, Edna May Oliver, Reginald Denny, Benita Hume, Onslow Stevens, Jimmie Butler and many others. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Suggested by the book by Frederick Lewis Allen. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

ESTERDAY

78 MILLION IN "STREET" FILM FINANCING CITED

Harley Clarke Testifies International Projector Common Written Up $26,000,000 in Forming General Theatres Corporation

Some of the more important "high financing" operations of Wall Street in connection with the motion picture industry, and involving some $78,000,000, were spread late last week upon the records of the United States senatorial committee investigating stock market and banking activities in general.

Delving into the operations of Chase National Bank, and its investment subsidiary, Chase Securities Corporation, Ferdinand Pecora, counsel for the banking and currency committee of the Senate, placed Harley L. Clarke of Chicago upon the stand in Washington (Friday) and from him elicited the statement that the value of the common stock of International Projector Corporation was written up approximately $26,000,000 in 1,000,000 shares taken over in the formation of General Theatres Equipment Corporation in August, 1929.

Based on "Prospective Earnings"

Mr. Pecora declared that a full week probably would be required to complete a picture of motion picture finance in which Albert H. Wiggin, former Chase National chairman, and his associates figured.

Through General Theatres, Harley L. Clarke acquired control of Fox Films and Fox Theatres in 1930, and the writeup of more than $26,000,000 took place when 1,000,000 shares of common stock of International Projector Corp., which had a book value of $2,225,616 at the time it was taken over by General Theatres in August, 1929, were marked as having a book value of $28,488,600.

This write-up, Mr. Clarke said after having explained how International Projector, organized in 1925, had bought out Acme Motion Picture Projection Co., and Nicholas Power and Precision Machine Co. before being taken over by General Theatres, was based on the stock's "prospective earnings."

Took Over Competitors

In relating the events leading up to the exchange, Mr. Clarke said that the projector company had an authorized capitalization of 50,000 shares of preferred and 200,000 shares of common stock, and that the original issue of 200,000 common was increased to 1,000,000 shares. For the fiscal year ended June 30, 1929, the stock, which had been split up five for one, had earned about 73 cents a share.

Mr. Pecora demanded to know at what valuation that stock had been taken over by General Theatres when the exchange for the stock of International Projector was effected. Mr. Clarke replied that the value placed upon the stock as a nominal, or book, value, was $28,488,600, giving a value of "around $28.50 per share."

After taking over control of its three competitors in the production of theatre equipment—Nicholas Power for $690,770, Precision Machine for $600,000, and Acme for $171,331—a trading account in the preferred stock of the company resulted in profits of $46,648 for each participant, Mr. Clarke said, these including, besides himself, Murray W. Dodge, former vice-president of Chase Securities Corp., and Walter F. Ingolsby of Pynchon & Co., Pynchon, West & Co., W. S. Hammons & Co., and Shermar Corp., personal holding company of Mr. Wiggin, participated in acquisition of securities of the projector company at $90 a share for preferred, with a bonus of three shares of common, which was sold to the public at $100, with a bonus of one share of common, Mr. Clarke explained.

Pecora's Rapid Fire

Mr. Pecora kept up a rapid fire of questions throughout the Saturday session. The witness testified that in the application filed with the New York Stock Exchange in connection with the listing of the General Theatres shares, the total value of its capital stock was carried at $4,481,740.80, as of June 30, 1929, and its surplus at $618,875.17, making a total capital and surplus of $5,100,615.97.

Of this capital stock, 25,000 preferred shares had a book value of $115 a share, amounting to $2,875,000, which left a book value of $2,225,616, or $2.22 a share for the 1,000,000 shares of International Projector common, which were taken over by General Theatres in the exchange of stock in August, 1929, at a book value of $28.50 a share.

Clarke Explains Writeup

At this point the interrogation took the following form:

Q.—Now, why was this common stock having a book value of $2.22 a share taken over within a month and a half thereafter by General Theatres Equipment at $28.50 a share?

A.—Because we felt that was a fair nominal value for the stock.

Q.—What caused it to jump inside of a month and a half to $28.50 a share?

A.—Because of developments that the International Projector had made on the motion picture machines.

Q.—Had that development taken place in that month and one-half?

A.—No.

Q.—When had that development manifested itself?

A.—Over a period of years. It had been perfected in the last year.

Q.—Then why was it not reflected in the book value of the stock?

A.—There was no occasion for it.

"This company had been developing for some time a new, entirely new, motion picture machine," Mr. Clarke continued. "It had also developed the Grandeur Pictures for some time. This company had in its hands one contract at the time that would have given it an additional net of three and a half or four million dollars."

"What were the officers and directors doing at this time, envisioning the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow and assuming they were going to reach it, reflecting that in the market value given to the stock?" Mr. Pecora asked.

"I have told you what we anticipated," Mr. Clarke replied. "It was, in my opinion, a careful and well-balanced estimate of the value of the stock."

Mr. Clarke further said that he personally owned more than 600,000 shares of the exchange stock and still had it. The authorized stock of International Projector consisted of $7 dividend preferred stock of 50,000 shares and common stock of 200,000

(Continued on page 30)

APPROVED LOANS OVER 78 MILLIONS

The list of loans as compiled by the Senate committee showed that more than $78,000,000 was approved for syndicate loans connected with motion picture financing. More than $69,000,000 related to General Theatres Equipment and more than $9,000,000 to Fox Film Corp., and a substantial portion of the former sum found its way ultimately to Fox Film.

March 7, 1928:—Haystone Securities Corp., managers Wesco Corp.; Fox Film Corp., Class A common stock purchase group, under agreement dated Feb. 14, 1928, $2,034,866.66.

Aug. 7, 1929:—Pynchon & Co., as syndicate managers under General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common stock voting trust certificates syndicate agreement, dated July 18, 1929, $2,500,000. Secured by 100,000 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., voting trust certificates; valuation, $3,000,000.

Aug. 28, 1929:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers under General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common stock voting trust certificates syndicate agreement, dated July 18, 1929, $4,000,000. Secured by 200,000 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., voting trust certificates; valuation, $7,200,000.

Oct. 2, 1929:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers under syndicate agreement dated Sept. 20, 1929, for 210,000 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common stock voting trust certificates, $5,000,000. Secured by 125,000 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., voting trust certificates; valuation, $7,875,000.

Nov. 27, 1929:—General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 6 per cent convertible gold debentures, trading account by Chase Securities Corp., managers, $1,047,200. Secured by $952,000 General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 15-year 6 per cent convertible gold debentures due July 1, 1944.

Jan. 3, 1930:—General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 6 per cent convertible gold debentures, trading account by Chase Securities Corp., managers, $952,000. Secured by $952,000 General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 15-year 6 per cent convertible gold debentures due July 1, 1944.

April 23, 1930:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers, $13,125,000. Secured by 350,000 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., voting trust certificates; valuation, $17,150,000.

April 23, 1930:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers, $7,200,000. Secured by 240,000 shares Fox Film Corp., Class A common; valuation, $11,520,000.

May 7, 1930:—$30,000,000 General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 10-year 6 per cent convertible gold debentures—purchase group, the Chase Securities Corp., $27,150,000. Secured by $30,000,000 General Theatres Equipment, Inc., 10-year 6 per cent convertible gold debentures due April 1, 1940.

May 7, 1930:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers, General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common stock voting trust certificates—purchase syndicate dated April 22, 1930, $15,377,812. Secured by 410,075 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., voting trust certificates common; valuation, $19,683,600. Signed syndicate agreements and assignment thereof.

Jan. 7, 1931:—Pynchon & Co., syndicate managers under General Theatres Equipment, Inc., preferred stock syndicate dated Nov. 11, 1930, $154,162. Securd by 25,600 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., $3 preferred voting trust certificates, 34,426 shares General Theatres Equipmnt, Inc., new common voting trust certificates; valuation, $897,700.

Jan. 7, 1931:—Pynchon & Co., as syndicate managers under General Theatres Equipment, Inc., original group preferred stock syndicate dated Nov. 28, 1930 (trading account), $78,718. Secured by 4,499 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common; 6,187 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., $3 convertible preferred; valuation, $242,500.

Jan. 7, 1931:—Pynchon & Co., as syndicate managers under General Theatres Equipment, Inc., preferred stock syndicate dated Nov. 11, 1930 (trading account), $225,181. Secured by 11,557 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., common; 16,074 shares General Theatres Equipment, Inc., $3 convertible preferred; valuation, $627,800.

TRAVELERS . . .

ARTHUR W. KELLY arrived in Paris from India, en route to New York.
JOSEPH M. SCHENCK left Hollywood for New York.
JOSEPH KRUMGOLD of the MGM foreign department, is en route to Paris.
HAL YOUNG of National Screen left New York on a sales trip.
MONROE ISEN, Universal's general manager in South America, left New York for Buenos Aires.
BEBE DANIELS is en route for Hollywood.
DAVID MANNERS left Hollywood for New York en route to Europe.
EDDIE CARRIER, in charge of the MGM studio train, is in New York.
EMIL LUDWIG left New York for Switzerland.
E. C. GRAINGER returned to New York from a tour of Fox exchanges.
JOAN CRAWFORD and FRANCHOT TONE are in New York from Hollywood.
SAM BRISKIN will leave for a European vacation next week.
LESTER COWAN plans to come East shortly.
BARNEY BALABAN is in New York from Chicago.
LYNN FARNOL arrived in New York from the Coast.
JOHN M. CRINNION, executive vice president of Amity Pictures, returned to the New York offices Tuesday after a tour of midwest exchanges.
ELSIE JANIS and her husband, GILBERT WILSON, arrived in New York from California.
HUNT STROMBERG, Metro producer, arrived in New York for "Eskimo" premiere.
MAX WEISFELDT, Majestic sales manager, returned to New York from Midwest.
EDDIE CANTOR, Goldwyn star, arrived in New York from Coast en route to Georgia to confer with President Roosevelt regarding the status of creative talent in the motion picture industry code.
CARY GRANT arrived in New York from Paramount's Hollywood studio, en route to England.
SOL. ROSENBLATT, NRA deputy, flew from his home on Long Island to Washington.
CHARLES O'REILLY, president of New York TOCC, was expected at Washington from New York.
PAT PATTERSON, English stage player, arrived in New York en route to Fox studio at Movietone City.
MACK GORDON and HARRY REVEL, song writers, returned to New York from United Artists studio on Coast.
FRANK LLOYD, Fox director, sailed for England.
JACK HULBERT and CICELY COURTNEIDGE, Gaumont-British stars, arrived in New York from London.
JOE E. BROWN, First National comedian, will vacation at Toledo.
WARREN WILLIAM, Warner player, was in New York from Burbank studio.
HARRY H. LICHTIG, Hollywood agent, returned to Coast from New York.
HOWARD A. SMITH, 20th Century's story editor, arrived in New York from Coast.
SAM E. MORRIS, Warner vice-president in charge of foreign sales, returned to New York from Europe.
ALINE MACMAHON returned from New York to Warner studio at Burbank.
MICHAEL DALMATOFF left New York for Warners' Coast studio for "Wunder Bar."
JOSEPH I. BREEN, Coast representative of the MPPDA, arrived in New York.
MARQUIS HENRI DE LA FALAISE DE LA COUDRAYE returned to New York from Paris, en route to Hollywood.
BENJAMIN GLAZIER was en route to Hollywood to Europe.
AL ALT, vice-president of Screencraft, arrived in New York from the Coast.
GENE O'BRIEN, assignment editor of World Wide Photos, left New York to take charge of Warner stills at Burbank.
GEORGE BROWN, Columbia's advertising-publicity director, left New York for Coast studio.
H. B. WARNER, player, arrived in New York from Europe, en route to Hollywood.
SPYROS SKOURAS returned to New York from St. Louis.
HERMAN WOBBER, Fox sales executive, and JOHN D. CLARK, sales manager, left on New England tour.
W. RAY JOHNSTON, president of Monogram, and EDDIE GOLDEN, sales manager, were in Canada concluding the deal which gives Oscar Hanson Canadian distribution.
SOL WURTZEL, Fox producer, left Movietone City for Hawaii.
HARPO MARX set November 17 as the sailing date for his Russian trip.
DAVID LEWIS, MGM executive in Cuba, arrived in New York.
HERBERT J. YATES, president of Consolidated Film Industries, arrived on Coast from New York.
JOHN HAMMELL, Paramount executive, returned to New York from Coast.
FRED MCCONNELL arrived on Coast from New York.
WOLFE GILBERT, author of Cantor's radio material, arrived in New York from Hollywood.
MARTIN BECK sailed for Europe.
KAY KAMEN, eastern representative for Walt Disney, sailed for Europe.
LUCILLE BALL left New York to work for United Artists in Hollywood.
IRVING HOFFMAN, caricaturist, left New York for Paramount studio on Coast.
WILLIAM SUSSMAN, assistant to John Clark, Fox sales manager, was in Chicago, from New York.
CHARLES BARON, exploiteer, was in Toledo from New York for United Artists.

Mary Pickford Gains Point in Contract Suit

Mary Pickford won a point in the $250,000 breach of contract suit brought several months ago by Edward Hemmer, former business advisor to the actress, when Judge John C. Knox, in United States district court, New York, ordered counsel for Mr. Hemmer to submit a new complaint, eliminating "all extraneous and irrelevant matter."

The matter objected to by Arthur F. Driscoll, attorney for Miss Pickford, pertained to assertions by Mr. Hemmer that he had acted as "foster father and financial advisor to Miss Pickford," and as advisor to her mother for 12 years; that Douglas Fairbanks had "courted" Miss Pickford while she was still the wife of Owen Moore, against the wishes of her mother and himself.

Hollywood Community Chest Starts Drive with $24,212

During the first four days, the Hollywood Community Chest drive netted $24,212 from major studios. A goal of $200,000 has been set. The committee includes B. B. Kahane, chairman; L. B. Mayer, Joseph M. Schenck, Jack Warner, Fred Beetson. The total was divided among Radio, $1,612; MGM, $13,500; Fox, $3,250; 20th Century, $2,400; Warner, $2,300. An additional $19,000 was added to the $200,000 total by independent studios and miscellaneous groups.

Dramatists Reelect Carpenter

The Dramatists' Guild of the Authors' League of America has reelected Edward Childs Carpenter as president.

Eight Subpenaed In Lobbying Quiz

Investigation into lobbying activities of exhibitors of Ohio during the last state legislative session was launched this week by county prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins in Columbus. Mr. Hoskins and the Franklin county grand jury issued subpenas to M. B. Horwitz, Myer Fine, George W. Erdmann, Henry Greenberger, Ernest Schwartz and Paul Gusdanovic, all of Cleveland; P. J. Wood of Columbus, business manager of the MPTO of Ohio, and John Kalafat, treasurer of the Cleveland Exhibitors Association.

All subpenaed are officials of the Cleveland and Ohio MPTO. They are to be questioned Thursday regarding a charge that $10,000 was spent by the Cleveland association to forestall passage of the 10 per cent amusement tax.

Upon the arrival of Mr. Greenberger, Mr. Schwartz and Mr. Erdmann in Columbus for the independent exhibitor convention, which opened Wednesday, Mr. Greenberger reiterated the explanation that the $10,000 had been spent over a period of several years. The three officials stated they had nothing to "hide or fear in any further investigation."

Lichtman Fills Sales Posts; U. A. to Handle Marx Pictures

Al Lichtman, vice president in charge of United Artists sales, announced Tuesday that the two divisional posts, which were dropped some time ago, have now been filled. L. J. Schlaifer, who recently returned to the company, will handle the western district, and Harry Gold will cover the eastern area. This arrangement will not affect district managers, Mr. Lichtman said.

It was announced that United Artists will handle all future Marx Brothers releases after "Duck Soup," their last film for Paramount. The first release has not yet been set, but it is understood that their first under the United Artists banner will not be ready before September, 1934.

Preferred Pictures, New Firm, To Produce Twelve

J. G. Bachmann, Joe Goldberg and David and Julius Schlein have formed Preferred Pictures, Inc., planning production of 12 features during 1934. Mr. Bachmann was formerly a producer for Paramount and Radio and was once associated with B. P. Schulberg and Al Lichtman in another Preferred Pictures.

Officers are: President, Mr. Bachmann; vice president, Mr. Goldberg; secretary, Julius Schlein; treasurer, David Schlein. Mr. Goldberg was a former Columbia general sales manager.

Warner Anti-Trust Suit Delayed

Further postponement of the Department of Justice suit against Warners, was ordered this week and December 4 was set as the new trial date. The action, which has been pending for more than two years, is an outgrowth of Warners' purchase of First National.

The Critics go

Hollywood Reporter:

"Here's the answer to a showman's prayer . . . A legitimate offspring of the family that produced 'Frankenstein' and 'Dracula,' but a lusty, healthy, willing-to-laugh youngster who can stand on his own feet . . . This is a new idea if ever there was one . . . A class mystery thriller certain to give an important account of itself both at the box-office and in critical circles . . . Certainly it has never been excelled as a piece of absorbing screen illusion . . . A remarkable achievement."

Motion Picture Magazine:

"As a thriller it will live up to its advertising. What more can any picture do? . . . Moments you will long remember."

Screenplay:

"Lovers of the unusual will thrill over this one . . . Even more extraordinary than 'Frankenstein.'"

New Movie Magazine:

"You'll enjoy this immensely . . . Thorough entertainment from beginning to end."

Starring
CLAUDE RAINS
With GLORIA STUART, William Harrigan, Dudley Digges, Una O'Connor, Henry Travers, Forrester Harvey. Screenplay by R. C. Sherriff. Produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr. Directed by JAMES WHALE. Presented by Carl Laemmle.

Another big one from
UNIVERSAL

the limit

Motion Picture Daily:
"A showman's show! . . . Out of the ordinary . . . An outstanding moneymaker for exhibitors . . . Eerie, fresh and better production than either 'Frankenstein' or 'Dracula' . . . Believable, entertaining . . . In the bag and in big!"

Motion Picture Herald:
"Universal has a showman's natural . . . Oldtimers and new idea showmen can sink their teeth in this one and boost to skies . . . Terrific novelty . . . A real super that will jerk patrons into the theatre."

BLE MAN

RKO RECEIVER STAYS; OBJECTORS OVERRULED

Judge Orders Irving Trust Co. to Continue, After Hearing Walter Reade and Harrison Co.'s Counsel; Subsidiaries' Earnings

Principal objectors, in the persons of Walter Reade, circuit owner, and Harrison Theatre and Realty Corporation, both creditors, to continuance of Irving Trust Company as receiver of Radio Keith Orpheum Corporation were overruled last week by Judge William Bondy, in U. S. district court, New York. Judge Bondy ordered that, at least for the present, Irving Trust should be continued as receiver, and that the business of RKO should be conducted under its present arrangement.

Judge Bondy's decision climaxed some rather heated arguments over a petition filed by Irving Trust asking that the company be continued as receiver. The petition followed the filing of the receiver's second report on the past, present and possible future operations of the company, which report was discussed at length in MOTION PICTURE HERALD November 11.

Asks Companies Be Divorced

Leading the minority opposition to the continuance of the appointment, Walter Reade, prominent independent circuit operator of New York and New Jersey seashore properties, recommended to Judge Bondy that the RKO picture companies be severed from the theatre divisions. Mr. Reade said he had a $3,000,000 creditor's claim against RKO on leases of some of his theatres formerly held by RKO, and that he believed his claim would be protected if the company were to rid itself of the picture subsidiaries.

Mr. Reade charged that Radio Pictures was being maintained "only to supply the Radio City theatres with product," and that it was not successful even in doing this. He severely criticized Radio's product, and said the film company had lost "about $15,000,000" in three years, and, therefore, had no justification to exist.

"No one could run those Sixth Avenue theatres under that $1,000,000 a year rental," said Mr. Reade, referring to the two Radio City properties. They are "white elephants," he added, which had lost $134,000 in eight months.

Cites "Guest Executive" Policy

Mr. Reade launched another line of attack when he said before Judge Bondy that it was his opinion Radio Pictures and Radio City are operated on a "guest executive" policy.

"They have guest directors at the Hollywood studio," he explained, "who are paid from $2,500 to $5,000 a week and only stay a few months. They've had about 16 guest directors in 15 months. The same applies to Radio City. Before a registered letter can get over there the executive to whom it was addressed has lost his job."

Radio City leases then came in for criticism when Mr. Reade argued that the office leases to RKO were "too costly," and that large sums could be saved RKO if its offices were quartered in its own theatre buildings.

He attacked RKO Service Corporation, which, he said, formerly made a service charge of $600 weekly against Mayfair theatre on Seventh Avenue. Mr. Reade related that since he had been operating the property, which he owns, "the same service was performed at a cost of $25 a week."

Mr. Reade gave as his opinion that RKO's theatre subsidiaries, particularly the Keith and Proctor divisions, "are sound" and could be operated profitably "if they could get rid of Radio Pictures ties."

He also charged that Nate Blumberg had "acquired virtually all of the Orpheum Circuit for himself since that unit was disaffirmed by RKO receivers, and Blumberg is now in charge of eastern theatres, receiving an RKO salary."

That Irving Trust Company was unqualified to continue as receiver was charged by Harrison Theatre and Realty Corp., also an RKO creditor, through Lawrence Green, counsel, who said the trust company lacked experience in the amusement business and, therefore, should be removed. It was argued that the trust company had been remiss in failing to attack as preferential a transaction completed the day before the RKO receivership last January, which resulted, according to the creditor's attorney, in giving RCA a favored lien on certain RKO assets said to be worth $2,400,000.

The creditor's attorney also declared that the fact that Merlin Hall Aylesworth, president of the RKO companies, was also a director of Irving Trust, resulted in "conflicting and disqualifying interests."

K-A-O Losses Cut in Half

The latest financial statement of Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation and subsidiary units, released last week, shows that losses for the nine months of 1933 were cut in half under those of the same period in 1932. During the current nine months, net loss of $552,792 was reported, as compared with losses of $1,044,820 for the first nine months of 1932.

The loss for the third quarter of 1933 was $197,097, compared with $278,953 in the second quarter, and a net profit of $7,231 in the third quarter of 1932. A consolidated report of Keith-Albee-Orpheum operations for the six months of 1933 and for the third quarter and nine months ending September 30, follows:

	Six Months	Third Quarter	Nine Months
Operating profit...	$289,662.80	$ 83,141.94	$372,804.74
Less Dep. & Amor.	645,358.13	280,239.21	925,597.34
NET LOSS	*$355,695.33	$197,097.27	$552,792.60

The net loss shown above includes net loss of Orpheum Circuit, Inc., and its subsidiaries amounting to $124,836.16 from Jan. 1, 1933, to Jan. 27, 1933, on which date Orpheum Circuit, Inc., was adjudicated a bankrupt.*

B. F. Keith Corporation and subsidiaries reported a net profit of $326,493 from operations during the first nine months of 1933, but this was reduced to a loss of $354,038 by depreciation and amortization charges of $680,531. This compares with a net profit of $457,178 for the nine months of 1932, after giving effect to all charges. A consolidated report of financial operations of B. F. Keith Corp. and subsidiaries for the first six months of 1933, and for the third quarter and nine months ending September 30, follows:

	Six Months	Third Quarter	Nine Months
Operating profit...	$313,075.87	$ 13,417.50	$326,493.37
Less Dep. & Amor.	457,101.73	223,430.17	680,531.90
NET LOSS ...	$144,025.86	$210,012.67	$354,038.53

Judge Bondy signed an order over the week-end authorizing the parent RKO company to continue exchange of its stock for that of Keith-Albee-Orpheum and Orpheum Circuit up to November 30.

Pathe Exchange Earns $423,562 In Third Quarter

Financial operations of Pathe Exchange, Inc., showed a marked upturn during the third quarter of 1933, when the company earned a net profit of $423,562, after all charges. This compares with a net loss of $54,274 for the first half of the year, ended July 1.

Pathe has rental interests in old RKO releases, also in Pathe reissues now being marketed, in New Jersey laboratory property, and owns about 49 per cent of DuPont Film Manufacturing Co. This raw stock interest was principally responsible for the heavy third quarter earnings, contributing some $490,000 in dividends to the Pathe treasury.

Current and working assets, including some $743,031 in cash in banks and on hand, totaled $860,287 at the end of the 13-week period on September 30. Current liabilities were only $120,149.

The company had $39,689 in marketable securities, at cost and $65,000 in story rights. Listed as an asset was $1,696,549 principal amount of notes of RKO. The company's outstanding asset was a $4,000,000 investment in the capital stock of Du Pont Film (as valued by the board of directors in 1931).

On a $10,000,000 ten-year 7 per cent sinking fund gold debenture issue, due May 1, 1937, the company reported a liability of but $2,076,500, because there was only $6,000,000 actually issued, of which $1,812,000 was retired and canceled, some $86,000 was represented as cash in sinking fund, and about $2,025,500 of the debentures were being held in the treasury at face value.

Statement of profit and loss of Pathe Exchange, Inc., and subsidiary companies, for the 13 weeks ending September 30, follows:

Gross sales and rentals		$38,594.98
Deduct—Cost of sales and rentals and selling and administrative expense		51,311.63
Loss from operations		12,716.65
Deduct—Other Income
Interest earned	$1,136.04
Dividends received	490,000.00
Misc. income	840.15
Discount on 10 yr. 7% sinking fund Debentures purchased for retirement, less unamortized discount and expense applicable thereto	5,733.34	497,709.53
Profit before non-recurring expense and interest		484,992.88
Interest on funded debt and amortization of debt discount and expense		45,244.31
Profit before non-recurring expense		439,748.57
Non-recurring expenses, consisting of payment for legal services occasioned by old litigation and carrying charges on Bound Brook laboratory		16,186.57
Net profit for 13 weeks ending Sept. 30, 1933		$423,562.00
Loss for 26 weeks ending July 1, 1933	$54,274.22
Add: Deficit Dec. 31, 1932	5,299,258.77
Deficit at July 1, 1933		5,353,532.99
Deficit Sept. 30, 1933 to Balance Sheet		$4,929,970.99

Milton Aborn Dead

Milton Aborn, theatrical producer and impresario, died last week at his New York home, following a heart attack.

400 FILMS AVAILABLE IN FRANCE FOR NEW SEASON DESPITE QUOTA

Restrictions Called Not So Serious As First Feared; 88 Pictures Admitted to Censorship Before July 1 Also Get Visas

by PIERRE AUTRE
Paris Correspondent

Exhibitors in France will have available more than 400 pictures for the 1933-34 season, plenty from which to select their programs. This despite the new quota and in contradiction to the dire predictions of those who led the fight against the governmental limitation of imports. The estimated total of 417 productions includes only first releases for the season; many pictures released within the past year have yet to be shown in many theatres.

Analysis of the two chief provisions of the new quota shows also that the restrictions are not so serious as first glance would indicate. While foreign talkers dubbed in France are limited to 70 for each six months, 88 additional pictures admitted by the censorship board before July 1 will have visas.

Theatre Limitation Not Serious

As to the new regulation that each foreign talker in a foreign language cannot be shown in more than 15 French theatres—5 in Paris and 10 in the provinces—even before the quota the original version of a picture with foreign dialogue showed in general in only one Parisian theatre. There are in Paris about 15 theatres specializing in exhibition of original versions, and three or four in the provinces. That is why the legal allowance of 10 theatres in the provinces for the showing of each picture never will be exhausted.

Publication of the quota brought on an ardent fight, led by American companies and the Association of French Exhibitors. Defending the measure were the French producers with Mr. Natan and the majority of the Chambre Syndicale de la Cinematographie. This fight started late in June when Mr. Natan asked the members of the Trade's committee (Chambre Syndicale) to pass a vote of interdiction on importation into France of all foreign pictures. Most of the members approved and the proposal was sent to the French Trade Office, which, for the first time, had to establish the cinema quota, instead of the Beaux Arts office. The Trade Office decided on the quota compromise.

Clear Regulation Needed

American firms, represented by Harold Smith, and the French Exhibitors' Association, represented by Raymond Lussiez, tried to get a larger number than 70 dubbed pictures for each six months. Exhibitors feared a shortage of pictures. On the other hand, M. Delac, president of the Chambre Syndicale, asked the Trade Office how the quota would be applied.

On August 18, M. Delac received a reply to this effect:

All foreign pictures dubbed in French which have been admitted to censorship before July 1 will receive their visas. In this way 88 pictures, among them 52 American, will be allowed over and above the 140 for the year.

Every dubbed picture submitted must be accompanied by the following tax receipt; the story of the picture; the French dialogues or the translation of the original dialogues; verification of the picture's extraction when it is in doubt, papers ready for the visa.

Dubbed pictures must be dubbed within four months after payment of the tax.

This letter does not explain at all how the 70 pictures for each six months will be determined. Apparently it will be in the order of submission to the censor board, but a clear regulation is necessary.

Many conflicting figures have been offered as to the number of French theatres. The Americans and M. Lussiez said there were 4,000 theatres, 3,900 of them opposed to the quota.

On the other side, M. Delac beclared that among the 4,000, only 500 important houses play every day, 182 of them members of the Chambre Syndicale and representing 400,000 francs annual receipts, half of the entire receipts of all-French cinemas.

Following, however, are authentic figures; gathered by La Cinématographie Française after six months research, as of May 1, 1933, and including France and North Africa (Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco); wired, 2,481; silent, 1,335; a total of 3,816. These include only regular exhibitors, and not private cinema houses and religious showings.

Of the 2,481 wired theatres, 556 give more than nine weekly performances, 271 from eight to five, 1,654 less than four.

Of the 1,335 silent theatres, 18 give six weekly performances, 30 five, 101 four, 387 three, 268 two and 531 have only one performance a week.

Most Show One Feature

Sixty-three per cent of the wired theatres show only one feature with short subjects, 37 per cent give two features.

In any event, these figures show that the quota affects only 2,481 theatres, those which are wired.

More than 10 per cent, about 250, of the 2,481 sound houses belong to circuits and are included in the 556 theatres which give more than nine weekly performances.

M. Lussiez, president of the French Exhibitors Association and representative of independent exhibitors, presented the question of meeting public demand for good product under the code handicap.

"The French Quota, by interdiction or limitation of foreign pictures imported into France, would oblige the exhibitors to show practically nothing but French pictures," he said. "But how oblige the patrons to come, patrons who want only to be entertained and do not care about the picture's nationality? There is no depression for good pictures. Only low quality caused the fall of receipts.

"Some foreign producers now are leaving the beaten track and again making pictures and no more productions that are merely photographed stage plays. At last we were coming back to the days of the silent pictures, when the screen was universal. And we were just at the point of having a selection of pictures, with quantity from which to be sure of quality.

Circuits Have Enough Films

"After declarations made by M. Delac on his return from the States we were hoping for a large supply of pictures. Thinking we had finished with the annual and sterile fight concerning the quota, our association was working hard and studying with the Chamber Syndicale such important questions as contract booking and the double feature. The sudden attack of the 'quota men' stopped all this work. For whom? For what? A French picture does not need artificial protection in its own country.

"We understand the attitude of the circuits. They had enough pictures. They have booked a lot of foreign pictures dubbed in French. They have their programs for one year. It was natural their owners asked for interdiction of every new foreign picture.

"But we do not understand the way of the French independent producers. Of 150 pictures produced in 1932 in France, 91 or 60 per cent had been made by them. Furthermore, almost every good French picture was made by an independent.

"The French producers understand it is not enough to make good pictures. They must get them booked. Do they think they will solve this problem by an association with the quota friends? They must see that their selling obstacles come from circuits' practice of booking one year in advance and from block and blind booking."

Limitation of Foreign Talkers to 15 French Theatres Countered by Average Showing in Only One House Before Law

U. S. Pictures Well Booked

On the other hand, it is certain that some dubbed pictures were booked at a lower price than French productions, and that a good American picture dubbed in French, as "Cavalcade," or "The Sign of the Cross," will be booked more than an ordinary French production. And some French pictures have been very big successes, more so than any dubbed picture. Marvelous money was made by "Marius," "Fanny," "La Ronde des Heures."

Foreign pictures shown in France are only a selection of the best American, British or German product. But we must see here every French picture. The average quality is not so bad. In France, where about 130 pictures were produced in 1932, the percentage of good pictures is higher than in Germany and Great Britain, and about the same as in the States. Producers make pictures that the patrons want.

In the popular districts of Paris, and in the provinces, patrons ask for stage pictures with much dialogue. That is what French producers are making now. But French producers, except in some special cases, cannot spend more than $50,000 to $75,000 to make a picture. The French market does not permit a sum exceeding that. It is easier and less expensive to make pictures from stage plays, and they are sure to make money with them.

With German and British productions protected by very severe quotas, French producers affirm they need protection, particularly from American pictures.

Calls Import Tax Preferable

But if French production needs protection, the best thing would be to have a special importation tax, or to rebate taxes to French exhibitors every time they show French products, or to require foreign importers to buy or make a French production for three, or five or eight imported pictures, as in great Britain. But a strict limitation of foreign pictures means nothing. That is what the trade Office understood, because now this limitation is only "moral" and will discommode nobody.

I would like now to speak again with figures and to show that French exhibitors will have more pictures than they need to make a good selection.

On the 2,481 wired theatres in France, about 500 show pictures immediately after their general release. About 2,000 theatres show the pictures in the year following general release.

(Continued on page 30)

A PICTURE THAT STORMS THE . . . AND WILL GO ON FOREVER . . .

FILM DAILY SAYS

"A CLASSIC"

It is a picture of unusual worth, one that is sure to win the plaudits of all who appreciate fine entertainment, that RKO Radio Pictures has turned out in this adaptation of the Louisa Alcott novel. If ever a classic walked out of book and into life with convincing reality, this one does. Everyone from adaptors and directors to players, cameramen and other technicians seems to have caught the spirit of the story, and its deeply sentimental charm is unfolded in a sympathetic manner that brings out all the emotional appeal and holds a suspense you would not have believed possible. To George Cukor who directed, Sarah Y. Mason and Victor Heerman who did the script, and Katharine Hepburn, Frances Dee, Jean Parker, Joan Bennett, Douglass Montgomery, Henry Stephenson, Spring Byington, Edna May Oliver and Paul Lukas who head the cast, highest praise is due. Productions like this one do credit to the whole business of motion pictures.

GILLETTE

★

WORLD PREMIERE
RADIO CITY MUSIC HALL
THURSDAY, NOV. 16TH

To them, of soaring genius, who reached for a star and brought to Earth this Miracle of Beauty.

MERIAN C. COOPER, Producer
Kenneth Macgowan, Associate
GEORGE CUKOR, Director

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

RKO Radio PICTURES

HEART AND CASCADES THE SOUL IN GLORY UNDIMMED! . .

M. P. DAILY SAYS

"A GEM"

"LITTLE WOMEN," produced by RKO, is fine enough and beautiful enough to belong to the whole picture business. It will beat down censorship arguments, bring new patrons to theatres, and if not that, certainly return many stragglers to the fold.

Wholesomeness and simplicity, twin characteristics which once meant something to the industry, return here and, as those who never doubted it have known all along, re-establish their rightful place. "Little Women" is like a delicate, nostalgic something out of the past — romantic, heart-thumping and appealing.

From Sarah Mason's and Victor Heerman's adaptation of Louisa May Alcott's American classic, to George Cukor's direction, to the highest of acting standards carried principally by the talented Katharine Hepburn, this Radio picture is an entertainment gem and a production achievement.

KANN

★

Katharine

HEPBURN

in LOUISA MAY ALCOTT'S

LITTLE WOMEN

with

JOAN BENNETT • PAUL LUKAS

FRANCES DEE • JEAN PARKER

EDNA MAY OLIVER

Douglass Montgomery • Henry Stephenson

400 Pictures for Market in France

(Continued from page 27)

These theatres are not so interested in the quota. They have for their programs all product, French or dubbed, released since the first months of 1932.

How many pictures will the French market have for the new season? Here is the situation, as regards first releases.

FRENCH PRODUCTION

Pictures passed by the National Board of Censorship before July 1 and not yet released (except in one or two exclusive theatres)	30
French pictures finished since July 1	53
French pictures now shooting or cutting	30
French pictures in preparation which will be finished before the end of the year	50
	163

FRENCH PICTURES MADE IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES:

Pictures passed by Censorship before July 1 and not yet released:
Made in Germany	8
Made in Austria	3
Made in Italy	1
Made in Czechoslovakia	1
	13
Pictures made in foreign countries now finished or shooting or cutting (since July 1):
Germany	18
Austria	1
Czechoslovakia	2
United States	1
Italy	1
	23

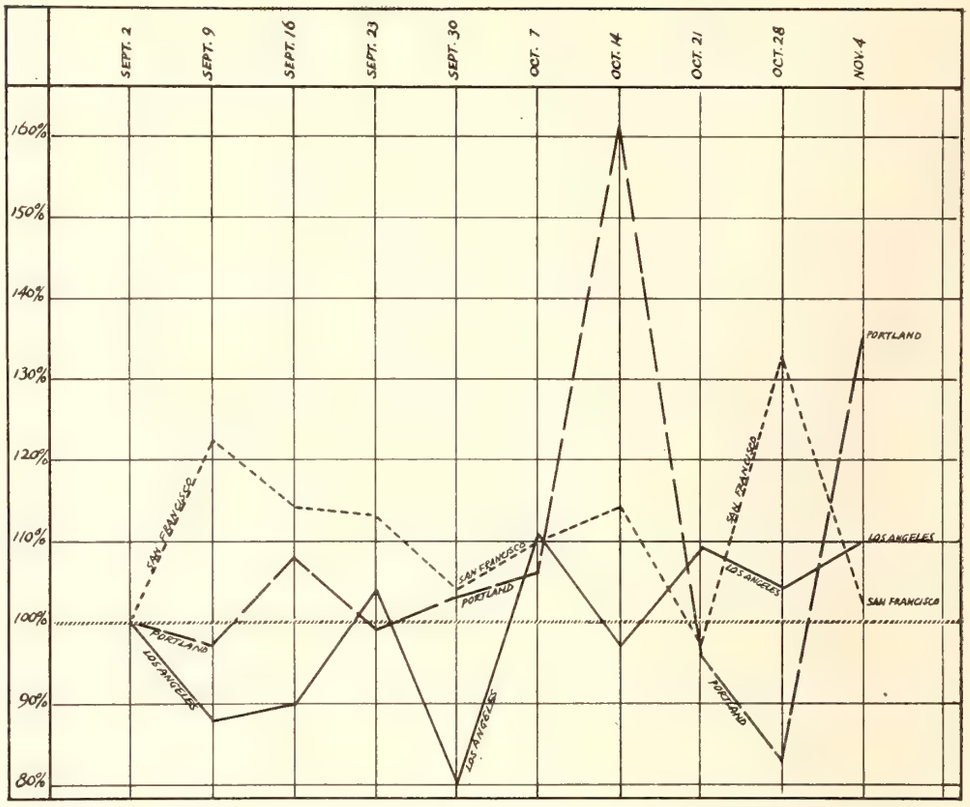
FOREIGN PICTURES DUBBED IN FRENCH:

Pictures passed by the Censorship before July 1 but not shown yet in general release:
American	16
German	3
British	2
Italy	2
	23
Pictures entered at the Censorship before July 1 and which will have their visa not included in the 70 limit, for each six months:
America	52
German	22
British	7
Czechoslovakia	2
Polish	1
Austrian	4
	88
Dubbed pictures to be permitted from July 1 to December 31	70

SUMMARY:

FRENCH MARKET FOR 1933-34 (including only pictures which will have their first release before February, 1934):
French pictures	163
French pictures made in foreign countries	38
Dubbed pictures (passed by the censor before December 31)	181
	382

To this number of 382 films must be added about 15 French pictures, five French pictures made in foreign countries and half of the dubbed pictures for the first six months of 1933, or 35. It is probable these 35 will be released before the summer season.



The chart, based on Motion Picture Herald's weekly tabulation of box office grosses, indicates the business done in three West Coast key cities for the ten weeks period beginning September 2, 1933. The receipts in each city for that first week are taken as 100 per cent.

Wall Street Role In Films Traced

(Continued from page 22)

shares, out of which 25,000 shares of preferred and all of the common actually were issued, the common being issued to himself, and the preferred being sold to the bankers to acquire the three aforementioned companies.

Mr. Clarke said that the 25,000 shares of preferred which International Projector sold to the bankers for $90 a share, plus 75,000 shares of common, were offered to the public at $100 and accrued dividends.

Q.—So that after the flotation and sale to the public of those 25,000 shares at $100—each share calling for a share of common stock to accompany each share of preferred stock—the bankers still had 50,000 shares of the capital common stock?

A.—Yes, unless, of course, they gave some away to the brokers to sell it, of which I do not know.

As to the trading account which was formed in December, 1928, to deal in International Projector stock, Mr. Clarke said the purpose of the formation was to "protect" the stock. He testified that any protection the market received from the operations of this trading account was principally to his own benefit, and also that when the account was formed he had in mind the establishment of a larger organization to acquire International Projector on an exchange of stock basis. This eventually came into existence in August of 1928, as General Theatres Equipment Corp.

Mr. Pecora then asked Mr. Clarke how many shares of International were exchanged for shares of General Theatres on a basis of one and a quarter of General for one of International. Mr. Clarke replied that 800,000 shares were thus involved.

"And of that amount how many shares did you own at that time?" the counsel questioned.

"Something less than 600,000 shares," Mr. Clarke replied.

"How many shares were exchanged on a share-for-share basis?"

"Two hundred thousand shares."

"Who owned those 200,000 shares? The public?"

"I would say so—yes," replied Mr. Clarke.

On Saturday the Senate banking and currency committee, through Mr. Pecora, disclosed that syndicate loans totaling $208,938,876 were approved by the board of directors of Chase National Bank between Jan. 4, 1928 and August 17, 1933, the largest single loan being one of $27,150,000 made May 7, 1930, to a syndicate headed by Chase Securities Corp. for a General Theatres Equipment transaction.

The next largest individual loan was one of $15,377,812, made on the same date, to a syndicate managed by Pynchon & Co., which also dealt in General Theatres securities.

Paramount Sales Heads At White Sulphur Springs

Paramount division and district managers will hold an informal special meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., this weekend for a general discussion of sales. George J. Schaefer, sales head, will preside at the three-day session. Among executives attending will be Neil Agnew, J. J. Unger and Stanley Waite.

WARNERS NOW ON PROFITABLE BASIS; '32-'33 LOSSES REDUCED 8 MILLIONS

Small Net Profit Earned in September and October, for First Time in Three Years, After All Charges

[Warners' detailed financial statement, and comparisons, appear on page 34]

The motion picture industry last week advanced another step in its program of financial rehabilitation when Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., was added to the list of film companies whose managements have hurdled the obstacles of the depression era and are now operating profitably. For the first time in about three years, Warners earned a small net profit during September and October, after deducting all charges, including interest, amortization and depreciation.

Net Loss Cut 55 Per Cent

Although in the industry in general film rental and box office receipts for the year ended Aug. 26, 1933, represented a substantial reduction compared with the previous year, the net loss reported by Warners for the year showed a decrease of 55 per cent as compared with the previous year. Since August 26 the company has been operating at a small net profit, the full extent of which will not be known until the statement for the first quarter of the new fiscal year is issued.

For the year ended August 26, 1933, the net loss after all charges, including interest, amortization and depreciation, was $6,291,748, as compared with a net loss of $14,095,054 for the previous year. Before amortization and depreciation of properties there was a net profit for the year of $1,941,359.

A reduction of 78 per cent in net loss as compared with the corresponding period last year was reported for the quarter ended August 26. The net loss for the quarter this year was $1,269,973, as compared with a net loss of $5,852,298.93 (including a special film adjustment of $1,368,524) for the quarter ended Aug. 27, 1932.

$1,176,591 Net Charge to Deficit

In addition to the operating loss sustained by the company, a net charge of $1,176,591 was made to deficit. This represented losses of a non-recurring nature, including losses arising from the disposal of certain unprofitable properties and including a profit of $1,286,070 arising from the retirement of debentures and other funded obligations. Mortgages and funded debt were reduced from $96,922,500 as of Aug. 27, 1932, to $90,627,930 as of Aug. 26, 1933, without making any substantial change in the cash position of the company. Cash on hand on Aug. 26, 1933, was $2,831,123, as compared with $2,928,645 on Aug. 27, 1932.

"The improvement resulted in large part from economies effected in the company's operations, including the production of pictures," said Harry M. Warner, president.

"The funded indebtedness of the company maturing within one year amounts to $8,151,950," Mr. Warner explained. "Included in this sum are $3,345,850 of sinking fund and mortgage installment payments. As has been true in past years, bonds to apply against these items can be purchased at substantial cash discounts. Moreover, in the past the company has been successful in renewing mortgages as they mature. Similar success during the coming year is anticipated. Since Aug. 26, 1933, the company has retired sufficient of its optional 6 per cent convertible debentures to cover the purchase fund requirements due August, 1934."

Six Directors To Be Named

"As no dividend has been paid on the preferred stock since March 2, 1932," Mr. Warner added, "the preferred stockholders will be entitled to elect six directors (constituting a majority of the board) to succeed the directors whose terms of office expire on Dec. 11, 1933, the date of the next annual meeting. Proxies will be mailed on Nov. 15, 1933, to the holders of preferred and common stock of record at the close of business on Nov. 10, 1933, the record date for stock entitled to vote at this meeting."

In addition to cash of $2,831,123, current assets on Aug. 26, 1933, totaled $14,009,157, against current liabilities of $12,468,440, and compared with $14,881,361 and $12,743,189, respectively, on Nov. 26, 1932.

The Aug. 26, 1933, statement gave effect to $2,008,595 in deposits to secure contracts; to $2,388,611 in investments and advances. Properties owned and equipment were worth $116,759,755, plus properties leased, valued at $24,557,642, which with $8,531,468 in goodwill, and miscellaneous assets, brought the total assets to $169,791,058.

Some of the corporation's liabilities were: remittances from foreign subsidiaries, held in abeyance, $362,624; purchase money or contractual obligations and notes payable maturing serially after one year, $1,350,387; and $34,440,000 in optional 6 per cent convertible debentures, series due 1939. Mortgages and other bonds, less bonds held in treasury, totaling $56,187,930.

Capital stock issued and outstanding follows: 3,801,344 shares of common stock of par value of $5 each, $19,006,722; 103,107 shares of preferred stock at $55 a share, $5,670,885.

Catholic Group To Check Moral Standards of Films

Out of the recent International Catholic Cinema Congress at Brussels, Belgium, has come the formation of a group to check moral standards in films produced throughout the world, with the objective of discouraging immoral and anti-religious films.

A full-time secretary will be named to travel to various countries, communicating with organizations sympathetic to the aims of the new group.

Edward N. Hurley Dies; Advisor on Picture Code

Edward N. Hurley, manufacturer, financier, and wartime chairman of the United States Shipping Board, died in Chicago Tuesday. He was 69 years of age.

Mr. Hurley had recently acted in an advisory capacity to the National Recovery Administration on labor matters and was present at the public hearings on the motion picture industry's code in Washington early in September.

Named Florida Censor

Governor Scholtz of Florida has appointed Miss Eugenia N. Talley, of Miami, to succeed her mother, Mrs. Henry Talley, who died recently, on the Florida state board of motion picture review.

Repeal Is Seen As Aiding Box Office

Stimulated theatre attendance is seen by the majority of distribution and theatre executives, as a result of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, while several feel the legal dropping of the bars will have no appreciable effect on box offices, without, however, indicating a belief in a decline of receipts.

Increase in employment, attraction of people to theatrical districts are reasons cited as probably resulting in increased business by theatres. Among those who see no particular effect either way are Felix Feist, MGM general sales manager; Al Lichtman, vice president in charge of United Artists distribution; Jules Levy, general sales manager of Radio; David Palfreyman, MPPDA; Boris Morros, Paramount.

Those who feel an increase in attendance will result from repeal include George J. Schaefer, vice president and general manager of Paramount Pictures; Abe Montague, Columbia general sales manager; James R. Grainger, Universal general sales manager; S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel; Sam Dembow, Publix; Charles L. O'Reilly, president of the Theatre Owners Chamber of Commerce, New York, and John D. Clark, general sales manager of Fox.

Examination Suspended

Further examination into the affairs of New York Investors, Inc., was suspended Tuesday in Brooklyn federal court pending the outcome of the scheduled trial to decide whether or not the company is insolvent. An involuntary bankruptcy petition was filed against the company October 13. Judge Byers, who issued the suspension order, said that if New York Investors is able to prove itself solvent at the trial, now postponed to December 6, further examination will be an unnecessary expense.

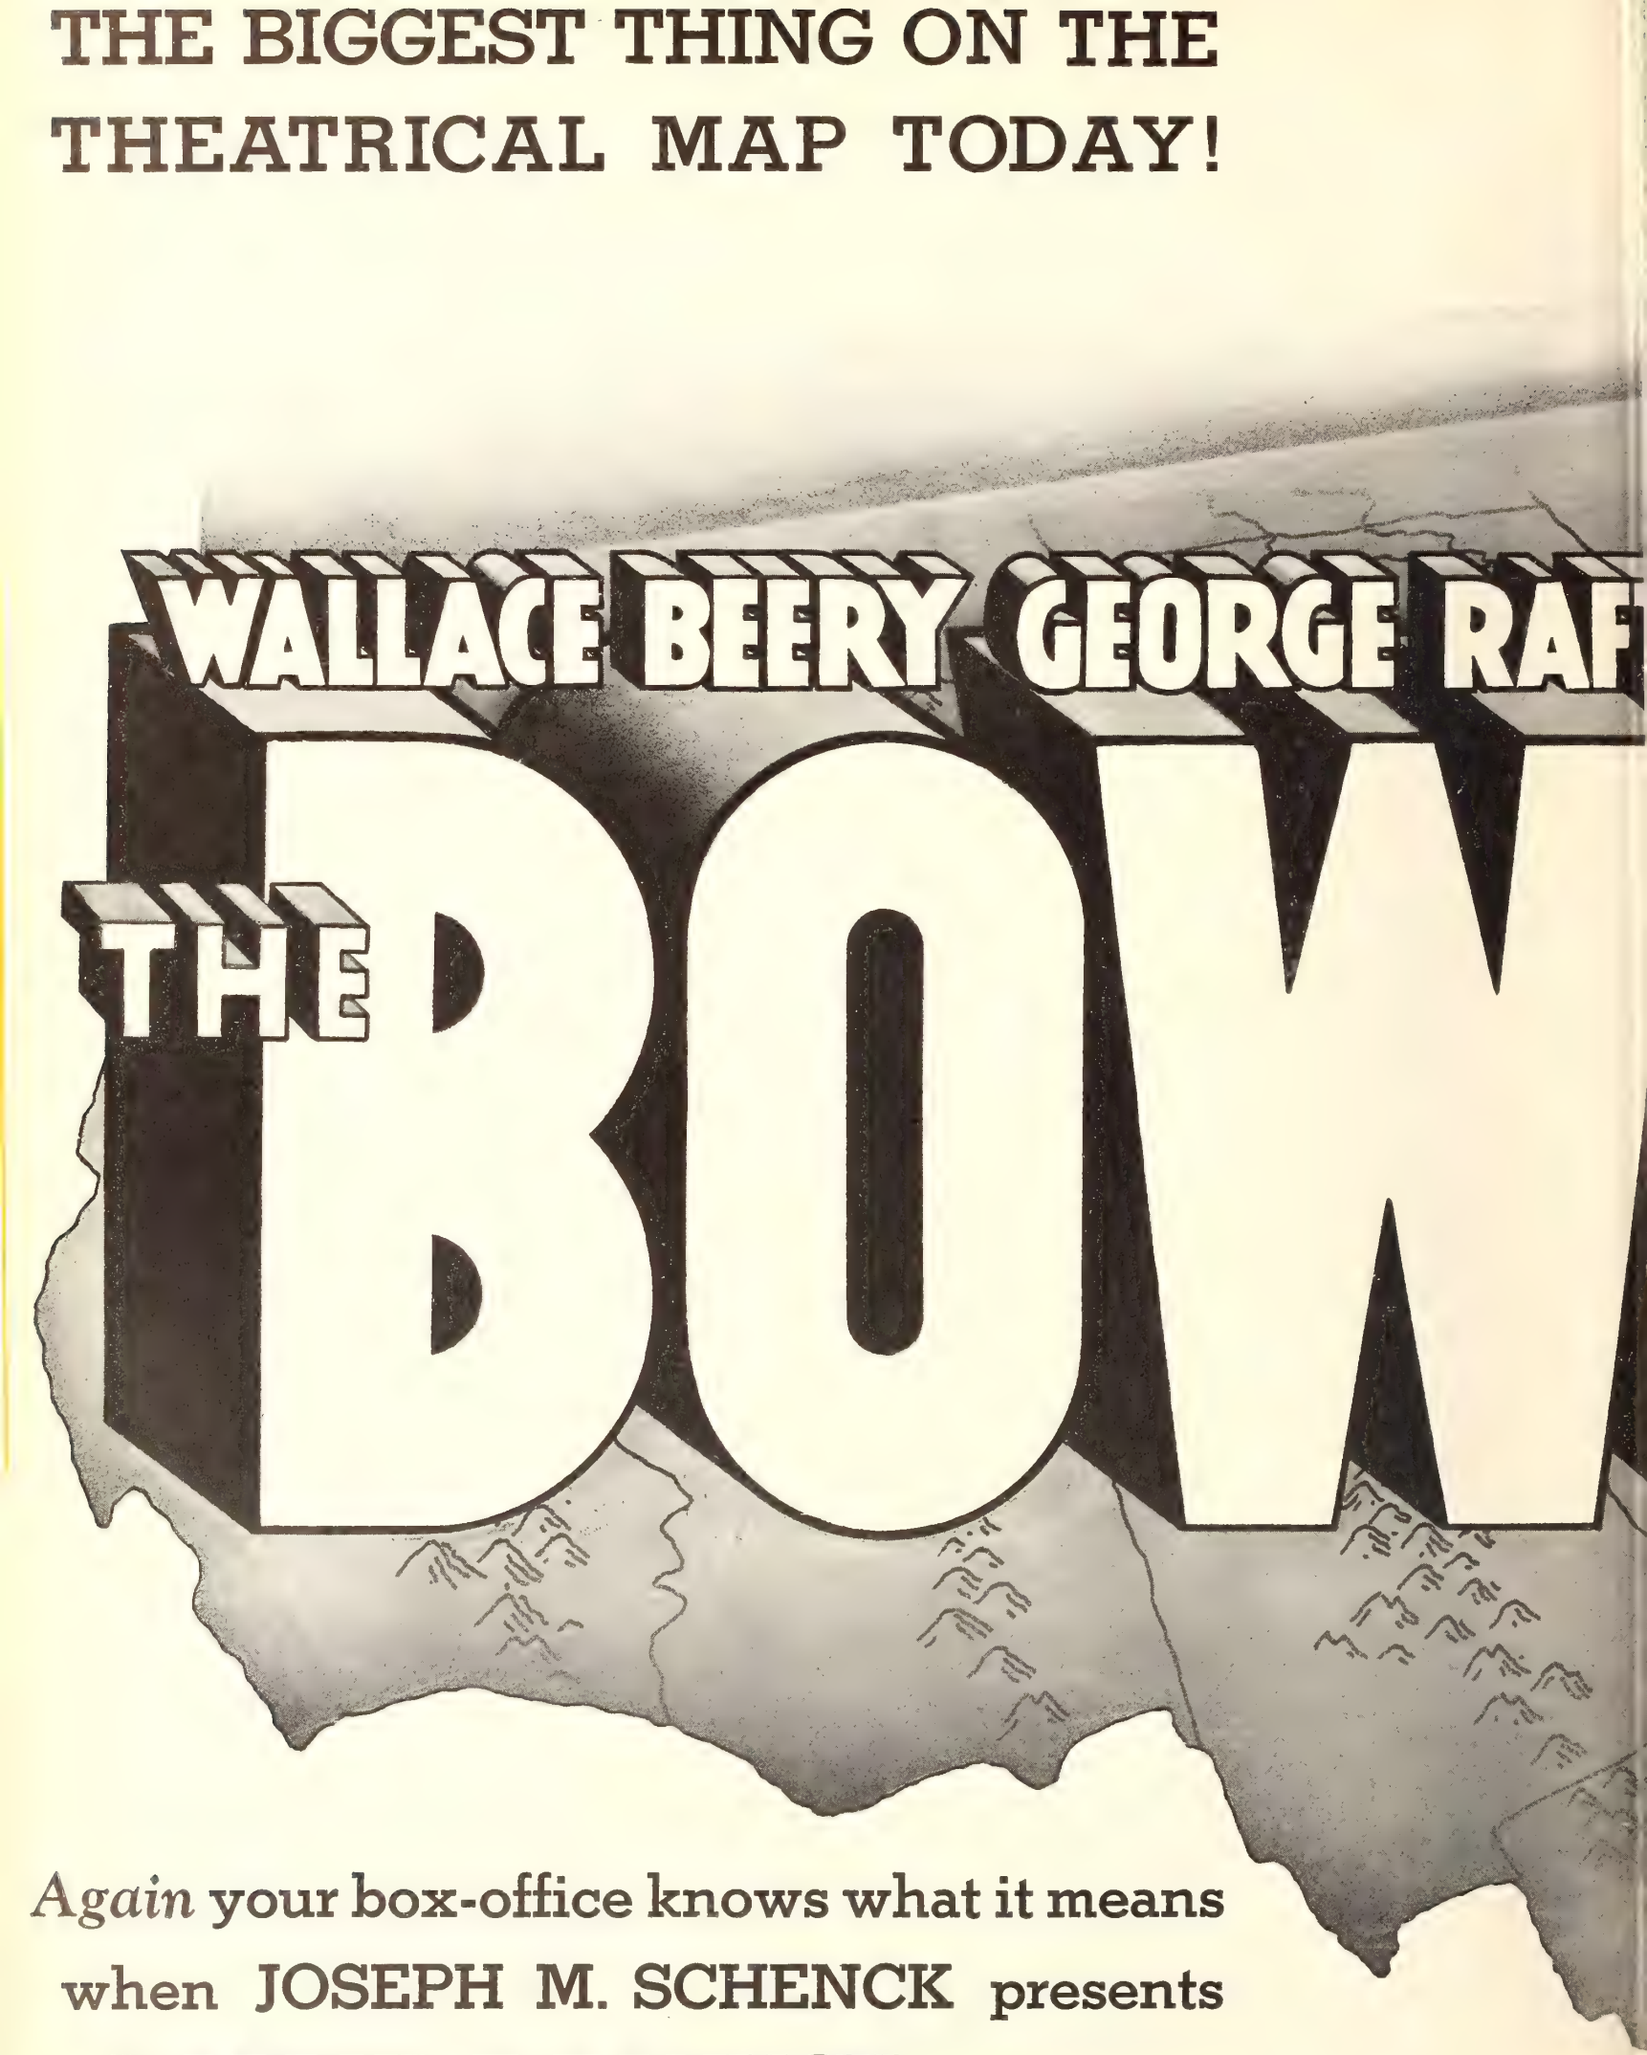
President Sees Dowling Film

President Roosevelt on Wednesday evening witnessed a special preview screening of the first Arthur Hopkins-Eddie Dowling production, "The Great Adventure," slated for early Paramount release. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained Lillian Gish, who is featured with Roland Young in the production, and Eddie Dowling, at dinner at the White House before the screening.

Foreign Sales Heads Meet

Foreign sales managers of American distributors met Tuesday at the offices of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America to discuss the advisability of withdrawing from the Czechoslovakian market. No decision was reached, however. A report of Don C. Bliss on the Czechoslovakian situation was read.

THE BIGGEST THING ON THE THEATRICAL MAP TODAY!



Again your box-office knows what it means when JOSEPH M. SCHENCK presents a DARRYL F. ZANUCK production

First of the big 20TH CENTURY
PICTURES, INC.
JACKIE COOPER in
BY
Directed by
AOUL WALSH
FIRST
AMONG THE BOX-OFFICE CHAMPIONS AS SHOWN IN THE ACTUAL BOX-OFFICE REPORT PUBLISHED IN THIS ISSUE OF THE MOTION PICTURE HERALD
Another of those BIG pictures released thru
UNITED ARTISTS

HIGHLIGHTS OF WARNER FINANCES

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT FOR YEAR ENDED AUG. 26, 1933, INCLUDING SUBSIDIARIES

NET INCOME before providing for amortization and depreciation, interest and miscellaneous charges		$23,504,457.79
DEDUCT:
Amortization of film costs (exclusive of depreciation of studio properties)	$16,074,565.42
Amortization and depreciation of all properties	8,233,107.59
Interest and discount expense	5,573,477.81
Provision for investments in affiliated companies	111,483.07
Provision for losses of companies formerly in equity receivership	70,769.18
Miscellaneous charges	77,810.76
		30,141,213.83
NET LOSS before other income and minority interests' share of profits and losses		$ 6.636,756.04
DEDUCT—Other income:
Interest and discount earned	$ 151,780.51
Dividends received from affiliated companies	89,054.71
Miscellaneous income	101,142.70
		341,977.92
NET LOSS before minority interests' share of profits and losses		$ 6,294,778.12
DEDUCT—Proportion of net losses applicable to minority stockholders		3,029.66
NET LOSS from operations for the year ending August 26, 1933, carried to deficit		$ 6,291,748.46
DEFICIT, August 27, 1932	$12,078,665.19
DEDUCT:
Adjustment of income tax reserves of prior years	$ 690,000.00
Adjustment of royalty and other reserves in respect of prior years	106,259.43
Profit on redemption of 6% convertible debentures and bonds of subsidiary companies	1,286,070.98
	2,082,330.41
	$ 9,996,334.78
ADD:
Net loss on sales or abandonments of properties	$1,535,894.57
Loss on sale of subsidiary company	334,444.18
Provision for loss on guaranty of mortgage of an affiliated company	546,730.71
Net loss on miscellaneous investments and advances	17,966.33
Appropriations authorized by the board of directors in respect of the following:
Investment in and advances to Skouras Bros. Enterprises, Inc. (in bankruptcy)	668,665.86
Investment in and advances to an affiliated company	155,220.17
	3,258,921.82
		13,255,256.60
DEFICIT, August 26, 1933, carried to balance sheet		$19,547,005.06

A FOUR-YEAR HIGHLIGHT OF CONSOLIDATED INCOME

	Year ended Aug.26, '33	†Year ended Aug.27, '32	Year ended Aug.29, '31	Year ended Aug.30, '30
Net before charges	$23,504,457	$23,045,518	$36,371,383	$52,340,301
Amortization and depreciation	24,307,673	30,572,965	38,157,974	37,036,851
Interest and miscellaneous charges	5,833,540	6,882,221	7,202,987	5,674,179
Special adjustment	.....	.....	.....	1,409,294
Federal taxes	.....	.....	21,551	1,125,000
Loss	$ 6,636,756	$14,409,668	$ 9,011,129	‡$ 7,094,977
Other income	341,987	315,784	1,184,027	*217,554
Loss	$ 6,294,778	$14,093,884	$ 7,827,102	‡$ 7,312,531
Minority interest	3,030	1,170	91,503	237,910
Net loss	$ 6,291,748	$14,095,054	$ 7,918,605	‡$ 7,074,621
Preferred dividends	.....	198,481	396,962	402,740
Common dividends	.....	.....	.....	8,080,380
Deficit	$ 6,291,748	$14,293,535	$ 8,315,567	$ 1,408,499
Profit and Loss deficit	19,547,005	12,078,665	¶223,747	¶11,027,379

* Equity in undistributed earnings of affiliated companies. † Excluding Skouras Bros. Enterprises, Inc., and St. Louis Amusement Co. and their subsidiaries. ‡ Profit. ¶ Surplus.

CONSOLIDATED BALANCE SHEET OF WARNERS AND SUBSIDIARIES

ASSETS

	Aug. 26, '33	Aug. 27, '32	Aug. 29, '31
*Real estate, buildings, leaseholds, equities, etc.	$141,317,397	$151,833,528	$165,163,673
Cash	2,831,124	2,928,645	3,767,088
Notes, etc., receivable	83,612	157,692	397,049
Accounts receivable, etc.	1,311,738	1,352,454	3,129,927
Production and royalty advances	33,431	26,928	535,450
Inventories	9,219,276	9,442,645	16,554,210
Rights and scenarios	529,976	995,901	1,397,486
Mortgages, etc., received	253,932	328,016	181,611
Deposits to secure contracts, etc.	2,008,595	1,838,840	2,387,027
Investments and advances	2,388,613	3,784,195	8,291,666
Deferred charges	1,281,895	1,347,640	3,333,840
Goodwill	8,531,468	8,695,675	8,718,425
Total	$169,791,058	$182,727,759	$213,857,452

LIABILITIES

§Preferred stock	$ 5,670,885	$ 5,670,885	$ .....
†Common stock	19,006,722	19,006,722	.....
Capital stock	.....	.....	¶88,621,964
Mortgage and funded debt	90,627,931	96,922,501	104,898,927
Notes payable	408,393	838,337	2,376,693
Accounts payable and sundry accruals	9,673,392	9,791,473	8,517,783
Purchase money obligations	803,665	768,762	1,453,435
Preferred dividend payments	.....	.....	99,240
Due affiliated companies	130,317	197,019	72,171
Royalty payments	1,190,841	980,858	768,410
Rer for prm an dbs, etc.	.....	.....	2,706,776
Contining res	935,095	860,164	2,706,776
Advance payment film deposits, etc.	216,833	330,145	657,674
Proportion of capital stock and surplus of subsidiaries applicable to minority stockholders	653,263	841,848	1,114,449
Deferred income	1,937,230	908,296	325,792
‡Remittances from foreign companies	362,625	188,078	238,316
Contract obligations	1,350,387	1,175,852	1,782,075
Capital surplus	56,325,484	56,325,484	.....
Deficit from operations	19,547,005	12,078,665	a 223,747
Total	$169,791,058	$182,727,759	$213,857,452

* After depreciation and amortization. † Represented by 3,801,344 no-par shares. ‡ Remittances from foreign subsidiaries held in abeyance. § Represented by 103,107 no par shares. ¶ Combined preferred and common stocks. a Earned surplus.

once again folks

FOX MANPOWER SCORES A HIT WITH THIS FLAMING SUCCESSOR TO "CALL HER SAVAGE"

Clara Bow in the supreme dramatic performance of her amazing career. Thrills that halt your pulse beat. Hearty, robust laughter. Above all... romance... revealing the deep emotional currents of an impassioned woman's heart. Prepare for one of your greatest profit runs of the year.

Clara BOW in HOOPLA

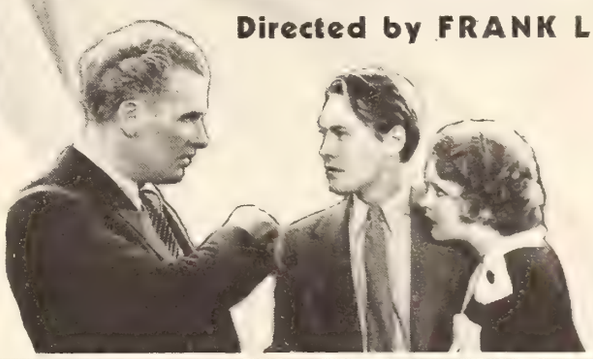
with

PRESTON FOSTER
RICHARD CROMWELL
Herbert Mundin • James Gleason • Minna Gombell

From the play "The Barker" by JOHN KENYON NICHOLSON. Stage play produced by CHARLES L. WAGNER.

Al Rockett Production

Directed by FRANK LLOYD



Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

Join the upswing with FOX

SHOWMEN'S REVIEWS

This department deals with new product from the point of view of the exhibitor who is to purvey it to his own public

ESKIMO

a review by TERRY RAMSAYE

With a considerable fanfare of marquee orchestras, microphones, fan mobs, celebrity attendance, mounted police cossacking the sidewalks and other standard manifestations of a major ballyhoo opening in Broadway, Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer brought forth "Eskimo," a pretentious expeditionary-drama production at the Astor theatre in New York Tuesday night. The production is receiving emphatic promotional attention in its New York keynoting and pace making campaign, which will be dealt with in the next issue of MOTION PICTURE HERALD in the Managers' Round Table section.

"Eskimo" is a geographical-adventure-melodrama of life, some real and some alleged, in the Arctic, all seen as Hollywood sees the world.

The lengthy production strives for bigness and epic sweep by immense perspectives of storm-swept ice and snow as the interspersed background for the story action. The pictorial content is about equally divided between the Arctic and the West Coast production plant, with the application of many processes adequate for the illusion of audiences under the spell of emotional attention.

The exhibitor will likely find it of profit toward audience acceptance to make adequate and suitable reference to earlier expeditionary dramas, including "Trader Horn," also directed by W. S. Van Dyke, the director of "Eskimo," to establish a category of entertainment in the consumer's mind.

In character of material the story, which is made of a narrative brew from two novels by Peter Freuchen, an Arctic adventurer, with sundry Hollywood embellishments, belongs to the school of the Leatherstocking tales of James Fenimore Cooper. In "Eskimo" we have the saga of the intrepid hunter hero, a noble native, pitted against forces of evil personified by wicked white traders. Like his screen forebear, "Nanook," the hero of "Eskimo," one "Mala," is also concerned vastly with the eternal struggle against starvation, with arrow and harpoon.

But it was with no James Fenimore Cooper touch that Hollywood's technique laid on the sex coloration of this Eskimo piece. Native women are very considerably bounced about between natives and white traders with expository emphasis on alleged and generous mores of the Eskimos. There is that about this aspect of the production which will make it perhaps not entirely discreet for the exhibitor to seek much of enthusiastic cooperation from the clubwomen, the churches and the schools. The Hollywood version of a pretty native and her naivete might be considered too educational and slightly calculated to send the yearning adolescent off on dream errands more concerned with the igloo than the bears and seals.

Justice, official and unofficial, in the drama is represented by those imperishable wonder men, the Royal Northwest Mounted. They, as usual, "get their man," who is, of course, the heroic "Mala" who killed for love and righteousness, and having got him let him go again for a tragic-happy ending. The action appears to be laid in Alaska and one is to be a bit puzzled as to what jurisdiction the Mounted Police may have had—but that's a mere detail of no importance.

The high points of the story and picture are hunting scenes with milling masses of caribou, natives in pursuit of a whale, "Mala's" escape from police barracks and his battle with an Arctic wolf. The escape sequence entails pulling his hand through a cuff with vast torture incident to peeling the flesh away. This is long enough to suffice for the most sadistic.

The official credits issued solemnly aver that the picture carries an all-native cast. One spectator, while entirely satisfied with the cast, held considerable ethnological doubtings. At least three of the "Eskimos," including "Mala" and two of his best wives, presented histrionic ability which was never nurtured on whale blubber.

"Eskimo," considered in its most favorable light, presents opportunity for an ambitious offering of contrast with the current run of screen fare. It takes the drama out where the winds drive across the floes and seas and forgets the namby pamby frivols of the product which derives from the Broadway stage.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Directed by W. S. Van Dyke. Original story by Peter Freuchen. Adaptation by John Lee Mahin. Photographed by Clyde DeVinna. Release date not set. Running time, 117 minutes.

ALL NATIVE CAST

As Husbands Go

(Fox-Lasky)

Romantic Comedy

A different version of the triangular-love plot, this picture is romantic and lightly dramatic, but comedy is the element which should most interest audiences. Through that angle is developed a vien of human interest which, directing sympathies into the proper channels, gives the picture color and appeal for both men and women patrons, though it is too sophisticated to mean much to youngsters.

Premised on the problem idea, dialogue necessarily assumes a greater importance than action, yet there is enough of that quality also. Three situations constitute the framework of the structure, each one developing an anti-climax of its own that opens the way to the triumph-of-virture finale.

While in Paris with Emmie, Lucille falls in love with Roland and the feeling is arduously reciprocated. Promising to obtain a divorce from Charles, the girls come home, Emmie bringing the suavely comic fortune-hunting Hippy along. Charles has been so thoughtful in doing everything to make Lucille happy and prove his love that she cannot force herself to make good her promise to Roland. But Emmie's haphazard conduct threatens to upset Lucille's secret. Then Roland comes to America. Realizing Charles' love, he becomes his pal. A fishing trip is followed by an all-night drinking party, and Roland departs, leaving Lucille a message that tells her he understands and appreciates everything.

Logically, the Baxter drawing power is the predominating showmanship asset, but Helen Vinson and Warner Oland should not be overlooked. Miss Vinson as the woman torn between two loves and Oland, out of his Oriental role, mean much in the smaller communities. Two new names that can be talked about are Catherine Doucet and G. P. Huntley, Jr.

A topical campaign should combine cast names with the title. Direct your energies towards arousing the maximum feminine attention by the use of tricky question-asking catchlines which suggest a comedy of misunderstood love.—MCCARTHY, Hollywood.

Produced by Jesse L. Lasky. Distributed by Fox. Directed by Hamilton MacFadden. Based on play by Rachel Crothers. Screen play by Sonya Levien. Additional dialogue by Samuel Behrman. Photographed by Hal Mohr. Running time, 78 minutes. Release date, Dec. 29, 1933.

CAST

Charles Lingard	Warner Baxter
Lucille Lingard	Helen Vinson
Hippolitus Lomi	Warner Oland
Emmie Sykes	Catherine Doucet
Roland Derbyshire	G. P. Huntley, Jr.
Peggy Sykes	Eleanor Lynn
Jake Cannon	Frank O'Connor
Wilbur	Jay Ward

Blood Money

(United Artists-20th Century)

Melodrama

Every town has its bail bond racket. That fact alone lends a special patron-interesting value to "Blood Money" which for selling purposes exceeds in importance either star names or story content. Moving in an underworld atmosphere, this picture nevertheless presents a novelty in concept and story-telling technique that treats a familiar subject in an attention-arresting manner. The picture has a timeliness which easily may be steered into channels to arouse patron curiosity. As a picture, it possesses the entertainment elements, which, properly publicized and exploited, should catch the fancy of the modern audiences.

Bailey, a bondsman, is the ally of every type of crook from bank robber to shoplifter. Apparently deeply fond of his paramour, Ruby, he falls for Elaine, society bred kleptomaniac. Conflict arises when the girl and Ruby's bank-robbing brother, Drury, become infatuated. Drury, planning to jump his Bailey-bail, entrusts $50,000 in gold bonds to Elaine and $300,000 in registered bonds to destroy. She gives Bailey the "hot bonds" instead, and Bailey turns on his underworld pals, particularly offending Ruby, who sets all the big shot crooks and racketeers in town against Bailey. Dramatic suspense builds to a point in a pool game where Drury is shooting for a TNT-loaded eight-ball. The jailed Drury learns that Elaine has saved the $50,000 and gets a message to his sister telling her that Bailey has been framed. She arrives at the pool-hall just in time, an accident adding to the suspense to save Bailey's a name . . . but big box-office news today . . .

Only yesterday

only yesterday a face in the crowd . . . but today the darling of the Gods . . .

only yesterday a voice . . . but today a thrilling personality . . .

because this is a business of personalities . . .

and National Scene Trailers running ahead of the picture, introduces Universal's new name . . . Universal's new face . . . Universal's new star to a public hungry for new personalities . . . with actual scenes and actual dialog . . . samplevues of the new star herself . . .

that's why National Scene Trailers give you the best word-of-mouth exploitation in the business . . .

that's how sampelvue trailers by

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE

sell the stars with showmanship life. Then comes the denouement that throws Bailey into Ruby's arms and Elaine off on the trail of another sensation.

The title suggests melodramatic entertainment, and that is the thing to sell. Adapt a local topicalness to your advance publicity, which should have for its intent the direct suggestion that "Blood Money" is both an "expose" and entertainment that makes effective use of hokum in putting across its punch. Dialogue lines suggest any number of attractive catchlines and situations can be adapted to just as many ballyhoo possibilities.

As far as personalities are concerned, it is Bancroft's first picture since "Lady and Gent." All the qualities that patrons admired in the Bancroft character have been retained and accentuated. Frances Dee can be sold as the society girl with an underworld, sensation-seeking complex. Chick Chandler has a dramatic role very much different from his comedy part in "Melody Cruise," and a newcomer, Judith Anderson, star of numerous legitimate stage plays, is a new screen personality to talk about.

From a standpoint of localized campaigning, "Blood Money" permits showmen to take the picture into their own hands. Give it an energetic personal campaign, seeking support from newspapers, police officials, civic leaders.

It is a picture for adults.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced by 20th Century and released by United Artists. Producers, Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck. Director, Rowland Brown. Associate producers, William Goetz and Raymond Griffith. Screen play by Rowland Brown and Hal Long. Photographer, James Van Trees. Film editor, Lloyd Nosler. Art director, Al D'Agostino. Musical director, Alfred Newman. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Nov. 17, 1933.

CAST

Bill Bailey ..... George Bancroft
Elaine Talbert ..... Frances Dee
Drury Darling ..... Chick Chandler
Ruby Darling ..... Judith Anderson

and

Blossom Seeley
Etienne Girardot
George Regis
Theresa Harris
Kathryn Williams
John Bliffer
Ann Brody
Henry Lewis, Jr.
Sandra Shaw
Henry Kolker
Bradley Page

Christopher Bean

(MGM)

Comedy and Drama

With Marie Dressler in the show, "Christopher Bean" is one of those entire family pictures with the added personal glamour that marks it as both a deluxe and any type of patronage attraction. Sans other important values, it's merely a matter of announcing title, cast names and play dates to whet theatregoer curiosity.

Clean and homespun, dialogue rather than action drives the show along, yet there are plenty of situations developing comedy, drama, human interest and excitement. While treated in a different vein, Dressler's character is somewhat reminiscent of her "Emma" role, wherein audience attention and sympathy are riveted on her. Yet the picture is so handled that the members of the Haggett family, father and mother and two daughters, Susan and Ada, as well as the boy friend, Warren, bask in the spotlight.

In story, Abby is the veteran of nineteen years as maid of all work in the Haggett household. All the family joys, tragedies, romances and every day life are just as much part of her life as they are theirs. On the day she is quitting her job, it develops that some paintings by the late Christopher Bean have suddenly become fabulously valuable. The Doctor, having been selfishly chiseled out of a pair for a trifle, suddenly becomes aware of their worth. Having used the Bean paintings to cover the henhouse and patch leaky roofs, it develops that the only one extant is a portrait of Abby that hangs in her room.

Amid much excitement, Haggett and his wife avariciously and hypocritically seek to defraud Abby out of the portrait as art connoisseurs boost their price. Getting wise to the fact that she is being double-crossed, Abby reveals that she will not part with the portrait, but also that she has about a dozen others that Mrs. Haggett thought she burned in a bonfire as worthless. On top of that it is revealed that she is the widow of Christopher Bean and that the paintings are her rightful legacy. They are not for sale, as far as the Haggett family is concerned. Abby takes them to Chicago, where they will be of service in rehabilitating her sister's poverty-stricken family.

There's comedy to sell in this one and a fine moral lesson in the results of human greed that would toss a faithful slavey into discard for a wad of dough. There is natural convincing acting on the part of the entire cast, with Barrymore and Beulah Bondi effectively supporting Dressler that gives the down to earth comedy drama story plenty of punch.

For all practical purposes, "Christopher Bean" is one of those standby shows that in the face of any competition has the name and entertainment values.—McCarthy, Hollywood.

Produced and distributed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. A Sam Wood production, associate producer, Harry Rapf. Screen play by Sylvia Thalberg and Laurence E. Johnson. Based upon the play, "The Late Christopher Bean." Adapted by Sidney Howard from the play, "Prenez Garde a La Peinture," by Rene Fauchois. Running time, 87 minutes at preview, release length to be determined. Release date, November 17, 1933.

CAST

Abby ..... Marie Dressler
Dr. Haggett ..... Lionel Barrymore
Susan ..... Helen Mack
Mrs. Haggett ..... Beulah Bondi
Warren ..... Russell Hardie
Rosen ..... Jean Hersholt
Davenport ..... H. B. Warner
Ada ..... Helen Shipman
Tallant ..... George Coulouris
Maid ..... Ellen Lowe

Eat 'Em Alive

(Real Life Pictures)

Animal Life

Pictured in a manner perhaps more graphic than any of its predecessors in similar vein, "Eat 'Em Alive" is, in effect, a motion picture nature study. Because it is so graphic, so sharply realistic, it offers the exhibitor entertainment possibilities as well.

Its very reality may present a handicap. It is, actually, almost too good. Pictured virtually in silent form, with the addition of appropriate musical score and the explanation of a narrator, is the story of the vicious struggle for a precarious existence among the crawling things of the great Southwestern American desert, snakes, lizards, scorpions, spiders. The photography can be considered no less than a contribution to the natural lore of the desert. An "adventurer" wanders the desert in a modern motor truck, pitching his tent where he may and investigating the manner of life of the combatants in the eternal strife.

A screened foreword from the producers of the film states simply that the content is definitely authentic, that some of the sequences might well be found revolting by some of the audience, but that it is a true picture of conditions, as they exist, without any attempt to spare feelings for the sake of moderating the drama. Stern, unrelenting drama it certainly is.

Against a desert background of considerable pictorial value, including a sequence showing an enormous fresh water lake which, strangely enough, occupies a vast expanse almost in the center of the great desert, and is fed by numerous underground hot springs, most of the film's content progresses in a series of dramatic episodes.

The actors are all desert inhabitants. Highlighting the film are, in succession, battles to the death, first, between a "sidewinder" rattler and king snake, climaxed by the not too pleasant but excellently photographed spectacle of the king snake swallowing the "sidewinder," in the only manner the snake eats, by swallowing his food whole, forcing it down his throat by muscular contraction. There comes a fight between a gila monster and a diamondback rattler, another between a mongrel dog and a rattler, with the dog supposedly saving a baby from the snake; a monkey-faced owl and a snake, a centipede and a black spider, after which the centipede feasts on his victim; a fitch and a desert rat, a fitch and a rattler, which ends in a draw. Also is a most interesting battle between two giant land turtles, butting each other until one turns the other on his back, from which position there is no return, death being the only answer. A touch of comedy has its place, as the tiny fitch gets into trouble. Harold Austin, who produced the picture, renders the accompanying dialogue in interesting fashion.

It is strong material, perhaps too strong for the average school child, and for many of the feminine patronage. Yet, in its fashion, it is entertainment, vital drama of the sort not often seen. With a clear indication to the patronage of what they are to see, let the exhibitor promise something unusual, but exercise care in the selling.—Aaronson, New York.

Produced by Harold Austin. Distributed by Real Life Pictures. Narration by Harold Austin. New York release date, November 3, 1933. Running time, 60 minutes.

Mervyn LeRoy was the director of "Tugboat Annie," MGM production that won first rank in both the August and September Box Office Champions, established by Motion Picture Herald's weekly compilation of box office receipts in key cities of the land. The picture was also among the Champions of 1932-33. Mr. LeRoy's name inadvertently was omitted from the production details in the September Champions announcement, though duly recorded in the listing of the 1932-33 and the August, 1933, winners.

Police Car 17

(Columbia)

Melodrama

The exhibitor may well spread his appeal to Tim McCoy's outdoor film following to be coupled with the story herein of the dramatic part played by the short wave radio in police auto patrol work. In fact, there is available a bit of potential sideline hookup with radio station, radio fan, and police department. For the marquee, then, it's the real McCoy, and to that may be added the name of Evalyn Knapp, who handles her part of the picture in a way that merits attention in the billing.

Whatever may be the particular community's reaction to pictures of the gangland mould, there is an abundance of action to be promised the customers. Evalyn Knapp, school teacher, has been an eyewitness to a display of tact by Policeman McCoy in reconciling a family after preventing what the mother mistakenly had thought to be a kidnapping of her boy by his father.

Miss Knapp is the daughter of Wallis Clark, police lieutenant, cripped when he captured Edwin Maxwell, gangster extraordinaire. But Maxwell escapes from prison and Clark knows he will try to exact his revenge. Clark has decided to have the operation that will remove the bullet, but may remove him as well—but he feels that he is a drag on his daughter's future unless he does something. An ambulance draws up at the door and the two start away. When a second ambulance arrives, the neighbors tell of the first one and the police know that the lieutenant and his daughter have been taken for a ride with other destination

(Continued on page 42)

THE CAMERA REPORTS

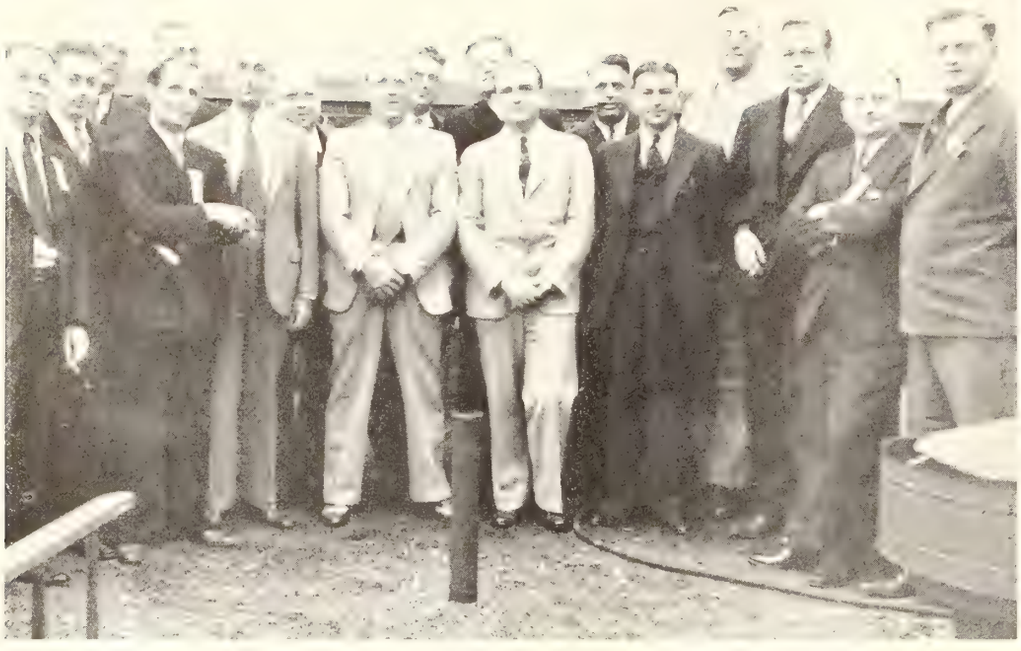
EXOTIC? Anyway, she's Kathryn Sergava, of the Moscow Art Theatre, appearing opposite Warren William in Warners' "Bedside" and signed to a new contract after the first rushes.

SIGNED. Dorothy Ward (above), chosen by Phyllis Haver from a five-and-dime counter, is to play leads for Educational and Milton Berle (below) for a Musical Comedy short.

CONSTELLATION. Star of opera, musical comedy and screen, Grace Moore, halted work on a Columbia picture for a White House broadcast, on invitation of the President.

STILL BANJO-EYED, but not stringing anyone this time, Eddie Cantor, president of the Actors' Screen Guild, talks on code matters. (Left to right) Bernard Sobel, New York Daily Mirror; Mr. Cantor, in Goldwyn's "Roman Scandals," United Artists; Hal Horne, ad. director; Bob Steven, Cleveland Plain Dealer.

FOUR HORSEMEN. But that's a misnomer, for their vehicles of note are Warner productions. Here are William Koenig, studio manager; Mervyn LeRoy, ace director; Hal Wallis, in charge of production; Jacob Wilk, story editor. After lunch, Wilk seems to have some reserve gastronomical ammunition for later on.



SWEET SUE. Cora Sue Collins, 6 years old, in MGM's "Queen Christina."

DEBUT. Emily Lowry (below), stage ingenue, in Warners' "As the Earth Turns."

EXHIBITOR LEADERS. And here are the new officers of the Southeastern Exhibitors Association. The officers are the following: F. F. Thompson, F. F. Watson, T. E. Watson, Ben Stein, Mack Jackson, W. Hartman, Love B. Harrell, President Nat Williams, J. C. H. Wink, A. E. Van Croix, Al Fowler, H. C. Wales, L. D. Joel, L. J. Duncan, Hugh Manning, Col. William Orr, Mitchell Wolfson, O. C. Lam, Sam Borisky, Willis J. Davis, H. T. Wood, C. H. Powell, R. B. Wilby, Fred Wise, Louis Bach. Photo by Harry Nichols of Motion Picture Herald field staff.

Gifford Cochran, co-producer with John Krimsky of the production "Emperor Jones," which United Artists is releasing, returns from a visit in Germany with two jovial and lively shipmates.

TWO MODELS. Agnes Anderson, brunette winner of the title of Miss Detroit in a contest in that city of Michigan, views a model from which a full-size set is to be constructed on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot. Harry Rapf, producer of "The Hollywood Party," in which Miss Anderson becomes a screen player, explains something of the mechanics of the motion picture.

BOOK REVIEW

SCREEN PERSONALITIES. By Vincent Trotta and Cliff Lewis. New York: Grosset & Dunlap. 109 pp. Cloth; price, $1.

The authors have selected 100 motion picture players and for each prepared a page of crayon sketches and a few words of biography, with the hope, as they say in a foreword, that the information "about their lives and careers may help you know a little better the 100 human, flesh-and-blood personalities whose shadows flit daily across thousands of silver screens all over the world." The "you" addressed, obviously, are the "fans," who, should they be that interested (and interested in that way) in Nancy Carroll, for example, will learn:

"It's been said that Nancy kicked herself into success. The first kick was part of a dance act she and her sister did for an amateur performance in one of the Loew Theatres on the East Side of New York. The last and most celebrated kick was a fiery protest against not being admitted to the Paramount Hollywood Studio where she had gone to visit a friend. Anne Nichols overheard her and ten minutes later she got the feminine lead in the picture that was to send her stock to the peak. . . . She is five feet three inches in height and weighs 115 pounds. . . . She has a daughter by her first husband." Adjoining are a large crayon sketch of Miss Carroll, and four smaller sketches delineating selected junctures in her life's history.

The portrait sketches of all the players are good likenesses.—GEORGE SCHUTZ.

Variety Clubs Formed In St. Louis, Cincinnati

Harold W. Evans, manager of Loew's State in St. Louis, has been named president of the recently established Variety Club of St. Louis. It is modeled after similar groups in Pittsburgh and Columbus. Other officers are: George D. Tyson, vice-president; John Baker, secretary; Alvin A. Wolff, treasurer.

Articles of incorporation have been filed for the newly organized Variety Club of Cincinnati. Permanent officers will be elected immediately after the opening of club rooms in a downtown Cincinnati hotel shortly. This brings the total of such clubs to four.

Laughton and Chevalier Signed by London Films

(By London Correspondent)

Charles Laughton and Maurice Chevalier have been signed to three-year contracts by London Film Productions. Laughton will make five pictures in all, while Chevalier is to star in one each year. Both contracts permit playing in Hollywood as well.

London Films is spending half a million sterling (approximately $2,447,000 at current exchange) on production in the next 12 months.

Derr Leaves for Coast, Planning Six Productions

E. B. Derr, former Pathe executive, left New York for the Coast late last week following a visit in connection with Derr-Sullivan Productions, which plans six features. The first is expected to go into work in Hollywood shortly. Mr. Derr indicated distribution probably will be through a major company. Beyond that, however, he would not disclose details.

Hughes Planning Three Films

Howard Hughes was in New York this week to discuss with United Artists a deal to make three features for release by that company. His first, starting in the spring, would be directed by Lewis Milestone.

Erpi Wins Tennis Title, Nosing Out United Artists

Repeating their 1932 championship, Electrical Research Products, Inc., won this season's play at the Kings county courts, New York, with a one-match lead over United Artists by virtue of taking three from Columbia last week. The final standings were:

Team	Won	Lost
Erpi	20	4
United Artists	19	5
Fox Films	18	6
Columbia	15	9
Paramount	12	12
Warner Bros.	11	13
Consolidated	7	14
Monogram	3	21
Universal	0	24

"Deft direction... delightful humor... stirring pathos."
Photoplay Magazine
THE MOST GLORIOUS LOVE STORY SINCE "7th HEAVEN"!
A Man's Castle
A FRANK BORZAGE Production
with
SPENCER TRACY — LORETTA YOUNG
Screen play by Jo Swerling
From the play by Lawrence Hazard
A COLUMBIA PICTURE
A Screen Guild Picture

than the hospital. McCoy proposes to Captain De Witt Jennings that Harold Huber, Miss Knapp's suitor whom he has caught in a jewelry robbery, be released so that he can trail him. Following him to his garage he fights Huber into a confession—a scene that may not maintain full audience sympathy for Tim, but nevertheless does the trick. Then McCoy arrives in time to shoot it out with Maxwell.

Concentrate on McCoy in a different type of role that still permits the vigorous action of the western, and on the radio patrol phase.

The only point to consider as far as appeal to children is concerned is whether the crime and shooting atmosphere is a factor. If that is not a point for consideration in your community, the picture may be set in for the Saturday trade.—ROVELSTAD, New York.

Produced and distributed by Columbia. Story and direction by Lambert Hillyer. Assistant director, Art Black. Cameraman, Benjamin Kline. Sound engineer, Edward Bernds. Film editor, Otto Meyer. Release date, September 30, 1933. Running time, 58 minutes.

CAST

Tim Conlon ..... TimMcCoy
Helen Regan ..... Evalyn Knapp
Dan Regan ..... Wallis Clark
Bumps O'Neill ..... Ward Bond
Johnny Davis ..... Harold Huber
"Big Bill" Standish ..... Edwin Maxwell
Harry ..... Charley West
Ace Boyle ..... Jack Long
Captain Hart ..... DeWitt Jennings

Tillie and Gus

(Paramount)

Comedy

Fun, laughs and more laughs, with the addition of a small romantic interest, a touch of almost a tear here and there, make "Tillie and Gus" a good proposition for the exhibitor. There are three box office names to plaster on the marquee. W. C. Fields, the delightful old trouper of "International House," and Alison Skipworth of equal note as a comic and able character actress, share the lead with Baby Le Roy, the current rage of the youngest generation of film players, now able to stand up and toddle, and with particular appeal to the feminine contingent of the audience.

The yarn is much of the usual stuff, and there is little attempt to make it much more than a convenient vehicle for the comedy of Fields and Miss Skipworth. They are never long absent from the screen throughout the film, and they contrive to keep things moving at a fast pace of humorous dialogue and action when they are on. A supporting cast is capable, providing good material for the stars.

As the inconsequential story opens, Clarence Wilson, crooked lawyer, is trying to do Jacqueline Wells and her husband, Clifford Jones, out of the inheritance of her father. Baby Le Roy is their son, called the "King." Notified of the estate are the girl's aunt, Miss Skipworth, plying her business at Tillie's place, somewhere in China, while Fields is given an hour to leave Alaska, after a card game that has gone wrong. As far as the children know, they are missionaries. The pair arrive, with comedy in their accidental meeting, and the taking over of a few card sharpers en route, to find the lawyer trying to do the children out of a ferry franchise and a broken down boat. The only chance to retain the franchise is victory over the rival boat, belonging to Wilson, in a race.

The fast comedy, with numerous laughs, fills the rest of the yarn, until, as expected, and amusingly, the race is won and the franchise saved. Miss Skipworth and Fields, as Tillie and Augustus Winterbottom, are the picture's best bets, not forgetting the very young and wholly charming Mr. Le Roy. Sell it with all the laugh ballyhoo that can be engendered, as straight comedy, of almost the laugh-a-minute variety, promising the patronage a good, laughable time.

Though the story may be inconsequential, it makes little or no difference, in so far as the entertainment value of the film is concerned. Use gags built around the ferryboat race angle in the story, sending invitations to the patrons to attend the great race, which takes place on the Fourth of July. The youngsters may see it as well as the adults, and it is the kind of comedy film which the entire family should enjoy. It will spot well in almost any position of the week.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by Francis Martin. Produced by Douglas MacLean. Photographed by Ben Reynolds. From an original story by Rupert Hughes. Screen play by Walter De Leon and Francis Martin. Art direction by Hans Dreier and Harry Oliver. Release date, October 13, 1933. Running time, 58 minutes.

CAST

Augustus Winterbottom ..... W. C. Fields
Tillie Winterbottom ..... Alison Skipworth
The "King" ..... Baby LeRoy
Mary Sheridan ..... Jacqueline Wells
Tom Sheridan ..... Clifford Jones
Phineas Pratt ..... Clarence Wilson
Captain Fogg ..... George Barbier
Commissioner McLennan ..... Barton MacLane
Judge ..... Edgar Kennedy
Defense Attorney ..... Robert McKenzie
Harrington ..... Master Williams

College Coach

(Warner)

Drama

The football season being in its full swing at the moment, a football picture should be counted upon as good selling material for any exhibitor. Also with the almost perennial discussion of the coach who, in the business of making winning football teams, follows a policy of purchasing players, this film should have an additional selling value. Of the publicity-hound coach, whose services go to the highest bidder, and whose chief interest in the game is the money in it, this production presents an active, entertaining picture.

There is excellent marquee material, selling names in the cast. Pat O'Brien, as Coach Gore, gives a racy, hard-hitting quality to his top role. Ann Dvorak, as his wife, supplies what little romantic interest the film contains, while Dick Powell, undoubtedly remembered for his Warner musical roles, is the lad interested more in the chemistry laboratory than in the gridiron. Lyle Talbot, who plays where he gets his price, is a good name, and the rest of the cast contains numerous persons who are familiars.

The story is primarily of the methods employed by Coach Gore, and the picture should be sold with that as the basis. It would not be well to indicate that such things as this film depicts actually take place too blatantly, yet it is the film's theme, and it should prove good selling to promise a closeup of how a bigtime coach might operate. There is considerable action, good dialogue, some comedy and the inevitable last minute victory coming seemingly out of nowhere.

With the trustees of the college facing a huge deficit, it is decided to hire Coach Pat O'Brien, build a football team and kick the deficit for a field goal over the crossbar of gate receipts. O'Brien comes, and with him his importations, including Talbot, boastful, swaggering, a grandstand player. Powell is a serious student, but also good football timber. O'Brien's domestic troubles become serious when his wife resents his neglect of her for his coaching duties, which include boys' clubs, newspaper stories, endorsing merchandise and the rest. His wife begins to see something of the amorous Talbot. Powell quits the team, resenting his inability to get somewhere as a student. The team is weakened, especially when Talbot is fired from the squad after O'Brien catches him in a restaurant with his wife. Everything, including the continuation of Powell's beloved chemistry laboratory, depends on the final game, and Talbot and Powell go in at the inevitable last minute to win. O'Brien is reconciled to his wife but ready to quit coaching—when a bigger and better offer comes from the rival college, and he accepts.

The college coach, in this film, is not exactly a figure for lovers of pure amateurism and the glory of sport to rave about, but O'Brien does contrive to make of him an entirely frank and straightforward figure, according to his lights.

The film is lively entertainment with a punch, chiefly contributed by O'Brien, a measure of good comedy and a football thrill for the youngsters of all ages.—AARONSON, New York.

Produced and distributed by Warner Bros. Directed by William A. Wellman. Story and screen play by Niven Busch and Manuel Seff. Photographed by Arthur Todd. Film editor, Thomas Pratt. Art director, Jack Okey. Release date, November 4, 1933. Running time, 75 minutes.

CAST

Phil Sargent ..... Dick Powell
Claire Gore ..... Ann Dvorak
Coach Gore ..... Pat O'Brien
Dr. Philip Sargent ..... Arthur Byron
Buck Weaver ..... Lyle Talbot
Barnett ..... Hugh Herbert
Matthews ..... Guinn Williams
Petrowski ..... Nat Pendleton
Editor ..... Phillip Faversham
Hauser ..... Charles C. Wilson
Spencer Trask ..... Donald Meek
Otis ..... Burton Churchill
Seymour Young ..... Arthur Hohl
Professor ..... Harry Beresford
Glantz ..... Herman Bing
Holcomb ..... Joe Saurers
Westerman ..... Philip Reed

Please

(Paramount)

Fair

For those among the motion picture audience who find the crooning Bing Crosby engaging as performer and vocalist, this short subject probably will be judged entertaining. In a comedy effort, Crosby comes upon a young vocal teacher in the country and concealing his identity, becomes her pupil in an effort to persuade her to look upon him with favor. In a singing contest before the townfolk, Crosby wins over the other swain seeking the teacher's hand. There are a few laughs, but the Crosby fans should like it. His name is worth selling space in the advertising and on the marquee.—Running time, 20 minutes.

In the Zoo

(Universal)

Good

There's a sequence of fun that gets places in this Oswald cartoon comedy. Oswald's accordion charms the animals, until the villainous and peg-legged keeper pulls off the lyre-bird's lyre, sicks a squad of moths on to the bear to denude him, padlocks the kangaroo's pouch, and so on. Then Oswald provides the lyrebird with a dishpan-and-beak phonograph, the bear with hairtonic and the kangaroo's children with a rumble seat. It's good.—Running time, 7 minutes.

Mills Blue Rhythm Band

(Vitaphone)

Entertainment

One of the Melody Masters series, this has the Blue Rhythm band of colored boys doing their stuff in a Harlem night club setting, with numerous bright lights among the colored performers handling their specialties in their accustomed snappy style. One lad shows unusual ability in a tap dance routine, skipping rope at the same time, while a girl does a popular number or two in good style. An entertaining musical number.—Running time, 10 minutes.

Mickey's Tentshow

(Columbia)

Amusing

The youngsters, and a good many adults, should derive considerable enjoyment from the Mickey (Himself) McGuire series of shorts, based on the famous cartoon kids of Fontaine Fox. With Mickey Rooney as usual playing Mickey, the gang discovers old circus paraphernalia, and puts on a big show. Stinky Davis, goody-goody rival of Mickey, does things to prevent the show, and then attempts to break it up when it does go on. He "borrows" his father's radio, but something happens to that, and Stinky gets what is coming to him. It is amusing, lively "kid comedy" stuff.—Running time, 18 minutes.

WABASH AVENUE

CHICAGO

Association of George H. Brown, formerly supervisor of construction and maintenance in the Middlewest for RKO, with Guercio and Barthel at their enlarged headquarters at 908 S. Wabash avenue, marks the beginning of an expanded policy for the company which will take it into the field of theatre designing, decoration and furnishing. Mr. Brown has been connected with many important theatre projects in the past and will give his specialized knowledge to theatre construction, rehabilitation and decorating.

▽

William Brumberg, who has been in the East for several months, is back on the row as an independent exchange operator. Brumberg has opened offices of Weldon Pictures Corporation at 831 S. Wabash avenue and is handling "Damaged Lives" for several Middlewest states.

▽

Theatres in the organization of Jack Miller and Aaron Saperstein are all set on a program of trailer cooperation with the Red Cross throughout its annual roll call from Armistice to Thanksgiving Day.

▽

Joseph Stern, who operates the Highway, Chelten, Colony, Marquette, Lombard and Du Page theatres, has opened offices at 910 S. Michigan avenue.

▽

Alex Halperin, local Warner buyer, is understood to be convalescing in a New York hospital.

▽

Sol Goldman of Ben Judell's office wants the world to know that the week of December 3 to 9 has been designated as Goldman's bookers week.

▽

Majestic Pictures Corporation this week opened its own exchange in Film Row, with Percy Barr as local manager.

▽

Jack Thoma, Columbia divisional publicity director, played host to Grace Moore on a visit to the World's Fair when the star stopped off here on her way to Washington, where she has been invited to sing for Mrs. Roosevelt.

▽

Loop business is on the downgrade since the Fair closed, but local circuit executives do not expect it to hit the low that was experienced rather generally just prior to the Fair's opening.

▽

Jim Best has opened the Blaine theatre.

▽

Midwest Theatre Supply Company, operated by L. Kuttnauer, has moved into new quarters on the third floor at 910 S. Michigan.

▽

Jack O'Toole of Advance Film Company put in a rather full day last Saturday when, after his morning office hours, he spent the afternoon as head linesman at the Marquette-Creighton game.

▽

George Brown, director of advertising and publicity for Columbia, passed through town last week en route to the Coast.

HOLQUIST

McFarland Named To Head Columbia Shorts Selling

J. W. McFarland has been placed in charge of Columbia short subject sales, a new post created under the supervision of Abe Montague, general sales manager. McFarland was formerly in promotional work for Columbia and was Walt Disney's eastern representative for some years.

ON BROADWAY

Week of November 11

CAPITOL
Fine Feathers..... MGM

HOLLYWOOD
Operator's Opera..... Vitaphone
I Got to Sing a Torch Song. Vitaphone
Exploring the Pacific..... Vitaphone

MAYFAIR
Fannie's Wedding Day..... Fox
In Morocco..... Columbia
Melody Tour..... Master Art
News Laffs..... Beverly Hills

PARAMOUNT
Blow Me Down..... Paramount
One Awful Night..... Paramount

RIALTO
Hollywood on Parade—No. 4. Paramount
Kennel Kings..... Paramount
Please ..... Paramount

RIVOLI
The Pet Shop..... United Artists
Across the Sea..... Educational

RKO MUSIC HALL
Snug in the Jug..... RKO Radio
A.M. to P.M..... RKO Radio
Man's Best Friend..... Master Art

STRAND
Yeast Is Yeast..... Vitaphone
Mills' Blue Rhythm Band... Vitaphone
Bosko's Picture Show..... Vitaphone

NEWS PICTURES

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 15—Football fans see teams fight it out—Farmers plead with Roosevelt—Picture paragraphs in the day's news—Corn belt champs battle for title—Pictures of Chinese floods in which many died.

FOX MOVIETONE NEWS—No. 16—Maxim Litvinoff arrives in America—Nation goes wet—Wedding in black are the latest—Picture paragraphs in the day's news—New York voters upset Tammany rule of city by electing La Guardia mayor.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 214—Tammany beaten as New York elects La Guardia mayor—Japan's warriors led by Emperor in war test—Metrotone snapshots—Soviet envoy comes to United States for Roosevelt talks—Prohibition's reign ends.

HEARST METROTONE NEWS—No. 215—200 die in battle at Havana fort—Crown king of cornfields at West Point, Neb.—Grid war nears climax—Metrotone snapshots—Thrilling crash in big auto race at Atlanta, Ga.

PARAMOUNT NEWS — No. 29 — Farmers brings troubles to President—Babe Ruth greeted in Waikiki—New York City elects La Guardia mayor—Byrd ship leaves Canal Zone—Litvinoff speaks with Roosevelt—Prohibition ends.

PARAMOUNT NEWS—No. 30—Blimp lowers observer 850 feet in midair over Langley Field, Va.—Honor war dead at Arlington, Va.—Wet and dry leaders give reactions to prohibition's end.

PATHE NEWS—No. 30—St. Mary's defeat Fordham—Entries prepare for New York horse show—Thousands of ducks visit Lake Tule in California—2,620 couples marry in Rome.

PATHE NEWS—No. 31—Soviet envoy lauds United States friendship—Farmers revolt at Des Moines, Ia.—No saloons for New York—Prohibitionists make last stand at Westerville, O.—Prisoners volunteer to help cure sleeping sickness at Parchman, Miss.—News flashes.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 196—Soviet envoy arrives in New York—Mark Republic's birthday in Czechoslovakia—Odd games revived by by fete in China.

UNIVERSAL NEWSPAPER NEWSREEL—No. 197—Loyal troops take fort in Havana—Columbia beats Navy—Thousands in mass wedding in Rome—Four killed in airplane crash at Portland, Ore.

THE BOX OFFICE CHAMPIONS FOR OCTOBER

The champions for October, selected by the nation's key city box offices, are about equally divided between light and the serious in emotional appeal. As in September, seven productions qualify for listing, with two tied for fourth position, and two for fifth.

THE BOWERY
UNITED ARTISTS

(1) Directed by Raoul Walsh. Executive producer, Darryl Zanuck. Associate producers, William Goetz and Raymond Griffith. Based on novel by Michael L. Simmons and Bessie Roth Solomon. Screen play by Howard Estabrook and James Gleason. Photographed by Barney McGill. Film editor, Allen McNeil. Art director, Richard Day. Music director, Alfred Newman. Cast: Wallace Beery, George Raft, Jackie Cooper. Released October 13, 1933.

I'M NO ANGEL
PARAMOUNT

(2) Directed by Wesley Ruggles. Original story, screen play and dialogue by Mae West. Continuity by Harlan Thompson, with suggestions by Lowell Brentano. Music by Harvey Brooks. Lyrics by Gladys du Bois and Ben Ellison. Photographed by Leo Tover. Sound, Phil G. Wisdom. Art directors, Hans Dreier and Bernard Herzbrun. Cast: Mae West, Cary Grant, Edward Arnold, Ralf Harolde, Russell Hopton. Released October 6, 1933.

TOO MUCH HARMONY
PARAMOUNT

(3) Directed by Edward Sutherland. Story by Joseph L. Mankiewicz. Dialogue by Harry Ruskin. Music and lyrics by Arthur Johnston and Sam Coslow. Dance ensembles by LeRoy Prinz. Photographed by Theodore Sparkuhl. Cast: Bing Crosby, Jack Oakie, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, Judith Allen, Lilyan Tashman, Harry Green, Ned Sparks, Grace Bradley, Kitty Kelly, Mrs. Evelyn Offield Oakie. Released September 29, 1933.

DINNER AT EIGHT
M G M

(4) Directed by George Cukor. Executive producer, David O. Selznick. From the stage play by George S. Kaufman and Edna Ferber. Screen play by Frances Marion and Herman J. Mankiewicz. Additional dialogue by Donald Ogden Stewart. Photographed by William Daniels. Cast: Marie Dressler, John Barrymore, Wallace Beery, Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Lee Tracy, Edmund Lowe, Billie Burke, Madge Evans, Jean Hersholt, Karen Morley.

NIGHT FLIGHT
M G M

(4) Directed by Clarence Brown. Executive producer, David O. Selznick. From the story by Antoine de Saint Euxpery. Screen play by Oliver H. P. Garrett. Photographed by Oliver T. Marsh. Aerial photography by Elmer Dwyer and Charles Marshall. Cast: John Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Clark Gable, Lionel Barrymore, Robert Montgomery, Myrna Loy, William Gargan, C. Henry Gordon, Leslie Fenton, Harry Beresford, Frank Conroy, Ralf Harolde. Released October 6, 1933.

LADY FOR A DAY
COLUMBIA

(5) Directed by Frank Capra. Original story by Damon Runyon. Screen play by Robert Riskin. Photographed by Joseph Walker. Cast: May Robson, Warren William, Guy Kibbee, Glenda Farrell, Ned Sparks, Jean Parker, Walter Connolly, Barry Norton, Nat Pendleton, Hobart Bosworth, Halliwell Hobbes, Robert Emmett O'Connor, Wallis Clark. Released September 13, 1933.

POWER AND THE GLORY
FOX

(5) Produced by Jesse L. Lasky. Directed by William K. Howard. Original screen play by Preston Sturges. Photographed by James Howe. Art director, Max Parker. Sound recorder, A. W. Protzman. Musical direction by Louis DeFrancesco. Cast: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore, Ralph Morgan, Helen Vinson, Clifford Jones, Henry Kolker, Sarah Padden, Billy O'Brien, Cullen Johnston, J. Farrell MacDonald. Released October 6, 1933.

365 FILMS PICKED FOR SPECIAL USE IN NEIGHBORHOOD, SMALL TOWNS

Pictures Selected by National Board of Review for Junior Matinees, Special Book Tieups, Timeliness of Screen Story, Exceptional Artistry in Production, and Foreign Product

Motion picture theatre owners, especially that vast majority not operating so called "downtown" runs which call upon transient trade, will find many possibilities for special merchandising treatment in the various compilations of some 365 selected films made available last week by the National Board of Review. Pictures selected are classified as follows: 106 films for junior matinees; 73 special book films; 42 motion pictures on subjects of timely interest; 102 exceptional photoplays; 42 foreign films released in America.

The Board already has sent copies to several dozens of better films committees, women's clubs and reviewing committees of civic associations. Exhibitors may easily arrange with these groups for sponsored showings of the productions selected. In any event, the selections may serve as a guide to exhibitors who see possibilities in staging any of the special showings for which purpose the selections were made.

While the family weekend program is said to have gained favor with Better Films Councils and other groups interested in providing suitable screen material for young folk, there is also reported to be a wide demand for junior matinee programs, especially for children. The junior matinee, according to the National Board, requires more of the older pictures, as the recent offerings may not supply enough pictures particularly appropriate for children and because the necessary price of admission would be too high to make their rental advisable for special junior matinees where the box-office price should be low. Ten serials and several westerns are included in this group.

The list of selected book-films was started in conjunction with Children's Book Week, an annual fall observance, but it was found by the Board that so many of the films adapted from novels and plays are unsuitable for children. However, there is said to be a widespread year-round interest in films adapted from outstanding novels, or especially related to reading. The Board, therefore, compiled a record for current use. It contains from the general list of films selected by the review committees of the Board a number of adaptations and other selected works which have some specific book interest. For exhibitors they have a definite library tieup value, also presenting possibilities for exploitation in book stores and book windows.

The motion picture in the theatre is primarily for entertainment, but through its treatment of topics of present day interest, it may become a factor in the study of social and human relationships and of current problems. The films selected for this group are suggested for special programs or uses within the theatre.

Great interest is said to have been evidenced in foreign films recently released here. Groups principally interested are Better Films associations, little theatre units, universities and other schools.

The list of "exceptional photoplays" contains films rated by the Exceptional Photoplays Committee of the National Board as possessing outstanding merit in motion picture artistry.

FILMS FOR JUNIOR MATINEES

The Board, with the cooperation of the distributors, has prepared this list to include both current releases which are recommended by the review committee, together with older pictures still in circulation and likewise recommended by the committee. In this compilation appear title, star, number of reels (in parentheses) and distributor. The asterisk (*) preceding a title denotes a picture especially interesting, entertaining, or well done, according to the Board's recommendations.

*Abraham Lincoln, Walter Huston, (10), United Artists.
Across the World with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, Exploration, (8) Principal.
Alice in Wonderland, Ruth Gilbert, (6) Kinematrade.
*Around the World in 80 Minutes, Douglas Fairbanks, (8), United Artists.
*Big Cage, Clyde Beatty, (8), Universal.
Black Beauty, Alexander Kirkland, (6), Monogram.
Bottom of the World, Antarctic scenes, (4), Principal.
*Bring 'Em Back Alive, Buck's animal film, (7), RKO.
*By Rocket to the Moon, Novelty, (9), Ufa.
Chandu the Magician, Edmund Lowe, (7), Fox.
Check and Double Check, Amos 'n Andy, (9), RKO.
*Cockeyed Animal World, Australian scenic, (4), Principal.
Congorilla, African travels, (7), Fox.
*Connecticut Yankee, Will Rogers, (9), Fox.
Cougar the King Killer, (Cougars & dogs), (6), Master Art.
*Covered Wagon, Lois Wilson, (6), Kodascope.
Daddy Long Legs, Janet Gaynor, (8), Fox.
*Dangers of the Arctic, Exploration, (4), Principal.
Dassan, the Isle of Penguin: Travelogue, (5) First Division.
Elmer the Great, Joe E. Brown, (7), First National.
Eskimo Perils, (Alaskan scenic), (6), Ameranglo.
Evangeline, Dolores del Rio, (9), United Artists.
Expert, Dickie Moore, (7), Warner.
*Explorers of the World, Exploration, (10), Raspin.
Fast Companions, James Gleason, (7), Universal.
Feet First, Harold Lloyd, (10), Paramount.
Fireman Save My Child, Joe E. Brown, (6), First National.
Forbidden Adventure, Mitzi Green, (8), Paramount.
Handle with Care, Buster Phelps, (7), Fox.
High Speed, Mickey McGuire, (6), Columbia.
Huckleberry Finn, Junior Durkin, (8), Paramount.
Huddle, Ramon Novarro, (11), Metro.
*Hypnotized, Moran and Mack, (7), Educational.
*Iron Mask, Douglas Fairbanks, (11), United Artists.
King of the Jungle, Buster Crabbe, (8), Paramount.
Lady of the Lake, Percy Marmont, (5), Capital.
Little Orphan Annie, Mitzi Green, (7), RKO.
Lucky Dog, Buster the Dog, (7), Universal.
Maker of Men, Jack Holt, (7), Columbia.
Man Hunt, Junior Durkin, (7), RKO.
Maybe It's Love, Joe E. Brown, (7), Warner.
*Mr. Robinson Crusoe, Douglas Fairbanks, (6), United Artists.
My Pal, The King, Mickey Rooney, (6), Universal.
Oliver Twist, Dickie Moore, (7), Monogram.
Only the Brave, Gary Cooper, (8), Paramount.
Pack Up Your Troubles, Laurel & Hardy, (7), Metro.
Penrod and Sam, Junior Coughlan, (7) Warner.
Puss in Boots, Operetta, (4), Arnold.
Racing Youth, Slim Summerville, (7), Universal.
*Rango, Sumatran jungle life), (8), Paramount.
Return of Casey Jones, Charles Starrett, (6), Monogram.
*Silent Enemy, Indian life—native cast, (9), Beacon.
*Skippy, Jackie Cooper, (10), Paramount.
Sky Devils, Spencer Tracy, (9), United Artists.
Sooky, Robert Coogan, (9), Paramount.
Special Delivery, Eddie Cantor, (7), Paramount.
Speed Demon, William Collier, Jr., (7), Columbia.
*Spirit of Notre Dame, Lew Ayres, (8), Universal.
Tarzan the Fearless, Buster Crabbe, (7), Principal.
Tom Sawyer, Jackie Coogan, (10), Paramount.
Touchdown, Richard Arlen, (8), Paramount.
*Trader Horn, Harry Carey, (13), Metro.
Trailing the Killer, Dog story, (7), Educational.
Untamed Africa, Travelogue, (5), Warner.
Viking, Capt. Bob Bartlett, (6), Beacon.
Virgins of Bali, Native life, (5), Principal.
When a Feller Needs a Friend, Jackie Cooper, (8), Metro.
*Wings, Buddy Rogers, (13), Paramount.
*With Byrd at the South Pole, (8), Paramount.
*With Williamson Beneath the Sea, (6), Principal.
You Said a Mouthful, Joe E. Brown, (6), First National.
*Zoo in Budapest, Gene Raymond, (8), Fox.

SERIALS

(The following serials have 12 episodes of 2 reels each, except for the first episode which usually runs 3 reels.)

Devil Horse, Harry Carey, Mascot.
Fighting with Kit Carson, Johnny Mack Brown, Mascot.
Gordon of Ghost City, Buck Jones, Universal.
Hurricane Express, John Wayne, Mascot.
Indians Are Coming, Universal.
Jungle Mystery, Tom Tyler, Universal.
Last Frontier, Creighton Chaney, RKO.
Last of the Mohicans, Harry Carey, Mascot.
Shadow of the Eagle, John Wayne, Mascot.
Tarzan the Fearless, Buster Crabbe, Principal.

WESTERNS

California Trail, Buck Jones, (7), Columbia.
Come on Danger, Tom Keene, (6), RKO.
Dude Bandit, Hoot Gibson, (7), First Division.
Gun Law, Jack Hoxie, (6), Majestic.
Heritage of the Desert, Randolph Scott, (7), Paramount.
Lone Avenger, Ken Maynard, (6), World Wide.
Partners, Tom Keene, (6), RKO.
Phantom Thunderbolt, Ken Maynard, (6), World Wide.
Rustlers' Roundup, Tom Mix, (6), Universal.
Rusty Rides Alone, Tim McCoy, (6), Columbia.
Scarlet River, Tom Keene, (6), RKO.
Silent Men, Tim McCoy, (6), Columbia.
Smoked Lighting, George O'Brien, (6), Fox.
Somewhere in Sonora, John Wayne, (5), Warner.
Strawberry Roan, Ken Maynard, (6), Universal.
Sunset Pass, Randolph Scott, (7), Paramount.
Telegraph Trail, John Wayne, (5), Warner.
Terror Trail, Tom Mix, (6), Universal.
Trail Drive, Ken Maynard, (7), Universal.
Under the Tonto Rim, Stuart Erwin, (7), Paramount.
Via Pony Express, Jack Oakie, (6), Majestic.
When a Man Rides Alone, Tom Tyler, (5), Freuler.
Whirlwind, Tim McCoy, (6), Columbia.
Wild Horse Mesa, Randolph Scott, (7), Paramount.

SELECTED BOOK FILMS

The order of arrangement in this compilation is: title, source, author, star, number of reels and distributor. The symbols preceding the title indicate: f—suitable for family audience, 12 years up; m—suitable for mature audience, 18 years up; j—suitable for children under 12 years; (*)—especially interesting or well done:

f Alone, (story of a Soviet school teacher). Russian production. 7 rls.—Amkino.
m Amazon Head Hunters, The, (South American travelogue). 6 rls.—Principal.
f Ann Carver's Profession, (novel, "Rules for Wives," by Robert Riskin). Fay Wray; 7 rls.—Columbia.
m Ann Vickers, (novel by Sinclair Lewis). Irene Dunne; 9 rls.—RKO.

FOR JUNIOR MATINEES, BOOK TIEUPS

f ANOUSH, (Armenian peasant life in the '60's). Armenian production. 7 rls.—Armenkino.
f *BERKELEY SQUARE, (exceptional picture concerning a man who projected himself back into the 18th century). Leslie Howard; 9 rls.—Fox. jf *BIG CAGE, THE, (book by Clyde Beatty and Edward Anthony). Clyde Beatty. 8 rls.—Universal.
f BIG DRIVE, (compilation of authentic newsreels taken by the various countries engaged in the World War). 9 rls.—First Division.
f *BITTER TEA OF GENERAL YEN, (novel by Grace Z. Stone). Nils Asther; 9 rls.— Columbia. jf BLACK BEAUTY, (novel by Anna Sewell). Alexander Kirkland; 6 rls.—Monogram.
m *CAPTURED, (novel, "Fellow-Prisoners," by Sir Philip Gibbs). Leslie Howard; 6 rls.—Warner.
f *CAVALCADE, (play by Noel Coward). Clive Brook and Diana Wynward; 11 rls.—Fox.
f CHARLIE CHAN'S GREATEST CASE, (novel, "The House Without a Key," by Earl Derr Biggers). Warner Oland; 7 rls.—Fox.
f *CHARLOTTE LOWENSKOLD, (novel by Selma Lagerlof). Swedish production, 8 rls.—Scandinavian.
m CHRISTOPHER STRONG, (novel by Gilbert Frankau). Katharine Hepburn; 9 rls.—RKO.
f *CONQUERORS, (panorama of American life since 1873). Richard Dix; 9 rls.—RKO.
f DEVIL'S BROTHER, (operetta, "Fra Diavolo, by D. F. E. Auber). Dennis King; 9 rls.—Metro.
f DEVIL'S PLAYGROUND, (record of a fishing trip). 5 rls.—Principal.
f DR. BULL, (novel, "The Last Adam," by James Cozzens), Will Rogers; 8 rls.—Fox.
m *EMPEROR JONES, (play by Eugene O'Neill). Paul Robeson; 7 rls.—United Artists.
jf ESKIMO PERILS, (Alaskan expedition). 6 rls.—Ameranglo.
m *FAREWELL TO ARMS, A, (novel by Ernest Hemingway). Helen Hayes and Gary Cooper; 10 rls.—Paramount.
f FIGHTING PRESIDENT, (collection of newsreels showing Franklin D. Roosevelt during his years of public life). 6 rls.—Universal.
f *GABRIEL OVER THE WHITE HOUSE, (novel by Thomas F. Tweed). Walter Huston; 10 rls.—Metro.
f GOOD COMPANIONS, (novel by J. B. Priestly). Jessie Mathews; 8 rls.—Fox.
f GREAT JASPER, THE, (novel by Fulton Ousler) Richard Dix; 9 rls.—RKO.
f HELL BELOW, (novel, "Pig Boats," by Comm. Edward Ellsberg). Robert Montgomery; 10 rls.—Metro.
m *I AM A FUGITIVE FROM A CHAIN GANG, (novel by Robert E. Burns). Paul Muni; 8 rls.—Warner.
f I COVER THE WATER FRONT, (novel by Max Miller). Ben Lyon and Claudette Colbert; 7 rls.—United Artists.
f INDIA SPEAKS, (travel picture of India). Richard Halliburton; 8 rls.—RKO.
m JENNIE GERHARDT, (novel by Theodore Dreiser). Sylvia Sidney; 9 rls.—Paramount.
m *KAMERADSCHAFT, (a mine disaster on Franco-German border brings former enemies together—an international picture of extraordinary morale effect). German production. 7 rls.—Associated Cinemas.
f LAND OF NAIRI, (the industrialization of Armenia). Armenian production. 6 rls.—Armenkino. jf LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE, (adapted from comic strip by Harold Gray). Mitzi Green; 7 rls.—RKO. f LOOKING FORWARD, (novel, "Service," by C. L. Anthony). Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone; 9 rls.—Metro.
f *MADAME BUTTERFLY, (operetta by John L. Long). Sylvia Sidney; 10 rls.—Paramount.
f *MAN WHO DARED, THE, (vivid panorama of political life during past 40 years—"imaginary biography" of late Mayor Cermack of Chicago). Preston Foster; 8 rls.—Fox.
f *MATCH KING, THE, (novel by Einar Thorvaldson). Warren William; 7 rls.—First National.
f MUSSOLINI SPEAKS, (newsreels and travelogues of Mussolini's methods — comments by Lowell Thomas). 8 rls.—Columbia.
m NARROW CORNER, THE, (novel by Somerset Maugham). Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.; 6 rls.—Warner.
f *NIGHT FLIGHT, (novel by Antoine de Saint Exupery). John Barrymore, Clark Gable and Helen Hayes; 9 rls.—Metro. jf OLIVER TWIST, (novel by Charles Dickens). Dickie Moore; 7 rls.—Monogram.
f PADDY, THE NEXT BEST THING, (novel by Gertrude Page). Janet Gaynor; 8 rls.—Fox.
f PEG O' MY HEART, (novel by J. Hartley Manners). Marion Davies; 9 rls.—Metro.
m *PRIVATE LIFE OF HENRY VIII, (handsome and attractive production—much care has been given to make the film historically accurate). Charles Laughton; 9 rls.—United Artists.
f *RASPUTIN AND THE EMPRESS, (the last days of the Romanoffs in Russia). Ethel, John and Lionel Barrymore; 13 rls.—Metro.
f *S.O.S. ICEBERG, (thrilling and beautifully photographed picture of the vast frozen waters of the Arctic). Rod La Rocque; 9 rls.—Universal.
f SAVAGE GOLD, (a trip to the country of the Ecuador headhunters by Major Dyott). 6 rls.—Capt. Harold Auten.
f SECRETS, (covered wagon pioneering to modern politics). Leslie Howard and Mary Pickford; 8 rls.—United Artists.
m SIGN OF THE CROSS, THE, (story of Nero's despotic reign). Fredric March and Elissa Landi; 14 rls.—Paramount.
f *SILVER DOLLAR, (novel by David Karsner). Edward G. Robinson; 8 rls.—First National.
m SONG OF SONGS, (novel by Hermann Sudermann). Marlene Dietrich; 10 rls.—Paramount.
f SOVIETS ON PARADE, (celebrating the progress made in Russia since the revolution). Russian production. 5 rls.—Kinematrade.
f *STATE FAIR, (novel by Phil Stong). Will Rogers; 9 rls.—Fox.
f STRANGER'S RETURN, (novel by Phil Stong). Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins; 8 rls.—Metro. jf SUNSET PASS, (novel by Zane Grey). Randolph Scott; 7 rls.—Paramount.
f SWEEPINGS, (novel by Lester Cohen). Lionel Barrymore; 9 rls.—RKO. jf TARZAN THE FEARLESS, (novel by Edgar Rice Burroughs). Buster Crabbe; 7 rls.—Principal.
m TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY, (novel by Grace M. White). Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell; 7 rls.—Fox.
f THUNDER OVER MEXICO, (the Russian director Eisenstein's picture of Mexico). 7 rls.—Principal.
f TO THE LAST MAN, (novel by Zane Grey). Randolph Scott; 8 rls.—Paramount.
f *TOPAZE, (story about a French schoolmaster). John Barrymore; 8 rls.—RKO. jf TRAILING THE KILLER, (animal picture—a beautiful an intelligent dog unjustly accused of sheepkilling). 7 rls.—World Wide.
m *20,000 YEARS IN SING SING, (book by Warden Lewis E. Lawes). Spencer Tracy; 7 rls.—First National.
jf UNDER THE TONTO RIM, (novel by Zane Grey). Stuart Erwin; 7 rls.—Paramount. jf UNTAMED AFRICA, (expedition to northern Rhodesia). 5 rls.—Warner. jf VIRGINS OF BALI, (native life on the isle of Bali combined with a bit of romance). 5 rls.—Principal.
f VOLTAIRE. George Arliss; 6 rls.—Warner.
f WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND, (melodrama of politics). Lee Tracy; 8 rls.—Columbia.
f *WHITE SISTER, (novel by F. Marion Crawford). Helen Hayes and Clark Gable; 12 rls.—Metro. jf *WITH WILLIAMSON BENEATH THE SEA, (pictorial record of an expedition to obtain specimens for the Field Museum). 6 rls.—Principal.
f WORKING MAN, (American big business). George Arliss; 7 rls.—Warner.
jf *ZOO IN BUDAPEST, (story of life in a zoo—remarkable foreign atmosphere). Gene Raymond; 8 rls.—Fox.

Of the above pictures the following were endorsed by the American Library Association: Cavalcade, Madame Butterfly, State Fair, Rasputin and the Empress, Secrets, Working Man, The White Sister, The Big Drive, Sweepings, Looking Forward, Black Beauty, Thunder Over Mexico, Voltaire, Stranger's Return, and Berkeley Square.

Book-marks listing related reading have been compiled by the Cleveland Public Library on Secrets, Working Man, 20,000 Years in Sing Sing, With Williamson Beneath the Sea, Rasputin and the Empress and Silver Dollar.

SUBJECTS OF TIMELY INTEREST

Productions listed in this group are among those seen and selected by the Review Committees of the National Board from October 1, 1932, to October 1, 1933. The order of arrangement is: title, star, distributor, number of reels. The symbols preceding the titles indicate: f*—suitable for family audience, 12 years up;* m*—suitable for the mature audience, 18 years up;* j*—suitable for showings to children under 12 years;* ()—especially interesting or well done.*

f ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION—Fay Wray and Gene Raymond. Columbia—7 reels. (An illustration of a modern problem—a young wife adopts a career and outstrips her husband but finds it does not bring happiness.)
f *ANOTHER LANGUAGE—Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery. Metro—8 reels. (Domestic comedy with serious undertones—it concerns a young married pair, a mother-in-law and a family of intense tribal instincts.)
f BIG DRIVE—First Division—9 reels. (Chronologically arranged compilation of authentic newsreels taken by the various countries engaged in the World War—this picture shows vividly the horror and futility of war.)
m BONDAGE—Dorothy Jordan and Alexander Kirkland. Fox—7 reels. (The troubles of a girl in a home for unmarried mothers—sincere and earnest as a protest against certain forms of social injustice but not to be classed as light entertainment.)
f *BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD—Frank Morgan and Alice Brady. Metro—10 reels. (The career of two vaudeville actors from their early days in the '80's to the present. (Theatrical history for the past forty years with a human and interesting story.)
f *BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS—Lewis Stone and Pat O'Brien. First National—7 reels. (A story of the working of the Bureau of Missing Persons, with all the interest of a detective story and the advantage of being authentic. It is unusual in having a practical relation to actual life.)
f *CAVALCADE—Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard. Fox—11 reels. (Noel Coward's spectacle of the passing of the comfortable old Victorian days, from the Boer War to the present, shown in the life of a family.)
f EAGLE AND THE HAWK—Fredric March and Cary Grant. Paramount—8 reels. (Another war story that shows the futility of war—a young flyer breaks under the strain of having to kill German youths and the idea of winning medals for bravery while all his pals are being killed.)
f EMERGENCY CALL—Bill Boyd and William Gargan. RKO-Radio—7 reels. (Melodrama of ambulance chasers and the rackets that endanger hospitals.)
f *F. P. 1—Conrad Veidt and Leslie Fenton. Fox—7 reels. (Floating Platform No. 1, built in mid-Atlantic as a station for airplanes, is the center of a novel melodrama. This picture is interesting as a forecast of the future.)
f FIGHTING PRESIDENT—Universal—6 reels. (Compilation of newsreels showing Franklin D. Roosevelt during his years of public life.)
f *GABRIEL OVER THE WHITE HOUSE—Walter Huston, Metro—10 reels. (The story of a routine politician president of the United States who through an accident is changed entirely in character and does bold and courageous things for the good of the country. Unusual in its approach to public problems, impressive enough to stir up genuine feelings and thought.)
f *GOLDEN HARVEST—Richard Arlen and Chester Morris. Paramount—8 reels. (Picture of the farmers in the wheat belt and their difficulties to obtain a living from the land. Two brothers stir the government to action, one by leading his fellow farmers to strike for better prices, the other by keeping up the price of wheat in the Chicago pit.)
f HEROES FOR SALE—Richard Barthelmess, First National—7 reels. (A depressing story of the returned World War heroes and their hopeless search for jobs.
f HUMANITY—Ralph Morgan and Alexander Kirkland. Fox—7 reels. (A father and son, both doctors, the elder devoted to unselfish service, the younger tempted by money—and how the older man's ideals won the day.)
m *KAMERADSCHAFT—Ernst Busch and Daniel Mednaille. Associated Cinemas—7 reels. Picture of a mine disaster on the Franco-German border in which common danger brings former enemies together in the work of rescue. With dialogue in French and German, and English subtitles. it is an international picture.)
f LAND OF NAIRI—Armenkino—6 reels. (A pictorial record of the industrialization of Armenia under soviet socialism, with Armenian and English subtitles.)
f LOOKING FORWARD—Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone. Metro—9 reels. (How a big department store weathered the depression.)
f *MAN WHO DARED—Preston Foster. Fox—8 reels. (An "imaginary biography"—an idealized life of late Mayor Cermack of Chicago. A vivid panorama of political life in the last forty years.)
f *MAYOR OF HELL—James Cagney and Frankie Darro. Warner—8 reels. (Story of a reformatory—it deals with the boys' reactions toward the honor system and what happened when the man who was responsible for the system was forced to leave.)
f *MEN MUST FIGHT—Diana Wynyard and Phillips Holmes. Metro—8 reels. (About a mother who brought her son up to be a pacifist after his father had been killed in battle, and the boy's struggle between patriotism and personal principles when another war comes.)
f *MIDSHIPMAN JACK—Bruce Cabot. RKO-Radio—8 reels. (Picture of Annapolis.)
f MUSSOLINI SPEAKS—Columbia—8 reels. (A compound of newsreels and travelogues glorifying the achievements of Mussolini in Italy. Instructive in an external way. Comments by Lowell Thomas.)
f *NIGHT FLIGHT—John and Lionel Barrymore, Helen Hayes, Robert Montgomery, Clark Gable. Metro—9 reels. (The first air flight from Chile to Brazil, touching on the characters and lives of countless people involved in the achievement. (Reveals the conflict between individual emotions and modern mechanized life.)
f OBEY THE LAW—Leo Carrillo. Columbia—7 reels. (Story of an Italian who makes good as an American citizen.)
f ONE MAN'S JOURNEY—Lionel Barrymore. RKO—8 reels. The hardships and heroism of a country doctor who prefers his life to that of a scientific one in the city.)

TOPICALS, ARTISTRY, FOREIGN FILMS

f Pilgrimage—Henrietta Crossman and Marion Nixon. Fox—9 reels. (Story of a mother's love for her son—only after she makes a pilgrimage to France with the other Gold Star mothers does she realize the selfishness of her love.)

m *Poil de Carotte—Robert Lynen and Harry Baur. Auten—7 reels. (Story about a young boy who is unloved by his mother and misunderstood by his father would be especially interesting to those concerned with adolescence and child psychology. With English subtitles.)

f Police Car No. 17—Tim McCoy. Columbia—6 reels. (A picture that will prove especially entertaining to those interested in how the police patrol a city—with emphasis on the radio car patrol.)

f Saturday's Millions—Robert Young. Universal—8 reels. (Football story—the college football hero cynically believes that his popularity is due to his athletic prowess until he learns otherwise from a bitter experience.)

f Shall We Tell Our Children (also called What Price Innocence)—Jean Parker. Columbia—7 reels.

f Shame—Vladimir Gardin. Amkino—7 reels. (Russian film, with English subtitles, in which we find individuals instead of class types, in the drama of their daily lives. The story has to do with getting a factory's work done right, but there is also a love element, and much cheerfulness in place of the usual Soviet solemnity about their problems.)

f *Silver Cord—Irene Dunne and Laura Hope Crewes. RKO—8 reels. (Story dealing with a mother's possessive love for her two sons and the havoc it wroughts in their lives and the lives of the women they love.)

f Song of the Eagle—Richard Arlen and Jean Hersholt. Paramount—6 reels.

f Soviets on Parade—Kinematrade—5 reels. (A long and interesting newsreel of the Soviet anniversary in Moscow, showing the leaders of the Soviet government and celebrating the progress made since the revolution.)

f *State Fair—Will Rogers. Fox—9 reels. (Picture of American rural life—the story concerns a family's visit to the state fair where "pa" and "ma" win prizes and the son and daughter find romance.)

f Stranger's Return—Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins. Metro—8 reels. (About a city girl's return to the farm of her grandfather during the depression. Authentic farm atmosphere.)

f *This Day and Age—Richard Cromwell and Charles Bickford. Paramount, 7 reels.

f *Three Cornered Moon—Mary Boland, Claudette Colbert and Richard Arlen. Paramount—8 reels. (Comedy of a scatterbrained family's adventures after losing their fortune in the crash.)

f Thunder Over Mexico—Upton Sinclair—7 reels.

f *Topaze—John Barrymore. RKO—8 reels. (Story of a French school master who after being fired from school succeeds in business.)

f *Wild Boys of the Road—Frankie Darro. First National—6 reels.

FOREIGN FILMS RELEASED IN U.S.

This record includes selected foreign films seen from October, 1932 to September, 1933. The symbol (*) indicates a picture especially interesting or well done. The order of credits follows: title, star, American distributor, number of reels:

ARMENIAN

Anoush—Armenkino, 7 reels. (Picture of Armenian peasant life in the '60's. Armenian and English subtitles.)

Land of Nairi, The—Armenkino, 6 reels. (Record of the industrialization of Armmenia under soviet socialism, with Armenian and English subtitles.)

BRITISH

*Be Mine Tonight—Jan Kiepura, Magda Schneider. Universal, 9 reels. (An English production of a musical comedy with the Polish operatic tenor.)

*F. P. 1—Conrad Veidt, Leslie Fenton, Jill Esmond. Fox, 7 reels. (Floating Platform No. 1, built in mid-Atlantic as a station for airplanes, is the center of a novel melodrama.)

Outsider—John Huth, Joan Barry. Metro, 8 reels. (The story of a curer of cripples who is not a doctor with a diploma and his struggle to win professional recognition.)

Rome Express—Conradt Veidt, Esther Ralston. Universal, 9 reels. (Story of a crime committed on the night express from Paris to Rome.)

FRENCH

Bal, Le—Andre Lefaur, Germaine Dermoz, Danielle Darrieux. Protex, 8 reels. (French family life. Sudden wealth comes to a shopkeeper, his devoted wife and young daughter and the duty of keeping their life happy falls upon the latter.)

*Jeanne D'Arc—Mme. Falconetti. Weinberg, 8 reels. (Concerns the last days of Joan of Arc.)

*Poil De Carotte—Robert Lynen, Harry Baur. Auten, 7 reels. (Story about a young boy who is unloved by his mother and misunderstood by his father.)

GERMAN

Friedericke—Hans-Heinz Bollmann, Mady Christians. Kinematrade, 9 reels. (Operetta of one of Goethe's early loves, which was sacrificed for his career. Dialogue is in German.)

*Grosse Tenor, Der—Emil Jannings, Renate Müller. Protex, 10 reels. (Picture of an idolized tenor, no longer young, who temporarily loses his voice and his career. (Dialogue in German.)

*Hauptmann von Koepenick, Der—Max Adalbert. Kinematrade, 9 reels. An amusing version of the real incident in which an ex-convict posed as a captain in a German town and made fools of the whole array of army and municipal martinets. Full of pungent satire. With English subtitles.

*Hell on Earth—Ernst Busch, Georges Peclet, Wladimir Sokoloff, Hugh Douglas, Louis Douglas. Aeolian, 7 reels.

*Hertha's Erwachen—Toni van Eyck. Protex, 9 reels. (Concerns a young girl who lives with her father, a studious old bookdealer.)

*Ich Will Nicht Wissen Wer Du Bist—Gustav Frölich, Liane Haid. Interworld, 9 reels. (Humorous romance of a count hiring out as a chauffeur. With English subtitles.)

Kadetten—Fritz Fiedler, Albert Basserman, Trude von Malo. Film Exchange. 8 reels.

*Kameradschaft—Ernest Busch, Daniel Mednaille. Associated Cinemas, 7 reels.

*M—Peter Lorre. Paramount, 9 reels. (M stands for murdered and the entire action is given to the chase and capture of a murderer of little girls.)

*Morgenrot—Rudolf Forster, Adele Sandrock. Protex, 7 reels.

Nacht Im Paradies, Eine—Anny Ondra, Herman Thimig. Kinematrade, 8 reels. (Musical romance, in which a clever girl makes a hit in high society and win a husband.)

Rebel—Luis Trenker, Vilma Banky. Universal, 8 reels. (Napoleon's invasion of the Austrian Tyrol.)

Ronny—Willy Fritsch, Kaethe von Nagy. Protex, 8 reels.

Sturme der Leidenschaft—Emil Jannings, Anna Sten. Protex, 8 reels. (Study of a goodnatured man and a perfidious woman, slowpaced but dramatic, with unusual psychological depth.)

ITALIAN

Amore e Morte—Rosario Romeo, Carmelina Romeo. Guerrera, 9 reels. (Story of a father whose daughter was wronged by one of his tenants.)

Mussolini Speaks—Columbia, 8 reels. (A compound of newsreels and travelogue glorifying the achievements of Mussolini in Italy.)

Vecchia Signora, La—Emma Grammatioa. Caesar, 9 reels.

Voce Del Sangue, La—Syncro-Art, 7 reels. (About the strange fate that came to a brother and sister who had not seen each other since early childhood.)

RUSSIAN

Alone—Elena Kuzmina. Amkino, 7 reels. (A Soviet schoolteacher sacrificing her own comfort and desires to carry the truth into Siberia, and the opposition she encountered there.)

Isle of Doom, The—Peter Sobolevski, Galina Kravchenko. Amkino, 5 reels.

*Ivan—Konstantin Bondarevski, Dmitry Colubinsky. Amkino, 8 reels.

*Patriots, The—Hans Klering, Elena Kuzmina. Amkino, 8 reels. (About a provincial town and the war, with an incidental love story involving a Russian girl and a German prisoner. Russian dialogue with English subtitles.)

Shame—Vladimir Gardin. Amkino, 7 reels. (In which we find individuals instead of class-types, in the drama of their daily lives.)

Soviets on Parade—Kinematrade, 5 reels. A long newsreel of the Soviet anniversary in Moscow.

SCANDINAVIAN

*Charlotte Lowenskold—Birgit Sergelius, Eric Barclay. Scandinavian Talking Pictures. (A production of part of Selma Lagerlof's trilogy dealing with a young preacher's struggle between his calling, his love and jealousy and his loyalty to his mother.)

EXPLORATION AND EDUCATIONAL FILMS

Amazon Head Hunters, The—Principal, 6 reels. (A record of a trip to the head-hunting tribe in South America made by the marquis de Wavrin.)

Big Drive, The—First Division, 9 reels. (This chronologically arranged compilation of authentic newsreels taken by the various countries engaged in the World War, shows vividly the horror and futility of war.)

Devil's Playground, The—Principal, 5 reels. (Record of a strenuous fishing trip taken by George Vanderbilt which includes catching devil-fish, sail-fish, tiger sharks, et cetera.)

Eskimo Perils—Amer-Anglo, 6 reels. (The expedition of a Mrs. Kleinschmidt into Alaska among the Esquimaux.)

India Speaks—Richard Halliburton. RKO, 8 reels. (Travel picture, with some fiction injected to give it more narrative interest. There is a good deal of emphasis on the gruesome and cruel but the whole thing is lively Halliburton stuff.)

Untamed Africa—Warner, 5 reels. (Expedition into Northern Rhodesia to photograph wild animals.)

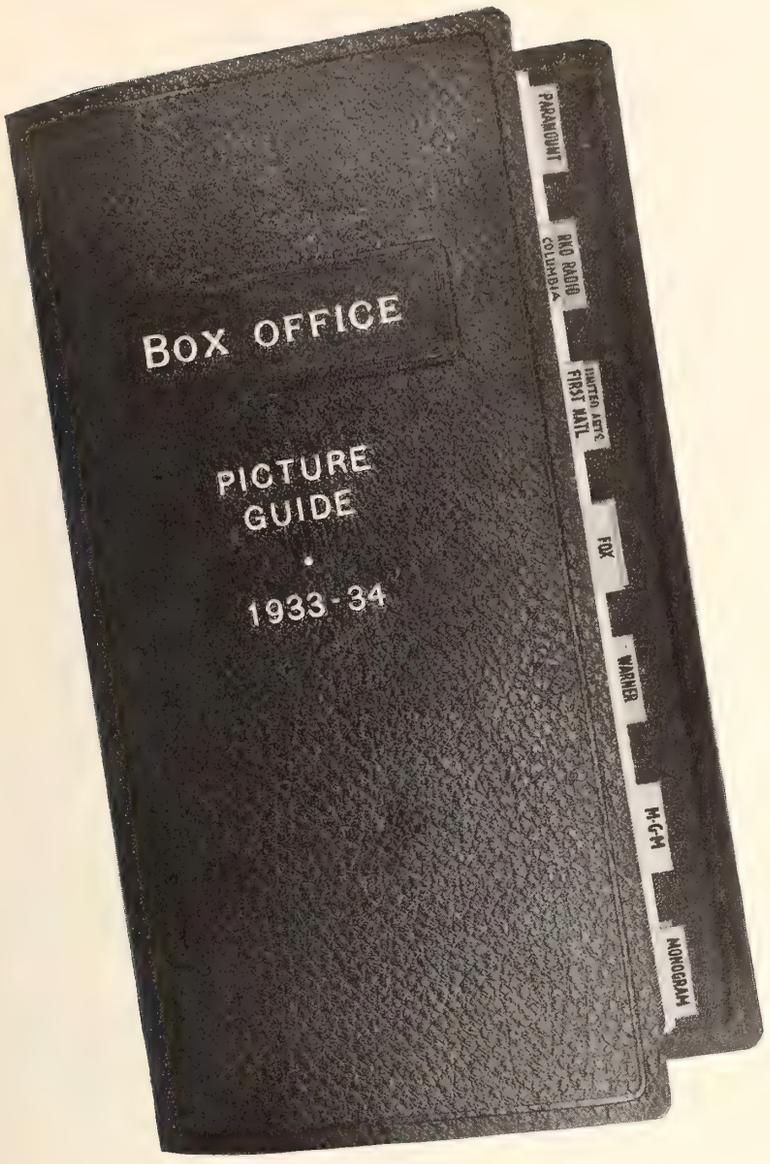
Virgins of Bali—Native cast. Principal, 5 reels. (A record of the lives of two sisters on the island of Bali, combining the native life with a bit of romance.)

*With Williamson Beneath the Sea—Principal, 6 reels. (A pictorial record of an expedition to get specimens for the Field Museum, to which is added an episode of divers exploring wrecked ships.)

EXCEPTIONAL PHOTOPLAYS

Being a permanent compilation of films selected by the National Board as "exceptional" photoplays, since 1923, together with the name of distributor and the year of release:

Abraham Lincoln, United Artists, 1930
A Nous, La Liberte, Capt. Harold Auten, 1932
All Quiet on the Western Front, Universal, 1930
Around the World in 80 Minutes, United Artists, 1931
Arrowsmith, United Artists, 1932
As You Desire Me, Metro, 1932
Bad Girl, Fox, 1931
Battle of Gallipoli, Capital, 1932
Big Parade, Metro, 1925
Bill of Divorcement, RKO, 1932
Bring 'Em Back Alive, RKO 1932
Broken Lullaby, Paramount, 1932
Cavalcade, Fox, 1933
Cimarron, RKO, 1931
City Lights, United Artists, 1931
City Streets, Paramount, 1931
Comrades of 1918, Tobis, 1931
Connecticut Yankee, Fox, 1931
Der Andere, Tobis, 1932
Dishonored, Paramount, 1931
Dreigroschenoper, Der, Warner, 1931
Elisabeth von Osterreich, Tobis, 1932
Front Page, United Artists, 1931
Golden Mountains, Amkino, 1932
Grand Hotel, Metro, 1932
Guardsman, Metro, 1931
Hauptmann von Koepenich, Der, Kinematrade, 1933
Hell on Earth, Aeolian, 1933
Hunting Big Game in Africa, Universal, 1923
Hertha's Erwachen, Protex, 1933
Hunchback of Notre Dame, Universal, 1924
I am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang, Warner, 1932
Ivan, Garrison, 1933
Journey's End, Amity, 1930
Kameradschaft, Associated Cinemas, 1932
Land of the Shalimar, Capital, 1932
Lied vom Leben, Das, Tobis, 1931
M, Paramount, 1933.
Madchen in Uniform, Filmchoice, 1932
Melody of Hearts, Protex, 1930
Men Without Women, Fox, 1930
Million, Le, Tobis, 1931
Morgenrot, Protex, 1933
Outward Bound, Warner, 1930
Passion of Jeanne D'Arc, Herman Ross, Capital, 1929
Payment Deferred, Metro, 1932
Poil de Carrotte, Harold Auten, 1933
Potemkin, Kinematrade, 1926
Public Enemy, Warner, 1931
Quick Millions, Fox, 1931
Rango, Paramount, 1931
Raub Der Mona Lisa, Tobis, 1932
Road to Life, Amkino, 1932
Silent Enemy, Screenart, 1930
Skippy, Paramount, 1931
Soil, Amkino, 1930
Sous Les Toits de Paris, Tobis, 1931
Street of Chance, Paramount, 1930
Street Scene, United Artists, 1931
Surrender, Fox, 1931
Tabu, Paramount, 1931
Ten Days That Shook the World, Amkino, 1929
Tol'able David, Columbia, 1930
Topaze, RKO, 1933
Trader Horn, Metro, 1931
Tragedy of Mt. Everset, Capital, 1932
Underworld, Paramount, 1927
Valiant, Fox, 1929
Village of Sin, Amkino, 1929
White Hell of Pitz Palu, Universal, 1930
Zoo in Budapest, Fox, 1933
Zwei Herzen Im ¾ Takt, Associated Cinemas, 1930
Zwei Menschen, Capital, 1932



This reproduction is two-thirds of full size.

It shows you WHAT pictures to book—and HOW to sell them . . .

● No more will you have to rely on memory that may be confused with the thousand and one things you have to think about in the conduct of your business. No more will you have to guess about what to book—you'll know. No more will you have to dig through files of trade papers (if you keep files of them) to give you the featured players in a picture; or the running time; or to tell you when it was reviewed; or who was the director. You have all of that information at your fingertips when you have THE PICTURE GUIDE in your pocket or on your desk.

● With THE PICTURE GUIDE every bit of booking information is in your hands right when you need it. And—when you've overlooked ordering a press book, THE PICTURE GUIDE also tells how to sell the picture and gives you ad-lines for your newspaper or program copy.

●

"Box Office PICTURE GUIDE offers the most intelligent and efficient way to book and exploit pictures now available to exhibitors."

Says E. G. SIMONS
Manager, Army Theatre,
Ft. Leavenworth, Kans.

●

"We have been using your BOX OFFICE PICTURE GUIDE for a number of weeks and certainly find it a great help not only in helping us to book our pictures but in advertising and making out copy for our weekly programs. There have been innumerable instances when we have played pictures before advertising and press sheets have reached the exchange, and we have had to refer to your PICTURE GUIDE."

—WILLARD E. WAGNER,
El Campanil Theatre,
Antioch, Calif.

●

"I find your BOX OFFICE PICTURE GUIDE most helpful. Although I no longer do any booking myself, I find that the short synopsis gives me enough idea as to what the picture is to be able to discuss it intelligently with my various managers. I also occasionally publish in the newspapers a copy on some particular picture of the review as it is written so as to give the patrons an insight as to what the picture is all about. Your service is well worth while, and I sincerely hope you will continue it."

—L. A. EDWARDS, Div. Mgr.,
Prudential Long Island Theatres,
East Hampton, N. Y.

BOX OFFICE PICTURE GUIDE comes to you as a part of the BOX OFFICE service to its subscribers. It is a handsome leather book, pocket size. It is the direct result of a survey among hundreds of exhibitors who hail it as filling a long-felt want.

Date . . . . . , 1933.

ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS, INC.,
4704 East 9th St.,
Kansas City, Mo.

Gentlemen:

Please enter my subscription for one year (52 issues) for BOX OFFICE, including BOX OFFICE PICTURE GUIDE. Herewith is $3.00.

Theatre . . . . . .

Address . . . . . .

City . . . . . State . . . .

Signed . . . . . Position .

TECHNOLOGICAL

The BLUEBOOK School

By F. H. RICHARDSON

BLUEBOOK SCHOOL QUESTION NO. 199.—(A) What is the second element of the projector optical train and what is its function? (B) Name the possible sources of light loss in each element of the projector optical train. (C) Explain why line FA, Figure 25, page 125 of your Bluebook, will not be refracted at all and why it will lose a minimum of light through reflection.

NOTE: I do not like to cite figures in the Bluebook, for the reason that I know a few students have not a Bluebook available. It cannot well be avoided occasionally, however, especially when dealing with optics. I think it can be avoided in C, come to think of it. Line FA is one passing straight through on the optical axis of a lens. There! How is that?

Answer to Question No. 192

Bluebook School Question No. 192 was: (A) Just what is meant by one part of an electric circuit being "grounded" to another part? (B) Does it necessarily follow that because there is a ground there is current leakage? (C) Is the neutral of an Edison three-wire system always grounded? (D) Explain the action of a true ground as illustrated in Figure 101 of your Bluebook.

These made good: C. Rau and S. Evans; T. Van Vaulkenburg; G. E. Doe; H. D. Menifee; D. Danielson; L. Van Buskirk and E. Kroll; H. Edwards; J. Wentworth; P. Gaeth, Jr.; W. Ostrum; G. R. Kelley; F. F. Franks; P. and F. H. Dalbey; W. Broadbent; H. B. and D. Coates; D. Emmerson; R. and K. Wells; D. L. Sinklow; Nic Granby; K. L. Hess; J. Lansing and R. D. Oberleigh; J. Hendershot and L. G. Gregeson; B. J. Lyons, T. Malleby and G. R. Squires; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; J. Williams and O. Allbright; F. L. Benton; H. R. Baldwin· D. U. Granger; T. H. Morton and F. B. Klar; L. Jacobs; A. Wythe and W. T. Granger; D. H. and L. B. Palmer; F. L. Granby; M. U. Sampson; R. L. Mitchel; D. Singleton and M. Henderson; L. M. Richards; B. L. Banning and L. Jones; F. Harlor and G. Harrison; B. L. Blinkendorfer; J. H. Rathburn and D. Little; L. N. Traxler; T. T. Golley; M. F. Fallon; G. Thompson; G. Tinlin; L. D. Rubin; D. Lally and F. Ferguson; K. Ormie; D. Howard and D. Kurts; K. L. Knight and M. Henderson; M. Spencer and D. T. Arlen; L. Hutch and D. Goldberg; U. L. Tipton; S. N. Tailor; J. B. Buckley; D. L. Monehan and L. B. Bryant; K. Griener; A. L. Dodson; J. L. and F. Hanson; H. Grant; W. R. Lemke; L. Thomas and D. D. Davis; E. L. Richardson; R. Geddings and L. Grant; R. Schuler and M. R. Davidson; H. Pilson and D. Danielson; H. Rogers; T. M. Vinson; M. Greig; C. L. Cyrus and B. Olmsby; H. D. Tyler; D. Breaston and D. Haber; F. Sims and O. L. Davis; U. L. Danielson.

Note: Every once in a while some one writes a more or less vigorous protest that his name has been misspelled. Unusually this is purely the fault of the student. He has not written it plainly. We cannot, in the very nature of things, spend a great deal of time in an attempt to decipher a poorly written name. If you will be careful and write plainly—especially your names—there will be no difficulty.

(A) We will let Friend Van Vaulkenburg answer this one. He says:

"By the statement that one part of an electric circuit is grounded to another part is meant that there is some electrical connection between the two polarities that is not intended, which same has sufficient resistance to pass only a limited amount of current, hence cannot be termed a 'short' or short circuit. Such connection may be through earth, though as the question is stated I would presume our friend and editor to mean a metallic connection of some sort, such as, for example, two wires of opposite polarity in contact with some high resistance path of metal.

"This answer, however, must be qualified by the fact that what is termed a 'ground' may occur in resistance, in which only a single polarity is involved. For example, two resistance coils may each sag against the rheostat frame or cover in such way as to permit some or all the current to sidestep passing through one or more coils. This is termed a 'ground,' but I personally would regard it rather as an accidental shunt circuit, limited as to resistance or otherwise, as the case might be. I would not regard it as a true ground."

(B) With regard to this one, Messrs. Rau and Evans say:

"It does not necessarily mean that because two wires of opposite polarity are grounded (having current-carrying connection with the earth) there will be current leakage. The resistance of the earth between the two wires may be so great that the current will not travel it, but will take its right path, because it is the path of least resistance."

D. Danielson answers B thus:

"Current will flow only when the ground offers a path to the opposite pole of the same generator. It must also have less resistance than the circuit itself. There could be current flow to the same side of the circuit if this side was grounded in two places and this new path offered less resistance than the part of the circuit it eliminated."

G. R. Kelley deals with B thusly:

"No. A circuit may be physically and electrically connected to earth on one side, and thus be grounded in one sense, but there will be no current leakage until the opposite side (polarity) is shorted to the grounded side."

My own answer would be NO, for the reason that (a) with both sides of a circuit grounded, the resistance offered by the ground may be too high to permit the line voltage to force current through. (b) There may be a ground, but only of one side of the circuit, in which event it is obvious that current could not flow through the ground.

(C) An error occurred in this question. I intended asking whether it be necessary that all Edison three-wire systems be grounded and whether such systems are grounding. W. Broadbent was the only one who answered what I intended asking, but omitted one part of it. He says:

"It is the general practice to ground Edison three-wire systems, mostly to prevent the possibility of conduit being charged at 220—or charged at all for that matter. However, in a few isolated cases where the wiring is all open air—no conduit—it is not done. Such grounding is recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, but is not a requirement."

(D) Paul Gaeth, Jr., says:

"A true ground is when current flows from one pole or line of an electrical circuit to the other pole or line, by means of the earth itself, the floor of the building, water pipes, structural steel or any apparatus in contact with it.

"When a circuit has one 'side' permanently grounded at source of supply and other points along the line, and the opposite side comes in electrical contact with the ground, current will flow from one side of the line to the other through the ground, provided its resistance is not too high.

"A true ground may also exist in circuits that do not have one side of the line permanently grounded in case both sides of the circuit become grounded. The ground in this case acts as a shunt, provided its resistance be not too high."

H. Edwards answers D well, thus:

"Figure 101, Volume 1, of the Bluebook, shows several things. First, that a ground may occur between positive and negative of different circuits attached to the same generator, even though located some distance apart. Second, that a ground in a circuit attached to one generator has no current bearing affinity for grounds on circuits attached to other generators. Third, taken in connection with the text matter, that a ground might under some circumstances partially or even wholly eliminate rheostatic resistance, in which latter case striking the arc would cause a dead short circuit. This is highly improbable and in practice really impossible, but in theory it could be.

"The effect of such a ground as is shown in Figure 101 would of course depend entirely upon the amount of resistance it might offer. Presumably the resistance would be too high to permit much current leakage."

THEATRE RECEIPTS

The total of theatre receipts for the calendar week ended November 11, 1933, from 119 houses in 19 major cities of the country, reached $1,252,085, a decrease of $107,449 from the total for the previous calendar week, ended November 4, when 114 theatres in 18 cities reported an aggregate gross of $1,359,534.

(Copyright, 1933: Reproduction of material from this department without credit to MOTION PICTURE HERALD expressly forbidden)

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Boston			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross
Boston	2,900	25c-50c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	21,000	"Saturday's Millions" (U)	20,500	High 10-28 "My Woman"	21,500
							Low 3-11 "Topaze"	11,000
Fenway	1,800	30c-50c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	9,000	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	9,500	High 1-14 "Island of Lost Souls" and "Billion Dollar Scandal"	15,000
							Low 7-29 "She Had to Say Yes" and "Arizona to Broadway"	6,000
Keith's	3,500	30c-50c	"The Invisible Man" (U.)	19,000	"After Tonight" (Radio)	20,000	High 1-7 "No Other Woman"	21,000
							Low 3-11 "When Strangers Marry"	12,000
Loew's State	3,700	35c-50c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	20,000	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	20,500	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	23,000
							Low 3-11 "Men Must Fight"	11,000
Metropolitan	4,350	30c-65c	"The World Changes" (W. B.)	38,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	44,500	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	44,500
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	26,500
Paramount	1,800	30c-50c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	9,500	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) and "Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	10,000	High 2-25 "Dangerously Yours" and "Deception"	17,000
							Low 8-12 "Mary Stevens, M.D." and "Flying Devils"	8,000
Buffalo
Buffalo	3,500	30c-55c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	16,100	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	13,100	High 2-25 "State Fair"	24,800
							Low 3-25 "Our Betters"	9,800
Century	3,000	25c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	6,300	"This Day and Age" (Para.)	6,000	High 8-12 "Forgotten Men" and "Easy Millions"	8,000
							Low 5-13 "Grand Slam" and "Past of Mary Holmes"	4,200
Great Lakes	3,000	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	13,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	27,200	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	27,200
							Low 4-15 "Rome Express"	5,400
Hippodrome	2,100	25c-40c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox)	12,500	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.) (6 days) (25c)	10,000	High 6-24 "Gold Diggers of 1933"	16,100
							Low 8-26 "Moonlight and Pretzels"	5,100
Hollywood	300	25c-40c	"Waltz Time" (Gaumont-British) (10 days)	1,500			High 1-7 "Goona Goona"	2,600
							Low 9-20 "The Outsider"	500
Lafayette	3,300	25c	"My Woman" (Col.)	6,400	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	6,700	High 9-23 "Lady for a Day"	10,000
							Low 10-14 "Saturday's Millions"	5,000
Chicago
Chicago	4,000	35c-68c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	44,000	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	43,000	High 9-2 "Goodbye Again"	75,000
							Low 4-29 "Central Airport"	22,000
McVicker's	2,284	30c-60c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W.B.) (2nd week)	9,000	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) (1st week)	11,000	High 10-14 "Too Much Harmony"	20,000
							Low 7-1 "The Woman I Stole"	5,000
Oriental	3,940	30c-60c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (5th week)	19,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	31,000	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel"	50,000
							Low 10-7 "The Power and the Glory"	10,000
Palace	2,509	35c-75c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	20,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio)	27,000	High 9-9 "Morning Glory"	37,000
							Low 5-27 "Below the Sea"	14,000
Roosevelt	1,591	25c-50c	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	7,000	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal)	7,500	High 10-14 "Penthouse"	16,000
							Low 3-4 "Luxury Liner"	6,200
United Artists	1,700	30c-60c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	16,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	9,500	High 1-21 "The Kid From Spain"	27,000
							Low 3-18 "Perfect Understanding"	6,800
Cleveland
Allen	3,300	20c-40c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	12,000	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	3,500	High 11-11 "Private Life of Henry VIII"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "Infernal Machine" and "Exposure"	1,800
Hippodrome	3,800	25c-40c	"The Mad Game" (Fox)	8,500	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	20,000	High 10-21 "East of Fifth Avenue"	30,000
							Low 6-10 "Circus Queen Murder"	2,900
RKO Palace	3,100	30c-75c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	16,000	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	24,500	High 11-4 "Walls of Gold"	24,500
							Low 8-19 "No Marriage Ties"	4,200
State	3,400	30c-44c	"Torch Singer" (Para.)	6,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	7,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	26,000
							Low 6-24 "The Eagle and the Hawk"	5,000
Stillman	1,900	25c-40c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.) and "Gigolettes of Paris" (Equitable)	3,100			High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	9,000
							Low 5-27 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,000
Warner's Lake	800	31c-60c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (3rd week)	3,900	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week)	4,200	High 10-28 "Footlight Parade"	10,000
							Low 8-5 "Heroes for Sale"	1,500
Denver
Aladdin	1,500	25c-50c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (8 days)	3,800	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (6 days)	3,500	High 2-25 "Cavalcade"	10,000
							Low 4-8 "Smoke Lightning" and "Broadway Bad"	2,500
Denham	1,500	25c-40c	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.)	8,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	13,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel"	16,000
							Low 6-3 "Mussolini Speaks," "Night of Terror" and "Soldiers of the Storm"	1,950
Denver	2,500	25c-50c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (8 days)	5,000	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (6 days)	4,500	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	14,600
							Low 9-30 "Beauty for Sale"	3,500
Orpheum	2,600	25c-40c	"Bombshell" (MGM)	15,000	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) (6 days)	11,000	High 3-4 "42nd Street"	18,500
							Low 6-10 "Zoo in Budapest"	3,750
Paramount	2,000	25c-40c	"S.O.S. Iceberg" (U.)	2,800	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby" (U.)	2,500	High 4-1 "The Kid From Spain"	7,000
							Low 7-8 "The Barbarian"	2,000
Detroit
Downtown	2,750	25c-50c	"Ace of Aces" (Radio) and "East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.) (25c-40c)	5,400	"After Tonight" (Radio)	11,400	High 10-14 "No Marriage Ties"	16,500
							Low 6-10 "The Woman I Stole"	3,700
Fisher	2,700	15c-50c	"Night Flight" (MGM) (15c-40c)	5,600	"Bombshell" (MGM) (25c-40c)	8,300	High 1-28 "Silver Dollar"	15,400
							Low 3-18 "Secret of Madame Blanche"	3,100
Fox	5,100	15c-50c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (U.)	22,500	"Walls of Gold" (Fox) (25c-50c)	15,200	High 9-16 "Sing, Sinner, Sing"	32,300
							Low 5-15 "After the Ball" and "Afraid to Talk"	5,400
Michigan	4,000	25c-50c	"Female" (F. N.)	20,300	"Night Flight" (MGM)	18,100	High 1-21 "Tonight Is Ours"	23,700
							Low 7-1 "College Humor"	7,300
State	3,000	25c-50c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	9,300	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	12,300	High 10-14 "I'm No Angel" (5 days)	24,100
							Low 9-30 "To the Last Man"	4,400
United Artists	2,000	25c-50c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.)	6,500	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.)	9,100	High 2-11 "The Kid From Spain"	17,400
							Low 3-25 "The Sign of the Cross"	4,100

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week		Previous Week		High and Low Gross
			Picture	Gross	Picture	Gross	(Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Hollywood
Chinese	2,500	50c-$1.65	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	19,500	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	20,250	High 9-9 "Dinner at Eight"	36,656
							Low 4-1 "King Kong"	14,600
W. B. Hollywood	3,000	25c-55c	"College Coach" (W. B.)	12,500	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	13,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	26,000
							Low 4-15 "Grand Slam"	8,975
Indianapolis
Apollo	1,100	25c-40c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	2,500	"Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	2,000	High 2-18 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 11-4 "Worst Woman in Paris?"	2,000
Circle	2,800	25c-40c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week)	4,500	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (1st week)	9,000	High 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	12,000
							Low 3-4 "The Sign of the Cross" (2nd run)	2,500
Indiana	3,300	25c-55c	"Ever in My Heart" (W.B.)	6,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	8,000	High 3-25 "Parachute Jumper"	15,000
							Low 6-10 "Below the Sea"	3,500
Lyric	2,000	25c-40c	"Saturday's Millions" (U.)	3,000	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	3,500	High 7-22 "College Humor"	9,500
							Low 11-11 "Saturday's Millions"	3,000
Palace	3,000	25c-40c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	5,500	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.)	6,000	High 8-12 "Tugboat Annie"	11,000
							Low 7-22 "Storm at Daybreak"	3,500
Kansas City
Mainstreet	3,049	25c-40c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F.N.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	6,000	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (6 days and Sat. midnite show) (25c-60c)	16,000	High 10-28 "Ace of Aces"	21,000
							Low 5-20 "Sweepings"	4,000
Midland	4,000	25c	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	7,500	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	10,000	High 1-7 "Strange Interlude"	30,000
							Low 4-15 "Perfect Understanding"	4,900
Newman	1,800	25c-40c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (7 days and Sat. midnite show)	14,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.) (6 days and Sat. midnite show)	4,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	17,500
							Low 5-27 "Picture Snatcher"	2,800
Uptown	2,000	25c-40c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (U.) and "The Mad Game" (Fox)	2,700	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	3,000	High 2-11 "State Fair"	7,000
							Low 7-1 "Lilly Turner"	1,600
Los Angeles
Criterion	1,610	25c-40c	"Beauty for Sale" (MGM)	3,800	"Stranger's Return" (MGM) (2nd week)	3,200	High 11-11 "Beauty for Sale"	3,800
							Low 7-29 "The Devil's Brother"	1,850
Filmarte	850	40c-50c	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.) (2nd week)	2,000	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.) (1st week)	2,750	High 9-23 "Red Head"	3,500
							Low 9-9 "The Rebel"	1,800
Loew's State	2,416	25c-40c	"The Mad Game" (Fox)	9,500	"Bombshell" (MGM)	15,650	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie"	28,300
							Low 3-11 "Dangerously Yours"	8,000
Los Angeles	3,000	15c-25c	"My Woman" (Col.)	4,750	"Dance, Girl, Dance" (Chesterfield)	5,800	High 7-22 "Kiss of Araby" and "Samarang"	6,200
							Low 9-2 "Important Witness" and "Doubled and Redoubled"	2,200
Orpheum	2,220	25c-35c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox)	4,200	"Walls of Gold" (Fox)	4,200	High 9-23 (since Sept.) "The Devil's in Love" and "Before Dawn"	4,850
							Low 10-7 "India Speaks" and "Ladies Must Love"	3,350
Paramount	3,596	25c-40c	"White Woman" (Para.)	15,000	"Take a Chance" (Para.)	23,000	High 1-7 "No Man of Her Own"	30,000
							Low 3-18 "King of the Jungle"	10,000
RKO	2,700	25c-40c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	3,500	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (2nd week)	4,000	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	11,600
							Low 9-30 "Brief Moment"	1,700
United Artists	2,100	25c-40c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole"	12,800	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week)	12,000	High 10-21 "The Bowery"	21,000
							Low 1-28 "Hello, Everybody"	3,900
W. B. Downtown	3,400	25c-55c	"College Coach" (W. B.)	13,650	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.)	11,000	High 3-25 "42nd Street"	19,000
							Low 8-19 "She Had to Say Yes"	9,000
Minneapolis
Lyric	1,238	20c-25c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	1,000	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.)	1,500	High 4-1 "20,000 Years in Sing Sing"	3,000
							Low 11-11 "I Loved a Woman"	1,000
RKO Orpheum	2,900	20c-40c	"Aggie Appleby, Maker of Men" (Radio)	5,800	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	5,800	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	14,000
							Low 3-11 "Cynara"	3,000
Minnesota	4,000	25c-40c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	10,000	.....	.....	.....	.....
State	2,300	25c-40c	"Penthouse" (MGM)	5,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	6,000	High 4-29 "Cavalcade"	8,000
							Low 3-11 "King of the Jungle"	3,500
World	400	25c-75c	"The Good Companions" (Fox) (2nd week)	1,000	"The Good Companions" (Fox) (1st week)	1,200	High 4-22 "Be Mine Tonight"	2,400
							Low 11-4 "The Good Companions"	1,200
Montreal
Capitol	2,547	25c-75c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	9,500	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (1st week)	13,000	High 11-4 "I'm No Angel"	13,000
							Low 7-15 "The Silver Cord" and "Professional Sweetheart"	7,500
Loew's	3,115	25c-75c	"One Man's Journey" (Radio)	12,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	12,500	High 1-21 "The Mask of Fu Manchu"	14,500
							Low 9-30 "Turn Back the Clock" and "Emergency Call"	7,500
Palace	2,600	25c-75c	"The Prince of Wales" (British) and "Orders Is Orders" (British)	11,000	"Night Flight" (MGM) and "Facing the Music" (Empire)	9,000	High 2-18 "The Sign of the Cross"	15,500
							Low 11-4 "Night Flight" and "Facing the Music"	9,000
Princess	2,272	25c-65c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.) and "As the Devil Commands" (Col.)	7,500	"Tarzan the Fearless" (Principal) and "My Woman" (Col.)	7,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" and "Speed Demon"	12,000
							Low 8-12 "Whoopee" and "Virtue"	5,000
New York
Astor	1,012	55c-$2.20	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (11th week)	9,235	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (10th week)	10,261	High 9-2 "Dinner at Eight"	21,000
							Low 3-25 "The White Sister"	14,559
Cameo	549	25c-40c	"Eat 'Em Alive" (Real Life)	6,187	"The Wandering Jew" (J.A.F.A.) (2nd week)	4,010	High 1-28 "Maedchen in Uniform"	9,200
							Low 8-5 "King of Jazz"	1,064
Capitol	4,700	35c-$1.65	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM)	30,698	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	37,820	High 8-12 "Another Language"	64,000
							Low 9-30 "Solitaire Man"	21,210
Hollywood	1,543	25c-85c	"The World Changes" (F. N.) (2nd week)	15,107	"The World Changes" (F. N.) (1st week)	24,740	High 9-1 "Voltaire"	25,868
							Low 10-21 "Ever in My Heart"	8,296
Palace	2,500	25c-75c	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	15,791	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	11,734	High 2-4 "Animal Kingdom"	16,150
							Low 4-15 "Parole Girl"	4,500
Paramount	3,700	35c-99c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (4th week)	55,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (3rd week)	55,000	High 10-21 "I'm No Angel"	83,450
							Low 2-4 "Hello, Everybody"	15,600
Rialto	2,200	40c-65c	"Kennel Murder Case" (W.B.) (2nd week)	10,200	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) (1st week)	16,000	High 5-20 "Forgotten Men"	22,500
							Low 4-15 "Destination Unknown" and "The Fighting President"	5,800
Rivoli	2,200	35c-99c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.) (2nd week)	19,041	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.) (1st week)	38,400	High 10-7 "The Bowery"	45,000
							Low 8-5 "The Rebel"	7,200
RKO Music Hall	5,945	35c-$1.65	"After Tonight" (Radio)	64,000	"Berkeley Square" (Fox)	80,344	High 4-15 "Cavalcade"	107,761
							Low 6-17 "Ann Carver's Profession"	44,938
RKO Roxy	3,700	25c-55c	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U.A.) (2nd week-4 days) "Berkeley Square" (Fox) (3 days)	14,664	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (1st week)	20,763	High 1-7 "Animal Kingdom"	71,267
							Low 7-1 "Adorable" and "Supernatural"	7,592
Roxy	6,200	25c-55c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox)	28,000	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (U.)	19,000	High 1-7 "No More Orchids"	39,487
							Low 1-28 "Air Hostess"	9,100
Strand	3,000	35c-$1.25	"Female" (F. N.) (20c-$1.10)	11,862	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (4th week-8 days)	18,862	High 10-14 "Footlight Parade"	55,190
							Low 8-5 "She Had to Say Yes"	10,590

[THEATRE RECEIPTS--CONT'D]

Theatres			Current Week Picture	Current Week Gross	Previous Week Picture	Previous Week Gross	High and Low Gross (Tabulation covers period from January, 1933.)
Oklahoma City
Capitol	1,200	10c-41c	"Penthouse" (MGM)	4,000	"One Man's Journey" (Radio)	3,500	High 11-11 "Penthouse" 4,000 Low 3-11 "From Hell to Heaven" 1,350
Criterion	1,700	10c-56c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	5,500	"The Bowery" (U. A.)	6,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel" 11,000 Low 3-11 "Clear All Wires" 1,800
Liberty	1,560	10c-36c	"I Loved a Woman" (F. N.)	3,500	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox) (3 days) "Saturday's Millions" (U.) (4 days)	1,500 1,500	High 9-2 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 3,900 Low 3-18 "The Death Kiss" and "The Fourth Horseman" 1,100
Victoria	800	10c-26c	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (4 days)	700	"Rafter Romance" (Radio) (3 days) "Yes, Mr. Brown" (U. A.) (4 days)	600 600	High 7-1 "King of Jazz" 1,800 Low 11-4 "Rafter Romance" and "Yes, Mr. Brown" 1,200
Omaha
Brandeis	1,200	20c-40c	"Morning Glory" (Radio) and "No Marriage Ties" (Radio) (25c-40c)	5,000	"Lady for a Day" (Col.) (2nd week)	5,000
Orpheum	3,000	25c-40c	"The Masquerader" (U. A.) and "Walls of Gold" (Fox)	7,250	"Meet the Baron" (MGM) and "Worst Woman in Paris?" (Fox)	7,500	High 6-24 "I Loved You Wednesday" 16,500 Low 4-29 "Sweepings" 5,000
Paramount	2,900	25c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U.A.)	6,250	"The Way to Love" (Para.)	8,500	High 7-22 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 13,250 Low 6-10 "Reunion in Vienna" 5,800
World	2,500	25c-35c	"Whoopee" (U.A.) and "Pilgrimage" (Fox)	4,500	"Stage Mother" (MGM) and "Golden Harvest" (Para.)	4,750	High 6-3 "Peg O' My Heart" and "Perfect Understanding" 7,500 Low 11-11 "Whoopee" and "Pilgrimage" 4,500
Philadelphia
Aldine	1,200	40c-65c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.) (6 days)	8,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (3rd week-6 days)	5,500	High 10-21 "The Bowery" 12,000 Low 9-30 "Bitter Sweet" 4,800
Arcadia	600	25c-50c	"Solitaire Man" (MGM) (6 days)	1,600	"Bitter Sweet" (U. A.) (6 days)	1,600	High 1-14 "Red Dust" 4,000 Low 5-27 "From Hell to Heaven" 1,500
Boyd	2,400	40c-65c	"Female" (F. N.) (6 days)	8,500	"Bombshell" (MGM) (6 days)	9,500	High 9-2 "Tugboat Annie" 21,000 Low 8-5 "Mary Stevens, M.D." 8,000
Chestnut	1,500	55c-$1.50	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (2nd week-6 days)	11,000	"Dinner at Eight" (MGM) (1st week-6 days)	12,000
Earle	2,000	40c-65c	"Tillie and Gus" (Para.) (6 days)	11,000	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio) (6 days)	20,000	High 1-7 "Breach of Promise" 29,000 Low 10-21 "Saturday's Millions" 10,000
Fox	3,000	35c-75c	"My Lips Betray" (Fox) (6 days)	17,000	"The Mad Game" (Fox) (6 days)	16,000	High 4-22 "Cavalcade" 29,000 Low 8-5 "F. P. 1" 13,000
Karlton	1,000	30c-50c	"Chance at Heaven" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	"Ann Vickers" (Radio) (6 days)	3,000	High 4-8 "42nd Street" 7,700 Low 8-12 "Ann Carver's Profession" 2,500
Keith's	2,000	25c-40c	"Walls of Gold" (Fox) (6 days)	5,000	"My Weakness" (Fox) (6 days)	4,500	High 1-7 "Self Defense" 11,500 Low 11-4 "My Weakness" 4,500
Locust	1,300	55c-$1.65	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (5th week-8 days)	5,000	"Berkeley Square" (Fox) (4th week-6 days)	5,500	High 2-11 "Cavalcade" 13,000 Low 5-6 "The Phantom Broadcast" 4,000
Stanley	3,700	40c-75c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (2nd week-6 days)	15,000	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (1st week-6 days)	18,000	High 6-17 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 27,500 Low 6-10 "The Silver Cord" 9,000
Stanton	1,700	30c-55c	"College Coach" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,500	"Kennel Murder Case" (W. B.) (6 days)	6,500	High 6-3 "The Little Giant" 10,000 Low 7-14 "I Love That Man" 4,500
Portland, Ore.
Broadway	1,912	25c-40c	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	5,800	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	6,900	High 1-21 "Frisco Jenny" 11,000 Low 3-11 "What! No Beer?" 3,500
Liberty	1,800	25c-40c	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	2,000	"The Power and the Glory" (Fox)	2,500	High 10-14 "Torch Singer" 4,500 Low 2-11 "Central Park" 1,000
Music Box	3,000	25c-40c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	8,000	"Elysia" (Bryan Foy)	4,200	High 7-8 "Gold Diggers of 1933" 12,000 Low 5-13 "No More Orchids" 1,600
Oriental	2,040	25c-35c	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	2,000	"Before Dawn" (Radio)	1,800	High 10-14 "Rafter Romance" 14,000 Low 11-4 "Before Dawn" 1,800
Pantages	1,700	15c-40c	"One Sunday Afternoon" (Para.) (25c-40c)	5,000	"Lady for a Day" (Col.)	10,200
United Artists	945	25c-40c	"Day of Reckoning" (MGM)	4,800	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.)	6,000	High 8-19 "Tugboat Annie" 8,500 Low 3-11 "Madame Butterfly" 1,600
San Francisco
Columbia	1,200	50c-$1.50	"Private Life of Henry VIII" (U. A.) (5 days)	9,500	"Emperor Jones" (U. A.) (2nd week)	6,500
El Capitan	2,900	10c-40c	"Doctor Bull" (Fox)	8,000	"Mary Stevens, M.D." (W. B.)	8,000	High 7-1 "Out All Night" 13,000 Low 11-11 "Dr. Bull" 8,000
Embassy	1,380	30c-50c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	12,000	"Night Flight" (MGM)	3,500	High 11-11 "I'm No Angel" 12,000 Low 3-18 "Hound of the Baskervilles" 2,000
Fox	4,600	10c-35c	"East of Fifth Avenue" (Col.)	9,200	"Broken Dreams" (Monogram)	10,000	High 4-8 "Should a Woman Tell?" and "Speed Demon" 15,500 Low 9-9 "Important Witness" and "Sensation Hunters" 7,000
Golden Gate	2,800	25c-65c	"After Tonight" (Radio)	9,000	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby! (U.)	9,500	High 2-11 "The Mummy" 25,500 Low 10-21 "My Woman" 8,000
Orpheum	3,000	15c-40c	"King for a Night" (U.)	9,000	"Flaming Gold" (Radio)	8,500
Paramount	2,670	25c-75c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.)	18,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.) (2nd week)	25,000	High 10-28 "I'm No Angel" 40,000 Low 9-30 "I Loved a Woman" 9,000
St. Francis	1,435	25c-50c	"The Mad Game" (Fox) and "S. O. S." Iceberg" (U.)	4,000	"Bureau of Missing Persons" (F. N.)	5,500	High 3-25 "What! No Beer?" and "Broadway Bad" 13,500 Low 11-11 "The Mad Game" and "S. O. S. Iceberg" 4,000
United Artists	1,200	25c-50c	"Broadway Thru a Keyhole" (U. A.)	12,000	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (4th week)	6,500	High 1-7 "The Kid From Spain" 16,000 Low 8-26 "The Wrecker" 4,000
Warfield	2,700	25c-90c	"Meet the Baron" (MGM)	25,000	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	15,000	High 11-11 "Meet the Baron" 25,000 Low 5-27 "Story of Temple Drake" 10,000
Seattle
Blue Mouse	950	25c-55c	"Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!" (U.)	3,250	"The Bowery" (U. A.) (2nd week)	3,500	High 2-4 "The Kid From Spain" 6,500 Low 8-19 "The Rebel" 2,500
Fifth Avenue	2,750	25c-55c	"Night Flight" (MGM)	7,000	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	15,000	High 8-5 "Tugboat Annie" 19,250 Low 3-18 "From Hell to Heaven" and "Secret of Madame Blanche" 5,000
Liberty	2,000	10c-25c	"Night of Terror" (Col.) and "Racing Strain" (Ind.)	3,500	"Terror Trail" (U.) and "Reform Girl" (Tower)	3,750	High 7-29 "What Price Innocence?" 5,500 Low 6-24 "Uptown New York" 3,000
Metropolitan	1,800	20c-40c	"Two Hearts in Waltz Time" (S.R.)	3,250	"Night and Day" (Gaumont-British)	2,500
Music Box	950	25c-55c	"Footlight Parade" (W. B.) (25c-60c)	8,000	"Ever in My Heart" (W. B.)	3,250	High 11-11 "Footlight Parade" 8,000 Low 11-4 "Ever in My Heart" 3,250
Orpheum	2,500	25c-55c	"Midshipman Jack" (Radio)	5,500	"Golden Harvest" (Para.)	6,000
Paramount	3,050	25c-55c	"I'm No Angel" (Para.)	7,000	"The Way to Love" (Para.) (9 days)	6,000	High 1-7 "A Farewell to Arms" 9,500 Low 9-23 "F. P. 1" and "Aniakchak" 4,000
Roxy	2,275	25c-50c	"Charlie Chan's Greatest Case" (Fox)	6,000	"Pilgrimage" (Fox) (5 days)	4,000	High 10-28 "Ladies Must Love" 14,000 Low 8-26 "The Devil's in Love" 4,000

J. C. JENKINS--HIS COLYUM

Neligh, Nebraska.

DEAR HERALD:

We want three blonde, gum-chewing stenographers to help us take care of our mail, girls who work under the gum-chewing code and don't want Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays off. We are getting letters from Massachusetts to Texas and from Grindstone, South Dakota, to Tombstone, Arizona, and every mail brings an additional batch of letters and none of 'em marked "collect."

Mrs. Charles J. Otts of Royse City, Texas, sends us a three page letter, and boy, did it cheer us up. She hopes we get better. Thanks, Mrs. Otts.

Dr. F. Draper Hurd of Tolley, North Dakota, writes and tells us not to ride with any film salesmen or our blood pressure never will go down. Thanks, Doc, for the advice; it is good.

C. D. Rhind of Attleboro, Mass., writes to say that he can't see how anybody could get high blood pressure out here where the people wear gold log chains across their vests to keep the cows from swallowing their watches. We don't have watches out here now, C. D., we've had to pawn 'em since the last election.

▽

An Offer of Work!

Micky Larson of Oakland, Nebraska, wants us to come down there and help him move another cook stove. Doc says we must lay off that stuff, Micky.

Mayme P. Musselman of Lincoln, Kansas, says that she and Ray both hope we have a speedy recovery. Mayme is the lady who makes such lovely huckleberry pies.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bailey of Pawnee City, Nebraska, say they hope we will be able to continue to write our Colyum. Why, shame on you folks, haven't you any regard for the HERALD'S subscribers? Why pick on them?

F. C. Hensler, district manager for MGM at Kansas City, Mo., says he was sorry to learn of our sickness. Good old F. C., how we'd love to see him again.

E. S. Noreen of Hutchinson, Minnesota, says he has been reading our Colyum so long that he considers himself "our friend," although he has never met us but once. Righto, old boy, we hope you continue to feel that way. Outside of a few faults we are not a bad guy.

▽

When Ducks Are Flying

A. F. Jenkins of David City, Nebraska, tells us to not worry, that "it's hard to keep a Colonel down." You bet it is, A. F., when the mallards are flying.

Jack Yeo of Burlington, Wisconsin, writes, "Sorry to hear of your bum eye, but we know that your eye will not fail you any more than the thousands of exhibitor friends you have throughout this good old U. S." Thanks, Jack. That helps a lot.

H. J. Longacre of Glenwood, Minnesota, says he can sympathize with us because he mashed one of his thumbs recently. Sorry to hear it, H. J., but why didn't you tell us one of your fish stories?

E. H. Gooding, motion picture editor on the Buffalo Evening News of Buffalo, N. Y., says "Speedy recovery to you. Perhaps I ought to say that I find not only your colyum but the What the Picture Did for Me department, revived by you, good medicine for me—keeps me from getting too sure of myself in rating pictures." Thanks, E. H., for the compliment.

Bill Weaver, editor of the Chicagoan, a Quigley publication issued in Chicago, advises us to park our shins up close to the stove until the winter is over. Bill used to coon watermelons and run away from school to catch bullheads out at Boone, Iowa, but now he furnishes the elite of Chicago a high-class publication that meets with their approval.

E. S. Clifford of the HERALD'S Chicago office says he hopes we have sense enough to stay off the road until we are permanently cured. We hope so too, E. S., but doggone it nobody has ever given us credit of having any sense yet. We've tried to make 'em believe that we are a pretty smart guy but it has never worked.

▽

Ralph Larned of La Crosse, Kansas, writes us, among other things, that going blind must be an epidemic in Kansas since a film salesman told him recently that if he didn't buy his product he must surely be blind. He says that the exhibitors in his locality must be afflicted the same way, since none of them bought his service. Ralph is quite a kidder.

O. W. Tuel of Manson, Iowa, says he hopes we get well soon enough to come over there and shoot ducks, as the lakes are full of 'em. Doggone it, O. W., why bring that up when we are counting daisies on the wall paper?

Hazel and Harold Dunn of Valentine, Nebraska, writes, "We are sorry that the distance is so great that we can't visit you, otherwise we would be there with new wall decorations for you. Hope the flowers in the paper do not wilt. Lots of ducks here now. We are going out to a duck dinner tonight." There goes that duck stuff again. Good gosh, can't they lay off that duck talk for a while? The first thing they know we will go up there, Doc or no Doc.

Mrs. Hyman Lovitsky of Grand Island, Nebraska, hopes we soon get better and says for us to eat no red meat so our blood pressure will go down. Good advice, Mrs. Lovitsky. We have cut out meat, we have cut out potatoes, we've cut out coffee, we've cut out bread and we haven't smoked for ten days. How's that for self-denial? Yes, and we don't swear except when they keep talking about ducks all the while. We'll betcha that guy Hiney of yours don't do that.

▽

Friend to Friend

Then comes a letter from our old friend Henry Reeve of Menard, Texas, and he tries to make us believe that we are of some importance to this picture business. He rates us as "The exhibitor's friend" and hopes we will continue in the service. You went pretty strong, Henry, but don't think for a moment that we didn't appreciate it. We would have been in to see you before now if we hadn't had to leave the road, for we were on our way and Menard was on our list. Good luck, old boy, and regards to the family.

Well, those are a few of the letters we have received, and did they make us feel good? Well, you tell 'em, Azro. But there are about 3,000 others who are as mum as a catfish, probably due to the increased postal rates.

▽

We note by a recent press dispatch that a radio crooner was going to give up crooning and take up aviation. Good. It has always been our contention that if the public would practice forbearance and "suffer in silence" everything would eventually come out all right.

▽

We wish they would adopt a code to curtail the barks in a dog. Marjorie's skyoodle has so many barks in him that the fleas don't get any rest.

▽

Then after that we had to take another dose of Doc's bitter medicine that would sour a buzzard.

COLONEL J. C. JENKINS,
The HERALD'S Vagabond Colyumnist.

JAYSEE'S APPETITE APPEALING FOR HELP

From Marjorie Jenkins Bradley, daughter of this department's hors de combat war correspondent, comes the following "appeal for help to improve Jaysee's disposition as well as get him back on his feet":

Did you ever have your father with blood pressure up so high
That you get so darned excited, and want to sit and cry?
Well, believe me, when I tell you, it is anything but fun
To figure out his menus, it's a reg'lar son of a gun!

To begin with, Doctor tells him to lay off all kinds of meat;
Liquid diets—never starches—should patient try to eat!
But my brain has ceased to function,
and I'm just about worn out;
Dad's so sick of soups and liquids that he's started in to pout.

So if any of you readers know of anything that's fine,
Send suggestions by the bushel, for
I'm sure 'twill be in time,
For it's hard enough to feed him, even when he's feeling well,
But with all this high blood pressure
I sure find it's toughernel.

WHAT THE PICTURE DID FOR ME

IN this, the exhibitor's own department, the theatremen of the nation serve one another with information on the box office performance of product for their mutual benefit. It is a service of the exhibitor for the exhibitor. Address all communications to—

What the Picture Did for Me

MOTION PICTURE HERALD
1790 Broadway, New York

Columbia

ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION: Fay Wray and Gene Raymond—A splendid entertainment picture. Story good and acted great. Satisfied all we got.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION: Fay Wray, Gene Ranmond—Good play. Raymond made a hit in this play by singing. He has an excellent voice and we were complimented on this scene very much. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Oct. 10-11.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard, Gene Raymond—Good play with a good cast. Raymond and Lombard made an entertaining play. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Oct. 4-5.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

BRIEF MOMENT: Carole Lombard—Good, clean program picture. I hope Columbia will keep all of their pictures as clean as "Brief Moment" and "Lady for a day."—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Ia. General patronage.

CALIFORNIA TRAIL, THE: Buck Jones—Buck Jones has never done a finer picture than this. Laid during that romantic period before California became a state, it tells a story that is full of heart interest, besides giving Jones a chance to make a daring escape from jail and doing other exciting things. Drew well.—A. N. Miles, Eminence Theatre, Eminence, Ky. Small town patronage.

COCKTAIL HOUR: Bebe Daniels, Randolph Scott—Good play, and acted to perfection. Our patrons complimented us on it very much. Columbia made a hit when they made this one. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Sept. 26-27.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

DANGEROUS CROSSROADS: Chic Sale—Excellent show and very good play. We should have more plays with Chic Sale in them. He makes an entertaining actor. Make more of these, Columbia. Running time, 62 minutes. Played Sept. 5-6.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

DECEPTION: Leo Carrillo—Good wrestling play. Carrillo played the part of the villain very good. Our patrons enjoyed it very much. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Sept. 19-20.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

FORBIDDEN TRAIL: Buck Jones, Barbara Weeks—Good western. Jones is very amusing. The crowd enjoyed it very much. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Sept. 16-17.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

LADY FOR A DAY: May Robson, Warren William—Excellent picture, wonderful story and it's clean. A picture for the whole family. Good acting by the whole cast. Everything it takes to make a good picture. Thanks to Columbia for their kind cooperation in putting this picture over. Running time, 90 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Ia. General patronage.

MY WOMAN: Helen Twelvetrees, Victor Jory—This is another very good picture from Columbia. The story is rather simple and unexciting. A marital complication via the triangle route, thrown against a background in the radio atmosphere. The women are sure to enjoy this, but the men are doubtful. We played this one day to a good business and think one day is enough for a small town. Running time, 73 minutes. Played Nov. 3.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

NIGHT OF TERROR: Bela Lugosi, Sally Blane—This is a good picture for the mystery and thrill loving audience. We played this as a special Halloween night show and to a good business. Just the type of picture for a midnight show and will make a good Saturday showing. A good story and will hold interest from start to finish. Our audience was well pleased and we received many comments on this picture. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Oct. 31.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SOLDIERS OF THE STORM: Regis Toomey, Anita Page—A mighty fine picture, and was well received by our patrons. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Oct. 27-28.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

SO THIS IS AFRICA: Wheeler & Wooley—Played this late and am not sorry I did. Business very good. Picture is rather smutty, but have heard very few complaints. Played Oct. 26-27-28.—Martin Toker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

STATE TROOPER: Regis Toomey, Evalyn Knapp—Good play for Saturday and Sunday. Drew a good business. It was a good play and should be shown to the public. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Sept. 2-3.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

THRILL HUNTER, THE: Buck Jones—Good little picture for Saturday. Clean. Played Oct. 28.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

UNKNOWN VALLEY: Buck Jones, Cecelia Parker—Good western. Different from the usual wild western play. Jones outdoes himself to make this play interesting from beginning to the end. He has an excellent supporting cast. You won't go wrong booking this play. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Sept. 30-Oct. 1.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

WHAT PRICE INNOCENCE: Willard Mack, Jean Parker—A good picture of its kind. Same of story. Some liked it. Some said they did not. Business good first day. Fell off badly second day. Played Oct. 30-31.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

WHEN STRANGERS MARRY: Jack Holt, Lillian Bond—Good play. It ended with plenty of action. Holt always gives the patrons what they want. We were satisfied with this one. Running time, 68 minutes. Played Oct. 7-8.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

WOMAN I STOLE, THE: Jack Holt—Too much of the title in the story.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WRECKER, THE: Jack Holt, Genevieve Tobin—Good play. Interesting from the beginning to the end. We are complimented on it very much. We need more plays like this one. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Sept. 23-24.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

First National

ELMER THE GREAT: Joe E. Brown—Joe E. always goes over big here, and this picture doesn't lower him one bit. Lots of good comment. Running time, 74 minutes. Played Nov. 3-4.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

ELMER THE GREAT: Joe E. Brown—A good show that did business for us, but not as good as some of the Joe Brown productions. The baseball fans enjoyed it. Running time, 74 minutes.—Robert Schwall, Jr., State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. General patronage.

I LOVED A WOMAN: Edward G. Robinson, Kay Francis—This is an excellent picture. Story good and acting is perfect. This show has plenty of the stuff that goes to make an outstanding box-office picture. There is only one thing to mar the entertainment—the tragic ending. With a happy ending it would have added considerably to the entertainment value. Give it your best days. Played two days to a good business. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Nov. 6-7.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SHE HAD TO SAY YES: Loretta Young, Lyle Talbot—I consider this a good program picture, but it did not get any business for me. Running time, eight reels. Played Oct. 25-26.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

SILVER DOLLAR: Edward G. Robinson—Old Californian history. Most interesting and wonderful acting by Robinson and Aline MacMahon.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

WILD BOYS OF THE ROAD: Frankie Darro—A swell show and very timely.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

Fox

ARIZONA TO BROADWAY: James Dunn—Plenty of action and comedy. For a small town or for the county, an excellent show. Extremely well liked by our people. Played Oct. 21.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. County patronage.

BEST OF ENEMIES: Marian Nixon and Charles "Buddy" Rogers—While some managers have panned this attraction, we thought it was a good programmer. We had some compliments; business was normal. Played Oct. 25-26.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

CAVALCADE: Diana Wynyard—A few complimented it, but the majority said they couldn't get the dialog. I paid about twice what it was worth.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

CAVALCADE: Clive Brooks, Diana Wynyard—Biggest business for over three years. Third to house record. Am repeating it. Running time, 97 minutes.—G. G. Baiss. Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

DEVIL'S IN LOVE, THE: Loretta Young, Victor Jory—The Foreign Legion comes to light again in the movies and does very well with Victor Jory in the lead. Very good photography and entertainment. Played Oct. 25-26.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

DEVIL'S IN LOVE: Victor Jory and Loretta Young—Just fair, not good, not bad. Running time, 71 minutes. Played Oct. 13-16.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

GOOD COMPANIONS, THE: Jessie Matthews—Faithful reproduction of Priestley's best seller. Chiefly British appeal. Splendid business.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

HOLD ME TIGHT: Sally Eilers and James Dunn—Good program picture that did poorly at the box office. Did not pay expenses. Running time, 71 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Ia. General patronage.

IT'S GREAT TO BE ALIVE: Edna May Oliver, Raul Roulien—Just misses fire somewhere. Lights comedy with music. Poor box office.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien—Good Zane Grey western. Running time, 65 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Ia. General patronage.

LIFE IN THE RAW: George O'Brien, Claire Trevor—A very good western that pleased.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Ia. General patronage.

PADDY THE NEXT BEST THING: Janet Gaynor, Warner Baxter—Personally think this Miss Gaynor's best since "High Society Blues" ("State Fair" excepted). It gave universal satisfaction. Clean as usual. One you can recommend to the whole family. Played Oct. 29-30.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

PILGRIMAGE: Henrietta Crossman—What a swell piece of acting this star did in this picture. Someone will have to work hard to beat her out of the 1933 gold medal. Picture sad in spots and also has lots of comedy. Played it on Hallowe'en to three good houses at night, midnight and matinee and stacked them in. Don't be afraid of it. The picture will please any kind of audience. Running time, 90 minutes.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

POWER AND THE GLORY, THE: Spencer Tracy, Colleen Moore—If you would like my honest-to-goodness personal opinion, I have no hesitancy in saying that this is a wonderful picture. Entirely different from any that you have had before. If you can only get them in you have nothing to worry about. From some cause I failed to convince my patrons that it was an exceptionally good picture, and as a result I failed to do the business that the picture was entitled to. I was especially sold on it because it brought back to the screen that wonderful little actress, Colleen Moore. In her long absence she has lost none of her charm, acting and ability. Here's hoping we will see her in many more pictures. Play it on your best nights and give your patrons a real treat. Spencer Tracy should also share the acting honors because he has never done anything better.

Running time, eight reels. Played Oct. 28-29.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

SAILOR'S LUCK: Sally Eilers, James Dunn—Snappy comedy with some hot spots.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

TESS OF THE STORM COUNTRY: Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell—Good picture. Good Sunday business.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WARRIOR'S HUSBAND, THE: Elissa Landi, Ernest Truex, Marjorie Rambeau—This is the funniest picture I have seen in a long time. Fair business.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Freuler

FORTY-NINERS, THE: Tom Tyler—Just a Western; not so hot.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Gaumont-British

MIDSHIP MAID: Jessie Matthews — Funniest comedy since "Rookery Nook." Severely avoided by native born. British yelled their heads off.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

London Film

COUNSEL'S OPINION: Cyril Maude, Binnie Barnes—Has more snap and beauty than we are accustomed to in British pictures. For good class patronage only.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

MGM

ANOTHER LANGUAGE: Robert Montgomery Helen Hayes—Very, very good.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

BEAUTY FOR SALE: Otto Kruger, Madge Evans—A fine picture that will please any kind of audience. The ladies will especially like this one. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Oct. 23-24.—Roy Patience, Via Theatre, Crescent City, Fla. Small town patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Frank Morgan, Alice Brady—A picture that goes through three generations of show folks, and takes too long to get there for the good of the picture. The first part is very slow and tiresome. The struggle of the old-timers to stay in the spotlight is entirely too long, and if some of that had been left out, and the tempo speeded up it would have been a better picture. The last part is good, but it takes too long to get to it. Not an outstanding audience picture for that reason. The ballet sequences are very good, but that does not save it from dragging very badly for about four reels. —A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—Very good.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady, Frank Morgan—Not as elaborate a musical as some, but good character portrayals. Well received and rightly so. Plenty of musical shows on the market. When they have seen their day people will still come to see life on the screen. We will take some more. Played Oct. 29-31. Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

BROADWAY TO HOLLYWOOD: Alice Brady and Frank Morgan—This picture did not draw, but I call it one of the best features I ever saw (bar none). Of course, it was over the heads of our patrons, but at that, all were satisfied that we got in. The acting was 100 per cent perfect by Brady and Morgan. I hear a lot of favorable comments on the picture.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

MGM PICTURES: This is my first year running MGM pictures. I found the following excellent: "Peg o' My Heart," "Tugboat Annie" and "Broadway to Hollywood." The following I class good: "Beauty for Sale," "The Nuisance" and "Penthouse." We are very much pleased with both features and shorts from MGM.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

MIDNIGHT MARY: Loretta Young, Franchot Tone —The gangster's moll marries the gay young hero who swallows the family pride to save her from the chair. Well done by Miss Young, and Tone portrayed his type very well. The bad, bad girls of the wicked city cause various emotions in the innocent small town—that lets us in. Played Oct. 27, 28.—Horn and Morgan, Star Theatre, Hay Springs, Neb. General patronage.

NUISANCE, THE: Lee Tracy—You can't go wrong on this one. Plenty of fast moving, fast talking comedy and action. If your patrons didn't like Tracy they will after this one. The best to date by this fast talking wisecracking star. Running time, 83 minutes. Played Oct. 25-26.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter—You can't make any mistake on this one. It will please 100 per cent. Well liked by young and old. Running time, 91 minutes. Played Nov. 1.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy—A very good program picture. Interesting story, well acted and directed. Gave good satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

PENTHOUSE: Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy, Mae Clarke—Here is a picture that is well produced from every angle. A crook story that is different. Excitement, comedy and romance. Baxter and Loy excellent. Our patrons liked it, and told me so, I consider it excellent entertainment. Played Oct. 24-25.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SOLITAIRE MAN: Herbert Marshall, Mary Bolan, Lionel Atwell, May Robson—A sophisticated class picture that will not get you a dime if they knew what you were going to show them ahead. Too much dialogue stilted English accent, and very slow to develop into a picture. Press sheet mystery with comedy. Try and get any laughs out of it. Nobody gave it a tumble, so it dies the second day.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SOLITAIRE MAN: Herbert Marshall—This picture proved to be a big disappointment to a fairly good audience. The title won't mean a thing, and entire cast not well enough known to draw any business. Spot it in on your weakest night. Running time, eight reels. Played Oct. 28.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

STAGE MOTHER: Alice Brady, Maureen O'Sullivan—Plenty of good music and dancing in this one. Maureen O'Sullivan especially good supporting Alice Brady. Running time, 90 minutes. Played Oct. 30-31.—Roy Patience, Via Theatre, Crescent City, Fla. Small town patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Kay Francis, Nils Asther—Agreeably surprised. This was good. Had so many adverse comments:—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

STORM AT DAYBREAK: Kay Francis, Niles Asther, Walter Huston—We did not do much business with this picture because we had a circus in town, and a real summer day outside. Picture has some good music and storm scenes are very good. Played Nov. 3.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

STRANGER'S RETURN, THE: Lionel Barrymore, Miriam Hopkins, Franchot Tone—Personally I thought this was a real good picture, but it fell down at the box office. Certainly no fault of cast or production. I guess they just did not want to see the picture. Played Nov. 1-2.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

TUGBOAT ANNIE: Marie Dressler, Wallace Beery —As good as the others, but did not do the business. Guess every one stayed home to listen to the radio birthday party given in honor of Marie. J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

Monogram

FUGITIVE, THE: Rex Bell—A good action western picture. Played on a double bill and gave satisfaction. —Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

GALLANT FOOL: Bob Steele—Audience thought it poor, and we pulled it after one showing.—Avece T. Waldron, Blue Moon Theatre, Oklahoma City, Okla. Suburban family theatre.

RIDERS OF DESTINY: John Wayne, Cecilia Parker—This is the best western picture played from Monogram. If you think that independent producers cannot make a good western picture, look at this one. Full of action and plenty of thrills. This is the first release of John Wayne's from Monogram and if the rest are as good as this one—here's wishing them both success. Played one day to a good business. Running time, 72 minutes. Played November 4.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SPHINX, THE: Lionel Atwill, Sheila Terry—This is only a fair picture of the mystery type and the story proceeds along the usual murder angles. A fair story with only fair settings. The recording is terrible, and in several spots the dialogue is beyond understanding. However, it will pass for a one-day showing and should make a good Saturday show. Plenty of action and thrills. Business average. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Oct. 28.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Paramount

BEDTIME STORY: Maurice Chevalier—Not up to "One Hour With You" or "Love Me Tonight," but it's less sophisticated and Baby LeRoy draws them.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

COLLEGE HUMOR: Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen—Good play. Well produced. This is what we want, Paramount. Patrons liked it very much. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Sept. 9-10.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

EAGLE AND THE HAWK: Fredric March, Cary Grant—Educational performance by March. Powerful wartime flying picture. Satisfied. Running time, 75 minutes.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

GAMBLING SHIP: Cary Grant, Benita Hume—Good gambling and gangster play. We had a fair crowd. It was a little different from what we have had in some time, and so our patrons enjoyed it. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Aug. 29-30.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST, THE: Richard Arlen, Genevieve Tobin—Up to the minute picture of farm belt and Board of Trade activities. Farm strike and everything. Pleased. Played Oct. 29-30.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST, THE: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris—Great entertainment. Will please young and old, farmers or sophisticated. It's timely, has comedy, drama, romance. All in all, it's a swell picture, especially after we've been fed up on foreign stuff.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

GOLDEN HARVEST, THE: Richard Arlen, Chester Morris—Good play and excellent cast. Shows what the modern farmer has been putting up with. The show went over big here. Running time, 78 minutes. Played Oct. 14-15.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Wynne Gibson, Edmund Lowe —Rather clever comedy drama which seemed to please even the week-end crowd, which usually prefers action. Played Oct. 6-7.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Edmund Lowe—Excellent picture, but business dropped 10 per cent on Saturday night.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson —Here is a sweet little picture from Paramount and one that will please any audience. A smooth rolling comedy, combined with enough romance to inspire love interest, set in a theatrical atmosphere, and a good supporting cast that adds considerably to the entertainment. This will make good amusement for the whole family. Played one day to good business. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Nov. 1.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

HER BODYGUARD: Edmund Lowe, Wynne Gibson —Made a bad mistake playing this picture on Saturday. Business off 40 per cent. Not a bad picture, by any means. Played Nov. 4.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE: Peggy Joyce, W. C. Fields—This nonsensical presentation caused many laughs and some praise. The fact that we did a little better than usual the second night would indicate that it gave satisfaction. Played Nov. 1-2.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

JENNIE GERHARDT: Sylvia Sydney—This is one of those formula numbers, so and so stories. You've seen the same story before under a different name. One of these "they aren't doing right by our little Nell" tales, left to face the world with the forgotten baby. The Methodist members of the audience objected to it, the rest liked it for the good work of the stars in the picture. Running time, 82 minutes. Played October 23-24.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Charlie Ruggles, Mary Boland—Good comedy, clean and wholesome. Drags a little in spots, but nevertheless it makes them laugh and sends them away happy, which is something these days. Fair business. Running time, 69 minutes. Played Oct. 23-24.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

MAMA LOVES PAPA: Mary Boland, Charlie Ruggles—Good entertainment. These people make a great comedy team. Clean, good for the entire family. Played Oct. 26-27.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper, Fay Wray—Gary Cooper should please any one who likes people acting like they were themselves. Will hold interest throughout. Running time, 85 minutes. Played Oct. 20-21.—Roy Patience, Via Theatre, Crescent City, Fla. Small town patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper—Saw this in the city and didn't like it, but it broke our Friday and Saturday record for several years, so who cares whether we liked it as long as our paid customers liked it?—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

ONE SUNDAY AFTERNOON: Gary Cooper-Fay Wray—This was a rather slow-going performance. We had some misgivings when we set it in for Saturday night. Our business fell off a little, but, to our surprise we did not hear a kick. Played Nov. 4.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus N. Y. Family patronage.

PARAMOUNT PICTURES: We are somewhat behind in reporting on new pictures, but I find Paramount's 1933 releases better than ever. It looks like they have a great lineup, and I haven't struck a bad one in the new group. "Three Cornered Moon," fine. "One Sunday Afternoon," good. "Big Executive," fair. "This Day and Age," excellent. "Song of Songs," fair for small towns; good for cities. "Torch Singer," excellent. I give this four stars in any theatre. Step on it and make some money. "Golden Harvest," wonderful for small towns and agricultural communities. Good entertainment. "Too Much Harmony," great. Beautiful musical. Will please everybody.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—This picture, story and star, Mae West, may be a "wow" in some spots, but out here in the "sticks" she doesn't mean a thing. We've never seen her on the legitimate stage and to our patrons she can't get by on her past reputation. As a result, we pulled her after the first night and substituted Universal's "Air Mail," a real honest to goodness picture.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Small town patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—I played this to adults only and was glad on two counts. Good Sunday business.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

SHE DONE HIM WRONG: Mae West—An absolute classic of 90's. Risque and raw, but they all liked it here. Business okay. I intend to repeat it. Mae West is—personality.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

SONG OF SONGS: Marlene Dietrich—A 50-50 picture. The half that liked it raved about it and the half that didn't told us in no gentle tones.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

SUNSET PASS: Randolph Scott, Tom Keene—The advertising of several western stars in one feature brought us a little better than average Saturday night business. The show pleased. Played Oct. 28.—C. W. Mills, Arcade Theatre, Sodus, N. Y. Family patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—Big sets don't make a picture, and this one is very mediocre. De Mille must be slipping to let them hand him such a vehicle as this one. Some of the scenes are so badly overdrawn in treatment that it was pathetic. Especially the trial by students of Charles Bickford, the racketeer. Dead Shot Dick was in college and also a roping fool to rope him. All the college color was there, the hip hip hooray of trial with college songs. A lot of high-class hooey that was ridiculous.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Richard Cromwell and Judith Allen—Splendid De Mille production telling of the revolt of the youthful element against gangster conditions in a great city. We used in tieup with whole high school. Pleased. Played Oct. 27-28.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

THIS DAY AND AGE: Charles Bickford, Judith Allen—Very good, but failed at the box office.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

TILLIE AND GUS: W. C. Fields, Alison Skipworth—Personally, I thought this a pretty silly picture, but it drew some extra business, and they just naturally ate it up. Lots of comedy, and that seems to be what they are looking for. Played Oct. 31-Nov. 1.—R. W. Hickman, Lyric Theatre, Greenville, Ill. General patronage.

TOO MUCH HARMONY: Bing Crosby, Lilyan Tashman—An excellent musical to a nice business. Well made, good music, good comedy and girls. What more do you want? Play it and go after it.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—In this one Claudette has the fans gasping. Just what they want, and patrons were pleased with the entire picture. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Oct. 6-7.—Roy Fatience, Via Theatre, Crescent City, Fla. Small town patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—A swell motion picture to only average business. Spend an extra few dollars on this one. Tell them how good it is and you won't be disappointed.—Warren L. Weber, Ellinwood Theatre, Ellinwood, Kansas. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert, Ricardo Cortez—This is one of the best pictures Colbert has ever had. It is packed full of entertainment, especially for the ladies, and although rather sad in places, should please all kinds of patrons. The musical background and specialties are marvelous and the picture as a whole is excellent. We played it only one day to a good business, but it will stand two days showing. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Nov. 2.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

TORCH SINGER: Claudette Colbert—Very good. J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

RKO

BED OF ROSES: Constance Bennett—What Liberty could see in this picture to give it four stars—I think it is very much overrated. The work of Pert Kelton is very good. Story nothing to rave about. Played Oct. 23-24.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

DOUBLE HARNESS: Ann Harding, William Powell—The few that came seemed to like it. Did not do much business for us. Powell and Harding did their usual good acting. Running time, 74 minutes.—Robert Schwall, Jr., State Theatre, Ipswich, S. D. General patronage.

GREAT JASPER, THE: Richard Dix—This old number did better business than I hoped for. Dix is good; Wera Engels is simply among those present; Florence Eldridge as the long-suffering wife turns in a perfect performance.—R. W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

HALF NAKED TRUTH: Lee Tracy—Quite an old picture, but one that was exceedingly good for country towns. Tracy is always fine, and the whole show was received with great enthusiasm by our patrons. Played Oct. 28.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. County patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: Frances Dee, William Gargan—Good action tale of news cameraman's adventures. Pleased Friday and Saturday business. Played Oct. 20-21.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

HEADLINE SHOOTER: William Gargan—Not much story to this, and not very hot from any angle. Running time, 65 minutes. Played Oct. 27-28.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

KING KONG: An unusual spectacular production. Personally I thought the picture very good. Most women patrons thought it was too horrible. Business was poor. Played Sept. 20-23.—Martin Teker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Mitzi Green—Only average attendance for this picture. The [illegible] character is not so well known here. It is [illegible] okay, and pleased those that came. Played Oct. 20-21.—Martin Teker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

MELODY CRUISE: Charles Ruggles—Had more good comments on this one than any RKO I had run this year. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Oct. 23-24.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

MORNING GLORY: Katharine Hepburn, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—Good acting by Katharine, but just a lot of bla bla for the cash customers. Poor at the box office. Running time, 80 minutes. Played Oct. 22-24.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

NO MARRIAGE TIES: Richard Dix—The best from this star for some time, but points to look for improvement.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

ONE MAN'S JOURNEY: Lionel Barrymore—A very fine production and splendid comments. Very satisfactory entertainment. Running time, 70 minutes. Played Oct. 29.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

GET 'EM THERE Quickly and Safely by RAILWAY EXPRESS

Films and theatre equipment of all kinds are best transported by Railway Express. This service offers you — whether you are the shipper or the receiver — many features that are not found in any other method of shipping.

Though Railway Express moves at passenger train speed, there is no limit to the size of the shipment. Any object that can be carried in an express car can be shipped by Railway Express. Rates include $50 liability on all packages, and additional liability costs but a little. Absolute safety and careful handling during transit are assured by the experienced employees of the Railway Express, and our system of giving and taking a receipt guarantees delivery. Railway Express Lot shipment plan offers exceptional savings in shipping costs.

Railway Express covers the entire United States, operating over 213,000 miles of railways, using 9,000 trucks and employing an army of more than 50,000 skilled people. The reputation of Railway Express for safe shipment of all kinds of merchandise is unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

Your local Railway Express agent will gladly give you complete information and rates.

SERVING THE NATION FOR 94 YEARS

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY

NATION-WIDE SERVICE

OUR BETTERS: Constance Bennett—A sordid story, dressed up with a perfect cast. Enough comedy relief to take part of the bad taste out of the audience's mouth.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster—Very good.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

RAFTER ROMANCE: Ginger Rogers—A nice little picture that pleased. Running time, 75 minutes. Played Oct. 28.—M. W. Mattecheck, Lark Theatre, McMinnville, Ore. Local patronage.

RENEGADES OF THE WEST: Tom Keene, Betty Furness, Roscoe Ates—My Saturday crowd liked this picture. Condition of print bad in places. Give us more singing, more comedy and music with western pictures. Running time, six reels. Played Oct. 28.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

SWEEPINGS: Lionel Barrymore—A fine big picture, but not much box office.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

United Artists

I COVER THE WATERFRONT: Claudette Colbert, Ben Lyon—A great story with an entirely new angle in it, that of smuggling by the use of sharks and fish, together with the work of a newspaper reporter. Keeps the audience in suspense with excitement. Advise billing this big, it merits it. Running time, 76 minutes. Played October 9-10.—Wm. A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

KID FROM SPAIN: Eddie Cantor—Just exactly what you would expect. It's great entertainment, and one of the outstanding productions of 1933. By all means run it. It's a money maker, and one that will please every man, woman and child. We also bought "Whoopee," and ran it second run, and found it more popular than ever. Your patrons will like the beautiful colors in "Whoopee," and in view of the fact that there are so few color pictures on the market, my advice is to run "Whoopee" over again, no matter how many times you have ran it. If I can get it I'll run it the third time next year, and I bet it does a good business. These kind of pictures will never get old. While I am writing on United Artists pictures, I want to say I find the following pictures very good: "Cynara" and "Secrets."—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

MASQUERADER, THE: Ronald Colman—One of the finest pictures of the year. No box office and business below average.—C. L. Niles, Niles Theatre, Anamosa, Iowa. General patronage.

PERFECT UNDERSTANDING: Gloria Swanson—This is only a fair picture of the English type and will not go over in the small towns. It may be good entertainment in the larger cities, but here it is just another flop. Had several walkouts and many complaints. This type of picture will not help Gloria Swanson make a comeback, as far as the small towns are concerned. Running time, 84 minutes. Played Oct. 30-31.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

SECRETS: Mary Pickford, Leslie Howard—Old-fashioned movie stuff. Got by.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

Universal

BIG CAGE, THE: Clyde Beatty—Greatest show of its kind ever produced. Nothing that I have ever seen can compare with it. Plenty of action and good story. The handling of the animals by Beatty is almost unbelievable. Played Nov. 4.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. County patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: Paul Whiteman and Band—Reissued film of what was one of the most beautiful and entertaining of the musicals of 1930-31. Think Universal improved it, except that I do not remember two bad bits of dialogue that showed up in the reissue. Again we say, why? Played Oct. 15-16.—P. G. Estee, S. T. Theatre, Parker, S. D. Small town patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: Paul Whiteman and Band—Several beautiful shots, is about all you can say for this one. Four years old and it shows it. Motion picture producers have made progress since this one was produced, and there is no reason why we should go back and pick this one up. Sorry we did. Not to be compared with other musicals on the market.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Small town patronage.

KING OF JAZZ: Paul Whiteman, John Boles—The most magnificent picture of all time. The most gorgeous colors ever filmed. All say it's the outstanding musical production on the market today. This goes to show that real pictures can be and have been made. My advice to every exhibitor, large and small, in every situation is to get this picture and run it as soon as possible. It cost all that Uncle Carl said it did, and, no matter what it cost, it's worth it, and there never was a time when your public needs a real picture more than now. We ran this picture when it was first released, and because of so many similar productions it did not hit, but boy, oh, boy, how they appreciate it now. Many people will come back the second night and see it over. People stood up and applauded at the close of this feature. Universal, I want to publicly thank you for the picture. I congratulate Uncle Carl for re-issuing the first run, and a million besides. How I would like to get some of the old favorites again, such as "Gold Diggers of Broadway," "Sally," "On With the Show" and "The Desert Song." They can make good pictures. The past has proven that. Some smart producer will make another all-color musical, and you'll see more money made than ever. Business is always good with good pictures. Played Nov. 3-4.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

LADIES MUST LOVE: June Knight—just fair. Running time, 70 minutes. Nov. 3-4.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

LOVE, HONOR AND OH BABY: Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts. Any one that could not laugh at this one certainly is in poor health. I call it one of the best comedies we have played this season. All of us rubes enjoyed it immensely. It gave good satisfaction. Of course, us out in the sticks tickle easy and it drew better at the box office than most of the socalled great specials. Big pictures don't draw them now. They have had too much of the big attractions.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS: Mary Brian, Leo Carrillo—If you haven't run this picture, by all means run it. Best musical of the year. Good any day. Running time, 86 minutes. Played Oct. 13-14.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

PRIVATE JONES: Lee Tracy—This boy Tracy has established himself in our town. This show is a dandy, just the type for a mixed audience. Comedy, wise-cracks galore and a story that goes over. You can bank on this one.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Small town patronage.

REBEL, THE: Vilma Banky and Louis Trenker—A good picture, fine scenery and good acting. It is big, but no drawing power. Pleased all that saw it.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

SATURDAY'S MILLIONS: Robert Young, Leila Hyams, Grant Withers, Andy Devine—Good picture. Not too much football. A little given to heroics by Young at the end that was not so good. Will get by for a Saturday picture.—A. E. Hancock, Columbia Theatre, Columbia City, Ind. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Gloria Stuart—Good mystery picture that drew only fair at the box office. Running time, 70 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM, THE: Lionel Atwill, Paul Lukas, Gloria Stuart—A well made mystery tale. Fair Saturday business.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

TOM BROWN OF CULVER: Tom Brown—An old one, but good enough for any place, any time. Pleased our patrons greatly. I consider it a most entertaining production. Played Oct. 14.—George Lodge, Green Lantern Theatre, Claymont, Del. County patronage.

Warner

FORTY-SECOND STREET: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—It seemed to cause disappointment. They somehow expected more, but it certainly did the business, though it's no "Broadway Melody." Running time, 97 minutes.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

FORTY-SECOND STREET: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—We are playing this picture two weeks before "Gold Diggers" to establish the stars. Did a mighty nice business on this in spite of cold weather and snow. With "Footlight Parade" coming up, together with "Gold Diggers," we aren't worried about what they will do. Forty-second Street will do business anywhere and will please 100 per cent.—L. E. Mahoney, New Columbus Theatre, Columbus, N. D. Small town patronage.

FORTY-SECOND STREET: Ruby Keeler, Dick Powell—Played this excellent musical during County Fair week and broke the all-time attendance record for the house. It was the first time for this house that patrons had to wait in line. Very few kicks on this picture. Played Aug. 30-31-Sept. 1-2.—Martin Teker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1933: Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell—A great musical comedy with some good song and dance numbers and tunes that you can't stop humming to yourself days after the picture is forgotten. The price is high, but give it all the billing you can stand and you'll get them in with this one. Good business. Running time, 96 minutes. Played Oct. 20-21.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

KING'S VACATION: George Arliss—His poorest. Too much sentiment for the weak story to carry. Arliss popular here.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

NARROW CORNER, THE: This is a good action picture. Story interesting and well acted. Played on a double bill and gave satisfaction.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

ONE-WAY PASSAGE: William Powell, Kay Francis—Smooth, unusual and well acted. Should please everywhere.—G. G. Baiss, Capitol Theatre, Duncan, B. C. General patronage.

PARACHUTE JUMPER: Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.—A good picture in most respects, but it didn't help Bette Davis to appear as a cheap little vamp.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE 62: William Powell—A very good program picture. Gave good satisfaction. Very entertaining.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

PRIVATE DETECTIVE 62: William Powell, Margaret Lindsay—Good picture of its kind, but Powell will not get business for me. Played one day only. Running time, eight reels. Played Oct. 27.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

VOLTAIRE: George Arliss—This is a wonderful production that will please the older class of people. Running time, 72 minutes. Played Oct. 19-20.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WARNER AND FIRST NATIONAL PICTURES: It looks like Warner and First National are going to repeat the 1932-33 season record of having top-notch pictures. So far we have not had a cluck rom this outfit. They surely know how to make box office pictures with real entertainment. The new season's pictures have been A-1, first class. "Captured," a great picture. "I Loved a Woman" right up to Robinson's standard. Similar to "Silver Dollar" and equally as good a picture. I call it excellent. "Voltaire"—my patrons don't like costume pictures, but it's a great picture, and in the cities will go fine. "Wild Boys of the Road"—wonderful picture of our boys and girls today, A-1 entertainment. I am waiting for "Footlight Parade." My wife saw it in Salt Lake City, and reports it is the best musical ever made. Warners know how to make them.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

WORKING MAN: George Arliss—A 100 per cent pleasing picture.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

World Wide

RACE TRACK: Leo Carrillo—Pretty good race track picture. Running time, 80 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

Short Features

Columbia

ALL'S WET THAT ENDS WET: World of Sports—A very good sport reel that embraces the various water sports. The speed boat race between Miss America and Miss England is especially interesting.—Martin Tecker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

ALL'S WET THAT ENDS WET: World of Sports—Very good short. Shows different water sports. Enjoyed to the end. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

BROADWAY MELODY: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Not much to it. Not even funny. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

HEAR 'EM AND WEEP: Lambs Gambols—Not so hot. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

MOVIE STRUCK: Scrappy Cartoons—Another good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

SASSY CATS: Scrappy Cartoons—Good short. Has some laughs for a change. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

WOODEN SHOES: Krazy Kat Kartoons—Short with with a few laughs. Good filler for a short show. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

WORLD'S AFFAIR, THE: Scrappy Cartoons—Fair short. Fills in the time and that is about all. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

Educational

FANNIE'S WEDDING DAY: Terry-Toons—Good filler on any program. If Miss McCarthy of Educational studios should read this, drop me a card.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

HITCH HIKER, THE: Harry Langdon—This is a weak comedy from Educational. Practically every comedy this season from Educational has been like this. Langdon has never been liked here and this does not add to his standing in our town. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

LOOSE RELATIONS: Andy Clyde—Not so good. A few laughs, but on the whole just a filler. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

TWO BLACK CROWS IN AFRICA: Moran and

Mack—This was enjoyed by our audience. Good anywhere you need a two-reel subject. Running time, two reels.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

Fox

HOCKEY HICKS: James Gleason—A good funny comedy.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

MGM

BEAUTY AND THE BUS: Thelma Todd, Patsy Kelly—Very acceptable slapstick comedy.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

BUSY BODIES: Laurel and Hardy—Better than the average comedy. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. E. Weber Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

FORGOTTEN BABIES: Our Gang—This short seemed to please, and that's what counts. Running time, two reels.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

HOOK AND LADDER: Our Gang—This is really original and is good for a laugh a minute. Pleases both adults and kids alike. Very good. One of the best so far put out by the Gang. Running time, 18 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C.

MICROSCOPIC MYSTERIES: Oddities—A very good educational number. Advise you to call it to the schools and colleges as an added attraction. Running time, nine minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

NATURE IN THE WRONG: Charlie Chase—Best Chase comedy to date. Running time, two reels.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

SODA SQUIRT, THE: Flip the Frog—This is a good cartoon. You'll like it. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

Paramount

BETTY BOOP'S CRAZY INVENTION: Something entertaining. Good short to put with a good play. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

BETTY BOOP'S MAY PARTY: Betty Boop—Old, but very good. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

DENTIST, THE: W. C. Fields—Old print in bad condition, but very funny comedy. We liked it here. Running time, two reels.—J. A. Verchot, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE NO. 3: Good as usual.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

LITTLE BROADCAST, THE: Headliners—Arthur Tracy, Mills Brothers, Donald Novis and Vincent Lopez and his orchestra with Roy Atwell as master of ceremonies. Excellent on any program.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

SCREEN SOUVENIRS NO. 5: As good as any of them to date. The patrons like these. The star of course is the announcer who puts the real comedy into it. Running time, ten minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C.

SUICIDE SQUAD: Tom Howard—A good short and it had many laughs. That is what we need. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

TIME ON MY HANDS: Ethel Merman—She's a fair singer. Running time, 10 minutes.—Grand Theatre, Dunkirk, Ohio. General patronage.

RKO

A. M. TO P. M.: Fables—Music and singing excellent. Cartoon portion no good. Therefore, not up to the Fables standard.—D. E. Fitton, Lyric Theatre, Harrison, Ark. Small town patronage.

A. M. TO P. M.: Fable—Just about as sorry as it is possible to make one. In fact, nothing to it. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

DIZZY DAYS: Aesop's Fables—Poor. Running time, one reel.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

LOST IN LIMELIGHT: Masquers Comedies—Very clever take-off on the old English melodrama. A little too deep for the average audience.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

NERTSEY RHYMES: Colortone Reviews—One of the best two-reel subjects we have played in some time. Great coloring, great singing and beautiful settings.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

PATHE NEWS: A very good newsreel always enjoyed by the patrons. Some of them think the newsreel alone is worth the price of admission.—Martin Teker, Opera House Theatre, Leith, N. D. Small town patronage.

SO THIS IS HARRIS: Phil Harris, Walter Catlett—Some funny stuff, and some unnecessary suggestive situations. Phil Harris sings a darned sight better than he looks.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

United Artists

BUGS IN LOVE: Silly Symphony—This is just another Walt Disney cartoon comedy. Nothing good about it; just ordinary and is only fair entertainment. We have only played one good comedy of this series and every time we hope the next one will be better. Disappointed in these. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

KING NEPTUNE: Silly Symphony—Good color cartoon. Running time, one reel.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

MICKEY MOUSE AND SILLY SYMPHONYS: Without doubt the best short subjects on the market. Silly Symphonys in color are truly wonderful, and everybody talks about them. Walt Disney is a wizard, and deserves the credit he is getting in the show business. The Mickey Mouse is great, but no better than the old Columbia Mickey. The Silly Symphonys are getting better with each subject. I guess Walt has found a new love for Silly, and just letting Mickey take care of himself. Both subjects are excellent, and every theatre should run these wonderful shorts. Running time, 10 minutes.—S. H. Rich, Rich Theatre, Montpelier, Iowa. Town and rural patronage.

WAYWARD CANARY, THE: Mickey Mouse—This is a very good cartoon comedy and the best Mickey Mouse we have played so far. The other cartoons have not been so good, but this one is excellent. Very amusing and should especially please the kiddies. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

Universal

CONFIDENCE: Oswald Cartoons—Good cartoon, very lively. Shows how to lick old man depression. Running time, one reel.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

GOOFYTONE NEWS NO. 1: Very good. Running time, ten minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

TRIAL OF VINCE BARNETT, THE: Vince Barnett—Some funny bits in this, but it falls down at the end.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

WORLD'S GREATEST THRILLS: For real thrills this can't be beat. Will help any program. Running time, 19 minutes.—J. E. Weber, Princess Theatre, Chelsea, Mich. Town and country patronage.

WORLD'S GREATEST THRILLS: Graham McNamee—More thrills are packed in these two reels than occurs in the average lifetime. It is a feature in itself. Give it a permanent spot on your advertising. It will pay you. Running time, 19 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C. Neighborhood patronage.

Warner Vitaphone

ABE LYMAN AND BAND: Melody Masters—Just so much film wasted. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark.—Small town patronage.

ADMISSION FIVE CENTS: Pepper Pot—No good here. Running time, one reel.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

AROUND THE WORLD IN EIGHT MINUTES: Pepper Pot—Just another poor comedy from the Pepper Pot series. Out of the entire series, there are only four or five that are worth running. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

AUDITION: Melody Master—This is one of the best musicals of this series. The music is furnished by Phil Emerton's Band and the singing by Hannah Williams and the Three X Sisters is great. The team o. Larry and Larry furnish the bes. in tap-dancing. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BARBER SHOP BLUES: Claude Hopkins—Very good. Running time, one reel.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

BOSKO IN PERSON: Looney Tunes—Really good cartoon with plenty of music and impersonations. Running time, one reel.—B. A. McConnell, Emerson Theatre, Hartford, Ark. Small town patronage.

BOSKO'S KNIGHTMARE: Looney Tunes—This is another good cartoon comedy with plenty of music and laughs. In this sort are some caricatures of some of the more famous comedians, that are very good and sure laugh getters. Received many comments on this short and hope to get more like it. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BOSKO'S PICTURE SHOW: Looney Tunes—This is another good cartoon. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

BOSKO, THE SPEED KING: Looney Tunes—This is a good musical cartoon comedy with plenty of laughs and should please both young and old. Bosko is the auto racer who wins the race against many odds. Will make a good filler on any program. Running time, nine minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

BREAKWATER: Pepper Pot—This is 10 minutes of the worst entertainment I have ever seen, anywhere. It is simply punk; no story to it. If the shorts of the past season are ever reviewed, "Breakwater" and Vitaphone will get the prize for the worst short of the year. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

CRASHING THE GATE: Ruth Etting—I thought this was a clever act because it is different. Singing good. Running time, two reels.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

FIFI: Broadway Brevities—Brevity, a fair two-reel subject. Have had so many better from Vitaphone. This did not take so good.—Bert Silver, Silver Family Theatre, Greenville, Mich. General patronage.

HOW'S TRICKS: Melody Master—This is a very good musical short featuring Jean Sargent together with George Owen and his gang. Plenty of good music, singing and acrobatic stunts. This is very entertaining and should please all that see it. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

"NO" MAN, THE: Broadway Brevity—This is a very good musical comedy of the Brevity series. Plenty of pretty girls and good music with few specialties. The fan dance is the feature of this short and it will long be remembered. Play it and see for yourself. Running time, 20 minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

RUFUS JONES FOR PRESIDENT: Ethel Waters—Good musical with an all colored cast and can they sing and dance. Running time, two reels.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

SHUFFLE OFF TO BUFFALO: Merry Melodies—Good. Running time, nine minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SKY SYMPHONY: Broadway Brevities—Good musical. Running time, 19 minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

SPEAKING OF OPERATIONS: Broadway Brevities—A very good musical number, with real snappy song and dance numbers, and also a good black-face comedy. Goes well on any bill. Running time, 16 minutes.—William A. Crute, Victoria Theatre, Vancouver, B. C.

STUCK, STUCK, STUCCO: Pepper Pot—This is just another waste of time and film. Absolutely no good and our patrons told us so. When this series of one reel shorts are completed, we are going to celebrate. If you haven't got them, you should pat yourself on the back. Running time, ten minutes.—J. J. Medford, Orpheum Theatre, Oxford, N. C. General patronage.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT: Melody Masters—Good band act. Running time, nine minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

USE YOUR MAGINOLIA: Hal LeRoy and Mitzi Mayfair—Very, very good musical. Running time, two reels.—J. J. Hoffman, Plainview Theatre, Plainview, Neb. General patronage.

YOU'RE KILLING ME: Pepper Pot—Absolutely nothing. A waste of film. Running time, one reel.—J. A. Verchot, Opera House, Abbeville, S. C. Small town patronage.

YOURS SINCERELY: Broadway Brevities—Very good two-reel musical. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswold, Iowa. General patronage.

World Wide

SPORT THRILLS NO. 5: These sport thrills do not go over so good. Running time, eight minutes.—P. G. Held, New Strand Theatre, Griswald, Iowa. General patronage.

Serials

Mascot

THREE MUSKETEERS, THE: John Wayne, Jack Mulhall, Ruth Hall—Just a serial. Not up to the standard.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich. Small town patronage.

Principal

TARZAN, THE FEARLESS: Buster Crabbe—A good serial. Worth about half what I paid for it.—Roy W. Adams, Mason Theatre, Mason, Mich.—Small town patronage.

In the Cutting Room advance outlines of productions nearing completion

by GUS McCARTHY of MOTION PICTURE HERALD'S Hollywood Bureau

LONG LOST FATHER

Radio

A character conflict drama here is given a comedy thrill atmosphere. John Barrymore and Helen Chandler have the lead roles. The supporting cast includes Alan Mowbray, Donald Cook, E. E. Clive, Doris Lloyd, Natalie Moorhead and Adele Thomas. The picture is based on a story by G. A. Stern; the screen play is by Dwight Taylor and Robert Gore-Browne, and Ernest B. Schoedsack is directing.

The major locale is London. Barrymore, unwilling to assume responsibilities, leaves his wife and child flat to spend his years meandering around the world. Returning as manager of a Mowbray-owned night club, he finds his daughter, Chandler, is a star floor show attraction. Keeping his identity hidden, Barrymore attempts to guide the girl into the proper paths, only to bring down upon himself the wrath of the girl and Mowbray and his friends. Meanwhile Cook is falling in love with Chandler. At a wild party Mowbray loses his bankroll and the girl is suspected. Barrymore works the old skin game trick to recoup his loss. Failing, a race track coup is attempted, which brings Scotland Yard into the setup. Before Barrymore takes it on the lam again, the girl, accepting the fatherly advice, marries Cook.

Several opportunities for light comedy bits, with a heart-touch in Helen Chandler's part, may make it possible for that young woman to flash in the footsteps of Katharine Hepburn. Lines in dialogue and situations in action suggest punchy advertising treatment. The picture as it is made should have a strong appeal to young fellows and girls, inasmuch as the romantic angle uncovers many topical situations.

FOG

Columbia

Murder mystery on the high seas. The original story is by Valentine Williams and Dorothy Sims, directed by Albert Rogell, who made "Air Hostess" for Columbia recently, from the screen play by Ethel Hill and Dore Schary. The cast is composed of wellknown screen names, including Mary Brian, Reginald Denny, back in prominence in "Only Yesterday;" Donald Cook, Helen Freeman, Maude Eburne, Pat Collins, Greta Meyer, Robert McWade, Montague Shaw, Edwin Maxwell and Wallis Clark, all of whom figure prominently in plot and action.

It all takes place during a transatlantic passage. A financier, the ship's doctor and a trance medium are murdered. The captain starts his investigation after accepting the services of an amateur criminologist. Overcoming objections of the ship's detective, Cook, revealing himself as the slain financier's son, establishes a theory that points to Denny. Denny poisons Captain's mind against Cook. The situation becomes dramatic as the amateur sleuth is given 24 hours to prove his theory. Reconstructing the crimes, Cook forces Denny to confess the killings and the motive, whereupon Cook wins the love of Mary Brian, the only one who believed in him implicitly all the way through.

It's a puzzler type of story, many clues hinting at the real killer but circumstances casting suspicion on many to bewilder and confuse. Suspense adds greatly to mystery and thrill. The sea locale offers novel background for a familiar tale that permits the tricky exploitation treatment as a means of stirring up excitement. Good stuff for the crime fans, yet it carries a romantic angle that should interest the women.

MAN OF TWO WORLDS

Radio

Two new screen personalities, Francis Lederer and Steffi Duna, make their debut in this picture. The story, which has its dramatic inception and climax in the Arctic and reaches its love interest peak in London, is based on a novel by Ainsworth Morgan on which he collaborated with Howard Green in the screen play. J. Walter Rubin, who handled "Phantom of Crestwood" and "Symphony of Six Million," is directing. The cast supporting the newcomers numbers a list of well known screen names, including Elissa Landi, J. Farrell MacDonald, Henry Stephenson, Sarah Fadden, Forrester Harvey, Christian Rub and Lumsden Hare.

In the role of an Eskimo, infant Lederer and Padden survive an Arctic winter and plague. Growing to maturity, the boy becomes a mighty hunter, leader of his tribe, and marries Duna. As a guide amazing the Stephenson-MacDonald exploring party, Lederer falls in love with a photo of Stephenson's daughter, Miss Landi. Brought to London, the Eskimo is fascinated by her, and she, warned not to destroy his illusions, treats him kindly. Seeing her in the arms of her lover, Lederer, made to believe it is an optical illusion, is given whisky and goes berserk. Terrorizing Miss Landi as the unleashed primitive passions stimulate violent love-making, Lederer is sent back north, his faith in womankind shattered. A son having been born to Duna, Lederer becomes the tribe leader again as attempts of the child to hurl a harpoon reawaken his old life.

Introduction of new names and Arctic location suggests unusual exploitation. The novel romantic combination in the story effectively counterbalances the adventure material to give the picture a woman interest. Production values, featuring polar bear, seal hunts and exploring party dangers, introduce much color and action.

TRIGGER

Radio

Here's a story that's right down Katharine Hepburn's alley and considering her current vogue that's plenty. Based on a stage play by Lulu Vollmer, adapted to the screen by her and Jane Murfin who did the screen play for "Ann Vickers," the picture is being directed by John Cromwell, who recently completed "Ann Vickers."

Robert Young and Ralph Bellamy have the principal supporting roles. Two new screen players, Louis Mason and Sara Haden, of stage and radio fame, are presented for the first time. Others in the cast are Martha Sleeper, recently in Monogram's "Broken Dreams"; Virginia Howell, John Beck, Edwin Brady, Robert Burns and Robert Kortman.

A weird dramatic yarn of illiterate and superstitious mountain folk, Miss Hepburn is a religious fanatic, who assumes the pose of a raging, rock-hurling, epithet-splitting shedemon to cover the miracles which her faith-healing has wrought. Bellamy, a construction engineer, devoid of faith and trust, sees a miracle performed and is greatly affected. Young, his assistant, stirs strange love-yearnings in Miss Hepburn. When she heals an infant and damns its trash parents, the mountain folk are convinced that a witch is working and mob her cabin, as Young deserts her and the baby dies. Bellamy pleads with the mob to leave the girl alone, as he discovers that he is really finding something strange to love, and pleads with her to keep her faith. Mixing curses with prayers, Miss Hepburn restores the baby to life and begs Bellamy to give her a year in the civilized world in order that she may fit herself to become his wife.

The production is geared to melodramatic realism that stamps it as a personality and story exploitation natural. Punch and drive preclude similarity to "Miracle Man" but real showmanship lies in Miss Hepburn again demonstrating her proved histrionic abilities in a colorful role.

SHADOWS OF SING SING

Columbia

Dramatic romance is striped with sinister gangster menace in this production, from an original story by Doris Malloy and Kathryn Scola. The screen play was prepared by Albert DeMond, and Phil Rosen is directing. Principals are all well-known screen names with Mary Brian, Bruce Cabot, Grant Mitchell, Harry Woods and Bradley Page in the more prominent roles, supported by Dewey Robinson, Claire DuBray, Charles Wilson, Hooper Atchley and Pat Hartigan.

A cop's son falls in love with the college coed who turns out to be a gangster's sister. Mitchell, the inspector, and Woods, the racketeer, seek to break up the Brian-Cabot affair, but the boy is too tough for ordinary handling. Page, with an eye on Woods leadership and a yen for the girl, concocts a plan that will make Cabot a murderer and at the same time wipe out Rossi. Circumstantial evidence connects him with the Rossi killing, but convincing his father, they search the police rogue's gallery and form a composite picture of the killer. During the trial, evidence is all against Cabot until his father introduces a composite picture which is a startling resemblance of Brian's governess, DuBray, whose confession implicates Page, and Page receives proverbial gangland justice as the road to romance is cleared for Brian and Cabot.

The story setup, particularly the father-son angle and the conflict of pro and anti-law forces, suggests unusual dramatic possibilities, which are given a further audience interest by the detective methods adopted, leading to use of a composite criminal picture to force a confession. The part of a hard-to-scare boy, which is Bruce Cabot's, seems more suited to his type than other screen roles.

Vaudeville Star Dead

William Dobbs, 48, known in 26 years on the vaudeville stage as "Bert Melrose, the International Clown," died last week in a Philadelphia hospital from congestion of the spine. Mr. Dobbs had retired three years ago. He is survived by his widow and a son.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

An international association of showmen meeting weekly in MOTION PICTURE HERALD for mutual aid and progress

DON'T YELL "COPPER"

We have before us a two column "open letter" newspaper ad, addressed to the public of his city by an otherwise able manager as a publicity stunt. In his eagerness to get the business, he put over to full houses what he considered a poor attraction, by warning his patrons in print not to pay their hard earned dough to see a picture the story of which "might have been written by a moron and produced by sex-crazed inebriates." Further, this showman blithely and still publicly proclaims that pictures of this type make him "almost favor censorship."

Ain't that nice?

The gag evidently had the desired effect, as hundreds stormed the box office, the newspapers went for it, and the local ministry from every pulpit lauded the efforts of the agitated theatreman so concerned with the effects of these iniquities upon his susceptible paying public

We question the benefits, lasting or otherwise, of so dangerous an advertising practice. Yes, it is good business to be honest with patrons, but this manager is playing with dynamite by hooking industry weaknesses to a dubious publicity campaign. By all means, showmen should concern themselves sincerely with the exhibition problems of questionable features. But not to the extent of vehemently condemning and damning publicly the picture business, and by all means not by adding quick-igniting fuel to the flame of reform by howling for censorship.

Brother, yell your loudest and run hawg-wild if you must to put over your shows, but, in the name of common sense, lay off shouting "copper."

For if the police do come, remember that you sent for them.

▽ ▽ ▽

ATTENTION, EXHIBITORS

Always of interest are the comments from a certain able Round Tabler, who in a recent communication to the Club speaks pithily of that much-to-be-desired day off. We quote from his letter:

"Honestly, Mike, when we used to get a regular day off, I'd take the wife and the kids and we'd go fishing or on a picnic and, while away, I'd have a chance to go over things in my mind and come back full of ideas. This thing of seven days and nights a week gives you that feeling of 'Oh, what the deuce is this all about?' You don't see the operators, stage hands or musicians doing it, but still the manager has to take the beef for those babies, too. I think the trouble about a day off in most outfits lies in the fact that the big boys rarely take a vacation themselves and don't see why others need one. But there are a lot of birds who have passed away that would be walking around if they had taken a few days off now and then."

We know many exhibitors afflicted with this obsession for long hours. To them, we refer this member's remarks on the box office value of a day off, and longevity in the exhibition end of showbusiness.

▽ ▽ ▽

"BUT NOT FOR TRIBUTE"

By a conclusive majority, citizens of Georgia's progressive Atlanta have voted for Sunday movies, and thus another antique blue law bites the dust. But we register an emphatic protest against the legal qualification that makes this privilege possible, for under the state law, theatres may operate on Sundays only if a portion of the proceeds are given to charity.

Why? Isn't it about time in this supposedly enlightened generation that the motion picture theatre be recognized as an integral part of community activity? Is there any lingering doubt left that motion picture entertainment supplies a most vital emotional need? Then why must the theatre pay tribute in order to function?

We have no quarrel with those worthy institutions benefiting under terms of the law. But theatremen, always first to rally for sweet charity's sake, should not be forced to donate large percentages of receipts needed for actual operating expenses.

Early in our country's history, a fiery patriot thundered, "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." We recall these deathless words to the attention of the gentlemen who make the laws of Georgia.

▽ ▽ ▽

When Portland, Ind., recently was inundated by flood waters, Roger Ludy ferried patrons to the Hines Theatre in row boats. Our admiration grows daily for the resourcefulness of "never say die" showmen.

A. Mike Vogel

SHOWMEN'S LOBBY LAFFS!

Would God the giftie gi' us
To see ourselves as ithers see us.

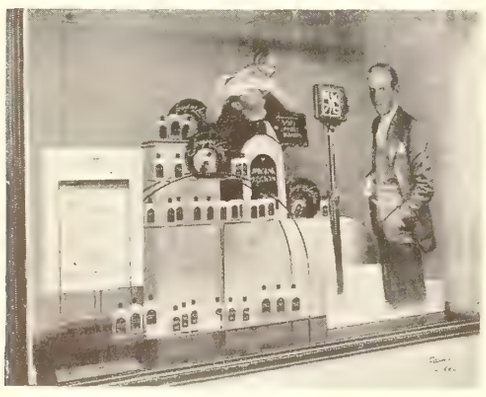
U.A. Hits Hard On "Keyhole" Opening

The early morning "milkmaid's matinee" put on at three o'clock the opening day of the New York Rivoli Theatre engagement of "Broadway Thru a Keyhole" was one of a flock of snappy gags executed by Hal Horne's exploitation staff, under the supervision of Monroe Greenthal.

Preceding the showing was a midnight celebration at the theatre in honor of Walter Winchell, author of the story, in which many stars of the stage, screen and radio took part. Nick Kenny, popular radio columnist, acted as M. C., and introduced the celebs over a special broadcast which was hooked up to a street amplifying system for the benefit of the large crowds gathered.

Thousands of lines of free space in the New York papers were promoted by the U. A. exploiteers, and were run over a period of about two weeks in advance. News stands carried one-sheet cards, placed by the New York paper that carries Winchell's column, prominent radio bands plugged the song hits of the picture well in advance, and a tie-up with the sponsors of Winchell on the air assured cooperation with local showings by over 5,000 dealers in every part of the country. (See photo.)

Although fronts play a large part in the publicizing of the New York opening at the Rivoli of United Artists' pictures, the flash on this attraction gained more than its usual share of attention due to the keyhole theme carried out in all decorations, and of course the Broadway background.



Winchell Window Display

"Where's Elmer," So George Tells Them

By keeping an open eye for what's new in the national press, Manager George F. Friary, Strand Theatre, Pittsfield, Mass., was able to get a different angle into his newspaper advertising. It seems that a local newspaper ran a story about the recent American Legion convention in Chicago, in which the paper commented upon a wisecrack, "Where's Elmer?" popularized by the legionaires.

So George ups and plants the story in his regular newspaper ad in which was included a supposed telegram to the editor from Joe E. Brown, in which the star stated that those seeking him would find him at the Strand Theatre where he was playing in "Elmer the Great." Friary planted a two-column Postal telegraph cut at the head of his ad to make it more authentic, and reports additional interest aroused through this novel publicity.

Kay Works New Gag On Free Ticket Idea

The free ticket slant is being used profitably by the merchants of Painesville, Ohio, in cooperation with the Utopia Theatre, there, managed by Round Tabler Harold Kay, the stunt being worked as a sort of round robin idea. The tickets are given to the local shopping paper, which distributes them to the merchant advertisers who, in turn, give them to patrons.

In order to obtain the free ticket, however, each advertiser must give something of equal value, and Harold leaves the distribution to the discretion of the merchant. For instance, one grocery store offered a new dollar bill in addition to the tickets to which was attached copy such as—"We hope you and your guest will enjoy the greater movie season program, and after the show attend the Cosy Corner Restaurant for some good draught beer and pretzels with our compliments."

Each advertiser works out his own method in donating the tickets to his customers, but these come as a surprise, as no mention is made of them in any of the advertising, as merchandise orders and theatre tickets are sealed in an envelope and given away as the store pleases.

Kay writes that the stunt works out very well, as these ticket prizes are an unexpected surprise to those who receive them, the novel angle of distribution of course building up a lot of good word of mouth advertising for theatre.

MGM Portable Studio Cracks Page One

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer traveling motion picture studio which has been garnering a flock of swell newspaper tie-ups in the search for new talent, adds to its lustre with a hook-in with The Cleveland News, in which that paper broke the story with a five-column page one streamer cuts of stars and a picture of the traveling studio.

Although the idea has netted plenty of publicity, the MGM boys regard the Cleveland flash as unusual and thus worthy of further comment. Which is cheerfully given, as results so far have proven that the traveling studio is one of the most effective nationwide advertising picture ideas that is helping the theatre as well as the studio.

When Portland, Ind., was visited by a flood recently, Manager Roger Ludy, Hines Theatre, nothing daunted, broke out a flock of row boats and ferried patrons to the theatre from all over town. The stunt hit page one in papers as far as 100 miles away. Swell stuff, Roger.

Managers Scoring High With "Bowery"

Exploitation on "The Bowery" continues to extend showmen to their utmost and from the numerous campaigns received we are pleased to detail what has been done by Round Tablers on this attraction.

A slightly different newspaper contest was arranged by Manager Martin C. Burnett, Loew's Theatre, Dayton, Ohio, in which each day the picture of a different prominent citizen disguised in a derby and handlebar mustache was run, and prizes of cash and tickets awarded to those guessing the proper identities. Another smart idea was the tie-in with a local race track where one of the races was called "Loew's Bowery Handicap" and so mentioned in all the sporting columns.

A nice "selling" window display was arranged for the "Bowery" date by C. B. Taylor of Shea's Hippodrome, Buffalo, N. Y., which featured the costumes as worn in the nineties as compared with the apparel of the modern woman (see photo).

Taylor's Bowery Window

Manager Harry Shaw, Loew's State, Syracuse, N. Y., working with U. A. exploiteer Harry Rice, tied in a local brewery that furnished a lobby bar and served free lunch and brew. In addition, 30 of the brewery trucks were bannered and paraded through the streets. The nearby Syracuse University cooperated on a costume party whereby cash prizes were given for the best "Bowery" outfit, the university band parading through the college grounds and then marching to the theatre where the awards were made.

Up in Montreal, Canada, Manager Tom Cleary of the Princess Theatre, constructed an old-fashioned street car on a truck chassis which was horse-driven around town. To make the gag more authentic, Tom dug up a flock of "Bowery" costumed characters, including motorman and conductor (see photo).

Street Car Bally

A leading bakery and department store were enlisted by Manager Mike Cullen, Loew's Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa., on his "Bowery" campaign, the bread people going for 25,000 stuffers in every bread and cake package, thoroughly covering the suburban sections as well as the city. The department store went for a number of artistic lingerie window displays, and the sport page of a local daily carried an advance story and cuts of the old-time fighters mentioned in the picture.

These above campaigns present a very appetizing dish of hard-hitting, attention-grabbing, ticket-selling ideas, and, although the picture is more or less a natural in this respect, showmen are taking nothing for granted in covering every possible angle of publicity and advertising.

Teaser Cards Bring Sheriff and Squad

That newly married Sonny Shepherd informs us that the theatre he operated so successfully for the Wometco circuit last year, the Mayfair, Miami, Fla., has now reopened for the season, and that a sidewalk cafe has been added to the theatre front, this being made possible by the grass parkway in front of the house.

Sonny also reports a clever little idea that broke the front page in one of the local papers. It was put over by Manager Walter Toennes, of the Ritz Theatre in the resort city, and consisted of a small card announcing the opening of a new gambling place to be called the "Gambling Ship." The theatre was not mentioned, though the address given was that of the house.

It seems that there has recently been a change in sheriffs, and the new officer coming across one of the cards called it to the immediate attention of the chief of police, the result being a squad of deputies descending upon the newly announced gambling place, which of course they discovered to be the Ritz Theatre. The resultant publicity did not harm the gross on this picture, and Shepherd states that the officers themselves got a laugh out of the idea after recovering from their first resentment.

Glad to have heard from you again, Sonny. Regards to Rosalie and keep us in touch with your activities down in the Southland.

Cracks Tough Sheet For Co-op Contest

Conservative newspapers are lending more of an eager ear to theatre tie-ups that will encourage merchant advertising, and among managers who report progress in this direction is W. M. Griffin, Gem Theatre, Cairo, Ill., who sends along a copy of his local paper in which the back page is given over to co-op advertising on his showing of "My Weakness."

The hook-in was made in the form of a contest in which 40 free tickets were given to those finding their telephone numbers in any of the advertisements. Griffin's greatest accomplishment, however, was in promoting for the first time a free page one box in which the paper called attention to the contest, giving all the details and instructing readers how to go about winning the prizes.

Offers Prize For Best Fight Letter

Fifty dollars in cash for the best 50-word letter giving, in the writer's opinion, the decision on who won the heavyweight championship fight between Max Baer and the champion Primo Carnera in "The Prizefighter and the Lady" is the gist of the copy on a circus herald gotten out by Billy Ferguson, MGM exploitation chief, as part of the advance campaign on the showing of that picture at the New York Capitol.

The two much publicized fighters frequently mentioned as principals in a coming actual championship battle appear in the action of the picture. The bout in which they take part of course ends in a draw decision, and it is upon this angle that Billy is playing to arouse the interest of fans.

Wisely not ignoring the romance angle for the feminine draw, the reverse side of the herald strongly plugs the appeal of Max Baer, whom the Metro-ites modestly acclaim the screen's new "it" man, and a heavy lover. The letter contest is announced to run until December 1, which should give plenty of time to all those requiring a lengthier period of deliberation to decide the fistic abilities of the two participants.

Another smart bit of showmanship was put over at the Capitol on the recent showing of "Meet the Baron" when the cigarette company sponsoring Jack Pearl's radio broadcast planted window streamers on the picture in thousands of cigar and drug stores throughout the metropolitan district.

Boardwalk Beauties Plug "Footlight"

Operating a theatre on one of the world's most famous thoroughfares, the Boardwalk, calls for plenty of flash and crowd-stopping lobbies, and Manager Floyd E. Wesp, Stanley Theatre, Atlantic City, N. J., kept this thought well in mind on his "Footlight Parade" campaign, as can be noted from accompanying photo. However, the local residents were not ignored, as a number of other smart angles were put over in various parts of the city to attract attention.

The city was billed thoroughly with all sizes of paper, taxis and jitneys carried banners, music stores broke out with attractive window displays, and radio stations plugged the hits from the picture and announced the theatre and date.

Another effectual crowd stopper was a Boardwalk parade with 16 beautiful girls, each riding in a wheel car and carrying one letter of the title of the picture. District Manager Herbert Copelan and Art Director Edward I. Streitfield cooperated with Floyd on this well rounded campaign.

Wesp's "Footlight" Front

SOME TRAILER SUGGESTIONS

Florida Manager Advises on Slants He Has Found Effective In Screen Attraction Ad Copy

by JACK HODGES

Manager, Tampa, Tampa, Fla.

The screen, being the most effective medium through which a theatre manager can talk to his patrons, affords an excellent opportunity that sane-thinking managers should never overlook. By the proper use of his screen he can get messages over to his patrons in a sure and effective manner. Trailer copy, like newspaper copy, should always be written in plain everyday English so that the slow-thinking and slow-reading person may understand the message as well as the fast-thinking and fast-reading person.

The overuse of adjectives is just as harmful in trailer copy as in newspaper copy, or more so, because your trailer copy flashes before your patrons' eyes and is gone, whereas your newspaper ad can be read and re-read until the person can figure out the meaning of every word used in your copy.

Another important item to remember in writing your trailer is not to burden your patrons with too much copy. Nothing is more tiresome than to sit through ten or fifteen minutes of trailers. Make your announcement in as short a speech as possible, and do not crowd too many words into one frame. Make it easy to read at a glance.

You can command the attention of your patrons to a trailer by the proper use of eye-catchers—something that will catch their eyes and hold their attention while your message is flashed on the screen. This can be accomplished by the use of snap titles and dissolves. If possible, have your copy hand-lettered to produce a clear, legible effect.

A mistake that is frequently committed by well-meaning managers is to feed their patrons too much trailer copy. Do not place a trailer on your screen unless you are sure in your own mind that it will be of extreme importance to your audience. In doing this you will undoubtedly build up confidence with your patrons. If you have something that you wish to tell your patrons write it into a trailer in as condensed a form as possible and flash it before them, and if you have not overdone this form of contact with your patrons they will know right off that you are telling them something of importance to themselves and will believe in what you are telling them.

Do not cheapen your theatre and stand the risk of boring your paying customers by compelling them to witness trivial announcements on your screen. They come to your theatre for relaxation and entertainment, not to have their brains taxed.

Make Screen Sell House

There are dozens of interesting things in the modern theatre palace that would be of interest to your patrons if only brought to their attention. You can always tell them about the appointments of your particular theatre, your cooling plant, your service, your bargain matinees for shoppers, your policy, your constant endeavor to always supply them with the best possible entertainment for their enjoyment, and any number of other subjects that the average theatregoer perhaps would never think about.

Run a series of this type of trailer and sell your theatre as an institution to the community in which it is located. Make it interesting and intimate, and remember, the majority of your patrons only know you by what you say on your screen and you are judged accordingly. If they like the way you talk to them through your trailers on the screen, you stand a darn good chance of their liking you personally should you come in personal contact with them. Let Your Screen Make Friends for You.

Daredevil Stunt Helps Jake Pack 'Em In

Jake Rosenthal, who does those things to jam the Iowa Theatre, Waterloo, Iowa, went up in the air, but not in person, on an advance bally for his date on Rose and Thal's Minstrels, operated by his brother. An old-timer who knows the value of traffic stopping crowds, Jake had one of the feature acts in the show, an equilibrist, walk on his hands up and down an electric sign atop the leading hotel (see photo). Of course, the newspapers were informed well in advance and broke nice stories announcing the event, which resulted in the aforementioned crowds. As the theatre is nearby the hotel, the curious throngs could not help but note the lobby advertising of the daredevil's appearance at Jake's theatre, with a resultant pickup at the box office.

Human Fly Atop Sign

Because he hasn't used the idea in a long time, Rosenthal phoned every music lover in town to say a few nice things about the music angles of "Be Mine Tonight." Evidently, there are quite a host of melody fans in Waterloo, as Jake reports quite a bit of extra business due to the plug.

This ingenious Round Tabler always has a few of these zippy ideas on file which he manages to whip in shape to bring in that extra business. Thanks for the laugh, Jake, and you know any more jokes?

Presents Plan For Advertising Check

by JOE KINSKY

Manager, Capitol, Sioux City, Iowa

While we all agree the depression was terrible, it taught every one of us in the show business a definite lesson. We know our merchandise is perishable and must be sold in two or three days or not at all. For this reason our advertising must be quick and effective, and every showman must get everything possible out of every advertising dollar.

We can accomplish that object if we plan a definite budget, based upon an approximate gross. I believe we all would be more successful if we would figure carefully just about how much each attraction will gross and then decide the percentage to be spent on advertising.

Managers then will find they have a sensible budget appropriation which should underwrite the success of the attraction. In other words, rather than set a permanent budget to be used for big and little attractions alike, I think each manager should set an individual budget for each picture.

For example, if a manager sets 10 per cent as the amount to be used on advertising, he will find his advertising budget will vary from week to week. That is, if he figures to gross $6,000 on the week, he will spend $600 on advertising; if he estimates a gross of $3,500, he will set his advertising expenditure at $350. This should not be taken to mean 10 per cent is the percentage of the gross managers should use for advertising. Each manager knows, or should know, what percentage of the gross he normally can spend to show a profit.

Too often, however, a manager will lay out a budget and then, after he has decided on a definite campaign, some new stunt comes to mind and, before he knows it, he is $50 or $100 over his budget. Many times that extra sum is the difference between a profit and a loss.

To aid in budget control, I have developed a form, that not only gives definite control of the money spent, but also takes in practically every form of advertising and serves as a constant reminder of a number of ways to publicize attractions. I have found this form a great aid in keeping my advertising expenditures within sensible bounds, and I am passing it on to fellow showmen in the hope it will be of use to them.

The chart Joe refers to will be found on the adjoining page and should prove helpful to managers who have not as yet found a satisfactory system to check advertising expenditures. In a subsequent issue, we will run another Kinsky chart, which is a complete breakdown of hourly, daily and weekly business (admissions and attendance), and also lists expenses in all departments.

VERY FUNNY, BOB

For laffin' out loud, go grab a load of the gags in the Paramount "Duck Soup" press book. It's a giggle all the way, and a howl in spots, especially that killing "Marx Sisters Identification Contest," with Groucho as Mae West. Bob Gilham's ad crew rates an extra bow for a swell job.

HERE IS KINSKY'S WEEKLY ADVERTISING BUDGET FORM THAT CHECKS AND REMINDS

*Week of*_____

WEEKLY ADVERTISING BUDGET

*Picture*_____

ESTIMATED GROSS
ADV. %
ADV. EXPENDITURE

NEWSPAPER SPACE BREAKDOWN

LOCAL PAPERS

Day	Name of Paper / Circulation: Inches	Rate	Cost	Name of Paper / Circulation: Inches	Rate	Cost
Totals

FREE PUBLICITY IN OUT OF TOWN NEWSPAPERS

(This Received For Pass Courtesies)

Cost of Sending Out Free Publicity Including Postage

BRIEF DETAILS OF FREE LOCAL NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY TYPED HERE

Total Newspaper Expenditure

PUBLICITY MISCELLANEOUS BREAKDOWN

ITEM	DESCRIPTION	COST
SOUND TRAILER		TOTAL
SILENT TRAILER

NO.	ITEM	EXCHANGE ACCESSORIES	COST
	1—Sheets
	3—Sheets
	6—Sheets
	24—Sheets
	8x10 Stills
	11x14 Photos
	14x17 Photos
	22x28 Photos
	Inserts
	Window Cards
	Heralds
	Mats
	Zinc Etchings

POSTING AND DISTRIBUTION

Posting	1—Sheets	@	Per Sheet
	3—Sheets	@	Per Sheet
	6—Sheets	@	Per Sheet
	8—Sheets	@	Per Sheet
	24—Sheets	@	Per Sheet
Distribution	Heralds	@	Per M
	Window or Tack Cards	@	Each

LOBBY AND FRONT

Artist Salaries
Front
Outside Lobby	3 Sheet Displays
	1 Sheet Displays
Foyer

PRINTING

	COST
Heralds
Teasers
Special

MISCELLANEOUS EXPLOITATION

Hotels
Radio
Trailers
Bally Hoo
Co-Op Ads.
Bus Lines and Railways
Street Cars Magazines
Store Tie Up
Price Nights
Taxis
Lodges
Children
Proxies
Windows
Book Tie Up
Mailing List

Total Miscellaneous Publicity

Newspaper Expenditure
Publicity Miscellaneous

Campaign Total

LIST HERE REASON AND AMOUNT OF EXTRA EXPENDITURE

Water Races and Land Tugs Bally "Annie"

As much of the picture was made in the Pacific Northwest waters, it was quite befitting that Manager Ted Gamble, United Artists' Theatre, Portland, Ore., should successfully put over an actual tugboat race for the championship of the nearby Williamette River, as an ace exploitation nautical bally on his showing of "Tugboat Annie."

The race was held on Sunday afternoon and as honorary judges of the event, the officers of "Old Ironsides," then in exhibition in Portland, were requested to act, by Marie Dressler, who wired the invitations asking them to serve. The four foremost tugboat companies on the river competed in the race and thousands lined both shores to witness this unusual event, publicity on which was carried in all papers.

The Portland showing was announced as the "Oregon Premiere" and all the usual accessories were utilized at the theatre, including searchlights, burst bombs and a radio broadcast from the lobby, the attendance including the Mayor, prominent naval officers and leading local celebrities.

On a smaller scale, but just as effective for the territory it covered, was the 20-foot lumber and canvas land tugboat constructed by Manager L. D. Guidry, Jefferson Theatre, LaFayette, La. Mounted on a motor trailer (see photo), the bally was used in LaFayette and all surrounding towns besides plugging the date for the other Southern Amusement Company houses in Crowley, Lake Charles and Oakdale, in the same state.

Motor Trailer Bally

On land or on water, the boat ballys on this picture have proven definitely helpful to the box office, indicating that managers alive to the possibilities of this form of exploitation are not passing up any bets.

Seashore City Mayor Aids "Lady For a Day"

That "Lady for a Day" tie-up natural that has clicked so well in many different spots is now reported from Atlantic City, where Manager Sidney J. Poppay put it across for his date at the Virginia Theatre.

Immediately after booking in the attraction, Sidney contacted the Mayor, who consented to go through with the idea providing the "lady" could be obtained within 24 hours. Nothing daunted, this showman hustled around and dug up the required character. Everything clicked from promoting the limousine and cooperation of various local merchants, such as gown and shoe shops, hairdressers, hotels, jewelers etc.

The campaign was climaxed by the presentation of the key to the city by the Mayor, the event being broadcast, as was the theatre and date. Sidney reports a very satisfactory engagement as a result and throws a few orchids to Joseph Shearer, who assisted on the campaign. Especially praiseworthy was that the boys did so very well within the short time they had before the date of the opening, a high light being page one breaks in the local papers.

Mickey Mouse Clubs Very Big in Miami

Of 15 theatres operating during the off summer season, in Miami, Fla., nine of these have organized and are operating successful Mickey Mouse clubs, according to Nelson L. Tower, manager of the Tower Theatre in that city, who very kindly gives us a detailed report of these kid club activities.

Some three years ago, the Biltmore Theatre of the Wometco chain, organized the first Mickey Mouse club in the resort city, under sponsorship of Sonny Shepherd, whose marriage was recently reported in these columns. The next house to get in line was the Tower Theatre, and both theatres cooperated in putting over each other's stunts by joint publicity, with the result that in a year's time membership rose to the unprecedented total of 7,000 children.

Another Wometco Theatre, the Grove, then organized another chapter of the club and shortly after the first run house of the circuit, the Capitol did likewise. Nelson states that the decided box office advantages of this club activity prompted livewire opposition managers to inaugurate Mouse chapters, and at this writing the nine theatres above referred to are filling houses on Saturday matinees with thousands of enthusiastic juvenile club members.

Tower also points out that if this same condition existed in every city throughout the country, the future success of showbusiness would be assured since, as he says, the children of today are most certainly the adult patrons of tomorrow.

A very interesting account, indeed, and knowing those Wometco managers as we do, we can readily believe that their activities have done so much to make their local Mouse clubs outstanding in the history of theatre kid organizations.

125 BOOK WINDOWS

Perc' Trussell of George Gerhard's staff tied in with the publishers of "Ann Vickers" for a city wide tie up of 125 book windows, such as the above, on the picture showing at Radio City Music Hall.

A Confession and a Plea

I've got a picture starting at the FOX THEATRE Sunday, and honestly folks, I don't know how to tell you how good a picture it is.

. . . The ordinary press terms sound banal and trite when I think of them in connection with this picture.

. . . I see eight or ten pictures every week and when I get excited about one, it really has to be good. And folks this one is perfectly swell!

. . . Yet how am I to convince YOU that it is? Frankly, I don't know.

. . . If I were to tell you that it is the gayest, smartest musical romance of the year . . . a $25.00 show that you can see for only 25c . . . you'd think it was propaganda, and probably say "you'd heard that before."

. . . BUT

If I told you I like to see people come to the theater when I know they are going to enjoy themselves—

. . . If I tell you that you'll like this picture so much you'll want to thank me for urging you to see it—

. . . If I tell you it will make you feel better, drive depression from your mind and fill you with the joy of living— . . . Would you believe me?

. . . Well, I'm telling you; and if you don't believe me, you are going to cheat yourself of the finest two hours you've spent in a long, long time.

Harley Fryer,
Manager Fox Theatre

THE PICTURE IS

"Moonlight and Pretzels"

and

IT STARTS SUNDAY AT THE

"COOL AND COMFORTABLE"

SHOWS Continuous SUNDAY! FOX ADULTS 25¢ KIDDIES 10¢

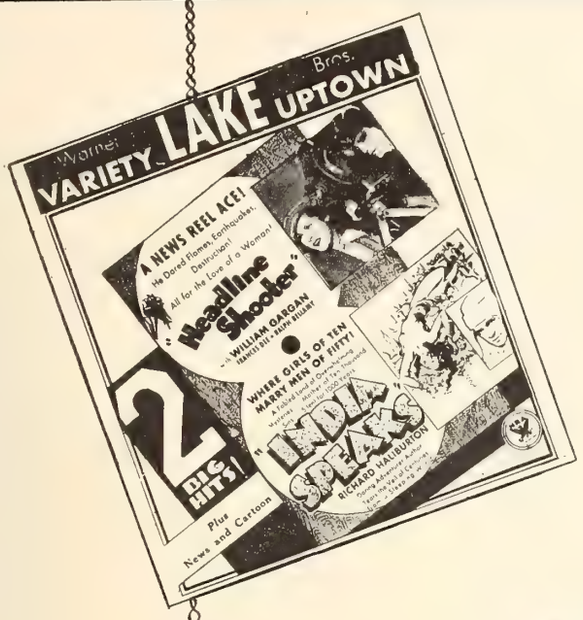
To Harley Fryer, manager of the Fox Theatre in Joplin, Mo., goes credit for this ad on "Moonlight and Pretzels." We commend to you the sincerity with which he entreats his patrons to see what he believes to be a worthwhile picture. Excellent copy.

Daughter's Birthday Is Yearly Theatre Event

F. W. Meade of the Meade Theatre, Kingman, Kan., initiates his membership into the Club with some very good ideas that he reports have brought good results, one in particular that no doubt will be given consideration by members in the smaller towns. "F. W." contacts his drug stores and other establishments selling cigarettes, and from them obtains the used counter and window tobacco displays supplied by the manufacturers. These are made into attractive theatre displays at very little expense.

For the past 14 years Meade has put on a Christmas kiddie show and reports that last year, on December 15, this party was put on in honor of the first birthday of his daughter, Mary Ann; all children of the county under 16 years of age were invited and over 1,500 accepted the invitation, each of whom were given a souvenir and entertained with a special program of shorts.

Meads reports that this year he expects to put on even a larger party, and says that he finds that children take more interest when another child acts as the host. This first report from the new member contains smart show selling ideas, and we look forward to publishing details of his future theatre activities.



Warner's LAKE
It's New... ALL NEW!
Edgar Rice Burroughs' "Tarzan" Adventures in a complete full-length feature.
PREVUE Tomorrow!
Shows "TARZAN" 7:08 9:37
"CAPTURED" 8:18-10:47
Buster CRABBE
TARZAN the FEARLESS
Bred in the Jungle, He Knew Only One Law—To Take!
See the Screen's Perfect He-Man as Tarzan, the white Giant of the Jungles, in a Picture that will make you tingle with its thrills, action and romance!
Jacqueline Wells and hundreds of others!

"HANK HAROLD" PUBLICITY CHIEF FOR

WARNER CLEVELAND THEATRES

COMES ACROSS

WITH SOME

ADS!

Now! Doors Open 10 A.M. Today!
Warner Bros.
LAKE
Last Night's Premiere Audiences
RAVED!
...They said "Here is the greatest show on stage or screen in Cleveland this week... or any week!"... You'll rave too at the 1,000 surprises and sensations of this breath-taking spectacle!
Another Dazzling Triumph for WARNER BROS.
FOOTLIGHT PARADE
JAMES CAGNEY · JOAN BLONDELL
DICK POWELL · RUBY KEELER
GUY KIBBEE · FRANK McHUGH
A Real Song Hit!
31c
40c
50c

personalities

HOWARD WAUGH
well known Club member formerly located at Warners Theatre in Memphis, Tenn., is heading the formation of a new zone of theatres in Kentucky, Tenn., lower Indiana and Ohio. Lots of luck, Howard.

▽

WILLIAM L. HENDRICKS
also Club member and manager of the Warner Strand, Oshkosh, Wis., takes over Waugh's duties at the Warner in Memphis, Tenn.

▽

CARL KRUGER
has been named manager of the Fisher Theatre, Detroit, Mich., succeeding SAM RUBIN, who has returned to his former post in the publicity department of Publix theatres.

▽

SAM BROWN
will open his new Belmont Theatre in Highland Park, Detroit, Mich. House is a 600 seater.

▽

LEW KANE
is the manager of the Mayfair, formerly the Civic, in Detroit, Mich. FORREST FREELAND is the publicity man.

▽

MAX HALPERIN
formerly city manager for RKO in Cincinnati, Ohio, and later manager of the Fordham, New York, has purchased part interest in the Beecher, colored house in Cincy.

▽

RED ROCKWELL
is the new manager of the Spreckles Theatre, San Diego, Cal., replacing A. S. METZGER.

▽

MAX ASCHER
has been made manager of the Belpark, a Chicago neigh house. He is one of the Ascher Brothers who formerly operated a string of theatres in that city.

▽

VIVIAN GASKIN
skipper of the Vivian Theatre at Lacoochee, Fla., has remodeled the Princess at Columbia, Tenn., and reopened it.

▽

J. L. THOMPSON
has acquired the Peach Theatre at Fort Valley, Ga., from T. J. McDougal.

▽

R. L. JONES
has taken over the operation of the Grayson Theatre, Sherman, Tex., from Penny Swetcoff, former owner.

▽

MELVIN REED
is reopening the New Theatre at Stevenson, Wash.

▽

A. O'NEIL AND W. L. EVANS are the new skippers of the newly opened Post Street Theatre, Spokane, Wash.

▽

JOHN DANZ
Seattle, has added to his chain of theatres the new Roosevelt, a second run house.

▽

GEORGE BRONSON
former Warner Cameraphone manager in Pittsburgh, Pa., is managing the Victoria in Wheeling, West Va.

▽

EDWARD FITZGERALD
former manager of the Warner Theatre in Frisco, has been made manager of Bill Wagnon's Orpheum there.

▽

LOU GOLDING
who formerly was RKO district manager in Albany, is managing Proctor's in Newark, N. J.

POSTER ART WORK FOR THE THEATRE!

Here we show a Katharine Hepburn head done by Don Andorfer, artist at the Strand Theatre in Whitewater, Wis. Don says this entire poster was done in charcoal. Incidentally, he also tells us that the poster we showed a few weeks ago of Marlene Dietrich was purchased by the American Lead Pencil Co. for advertising use, the drawing having been made with one of their pencils.

APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Please enroll me in the Club and send me my framed certificate.

NAME _____

POSITION _____

THEATRE _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

DATE OF BIRTH _____

(Mail to Managers' Round Table Club, 1790 Broadway, New York)

W. C. BREMER
has purchased the Gilroy Theatre at Gilroy, Cal., from the T. & D. Enterprises and will personally manage the house.

▽

P. KYPRIOS
who has the Casa Grande at Santa Clara, Cal., has taken over the College at San Mateo, Cal.

▽

HENRY PINCUS
has purchased the Suisun Theatre in Suisun, Cal. He was formerly connected in San Francisco.

▽

RAY LANGFITT
is the new assistant manager of the Tower Theatre, in St. Paul, Minn.

▽

GEORGE BUCKLIN
is the skipper of the New Theatre, Crookston, Minn.

▽

NATHAN GOULD
manages the Orpheum Theatre, in St. Joseph, Mo. House recently acquired by Dubinsky Bros.

▽

JACK HOOLEY
recently resigned as manager of the Sheridan Square, Pittsburgh, Pa., has joined the Harris Amusement Co. and will handle the Family.

▽

CHARLES PERRY
former St. Louis theatre operator, is the new manager of the St. Louis Theatre, succeeding JULES KARTY, who has gone to New York to confer with J. J. Shubert.

▽

MR. AND MRS. ORTMAN
are the new skippers of the Ortman Theatre, at Hennessey, Okla. House was renovated.

▽

W. W. HAWN
manager of the Rialto, Grundy Center, Ia., has also acquired the Princess, at Reinbeck, Ia.

▽

PERCY OTT
of Phoenix, Ariz., has taken over a part interest in the Redwood Theatre, Redwood, Cal., and the California, in Palo Alto.

▽

LOU TRAGER
has bought an interest in the Valmar Theatre, Vallejo, Cal., from PHIL FREASE.

▽

CHESTER BRENT
is the house manager of the newly reopened Mystic Theatre, in Malden, Mass.

▽

BILL BARRON
of Warner Theatre, in Pittsburgh, Pa., was married recently to Kahryn L. De Roy. Happy days, Bill.

▽

WILLIS GRIST, JR.
has been transferred from Spartanburg, N. C., to resume control of the Lynchburg, and HUGH SMART is transferred to High Point, N. C.

▽

LEO YOUNG
former manager of the Isis Theatre, Lynchburg, Va., has moved on to Boston to head a string of New England independent theatres.

▽

HOLDEN SWIGER
has left the Indiana at Indianapolis, Ind., to go to the Palace, at Akron, to fill the post that JACK ROTH has just resigned from.

▽

GEORGE MINER
has been named manager of Loew's Mt. Vernon, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

▽

A. DESAUTELS
has just reopened the Majestic Theatre, in Holyoke, Mass.

THE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut towards such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributors. Where they vary, the change is probably due to local censorship deletions. Dates are 1933, unless otherwise specified.

ALLIED PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dude Bandit, The	Hoot Gibson-Gloria Shea	May 1	67
Fighting Parson, The	Hoot Gibson-Marceline Day	May 22	70	June 3
One Year Later	Mary Brian-Russell Hopton	Aug. 25	69	Aug. 12
Picture Brides	Dorothy Mackaill-Regis Toomey		68	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Bungalow Court
Cheaters
Davy Jones' Locker
Midnight Alarm
Open for Inspection
Silk Trimmed
Slightly Used
Without Children

CHESTERFIELD

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
By Appointment Only	Lew Cody-Aileen Pringle	July 7	67
Dance, Girl, Dance	Alan Dinehart-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 1	70	Nov. 11
I Have Lived	Alan Dinehart-Anita Page	June 15	69	Sept. 16
In the Money	"Skeets" Gallagher-Lois Wilson - Warren Hymer	Nov. 7	62
Man of Sentiment, A	Marian Marsh - Owen Moore - Wm. Bakewell	Sept. 15	74
Notorious But Nice	Marian Marsh-Betty Compson	Aug. 5	72	Nov. 11

Coming Feature Attractions

Rainbow Over Broadway — Joan Marsh-Frank Albertson — Dec. 1 — 70

COLUMBIA

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Above the Clouds	R. Cromwell-R. Armstrong-D. Wilson	Oct. 20	67
Ann Carver's Profession	Fay Wray-Gene Raymond	May 26	68	June 17
Before Midnight	June Collyer-Ralph Bellamy	Nov. 18
Brief Moment	Carole Lombard-Gene Raymond-Donald Cook	Sept. 8	69	Oct. 7
Cocktail Hour	Bebe Daniels-Sidney Blackmer-Randolph Scott	June 5	74	June 10
Dangerous Crossroads	Chic Sale-Diane Sinclair	June 15	62	July 1
East of Fifth Ave.	Wallace Ford-Walter Connolly-Dorothy Tree	Oct. 20	76
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Fury of the Jungle	Donald Cook-Peggy Shannon	Oct. 20	68
Hold the Press	Tim McCoy-Shirley Grey	Oct. 25	60
King of the Wild Horses	Wm. Janney-Dorothy Appleby	Nov. 10
Lady for a Day	Warren William-Guy Kibbee-May Robson-Glenda Farrell	Sept. 13	102	July 15
Man's Castle, A	Loretta Young-Spencer Tracy	Nov. 4
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
Master of Men	Jack Holt-Fay Wray	Oct. 28
(See "Man of Steel," "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 14.)
My Woman	Helen Twelvetrees - Wallace Ford - Victor Jory	Oct. 5	73	Oct. 21
Police Car 17	Tim McCoy-Evalyn Knapp	Sept. 30	58
Rusty Rides Alone	Tim McCoy-Barbara Weeks	May 26	58
Thrill Hunter, The	Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier	Sept. 30	58
Unknown Valley	Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker	May 5	69	Aug. 26
What Price Innocence?	Willard Mack-Jean Parker	June 29	64	July 1
Woman I Stole, The	Jack Holt - Raquel Torres - Fay Wray	May 1	63	July 8
Wrecker, The	Jack Holt-Genevieve Tobin	July 10	72	Aug. 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Fighting Code, The — Buck Jones-Diane Sinclair — Dec. 30
Fighting Ranger, The — Buck Jones-Dorothy Revier
Fog — Mary Brian - Donald Cook - Reginald Denny
Lady Is Willing, The — Leslie Howard-Binnie Barnes
Let's Fall in Love — Harriette Lake - Edmund Lowe
Man Trailer, The — Buck Jones-Cecilia Parker
Night Bus — Clark Gable
Ninth Guest
No Cannons Roar — Frankie Darro-Jackie Searl
Once to Every Woman — Fay Wray-Walter Connolly
Shadows of Sing Sing — Bruce Cabot-Mary Brian
Straightaway — Tim McCoy-Sue Carol
Whirlpool — Jack Holt

FIRST DIVISION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Drive, The		May 20	89	Jan. 28
Throne of God (Tent.)		Aug.	56 and 39

Coming Feature Attractions

Dassan — 51 and 38

FIRST NATIONAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bureau of Missing Persons	Bette Davis - Lewis Stone - Glenda Farrell	Sept. 16	78	Sept. 2
Female	Ruth Chatterton	Nov. 11	60	Oct. 21
Goodbye Again	W. William-Joan Blondell	Sept. 9	65	June 17
Havana Widows	Joan Blondell-Glenda Farrell-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 18
Heroes for Sale	Richard Barthelmess - Loretta Young	June 17	76	May 27
I Loved a Woman	Edward G. Robinson-Kay Francis-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 23	80	Sept. 16
Lilly Turner	Ruth Chatterton-Geo. Brent	May 13	64	Apr. 29
Little Giant, The	Edward G. Robinson	May 20	74	Apr. 15
She Had to Say Yes	Loretta Young-Lyle Talbot	May 15	62	June 17
Wild Boys of the Road	All Star	Oct. 7	69	Sept. 30
World Changes, The	Paul Muni	Nov. 25	93	Nov. 4

Coming Feature Attractions

Redside — Warren William
Big Shakedown, The — Bette Davis - Chas. Farrell - Ricardo Cortez

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Convention City	Joan Blondell-Dick Powell-A. Menjou-Mary Astor
Dark Hazard	Edward G. Robinson
Mandalay	Kay Francis
Massacre	R. Barthelmess-Ann Dvorak
Son of a Sailor	Joe E. Brown - Johnny Mack Brown	Dec. 23
Wonder Bar, The	Al Jolson - Dick Powell-Ruby Keeler-Ricardo Cortez-Dolores Del Rio-Genevieve Tobin

FOX FILMS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Adorable	Janet Gaynor-Henry Garat	May 19	83	May 20
Arizona to Broadway	James Dunn-Joan Bennett	June 30	67	July 29
Berkeley Square	Leslie Howard-Heather Angel	Nov. 3	90	July 22
Best of Enemies	Marian Nixon-"Buddy" Rogers	June 23	71	July 22
Charlie Chan's Greatest Case	Warner Oland-Heather Angel	Sept. 15	71	Oct. 14
Devil's In Love, The	Victor Jory-Loretta Young	July 21	71	Aug. 5
Doctor Bull	Will Rogers - Louise Dresser - Marian Nixon-Ralph Morgan	Sept. 22	77	Oct. 14
F. P. I.	Conrad Veidt-Jill Esmond-Leslie Fenton	July 28	90	May 20
Good Companions, The	Jessie Matthews - Edmund Gwenn	Sept. 8	98	Apr. 28
Hold Me Tight	James Dunn-Sally Eilers	May 26	71	May 27
I Loved You Wednesday	Warner Baxter - Elissa Landi - Miriam Jordan-Victor Jory	June 16	75	June 24
It's Great to Be Alive	Edna May Oliver-Raul Roulien	June 2	68	July 1
Last Trail, The	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	Aug. 25	60
Life In the Raw	George O'Brien-Claire Trevor	July 7	62	Nov. 4
Mad Game, The	Spencer Tracy - Claire Trevor - Ralph Morgan	Oct. 27	65	Oct. 28
Man Who Dared, The	Preston Foster-Zita Johann	July 14	75	July 15
My Lips Betray	Lillian Harvey-John Boles	Nov. 10	79	Nov. 11
My Weakness	Lillian Harvey-Lew Ayres	Sept. 29	74	Sept. 30
Olsen's Big Moment	El Brendel	Nov. 17		Oct. 28
Paddy, the Next Best Thing	Janet Gayner-Warner Baxter	Sept. 1	76	Sept. 2
Pilgrimage	Henrietta Crosman-Marian Nixon-Norman Foster	Aug. 18	90	July 22
Power and the Glory, The	Spencer Tracy-Colleen Moore	Oct. 6	76	Aug. 26
Shanghai Madness	Spencer Tracy-Fay Wray	Aug. 4	88	Sept. 2
Walls of Gold	Sally Eilers-Norman Foster	Oct. 13	70	Oct. 14
Warrior's Husband, The	Elissa Landi - Ernest Truex - David Manners	May 12	68	May 6
Worst Woman In Paris?	Benita Hume-Adolphe Menjou	Oct. 20	78	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

As Husbands Go — Warner Baxter-Helen Vinson — Dec. 29 — 78
Carolina — Janet Gaynor-Lionel Barrymore-Robert Young-Richard Cromwell — Feb. 2,'34
Coming Out Party — Frances Dee-Gene Raymond
Frontier Marshall — George O'Brien-Irene Bentley — Jan. 19,'34
Hoopla — Clara Bow-Preston Foster — Nov. 30 — 78
I Am Suzanne — Lillian Harvey-Gene Raymond — Jan. 15,'34
I Was a Spy — Herbert Marshall - Madeleine Carroll-Conrad Veidt — Dec. 15 — 75 — Sept. 23
Jimmy and Sally — James Dunn-Claire Trevor — Nov. 24
Mr. Skitch — Will Rogers-Zasu Pitts — Dec. 22
7 Lives Were Changed — Heather Angel-Norman Foster — Jan. 12,'34
Sleepers East — Wynne Gibson-Preston Foster — Jan. 26,'34
Smoky — Victor Jory-Irene Bentley — Dec. 8
Stranger in the Night — Victor Jory - Heather Angel - Miriam Jordan
Three Against Death — Marion Burns-Kane Richmond

FREULER FILM ASSOCIATES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Deadwood Pass	Tom Tyler	May 5
Easy Millions	Skeets Gallagher-Dorothy Burgess-Merna Kennedy	June 30
Marriage on Approval	Donald Dillaway-Barbara Kent-Phyllis Barry	Nov. 17
War of the Range	Tom Tyler	Sept. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Black Cat, The
Bulldog Edition
East of Sudan
Green Paradise
My Wandering Boy
Red Man's Country
Silent Army, The
Sister of the Follies

GAUMONT-BRITISH

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baroud (See "Love In Morocco")
Britannia of Billingsgate	Violet Loraine-Gordon Harker		79½	Oct. 7
Channel Crossing	Constance Cummings - Matheson Lang
Falling for You	J. Hulbert-Cicely Courtneidge		88	Sept. 30
Fire Raisers, The	Leslie Banks
Ghost Train, The	Jack Hulbert		68	Feb. 25
Ghoul, The	Boris Karloff		85	Oct. 28
It's a Boy	Edward Everett Horton - Leslie Henson		80	Sept. 30
Just Smith	Tom Walls
King of the Ritz	Stanley Lupino-Gina Malo
Love In Morocco	Rex Ingram		67	Oct. 15,'32
(Reviewed under the title "Baroud")
Love on Wheels	Jack Hulbert-Gordon Harker
Lucky Number, The	Clifford Mollison - Jean Wyndham		72½	Sept. 9
Man from Toronto, The	Jessie Matthews - Ian Hunter - Fred Kerr
Marry Me	Renate Muller-Harry Green		85	Apr. 22
Night and Day	Jack Hulbert-Winifred Shotter	May 26	77	June 10
Orders Is Orders	Charlotte Greenwood - James Gleason		88½	Aug. 19
Prince of Wales, The
Sleeping Car	Ivor Novello-Madeleine Carroll		83	July 8
Soldiers of the King	Cicely Courtneidge - Anthony Bushell
There Goes the Bride	Jessie Mathews		79	Mar. 11
Waltz Time	Evelyn Laye	Oct. 1	90	Aug. 12

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

MAJESTIC

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Charming Deceiver, The (Reviewed under the title "Heads We Go")	Constance Cummings	Nov. 15	87	Sept. 16
Curtain at Eight	Dorothy Mackaill - C. Aubrey Smith-Paul Cavanaugh	Oct.	74
Morning After, The (Reviewed under the title "I Spy")	Ben Lyon-Sally Eilers	Nov. 15	63	Oct. 28
Sing, Sinner, Sing	Paul Lukas-Leila Hyams	Aug.	73	Aug. 19
Trouble Busters	Jack Hoxie-Lane Chandler	May 15	55
You Made Me Love You	Thelma Todd-Stanley Lupino	Nov. 15		Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date
Divorce Bed, The	Edward Arnold - John Miljan - Dorothy Libaire	Dec. 15
Sin of Nora Moran, The	Zita Johann-John Miljan	Dec.

MAYFAIR PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Dance Hall Hostess	Helen Chandler-Jason Robards-Edward Nugent	July	73	Sept. 2
Her Forgotten Past	Monte Blue - Barbara Kent - Henry B. Walthall	Sept.	68
Riot Squad	Madge Bellamy-Pat O'Malley	June 15	70	Aug. 5
Secret Sinners	Sue Carol-Nick Stuart	Oct. 20	70

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Another Language	Helen Hayes-Robt. Montgomery	July 28	79	Aug. 5
Barbarian, The	Ramon Novarro-Myrna Loy	May	88	Apr. 15
Beauty for Sale	Otto Kruger-Madge Evans	Sept.	87	Sept. 9
Bombshell	Jean Harlow-Lee Tracy	Oct. 13	98	Oct. 7
Broadway to Hollywood	Alice Brady - Frank Morgan - Madge Evans-Eddie Quillan-Jackie Cooper-Russell Hardie-Fay Templeton - Jimmy Durante	Sept. 15	89	Sept. 9
Chief, The	Ed Wynn-D. Mackaill	Nov.	66
Christopher Bean	Marie Dressler-L. Barrymore	Nov. 17	87
Day of Reckoning	Richard Dix-Madge Evans	Oct. 27	70	Nov. 11
Devil's Brother, The	Laurel and Hardy-Dennis King-Thelma Todd	May 5	92	Apr. 8
Hell Below	Robt. Montgomery-Jimmy Durante - Robt. Young - Walter Huston-Madge Evans	June 9	105	Apr. 15
Hold Your Man	Jean Harlow-Clark Gable	July 7	89	July 8
Made on Broadway	R. Montgomery-Sally Eilers	May 19	69	Apr. 8
Meet the Baron	Jack Pearl - Jimmy Durante - Zasu Pitts	Oct. 20	65	Nov. 4
Midnight Mary	Loretta Young-Ricardo Cortez	June 30	76	June 17
Night Flight	H. Hayes - J. Barrymore - L. Barrymore - C. Gable - Robt. Montgomery	Oct. 6	91	Aug. 19
Nuisance, The (Reviewed under the title, "Never Give a Sucker a Break")	Lee Tracy-Madge Evans	June 2	80	May 6
Peg O' My Heart	Marion Davies-Onslow Stevens	May 26	85	May 20
Penthouse	Warner Baxter-Myrna Loy-Mae Clarke-Phillips Holmes-Chas. Butterworth	Sept. 8	91	Sept. 9
Prizefighter and the Lady, The	Max Baer-Myrna Loy-Dempsey-Carnera-Walter Huston	Nov. 10	102	Oct. 28
Reunion in Vienna	John Barrymore-Diana Wynyard-Frank Morgan	June 16	100	May 6
Solitaire Man	Herbert Marshall - Elizabeth Allan - Lionel Atwill	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Stage Mother	A. Brady - Russell Hardie - M. O'Sullivan - F. Tone	Sept. 29	87	Sept. 16
Storm at Daybreak	Nils Asther-Kay Francis	July 14	82	July 1
Stranger's Return, The	Lionel Barrymore - Franchot Tone-Miriam Hopkins	July 21	89	July 15
Tugboat Annie	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Robt. Young-M. O'Sullivan	Aug. 4	88	Aug. 12
Turn Back the Clock	Lee Tracy-Mae Clarke	Aug. 25	80	Sept. 2
When Ladies Meet	Ann Harding-Alice Brady-Robt. Montgomery-Myrna Loy	June 23	85	June 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date
Cat and the Fiddle, The (See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)	Jeanette MacDonald-Ramon Novarro	Dec. 8
Comeback, The	Otto Kruger-Ben Lyon-Isabel Jewell
Comin' Round the Mountain	May Robson-Polly Moran
Dancing Lady (See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)	Joan Crawford-Clark Gable	Nov. 24
Dinner at Eight	Marie Dressler-Wallace Beery-Lionel Barrymore - Jean Harlow - Madge Evans - Karen Morley - Edmund Lowe - Lee Tracy - Jean Hersholt
Eskimo	Native Cast
Going Hollywood	Marion Davies-Bing Crosby
Hollywood Party, The	(All Star Musical)
Laughing Boy	Ramon Novarro-Lupe Velez
Malibu	Jean Parker-David Landau
Queen Christina	Greta Garbo - John Gilbert
Sons of the Desert	Laurel and Hardy
Tarzan and His Mate	J. Weissmuller-M. O'Sullivan
Transcontinental Bus	Robt. Montgomery - Madge Evans
Vinegar Tree, The	Lionel Barrymore-Alice Brady-Conway Tearle	Dec. 1
Viva Villa	Wallace Beery

MONOGRAM PICTURES CORPORATION

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Avenger, The	Ralph Forbes-Adrienne Ames	Aug.	79	Oct. 7
Black Beauty	Alex. Kirkland-Esther Ralston	May	70	Apr. 29
Broken Dreams	Randolph Scott-Martha Sleeper	Oct.	68	Nov. 4
Crashing Broadway	Rex Bell	June	55	July 15
Devil's Mate	Preston Foster-Peggy Shannon	Aug.	68	Aug. 12
Fighting Texans	Rex Bell	June	58	July 29
Fugitive, The	Rex Bell-Cecilia Parker	July	56
Gallant Fool	Bob Steele	May	55
Galloping Romeo	Bob Steele-Doris Hill	Aug.	54
Rainbow Ranch	Rex Bell	July	55
Rangers' Code	Bob Steele	Aug.	56
Return of Casey Jones	Charles Starrett-Ruth Hall	May	65
Riders of Destiny	John Wayne-Cecilia Parker	Oct.	58
Sensation Hunters	Arline Judge-Preston Foster	Aug.	70
Skyway	K. Crawford-Ray Walker	Aug.	65
Sphinx, The	Lionel Atwill-Sheila Terry	June	70	June 3
Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, The	Mary Carlisle-Buster Crabbe	Oct.	76	Oct. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star
Ane, The
Beggars in Ermine
He Couldn't Take It	Ray Walker-Virginia Cherrill
Jane Eyre
Manhattan Love Song
Mystery Liner
Sagebrush Trail	John Wayne
Sixteen Fathoms Deep	Sally O'Neill-Creighton Chaney
Woman's Man	Bill Cagney - John Halliday - Vivian Tobin

PARAMOUNT

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Executive	Ricardo Cortez-Elizabeth Young	Aug. 18	72	Aug. 5
College Humor	Crosby-Oakie-Arlen-Carlisle-Burns and Allen	June 23	80	June 17
Cradle Song	Dorothea Wieck-Kent Taylor	Nov. 17	77	Nov. 4
Disgraced	Helen Twelvetrees-Bruce Cabot	July 7	65	June 24
Duck Soup	Four Marx Bros.	Nov. 17	80	Nov. 11
Eagle and the Hawk, The	F. March-C. Grant-J. Oakie	May 19	72	May 6
Gambling Ship	Cary Grant-Benita Hume	June 30	72	June 17
Girl in 419, The	James Dunn-Gloria Stuart	May 26	76	May 6
Golden Harvest	Richard Arlen-Chester Morris-Genevieve Tobin	Sept. 22	70	Sept. 23
Hell and High Water	Richard Arlen-Judith Allen	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 21
Her Bodyguard	Wynne Gibson-Edmund Lowe	July 21	70	July 8
I Love That Man	Nancy Carroll-Edmund Lowe	June 9	75	May 6
I'm No Angel	Mae West-Cary Grant	Oct. 6	87	Oct. 7
International House	All Star	June 2	65	May 20
Jennie Gerhardt	Sylvia Sidney-Donald Cook	June 16	76	June 10
Mama Loves Papa	Charles Ruggles-Mary Boland-Lilyan Tashman	July 14	72	July 15
Man of the Forest	Randolph Scott-Verna Hillie	July 14	62½
Midnight Club	Clive Brook-George Raft-Helen Vinson-Alison Skipworth	July 28	70	July 29
One Sunday Afternoon	Gary Cooper-Fay Wray	Sept. 1	85	Aug. 26
Song of Songs	Marlene Dietrich-Brian Aherne	Aug. 11	92	July 1
Story of Temple Drake, The	Miriam Hopkins-Jack LaRue	May 12	72	May 13
Sunset Pass	Randolph Scott-Tom Keene	May 26	85	June 3
Supernatural	C. Lombard - Randolph Scott - V. Osborne	May 5	64½	Apr. 29
Take a Chance	James Dunn - June Knight - "Buddy" Rogers - Lillian Roth	Oct. 27	82	Nov. 4
This Day and Age	Charles Bickford-Judith Allen	Aug. 25	82	July 29
Three Cornered Moon	C. Colbert-Richard Arlen-Lyda Roberti-Mary Boland	Aug. 4	72	Aug. 12
Tillie and Gus	Alison Skipworth-W. C. Fields	Oct. 13	57½
To the Last Man	Randolph Scott-Esther Ralston	Sept. 15	70	Sept. 16
Too Much Harmony	Bing Crosby-Jack Oakie-Lilyan Tashman	Sept. 29	75	Sept. 9
Torch Singer	Claudette Colbert - Ricardo Cortez - David Manners	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 2
Way to Love, The	Maurice Chevalier-Ann Dvorak	Oct. 20	84	Sept. 30
White Woman	Carole Lombard-Chas. Laughton-Chas. Bickford	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date
Alice in Wonderland	Charlotte Henry - R. Arlen - J. Oakie-Chas. Ruggles	Dec. 22
All of Me	Fredric March-Miriam Hopkins-George Raft	Dec. 29
Border Legion, The	Randolph Scott-Barbara Adams
Catherine the Great	Marlene Dietrich-John Lodge
Design for Living	Miriam Hopkins-Fredric March-Gary Cooper
Eight Girls in a Boat	Kay Johnson - Dorothy Wilson - Doug. Montgomery	Dec. 15
Four Frightened People	C. Colbert - H. Marshall - Wm. Gargan - M. Boland
Girl Without a Room	M. Churchill-Chas. Farrell-C. Ruggles	Dec. 8
Great Adventure, The	Lillian Gish-Roland Young
Lone Cowboy	Jackie Cooper	Dec. 1
Miss Fane's Baby Is Stolen	Dorothea Wieck-Baby Le Roy
Search for Beauty	Buster Crabbe-Ida Lupino
Sitting Pretty	Jack Haley-Jack Oakie-Ginger Rogers	Nov. 24
Thundering Herd, The	Randolph Scott-Judith Allen	Nov. 24

PRINCIPAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Jaws of Justice	Kazan-Teddy and Richard Terry	Nov. 15	58
Tarzan the Fearless	Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	61	Aug. 19
Thunder Over Mexico	Native Cast	Nov. 15	70	May 20

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date
Desperate Trails
Ferocious Pal, The
King of the North
Lone Avenger, The
Teeth of Steel	Kazan	Jan. 15,'34

RKO RADIO PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Ace of Aces	Richard Dix - Elizabeth Allan-Ralph Bellamy	Oct. 20	74	Sept. 30
After Tonight	Constance Bennett - Gilbert Roland	Nov. 10	71	Oct. 28
Aggie Appleby	Wynne Gibson-Charles Farrell	Nov. 3	73	Oct. 28
Ann Vickers	Irene Dunne - Walter Huston - Conrad Nagel	Oct. 13	72	Sept. 30
Bed of Roses	Constance Bennett-Joel McCrea	July 14	67	July 8
Before Dawn	Stuart Erwin-Dorothy Wilson	Aug. 4	62	Oct. 21
Big Brain, The	Geo. E. Stone-Fay Wray-Phillips Holmes	June 16	70	June 3
Blind Adventure	Robt. Armstrong-Helen Mack	Aug. 18	60	Aug. 12
Chance at Heaven	Joel McCrea - Ginger Rogers - Marian Nixon	Oct. 27	70	Oct. 14
Cross Fire	Tom Keene-Betty Furness	June 30	55	Apr. 8
Deluge, The	Peggy Shannon - Lois Wilson - Sidney Blackmer-Matt Moore	Sept. 15	68	Aug. 19
Diplomaniacs	Bert Wheeler-Robt. Woolsey	May 12	63	Apr. 15
Double Harness	Ann Harding-William Powell	July 21	74	July 8
Emergency Call	Bill Boyd-Betty Furness	May 26	60	July 1
Flaming Gold	Bill Boyd-Mae Clarke-Pat O'Brien	Sept. 29
Flying Devils	Arline Judge-Bruce Cabot-Ralph Bellamy - Eric Linden	July 14	62	Sept. 2
Goodbye Love	Charles Ruggles	Nov. 10	66
Headline Shooter	Wm. Gargan-Frances Dee - R. Bellamy-W. Ford-G. Rateff	July 28	65	July 29
Melody Cruise	Phil Harris-Charles Ruggles	June 23	75	June 3
Midshipman Jack	Bruce Cabot-Betty Furness	Sept. 22	65	Sept. 16
Morning Glory	K. Hepburn - D. Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 18	70	July 29
No Marriage Ties	Richard Dix-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 11	75	Aug. 12
One Man's Journey	Lionel Barrymore-Joel McCrea-Dorothy Jordan	Sept. 8	72	Sept. 9
Professional Sweetheart	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	June 9	70	June 3
Rafter Romance	Ginger Rogers-Norman Foster	Sept. 1	70	Aug. 5
Right to Romance, The	Ann Harding-Nils Asther	Nov. 17
Silver Cord, The	Irene Dunne-Joel McCrea	May 19	74	May 13
Son of the Border	Tom Keene-Julie Haydon	May 5	55	Aug. 5
Tomorrow at Seven	Chester Morris-Vivienne Osborne	June 2	64	May 13

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Coming Feature Attractions
Dark Sunlight	Jean Parker-Tom Brown
Flying Down to Rio	Dolores Del Rio - Gene Raymond-Raul Roulien
Hips, Hips, Hooray!	Wheeler and Woolsey
If I Were Free!	Irene Dunne-Nils Asther-Clive Brook
Little Women	K. Hepburn - Joan Bennett - Frances Dee - Paul Lukas	Nov. 24	107	Nov. 11
Long Lost Father	John Barrymore-Helen Chandler
Lost Patrol, The	McLaglen-Karloff
(See "In the Cutting Room," Oct. 21.)
Man of Two Worlds	Francis Lederer-Elissa Landi
Once Over Lightly	Zasu Pitts - Pert Kelton - El Brendel
Rodney	Walter Huston-Frances Dee
Son of Kong	Robert Armstrong-Helen Mack
This Day of Grace	Gracie Fields		92	Oct. 28
Trigger	Katharine Hepburn

SHOWMEN'S PICTURES

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
His Private Secretary	Evalyn Knapp-John Wayne	June 10	60	June 10
Police Call	Merna Kennedy-Nick Stuart	July 24	60	Sept. 9
Public Stenographer	Lola Lane-Wm. Collier, Jr.	Nov. 1	62
Ship of Wanted Men	Dorothy Sebastian-Leon Waycoff	Sept. 24	63	Sept. 16

Coming Feature Attractions

Big Race, The	Boots Mallory-John Darrow	Dec. 1
Golden Head
Moth, The
St. Louis Woman
Souls in Pawn
Special Duty
Unlimited
Within the Rock

STATE RIGHTS

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Corruption	Evalyn Knapp - Preston Foster	Imperial Distr.	June 19	63	July 1
Cougar, the King Killer	Edwin C. Hill - Jay Bruce	Master Art	Nov. 1	60
Flaming Signal, The	Marceline Day	Invincible		64
Get That Venus	Ernest Truex - Jean Arthur	Regent Picts.
Hell's Holiday	(War Film)	Superb Picts.		77	July 22
Her Splendid Folly	Lilian Bond-T. Von Eltz	Progressive	Oct. 7	59	Nov. 4
Isle of Doom, The	Peter Sobolevski	Amkino	June 5	65½	July 22
Laughing at Life	V. McLaglen - C. Montenegro	Mascot	June 26	70	June 3
Mr. Broadway	All Star	B'way-Hollywood		59	Sept. 23
Over the Seven Seas		Vanderbilt		70	June 3
Passion of Joan of Arc, The	Maria Falconnetti	Capital	Sept. 7	57	Sept. 16
Red-Head, The	Robert Lynen	Harold Auten	May 25	88	June 17
Reform Girl	Noel Francis-Donald Dilloway	Tower	July 15	64	Oct. 21
Savage Gold		Harold Auten	July 24	67	July 29
Secrets of Hollywood	Mae Busch - June Walters	Lester F. Scott		58	Sept. 16
Shepherd of the Seven Hills, The		Faith Pictures	Aug. 7	60	Aug. 19
Sleepless Nights	Polly Walker - Stanley Lupino	Remington	July 21	65	July 29
Taming the Jungle		Invincible	June 3	59	June 10
This Is America		Frederick Ullman, Jr.	July 19	70	July 29
Truth About Africa, The		Wm. Alexander		47	Apr. 22
Victims of Persecution	Betty Hamilton-Mitchell Harris	Bud Pollard	June 16	60	June 24
Wandering Jew, The	Jacob Ben-Ami	JAFA	Oct. 20	90	Oct. 28
Wives Beware!	Adolphe Menjou	Regent Picts.	June 1	63

UNITED ARTISTS

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Bitter Sweet	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey	Sept. 22	93	Aug. 19
Blood Money	George Bancroft-Frances Dee-Chick Chandler-Judith Anderson	Nov. 17	74
(See "In the Cutting Room," Aug. 5.)
Bowery, The	Wallace Beery - George Raft - Jackie Cooper - Fay Wray	Oct. 13	90	Oct. 7
Broadway Thru a Keyhole	Constance Cummings - Russ Columbo-Paul Kelly	Oct. 27	85	Oct. 21
Emperor Jones	Paul Robeson-Dudley Digges	Sept. 29	80	Sept. 23
I Cover the Waterfront	Claudette Colbert - Ben Lyon - Ernest Torrence	May 17	75	Apr. 29
Masquerader, The	Ronald Colman-Elissa Landi	Sept. 1	75	Feb. 25
Private Life of Henry VIII, The	Charles Laughton	Nov. 3	97	Sept. 23
Samarang	Native Cast	June 23	62	May 20
Yes, Mr. Brown	Jack Buchanan	May	69	Mar. 18

Coming Feature Attractions

Advice to the Lovelorn	Lee Tracy-Sally Blane	Dec. 1
Born to Be Bad	Loretta Young-Cary Grant
Gallant Lady	Ann Harding-Clive Brook
House of Rothschild, The	George Arliss
Joe Palooka	Jimmy Durante - Stuart Erwin - Lupe Velez
Moulin Rouge	Constance Bennett - Franchot Tone-T. Carminati
Nana	Anna Sten-Lionel Atwill-Phillips Holmes
Queen, The	Anna Neagle-Fernand Graavey
Roman Scandals	Eddie Cantor - Gloria Stuart - David Manners-Ruth Etting
Sorrell and Son	H. B. Warner
Trouble Shooter	Spencer Tracy - Jack Oakie - Constance Cummings

UNIVERSAL

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Don't Bet on Love	Lew Ayres-Ginger Rogers	July 13	62	July 29
Fiddlin' Buckaroo	Ken Maynard-Gloria Shea	July 20	62
Her First Mate	Summerville-Pitts	Aug. 10	70	July 22
Invisible Man, The	Claude Rains - Gloria Stuart - Wm. Harrigan	Nov. 13	70	Nov. 4
King for a Night	Chester Morris - Helen Twelvetrees - Alice White	Oct. 30	60
King of Jazz (Reissue)	Paul Whiteman - John Boles - Bing Crosby	June 1	63	Apr. 5,'30
King of the Arena	Ken Maynard	June 1	61
Kiss Before the Mirror	Nancy Carroll-Paul Lukas	May 4	67	Mar. 11
Ladies Must Love	June Knight - Neil Hamilton - Mary Carlisle-George E. Stone	Sept. 25	70	Sept. 9
Love, Honor and Oh, Baby!	Summerville-Pitts	Oct. 16	63	Nov. 11
Moonlight and Pretzels	Mary Brian-Lew Carrillo	Aug. 5	84	Sept. 2
Only Yesterday	John Boles-Margaret Sullavan-Benita Hume-Billie Burke	Nov. 6	105
Rebel, The	Vilma Banky-Luis Trenker	June 15	75	July 1
S. O. S. Iceberg	Rod La Roque-Gibson Gowland	Oct. 23	70	Sept. 23
Saturday's Millions	Robert Young-Leila Hyams	Oct. 9	72	Sept. 23
Secret of the Blue Room, The	Lionel Atwill-Paul Lukas-Gloria Stuart-Onslow Stevens	July 20	65½	Sept. 23
Strawberry Roan	Ken Maynard-Ruth Hall	Oct. 26	60	Sept. 30
Trail Drive, The	Ken Maynard-Cecilia Parker	Sept. 4	60

Coming Feature Attractions

Beloved	John Boles-Gloria Stuart
Bombay Mail	Edmund Lowe-Onslow Stevens-Ralph Graves-Shirley Grey	Dec. 25
By Candlelight	Elissa Landi-Paul Lukas	Dec. 11
Counsellor-at-Law	John Barrymore-Bebe Daniels	Dec. 4
Cross Country Cruise	Lew Ayres-Alice White
Horseplay	Slim Summerville-Andy Devine-Leila Hyams	Nov. 27
I Like It That Way	Gloria Stuart-Roger Pryor
Madame Spy	Fay Wray-Nils Asther	Jan. 1,'34
Midnight	O. P. Heggie-Sidney Fox
Myrt and Marge	Myrtle Dale - Donna Damerell - Ted Healy	Dec. 18	68	Sept. 9
Poor Rich, The	Edna May Oliver-Edward Everett Horton
Rider of Justice	Ken Maynard-Cecelia Parker	Dec. 18
Song for You, A	Marian Nixon-Jan Kiepura
Special Investigator	Wynne Gibson-Onslow Stevens-Alan Dinehart
Wheels of Destiny	Ken Maynard

WARNER BROS.

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Baby Face	Barbara Stanwyck	July 1	74	Apr. 1
Captured!	Leslie Howard-Doug. Fairbanks, Jr.-Paul Lukas	Aug. 19	72	June 24
College Coach	Dick Powell-Pat O'Brien-Ann Dvorak-Lyle Talbot	Nov. 4	75
Ever In My Heart	Barbara Stanwyck	Oct. 28	68	Oct. 21
Footlight Parade	James Cagney - Joan Blondell - Ruby Keeler - Dick Powell - Guy Kibbee	Oct. 21	102	Oct. 7
Gold Diggers of 1933	Warren William-Joan Blondell-Aline MacMahon-Ruby Keeler-Dick Powell	Sept. 2	90	May 27
Kennel Murder Case	William Powell-Mary Astor	Oct. 28	73	Nov. 4
Life of Jimmy Dolan, The	D. Fairbanks, Jr.-Loretta Young	June 3	70	June 24
Man from Monterey, The	John Wayne-Ruth Hall	July 15	57	Aug. 26
Mary Stevens, M.D.	Kay Francis	July 22	72	Aug. 12
Mayor of Hell, The	James Cagney	June 24	80	May 20
Narrow Corner, The	Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.	July 8	71	July 22
Private Detective 62	William Powell	June 10	67	July 15
Silk Express	Neil Hamilton-Sheila Terry	June 10	63	June 10
Voltaire	George Arliss-Doris Kenyon	Aug. 5	70	June 24

Coming Feature Attractions

As the Earth Turns	Jean Muir-Donald Woods
Disraeli (Reissue)	George Arliss	Dec. 16	89	Dec. 14,'29
Easy to Love	Adolphe Menjou - Mary Astor - Genevieve Tobin
Fashion Plate, The	William Powell-Bette Davis
From Headquarters	Geo. Brent-M. Lindsay	Dec. 2
Hell's Bells	Joan Blondell-Pat O'Brien
Hi, Nellie!	Paul Muni
House on 56th Street, The	Kay Francis - Ricardo Cortez - Gene Raymond	Dec. 23
Lady Killer	James Cagney	Dec. 9

WORLD WIDE

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Features

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Lone Avenger, The	Ken Maynard	May 14	61	Aug. 19
Study in Scarlet, A	Reginald Owen-June Clyde	May 14	72	June 10

OTHER PRODUCT (FOREIGN)

Features

Title	Star	Dist'r	Rel. Date	Running Time Minutes	Reviewed
Big Attraction, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	July 22	88	July 29
Cadet, The	Frans Fiedler	Film Exchange		80	Apr. 8
Counsel's Opinion	Henry Kendall	London Film		71	Apr. 22
Don Quixote	Feodor Chaliapin-George Robey	British-United Artists			July 8
Dream of Schoenbrunn	Martha Eggerth	Europa Film	May 31	78	June 10
Girl from Maxim's, The	Frances Day	London Film			Oct. 14
Golden Goal, The	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	June 17	85	July 8
Hawleys of High Street	Leslie Fuller	British Int'l		68	July 8
I Lived with You	Ivor Novello - Ursula Jeans	Gaumont-British			Aug. 12
Just My Luck	Ralph Lynn	British and Dominions		80	May 20
Maid of the Mountains, The	Harry Welchman-Nancy Brown	British Int'l		80	Apr. 22
Men of Tomorrow	Maurice Braddell	Paramount-London Film		80	Apr. 15
Money for Speed	John Loder - Ida Lupino - Cyril Mc-Laglen	British-United Artists		67	July 15
Morgenrot (Dawn)	Else Knott - Rudolf Forster	Protex	May 15	85	May 27
Never Trust a Woman	Richard Tauber	Bavaria Film	Oct.	90
Only Girl, The	Lilian Harvey-Chas. Boyer	Gaumont-Ufa		93	Aug. 12
Prince of Arcadia	Carl Brisson	Gaumont-British		80	Oct. 28
Private Wives	Claude Allister-Betty Astell	Britsh Lion
Radio Parade		British Int'l		70	May 13
Song You Gave Me, The	Bebe Daniels-Victor Varconi	British Int'l		84	Oct. 21
Wedding Rehearsal	Roland Young	London Film

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

SHORT FILMS

[All dates are 1933 unless otherwise stated]

COLUMBIA

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
KRAZY KAT KARTOONS
Antique Antics		1 rl..
Broadway Malady	Apr. 18	1 rl..
House Cleaning		1 rl..
Krazy Spooks		1 rl..
Out of the Ether	Sept. 5	7½..
Russian Dressing	May 1
Stage Krazy		1 rl..
Whack's Museum		1 rl..
LAMBS GAMBOLS
Hear 'Em and Weep		2 rls.
Poor Fish, The	Apr. 27	2 rls.
LAUGHING WITH MEDBURY
1—In Morocco	Sept. 29	1 rl..
2—In the Orient		1 rl..
MARCH OF THE YEARS
No. 1—"Boss" Tweed	Sept. 22	9½..
No. 2	Oct. 6
No. 3—Famous Crippon Case	Oct. 20
No. 4—Commander Perry Opens Japan	Oct. 24
MICKEY McGUIRE COMEDIES
1—Mickey's Touchdown	Oct. 14	18....
2—Mickey's Tent Show		18....
3—Mickey's Covered Wagon
SCRAPPY CARTOONS
False Alarm		1 rl..
Hollywood Babes
Match Kid, The	May 9	1 rl..
Movie Struck	Sept. 8	7½..
Sandman Tales	Oct. 6	1 rl..
Technoracket	May 20	1 rl..
World's Affair, The	June 5	1 rl..
MINUTE MYSTERIES
No. 1	Oct. 13	1 rl..
No. 2		1 rl..
MUSICALS
No. 1—Roamin' Through the Roses Art Jarrett
No. 2—Um-Pa Jack Osterman
GEO. SIDNEY AND CHAS. MURRAY
Radio-dough (Tent.)		2 rls
SMITH AND DALE
Hot Daze	Oct. 20	2 rls.
SUNRISE COMEDIES
Brother, Could You Spare a Million? Ken Murray	Sept. 13
Entertainer, The Will Mahoney	Oct. 4	20....
Say It Isn't So Richey Craig, Jr.	June 29	19....
WORLD OF SPORT
All's Wet That Ends Wet	May 5	1 rl..
Champions	May 5	1 rl..
Flying Gloves	Aug. 18
Hook and Line	July 28
In the Good Old Winter Time	June 17	1 rl..
We Want a Touchdown	Oct. 23	1 rl..
What the Scotch Started	Oct. 6
Who Said the Weaker Sex?	Sept. 8	9....

EDUCATIONAL

[Distributed through Fox Films]

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ANDY CLYDE COMEDIES
Big Squeal, The	July 9	18....
Dora's Dunking Doughnuts	Sept. 1	20....
Easy Mark Anthony
Feeling Rosy	Apr. 30	21....
Frozen Assets	Nov. 17
His Weak Moment	Oct. 13
Loose Relations	June 11	20....
AS A DOG THINKS
Walking the Dog	Sept. 29
You and I and the Gatepost	Aug. 25
BABY BURLESKS
Kin 'N Africa	Oct. 6
Kid 'N Hollywood	May 14	11....
Kid's Last Fight, The	Apr. 23	11....
Polly Tix in Washington	June 4
War Babies	Sept. 18
BATTLE FOR LIFE
Beneath Our Feet	June 25	9....
Sea, The	May 7	9....
BRAY'S NATURGRAPHS
Giants of the North	June 4	7....
Pirates of the Deep	May 7	9....
Wild Life at Home	June 18	1 rl..
BROADWAY GOSSIP
No. 5	Apr. 30	11....
No. 6	June 18
CAMERA ADVENTURES
Cougar's Mistake, The	May 28	9....
CORONET COMEDIES
Git Along Little Wifie	Nov. 3
Good Bad Man, The	Dec. 15
DO YOU REMEMBER?
Highlights of the Past	Apr. 9	8....
Old-Fashioned Newsreel, An	July 2
FROLICS OF YOUTH
Merrily Yours	Oct. 6
What's To Do	Nov. 30
HODGE-PODGE
Any Way to Get There	July 16	9....
Capers In Clay	July 30
Out of the Ordinary	May 28
Sawdust Sidelights	June 4	10....
MERMAID COMEDIES (Harry Langdon)
Knight Duty	May 7	22....
Hooks and Jabs	Aug. 25
Leave It to Dad	Oct. 20
Pop's Pal	Dec. 22
Stage Hand, The	Sept. 8
Tied for Life	July 2	18....
MORAN AND MACK COMEDIES
A Pair of Socks	May 14	20....
Blue Blackbirds	Aug. 18
Farmers' Fatal Folly	Sept. 15	18....
Hot Hoofs	June 18
MUSICAL COMEDIES
Million Dollar Melody	Oct. 27
ROMANTIC JOURNEYS
Across the Sea	Oct. 20
Canyon of Romance	Dec. 8
Enchanted Trail	Sept. 22
SONG HIT STORIES
Last Dogie, The	Nov. 17
Manhattan Lullaby Helen Morgan	Nov. 24
Slow Poke Stepin Fetchit	Sept. 22	1 rl..
SPIRIT OF THE CAMPUS (Reinald Werrenrath)
Georgia Tech	May 7	9....
McGill	May 28	9....
STAR COMEDY SPECIALS
Mr. Adam	Nov. 17
TERRY-TOONS
Banker's Daughter, The	June 25	6....
Beanstalk Jack	Oct. 20	6....
Cinderella	May 28	6....
Fanny in the Lion's Den	July 23	6....
Fanny's Wedding Day	Sept. 22
Grand Uproar	Aug. 25
Gypsy Fiddler, A	Oct. 6	6....
Holland Days	Jan. 12,'34	6....
Hypnotic Eyes	Aug.
In Venice	Dec. 15	6....
King Zilch	June 11	8....
Little Boy Blue	Nov. 30	6....
Oh! Susanna	Apr. 2	6....
Oil Can Mystery, The	July 9	6....
Pick-necking	Sept. 8
Pirate Ship	Apr. 30	6....
Robinson Crusoe	Nov. 17	6....
Romeo and Juliet	Apr. 16	6....
Sunny South, The	Dec. 29	6....
Tale of a Shirt, The	Feb. 19	6....
Three Bears, The	Jan. 26,'34	6....
Tropical Fish	May 14	6....
Village Blacksmith, The	Nov. 3	6....
THREE-REEL SPECIAL
Krakatoa	Apr. 23	23....
TOM HOWARD COMEDIES
Aces Wild	July 9	10....
Divorce Sweets	Nov. 24
Honesty Pays, But Not Much	June 4
Mouse Trapper, The	Sept. 11
Static	Sept. 29	2 rls.
TORCHY COMEDIES (Ray Cooke)
Torchy's Loud Spooker	June 25	20....
Torchy Turns Turtle	Apr. 23	21....
Trying Out Torchy	July 23	18....
TREASURE CHEST
Shorts	Nov. 3
Song of Vienna	Nov. 10
Your Life Is In Your Hands	Sept. 22
VANITY COMEDIES
Techno-crazy Monty Collins-Billy Bevan	Apr. 23	19....

FOX FILMS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ADVENTURES OF THE NEWSREEL CAMERAMAN
Following the Horses!	Sept. 1
Motor Mania!	Sept. 29
Conquest of the Air!
Scouring the Seven Seas!
Answering the Riot Call!
Filming the Fashions
MAGIC CARPET SERIES
Down from Vesuvius	Apr. 15
Broadway by Day	Apr. 2
Sampans and Shadows	Apr. 9
Mississippi Showboats
Boardwalks of New York
Pagodas of Peiping	Aug. 18
Shades of Cairo	Aug. 25
The Desert Patrol	Sept. 1	10....
Outposts of France	Sept. 15
Glimpses of Greece	Sept. 29
Playground of Pan	Oct. 13
The Island of Malta
Elephant Trails	Oct. 27
MOVIE TINTYPE SERIES
Where Is My Wandering Boy?	Aug. 18
For the Man She Loved	Sept. 8
Slander's Tongue	Oct. 6
Twin Dukes and a Duchess	Oct. 27
The Great Train Robbery
A Moment of Madness
Helen of the Chorus
The Extravagant Wife
The Girl from the Country
Emma's Dilemma
The Heart of Valeska
Love's Old Sweet Song
SPECIAL SUBJECT
Aniakchak	Aug. 18	28....

MASTER ART PRODUCTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
EDWIN C. HILL SERIES
1. Human Side of the News		10....
MELODY MAKERS
Sammy Fain — With Eton Boys, N. Brokenshire and Evelyn Hoey		7....
Cliff Friend—With Peggy Healy, Jack Fulton and Pickens Sisters		9....
Benny Davis — With Roy Atwell, Charles Carlisle, Martha Ray and Jackie Green		8....
Gus Edwards—With Ralph Kirbery, Four Minute Men and John S. Young		9....
Stephen Foster—With John Hundley, Nancy McCord and Kelvin Keech		10....
Fields and McHugh—With Jack Osterman and Pickens Sisters		9....
ORGANLOGUES
Songs of the Hills Radio Rubes		6....
Sally Singin' Sam-Don Wallace		7....
Night of Romance Donald Novis-Ann Leaf-John Young		7....
Tongue Twisters Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7....
Ship of Dreams Ralph Kirbery-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		7....
Melody on Parade Irving Kaufman-Lew White		7....
Home Again Nick Lucas-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8....
Tintypes Irving Kaufman-Lew White		6....
Oriental Phantasy Charles Carlile-Lew White-Kelvin Keech		8....
Organ Festival Lew White-Ann Leaf-Dick Liebert-Jesse Crawford		9....
Melody Tour Sylvia Froos-Dick Liebert-John S. Young		8....
Organlogue-ing the Hits Nick Lucas-Lew White-Herbert Rawlinson		8....
Songs of Nations Carlile-Rawlinson-White
PET SUPERSTITIONS
1. Spilled Salt Phyllis Barry-George Lewis-J. Carrol Naish		10....

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
ALL-STAR SERIES
Crook's Tour		19....
Yeast Is West
CHARLEY CHASE
Arabian Tights	June 3	20....
His Silent Racket	Apr. 29	19....
Luncheon at Twelve		21....
Midsummer Mush		21....
Sherman Said It	Sept. 2	17....
COLORTONE MUSICAL REVUES
Beer and Pretzels		20....
Hello, Pop!		17....
Nertsery Rhymes	Aug. 26
Plane Nuts		20....
Rhapsody in Brew		20....
FITZPATRICK TRAVEL TALKS
Daughters of the Sea	Apr. 8	9....
Dutch Guiana, Land of Djuka		10....
Fiji and Samoa	May 20	8....
New Zealand		9....
Over the Seas to Borneo	Apr. 29	9....
Papua and Kalabahai	June 10	9....
Scotland the Bonnie		9....
FLIP, THE FROG
Bulloney		8....
Chinaman's Chance		8....
Paleface		8....
Soda Squirt		7....
Techno-cracked		8....
LAUREL & HARDY
Busy Bodies		20....
Dirty Work		20....
Me An' My Pal	Apr. 22	21....
ODDITIES
Fine Feathers		9....
Handiebars
Happy Warriors		9....
Menu	Aug. 26	11....
OUR GANG
Bedtime Worries	Sept. 9	21....
Kid from Borneo, The	Apr. 15	19....
Mush and Milk	May 27	18....
Wild Poses		19....
TODD-KELLY
Backs to Nature		20....
Bargain of the Century	Apr. 8	20....
Beauty and the Bus	Sept. 16
One Track Minds	May 20
SPECIAL
Inflation		11....
Roosevelt, the Man of the Hour	Apr. 8	18....
SPORT CHAMPIONS
Auto Racing	Apr. 1
Throttle Pushers	Apr. 1	9....
TAXI BOYS
Call Her Sausage	May 13	19....
Rummy, The	June 10	18....
Taxi Barons	Apr. 1	19....
Thundering Taxis	June 24	16....
WILLIE WHOPPER
Play Ball		7....

PARAMOUNT

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
HEADLINERS
A Bundle of Blues Duke Ellington	Sept. 1	10....
Captain Henry's Radio Show Lanny Ross-Annette Hanshaw - Don Voorhees	Aug. 11	11....
The Little Broadcast Donald Novis - Arthur Tracy - Mills Bros. - Vincent Lopez-Roy Atwill	Oct. 27	11....
Rumba Rhythm Vincent Lopez	Sept. 29	6....
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE
No. 9	Apr. 7	10....
No. 10	May 5	10....
No. 11	June 2	10....
No. 12	June 30	10....
No. 13	July 28	10....
HOLLYWOOD ON PARADE—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 18	11....
No. 2	Sept. 8	11....
No. 3	Oct. 13	11....
No. 4	Nov. 10	11....
ONE REEL ACTS
Detective Tom Howard of the Suicide Squad Tom Howard	June 9	11....
Jazz a La Cuba Don Aspiazu	July 7	10....
Moonlight Fantasy Vincent Lopez	Apr. 14	8....
Walking the Baby Burns and Allen	May 12	11....
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL
No. 10—Birth of the Year — Laboratory Sleuth — Three X Sisters	Apr. 21	10....
No. 11—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews - Ward Wilson - Danbury Fair	May 19	10....
No. 12—Treasure Hunt — Wings of Summer—Putting One Over with Lillian Roth	June 16	10....
No. 13—Tableaux in Wax — Bird Sanctuary — Song Makers of America	July 14	10....
PARAMOUNT PICTORIAL—NEW SERIES
No. 1 — Just a Little Dressing — The Rock Garden—Irving Mills	Aug. 11	10....
No. 2—On the Trail of the Salmon—Trotting Out the Champion—Johnny Green	Sept. 8	10....
No. 3—Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews — September Morn—Harry Armstrong	Oct. 6	10....
No. 4—Let's Go Crabbing —Manhattan Nocturne—Irvin S. Cobb	Nov. 3	10....
POPEYE THE SAILOR
Blow Me Down	Oct. 27	7....
I Eats My Spinach	Nov. 17	7....
I Yam What I Yam	Sept. 20	7....
SCREEN SONGS
"Bolleak" Watson Sisters	June 9	7....
Boo, Boo, Theme Song	Oct. 13	1 rl..
Down by the Old Mill Stream Funny Boners	July 21	7....
I Like Mountain Music Eton Boys	Nov. 10	7....
Peanut Vendor, The Armida	Apr. 28	7....
Popular Melodies Arthur Jarrett	Apr. 7	7....
Sing, Sisters, Sing Three X Sisters	June 3	7....
Song Shopping Ethel Merman	May 19	7....
Stoopnocracy Stoopnagle and Budd	Aug. 18	7....
When Yuba Plays the Rumba on the Tuba Mills Bros.	Sept. 15	7....
SCREEN SOUVENIRS
No. 10	Apr. 14	10....
No. 11	May 12	10....
No. 12	June 9	10....
No. 13	July 7	10....
SCREEN SOUVENIRS—NEW SERIES
No. 1	Aug. 25	10....
No. 2	Sept. 22	10....
No. 3	Oct. 20	10....
No. 4	Nov. 17	10....
PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
Two Editions Weekly
GRANTLAND RICE SPORTLIGHTS
What Makes a Champion	Aug. 4	11....
Sporting Melodies	Aug. 25	10....
Water Lure	Sept. 22	10....
The March of the Champions	Oct. 20	11....
Kennel Kings	Nov. 24	1 rl..
SPORTS EYE VIEW
Aggravatin' Bear, The	Apr. 28	10....
Balance	June 23	10....
Jabs and Jolts	May 26	10....
Over the Jumps	July 21	10....
Straight Shooters	July 21	11....
TALKARTOONS
Betty Boop's Big Boss	June 2	7....
Betty Boop's Birthday Party	Apr. 21	7....
Betty Boop's Hallowe'en Party	Nov. 3	7....
Betty Boop's May Party	May 12	7....
I Heard Don Redmond	Sept. 1	7....
Morning, Noon and Night Rubinoff	Oct. 6	7....
Mother Goose Land	June 23	7....
Old Man of the Mountains Cab Calloway	Aug. 4	7....
Popeye, the Sailor	July 7	7....
TWO-REEL COMEDIES
Barber, The	July 28	21....
Big Fibber, The Sennett Star	July 14	20....
Daddy Knows Best Walter Catlett	June 16	22....
Dream Stuff Sennett Star	May 12	20....
Ducky Dear Sidney Toler	Sept. 1	19....
Husband's Reunion Sennett Star	July 7	19....
Knockout Kisses Sennett Star	June 23	19....
Marriage Humor Harry Langdon	Aug. 18	19....

(THE RELEASE CHART--CONT'D)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Meet the Champ Eugene Pallette-Walter Catlett	Aug. 4	21
On Ice Harry Langdon	Oct. 6	21
One Awful Night Pallette-Catlett	Oct. 20	21
Pharmacist, The Sennett Star	Apr. 21	20
Roadhouse Queen Sennett Star	May 26	20
Sailors, Beware Catlett-Pallette	Sept. 15	18
See You Tonight Sennett Star	June 2	21
Sweet Cookie Sennett Star	Apr. 14	18
Three Little Swigs Leon Errol	Nov. 10	20
Uncle Jake Sennett Star	May 5	19

PRINCIPAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
Among the Maoris	Aug. 1	7
Circle of Life of the Ant Lion, The	Feb. 4,'34	7
City of Contrasts	Oct. 25	19
Cuba	Sept. 27	21
Enough Rope	July 1	9
Farmer's Friend, The	Oct. 4	7
From Cocoon to Butterfly	Jan. 7,'34	7
Her Majesty, the Queen Bee	Dec. 1	6
High Spots of New York	June 1	11
Insect Clowns	Mar. 4,'34	7
Kick-Off, The	Oct. 11	27
Masked Raider, The	Sept. 1	20
News Laugh No. 1	Oct. 18	7
News Laugh No. 2	Nov. 15	7
News Laugh No. 3	Dec. 17	7
News Laugh No. 4	Jan. 21,'34	7
News Laugh No. 5	Feb. 18,'34	7
News Laugh No. 6	Mar. 18,'34	7
Queen of the Underworld	Nov. 1	7
Voodoo	May 2	36
Walpi	May 15	9
Wonders of the Tropics	Dec. 13	32

RKO-RADIO PICTURES

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BLONDE and RED HEADS SERIES
Flirting in the Park	Aug. 18	20
CHARLIE CHAPLIN SERIES (Re-Issues)
The Count	Nov. 17
The Cure	Aug. 19	20
The Fireman	Aug. 28	21
CLARK & McCULLOUGH SERIES
Druggist's Dilemma, The	May 5	17
Fits in a Fiddle	Oct. 20	14½
Gay Nighties, The	June 23	20
Iceman's Ball, The	Aug. 13	20
Kicking the Crown Around	Aug. 4	19
Snug in a Jug	Nov. 2	20
CUBBY THE BEAR CARTOONS
Cubby's Picnic	Oct. 6	7
World Flight		7
GRIBBON-KENNEDY COMEDIES
How Comedies Are Born	Sept. 8	19
Shakespeare with Tin Ears	June 30	18½
Thrown Out of Joint	May 12	21
HEADLINER SERIES
No. 4—She Outdone Him	July 21
No. 5—Preferred List	Oct. 6	20
MASQUERS COMEDIES
Abroad in Old Kentucky	Sept. 9	20
Lost in the Limehouse	Apr. 7	20½
Moonshiner's Daughter, The	May 19	20
Stolen by Gypsies, or Beer and Bicycles	July 14	21
MICKEY McGUIRE SERIES
Mickey's Big Broadcast
Mickey's Disguise	July 28
Mickey's Race	Apr. 14	18
MR. AVERAGE MAN COMEDIES (EDGAR KENNEDY)
Good Housewrecking	June 16	20
Merchant of Menace, The	Apr. 21	19½
Quiet Please	Aug. 11	20½
What Fur?	Nov. 3	21
MUSICOMEDIES SERIES (Ruth Etting)
Knee Deep in Music	Sept. 22	21½
MY BRIDGE EXPERIENCES (Ely Culbertson)
Forced Response, A	Sept. 15	17
Murder at the Bridge Table	Sept. 1	21
Society Cheaters	Sept. 29
What Not to Do in Bridge	Oct. 13	18
Trans-Atlantic Bridge Tricks	Oct. 27	21
Three Knaves and a Queen	Nov. 10
PATHE NEWS Released twice a week
PATHE REVIEW Released once a month
SOGLOW'S "THE KING" CARTOONS
The Fatal Note	Sept. 29	7
Marching Along	Oct. 27	27
SPECIALS
So This Is Harris	Jan. 19,'34	28
TOM AND JERRY SERIES
Hook and Ladder Hokum	Apr. 28	7
In the Park	May 26	6
Phantom Rocket	July 21	1 rl.
Puzzled Pals		7

STATE RIGHTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
AMKINO
A Day in Moscow		26
Killing to Live		17
Kino Displays		10
AUDIO PRODUCTIONS
Butterfly		10
Seed Disnersal		10
BEVERLY HILLS PICTURES
Cocooo Capers
Flame of the Pacific		23
Terrors of the Amazon		29
CAESAR FILMS
Veneziana		1 rl.
FIRST DIVISION
Delhi		10
My Side of the Story David L. Hutton	Sept. 22	10
Strange Case of Tom Mooney	July 21	23
IDEAL
Canal Gypsies		9
Evolution		28
Goofy Games		8
Next War, The		26
We're on Our Way		9
INDUSTRIAL
The Silent Enemy		30
INVISIBLE
Snowman		10
MARY WARNER
Berlin: Its Sports and Recreation		8
Berlin: Rhythm of a Metropolis		8
Glimpses of Germany		8
Green Heart of Germany, The		20
Springtime on the Rhine		7
The Mosel		8
Trier, Oldest City in Germany		6
Vintagers' Festival in the Palatinate		10
Winter in the Bavarian Alps		1 rl.
Young Germany Goes Ski-ing		1 rl.
RESOLUTE
Itchy Scratchy		3 rls.

UNITED ARTISTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MICKEY MOUSE
9. The Mad Doctor	Jan. 20	6
10. Mickey's Pal Pluto	Feb. 10	7
11. The Mellerdrammer	Mar. 3	6
12. Ye Olden Days	Mar. 24	7
13. The Mail Pilot	June 5	7
14. Mickey's Mechanical Man	June 9	6
15. Mickey's Gala Premiere	June 30	7
16. Puppy Love	Aug. 14
17. Steeple Chase	Sept. 1	7
18. The Pet Shop	Sept. 22
(NEW SERIES)
1. Mickey and the Giant
2. Mickey Shanghaied
3. Playful Pluto
SILLY SYMPHONIES
6. Babes in the Wood	Dec. 2,'32	8
7. Santa's Workshop	Dec. 30,'32	7
8. Birds in the Spring	Dec. 30,'32	7
9. Father Noah's Ark	Jan. 27	8
10. Three Little Pigs	May 26	8
11. Old King Cole	July 27	8
12. Lullaby Land	Aug. 18	7
13. Pied Piper	Oct. 6	7
(NEW SERIES)
1. The China Shop
2. The Night Before Christmas

UNIVERSAL

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
GOOFYTONE NEWS
No. 1	Aug. 28	8
No. 2	Oct. 1	10
OSWALD CARTOONS
Beau Best	May 22	1 rl.
Chicken Reel	Dec. 18	1 rl.
Confidence	July 31	7
Five and Dime	Sept. 18	8
Going to Blazes	Apr. 10	1 rl.
Ham and Eggs	June 19	6
In the Zoo	Nov. 6	1 rl.
Merry Old Soul	Nov. 27	1 rl.
Ocean Hop (Reissue)	Apr. 24	1 rl.
Parking Space	Dec. 4	1 rl.
POOCH CARTOONS
Hot and Cold	Aug. 14	1 rl.
King Klunk	Sept. 4	9
Nature's Workshop	June 5	8
Pin Feathers	July 3	9
She Done Him Right	Oct. 9	7
RADIO STAR REELS
Morton Downey—No. 4 My Pal the Prince	Apr. 17	2 rls.
Beauty on Broadway Walter Winchell—No. 2	May 15	2 rls.
The Old Timers Louis Sobol No. 3		21
Peeping Tom Louis Sobol—No. 4	Sept. 20	17
SPECIALS
Your Technocracy and Mine	Apr. 15	1 rl.
World's Greatest Thrills	Aug. 18	19
STRANGE AS IT SEEMS SERIES
No. 28—Novelty	Apr. 17	8½
No. 29—Novelty	May 29	8
No. 30—Novelty	May 29	1 rl.
No. 31—Novelty	Aug. 7	9
No. 32—Novelty	Sept. 4	1 rl.
No. 33—Novelty	Oct. 9	9
No. 34—Novelty	Nov. 20	1 rl.
UNIVERSAL COMEDIES (1932-33 SEASON)
A Quiet Night Bert Roach	May 31	21
All at Sea (Mentone No. 2)	Sept. 20	21
Big Benefit, The (Mentone No. 3)	Oct. 11	21
Big Casino, The (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	2 rls.
Gleason's New Deal James Gleason	July 12	20
He Couldn't Take It Sterling Halloway	Dec. 20	2 rls.
His First Case Vince Barnett	June 14	20
Mister Mugg James Gleason	May 10	21
Mountain Music Louise Fazenda		2 rls.
Not the Marrying Kind Sterling Halloway	Nov. 22	2 rls.
On the Air and Off (Mentone No. 1)	Sept. 6	19
Open Sesame Henry Armetta	Oct. 25	20
Out of Gas Louise Fazenda	Nov. 8	2 rls.
Pie for Two James Gleason	Dec. 13	2 rls.
Pick Me Up Marie Prevost	Apr. 5	19
Room Mates Frank Albertson	Apr. 19	20
Stung Again Louise Fazenda	Oct. 18	18
Supper at Six (Mentone No. 4)	Nov. 29	2 rls.
Warren Doane Brevity	Aug. 9	19
Where's Elmer? Vince Barnett		2 rls.

VITAPHONE SHORTS

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
BIG V COMEDIES
No. 11—How've You Been? Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle	June 24
No. 12—An Idle Roomer Jack Haley		20
No. 13—Nothing But the Tooth Jack Haley	Aug. 19	19
BIG V COMEDIES (New Series)
No. 1—Close Relations Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 2—Salt Water Daffy Jack Haley		21
No. 3—Gobs of Fun George Givot-Charles Judels
No. 4—Turkey in the Raw Gus Shy		20
No. 5—Tomalio Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 6—In the Dough Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle
No. 7—How D'Ya Like That? George Givot-Charles Judels		18
BROADWAY BREVITIES
No. 8—Sky Symphony Stoopnagle & Budd	June 3
No. 9—Poor Little Rich Boy Phil Baker	Dec. 24,'32	18
No. 10—Hey, Hey, Westerner Technicolor Musical	Dec. 31,'32	17
No. 11—That Goes Double Russ Columbo	July 29
No. 12—Bygones Ruth Etting	Jan. 14	18
No. 13—Pleasure Island Technicolor Musical	Feb. 25	18
No. 14—Yours Sincerely Lanny Ross	Mar. 11	19
No. 15—Speaking of Operations Pick & Pat	Jan. 28	18
No. 16—Northern Exposure Technicolor Musical	Apr. 8	18
No. 17—Nothing Ever Happens Musical	Mar. 25	18
No. 18—World's Champ Jack Dempsey	July 11
No. 19—The Way of All Freshmen Hal Leroy-Mitzi Mayfair	Apr. 22
No. 20—Along Came Ruth Ruth Etting	May 6
No. 21—Fifi V. Segal-Chas. Judels	May 20	21
No. 22—The Double-Crossing of Columbus Charles Judels	July 15	19
No. 23—Pie a la Mode Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	June 19
No. 24—Crashing the Gate Ruth Etting-Roy Atwell	July 1
No. 25—20,000 Cheers for the Chain Gang Jerry Bergen-The Rollickers-Picken Sisters	Aug. 12	19
No. 26—The "No" Man Hugh O'Connell-Anne Greenway	Aug. 26	19
BROADWAY BREVITIES (New Series)
No. 1—Rufus Jones for President Ethel Waters		20
No. 2—Use Your Imagination Hal LeRoy-Mitzi Mayfair		18
No. 3—Paul Revere, Jr. Gus Shy-Janet Reade		21
No. 4—Operator's Opera Donald Novis-Dawn O'Day-Eton Boys		21
No. 5—Seasoned Greetings Lita Grey Chaplin		20
No. 6—Yeast Is Yeast Tom Patricola
HOW TO BREAK 90 BOBBY JONES
No. 1—The Grip	May 15	9
No. 2—Position and Back Swing	June 10
No. 3—Hip Action	June 24
No. 4—Down Swing	July 8
No. 5—Impact	July 15
No. 6—Fine Points	Aug. 5	10
LOONEY TUNES
No. 1—Ride Him, Bosko		7
No. 2—Bosko the Drawback		7
No. 3—Bosko's Dizzy Date		7
No. 4—Bosko's Woodland Daze		7
No. 5—Bosko in Dutch		7
No. 6—Bosko in Person		7
No. 7—Bosko the Speed King
No. 8—Bosko's Knight Mare
No. 9—Bosko the Sheep-Herder		8
No. 10—Beau Bosko		7
No. 11—Bosko's Mechanical Man
No. 12—Bosko the Musketeer		7
No. 13—Bosko's Picture Show
LOONEY TUNES (New Series)
No. 1—Buddy's Day Out
No. 2—Buddy's Beer Garden
MELODY MASTERS
No. 1—Music to My Ears Jack Denny and Band		10
No. 2—Municipal Band Wagon		10
No. 3—Smash Your Baggage Small's Paradise Band		19
No. 4—The Lease Breakers Aunt Jemima		9
No. 5—The Yacht Party Roger Wolfe Kahn's Band		9
No. 6—Hot Competition The Continentals-Barris-Whiteman-Ted Husing		10
No. 7—Abe Lyman and Band		10
No. 8—"How's Tricks?" Jean Sargent-George Owen and Gang
No. 9—That's the Spirit Noble Sissle and Band		10
No. 10—The Alma Martyr Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians		9
No. 11—The Name Is Familiar Leon Belasco and Band
No. 12—The Audition Hannah Williams-Phil Emerton's Band		20
No. 13—A Castilian Garden Señor Del Pozo's Marimba Orchestra		9
MELODY MASTERS (New Series)
No. 1—Vincent Lopez and Orchestra
No. 2—Hot from Petrograd Dave Apollon and Orchestra		10
No. 3—Barber Shop Blues Claude Hopkins and Band		9
No. 4—Borrah Minnevitch and His Harmonica Rascals
No. 5—Rubinoff and Band		10
No. 6—Eddie Duchin and Band
No. 7—Mills Blue Rhythm Band
No. 8—Jack Denny and Band
MERRY MELODIES
No. 1—You're Too Careless with Your Kisses		8
No. 2—I Wish I Had Wings		7
No. 3—A Great Big Bunch of You		7
No. 4—Three's a Crowd		7
No. 5—Shanty Where Santa Claus Lives		7
No. 6—One Step Ahead of My Shadow		7
No. 7—Young and Healthy		7
No. 8—The Organ Grinder		7
No. 9—Wake Up the Gypsy in Me		7
No. 10—I Like Mountain Music		7
No. 11—Shuffle Off to Buffalo		7
No. 12—The Dish Ran Away with the Spoon		7
No. 13—We're in the Money		7
MERRY MELODIES (New Series)
No. 1—Torch Song
PEPPER POT
No. 1—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 1
No. 2—Nickelette
No. 3—Contact
No. 4—If I'm Elected
No. 5—King Salmon
No. 6—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 2
No. 7—Babe O' Mine
No. 8—Dangerous Occupations
No. 9—Out of the Past
No. 10—Love Thy Neighbor
No. 11—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 3
No. 12—A Whale of a Yarn
No. 13—Africa Speaks—English
No. 14—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 4
No. 15—Sea Devils
No. 16—Parades of Yesterday
No. 17—Breakwater
No. 18—Little White Lies
No. 19—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 5
No. 20—You're Killing Me
No. 21—Inklings
No. 22—R'bling Round Radio Row No. 6
No. 23—Around the World in 8 Minutes
No. 24—Fishermen's Holiday
No. 25—Stuck, Stuck, Stucco
No. 26—Seeing Samoa
PEPPER POT (New Series)
No. 1—Walter Donaldson		10
No. 2—Little Miss Mischief
No. 3—Rock-A-Bye-Bye, with Dr. Rockwell
No. 4—Notre Dame Glee Club
No. 5—Admission 5c		10
No. 6—Easy Aces
No. 7—Song Hits, with Roy Turk
No. 8—Harry Warren
No. 9—Laughs in the Law
No. 10—Movie Memories
SPORT THRILLS SERIES
TED HUSING
No. 1—
No. 2—
No. 3—
No. 4—Old Time Sport Thrills
No. 5—
No. 6—
TECHNICOLOR MUSICALS
No. 1—'Tis Spring		20
No. 2—Business Is a Pleasure
No. 3—Girl Trouble
No. 4—Morocco Nights
WORLD ADVENTURES
E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Dancing Around the World		1 rl.
No. 2—Transportations of the World		1 rl.
No. 3—An Oriental Cocktail		10
No. 4—Curious Customs of the World		1 rl.
No. 5—From Bethlehem to Jerusalem		10
No. 6—High Spots of the Far East		10
No. 7—Main Streets		10
No. 8—Beauty Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 9—Workers of the World		1 rl.
No. 10—Wonder Spots of the World		1 rl.
No. 11—Costumes of the World		1 rl.
No. 12—Strange Ceremonies		10
No. 13—Top of the World		10
MUSICAL WORLD JOURNEYS
E. M. NEWMAN
No. 1—Exploring the Pacific		1 rl.
No. 2—Samoan Memories		1 rl.
No. 3—Heart of Paris		1 rl.
No. 4—Jerusalem, the Holy City		1 rl.

SERIALS

(EACH SERIAL 12 EPISODES OF 2 RLS.)

Title	Rel. Date	Min.
MASCOT
Fighting with Kit Carson Johnny Mack Brown-Noah Beery	July 8	20 (each)
Three Musketeers, The John Wayne-Ruth Hall	Apr. 7
Whispering Shadow Bela Lugosi-Karl Dane-Malcolm MacGregor	Jan. 10
Wolf Dog, The Rin Tin Tin, Jr.-Frankie Darro-Boots Mallory	Sept. 30
PRINCIPAL
Tarzan, the Fearless Buster Crabbe	Aug. 11	20 (each)
UNIVERSAL
Clancy of the Mounted Tom Tyler-Jacqueline Wells	Feb. 27	20 (each)
Gordon of Ghost City Buck Jones-Madge Bellamy	Aug. 14	20 (each)
Perils of Pauline Evelyn Knapp-Robert Allen	Nov. 6	20 (each)
Phantom of the Air Tom Tyler-Gloria Shea	May 22
Pirate Treasure Richard Talmadge-Lucille Lund

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

the great national medium for showmen

Ten cents per word, money-order or check with copy. Count initials, box number and address. Minimum insertion, $1. Four insertions for the price of three. Contract rates on application. No borders or cuts. Forms close Mondays at 5 P.M. Publisher reserves right to reject any copy. Address correspondence, copy and checks to MOTION PICTURE HERALD, Classified Dept., 1790 Broadway, New York City

USED EQUIPMENT

BIG SELECTION IN USED VENEERED AND upholstered theatre chairs at bargain prices. Replacement parts for all makes of chairs. Write ILLINOIS THEATRE EQUIPMENT CO., 1024 South Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

UNUSUAL BARGAINS IN USED OPERA Chairs, Sound Equipment, Moving Picture Machines, Screens, Spotlights, Stereopticons, etc. Projection Machines Repaired. Send for catalogue H. MOVIE SUPPLY COMPANY, 844 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

700 UPHOLSTERED CHAIRS LIKE NEW, cheap. PICTURE THEATRE SEATING, 722 Springfield Ave., Newark, N. J.

ANOTHER SENSATIONAL SCOOP: TWO REbuilt Simplex projectors with reflector lamps and rectifiers complete. Fully guaranteed. Like new. Investigate this tremendous bargain. MONARCH THEATRE SUPPLY CO., Memphis, Tenn.

TWO POWERS PROJECTORS WITH SOUND heads and amplifier. W. H. HARDMAN, Frankfort, Kans.

N.R.A. HELPED US -LOWER PRICES — REflector arcs, amplifiers, generators, chairs, rectifiers, anything. Ask for list. Trades taken. Tremendous savings. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

WANTED TO BUY

GOLD STANDARD CASH PRICES FOR ANY theatre equipment. Trades made. POSTOFFICE BOX 2042, DeSoto Station, Memphis, Tenn.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

LEARN MODERN THEATRE MANAGEMENT. Approved home-study training. Free Catalog. THEATRE MANAGERS INSTITUTE, 315 Washington St., Elmira, New York.

REPAIR SERVICE

REPLACEMENT PARTS SPECIALS — FILM tension springs 1797 for RCA PG13, PG30 soundheads, models 4PS16A2 and 4PS14B2. Regularly $1.20, one week only, 60c each. Send for catalog. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

NEW EQUIPMENT

S. O. S. NO ICEBERG—COLD CASH BUYS at your own price—sound screens, acoustical felt, lenses, exciter lamps, photo cells, carbons, reels, tickets, rewinds, cabinets, unheard of values. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

FIX UP YOUR MARQUEE, OPAL LETTERS TO fit in metal holders 10-inch letters. 80c each. Other sizes proportionately priced. CROWN, 311 West 44th St., New York.

RUSH IS ON — RCA PHOTOPHONE WIDE Range soundheads—brand new, entirely complete, Powers or Simplex, original cost $1,200.00, our price, $295.00. Trade your obsolete, worn out soundheads now. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

POSTER EXCHANGES

GOOD, CLEAN USED ADVERTISING CHEAP. Liberal credits. Highest cash prices paid for paper on current releases. ALABAMA POSTER EXCHANGE, 528 North 18th St., Birmingham, Ala.

EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE

IF YOU WANT TO REPLACE ANY TYPE OF equipment with brand new material we will be glad to make an allowance on your old equipment and a better price on new equipment. Let us know what you need and what you want to exchange and we will send complete details on our proposition. EQUIPMENT EXCHANGE, c/o MOTION PICTURE HERALD, 1790 Broadway, New York City.

TECHNICAL BOOKS

"RICHARDSON'S HAND BOOKS OF PROJECtion" in three volumes. Universally accredited as the best and most practical. Aaron Nadell's "Projection Sound Pictures." Complete information on sound equipment. Both text books complete for $12.80. QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP, 1790 Broadway, New York.

SCREEN RESURFACING

WE RESURFACE YOUR OLD SCREEN AND make it like new. BURDICK'S RE-NU SCREEN SURFACE CO., 823 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

THEATRES

FOR SALE—THEATRE—WELL LOCATED TOWN 6,000—low overhead—paying. Other interest. BOX 344, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

GENERAL EQUIPMENT

FUN TO BE FOOLED—BUT WHY NOT GET wise? Wide Fidelity sound, $179.70 up complete; soundheads, $49.50 up; single dial control amplifiers, $50.00 up. S. O. S. CORP., 1600 Broadway, New York.

MANUFACTURERS' OVERSTOCK REFLECTOR arcs—brand new low intensity, hylow types. BOX 343, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

POSITIONS WANTED

SOUND PROJECTIONIST—14 YEARS' EXPERIence—can operate any equipment—non-union—will go anywhere. BOX 140-A, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

MANAGER THOROUGHLY EXPERIENCED IN circuit or independent theatre operations, seeks connection where merit will be recognized. Experienced in booking, buying films, personnel, publicity. Now employed. Highest endorsements. BOX 339, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

PROJECTIONIST. REPAIR AND SERVICE MAN licensed—16 years' experience. Go anywhere. H. BAUGHN, 304 Story St., Boone, Iowa.

THEATRE MANAGER, SIX YEARS' EXPERIence—go anywhere. A-1 references. T. R. KING, 1325 Cotton Ave., N.E., Birmingham, Ala.

SOUND PROJECTIONIST: 5 YEARS' EXPERIence—age 25, excellent references. Always willing to cooperate in everything for the theatre's interest. Salary $25.00 a week. Go anywhere. BOX 342, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

EXPERIENCED SOUND PROJECTIONIST AND electrician. References. Go anywhere. GERALD SCHUSTER, 440 Lafayette, Warsaw, Ill.

THEATRES WANTED

PAYING THEATRE FIVE TO FIFTEEN thousand town. Advise seating capacity and opposition. HERMAN L. ART, 705 Sixth St., N. W., Canton, Ohio.

SEEKING HOUSE, NEW YORK DISTRICT. BOX 341, MOTION PICTURE HERALD.

SMALL THEATRE WANTED ON LEASE, preferably northern New York, Vermont. KAPLAN, 5444 Grovehill Place, Montreal, Canada.

ACTS AND PLAYS

ACTS, SKETCHES, PARODIES, SHOWS WRITTEN. WEISS, 1831 Bathgate Ave., Bronx.

In Almost Any

FEATURE PICTURE

. . . you are now likely to find sequences demonstrating that ingenious technical device, the composite shot. The foundation for those sequences is most likely to be Eastman Background Negative. Because of its amazingly fine grain, this special new film has been found ideally suited to the "shooting" of backgrounds that are to be projected and rephotographed. Eastman Kodak Company. (J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors, New York, Chicago, Hollywood.)

EASTMAN

Background Negative

SIGNS OF GOOD TIMES
WHO'S AFRAID OF
TAKE A CHANCE
CRADLE SONG
DUCK SOUP
Design for Living
ALL OF ME
ALICE IN WONDERLAND
SITTING PRETTY GIRLS A BOAT
TOO MUCH HARMONY
PARAMOUNT PICTURES
GIRL WITHOUT A ROOM
Paramount Pictures

©CIB 207670

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Better Theatres

WITH WHICH IS COMBINED "THE SHOWMAN"

NOVEMBER 18, 1933

Elements of Advertising Layout

Modernizing the Interior With Light

The Goal in Theatre Management

In 2 Sections — Section 2

AROUND THE WORLD

WITH

Simplex

TRADE MARK REG'D

THE INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR

One of a Series of Advertisments
Showing Leading Theatres
Throughout the World Equipped with

Simplex
PROJECTORS

THE METRO
JOHANNESBURG, AFRICA

NRA WE DO OUR PART

INTERNATIONAL PROJECTOR CORPORATION
88-96 GOLD STREET NEW YORK N.Y.U.S.A.

NRA WE DO OUR PART

Comfort IN THE SPOTLIGHT

NO one thing you can do for your box office receipts can have a more immediate and permanent effect than reseating with comfort—putting COMFORT in the spotlight. Of course, folks come in to see your program; but they prefer to see it in an atmosphere of luxury and refinement where they can rest, relax, completely forget themselves and concentrate their interest on the entertainment offered.

With an increase in the nation's leisure hours and business well on the way to better days, it's just good management to prepare for a bigger share of the entertainment dollars to be spent in your locality.

Call in a Heywood-Wakefield seating engineer for his advice and suggestions on reseating and increasing seating capacity. He will be glad to be helpful, and will not place you under obligation in the least.

Heywood-Wakefield

Theatre Seating

SALES OFFICES: Baltimore, Md.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Los Angeles, Calif.; New York, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Cleveland, Ohio; Richmond, Va.; Tampa, Fla.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Savannah, Ga.; Raleigh, N. C.; Houston, Texas; St. Louis, Mo.; Birmingham, Ala.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Indianapolis, Ind.; New Orleans, La.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; San Francisco, Calif.; Seattle, Wash.; Chicago, Ill.; Spokane, Wash.; Portland, Ore.

Better Theatres

November 18, 1933

Vol. 113, No. 8

A section of Motion Picture Herald devoted to the operation . . . design . . . maintenance . . . and equipment of the motion picture theatre

GEORGE SCHUTZ, Editor — C. B. O'NEILL, Advertising Manager — RAY GALLO, Eastern Advertising Manager

GENERAL FEATURES

Constructing Theatre Advertising: By George Schutz 6
Modernizing the Interior With Light: By Francis M. Falge 7
The Goal of Theatre Management: By J. T. Knight, Jr. 9
An 800-Seat Theatre Costing $53,000 11
Late Law Involving the Theatre: By Leo T. Parker 13

DEPARTMENTS

Modern Projection 15
Eye Fatigue from the Motion Picture: What Causes It? 15
F. H. Richardson's Comment 17
Planning the Theatre 26
New Theatre Projects 31

MISCELLANEOUS

Editorials 5
How to Keep an Expense Budget: By William F. Morris 10
Trade Fixtures in Leases: By M. Marvin Berger 14
Equipment Affairs: Equipment News and Comment 30
Index to Advertisers 32
Better Theatres Catalog Bureau 33

QUIGLEY PUBLISHING COMPANY, 1790 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

MARTIN QUIGLEY, Publisher and Editor-in-Chief — COLVIN W. BROWN, Vice-Pres. and Gen. Mgr.

CHICAGO: 407 South Dearborn Street — HOLLYWOOD: Pacific States Life Bldg.

LONDON: 41 Redhill Drive, Edgware

CABLE ADDRESS: Quigpubco — NEW YORK TEL.: CIrcle 7-3100

Better Theatres (with which is incorporated The Showman) is published every fourth week as Section Two of Motion Picture Herald: Terry Ramsaye, editor. Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations. All editorial and general business correspondence should be addressed to the New York office. All contents copyrighted 1933 by Quigley Publishing Company and except for properly accredited quotations, nothing appearing herein may be reproduced without written permission. Every precaution is taken to ensure the safety of unsolicited manuscripts and photographs submitted, but the publishers herewith deny all responsibility for them in case of mutilation or loss. Manager Chicago office, E. S. Clifford. Manager Hollywood Bureau, Victor M. Shapiro. London representative: W. H. Mooring. Other Quigley Publications: Motion Picture Daily, The Motion Picture Almanac (published annually) and The Chicagoan.

Better Theatres
November 18, 1933

Observations

¶ More evidence than that brought forward by Mr. Ben Schlanger in the October 21st issue, is available to show that an active interest has begun, and is increasing, in the conveniently located theatre designed to meet precisely the technical requirements of the motion picture, and to be operated at an admission price low enough to encourage in the public the cinema-going habit.

This interest began to be noticeable a year or so ago. Naturally the depression checked it. We expected that better times would allow it to develop. And it has. For several months this publication has been receiving a growing number of inquiries from various sections of the country, from both present and prospective exhibitors, seeking information concerning the design, equipment and operating economics of such houses, seating about 600.

We think this interest is a healthy sign for the motion picture. It represents the faith and the energy necessary to the development of any industry. And if it is the result of a decision as to what is the real place of the motion picture in our social scheme, then it represents at least a glimmer of light in a thickening fog. Some day, of course, we are going to have a pretty definite idea of what the motion picture is and why it is. Then we shall know better how and where to build its theatre.

¶ On the other hand, we have the Colosseum in Johannesburg. . . . To our desk the other day came a handsome and a rather expensive brochure of many pages, describing this new "wonder theatre" in "the Miracle City" of South Africa. It has been a long time since we in this part of the world have gone in for announcements of theatre openings quite on the same scale.

We dare say that the inaugural ceremonies were well attuned to their time and place, and that the elaborate tribute paid the architecture and facilities of the Colosseum is amply supported in fact. But instead of seeing here demonstrated the present, we are reminded of the past. "An acre of seats in a palace of dreams." And we could read then, as we can read now concerning the Colosseum just built in Johannesburg, South Africa: "Despite the great breadth of the auditorium nobody has a distorted view of the screen. . . . The sky is overhead . . . there are twinkling stars in it." Extreme angle of vision and projection angle, both enormous. To say nothing of the size of the overhead!

Further, thinking of the past, we venture the assertion that such theatres serve their purpose. With the sheer might of mere splendor the stigma of the "nickel show" is blotted out. But in this country, we trust, that purpose has been served.

¶ Theatre reopenings continue their upward trend. Like September, October gave the edge to relighted houses over those which went dark. According to reports to the Film Boards of Trade, 22 theatres reopened in Chicago, while only five closed. In Kansas City, ten reopened as three closed. Philadelphia area, 21 openings against three closings. Indianapolis, 16 openings to four closings. These are typical of the list. It should be further remembered that reports of closings do not take into consideration the fact that some houses are being darkened temporarily for extensive reconditioning and therefore by no means represent permanent closings.

¶ Air conditioning is even more important to the motion picture theatre than we thought it was, and that was plenty. According to a statement quoted in an article on eye fatigue in this issue, improper air in the theatre may contribute to that physical condition which manifests itself in visual fatigue and is erroneously blamed on the motion picture itself. And in Mr. Volkmann's discussion in the October 21st issue, the effect of dry air on the higher sound frequencies was described.

Now Dr. Vern O. Knudsen of the University of California, who has presented the results of some of his acoustic researches in BETTER THEATRES, announces that according to his measurements, "in large auditoriums, the reverberation of the high frequencies components of speech and music is affected more by the condition of the air in the room than it is by the nature of the materials which form the boundaries of the room."

That is a remarkable assertion, and in view of its source, we are disposed to accept it as entirely true. Proper air conditioning therefore seems to be vital to the full realization of that advancement in the art of the motion picture represented by the recent extension, particularly upward, of the frequency band in both production and reproduction.—G. S.

CONSTRUCTING THEATRE ADVERTISING

Elements of Layout

The main physical materials out of which an advertisement is built, discussed in the fourth article of a series

By GEORGE SCHUTZ

THE AVERAGE person in active charge of the operation of an individual theatre is in a position somewhat different from the proprietor of an establishment in most other lines of business. In the selling of motion picture entertainment, the manufacturer endeavors to prepare the advertising for the retailer as well as for himself. The theatre executive has recourse to the producer-distributor's press book.

The press book has been of great service in theatre selling—and it has not been without a certain objectionable influence. The evils, to the extent they have existed, have proceeded precisely from those resources which give such a service its great value. That is to say that because the producer, knowing well in advance of release the principal general selling points of his product, can prepare advertising for possible use by a great many theatres, he is enabled to employ highly trained experts in the several crafts involved in advertising. But inevitably this is likely to result in a habit of taking the easiest way—casual use of press book material—when, as it occasionally happens, an original advertisement, perhaps merely adapting a press book illustration, might meet local conditions more forcefully.

In general it is doubtless safe to regard the press book as a first source, of the complete advertisement, and of ideas for an original one, with the chances being that unless the manager has an aptitude for advertising, he will not be able, as a rule, to improve upon the press book copy and layouts. He is likely to find original efforts advised only (a) when a playdate coincides with a local occasion (such as a celebration), the presence of an institution of some special character (such as a college), or similar factors peculiar to the local community; and (b) when competition, either more or less continually or occasionally, demands outstanding distinction in advertising not provided for, in the local sense, by the press books. Even in these situations the illustrative matter in the press books (readily available from the exchange in mat form) can commonly be adapted to local needs, with the copy and the arrangement of the type matter following the requirements of the local problem.

These considerations obviously make a discussion of this kind necessarily different from one on advertising layout in general. And because advertising is only one of many and varied functions of theatre management, the suggestions offered are properly to be confined to that minimum directly applicable to the theatre manager's job. These suggestions will be conveyed in three ways: (1) Discussion of the elements of advertising typography, (2) steps in building advertisements (to be shown principally by graphic examples), and (3) discussion of the selection of type and type arrangements according to the style and message of the copy. This article is devoted to the first division.

ARRANGING FOR THE MESSAGE

AS INDICATED at the beginning of this series, the purpose of the layout, just like that of the copy itself, is to sell. Not merely to look pretty, but to sell. Therefore all the elements of the layout depend initially on the message you wish to get across to your own prospective patrons. This may seem a truism, and it probably is. However, many a theatre advertisement has shown precious little relationship between its form and its message.

No pretty lettering, no ornamental gewgaws, no trick type arrangements, not even illustrations, should be allowed to get in the way of the clear, readily readable statement of what you have to say. In its main requirements, the message should be adjusted to the space available in its most readable patterns, with the catchlines where they will attract the eye, and with the rest of the copy leading the eye in as natural a manner as possible from beginning to end.

Too often the copy is arranged in disjointed pieces, some here, some there, so that the eye has to stop and begin all over again somewhere else.

With the copy sketched in substantially in the way the type should flow, the other elements may then be built in. In theatre advertising these other elements consist principally in an illustration or two, the name of the theatre, a block of type stating the performance hours and prices, and a border.

Perhaps as still another element should be considered white space. All printed matter is visible and readable because of its contrast with the white space around it. White space therefore is really a typographical element, too, and should not be regarded as so much waste merely because it is not occupied by ink.

Don't Let Your Daughter Repeat This Girl's Mistake!
Does she know, do you realize the shocking truth about beauty contests and the unlucky girls who win them?
She Wanted a Millionaire
JOAN BENNETT
SPENCER TRACY
FOX MAJESTIC

An advertisement which was submitted for criticism in an advertising class conducted by the New York Times. A student's opinion was that the simplicity of treatment was commendable, particular mention being made of the white space. Mr. Gordon Aymar, in charge, stated that he did not care for the use of the oval, suggesting some other device. However, he said that "considering the space . . . and the message they had to get across, they have certainly placed their elements of interest in a way that will get a reading."

SELECTION OF ART MATERIAL

NOT ALL theatre advertisements require illustrations. But most of them are improved by them. It depends upon the message and to whom it is directed.

The average theatre manager's position with respect to illustrative matter is more or less rigidly influenced by his advertising equipment. The press book is usually his only economical source. Fortunately it is a good source. Similar advertising services have been tried in other fields with little or no success. Peculiarities of the motion picture business, however, have made this type of service well adapted to the common needs of the retailer of motion pictures, and for the most part press book art is well done.

FACTORS IN SELECTION

In selecting illustrations from the press book for an advertisement otherwise

(Continued on page 28)

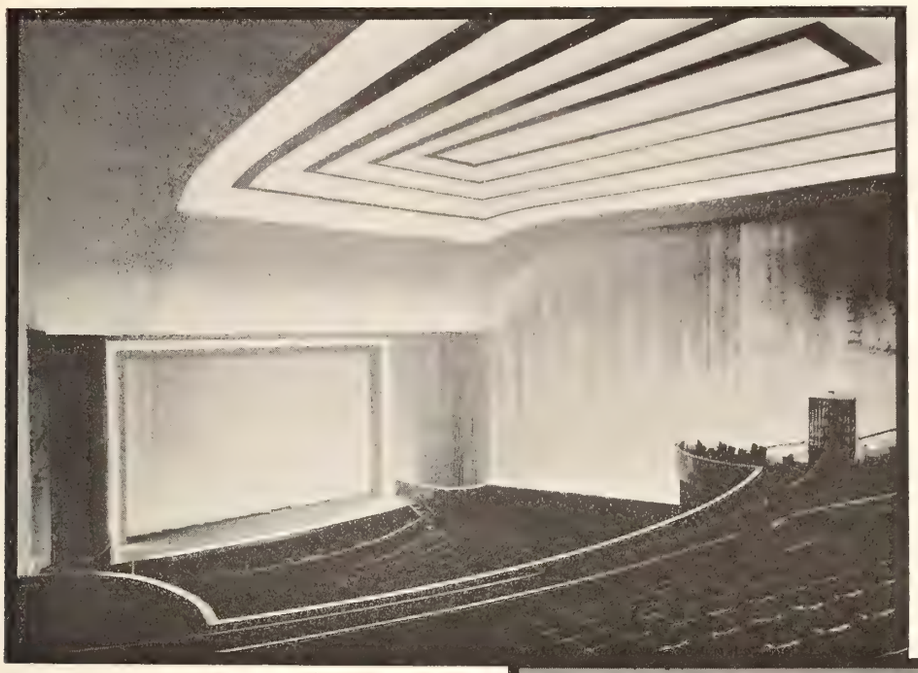
MODERNIZING THE INTERIOR WITH LIGHT



Offering a group of practical suggestions for enlivening the decorative effect very economically

By FRANCIS M. FALGE

THERE ARE encouraging reports of theatre reopenings throughout the country. In many cases these theatres have been closed for some time and have perhaps had little or no maintenance during the past four or five years. In general, they are examples of a past era, heavily and ornately decorated and with relatively little lighting of real value.

Today, conditions have changed. Modernization is the order of the day, the public appetite for the modern having been greatly stimulated by Chicago's Century of Progress. Then, too, the motion picture is "on its own" today, without the support of stage shows, organs—or other incidentals.

Light in theatres has in too many cases consisted in a series of spots attracting attention to themselves rather than enhancing what the theatre sells. There have been annoying direct views of lamps, or too-bright reflections. Modern lighting offers the opportunity of enhancing the show simply and inexpensively. It can make small theatres seem larger and less crowded. It can be made temporary for trial or for use until a permanent installation can be afforded.

Some of the elements suggested for modernizing the theatre exterior (Better Theatres, September 23, 1933) may also be used to advantage for interiors. Instead of lettering, however, decorative patterns in silhouette or designs in glass provide many interesting effects. In many cases the elements are useful as lighting units, rather than merely as backgrounds for decoration.

RECESSES

Recesses covered with diffusing material offer many possibilities for the treatment of the theatre interior. They may be smoothly luminous, or the intensity may be graded from top to bottom, from side to side, etc., as desired.

Relatively few lamps are needed where

Figure 1 (upper view): The Litchburg theatre in Berlin, lighted in the modern spirit. Troughs concealing lamps on fairly wide centers are silhouetted against the illuminated recessed ceiling of the auditorium.

Figure 2 (left): One of the silhouette side wall lighting elements used in the Radio City theatres as part of the decoration.

Figure 3 (below): The adaptability of colored shadow effects demonstrated by an interesting ceiling treatment. A stencil pattern placed over clear light sources of various colors projects changeable designs.

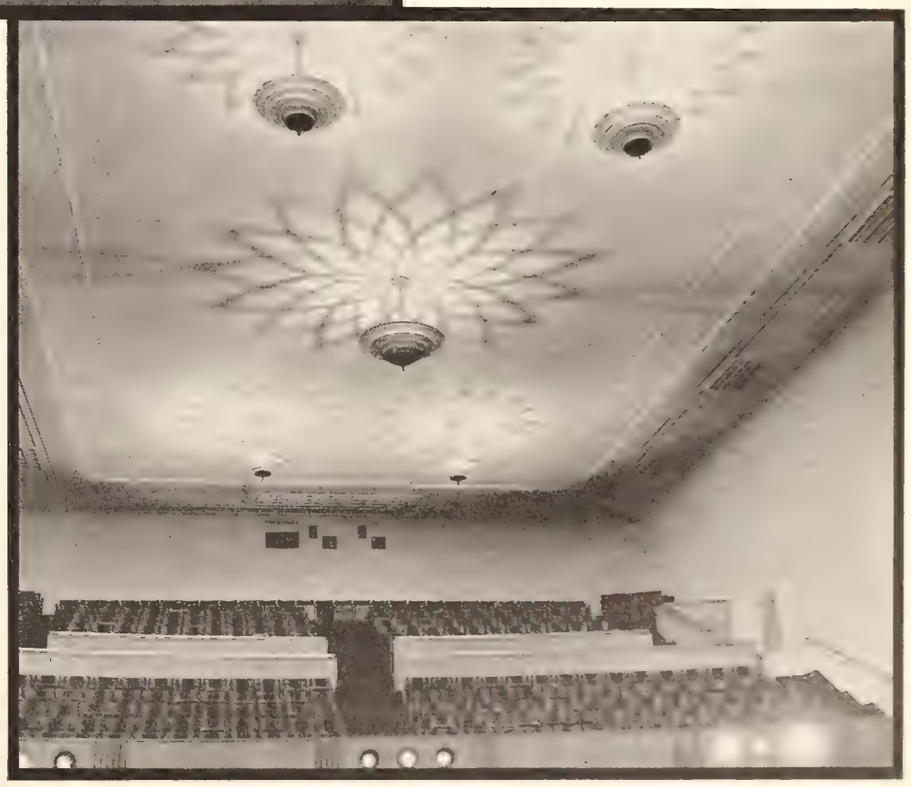


Figure 4 (above): A temporary side wall luminaire suggesting the possibilities of color and light. Such a unit can be well part of the display artist's tricks for special occasions.

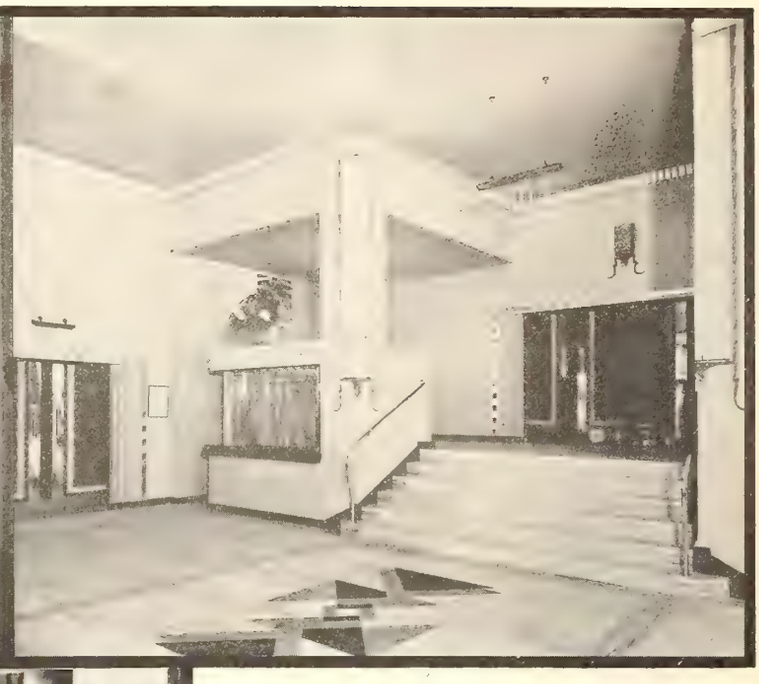

Figure 6 (above): The lobby of the Sheen theatre in London, which exhibits a rich yet restrained feeling. Luminous glass-faced elements and modern decoration are combined.

ample depth is available, and color is readily provided by means of colored lamps or hoods. For permanence, diffusing glass is preferable, but many inexpensive temporary decorations may be made by using lacquered muslin, sign cloth, tracing paper, or one of the composition materials. Flashed-opal glass provides for adequate diffusion as well as transmitting a large portion of the light, but where sparkle and special lighted patterns are desired there are many other configurated and diffusing glasses that are useful.

SILHOUETTES

Silhouettes are featured elements in many modern conceptions. They are so easy to accomplish, are relatively inexpensive and the lamps are readily accessible. For best effect the brightest area should be immediately behind the silhouetted element, therefore lamps should be placed immediately behind it where possible. Simple elements, circles, squares and cutout figures of all kinds are appropriate. The light may be confined to a recess where this is feasible, or it may be reflected from a flat surface, using care to baffle the lamp so as to protect it from direct view from the sides.

TROUGH LIGHTING

The auditorium shown in Figure 1 illustrates a ceiling treatment made up of inverted troughs that carry the lamps. In this case, lamps of a particular color may be twice as far apart as the trough is from the reflecting surface. The trough should be painted white inside and the reflecting surface should be of light tone in order to reflect as much light as possible. This type of treatment has been widely used in Europe and is simple, adaptable and modern in spirit.

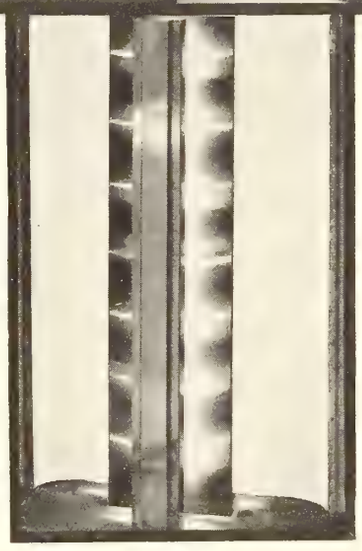

Figure 5: An element of brushed stainless steel to produce a novel lighting effect. Lamps are concealed in the narrow element in front, which appears in silhouette against the flat stainless steel background. The brushed stainless steel elongates the source of light into strips or bands, depending upon the character of the source. An added multiple plane effect is obtained by silhouetting the front elements against a colorful front elements against color.

It is by no means necessary that this method be used on as large a scale as in the theatre shown in Figure 1. It is equally applicable to small elements, and especially useful for side wall treatment and for foyers and rest rooms. Figure 2 illustrates a small element of this type.

LUMINOUS COVES

Many old theatres have ceiling recesses or coves which may or may not have been lighted. A most interesting modern treatment is to suspend a fixture or cutout in the center of the opening concealing the lamps flush with the ceiling. The cove then appears completely luminous and the fixture or cutout appears in silhouette, often a more attractive effect than if the cove were lighted at the edges.

HOLIDAY EFFECTS

Silhouette treatments also lend themselves admirably to temporary effects. Cutout figures for holiday effects, such as cats, witches, moons, etc., for Halloween, and stars, bells, poinsettias, candles, etc., for Christmas are but a few of the possibilities. Appropriate cutout figures and designs may be made by the displayman and used to tie in with special features.

A simple way of providing for these occasions would be to arrange side wall recesses equipped with a lamp or lamps at the center, and a means for fastening cutouts. Cutouts of pressed wood or other material could then be installed for these special occasions, and a permanent cutout, such as a circle or square, could be used at other times.

DIRECTIONAL SIGNS

To carry out the modern note, even the exit, aisle marker and directional signs can be altered. This may be easily accomplished by concealing a lamp behind an opaque strip, allowing the light to project against a light-colored background (which may be a projecting plaque, or the wall itself). Letters or designs placed above or below this strip will present an effective silhouette.

COLOR PATTERNS

A more spectacular note may be struck by projecting color patterns, as in Figures 3 and 4. This may be accomplished by a method similar to the Colorama, or more simply by the use of stencil cutouts over a black box in which is placed one or more clear or colored lamps. With two or more

(Continued on page 29)

THE GOAL OF THEATRE MANAGEMENT

By J. T. KNIGHT, Jr.

What the new conditions demand from the individual manager, and what they offer him—the seventh article of a series

THE OPERATION and management of motion picture theatres by the larger producing companies has not yet reached the level of perfection attained by the producing companies or the distributing companies themselves. Yet the theatres so operated have to a great extent, due to their big brothers, the producing and distributing companies, dominated the field of motion picture exhibition. This domination has been for better or worse, with opinion pretty well divided.

The reason for this lagging behind by the theatre operation and management function is due primarily to the fact that pictures first must be produced, and, secondly, distributed before they can be exhibited. The theatre function, therefore, was the third and last of these three functions to be born—it is the youngest, and is of such a physical makeup that it is totally and entirely dependent upon the two older functions—production and distribution.

We sell in the theatre a product or a commodity, the supply of which is limited, therefore we are entirely dependent upon the supply, production for the theatre's existence.

The theatre operation and management branch of the business, nevertheless, could be developed far beyond the extent it has been to date. It can grow in greater proportion than the other two branches of the business. This is true in all circuit operations, more especially so in circuit operation by producing companies. In theatre operation, the individual development of man power to do creative and individual thinking toward the solution of most obviously individual and localized community problems, seems not to have been touched, or has been passed over up to the present time.

STANDARD OF GOOD MANAGEMENT

SEVERAL YEARS back efforts and money expended, by large circuits to establish a standardized course of instruction for theatre manager material, aimed at turning out a standardized type of manager trained to follow out a standardized procedure in managing theatres. They accomplished admirably what they set out to do, but that objective has been proved wrong, by time and experience. Instead of standardized man power the crying need is for individual thinking, individual study and individual application of the mass of general information available today—tempered by individual creative ideas applied to the specific problems presented by the specific locality of any particular theatre.

This need of today throws a tremendous burden and great responsibility upon those theatre managers fortunate enough to be operating theatres at this time. Their share of that burden and responsibility is to demonstrate positively that they are capable as theatre managers in the light of the broader demands that are going to be made upon them; and further, they must demonstrate that they are flexible enough to swing from the old way into the new.

A theatre manager must be a rounded-out individual having substantial information on all subjects and all branches of theatre management—actually expert in some of these branches—all of this combined with good business judgment.

Perhaps this standard seems too high to some managers, and it is certain that some executives and owners of circuits will be inclined to say that it can't be done. It can be done. But it won't be done by the driving methods used in the past. It won't be done by any living individual other than the managers themselves. They have the power so to develop, to recreate themselves, if properly inspired. If they have not that ability to develop, then it's time to give someone else a chance at that manager's job.

In selecting the man to be given the chance at the job, analyze the requirements of that particular job, then select the man who has the most necessary qualities and the possibility of development. The man so chosen need not necessarily be one of the particular organization. The selection should be based on qualities of character and ability regardless of whether the individual is young or old or has grown up in the business. The selection of man power is a highly important function and one which has no natural tie-in with welfare work, safety departments, or an elaborate set of personnel records with which it seems to have been so closely associated in the past. The proper placing of man power is a rather cold-blooded analysis of the requirements of the job, then the matching up of those requirements with known qualities of a known individual.

The knack of selecting the right man for the right job does not always go hand in hand with executive capacity, therefore there may be excellent executives who should not have the final say in placing man power. The mistaken principle which has been overdone in the past of letting executives or junior executives select their own assistants always degenerates into a factional, political and personal group type of organization.

REAL BASIS OF HIGH MORALE

HERE AGAIN someone may volunteer the information that such a procedure is going to tear the morale of the organization to pieces. The answer is it won't. The morale of practically every theatre circuit so far as the manager and the employes under the managers are concerned, is about as low as it can be. Every employe now on the payroll has wondered why he is on that payroll, how did it happen that he survived when others went; after all it might have been just luck, and his luck might desert him tomorrow! Such a condition, in many cases beyond the control of the circuit operators, has nevertheless lowered morale to an almost all-time low.

The approach to this problem is suggested herein. Inspire the manager to become an individual, not just a cog in the machine. Give him the option of either developing himself so as to carry his full share of responsibility or make room for someone who can make good. Cut the theatre manager loose. Let him become an individual in thought, action and spirit. Provide him with the necessary, real and tangible incentive so that when he has taken hold of things and produced results at the box office he too profits thereby.

The theatre manager is not directly responsible for the calibre of pictures. Regardless of the calibre of a picture the manager is expected to merchandise it energetically and honestly—he should be held responsible for its exhibition in a wholesome and well-cared-for theatre.

The days of appealing to theatre managers through "pep" talks and emotional platitudes is just about over. They have grown old or older during the past three and one-half years. The old high-pressure methods accompanied by those hollow half-promises of great futures with the company are of necessity going to be changed. The appeals for greater effort in the future, to be effective, must be based upon correct facts, right and clear thinking and equitable compensation to managers for their part in building box office grosses.

There is only one common ground for

HOW TO KEEP AN EXPENSE BUDGET

BY WILLIAM F. MORRIS, C.P.A.
AUTHOR OF "MOTION PICTURE THEATRE ACCOUNTING"

THERE ARE just two ways by which profits can be made or increased—by increasing the volume or gross income on a fixed expense, or by reducing operating costs when the other alternative can not be effected. Therefore, expenses must be considered in connection with income to determine any satisfactory budget.

Expenses may be grouped into two classes—fixed and variable. Fixed expenses are those that do not vary or that cannot be reduced and are frequently alluded to as "overhead," including taxes, insurance, mortgage interest, electricity, depreciation, etc. None of these are weekly items; some are annual, but they should be totaled and divided in order to get a weekly cost. Variable expenses consist of labor, repairs, supplies, tickets, telephone, advertising and decorations, and are under the control of the management. Film costs and vaudeville salaries are not considered as expenses. They correspond to merchandise in a mercantile business as these produce the revenue.

For budget purposes then, it is recommended that expenditures be grouped under these headings: (a) Film and Vaudeville (if latter is used), (b) Fixed Operating Expenses, and (c) Miscellaneous Operating Expenses.

To prepare a budget for the new year, first review the past year and work from those figures. The analysis should be by months in order to be of the greatest value, and the schedule divided into twelve columns. As previously stated, fixed expenses should be reduced to a weekly sum and other expenses could be divided similarly so as to give approximate weekly expenses in total.

After the income by months or weeks has been determined for the preceding year, estimate conservatively the income for the coming year. Set this amount at the head of each column. It should serve two purposes: first, the amount of revenue to strive for; and second, the maximum amount that may be spent for operation.

The next question is to determine the total to be allowed for pictures and vaudeville. It may be that last year too much was paid in proportion to receipts. On this subject no rules can be laid down, as proportions vary in different sections and even among theatres in the same territory. However, if operating expenses equal 60% of the income, it is clear that an effort must be made to keep the direct cost of amusement under 40%.

Under the cost of pictures should be entered the fixed charges. These may be in one amount for the month, as it will not vary. Depreciation is included in this, although it is an item that does not involve a cash outlay. However, equipment does deteriorate and eventually must be replaced. Ignoring this cost or failure to provide for it has been responsible for many business failures in all lines of industry.

Miscellaneous expenses should be listed separately in order to keep watch on them. One very considerable item in this group is advertising. Probably in no other business is this so important as in the motion picture industry. It is also true that in no other item of expense is waste more prevalent. This must be determined by the day of the week and the season of the year as well as the picture itself.

With regard to the picture, it becomes a question as to exploitation possibilities and the type of advertising required. Also, if the picture is an expensive one, it may be necessary to spend more than on some others in order to get all possible revenue from it. Here again it is necessary to refer to past experience on similar subjects in order to determine the appropriation necessary. It is advisable to set a sum for advertising for the entire year and when it has been necessary to exceed a monthly appropriation without an increased revenue to reduce the outlay the next month.

Whether setting up the budget on a monthly or weekly basis, when writing the items down, a blank line should be left beneath each one. Enter under each budget item for the period the actual results—admissions collected and what was paid out under each classification. By so doing you will be in a position to check any excessive item of expenditure before it gets very far.

If you are going to have a budget (and it is to your interest to do so) make it an active partner. Keep it with you week by week and plan your business with it. If you have not kept detailed records, your budget for the first year may not be just the way you want it, but each succeeding year will show improvement. Proper records are the basis for success in any business, and even more so in motion pictures, for it is only through past experience that you can plan for the future.

The United States Chamber of Commerce, after a survey of one of the largest industrial states, reported that 23.5% of the concerns studied kept no books, another 29% did not have sufficient records for sound management—and in listing causes of business failures, the Journal of the American Bankers Association placed at the top, "Inadequate Records."

agreement and financial success in this business—good pictures, energetically and honestly merchandised, exhibited in a properly cared for theatre with the help of properly trained assistants. Advice which gives no rules for selling a picture is considered by many to be without value. The theatre manager who takes this point of view is undoubtedly of that crop of standardized managers who were bred during that era when theatre managers were judged by their ability to follow voluminous instructions.

Securing attendance at the theatre, arousing community interest and creating the motion picture desire rests within the theatre manager and cannot be accomplished through the distributing of manuals, redundantly worded telegrams, or long distance telephone instructions from someone who is not on the ground and is without the "feel" of the situation. A homely idea, the creation of the manager, handled in all its details in the neighborhood or small town way, has many times brought more people to the box office than the attempt to put over the smartest big time exploitation stunt coming from the larger metropolitan centres!

SELLING THE SHOW AND THE THEATRE

DETERMINE what there is to sell, second, how is it to be sold? Then sell it to the particular type and class of people to which that theatre caters.

The marquee, the lobby, the box office and the attendants are the show cases, display windows and clerks of any theatre. The arrangement of these elements, their decorations, lighting effects and displays are of vital importance, and as a result of the personal attention of the manager they reflect his ability and his personality. The theatre manager who under-rates this approach (lobby, etc.) or neglects it for newspaper space, window cards, hand bills, or some tricky ballyhoo, is truly negligent of one of the fundamentals of salesmanship as applied to theatres.

There has been a trend in the past year or two to overdo lobby decorations, ballyhoo and lighting effects. Such over-emphasis does not generally sell tickets at the box office, but only tends to give a cheap and distracting impression of the show being presented inside the theatre.

There are no set procedures for selling a picture or pictures. The same picture may be sold in different theatres in dozens of different ways and emphasizing several or many different angles or appeals. The success of a particular picture, sold in a particular theatre, in a specific way, is no reason to believe that that way will be most successful in another theatre. Consider all the information which can be gathered on a picture from press sheets, trade papers and campaigns by other managers as the tools of the trade; then with these tools fashion a campaign and a presentation of that picture to the people of the community as a creation for them by the manager to fit the particular local requirements. No general principles of

(Continued on page 28)

AN 800-SEAT THEATRE COSTING $53,000

Describing the new Hilan theatre, a one-floor neighborhood house in Atlanta that was built for $30,000

THE HILAN theatre in Atlanta, Ga., represents the current interest in theatres of the smaller sizes devoted to exhibition of the motion picture. Its auditorium is of the rectangular shape that originally was associated with motion picture theatres and which has lately been pronounced best adapted to suitable cinema acoustics. The Hilan is especially worthy of study because of its cost. The building represents an investment of only $30,000. Equipment cost another $23,000. The seating capacity is 800.

The building housing the Hilan, called the Franklin D. Roosevelt Building, was built by Messrs. Mion and Murray of Atlanta, and the theatre is leased by Wynba Amusements, Inc., of which L. S. Bach is president. The lessors equipped the theatre.

The building has overall dimensions of 130 feet, in length, by 56 feet in width, with a mean height of 28 feet. It is constructed of brick, concrete and steel and is fireproof throughout. Facing is in fine sand-finished stucco. Rising above the structure proper are two towers, done in the pattern of the Campanile in Venice. One is 76 feet high, the other 40 feet. They have narrow windows covered with grilles at the top. The distance from the towers to the theatre proper (fire walls) is approximately 30 feet. Flooring is of concrete, while the ceilings of the commercial portion—two small stores—is of concrete. The Hilan is located in a neighborhood of Atlanta, which has a population of 250,000. The building was erected under a general contract.

The Hilan is a one-floor house, its 800 chairs being divided into 35 rows. All chairs are 20 inches wide. They are of ply veneer with leather-upholstered seats and backs. They were designed and installed by the Wisconsin Chair Company

PROJECTION

The projection room measures 24x10 feet. The walls are tinted a nile green, trimmed with black, while the floor is covered with heavy battleship gray linoleum. Adjoining the projection room is the generator room, which is separated by a fireproof door. There are also lavatories adjoining the projection quarters.

Equipment consists in two Simplex projectors, one spot, one effect machine, and RCA "high fidelity" sound system. The angle of projection is 15°.

The view on this page shows the auditorium looking toward the screen platform. While the stage is equipped for small acts, the regular policy calls for pictures only. Note its ornate simplicity.

The maximum screen size is 15x20 feet, while the distance from the screen to the first row of seats is about 20 feet.

AIR CONDITIONING

Air is blown into the auditorium through ducts, two large ones being placed over each side of the rear exits and having two-way deflectors, up and down or either side. The ducts are lined with ozite to absorb extraneous sound.

Cooling is by means of water chambers. The air is heated by a large boiler located in the basement under the stage, from which steam pipes lead overhead into fan room coils (three sets) and then blown into the theatre.

This system air conditions the lounges and manager's office. There are also auxiliary gas heaters in the vestibule and retiring rooms for use if necessary.

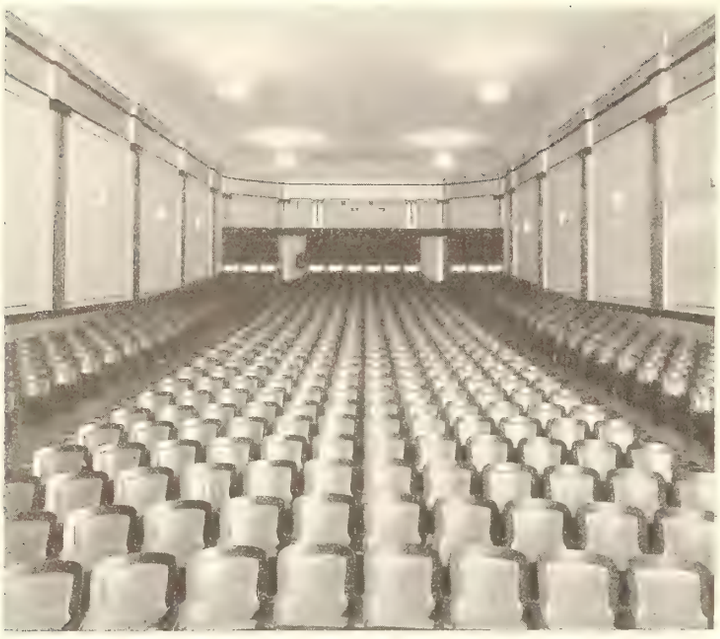
ACOUSTICS

Acoustic treatment consists in absorbent plaster in the ceiling and velour drapes over the standee rail. The front exits at either side of the stage are also covered with velour drapes.

ILLUMINATION

The facade carries lighting elements consisting in a three-color neon marquee illumination system, and a neon vertical sign of steel construction. This sign is 17x7x9 feet, while the marquee measures 22x7½ feet.

In addition, both towers are capped by a single line of green neon tubing, while the inside of the towers are equipped with



The auditorium, looking toward the projection room.

Looking into the lobby from the vestibule.

1,000-watt projectors throwing beams out of the grilled windows. The marquee has a capacity of two lines, each 26 letters long, with eight letters at each side. The letters are of transparent opal, 8 inches high.

LAYOUT AND STYLE

Entrance is through a vestibule containing the box office, and then through a main lobby into the auditorium. The women's lounge is to the left of the auditorium, while the men's lounge is at the right. The manager's office is located to the left off the lobby. There is also another theatre office, located on a second level, which is reached through an entrance to the right of the lobby. This entrance serves as a private passageway for theatre employees.

The upper theatre office is heavily carpeted in a black and white scheme. Besides furnishings, it has radio facilities for catching news flashes for occasional house announcements. Poster and electrical auxiliary quarters are located on the second floor, beneath one of the towers.

The stage is arranged with heavy silk curtains in gold and black. The traveller is two-toned silk runing on a steel rack and is remotely controlled from the projection room. Borders and footlights are of three-color type operated on a three-way system and also controlled from the projection room. There are six sets of lines and a pin rail on the floor. The equipment is designed to take care of small acts or presentations for special occasions. The regular policy, however, calls for screen shows daily. The proscenium opening is 26x28 feet.

The general decorative style of the Hilan is modern, and that treatment is very simple. The vestibule floor is done in terrazzo executed in star designs in color. This floor has a border in a spiral effect in two colors, with the centers in pastel. For display, there are four frames, containing eight 11 x 14-inch display boards. Outside there are two combination boards for one-sheets, and on each pilaster facing the street is a double one-sheet frame in orange, silver and black.

The main lobby is carpeted throughout, with Ozite padding. It is furnished with modernistic steel-tube chairs and tables, and with floor and table lamps. The color scheme is orange, yellow, black and green, with the pattern dominated by a large figure.

The lounges are similarly furnished, having steel-tube chairs and tables. The floor of each lounge is done in green-tinted tile, while the walls are painted the same shade.

The auditorium is simply treated throughout in a modern manner. The walls are done in three shades of orange, with pilasters in silver and jet black trimming. The ceiling is a sky blue. Into the walls panels are set, all of the same size and on the same level. At the center of each is a bracket light, supplying illumination in two colors—dark blue at the bottom and light orange at the top—through prismatic glass. In the ceiling are six chandeliers of indirect type with prismatic glass. Each contains two outlets. The aisles, each of which is 5 feet wide, have criss-cross lights and heavy carpets of the same pattern as that of the lobby.

The Hilan runs continuously beginning at 2:30 p. m., daily, except Saturdays, when the opening show is at 1 o'clock. Admission is at 15c until 5:30, when the price becomes 20c for adults, and 10c for children.

The architect of the Hilan was Harralson Bleckly of Atlanta. Building contractors were Mien & Murray. Much of the job work was done by local concerns, while much of the general equipment was supplied by the National Theatre Supply Company. Carpeting is by Alexander Smith. Matt H. Whitham is manager, and J. L. Hollingsworth his assistant.

The facade, dominated by two towers, one 76 feet in height.

LATE LAW INVOLVING THE THEATRE

By LEO T. PARKER

Analyzing recent decisions of the higher courts handed down in cases pertinent to theatre operation

THE HIGHER COURTS have consistently held that a theatre owner is required to use ordinary or reasonable care to put and keep the premises, appliances and devices in a reasonably safe condition for persons attending. If he fails to perform his duty in this regard, a person who is injured in consequence thereof is entitled to recover for the injury sustained.

Legal Hazard of Poor Illumination

In determining whether theatre premises are reasonably safe which are devoted to motion picture entertainment, during which the auditoriums must be made substantially dark, regard must be had to the fact that the public comes and goes at any time, and that the proprietor should anticipate that they may arrive or depart when the lights are down or "off."

Another important rule of the law is that one who operates a place of public amusement or entertainment is held to a stricter accountability for injuries to patrons than owners of private premises generally; he is not the insurer of the safety of patrons, but owes to them only what, under the particular circumstances, amounts to ordinary and reasonable care.

Ordinary or reasonable care on the part of a proprietor of a motion picture theatre to keep the premises in a reasonably safe condition requires the exercise of reasonable care in lighting aisles, stairways, etc.; and this is such lighting as an ordinary prudent person would have furnished under the same or similar circumstances—that is to say, taking into consideration the purpose for which the theatre was used, and having due regard for the safety of patrons. Failure to conform to these established rules of the law may result in the theatre owner's being held liable in damages for an injury sustained by a patron.

CASE

For example, in Emery v. Midwest Amusement & Realty Company (284 N. W. 804, Scotts Bluffs, Nebraska), it was disclosed that a theatre owner failed to provide illumination in the balcony, with the result that this part of the theatre was intensely dark. A patron, while proceeding to her intended seat, stepped onto an unlighted stairway without knowing it was in close proximity to her and thereby fell, receiving severe injuries.

The patron filed suit against the theatre owner to recover damages, and during the trial she proved that the balcony was insufficiently illuminated to enable an ordinarily careful patron to observe the stairway. Although the lower court held the theatre owner not liable, the higher court indicated his liability and stated the following important law:

DECISION

"The proprietor of a place of public amusement is required to use ordinary or reasonable care to put and keep the premises, appliances and amusement devices in a reasonably safe condition for persons attending; and if he fails to perform his duty in this respect, a patron who is injured in consequence thereof is entitled to recover for the injury sustained. . . . In the light of the authorities above referred to, we are constrained to the view that the evidence in the record in the instant case is sufficient, if believed, to sustain the conclusion that the defendant (theatre owner) was guilty of actionable negligence in failing to provide proper lighting, which was the proximate cause of plaintiff's injuries. . . . ."

NEGLIGENCE FACTOR

It is well established law that a theatre patron is not entitled to recover damages for an injury sustained as a result of his own negligence. Therefore, where the evidence indicates that the theatre was properly illuminated and the average theatre patrons observed the dangerous condition which caused the injury, the theatre owner is not liable in damages, because under these circumstances the injury resulted from contributory negligence on the part of the injured patron. However, a theatre patron is not expected by the law to exercise more than ordinary care in darkness.

CASE

For illustration, in the leading case of Branch v. Klatt (165 Mich. 666), is was shown that a theatre patron was severely injured as a result of falling down a flight of steps. Suit was filed against the theatre operator. During the trial testimony was introduced showing that many theatre patrons had previously walked down the steps and had been able to avoid injury. Other testimony was given proving that the illumination was not sufficient to enable the average careful person to descend the steps without falling. Therefore, the higher court held the theatre owner liable in damages and stated the following important law:

DECISION

"A person may presume that the owner of a theatre has discharged his duty of having the premises and exits in a reasonably safe condition as to lights and construction, so that patrons may safely pass through a darkened passageway or exit in leaving the theatre."

NEGLIGENCE IS PERFECT DEFENSE

ON THE other hand, where the evidence clearly indicates that a theatre patron is injured as a result of his own negligence, he is not entitled to recover damages from a theatre operator. This point of the law is applicable in all cases involving injuries to theatre patrons, irrespective of the manner in which the injury is sustained. The latest higher court case involving this point of the law is Gibbons vs. Harris Amusement Company (167 Atl. 250, Pittsburgh).

CASE

The facts of this case are that a theatre patron, when walking across a lobby of the theatre, sustained severe injuries when he tripped on a rug five feet square.

He filed suit against the theatre operator to recover damages and alleged that the injury was sustained as a result of negligence on the part of the theatre operator in failing to provide proper illumination so that he could have observed the dangerous rug, and that the rug was wrinkled which materially assisted in occurrence of the accident. Also, the counsel for the theatre patron contended that the rug should have been fastened to the floor or that a theatre attendant should have kept the wrinkles out of the rug in order to avoid injury to patrons.

Notwithstanding the fact that the lower court held the theatre operator liable in $1,200 damages, the higher court reversed this verdict and in holding the theatre operator not liable said:

DECISION

"The rug was not fastened to the floor, but we know of no rule that requires a rug of that size and description to be fastened to the floor. It was in good condition, had been used there for some time. . . . Under the plaintiff's (patron's) own testimony, the rug was not a light, flimsy affair. It was not in a torn or curled up condition which might cause a patron of the theatre to trip . . . . nor was there any proof that the floor beneath the rug was slippery or dangerous. . . . There was no structural defect in the rug; nor was it inherently dangerous. . . . Unless we are to hold that the use of a rug of that size, in a theatre lobby, which is not securely fastened to the floor, is evidence of negligence —which we are not prepared to do—the case is barren of any evidence of negligence.

LOSS OF WAGES AS DAMAGES

ANY PERSON who is injured as a result of negligence of a theatre owner, or his authorized employees, may recover an amount of the damages in direct consideration of the extent of the injuries sustained, and in addition thereto an amount based on the loss of earnings resulting from the injury. So held a higher court in the late case of Chelsea v. Ross (182 N. E. 477, Boston).

CASE

In this case it was shown that an employe, who was seriously injured, sued to recover compensation. During the trial the question arose whether or not the amount of damages should include salary which the injured person lost as a result of the injury. This court stated the following important law:

DECISION

"The rule has been laid down in numerous cases that the plaintiff (injured employe) in an action for personal injuries founded on the negligence of the defendant (employer) is entitled to have taken into account as an element of damages the impairment of his capacity for labor. Loss of time and diminution in earning power accrued and likely to occur may be considered in estimating damages. Loss of wages or of salary, if any, may be regarded in the assessment of damages."

TRADE FIXTURES IN LEASES

BY M. MARVIN BERGER
MEMBER NEW YORK BAR

FROM TIME TO TIME, there arises as the result of carelessly drawn leases, the troublesome problem of the ownership of trade fixtures, installed in leased premises by a tenant.

As applied to theatre leases a single illustration will show the damage that may be done by a lack of foresight in drawing up a lease.

Let us assume that John Jones leases a building from Ed Smith and proceeds to convert the building into a theatre. The equipment installed by Jones includes a refrigeration system, electric sign, display frames, chairs, pipe organ, screen and projection equipment. At the expiration of the lease, a new lease is drawn, by the terms of which, Jones agrees to surrender the premises to Smith in as good a condition as they were then in, necessary wear and tear excepted. No mention of the fixtures is made in the new lease, it being assumed by Jones that he has as much right to remove them during the term of the new lease as during the period of the original lease.

At the end of the term of the second lease, Jones, upon attempting to remove his fixtures, is restrained from so doing by court order, and the final judgment of the court is that the fixtures belong to the landlord. In so doing, the court recognizes a long established rule that after the expiration of a lease and upon the making of a new lease, a tenant loses his right to trade fixtures installed by him, unless in the new lease he reserves his right to the fixtures.

Jones' assumption was correct to the extent that. Generally speaking, any article attached or annexed to a building by a tenant for the purposes of carrying on a trade, may be removed by the tenant during the life of the lease. There are, however, certain restrictions on this right, arising out of the nature of the article and the manner and circumstances of its attachment to the premises. For example, it is generally stated that the tenant has no right to remove a trade fixture if the fixture is so attached to the premises that it cannot be removed without material injury to the building or property. Again the courts, in the absence of an agreement between landlord and tenant may spell out an intent on the part of the tenant to make the fixture a permanent part of the realty.

The tenant's right to remove trade fixtures is further hedged about by law. Generally the failure of the tenant to remove, before the expiration of the lease, the fixtures installed by him, results in the title to the fixtures passing to the landlord. By the weight of authority the same result follows from a forfeiture or surrender of the lease by the tenant.

Practically all the difficulties which may arise to plague a theatre lessee in connection with trade fixtures installed by him, can be avoided by taking the proper precautions in the lease. By provision in the lease, the tenant may be given the right to remove any and all fixtures installed by him whether or not they are annexed to the realty and may also be given a reasonable time after expiration or surrender of the lease to remove the fixtures.

The usual clause in a lease requiring the tenant to deliver the premises in good condition at the end of the term, may contain an exception releasing the tenant from making such repairs as may be occasioned by the removal of his fixtures. The lease may stipulate that upon the making of a new lease to succeed a previous lease, all the terms, conditions and covenants of the previous lease relating to fixtures and the right of removal should become part of the new lease.

If landlord and tenant so desire the lease may provide that at the end of the term, as an alternative to removal of the fixtures by the tenant, the landlord may have the privilege of purchasing the fixtures at a valuation to be fixed by the tenant.

Careful drafting of a theatre lease affords ample protection to the lessee as regards his fixtures.

LIABILITY OF WAREHOUSEMAN

THE LAW IS well settled that a warehouseman is not liable in damages for loss of goods stored in his warehouse, where the evidence fails to indicate that such loss resulted from negligence on the part of the warehouseman or his employees. Therefore, it is apparent that a warehouseman is not liable for loss of films by fire where the evidence indicates that the conflagration was really of an incendiary origin.

CASE

For illustration, in Dolan v. Goodman Warehouse Corporation (165 Atl. 82, Jersey City, N. J.), it was disclosed that a fire started in a warehouse from incendiary origin, and on account of the fact that certain motion picture films were stored in the warehouse the fire became uncontrollable and destroyed the warehouse and its contents.

It is interesting to observe that the higher court held the warehouseman not liable to the owners of the stored merchandise, and said:

DECISION

"The proofs in this case indicate that the warehouse was modern and well constructed. . . . A fire of incendiary origin occasioned plaintiff's loss. There is no proof that there was spontaneous combustion of the films. In fact, the proofs indicate that the loss was occasioned by the fire, which started at some distance from the place where the films were stored."

LIABILITY FOR SIDEWALK INJURY

UNDER ORDINARY circumstances a theatre owner may be liable in damages for an injury sustained by a pedestrian as a result of defective sidewalks, particularly if the evidence indicates that by the application of ordinary care the theatre owner or his employees should have discovered and repaired the defect.

However, various courts have held that a property owner cannot be held liable in damages for an injury sustained by a patron or pedestrian as a result of a defective sidewalk if a state law exists which re-

(Continued on page 34)

MODERN PROJECTION

PROJECTION • SOUND REPRODUCTION • ACOUSTICS

VISUAL FATIGUE FROM THE MOTION PICTURE—WHAT REALLY CAUSES IT?

Reviewing present conditions and a survey of opinion as to causes of eye fatigue and cures

THE CAUSES of eye fatigue proceeding from the viewing of motion pictures in a commercial theatre are apparently to be classified as (1) normal—similar to those operating in all functions of life involving intensive use of the eyes, (2) defective vision, and (3) defective conditions in the theatre.

It is only the latter group of causes which now have a reasonable claim upon any great amount of our attention. To observe merely that motion pictures causes eye fatigue is to inspire the question, And, pray, what doesn't? Modern life exacts much from the eyes in nearly all of its activities. We read much more, and constantly under conditions imposing severe strain. An enormous proportion of our occupational work combines physical strain and mental effort with intensive use of the eyes. The few flickers left in a motion picture, if any, or its variable light intensities can scarcely represent a need for abnormal optic adjustment. There is, moreover, some question whether the viewing of motion pictures in a theatre, with the body comfortably at rest and the mind pleasantly diverted from the more or less monotonous imperatives of daily life, is to be differentiated at all from any of the other comparable applications of the visual sense.

It was, one suspects, the flicker that lifted certain busy hands in horror. The motion picture proved yet another opportunity for that familiar gesture. But as the cinema grew into what it was surely destined to become, the great popular entertainer and instructor, inevitable technical refinements provided for practically complete elimination of the flicker, as well as the other flaws in the projected image, until today there are probably a dozen regular activities in which we tax our visual equipment much more than when we are viewing motion pictures—such pursuits as reading, office work, witnessing spectacles, automobiling and so on.

It is certainly proper, however, to expect motion picture producers and exhibitors to make use of all the means technology affords to present screen entertainment under the most favorable conditions. During the last few years attention has naturally been on sound—its reproduction and attendant acoustics of the theatre auditorium. Noticeable has been a tendency to forget that the motion picture is also to be seen. Developments in equipment long ago provided for satisfactory screen illumination. More recent investigations in seating and auditorium design have brought forth recommendations for the improvement of other visual factors. Neglect to install and maintain equipment properly, and failure to provide available seating, traffic arrangements, house illumination and sightlines specifically adapted to the requirements of the motion picture theatre, rather than the inherent nature of the motion picture, are to be blamed for such abnormal eye fatigue as the patron with normal vision may here and there, and now and then, suffer.

For the most part this conclusion is supported by opinions expressed in "The Visual Fatigue of Motion Pictures," recently published.* Gordon L. Berry, for example, is quoted as having said as long ago as 1916, in a London medical journal, "If there is eye-strain look to the faults in photography and projection." The opinions are divided according to their professional and industrial sources—lighting, the eye, projection, education, ventilation, exhibition, architecture, seating and posture, and the screen, and as a lighting expert, M. Luckiesh of General Electric contributes the statement, "I am quite certain that no undue fatigue arises from good conditions. The latter include proper projection mechanism, good photography, high intensity of screen illumination and some subdued general light over the surroundings of the room or auditorium." Still other excerpts from the opinions expressed show the range of this valuable survey, as well as point to matters deserving the attention of the motion picture industry. Let us take them by classification.

Lighting.—"Theatres get good equipment, but it is up to the exhibitors to keep up repairs. If they would keep the equipment in good shape it is safe to say there will be no resultant eye-strain." (J. H. Kurlander, Westinghouse.)

The Eye.—"The only reason we have been able to discover to account for visual or eye fatigue in the motion picture is insufficient illumination of the house. . . . Sharp contrast between the object of direct regard and objects in the indirect field of view leads to fatigue. Orchestra lights, exit lights and other bright points of illumination in an otherwise dark room lead to fatigue, just as relatively brilliant pictures in an otherwise dark room lead to fatigue." (Dr. Carl F. Shepard, Keystone View Company.) "Moving pictures are not harmful to the eyes as long as there is no flicker and the proper illumination is used." (American Optometric Association.) "Some of the oculists have told their patients that if they must attend the movies they should sit at a distance from the screen ranging between 20 and 30 feet." (Frances E. Moscrip, Division of Sight and Conservation Classes, New York City.)

Projection.—"First of all, there is a question of size of screen and distance of observer as to whether the angle of view is satisfactory or otherwise. A comfortable posture and the height of the screen are also important factors. The intensity of the projector light and the screen brilliancy of the picture as compared to the incident illumination in the room are vitally important." (R. Fawn Mitchell, Bell & Howell.) "Since the advent of synchronized sound in connection with motion picture presentations, the speed of the projector having been increased considerably to a standard speed of 90 feet per minute, the resultant picture upon the screen is entirely without flicker and the action moves exceptionally smoothly. The above holds true only where motion picture theatres are equipped with modern apparatus, and this apparatus kept in first-class operating condition. Where this condition does not obtain the possibility exists that eye-strain will be present due to defective screen presentation. Unfortunately, the latter condition prevails in a great many theatres today." (H. Griffin, International Projector Corporation.)

*"The Visual Fatigue of Motion Pictures: A World-Wide Summary and Survey." Compiled and edited by Aaron E. Singer. New York: Amusement Age Publishing Company. Paper, $1.00.

Education.—"I really do not see why a motion picture should produce any serious eye-strain provided the film runs smoothly. What we do need to give attention to is the size of the image and the amount of illumination. Unquestionably there is a tendency to project pictures that are too small. . . . 'Daylight projection' or anything approaching it should be discouraged." (Alfred W. Abrams, director Visual Instruction Division, University of State of New York.)

Ventilation.—"There is no doubt that visual fatigue was general in the early days of the motion picture industry. The attending headaches, attributed largely to 'jittery' pictures, resulted not only from eye-strain but from intolerable atmospheric conditions due to lack of ventilation. With air conditioning prevailing in the modern picture hall, the so-called 'movie headache' is becoming a thing of the past." (Frederick F. Yonkman, Boston University.)

Architecture.—"Much has been eliminated from the architectural atrocities in theatres of former days. . . . Still more has been accomplished through the quieter and balanced colorings and broader spaces of wall treatments and prosceniums. This is fortunate because the melding of the theatre's background into one unit of decoration, design, color and lighting makes such a theatre restful for any type of production." (Roy Belmont, J. C. Demarest Company.) "The center of interest, the 'big smash' of the movie theatre, is the screen, and all interior design of the house should concentrate upon it. The over-decorated auditoriums of many of the big out-of-date theatres represent money thrown away on distracting influences. Let us give them theatres as new as their movies—sophisticated signs and displays—inviting and efficient lobbies—and an interior that gives 100% interest in the movie." (William H. Scheick, department of architecture, University of Illinois.)

Seating and Posture.—"The seating facilities in many of the smaller moving picture theatres are so crowded together that the cramped posture which must be taken is extremely tiring to the body as a whole. The increased visual fatigue which results in cases of this sort is merely a part of the general increased body fatigue resulting from the cramped position." (Winthrop M. Phelps, Yale.)

These opinions thus represent a very comprehensive observation of the workings of the motion picture in relationship to what was once something of a bugaboo. While they are opinions rather than scientific finds, they nevertheless merit serious attention because of the prestige of their souces. What they assert is simply that motion pictures cause no abnormal eye fatigue—if conditions are as they can and should be.

BETTER SOUND at 1/10 the Cost

A fortunate cash purchase enables us to offer
Genuine DUOVAC TUBES
at unprecedented prices!

264A (239A)	$1.00	Ten for	$8.25	217C	$8.50
864	1.00	Ten for	8.25	3A (P.E. Cell)	$6.75
205-D	3.25	Ten for	28.50	868 (P.E. Cell)	$3.60
242 (211)	11.00	Four for	38.00	860	22.50
845	12.00	Four for	42.00	842	4.00
203-A	11.00	Four for	38.00
872	9.50	Four for	32.00

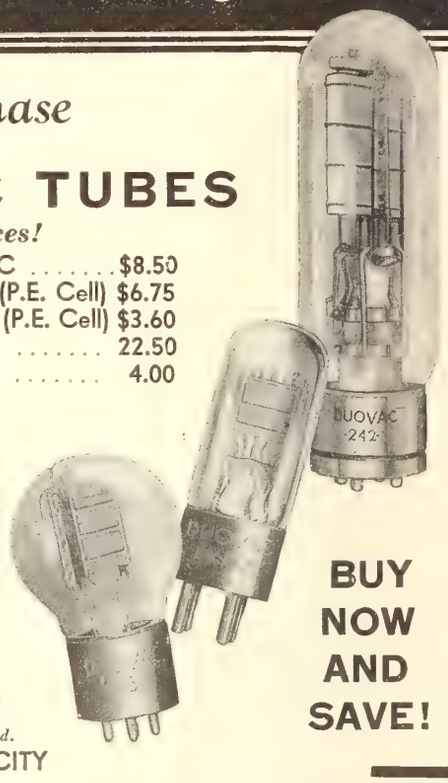
Duovac tubes are used as standard equipment by America's leading theatre chains. They can be used freely in your present equipment without fear of contract violation.

These GENUINE Duovac tubes offered in this special sale are brand new, carefully tested and fully guaranteed to be perfect in evey respect. The prices are below the actual cost of manufacture and hold good for a LIMITED TIME ONLY.

ORDER NOW! Tomorrow may be too late! Prompt shipment to all parts of the world.

TERMS: 20% with order. Balance C.O.D.
2% discount allowed for full remittance with order.

HARRISON RADIO COMPANY
Eight years of established integrity in the Radio field.
142 LIBERTY STREET Dept. BT NEW YORK CITY



BUY NOW AND SAVE!

"Equals Chicago's Best"

THE NEW DIXIE
A. Mitchell
RUSSELLVILLE, KY.
Oct. 24, 1933

WRIGHT-DeCOSTER, Inc.
St. Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen:

I have used several makes of speakers as well as horns and units, but I did not realize that there was so much difference in speakers until I installed one of your No. 309 full range speakers with a No. 309 horn. What a difference! I am now getting perfect results.

While visiting the World's Fair I went to several theatres in Chicago to listen to the sound and I was surprised to find that I have just as good sound as any and better than some of them. Judging from the looks of these million dollar theatres, they would go the limit in spending money to get the best sound possible.

Yours truly,
A. MITCHELL.

Have Better Sound At a Fair Price

Another enthusiastic Wright-DeCoster user reports "Perfect Results." Read his letter.

You can have SOUND in your theatre as good as the "million dollar" theatres . . . with Wright-DeCoster equipment, at moderate cost.

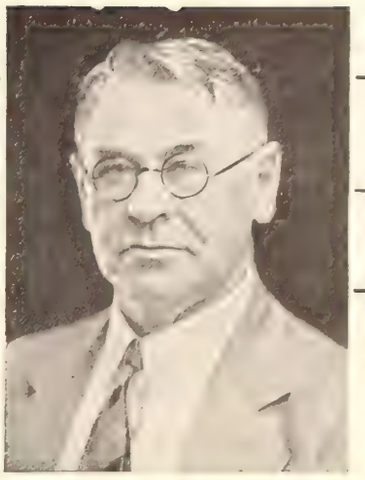
Model 309 Full Range Reproducer covers the full range of the latest type recordings.

Write for information and suggestions from our Engineering Dept.

WRIGHT-DECOSTER, Inc. 2225 University Ave., St. Paul, Minn.
EXPORT DEPT.: M. SIMONS CO., 25 Warren Street, New York
Cable Address: Simontrice, New York

F. H. RICHARDSON'S COMMENT

• • AND ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES •



THE INJURY THAT IS DONE BY POLITICS

RECENTLY an officer of one of the oldest and largest firms of projection equipment manufacturers called me up on a matter of business. In course of the conversation he severely criticised certain conditions. His censure seeming just, I requested him to reduce it to writing. I did this partly because of the fact that it pleased me immensely to hear him express himself so vigorously against what I have myself long recognized as a very harmful evil.

Poor projection, I have always contended, is nothing less than a curse to the motion picture industry and every one connected with it. Admitting there has been much improvement, still improvement in projection work has been far from keeping pace with the tremendous betterment in projection equipment. There is a reason.

The official referred to reduced his views to writing as follows:

"Dear Mr. Richardson: I certainly would very much like to have your views as to why there is such an amazing indifference to really good projection, and to efficient projection work in the matter of overhead cost.

"What has become of the many progressive, influential projectionists who battled so bravely and so persistently with you in days gone by for better and higher projection standards? While unquestionably much progress has been made, and projection is of course far better than it was, it seems to me the men as a whole took far keener interest in the work of projection ten or fifteen years ago than now.

"As individuals and as union members they were then constantly seeking information in projection matters, and would go to most any length to get it. Is it that they now think there is nothing more to learn about projection, or that there is no longer need for improvement of the profession as a whole? Surely that cannot be truly said of any present line of human endeavor.

"To keep abreast with the times a man must constantly seek to acquire added information and knowledge, particularly in the field in which he gains a living. While I give large credit to you and to your vigorous leadership through the years, I know you were greatly helped by such men as Arthur Gray, George Edwards, Chauncey Green, H. G. Woods and many others who had high respect for the work you were doing, and who gave both that work and yourself full co-operation. Although I can make some sort of guess as to why they have slacked up in their keen interest, I would appreciate an expression of opinion from yourself as to just what the trouble is.

"And while you are about it, possibly you can do something to stir up projectionists and make them realize the great harm that is being done by their apparent indifference. I know, mind you, we still have many splendid men who take great interest in their work, but they for some reason have crawled into their holes, or at least we very seldom hear from them.

"So far as I know, the Projection Practice Committee of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, of which Harry Rubin is chairman, is today the only collective, organized educational activity, outside of your own work, that is doing any really worth-while work for the advancement of projection. If you know just what the trouble is, will you let me hear from you, either by letter or through your own splendid department in BETTER THEATRES.

This comes from a man deeply interested in projection, and a mighty good friend to the projectionist. He knows what he is talking about and has the best interest of projection and the projectionist at heart. He has briefly expressed some very excellent ideas, upon which it seems to me I can elaborate with benefit to all concerned. First, however, were I to do full justice to the subject it would be necessary to dip my whole typewriter into a vat of vitriol, and that I do not like to do. One feels unable to deal adequately with certain evils without using language of maximum strength.

The underlying cause of present-day indifference (or inertia) is, I believe, to be found very largely in politics, which is prone to give rewards, regardless of superior ability in projection work, to those who give aid to the politician.

Politics is ingrowingly selfish. It is the endeavor of men to hoist themselves into places of power and high remuneration, instead of striving to build up projection into a respected profession. Unfortunately, too often the men who are best able to aid in this are not the best men in projection. Their abilities, of which usually they have plenty of a sort, are almost wholly along political lines — political machine building — and such abilities are repaid in two ways, namely in money and in power. The practical effect of all this is to give projectional rewards to those who either aid the politician directly or remain quiet while he or they reap rewards, and to leave largely out in the cold such men as offer any sort of opposition.

Very naturally men who hold good positions hesitate to endanger themselves and risk demotion to less important positions by offering opposition, hence the inertia. This attitude has been in one way or another expressed to me by men working in many sections of the country.

Some day I may go back through the records of almost 24 years and print the names of those many men who have

Other Articles

In addition to the material on this page, Mr. Richardson's columns of this issue also contain:

New Projectors Are Demonstrated. . . . . Page 18
The Code Discussions. . . . . Page 20
Some Visits in Chicago. . . . Page 21
The Loss of Projection Light. Page 22
Don't Use Heavy Oil on Gears. . . . . Page 23
Should Rear Shutters Be Trimmed? . . . . . Page 24
Value of Frequent Tests. . . . Page 24
Answering Several Inquiries. Page 24

worked with me in the past to improve projection and projection conditions. It will indeed be a roll of honor, for these men all made personal sacrifices (find a politician willing to do that!) and did work for their profession by which all, including their own local union, benefited. For this they received absolutely no recognition from the great mass of their fellow projectionists, too many of whom have an idea that holding a union card and calling themselves "operators" is the beginning and end of just about everything. It is this latter class that really makes the politician possible.

True, occasionally such men as Arthur Gray, who passed away a few years ago, had their work rewarded by acknowledgment. I am very glad to take this opportunity of giving credit to Local 182, of which Thad Barrows has been a leader for more than 18 years, and president for several of them. Local 182 stood by Arthur Gray during his vigorous, active days and throughout the long illness which preceded his death. Local 182 benefited greatly by the progressive pioneer work of Arthur Gray, and be it said to their credit, its members, from president down, were not ashamed to admit it.

With this praise for one projectionist organization, I must turn to the darker side represented by the indifference and opposition of many locals, which has too often resulted in breaking the spirit of progressive projectionists who were ignored or belittled by their fellow members and the politicians. Many of these men found it more convenient just to drop quietly out of sight, doing their own work well, but taking no further part in the advancement of their profession. It is pitiful to know how many good men have been buried in this manner.

It would be very easy for me to name many projectionists who have done much for the advancement of projection, technically and otherwise, who have later dropped all that to become mere organization politicians, almost invariably then to show no further interest in the advancement of projection as a profession. The great majority of them then transfer all their energies to one of two things or to both—getting money or acquiring added power. They cloak their activities in the well known get-you-more-money smoke screen, the men failing to realize that years before the politician appeared, when it was far harder to obtain any concessions at all from employers, sincere men, working wholly for improvement of the profession, without any salaries, did just as excellent work and got relatively greater results. Old-timers well know that is the truth.

Projection has sad need for such men as George Edwards, who for many years placed the betterment of the profession wholly ahead of personal gain. Few men have gone to the lengths Edwards did in this respect, though many others did to a lesser extent.

I deeply regret that many of the later arrivals in projection have used politics in one way or another to shove men inclined to battle for higher standards into the background. That has been often tried with this writer, but up to date it has failed. He stays put and intends to do exactly that same thing until he gets ready to quit. He has a splendid publication and a splendid organization behind him. He expects to remain a cog in that particular wheel until such time as he either is too old to work, or sees no further useful work to do.

And so do I give my opinion as to the cause—or at least one primary cause—of the relative indifference of many, many projectionists to their line of work as a profession. The union has no supporter more stanch than I. But it must rid itself of those interests which have made the work of projection subservient to politics.

Table of Mathematical Values

● Often the projectionist has occasion to make calculations and doesn't quite know how to do it. In looking through one of Audel's old marine engineering books (1918) I came across a tabulation which might be handy. Here it is:

CIRCLES

Circumference equals Diameter times 3.1416.
Circumference equals Radius times 6.2832.
Radius equals Circumference divided by 6.2832.
Radius equals Circumference times .1592.
Radius equals square root of area divided by 3.1416.
Radius equals square root of area times .5642.
Diameter equals Circumference divided by 3.1416.
Diameter equals Circumference times .3183.
Diameter equals square root of area times 1.1284.
Area equals Radius squared times 3.1416.
Area equals Diameter squared times .7854.

SPHERES

Surface equals Diameter squared times 3.1416.
Surface equals Circumference squared times .3183.
Volume equals Diameter cubed times .5236.
Volume equals Circumference times .0169.

METRIC SYSTEM

Milli expresses the 1,000th part.
Centi expresses the 100th part.
Deci expresses the 10th part.
Decka expresses 10 times the whole.
Hecto expresses 100 times the whole.
Kilo expresses 1,000 times the whole.
One Millimeter equals .03937 inch.
One Centimeter equals .3937 inch.
One Decimeter equals 3.937 inch.
One Meter equals 39.37 inch.
One Deckameter (10 meters) equals approximately 32.8 feet.
One Hectometer (100 meters) equals approximately 328 feet.
One Kilometer (1000 meters) equals .62137 mile, or approximately 3280 feet.

NEW PROJECTORS ARE DEMONSTRATED

THE OTHER DAY I viewed demonstrations of two new projectors—one a 35-mm. portable machine, the other one for 16-mm. film. The standard-stock portable projector, the product of the International Projector Corporation, seemed to me a compact, well built, self-contained piece of equipment, giving a well illuminated picture. The sound too was excellent.

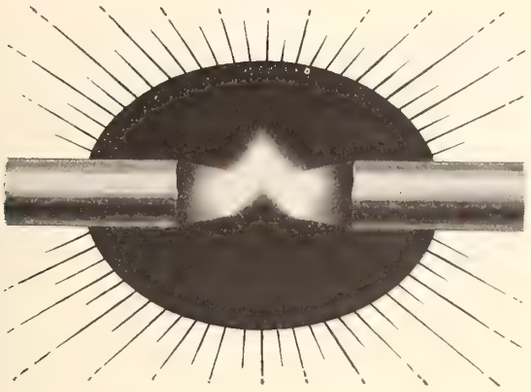
The lamphouse, projector mechanism, take-up magazine sound head and driving motor are all contained in a carrying case 22.5x24x10.5 inches.

In operation the film passes through in a straight path as in professional projectors. There are two glass ports through which it may be observed in its passage through the mechanism. The magazines are capable of accommodating 1,000-foot reels. Later, I am advised, 2,000-foot magazines will be provided.

The upper magazine is attached to the top of the case. It may be easily and quickly attached or detached. It has a tension device to prevent the film from over-running during the course of projection. Provision is made for automatically holding the casing door open, regardless of the angle at which the projector may be, while threading, examining or working with the mechanism. There are no belts, all motive power being transmitted by means of gears. Aside from the intermittent movement, all bearings are of an oil-absorbing composition having bronze as its base. Adequate means are provided for lubrication.

The rotating shutter is located close to the aperture, on the light source side, of course. Its blades and light openings are at 90 degrees. The shutter may be set

An Important Announcement for the NEIGHBORHOOD THEATRE



now using

Direct Current Low Intensity
Reflector Arc Projection Lamps

NATIONAL COPPER COATED HIGH INTENSITY A. C. PROJECTOR CARBONS

give the snow white light characteristic of the high intensity D. C. arc and a much higher level of screen illumination than the low intensity D. C. reflector arc.

This new projector carbon, developed by the Research Laboratories of National Carbon Company, Inc., provides a marked improvement in screen illumination for the neighborhood theatre at very slight increase in operating cost—less than two cents per hour at a power rate of five cents per kilowat hour.

Projection lamps, designed specifically for this new carbon, are now available.

NO MOTOR-GENERATOR SET OR BALLAST RESISTANCE REQUIRED.

NATIONAL

PROJECTOR CARBONS

Sold exclusively through Distributors and Dealers

NATIONAL CARBON COMPANY, INC.

Carbon Sales Division, Cleveland, Ohio

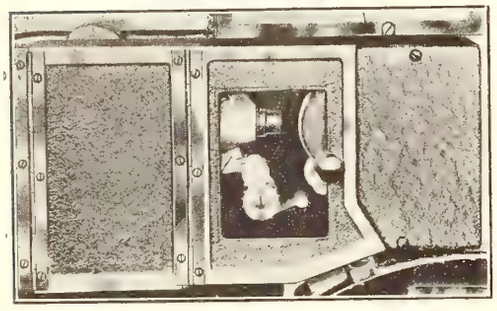
Unit of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation

BRANCH SALES OFFICES

NEW YORK • PITTSBURGH • CHICAGO • SAN FRANCISCO

NRA WE DO OUR PART

Syncrofilm
SOUND EQUIPMENT



Improved
Wide Range
Brings Better B.O.

Vast improvement in sound reproduction enters your theatre with the new Syncrofilm Model D Sound Head. Marked improvement in box-office take follows. Wide range has come to stay. Take full advantage of it—use Syncrofilm Sound Head on your Powers, Simplex, or Superior Projectors. It takes only a small investment and returns large immediate dividends. Owners of Syncrofilm have reported box-office increases within a week—and no falling off.

Model D is very easy to install—no changes in the projection machine need be made. Each sound head is delivered complete—no extras. Syncrofilm Sound Heads are made with the beautiful precision of your watch. Bearings are faced with chromium harder than steel, measured in ten-thousandths of an inch. Syncrofilm machines run perfectly for years without repairs and with little attention.

You are guaranteed satisfaction or your money back. Syncrofilm Sound Heads have been standard since the inception of sound. Back of them is long experience in motion picture machine manufacture of highest precision.

We can supply any, or any part of, your sound-on-film requirements. Write for detailed data on Syncrofilm Model D.

WEBER MACHINE CORP.
59 RUTTER STREET ROCHESTER, N. Y.
Cable Address: "Romos," New York
Export Office: 15 Laight Street, New York City
Distributors in All Principal Cities

GARVER
KURRENT
CHANGER

Eliminates change-over troubles. Saves 20-30%, changing A.C. to D.C. Delivers 15-30 amps. constant, pure white light, quietly, dependably, without sound interference. Recommended by leading lamp manufacturers. $125 complete.

GARVER ELECTRIC CO.
UNION CITY, IND.
Representatives in All Principal Cities

merely by removing the guard and altering its position in the usual manner. There is a centrifugally operated fire shutter equipped with a very clever and apparently thoroughly reliable automatic device which shuts off the light instantly in case the film breaks, between the upper and intermittent sprockets. This device automatically resets itself as soon as the trouble is remedied.

The intermittent movement is the standard Geneva type, the cam and actuating pin being hardened and ground on all operating surfaces. It operates in an oil bath. The projector has all the usual adjustments. The light source is a T-20, 1,000- or 1,500-watt lamp, at will of purchaser or user. The motor is a 110-volt, 60-cycle split-phase induction type plant designed for operation at not exceeding 40 degrees Centigrade above room temperature.

The sound reproduction system is wholly by a.c. The loud speaker is of the electro-dynamic type, mounted in a carrying case, the front of which acts as a baffle. It is fitted with a metallic cover. The specifications under which it was designed read:

"The sound response shall be such that when using the standard S. M. P. E. test reel for listening test there shall be no objectionable variation in pitch when reproducing voice or music, and with volume control set at operating gain and projector not running, there shall be no appreciable hum from the loud speaker."

The demonstration of the 16-mm. projector took place at the headquarters of the National Theatre Supply Company. There President Walter E. Green escorted me in to witness the performance of the new Victor Animatophone, a sound-on-film projector designed by Alexander F. Victor. The equipment is in the form of a suitcase about 2 feet long, about 16 inches high and around 10 inches thick. All the mechanisms are built into this case.

This is a 16 mm. job, therefore I do not know as it is up to me to go into a detailed description, but I will say that on the base, very accessible, are the five tubes, just back of which is the amplifier, and on the other side a complete, yet extremely simple, projection mechanism, the three sound reproducing units of the latter being mounted one above the other. The covering of the outfit is in two pieces, both of which are readily lifted off, leaving the whole mechanism bared and the whole "outfit" within convenient reach of the projectionist. In the left side of the cover is the loudspeaker. This cover is taken away and set behind the screen.

THE CODE DISCUSSIONS

CONCERNING the code discussions in the national capitol, it is very possible the I. A. now feels some regret that some of its local unions have been permitted to refuse to accept into membership competent projectionists working in small towns and villages located in territory over which they assume jurisdiction.

I have for years insisted that such men have the moral right to expect to be taken into membership upon proper application. Certainly the situation would in some respects have been very much more favorable to the I. A. side of the argument had this been done. Hindsight is better than total blindness, but foresight is very much better than either.

Charges nothing less than sensational were made before the assemblage by a certain exhibitor of Atlanta, supported by an editorial in a Chicago daily paper, against the methods of operation put into effect by some unions. These charges were ruled out as having no right place in the code discussion. Their makers were referred to the United States Attorney General. Just what the ultimate outcome will be cannot of course be predicted.

As to the matter of contracts existing between exhibitors and local unions or individual projectionists prior to the time the code went into effect, it is rather difficult to see how those entered into in good faith can be held abrogated. My guess is that no such attempt will be made. Just how the semi-ban on strikes will work out we also must wait to find out. It is futile, and even rather silly, for even the most wise to speculate on such things, as some have already done. We don't know and possess no knowledge enabling us to do anything more than just plain guess, and in such matters one guess is as good as another.

To me it would seem that the two-man shift matter, which was promptly placed in the discard, was far from well presented. I believe that had it been laid before the assemblage in better form it would have gone through with flying colors, though not in quite such ambitious form as planned. It would nevertheless have secured all that could be reasonably demanded. In the end it is always best to demand from such a body only that which will stand examination in broad daylight. If too much is asked from such a semi-governmental body, look out! The final decision will probably yield nothing at all.

Then, too, the discussion of competitive advantages of two theatres equal in every way, one employing a two-man, and the other a one-man shift, was rather absurdly inadequate. It was all based upon the amount of money paid per day or week, which of course covers only the exhibitor's side of the argument. I am unable to find even so much as one word in the printed account tending to justify this expenditure as showing that the one-man exhibitor may in the end pay out a large part of that "saving" in excessive replacements and repair bills—in fact, very possibly all of it. Not a word, so far as I can discover, about this highly important factor on the projectionist's side of the question.

Still another matter that, it seems to me, was given entirely too little attention, was the adjustable winter-summer wage scale. If the code is to set up wage scales, then certainly it must, in the very nature of things, make two of them, one for summer when business is usually below normal, and one for winter when business is brisk and exhibitors can well afford to pay good wages. But that is not all, for such scales must be differently applied. In some places the big business is in summer; in winter it is "dead."

Exhibitors seem to feel the code agreement proposes to set up fair and equitable grievance boards to settle labor disputes. That is all very well, but "fair" men are hard to find. Men who have real understanding are usually actively engaged on one side or the other, hence, whether they mean to or not, they automatically "lean" more or less one way or the other.

Pages might be written on this subject. Pages have, in fact, been written, all of which may be interesting to read, but after all have absolutely no value, and may even work injury by giving what afterward develops to be a false impression. However well any one may intend, it is all a pure guess just now. The code is an experiment. We must wait to see how it will work out, hoping for the best. Both exhibitor and projectionist are now confronted with a proposition that can be effectively fought out only by argument. We must just watchfully wait to see what happens. In effect, the United States Government is in charge, and neither exhibitor nor projectionist nor even producer can be expect- to fight that institution very successfully. Let us then trust no one will have reason to want to fight, and that the future will be at least reasonably satisfactory to all concerned.

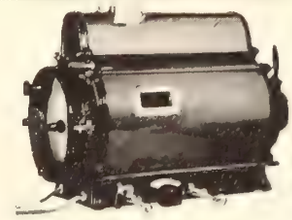
SOME VISITS IN CHICAGO

AFTER THE SESSIONS of the S. M. P. E. convention in Chicago, I took a little spin around to visit a few Chicago makers of projection equipment.

Down on West Adams Street I located the J. E. McAuley Manufacturing Company and had a chat with Mr. C. A. Hahn, general manager. The McAuley Company started in 1918 in a small factory, manufacturing arc controls. By careful attention to business, and advancing as the motion picture business advanced, in the improvement of their various equipments, this company today puts out a series of reflector type arc lamps that is found in theatres all over the United States, Canada, Europe and South America. Without intending to throw any bouquets, I am very glad to add my testimony to the fact that the McAuley equipment has always been good equipment and it is today among the best of its kind.

The company is now in the throes of getting out equipment to handle the much-talked-of new alternating current arc, introduced by the National Carbon Company. In this equipment they are making one radical change: instead of focusing the light by moving the positive crater, it is focused by moving the reflector assembly nearer or farther away from the crater. The advantage of this, so Mr. Hahn tells me, is that it very greatly simplifies construction.

I want to pay a very real compliment to J. E. McAuley and his associates. They have built up a splendid business on the



It's Performance That Counts!

STRONG

High Intensity Automatic Reflector Arc Lamps are of up-to-the-minute design and of a quality which makes for long, reliable service.

For Sale by Trustworthy Independent Supply Dealers Everywhere

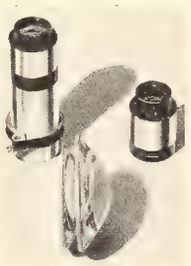
The Strong Electric Corporation
2501 Lagrange St., Toledo, Ohio
Export Office, 44 Whitehall St., New York, N. Y.

Would You Be Content To Show The Pictures Of Five Years Ago?

1933 1932 1931 1930 1929

Of course you wouldn't. Faster camera lenses, better films and finer lighting stamp 1929 productions as out of date.

Changes just as great have taken place in projecting equipment.



The new Super-Cinephor Lens with the patented condenser system represents an achievement in lens building that is as great a step in the proper projection of pictures as have been the improvements in Photography.

Without this new lens you are handicapped. With it you can show sharper, brighter pictures that are clean right to the edge of the screen. You can rest assured that no one is putting on a better show than you are. Remember—just one more patron a day pays for a Super-Cinephor in less than a year.

Complete details gladly sent on request.

BAUSCH & LOMB B&L GLASS IS USED IN B&L MICROSCOPES, TELESCOPES, BINOCULARS, SPECTACLE LENSES AND FRAMES . . . OPHTHALMIC APPARATUS, SCIENTIFIC INSTRUMENTS.

BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL CO., 679 ST. PAUL ST., ROCHESTER, N. Y., U. S. A.

Chicago Theatre, Chicago, a leading unit of the Balaban & Katz Theatres Corp. Just one of the many theatres of this group, using these advanced letters.

No Maintenance on ADLER CAST ALUMINUM ATTRACTION LETTERS

ADLER solid aluminum letters are remarkably strong and rigid, last forever without breakage—no need for repairs or replacement. Beautifully brilliant—easily readable day or night, from any angle.

Write for sample and current low prices.

SIGNS designed and built, new or remodel jobs. Designs only, if preferred, 15 years' experience.

BEN ADLER SIGNS, Inc.
5119-B Kimbark Avenue, Chicago Ph. Fairfax 2196

solid rock of excellence in planning and construction. Peerless equipment will be with us for a long time to come. Incidentally, they advise me that their business has shown a decidedly upward trend during the last sixty days.

From McAuley's I traveled westward to the office and factory of The Enterprise Optical Manufacturing Company on Lake Street, where I first had a conference with W. H. Hirschfeld. Mr. Hirschfeld has been with Enterprise (Motiograph) for many years, and is an assistant of one of projection's pioneers—Mr. O. F. Spahr, who heads the Enterprise company, with whom I also had a most pleasant and, I hope, constructive chat, one of the topics of which was the adaptation of the Motiograph base to all soundhead designs.

About six months ago Enterprise put out an extended frequency sound set which Mr. Hirschfeld advised me has given remarkably satisfactory service. Examining it, one is impressed with the ruggedness and simplicity of the assemblage, the whole thing being contained in a cast iron casing 7 inches high by 15 inches long by 10 inches deep, or wide. On top of this casing is mounted the projector mechanism. The photo-electric cell and everything in connection with the soundhead except the Exciter Lamp ammeter is contained in this box, the ammeter being mounted on the door of the exciting lamp compartment. This same soundhead, minus the later wide range improvements, has, Mr. Hirschfeld advises me, been in use in theatres operating fifteen hours daily for a period of 2½ years without part replacement or trouble. Fundamentally, the mechanical arrangement of the soundhead is the same as it was before the wide range optical and other improvements were added.

As to the Motiograph projector, I have already expressed my views with regard to it, to the effect that it is well planned, well constructed and highly efficient. I am now advised by Mr. Spahr that Motiograph is now being designed in a new model, which will shortly be available, to accommodate any type of the various sound heads. This is particularly interesting in view of the fact that many exhibitors have faith in certain sorts or makes of soundheads, some of which could not be attached to the Motiograph projector. It seems to me that Mr. Spahr's judgment in this connection is most wise.

The soundhead contains some points well worthy of detailed description. For example, there are two exciter lamps, means being provided for almost instantly shifting from one to the other. The solid brass socket of each is so arranged that the lamp filament may be raised to the proper height, placed perfectly square with the axis of the optical train, and locked into position, whereupon, after locking, means is provided for further finer adjustments by turning a knurled thumb screw held by a spring impinging with the various identations on the circumference of the thumb screw. Each identation means an adjustment of one half-thousandth of an inch, so the projectionist is enabled to adjust his exciting lamp easily and with a very high degree of accuracy.

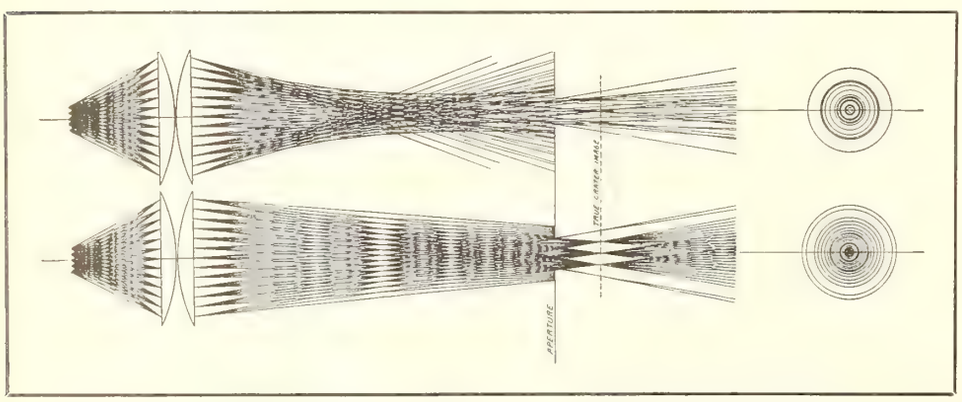
The sound sprocket shaft is carried on ball bearings, which means that wear is reduced to an almost irreducible minimum. The film passes down over the sound aperture in a slight curve, which has the effect of holding the sound track taut against the sound aperture. The right, or sound track, edge of the film impinges against two hardened steel rollers carried on ball bearings. On the other side are two similar rollers held against the film edge by light springs, so the sound track is always held exactly in one position with relation to the sound aperture.

The optical unit is set at the factory and is sealed into position. The film comes down out of the projector mechanism and passes under a roller, termed an automatic gravity tension rollers, its purpose being to maintain perfect tension of the film at the sound gate. The photoelectric cell is contained in a small copper shielded housing immediately in front of the sound gate aperture.

To this it might be added that all the various sprockets, gears and mechanical parts of the soundhead are carried on a center frame casing to insure alignment and ease of removal, since merely by loosening four bolts, the whole assemblage can be pulled out of the case.

On the front of the casing is mounted a device which eliminates the need for a fader—or perhaps I might better say it is a mechanical fader. Between the sound gate and the photoelectric cell is a two-wing metallic shutter controlled by a dial. The face of the dial contains fifteen numbers. As the dial is rotated to the left, this shutter is opened, so that more light is permitted to reach the photoelectric cell, or vice versa; if it be rotated to the right, then the light is reduced and may be entirely cut off from the photoelectric cell. The Motiograph people claim there can be no possibility of electrical trouble and absolutely no loss of frequencies through electrical resistances. As to that, of course, I cannot at this time express an opinion, except to say the claim is at least certainly not unreasonable. Moreover, Mr. Hirschfeld advises me the thing has been proved at the factory by exhaustive experiments and tests.

I examined some of the individual parts of the soundhead and was impressed with the rugged construction and excellent workmanship—notably of the gears, of which there are only two in the soundhead, one on the sound sprocket shaft meshing with one on the hold-back sprocket shaft. These have a face at least a half-inch in width. One gear is of bakelite construction, and the other of steel. All other parts are designed in like proportions, with all wearing surfaces and sprockets hardened.



Here are two sketches worthy of comparison by the projectionist. The upper one indicates a light beam projected through condenser having spherical aberration, while in the lower sketch is shown a light beam projected through a condenser lens which has been corrected for spherical aberration. The effect in the upper drawing is somewhat exaggerated for purposes of clarity.

THE LOSS OF PROJECTION LIGHT

FROM a Midwest city comes this letter: "Dear Old Friend: For I feel I may call you that—it has been about ten years since I last appealed to you and remember that I received valuable information and a straight-from-the shoulder talking to which riled me some but did good. I have followed your writings in the old Moving Picture World and your Comments in BETTER THEATRES continuously, and always with benefit. I oblige my projectionists (two of them) to prepare answers to all 'Bluebook School' questions. It has taken considerable of the swelling out of their heads, for very often they find they are wrong when finally the correct answer is published.

"I have a 900-seat theatre which I manage myself. I have several competitors and therefore ask that you do not publish my name or location if your answer to what I am about to ask be printed. The problem is this:

"I have a Peerless reflector condenser lamps. They are kept clean and in first-class condition. Two other theatres near me have the same lamps, keep them in no better condition, use exactly the same amperage and get a much more brightly, illuminated picture. Can you give me some hint as to what is wrong with my lamps?"

Certainly after your kind words it is up to me to go into this matter at some length. The space will be well used, however, since this is a matter upon which many projectionists, exhibitors and managers apparently need instruction. One possibility for loss in the lamp is wrong distance from light source to mirror. But in the Peerless condenser lamp, if the beam of light is of such diameter that it just fills the condenser without any over-lap, then it is correct, assuming, of course, you have not installed a mirror different from the one that came with the outfit. The next source of possible light loss is at the spot, which must be carried at the smallest possible diameter consistent with correct screen lighting. A spot too large is a terrific waster of light. Next comes the projection lens, where much light may be wasted if the beam does not all enter the lens. All these points you yourself may check up.

And now I come to something that is treated with more or less unintelligence in very many theatres. Many screens that are really amply illuminated seem dull and poorly lighted. The picture thereon is without contrast. The blacks are gray, and the various shadings of photography are far from what they should be. This situation may be due entirely to too much light reaching the screen from sources other than the projection lens. Remember this: Such light reaches all parts of the exposed screen. It therefore falls not only upon the whites of the picture, which it has no appreciable effect upon, but also upon all blacks, which it turns to a more or less pronounced gray, and upon all minor shadings, reducing their value.

All that is very evident once it is given proper consideration, but in, oh, so many theatres, and I suspect in your own, my friend, it receives just about no consideration at all. We find auditoriums lighted more than is necessary, with absolutely no attempt made to shield the screen from either direct rays of either the auditorium lights, or rays of light reflected from various objects in the auditorium, some of them quite close to the screen.

Now, when you have checked up on the various points named with regard to projection itself, take a good look at the auditorium. My own guess is that the trouble lies there, and your screen is just as well illuminated as those of your competitors, but they are not killing screen illumination with extraneous light.

First of all, reduce your auditorium illumination as far as seems permissible, then protect the screen from direct rays from the lamps. If they are covered with some sort of indirect lighting globe, my advice is to shut off the rays from the screen side of all fixtures, so far as you can without too much injury to appearances.

Some time ago a projectionist kicked to the manager about light from the fixtures reaching the screen. He was told to fix the matter up if he could. The projectionist was a man of ideas. He painted the screen side of the lamp in one fixture black. He lined the screen side of the interior of one globe with black paper, covering about one-third of the diameter of the globe. A third globe was treated by painting its interior, on the screen side, with transparent amber, shading from rather heavy at center (facing the screen) to a light tint at the sides. The manager selected the latter and had all fixtures painted thus. I have been told it was quite a pleasing effect. Anyhow the picture looked very much better, so I was told.

Aside from the auditorium lights themselves, go in front of the screen, with the house lighted normally for projection, and see how many spots of brightness (not glare spots, but spots of brightness) you can see. Each one that looks fairly bright from the screen is reflecting light to it, you may be very certain of that. In one way or another do away with those spots that reflect light to the screen, so far as is possible at least.

I cannot say positively of course, but strongly suspect direct and reflected light is the real cause of much, if not all, of your trouble—as it is in many theatres.

Consider carefully the fact that a motion picture is nothing more or less than a mass of shadows and light of varying density. This being the fact, it follows that any light falling indiscriminately upon them all, or any massed portion of them, will reduce their contrast values. For an exaggerated example, project a picture, turn on all the house lights and watch the picture fade and become "flat" and dead. This will happen when any light reaches the screen other than that from the lens, in exact proportion to the amount of such extraneous light. Let me know, won't you, whether or not you find upon investigation that I have analyzed the matter correctly.

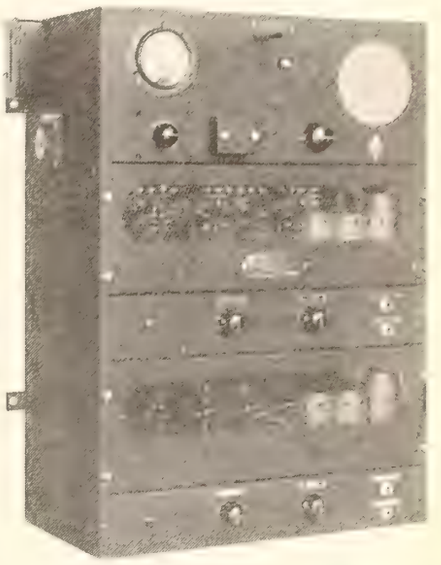
DON'T USE HEAVY OIL ON GEARS

I HAVE asked projector manufacturers to cooperate with me in setting up a definite, easily applied test that will enable projectionists to demand an overhauling of projector mechanisms, the demand being backed by this department. In the course of the discussion, the subject of lubrication for the projector mechanism gear train came up. I had lately been advising the use of a fairly heavy oil for this purpose, based upon the ground that it would work out rather rapidly and thus combine adequate lubrication with a slow but effective washing of the gear teeth, since the oil working out would of course carry with it all dust and grit, which a heavy grease would only do very much more slowly.

In this I was "called down" by the engineers, who assured me a light oil of good quality was much better. Said they, "With regard to the use of a heavy oil or grease for gear lubrication, we must direct your attention to a serious trouble we have experienced during the past few months, caused by projectionists using a heavy oil on mechanism gearing. Mechanisms have been returned to us so gummed up that it is impossible to operate them with the hand crank. This heavy oil has been found even in the bearings."

All right! We must accept the word of these gentlemen, but warn you that if a thin oil is to be used it certainly must be of excellent quality, else the gears—and bearings, too, for that matter—will wear

LARGEN SOUND SYSTEM
AMPLIFIERS



FOR WIDE-RANGE AND HIGH FIDELITY RECORDINGS

SINGLE AND DOUBLE CHANNEL WITH SINGLE CHANNEL AMPLIFIERS PROVIDED WITH COMPLETE SWITCH AND PLUG-IN FACILITIES SO THAT SECOND UNIT MAY BE ADDED AT ANY TIME.

In designing this Amplifier our engineers have taken advantage of all of the late developments in Tubes and Amplifier circuits.

NOTE AND COMPARE THESE FEW OF MANY FEATURES:

CLASS "A" POWER
TONE CONTROL
LINE CIRCUIT CONTROL
MICROPHONE AND NON-SYNC JACKS
HIGH GAIN
"AM MODEL AT 400 CYCLES 100 DB.
"AN" MODEL AT 400 CYCLES 94 DB.
LOW HUM LEVEL
"AM" MODEL .4 MICROWATT MAX.
"AN" MODEL .1 MICROWATT MAX.
PEAK OUTPUT
"AM" MODEL 27 WATTS
"AN" MODEL 15 WATTS

COMMANDER SERIES AMPLIFICATION AND WIDE RANGE SPEAKER COMBINATIONS ARE SOLD WITH "LARGEN SOUND SYSTEMS" OR FOR USE WITH PRESENT SOUND HEADS.

SCOTT BALLANTYNE CO.
Phone ATlantic 3345
Redick Tower Bldg., Omaha, Nebr.

GORDOS
AMPLIFIER TUBES

Featuring the new carbon plate, having rigid six point support insuring maximum efficiency.

Complete line of power tubes, rectifier tubes and photo-cells.

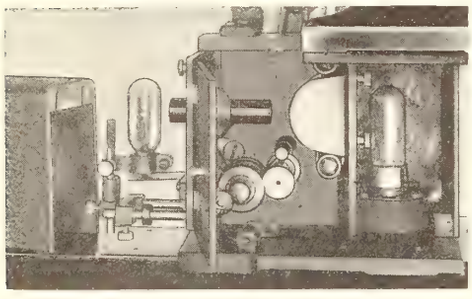
Inquiries Invited

GORDOS
PRODUCTS COMPANY
17 W. 60th St., N. Y. C.

G.-211 and 242

MELLAPHONE

WIDE RANGE SOUND-ON-FILM



Mellaphone Wide Range Equipment which is equal to the very finest Sound Reproducers; now can be bought outright on small weekly payments.

The choice of the United States Government

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

SUPERIOR PROJECTOR

Improved Model U

Most Durable . . Lower Maintenance and Most Perfect Performance of any projector built.

Adapted to all standard types of sound reproducing equipment.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

Coxsackie Manufacturing Corp.
Coxsackie, New York

SUPER-LITE LENSES

and

PRO-JEX SOUND UNITS

ARE GIVING UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION IN LEADING THEATRES

PROJECTION OPTICS CO., INC.
330 LYELL AVENUE
Rochester, N. Y. U. S. A.

KNOW ALL ABOUT YOUR BUSINESS
The EASY METHOD LEDGER SYSTEM keeps accurate records. Ideal for taxation and other readjustment items Set includes one two-year Ledger with daily cost system and one two-year Invoice Record for features and shorts separately. Once tried—always used. Many theatres happily satisfied. Both books, until December 31, 1933—$7.50. Thereafter price will be $10.00 per set.
EASY METHOD LEDGER SYSTEM
SEYMOUR, INDIANA

rapidly. However, it nevertheless bears out my own recommendation in the matter of oil, except that I made a mistake in specifying a heavy oil. Anyhow, if the thin oil be of high quality it will certainly fulfill all lubrication needs, provided a reasonably ample amount be used, also it will certainly wash away the dust and grit gathered from the air more rapidly than would the heavier lubricant.

My advice, therefore, is changed to: For lubrication of gears and bearings, use a high grade, rather thin oil. One or, at most, two drops is ample for any projector mechanism bearing, but for the gears use plenty, remembering that by plenty I do not mean the gears are to be given a bath. Use judgment and common sense. I would call two drops sufficient for a small gear, and possibly four or five for the largest, oiling after perhaps each two hours of operation of the projector.

I would appreciate it if some of you would give me your ideas as to approximately how much oil is required to lubricate the gears adequately, and how frequently it should be applied.

SHOULD REAR SHUTTERS BE TRIMMED?

JOHN L. BLAINE of Mobile wants to know, "Is it necessary for the projectionist to test and trim the rear shutter, as was necessary with the old sort? Also, will you be good enough to tell me whether or not you would advise the purchase of (he names a certain sound equipment unknown to this writer)? I can save quite a bit of money if you think it will do. I want to thank both you and BETTER THEATRES for the great help you are to us. I don't know how many times I have solved some trouble by digging through back numbers of your department in BETTER THEATRES, and the Bluebook School has been a great help to my men in three theatres located near Mobile."

As to trimming rear shutters, it should be unnecessary. The old shutter master blade had to cut through a light beam of varying widths under different local conditions. The rear shutter cuts through approximately the same diameter of light beam, regardless of local conditions. Of course, there really is some little difference as between a far-away 4.25-inch diameter condenser, or a far-away small diameter mirror, and a large-diameter close-up condenser, but except under extreme conditions it doesn't really amount to much.

It therefore is possible for projector manufacturers to reduce the shutter master blade to its lowest practical width and have that width serve all conditions very well. Presumably all manufacturers do this.

VALUE OF FREQUENT TESTS

DALE DANIELSON, projectionist at the Main Street theatre in Russell, Kansas, writes, "Those who have had the pleasure of working with W. E. wide range equipment should test the output of each sound projector on the stage frequently. Such tests should preferably be made while music is being reproduced.

"In theatres not having a test reel available, an excellent substitute may be secured by watching for a good orchestral recording. Clip a piece six or seven feet long and splice it in a continuous band. So thread this into the projector that it does not attach to the intermittent. This will serve very well and will last indefinitely. The output of each of the three types of speakers (woofers, middle frequency and tweeters) may then be checked in the conventional manner. This will work out with any sound system.

"As to securing the necessary film, I did not mean actually to cut it out of a production, except for trial to make sure it is what is needed. Then replace it and send its price together with an order for a replacement strip to any exchange."

In this connection I would like to point out the fact that there is now a regular test reel available to any theatre. It is a reel got out by RCA under the direction of the Projection Practice Committee of the Society of Motion Picture Engineers. Particulars may be had by addressing the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, 33 West 42d street, New York City. If properly used this reel will last indefinitely. With it provision is made for test of various sound frequencies separately from highest to lowest—testing for movement of picture as a whole, lens aberrations, travel ghost and other things. It is recommended that this test reel be obtained by every theatre. It is being sold at cost, at least for a time.

I have but one objection to Brother Dale's remarks; namely, do not clip out the part selected. Make your selection after running perhaps several selections several times, carefully noting, in writing, exactly what it is. For example: Production (title), Reel No. 2, 210 feet from end of title, seven feet of following action. Distance from title may of course be determined exactly by running through projector and counting revolutions of crank shaft.

Such a test would be all right merely as a speaker test. However, the S. M. P. E. reel does a very great deal more than that. It is not a reel designed particularly to test the speakers in general, but to test various other elements. With it, for example, the manager and projectionist may determine exactly what frequencies are coming through, and what ones are not. The reel contains spoken captions directly just how each of its various elements should be used. The Projection Practice Committee has been working on it for more than a year.

ANSWERING SEVERAL INQUIRIES

SEVERAL INQUIRIES have come from a North Carolina projectionist, whose name is omitted for obvious reasons. He writes:

"I consider myself lucky never to have had to call upon you in the past. I have three problems I want your help on now, however. First, we use vaudeville for part of the show at times. Have a very poor spot lamp. It is an old Brenkert, 50 amperes a.c. I have two rectifiers that will deliver 15 amperes d.c. at 30 volts each. Would one of these give me sufficient illumination on a 75-foot projection distance? What combination of carbons should I use? Where may I secure a new condenser for the spot? How may I prevent the condensers from breaking from heat?

"Secondly, our picture is 18 feet wide. We want to put on a mask that may be opened out to accommodate a large picture —one 20 feet wide or wider. Is there any way of building such a device so that the mask change can be made almost as quickly as the changeover?

"Thirdly, I must make all repairs on the projectors. I often find it difficult to secure what I call a good fit in replacing an intermittent star of a Simplex. Please advise me as to the best method of doing it."

Answering your first question, you might get satisfactory results by connecting both rectifiers in parallel. To do this you have only to connect both positive terminals to the other wire of the circuit. I don't believe you would be satisfied with a 15-ampere spot. Possibly not with the 90-ampere one. Try it out, anyhow. It won't cost anything to do that except a little wire and labor. Use a 5/18 inch positive, and a 5/16 inch negative carbon, both cored. Heat-resisting lenses will stop breakage. I will have a spot lamp manufacturer write to you about lenses.

As to your second question, I doubt if you would be able to construct a satisfactory adjustable mask. It is quite a job. Better to buy an expertly designed and sturdily constructed masking mechanism from a manufacturer of such product. You can check through Better Theatres advertisements, or employ the services of the Better Theatres Catalog Bureau.

As to your third question, you may advise your employers for me that it is certainly not advisable for the projectionist to attempt such a job as installing an intermittent star. Intermittent movement parts are fitted in ten-thousandths of an inch. What possible chance has the projectionist working without suitable tools (and no projectionist would have tools suitable for such work) to do a job like that?

You spoke of having seen fine sandpaper and then emery used in fitting the actuating pin to a star slot. My dear sir, not only would the pin and slots both be badly damaged by such procedure, but also the sand and emery would be driven into the surface of the metal and very soon, extraordinary wear would take place.

ALL COMMUNICATIONS TO F. H. RICHARDSON SHOULD BE ADDRESSED AS FOLLOWS:

F. H. Richardson,
No. 3, Tudor Lane,
Scarsdale, N. Y.

That NEW SOUNDHEAD . . .

a view of our sound unit with door and exciter-lamp cover removed, showing sturdy simple mechanism.

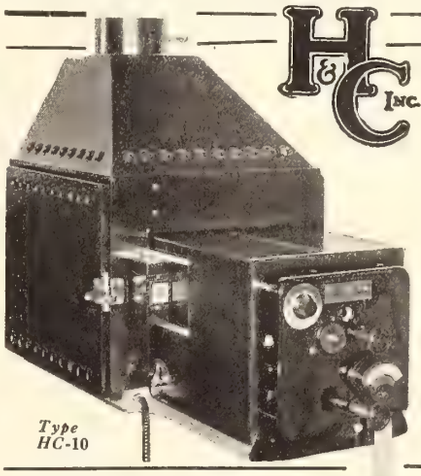
For further information WRITE TO LANGSENKAMP-WHEELER BRASS WORKS, Indianapolis, Ind.

The Symbol of Perfection in Projection

H & C INC.



Type HC-10

Always Improving

THE identification of "H & C" with Perfection in Projection Lighting is the result of many years of research and the active technical skill in the manufacture of "H & C" products.

HALL & CONNOLLY, INC.

24 VAN DAM STREET NEW YORK, N. Y.

Write for Illustrated Booklet

THEATRE OWNERS

KNOW YOUR EXACT PROFIT EACH WEEK

Without Employing a Bookkeeper

Secure a copy of

MOTION PICTURE THEATRE ACCOUNTING

By Wm. F. Morris, C.P.A.

Details easy methods for recording receipts and expenses—allowing for every imaginable item, including taxes, insurance, depreciation, etc. Sufficient to care for twelve months records.

$3.00 A COPY—Postage Prepaid

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

PLANNING THE THEATRE

A SERVICE CONDUCTED BY PETER M. HULSKEN, A. I. A.

The Question:

WE ARE attempting to improve the decorative scheme in our theatre which is a neighborhood house seating 800, 500 seats on main floor, and 300 in balcony, and is at present of the semi-Spanish atmosphere. Therefore, will you please give me the benefit of your suggestions in creating a pleasant change, and put me in touch with some competent decorator that could estimate, and handle the work without a lot of structural changes, and at reasonable cost.—W. S. W.

The Answer:

I AM at loss how to answer your inquiry properly, not knowing the exact design or treatment of your house. But since you state it to be of a semi-Spanish atmospheric design, I do not think that you will have much trouble in changing the decorative scheme.

If you want to make a complete transformation why not treat the scheme in a modern style. If the ceiling is in a sky effect, as in most atmospheric theatres, you can either leave it the way it is or redecorate it entirely. I think a modern atmospheric treatment would be something unique, and in that case you will only have to redecorate the walls.

By replacing some of the statuary, removing some scrolls and shields and using different light effects for niches, you may be able to obtain a complete transformation without a great deal of structural changes. Of course you will have to change the lighting fixtures to conform to the style which you decide upon executing.

Any competent theatre decorator can furnish you with estimates of cost and submit sketches to you for your approval, and the cost should be rather reasonable at the present time. I am sorry I cannot recommend to you some decorators, as this is against our code of ethics, but no doubt they will communicate with you as soon as it becomes known that you are ready to redecorate your theatre.

●

The Question:

AS A SUBSCRIBER to BETTER THEATRES and MOTION PICTURE HERALD and now a projectionist, I am writing you for a building plan. I am contemplating a theatre in a town of 2,400 population, with seating capacity of 300 or 350, and wonder if you have a building plan that would give me complete details for such a building. Let me hear from you as soon as possible.—F. G. W.

NOTE:

IN THIS department Better Theatres will be glad to answer questions pertaining to the preliminary consideration involved in the planning of a new theatre or in the remodeling of an existing one. Only requests for ideas will be answered, since this department cannot assume the practical functions of an architect. All communications intended for this department should be addressed to "Better Theatres," 1790 Broadway, New York. They will be answered in this department. None will be answered by mail. Although only initials will be used in signing the questions published, it is a requirement that all letters bear the signature and address of their writers. The replies will be prepared personally by Mr. Hulsken, who is a practical architect and a member of the American Institute of Architects.

The Answer:

SINCE THIS department cannot furnish you with sketches or plans, I will try to give you a compact description of such a theatre as you are contemplating. For a 300-seat house I suggest a center bank of 13 seats with a wall aisle at each side. This would establish the width of the auditorium as 30 feet. It will require 23 rows of seats. Figuring them at 2 feet, 6 inches from back to back, this will require 57 feet, 6 inches. To this must be added 5 feet for cross aisle or foyer, and at least 15 feet from front row to stage or apron, making the auditorium proper 77 feet, 6 inches. For lobby, apron or stage, add at least 25 feet more, so the size of the lot should be 30x103 feet. This is the most economical plan I can suggest to you.

●

The Question:

WILL YOU please give me some information regarding the requirements necessary, according to the New York State Law, for a small moving picture house. I have in mind one hall on the second floor that might be rented for this purpose, and another on the first floor that might be a little more expensive.

I would also like to know something about the rules regarding the seating (fixed chairs or moveable), cost of projectors and sound attachments; also the number of seats that might be fixed in a hall 25x40 feet, and another one 30x60 feet.

I endeavored to get this information from different sources, but was unable to get definite information regarding the cost of the set-up of a small moving picture house, so I inquired of some of the houses in Syracuse and was referred to you by two of the proprietors. I should surely appreciate it if I could get this information through your publication.—E. F. C.

The Answer:

I ADVISE you to write to the Department of Labor, State Office Building, Albany, N. Y., and ask for a copy of the State Standard Building Code. Also request them to have the inspector of the Syracuse district consult with you. However, I believe that the city of Syracuse has its own building inspection department. They can give you all the necessary information. This would be the proper way to proceed. Even if you are not going to do any remodeling you will need a certificate of inspection of the premises, and if you do remodel you will need a certificate of compliance. If you are going to use the second floor hall it will come under the classification of assembly hall.

Code Rule 308 states: "The enforcing authority shall determine the number of persons which every place or public assembly may accommodate. Such capacity shall be determined as follows, etc."

Rule 310 states: "No place of public assembly shall be permitted in a building any part of which is used as a garage, dry cleaning establishment, nor any other use that the Industrial Commissioner may deem hazardous."

Rule 321 states: "All seats in the auditorium or tiers shall be firmly secured to the floor. Provide not less than 30 inches from back to back, measured horizontally. There shall not be more than 14 seats in any row extending from one aisle to another, nor more than 7 seats in any row extending from an aisle to a wall."

If you have to choose between one hall on the second floor, and one on the first floor, by all means select the first floor hall, even if it is a little bit more expensive, as in the average motion picture house it is hard enough to have the public use the balcony.

The cost of a projector and sound attachment depends upon the type adapted to your purposes. We suggest your writing the BETTER THEATRES Catalog Bureau for specific information.

A hall 25x40 feet will seat 154, and a hall 30x60 feet will seat 294, after taking off three feet all around for aisle space, and figuring 20 inch seats, 30 inches back to back.

●

The Question:

I AM A student at the Colorado Agricultural College and have a problem of designing a theatre of the approximate size given in the accompanying sketch. The theatre is to have a seating capacity of about 900, 585 on lower floor. If you can give me some information on the above I would appreciate it.—A. V.

The Answer:

AFTER CAREFULLY looking over your sketch I will make the following suggestions. You state that the seating capacity is to be 900, 585 seats on the lower floor, and the balance in the balcony. Change this to 600 seats downstairs, and 300 seats in the balcony, for the simple reason that most theatre codes require an extra exit over 300 seats. Why go into that expense for an extra 5 seats, as already two exits are required for the 300 seats? I think that 250 seats in balcony would make a better balanced house.

The location of the exit doors on your sketch for the lower floor is faulty. It requires three double exit doors. Two of them should be located near stage on opposite sides, and the other one near foyer wall most convenient to exit court or alley.

The auditorium plan according to your sketch is 60x78 feet, just about right for 600 seats. But a few more additional feet will not hurt, as you provided plenty of space for the lobby and foyer. Make the proscenium arch as wide as you can—35 feet will be about right. The balcony railing, I am afraid, is too close to the stage. Why not build part of the balcony over foyer. It will save you money in construction, as you do not need a 30-foot ceiling in foyer. You can vault the ceiling and still have enough ceiling height. Make projection room at least 12 feet deep. Height of stage from floor to gridiron, if you plan for same, should be twice the height of the proscenium plus 6 feet. A 28-foot or 30-foot proscenium arch will do for your theatre. Curve the wall between auditorium and foyer at auditorium side to conform with the radius of the seats, and place doors at the end of the aisles.

●

The Question:

WE ARE planning a new theatre for this city and wish to get all the information we can on the best place to buy our equipment. We plan to use the new seating plan, level or reverse slope, and would like some information on this matter if you are in a position to give it.

The building to be remodeled is of brick with concrete floor. By removing the floor of the room above we will have a ceiling of about 30 feet, a width of 40 feet, and a length of 110 feet. We plan no stage.

By taking out some of the end wall and placing our screen outside the building, and properly closing it in, we can get an additional 20 feet, which, I believe, will enable us to seat up to the present back wall. The front wall must, of course, be taken out and a new entrance and lobby constructed.

Anything you can do or say that will help in this matter will be greatly appreciated. I have been a reader of the HERALD, especially BETTER THEATRES, for a number of years, and will say that it fills a very urgent need in the motion picture field.

This is my first venture in business for myself, having been a projectionist for nearly 16 years. I have a partner who is doing most of the financing, but the managing and opening will largely be left to me.—G. A. W.

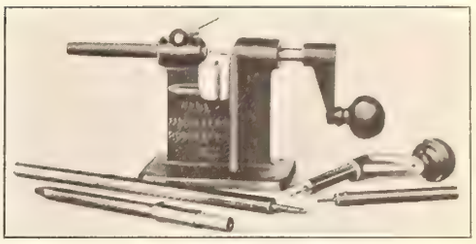
The Answer:

WHEN YOU state that you plan to use the reversed floor slope in your theatre, you indicate that you refer to the method proposed by Mr. Ben Schlanger, New York architect. I discussed this method in a previous issue of BETTER THEATRES.

If you plan to start the slope of the auditorium from the foyer level and proceed upward to the stage, it may conform to the code. However, should the floor slope from the stage (or screen platform) to the foyer level (without taking into consideration the foyer level in the first place) the level of the foyer may come below the street level, which is not allowed by several codes. Therefore it would be a good plan to consult with the authorities before proceeding with your plan.

I do not know of any reason why you should not incorporate this innovation in your plans if it seems adapted to them. It is, however, a new thing in practice, and I advise you to make further inquiry among theatre operators whose theatres have the reversed floor slope or write to Mr. Schlanger, who can be reached in care of this publication.

By taking out a rear part of the rear wall you state you can gain 20 feet, but you must also figure space for the horns, so place the back of the first row of seats at least 10 feet back from the rear wall. Make the opening in this wall wide enough so as not to obstruct the sightlines of the seats near the walls. I advise you to build flare walls from each side of this opening extending 15 feet along the side walls. You need them for the ventilation ducts and exits. Do not make this opening less than 30 feet wide. The maximum seating arrangements can be obtained by placing a center bank of 13 seats with aisle on each side, with wall banks of three seats.



Syncrofilm

Carbon Saver

Twenty per cent of last year's carbon costs is how much? That is what we are offering you now. Syncrofilm's new Carbon Saver can easily cut down this year's carbon expenses twenty per cent; most probably more.

The machine is very inexpensive; will pay for itself in sixty days in a large theatre. It is extremely simple; is strong; is made with the famous Weber precision. Prepares both sizes of carbon.

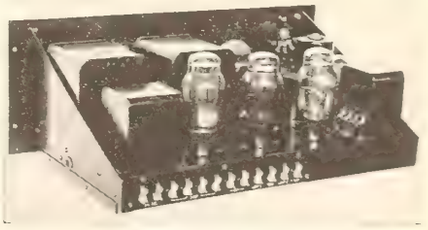
Ask your supply house to show you one or write us.

WEBER MACHINE CORPORATION
59 Rutter Street Rochester, N. Y.
Export Office: 15 Laight Street, New York City
Cable Address: "Romos" New York
Distributors in All Principal Cities

NEW & NOVEL

The "BESTOMATIC COLOR SPOT" is a 500-watt baby spot with a self-starting motor operated color wheel with 7 colors. Colors can be changed 1, 2, 3 or 6 times per minute by means of a simple adjustment. Lamp adjustable for spot or flood with ample cooling for 500-watt bulb. Complete, less bulb, for A.C. 60 cycle, 110 volts, $25.00. Write for literature or see your dealer.
BEST DEVICES CO.
200 Film Bldg. Cleveland, Ohio

AMPLIFIER



Type 18-A for theatres from 300 to 2000 seats
ALL A.C. OPERATION
Unit complete from photo cell to speaker. New type 21-A DE LUXE DUAL CHANNEL system.
For particulars write to
AUDIO RESEARCH, INC.
105-107 East 16th Street, N. Y. City
Export Dept.: 44 Whitehall St., N. Y. C.

SUN ARC
FIRST CHOICE

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
PROJECTION CARBONS
NOW USED EXCLUSIVELY BY
RKO — RADIO CITY THEATRES
"Best by Test" — Samples on Request
CARBON PRODUCTS, INC., 324 W. 42nd St., N. Y. C.

Projecting Sound Pictures

By AARON NADELL

A Complete Textbook on Sound, with chapters on the following:

Film Reproduction	Acoustics
Sound-on-disc	The Loud Speaker
Sound-on-film	Motors & Generators
Amplifiers & Rectifiers	Tracing Trouble
Vacuum Tubes	Recording

PRICE (including postage): $2.60

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP

1790 Broadway, NEW YORK, N.Y.

LINCROPHONE

SOUND-ON-FILM

Built for Those Who Demand the Best

Costs Less in the Long Run

Enthusiastically endorsed by hundreds of leading exhibitors, proven through months of hardest usage LINCROPHONE offers to-day what is probably the simplest and finest sound on film equipment on the market, especially made for those who want a better product than they can buy outright at a price only a little more than the cheapest.

Send for Complete Description

LINCROPHONE COMPANY, Inc.

W. H. Linton, Pres.

127 Pleasant St. Utica, New York

Dealers Invited to Correspond

Motion Picture Patents My Specialty

PATENTS

William N. Moore

Patent Attorney

Loan and Trust Building
Washington, D. C.

The first important step is to learn whether you can obtain a patent. Please send sketch of your invention with $10, and I will examine the pertinent U. S. patents and inform you whether you are entitled to a patent, the cost and manner of procedure. Personal attention. Established 35 years.

Copyright your play $5.00
Trade-Mark your goods or titles $30.00

The Goal of Theatre Management

(Continued from page 10)

strategy or approach are conducive to greater benefit or more individual thinking on the part of managers than to follow some such policy as this one suggested.

INDIVIDUALISM, NOT STANDARDIZATION

An artist who sits in front of a rose to paint it generally ends up with a very poor imitation of that natural rose. When the real rose is actually compared with the painting, the painting generally suffers by the comparison. But the artist who takes a rose and studies it from all points of view carefully, then puts it out of sight and proceeds with paint and brush to create a rose, that painting is not a copy, not an attempt to equal the handiwork of nature. The artist is truly an artist because he creates a thing of beauty from within himself. So with a theatre manager. Continued and repeated efforts to create, out of material from all available sources, campaigns which are individual and methods which are distinctive, is bound to develop a man into a fine manager. So a manager becomes a good manager, then a superior manager, and finally, a great manager as he becomes capable of creating that which is suited to bring maximum results to his particular theatre. Such managers are coming into their own during this period of theatre operation into which we are entering at this time.

A manager, through study and reading and personal contacts, must keep abreast of the developments of the industry. All the information possible on pictures, personalities, music, shows, staging, lights, projection, sound, maintenance, ventilation, publicity and the care of a theatre become the media for individual self-expression in this industry. What use is made of these tools will determine the ultimate success of the manager.

There are no rules-of-thumb for successful theatre operation that can replace the intelligent application of a theatre manager who completely loses himself in the job of providing a very necessary element of community life. Any endeavor which supplies a necessary element of community life—and entertainment and diversion is such an element—is unmoral unless it returns a profit to all concerned in proportion to the importance of their part in the risk, the hazard and the chance taken.

The risk and the hazard taken by the manager is somewhat greater than has been generally acknowledged or recognized to date. However, quite a number of the bigger and finer minds that control this industry are beginning to realize the necessity of providing an incentive for managers, by plans to permit managers to participate in the profits which are created as the result of their efforts. This idea can be furthered more rapidly by the demonstration on the part of the managers of their ability to create, to initiate and to carry through every worthwhile detail in the operation of a theatre.

Constructing Theatre Advertising

(Continued from page 6)

original, the theatre manager has to consider (1) adaptability to the requirements of the determined copy arrangement, (2) adaptability to the feeling of the copy, (3) adaptability to the patronage to be appealed to, and (4) adaptability to the publication to be used.

The first consideration imposes certain limitations of size and shape. The second calls for a certain style and theme, exploiting the star, the idea of beauty, the thought of delightful make-believe, of power, of music—whatever emotional appeal you are selling.

The selection advised by this second consideration may then be influenced by the third—for even though you may be selling a stark, vigorous melodrama of gangland, your community may be largely limited to people of somewhat conscious refinement, families pretty careful not only about what they see themselves, but about what their children see. Even men in such communities wince now and then to the over-bold. This, of course, is a single example—similar factors frequently operate in other kinds of situations, and it should be remembered that a picture is always stronger than words.

Adaptation of illustrative material to a periodical advises some regard for the quality of paper and printing to be expected. In the exploitation of a star or a scene, halftones are commonly indicated. Some newspapers (confined as a rule to the larger cities) can print halftones quite clearly, so that they retain much of their original pictorial appeal. A great many newspapers, however, lose considerable detail, while others are equipped to achieve little more than a black smudge.

LINE-DRAWINGS

Allowing for exceptions in specific cases, it is probably safer to depend on line-drawings for the average newspaper advertisement. They are not only sure to print well under almost any conditions, but (as the writer believes) they have more life. This is probably because there are definite lines, a flow, giving the whole illustration movement. Moreover, the artist himself has had a certain feeling for his subject, and (if he is a good one) has got that feeling into his composition. In short, he has probably emphasized just what you yourself wish to emphasize. If selected from the press book, a line-cut will have been Ben-Dayed to give it such tones as are desirable.

PROVIDING FOR OTHER ELEMENTS

The name of the theatre (usually in the printing form of a logotype—lettering cast into a single block of metal) may be given varying positions, of course, depending upon the pattern of the advertisement. Few occasions, however, will advise against either a top or bottom position, and the headline of the message will usually advise the lower one, with its exact position being preferably in direct line with the selling copy.

Having read through the copy to the name of the theatre, the reader, if interested, is likely to be willing to hunt around a bit for the little block of type stating the performance hours and prices, and this may be inserted in certain possible breaks in the illustration or similar available space. In locating this block of type it should be remembered, however, that small as it usually is, it can create a crowded appearance, or injure the nice balance of a layout, if placed promiscuously.

Balance is one of the most important elements of any typographical arrangement. It has as much to do with the attractiveness and the force of an advertisement as perhaps any other factor. We all know when things are well balanced. But do we always know why? It is flexible enough to allow almost any general arrangement, but it is tricky enough to ruin the eye-fetching qualities of an advertisement if not watched. Because the principles underlying balance are to be more effectively shown than told, this element will be given specific consideration in the examples to be offered in the next installment, when step-by-step procedure in forming advertising layouts will be described.

Type is another element which has only been touched upon in this article. This is because type is a department of typography all by itself, and it will be so discussed after the structure of the advertisement as a whole has been fully considered.

Modernizing With Light

(Continued from page 8)

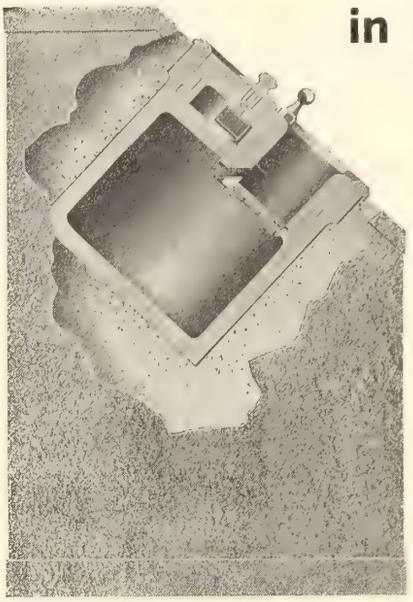
colored lamps, color is produced by the lamps themselves, while with one lamp, colored gelatin or glass should be laid over the stencil.

A row of colored patterns may be made in a fashion similar to the circular ones of Figure 3. A longitudinal stencil is placed over a trough carrying the lamps.

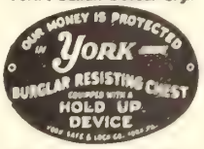
An interesting effect is produced with stainless steel ground to a high polish, leaving fine longitudinal lines. If light is reflected from this surface the source is elongated or stretched out, as illustrated in Figure 5. This effect varies with the character of the source and color of the lamps. This principle may be used to advantage for theatre decoration or display work.

NRA MEMBER WE DO OUR PART

Over 20,000 YORK CHESTS in Daily Use Stop Hold-ups



York's Bandit Detour Sign



These signs are available for all York users. Write for yours.

York revolving door chest equipped with hold-up partition not only reduces your insurance costs, but it affords the maximum protection for your cash receipts and discourages attempts of burglary and hold-up.

Mercantile Insurance Rate "E" less 10%

Write for illustrated literature and prices

YORK SAFE and LOCK CO.
YORK, PENNSYLVANIA
Manufacturers of the World's Greatest Vaults
Branches and Agencies in all Principal Cities

Richardson's Handbooks on Projection

IN THREE VOLUMES

Universally accredited as the best and most practical treatise ever published on projection and the many problems daily confronting the man in the projection room. The remedy for hundreds of every day perplexing annoyances is explained in detail and in simple language.

Volume 1-2 is devoted to the general subject of projection including its allied activities, but without information on sound. Volume 3 deals exclusively with sound. All three volumes are profusely illustrated and contain over 1400 pages of information and helps. Each volume contains Richardson's famous Question and Answer Series.

VOLUME 1-2 (one unit).....$ 6.20
VOLUME 3 ..... 5.10
VOLUMES 1-2 and 3 (complete set)..... 10.20

QUIGLEY BOOKSHOP
1790 BROADWAY NEW YORK

"LUSTRATE"

Brings new life to theatre carpets . . . easily applied without removing . . . low cost . . . retains all original carpet colors.

Send for FREE sample.

HEWES GOTHAM COMPANY
520 W. 47th Street, New York

Makers of

2 in 1 Film Cement . . . Screen Nu-Clean . . . Spray Perfumes and 50 other items in daily use by theatres everywhere.

GOING RAPIDLY
—but still time to get yours—

Genuine Brand New RCA PHOTOPHONE, WIDE RANGE SOUND HEADS

Originally Priced $1200.00
—NOW—
For Powers or Simplex $295

Liberal Allowance for Trade-In

For AC or DC operation with any make Amplifier. Absolutely complete with RCA Photocells, G.E. Exciter Lamp, Bausch & Lomb Optical System, etc.

S. O. S. CORP.
1600 BROADWAY, NEW YORK CITY

EQUIPMENT AFFAIRS

Equipment News and Comment

LIGHTING EQUIPMENT

● The line of lighting and sign equipment of Century Lighting Equipment, Inc., is described and pictured in a revised catalog issued by the company. In 15 pages, profusely illustrated, are given complete descriptions, specifications, ordering directions and prices for borderlights, footlights, illuminated signs, directional signs, cove lights, dimmers, incandescent spots, floods and beam spots and projectors of both balcony and outdoor type, floor and wall pockets, studio equipment, music stands, rotary color-changing devices, gelatines, projector carbons and accessories.

EFFECT OF A. C. ARC

● One of the industry's leading manufacturers of motor-generator equipment —Mr. John Hertner of the Hertner Electric Company—expresses his attitude toward the advent of the a. c. arc, which eliminates the motor-generator and substitutes other apparatus. But Mr. Hertner rather welcomes this development, stating it "will make for better screen results at less cost." Continuing, he says:

"Both the new a.c. trim and the d.c. low-voltage arc require modifications of the apparatus supplying the current. With the a.c. arc a transformer should be used which for economy's sake should be self-regulating, that is, should need no external resistance or inductance, but should be designed so that it will produce the required current at the proper voltage and an opening or closing of the gap does not affect the current value too greatly. On 60 cycles there will be a tendency to flicker on account of shutter synchronizing. Just how important a factor this will become depends probably most largely on the mental attitude of the theatre's patrons.

"The new d.c. arc has not this disadvantage. It requires a generator but with the high efficiency it renders, together with the extremely satisfactory quality of light produced it would appear that its adoption in houses of size suitable for its use would be assured.

"The working voltages of this lamp being so low it would not be advisable to use the present generator of the multiple type with its voltage from 75 up, but to have a generator voltage available as much lower at least as the voltage of the new arc is lower than those heretofore used.

"Generating equipment will be offered to suit the new conditions, but no major changes will be made. Mechanical and electrical characteristics of motion picture projection generators are quite well standardized and will probably be subject to but little revision in the future. Units are being made today of from 15 amperes per arc to 175, in fact to as much as the customer wants and in a gradation of sizes that leaves but little to be desired so that the theatre owner can generally get just what he wants.

"In the manufacture of these machines they are given particular attention as to quiet running, freedom from vibration and electrical disturbances such as ripple, perfection of compounding and other qualities not so important for ordinary purposes but necessary in the theatre."

ADDRESS AMPLIFIER

● A public address power amplifier for operation from a 6-volt storage battery, or from any commercial 110-volt a.c. power line, has been developed by the Coast-to-Coast Radio Corporation. It can be changed from one power source to the other without any change or addition of parts, one socket being adapted to a battery, the other to the a.c. line.

When used with a battery, a converter-rectifier (Victor vibrator type), which operates from 6 volts d.c., furnishes d.c. voltage of 250 at 75 mils, drawing 4.7 amperes. Conversion and rectification are accomplished through the action of a vibrator contactor driven by an integral electro-magnetic relay. The complete mechanism is mounted on an air-cushioned rubber base and provided with two electrostatic, electromagnetic and sound-proofing shields.

Coast-to-Coast dual power source amplifier.

When operated from the 110-volt a.c. power line, the amplifier has a capacity for supplying six 2,500-ohm speaker fields. By employing dual field dynamic speakers (having a 2,500-ohm and a 6-volt field winding), the speakers may be excited from either a 6-volt storage battery or from the amplifier operating from 110 volts a.c.

COLOR SPOTLIGHT

● A new type color spotlight has been brought out by the Best Devices Company, incorporating a 500-watt baby spot with a self-starting motor-operated color wheel. The device is capable of projecting seven colors, and colors can be changed once, twice, three or six times a minute.

The lamp is adjustable for spotlighting or floodlighting, and cooling is provided for a 500-watt bulb. It is adapted to 60-cycle, 110-volt lines.

Mounting the color mechanism in this manner is so that the same number of colors as on a regular wheel can be had without the necessity of added space. This system also lends itself to ready change of colors. The color wheel is not directly connected to the motor but is driven through a star and cam, the cam having six removable pins. When all six pins are in the cam, the color wheel revolves continuously and changes the colors six times a minute. If all but one pin is removed from the cam, the colors will change once a minute, and so on.

The motor used to operate this apparatus is of the synchronous type and any number of spotlights can be set up to run in synchronism. That is, if two or more spots are set to change colors once a minute, and they are started together, each will effect color changes once a minute and at exactly the same time.

A. C. CARBON APPARATUS

● Information received from the National Carbon Company is to the effect that projection lamps adapted to the use of the new alternating current projection carbons are being made available in greater quantities daily, and that manufacturers who have not yet introduced apparatus for the a.c. carbon, expect to be in a position to do so shortly.

Material is now being prepared on the various types of lamp equipment which have so far been developed, and will be published in these columns, quite probably in the next issue of BETTER THEATRES.

ADD INSTALLATIONS

● Among indications that reconditioning activities are going on apace, specific information has come from N. C. Haefele, manager of the Baltimore branch of the National Theatre Supply Company, on new equipment purchased by theatres in that territory, as follows:

Suffolk, Va.—Benjamin T. Pitts, Chadwick theatre: a new screen.

Fredericksburg, Va.—Benjamin T. Pitts: Simplex portable sound projectors.

Washington, D. C.—National Geographic Society: projection equipment and screen.

Baltimore—Louis Gaertner: complete redecorating, painting and drape job for the Ritz theatre.

NEW THEATRE PROJECTS

Following is a list of theatre projects involving new construction remodeling and re-equipping. This list has been compiled from the latest reports available on October 17. The listing is arranged alphabetically by states. An asterisk indicates information received since a prior report.

Alabama

MONTGOMERY—Alabama Theatre, c/o Paramount Theatre, 225 Montgomery. New Jersey Bell Estate, Bell Building, will remodel and redecorate interior including new ticket office. Cost $2,000. Population 66,000.

California

BURBANK—Warner Bros.-First National Studios. Plans being prepared by technical division for four new stages. $100,000 will be spent for sound and other electric equipment.

LOS ANGELES—C. H. Russell & Asso., 1340 S. Berendo Street. Will erect motion picture theatre at Compton Blvd. and Alameda Street. Seating capacity 700. Cost of building $40,000. Equipment to cost $15,000. Architect, Clifford A. Balch, 1914 S. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles. Population 12,000.

LOS ANGELES—Broadway Theatres, Inc., Mike Rosenberg, President, 1825 S. Vermont Avenue. Orpheum Theatre at 846 S. Broadway to undergo renovations.

MAYFIELD—California Theatre to be remodeled. Cost, $2,000. Architect, Wm. I. Garren, 233 Post St., San Francisco.

Florida

MIAMI—City, E. G. Sewell, Mayor. To build amusement hall. Plans have been prepared by Association of Architects of Miami.

Georgia

ATLANTA—Palace Theatre, 1142 Euclid Ave., N. E. will make alterations and additions to theatre building. J. D. Butler, 17 Glenwood Drive in charge of work.

NEWMAN — Newman Amusement Co., c/o Geo. Winn, manager. Will remodel present building into a theatre. General contractor, H. A. Tolbert, Newman.

Illinois

CHICAGO—Cinema Theatre, 151 E. Chicago Avenue. Will make alterations to cost $2,300.

Massachusetts

BOSTON—Lyric Corp., 545 Washington Street. General contractor, R. A. Jennings, 11 Benjamin Road, Arlington. Cost $5,000.

BOSTON — Publix Metropolitan Theatre Co., 60 Scollay Square. To repair theatre damaged by fire. General contractor, J. J. Conviser, 333 Washington Street. Cost $15,000.

LAWRENCE—Victoria Theatre, 127 Broadway. Alterations. Owner, Estate of D. F. Coulow, c/o architect, John Alter, 316 Essex Street.

Michigan

DEARBORN—Bennett & Straight, architects, Schaefer Building. Plans being prepared for theatre building. Population 50,000.

DETROIT—Cr[illegible]Center, Inc., Motion Motor and St. Forest Ave., betwe[illegible] Musi[illegible]itect, C. Antoine Streets. Alt[illegible] Easton Allen, 12073 Steeple Avenue.

GRAND RAPIDS — Donald Lakie, 2160 Francis, S. E. Architect, preparing plans for theatre to be located at Burton St. & Eastern Avenue. Cost, $20,000.

Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS — Wm. Tuscany, 5120 Thomas Ave., South, will erect theatre building at W. 44th St., and France Avenue. Architect, Walter F. MacGregor, 1406 W. Lake Street. Seating capacity 1,000. Cost $75,000.

RED WING—Metro Theatre will be remodeled by Geo. Johnson. New sound equipment and cooling and ventilating system to be installed. Contractor, Hoffman Paint Shop, 306½ Plum. Population 9,600.*

Missouri

BETHANY — Owner, c/o Claude Cole, will erect $25,000 theatre. Architect, Wm. L. Perkins. Charitan, Iowa. Population 2,200.

New Jersey

NEWARK—Haring & Blumenthal, 972 Broad Street. Alterations to theatre building at 127 No. 7th Street. Cost, $25,000. Architect, Wm. E. Lehman, 972 Broad Street.

New York

BROOKLYN—H. Weingarten, 433 Avenue P. Will build theatre and store building at 4601 11th Ave., N. Architect, C. A. Sandblom, 145 W. 45th St., New York City. Cost $50,000.

Ohio

CLEVELAND — Corlett Theatre, Miles Avenue. To construct balcony in theatre and other improvements. Architect, J. L. Cameron, 10326 Ashbury.

OAK HARBOR—C. H. Shively, architect, Fremont, Ohio, will erect theatre building. Seating capacity 300. Cost, $10,000. Population 1,800.

URBANA—Mr. Reed, c/o Home Loan Bank to remodel theatre building.

South Dakota

DOLAND—Doland Theatre, B. J. Vanderby, proprietor, will rebuild theatre building damaged by fire.

Texas

BEAUMONT—Rio Moving Picture Company. Contractor, Chas. F. Law. Perlstein Building, Beaumont. Remodeling to cost $6,500. Architects, Babin & Neff, Perlstein Building.

Incorporations

Monroe Theatre Corporation, c/o Leslie Colvin, 4140 Ruckle, Indianapolis, Ind. 1,000 shares. Leslie Colvin and others.

Princess Theatre Corporation, Frankfort, Ind., 200 shares. Gil Martin and others.

Lake Theatre Corporation, Michigan City, Ind. 1,000 shares. Maurice Rubin and others.

Sunrise Company, c/o Geo. H. Likert, Jr., 4468 N. Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis. Geo. H. Likert, Jr., and others.

Main Street Theatre, Inc., c/o John A. Ludwig, 2011 E. Lake Bluff Boulevard., Shorewood, Racine, Wis. John A. Ludwig and others.

Clallam Theatres, Inc., Port Angeles, Wash. Capital $2,000. Anna M. Halberg and others.

Hudson-Tivoli, Inc., Richmond, Ind. Hollys P. Hudson and others.

Modern Theatres, Inc., 3306 Eaton Tower, Detroit, Mich. Capital $50,000.

Daylight Theatres, Inc., 3306 Eaton Tower and others.

Broadway Theatre Company, Santa Ana, California. Increased capital 1,000 shares. Harry C. Arthur, Sr. and others.

Amusu Theatre, Inc., Natchitoches, Louisiana. Increased capital $15,000.

Military Theatre, 2216 Military, Omaha, Nebraska. Increased capital $25,000.

Colony Amusement Corp., 15635 Mack Ave., Detroit, Michigan. Increased capital $3,000. Incorporators, Max Coplan, 3200 Chicago Blvd. and others.

S. Paul K. Karrakis, Inc., c/o Corp. Bureau of New Jersey, 28 West State St., Trenton, N. J. Increased capital $50,000.

Leonia Playhouse, Inc., Englewood, N. J. Increased capital 100 shares. Incorporators Lee Triff and others.

Leominster Theatre Co, Leominster, Mass. Increased capital 100 shares. Incorporators J. Joseph McCarthy.

Michigan Colfax Theatre Co., Inc., c/o W. W. Austin, 1243 E. Jefferson, South Bend, Indiana. Increased capital 100 shares. Incorporators W. W. Austin and others.

Paramount Theatre Corp., 85 Washington St., Providence, R. I. Increased capital 500 shares.

Shorewood Operating Co., 4337 N. Oakland, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Increased capital 150 shares.

Hollywood Theatre of Milwaukee, Inc., 3832 N. Green Bay, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Increased capital 100 shares.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF ADVERTISERS

A

Adler Signs, Inc., Ben 21
Audio Research, Inc 27

B

Bausch and Lomb Optical Co 21
Best Devices Company 27

C

Carbon Products, Inc 24
Coxsackie Mfg. Corp 24

E

Easy Method Ledger System 24
Enterprise Optical Mfg. Co .....Fourth Cover

G

Garver Electric Company 20
Gordos Products Company 23

H

Hall & Connolly 25
Harrison Radio Company 16
Hewes Gotham Company 29
Heywood-Wakefield Company 3

I

International Projector Corporation..Second Cover

L

Langsenkamp-Wheeler Brass Works 25
Lincrophone Company, Inc 28

M

[illegible]osstown Cone Corporation 24
[illegible]en Hastings William N 28

N

National Carbon Company, Inc 19

P

Projection Optics Company, Inc 24

S

S. O. S. Corporation 29
Scott-Ballantyne Company 23
Strong Electric Corporation 21

W

Weber Machine Corporation 20-27
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 16

Y

York Safe and Lock Company 29

Among Contributors to This Issue:

¶ With the discussion of the elements of layout, the series, "Constructing Theatre Advertising," is resumed, after being omitted from the last issue. The present article serves as an approach to an effort to show, by actual working examples, the building of advertising adapted to average theatre purposes. These examples, with a step-by-step explanation, will be submitted in the next issue of BETTER THEATRES.

¶ Francis M. Falge (Modernizing the Interior With Light) again returns to our pages with another treatment of decorative illumination, this time going inside the theatre. In the September 23d issue he discussed the exterior. Mr. Falge, who has been a frequent contributor to the pages of BETTER THEATRES, is an electrical engineer on the staff of the engineering division of General Electric Company, being attached to the research department at Nela Park, Cleveland.

¶ J. T. Knight, Jr. (The Goal of Theatre Management) this time leaves the path he has been so steadfastly treading during his series on theatre maintenance, to consider what future is reflected in the present conditions in management—and what the individual manager can do about it. Incidentally, since the preparation of an advertisement in this issue based on a letter from an official of the city government of Boston, another has come from similar sources. It seems that Boston subscribes to this publication, primarily on behalf of its censorship board—but it passes the issues around to the various departments. Now from Mr. William W. Drummey, superintendent of school buildings, comes the ingratiating information that he has caused the articles by Mr. Knight to be read by his staff of inspectors "because the information will be helpful to the 79 million dollars worth of school property under my care. Mr. Knight is in charge of theatre maintenance for Paramount Publix.

¶ Mr. Leo T. Parker (Late Law Involving the Theatre) is a regular contributor to BETTER THEATRES on legal affairs pertinent to motion picture theatre operation. He is an attorney-at-law with offices in Cincinnati.

BETTER THEATRES CATALOG BUREAU

"Better Theatres" offers on this page an individual service to its readers. Detailed information and catalogs concerning any product listed herewith will be sent to any theatre owner, manager, architect or projectionist. Just fill in the coupon below and mail to "Better Theatres" Division of Motion Picture Herald. Readers will find that many of the products listed by this Bureau are advertised in this issue.

A

Accounting systems
Acoustical installations
Adapters, mazda
Advertising novelties
Advertising projectors
Air conditioning equipment
Aisle rope
Amplifiers
Arc regulators
Automatic curtain control

B

Banners
Batteries
Blocks, pulleys, stage-rigging
Bolts, chair anchor
Booths, projection (portable)
Bulletin boards, changeable

C

Cameras
Canopies for fronts
Carbons
Carpets
Carpet cushion
Cement, film
Cement for fastening chairs
Chairs, theatre
Change makers
Changeable letters
Changeovers
Color hoods
Condensers
Cutout machines

D

Dimmers
Disinfectants—perfumed
Doors, fireproof
Draperies
Drinking fountains

E

Earphones
Effect machines
Electric measuring instruments
Electric fans
Electric motors
Electric generating plants
Electric signs
Electric signal and control systems
Emergency lighting plants

F

Film cleaning machines
Film processing machines
Film rewinders
Film shipping cases
Film splicing machines
Fireproof curtains
Fireproof doors
Flashers, electric sign
Flood lighting
Footlights
Fountains, decorative
Frames, poster, lobby display

H

Hand driers
Hardware, stage
Heating systems
Horns
Horn lifts and towers

L

Ladders, safety
Lamps, decorative
Lamp dip coloring
Lamps, general lighting
Lamps, incandescent projection
Lamps, high intensity
Lamps, reflecting arc
Lenses
Lighting systems, complete
Linoleum

M

Marquees
Mats and runners
Motion picture cable
Motor generators
Music stands

O

Orchestra pit fittings, furnishings
Organs
Organ novelty slides
Organ lifts

P

Perfumers
Photo-electric cells
Plastic fixtures and decorations
Pop-corn machines
Portable projectors
Portable sound equipment
Projection lamps
Projectors
Projection room equipment
Public address systems

R

Rails, brass
Rectifiers
Reflectors
Regulators, mazda
Reels
Reel end signals
Reel cases
Resonant orchestra platforms
Rheostats

S

Safes, box office
Safes, film
Schools
Screens
Screen masks and modifiers
Screen resurfacing service
Seat covers
Seat indicators
Seats, theatre
Signs, directional
Signs, marquee
Slides
Shutters, metal fire
Sound equipment, complete
Sound heads
Speakers, dynamic
Speed indicators
Spotlights
Stage lighting equipment
Stage scenery
Stage rigging
Statuary
Stereopticons
Switchboards
Switches, automatic

T

Tapestries
Telephones, inter-communicating
Tickets
Ticket booths
Ticket choppers
Ticket selling machines
Transformers

U

Uniforms
Upholstery materials

V

Vacuum cleaning equipment
Ventilating systems
Vending machines

W

Wall coverings

"BETTER THEATRES" DIVISION, Motion Picture Herald,
1790 Broadway, New York

Gentlemen: I should like to receive reliable information on the following items:

(Refer to items by name, as listed above)

1 ..... 7 .....
2 ..... 8 .....
3 ..... 9 .....
4 ..... 10 .....
5 ..... 11 .....
6 ..... 12 .....

Remarks: .....

.....

Name .....Theatre .....City .....

State .....Seating Capacity .....

Late Law Involving the Theatre

(Continued from page 14)

quires municipalities to maintain the sidewalks in safe condition. This is true even though a city ordinance requires property owners to maintain the sidewalks in a safe condition.

CASE:

For illustration, in the recent case of Stevens v. Neligon (164 Atl. 661), it was shown that a sidewalk in front of a theatre building was defective and not reasonably safe for public travel. In fact, the flagstones were not even, one being raised above the other, and the stones as laid resulted in a sloping surface, thereby creating a structural defect in the sidewalk, which was rendered more dangerous by reason of the accumulation of snow and ice.

A pedestrian slipped on the ice and sustained a severe injury as a result of falling on the sidewalk. He filed suit against the property owner, contending that the latter was liable because he had failed to keep the sidewalk in a safe condition in accordance with a city ordinance which requires all owners of property to maintain sidewalks in a safe condition.

DECISION:

However, on account of the fact that a state law provides that municipalities shall assume the responsibility for maintaining the sidewalks in safe condition, the higher court refused to allow the injured pedestrian damages, and said:

"The state places upon the municipality the burden of keeping its highways in a reasonably safe condition for public travel, and this duty it cannot impose upon the property owner by contract or ordinance. . . . When the abutting property owner has not by his own act created a condition upon the highways dangerous to the traveler, he is not responsible where, by reason of the failure of the city to perform its duty, it has become unsafe for public travel."

ADDITIONAL FACTORS:

Irrespective of state or city laws with regard to liability of theatre operators and other property owners for injuries to pedestrians caused by defective streets and sidewalks, the property owner may be liable for any injury resulting from his direct negligence which created the defect. However, a theatre owner never is liable for an injury which results from negligence of a city.

RULE OF NEGLIGENCE

THE LAW IS well settled that a theatre owner is not liable in damages for an injury to a patron, where it is shown that such injury did not result from negligence on the part of the theatre owner or his employes. In other words, various courts have held that a theatre owner is not liable for an injury if the evidence indicates that he exercised ordinary care and prudence in maintaining the theatre premises in a reasonably safe condition.

As to the meaning of the term "ordinary care," the courts have rendered opinions at different times explaining that a theatre owner exercises "ordinary care" when he conducts his theatre in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by other reasonably careful and prudent theatre owners.

CASE

For example, in Smith v. Marks (147 So. 118, New Orleans, La.), it was shown that a patron was seriously injured when he slipped while attempting to seat himself. He filed suit against the proprietor to recover damages contending that the proximate cause of the injury was the fact that the floor was slippery and highly polished. However, the higher courts refused to hold the injured patron entitled to damages, and said:

DECISION

"Now the operator of a theatre is not an insurer of his patrons. He need only be free from negligence; and, granting that a prudent man must exercise some degree of foresight, nevertheless he is not required to foresee that something may happen, when long experience fails to show any such happening before, unless the circumstances are such that he should have known that the happening was likely even though it had not yet occurred."

DISMISSAL AND ACQUITTAL

VARIOUS COURTS have held that a person who is convicted of a criminal offense cannot escape penalty on mere technicalities. Moreover, where a theatre owner is convicted by a lower court on one charge or count, and dismissed from the other counts, the higher court will not interfere with the verdict.

CASE

For example, in People v. Horowitz (19 P. [2d] 874, Los Angeles, Cal.) it was disclosed that a city ordinance specified that it shall be criminal offense if any theatre owner exhibits films or shows of an indecent nature. Certain officials of a theatre were indicted and the indictment specified that they did "as owners give, direct, present and participate in, an indecent, obscene, immoral, and impure drama, play, exhibition, show and entertainment, within the presence and hearing of divers youths and others at that certain theatre and playhouse located at 235 South Main Street in said City, which said drama, play, exhibition, show, and entertainment, then and there tended to corrupt the morals of youths and others then and there present as aforesaid."

Another indictment or count stated that they had violated the law because of participation in an indecent part of a show. The officials were found guilty of violating the first count but dismissed on the second. They appealed to the higher Court contending that since they were dismissed from violation of the second count they should be acquitted of violating the first count.

However, the court upheld the lower Court's conviction of violation of the first count, and stated the following important law:

DECISION

"We are of the opinion, however, that the dismissal was not an acquittal. . . . A dismissal connotes a refusal to determine guilt rather than a finding that there is no guilt. Particularly is this true under the circumstances of this case. The trial judge, at the conclusion of the evidence, found the defendants guilty of the offense charged in the first count. It was apparent that the first was so allied to the second that a conviction on the second count would but lead to complications. . . . If we admit, for the moment only, that the dismissal was an acquittal, and that one not guilty of participating in an indecent part of a show could not be guilty of participating in an indecent show, still it does not follow that the judgments must be reversed."

MORTGAGES MUST BE RECORDED

ALL INSTRUMENTS which pertain to mortgages and the like must be recorded, otherwise persons who have no knowledge of the transaction are not bound thereby. However, subsidiary agreements need not be recorded.

CASE

For instance, in Universal Chain Theatrical Enterprises v. Oldknow (168 S. E. 239, Atlanta, Ga.), it was shown that certain theatre property was mortgaged and the mortgage was properly recorded. However, a subsidiary agreement relating to the transaction was not recorded. The property was sold to satisfy the mortgage and suit was filed by an interested party who contended that failure to record the subsidiary agreement invalidated the sale. However, the court held otherwise, saying:

DECISION

"So far as appears, any person who might have become interested could have obtained full information as to the contents of the agreement as easily by making inquiry of the proper parties as by a search of the public records. Accordingly, in the circumstances alleged, there is nothing to indicate that the sale was chilled and unfairly exercised by the lone fact that the trust agreement was not recorded."

The cross-index to BETTER THEATRES, omitted from this issue, will be resumed in the next on a new plan reducing the period covered to three months, instead of six, as originally planned.

A suggestion to Theatre Owners and Managers from a Great City

[THE SERIES BY J. T. KNIGHT, JR., IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION WITHOUT AS WITHIN THE INDUSTRY. BETTER THEATRES IS INFLUENTIAL BECAUSE WIDELY READ—WIDELY READ BECAUSE AUTHORITATIVE]

1M.-4-'33.

EDWARD W. ROEMER,
Building Commissioner.

City of Boston.

Building Department.

Office of the Building Commissioner,
Ninth Floor, City Hall Annex,
Boston.

September 29, 1933

Editor
Better Theatres
1790 Broadway
New York, New York

Dear Sir:

I have read in the June issue of BETTER THEATRES an article entitled "The Common Sense of Maintenance" by Jack Knight, and I desire to convey my hearty approval and congratulations to you and to the author for the publication of this most important and timely subject.

It is easily seen that the author is most intimately acquainted with the subject, even to the finest detail, and he may well be termed "one of the industry's leading theatre maintenance engineers".

May I be permitted to suggest for his future articles that he lay stress on the following items which are of great importance to building officials:

1st. Frequent inspections of exterior fire escapes.

2nd. Prevention of accumulation of unnecessary props on the stage.

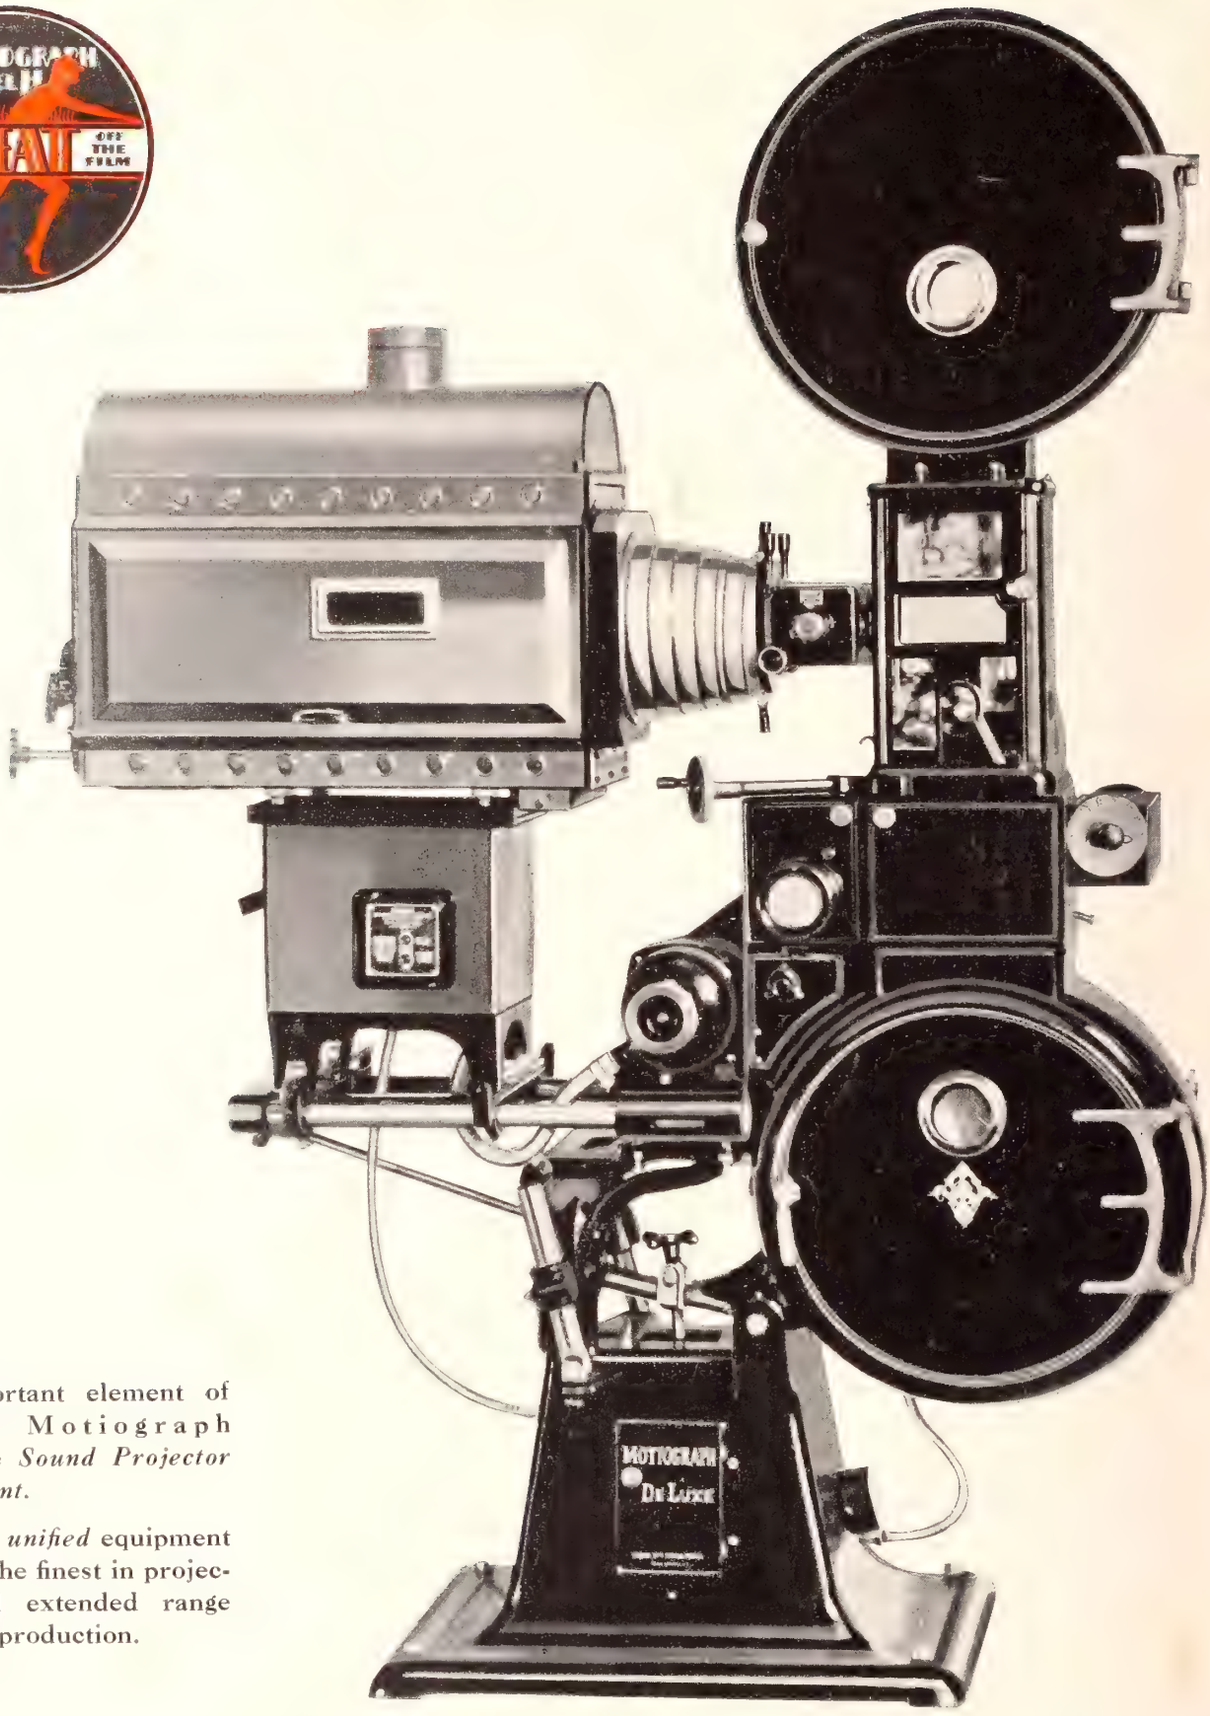
3rd. The necessity of having aisles and passageways kept clear, especially immediately preceding the change of a picture.

4th. The discontinuance of the use of inflammable materials for decorations, advertising, stills, etc.

5th. To impress on theatre managers the fact that while their loyalty to their employer requires careful consideration of their box office figures, their loyalty to the public that supports both the managers and the employers requires their strictest attention to what Jack Knight calls Class 1 of Maintenance Problems.

Very truly yours,
Edw. W. Roemer
Building Commissioner

EWR:JCS



An important element of complete Motiograph De Luxe Sound Projector Equipment.

The only unified equipment offering the finest in projection and extended range sound reproduction.

THE MOTIOGRAPH
DE LUXE SOUND PROJECTOR

A MOTION PICTURE PROJECTOR DESIGNED FOR THE PROJECTION OF MOTION PICTURES WITH SOUND

THE ENTERPRISE OPTICAL MFG. CO.,

4431 West Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

A CONSOLIDATION OF EXHIBITORS HERALD-WORLD AND MOTION PICTURE NEWS

BLUE LAWS COSTING EXHIBITORS MILLIONS SLOW UP RECOVERY

Vol. 113, No. 9 Entered as second-class matter, January 12, 1931, at the Post Office, at New York, N. Y., under the act of March 3, 1879. Published Weekly by Quigley Publishing Co., Inc., at 1790 Broadway, New York. Subscription $3.00 a year. Single copies 25 cents. November 25, 1933

AS ADVERTISED—

Joan Crawford and Clark Gable in "The Dancing Lady" are bringing to your screen the greatest musical romantic sensation this industry has ever known. M-G-M of course!

START BLOWING YOUR HORN FOR LITTLE BOY

BLUE

Stage rage...Air ace...Now famous Ben Blue comes to Warner Bros! Another great NAME for Vitaphone...And a great DAY for you Dec. 9th, release date of the first of 6 Ben Blue comedies that are going to make cash history!... Buy ONE—your patrons will ORDER the other five!

BEN BLUE in 6 "Big V" Comedies for 1933-'34

LATEST OF THE GREAT NAMES THAT MAKE

VITAPHONE

SUPREME IN COMEDY

AND MORE OVER

AS ONE MAN.... THESE 37 TYPICAL SHOWMEN AGREE.....

1 "We consider Vitaphone shorts the greatest shorts released by any company today. We never have to worry when we have Vitaphone shorts." —S. D. Lee, Frankfort Amusement Co., Winchester, Ky.

2 "I believe an exhibitor can find no better shorts on the whole than in the Vitaphone group."—Bert Pouncey, Jr., Milan Theatre, Milan, Tenn.

3 "Your shorts are the most entertaining on the market . . . they cover such a wide range that even the hard boiled dispeptic patron finds sufficient entertainment in them to amuse him."—R. J. Brunet, Imperial Theatre, New Orleans.

4 "It is my opinion that Vitaphone has the best short subjects on the market."—J. W. Farr, Rivoli Theatre, North Sydney, Nova Scotia.

5 "Your short subjects including Broadway Brevities are the most outstanding short product of the year. They please everyone and everybody." —C. T. Laidlaw, Liberty Theatre, Dayton, Wash.

6 "The Beacon is one of the very few theatres in Vancouver operating on a single feature policy and it is only with high class shorts such as Vitaphone that such a policy could be a success."—Roy A. McLeod, Beacon Theatre, Vancouver, B. C.

7 "Without a doubt your Broadway Brevities are the very best short fare we play here."—V. S. McRae, Anyox, B. C.

8 "We have at all times given Vitaphone subjects the preferred playing time in our theatres and have used them as a method of bolstering up a weak feature. We have found that this method not only carries over a weak show but in most cases sends them out equally as well satisfied as if we had the best feature picture possible."—Sam Switow, Louisville, Ky.

9 "Our customers, without exception, have complimented us on the entertainment offered by your shorts."—M. Vonderschmitt, Bloomington, Ind.

10 "Just a line to tell you how pleased we are with the splendid line-up of short subjects that Warners are releasing this year. Everyone so far has been excellent and a splendid addition to any program."—Marc J. Wolf, Paramount Theatre, Hamilton, Ohio.

11 "Vitaphone deserves great credit for the tremendous strides made in the past year to the position of leader in their field."—I. Levy, Hildinger Booking Co., Trenton, N. J.

. . . "VITAPH

LEADERSHIP

ER THIS YE

12 "I want to both commend you and congratulate you on the consistent value of your short product. They have oft times caused more comment than the feature itself."—Paul Schlossman, Muskegon Theatres, Inc., Muskegon, Mich.

13 "Every brand that you release is excellent and seems to be made with the same care and attention to detail that is evidenced in your feature productions."—Ray Moon, Mid-States Theatres, Detroit.

14 "Our patrons look forward to seeing either a Broadway Brevity or a Band number practically every week."—Jacob Silverman, Strand Theatre, Altoona, Pa.

15 "The very best the market affords."—C. P. Washmon, Gem Theatre, Trenton, Tenn.

16 "The thing that really has knocked my hat off this year is the outstanding class of your shorts." —B. Bardner, Rex Theatre, Idaho.

17 "Time and again your shorts built around my features have saved the day when my feature attraction was not so hot."—Joe Hewitt, Lincoln Theatre, Robinson, Ill.

18 "I consider your single reels and double reels excellent entertainment."—Mrs. I. W. Rodgers, Gem Theatre Co., Inc., Cairo, Illinois.

19 "There is something about Vitaphone Shorts that make my programs complete."—Adrien Gagnon, Jonquiere, Quebec.

20 "They have a high audience appeal."—C. M. Clay, Liberty Theatre, Mexico, Mo.

21 "Among the short subjects I have played yours were of the finest, and they always go over with the audience."—George Rotsky, Capitol Theatre, Montreal.

22 "The extraordinary diversity of your shorts provides ample material to balance up all programs." —R. J. MacAdam, Halifax, N. S.

23 "The two-reel Broadway Brevities, have in several instances proven a decided stimulus, in saving a program, when the feature has not provided the necessary quality of entertainment."—W. W. O. Fenety, Fredericton, N. B.

24 "I do not believe I ever played short subjects that were as satisfactory both to my patrons and myself as your product of the past season."— N. W. Mason, Roseland Theatre Co., N. S.

25 "It was a pleasure to be able to present your short subjects during the past year, and we were proud to show them on our screen."—Steve Farrar, Colonial Amusement Co., Harrisburg, Ill.

26 "One must have a company with a product sufficiently broad and comprehensive to relieve programs of 'sameness' and commonplace characteristics. Vitaphone Shorts provide that very necessary essential."—Leonard S. Sowar, Strand, Muncie, Ind.

27 "We have always felt that when we were in need of a good short for a particular feature, Vitaphone would fill the bill."—Dwight Davis, Jackson Amusement Co., Jackson, Ohio.

28 "Short subjects of exceptional entertainment value but in most instances there are names that ..ave real box office value."—J. Fred Osterstock, Wilmer & Vincent, Easton, Pa.

29 "The Vitaphone short subjects are of the highest quality and are shorts that we would not like to be without."—Geo. W. Trendle, Pontiac Theatre Corporation, Detroit.

30 "All of your Broadway Brevities have been meeting with real satisfaction in all of our houses."— C. A. Schultz, Commonwealth Theatres, Inc., Kansas City.

31 "Warner Bros. shorts have increased my kid business till its back to normal of the old silent days. Warner Bros. shorts have been my most consistent."—Chas. L. Tick, Fisk Theatre, Butler, Mo.

32 "I wish to compliment Vitagraph, Inc., on their short product. They have everything one could ask for in the way of entertainment."—Mrs. A. Thompson, Seeley Theatre, Pomeroy, Wash.

33 "We really think they are superior to most any of the shorts we have been using. The screen acts are presented in a clever and interesting manner, the cartoons above the average, the comedies very good and feature some outstanding stars."—Meta S. Barron, Barron Theatres, Inc., Pratt, Kansas.

34 "I marvel at the magnificence, elaborateness, and completeness of your Vitaphone shorts. They are worthwhile."—Ed Dubinsky, Dubinsky Bros. Theatres, Kansas City.

35 "I wish to state that your Vitaphone short subjects I have been playing for the past year and a half, are very entertaining and contain material and names that are 100% pleasing to my public. I am proud to play them in my theatre."—Sam L. Sosna, Varsity, Manhattan, Kansas.

36 "They are great from every standpoint, that of variety and freshness."—Louis Metzger, Theatrical Enterprises, San Diego, Calif.

37 "This is unquestionably the finest calibre of one and two-reelers released by any company since the advent of sound."—Eddie Rivers, Granada-Rex Theatres, Lewistown, Idaho.

DON'T READ THEM ALL!

Just close your eyes, pick any one of these amazing comments at random, and you'll have put your finger on the pulse of trade opinion about Vitaphone Shorts.

. . . BUT READ ALL OF THIS!

"Long since the Vitaphone studio established its reputation for the highest grade of product . . . which in a very tangible way has created new standards in the technique of shorts . . . especially in the field of two-reel musical comedy revues and band singles . . . In this division they are eminently supreme...there is nothing emanating from Hollywood that can touch them!" . . . . Film Daily, Nov. 20, 1933.

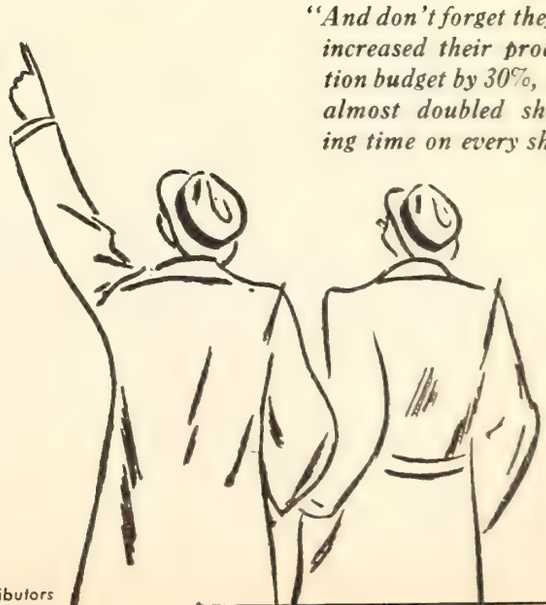
FOR YOUR OWN PROTECTION . . .

we urge you to LOOK at samples of all companies' musical shorts . . . You'll say "I can't SEE anything else but Vitaphone!"

ONE'S IS EVEN GREAT-AR THAN LAST!"

"Now I understand why Vitaphone sales are 50% ahead of last year's record figures."

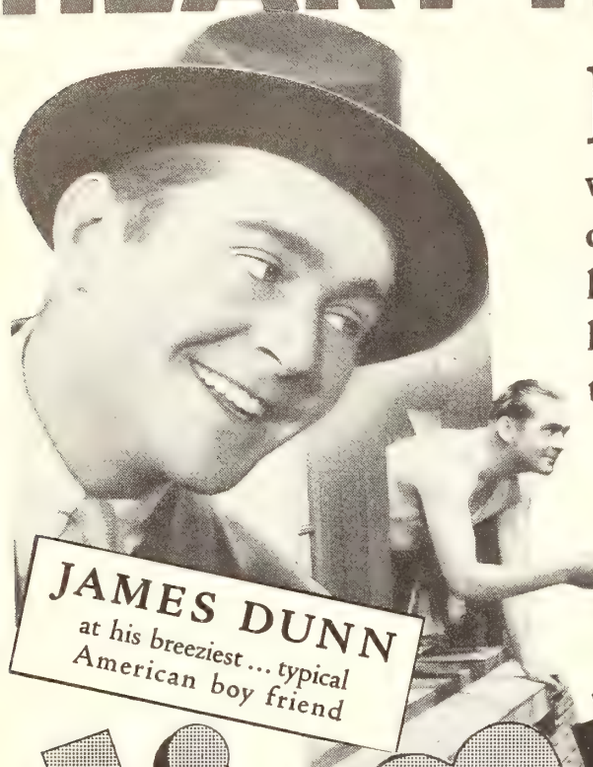
"And don't forget they've increased their production budget by 30%, and almost doubled shooting time on every short.



Vitagraph, Inc., Distributors

A THRILL FOR EVERY HEART THAT'S YOUNG

ROMANCE of a go-getting p.a. . . . in no hurry to get married . . . and his s.a. sweetheart . . . who didn't want to wait. Gay with the vitality of chipper, irrepressible youth . . . going, doing, loving, longing . . . happy in the sheer joy of living. The kind of entertainment that fills theatres with satisfied customers.



JAMES DUNN
at his breeziest . . . typical American boy friend

Jimmy and Sally

CLAIRE TREVOR
turns in another swell performance . . . en route to stardom

JAMES DUNN
CLAIRE TREVOR

Directed by James Tinling

JOIN THE UPSWING WITH FOX

Your patrons always like
FOX MOVIETONE NEWS

NOV 25 1933 ©CLB 208086

MOTION PICTURE HERALD

Vol. 113, No. 9 November 25, 1933

MORE FEATHERS

THIS week's high point in the costly comedy of the motion picture code comes in the announcement that the Department of Justice, after officially considering the document, finds it extensively at variance with the laws of the land and in direct contradiction of the decisions of the courts on various issues concerned with trade practices and mal practices.

Such a development at this late date is indeed a charming tribute to the legal minds which have contributed to the conception and construction of the code and the code idea.

To be sure, this eventuation comes with no surprise to such of the observers of the code gyrations as were able to summon courage to wonder if indeed revolution has been declared with the enactment of the interesting act installing the National Recovery Administration.

The code making process which began in the Bar Association Building in New York and which progressed to sundry offices in Washington is now centered, it seems, somewhere in the region of President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Georgia.

Thus far the code has been a vast help to the industry—except for the fact that nothing that is in it or has been proposed for it or contemplated for it has yet been decided upon or settled, and that meanwhile the normal creative and restorative processes have been delayed waiting to see what, if anything, was to happen, and how, if in any manner, anything could be done.

In the last few years there has been a vast deal of crying over the fact that disrespect for the national prohibition of an incidental matter like alcoholic beverages was invading and undermining the status of all law and government. The impairment of law and government in the liquor matter would seem trivial indeed to that which can be incurred by ill-advised, ineffective and experimental endeavors to tinker with the commercial and financial structure upon which the whole of the national life depends.

For our own sector, the world of the motion picture, it can now be stated with certainty only that a code governing trade practices appears to be still under contemplation.

△ △ △

MR. ED KUYKENDALL, president of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, is quoted as saying that he regards the NRA motion picture code as "flexible." One might fancy that it will prove to be not only flexible but also malleable and ductile.

△ △ △

THE tinkering with gold and the dollar fills the man who owns one with the same enthusiasm that pervades a winner in the poker game when the host announces "We were just playing for fun."

STAR MARKET

